

Easement dispute...

TU Electric line lawsuit concluded with $15,000 award

All lawsuits over the construction of a power line by TU Electric through Winston Ranch property south and west of Snyder have been settled with an agreed $15,000 judgment for the Winston family, its heirs and potential heirs.

TU Electric had deposited $59,990 with 132nd District Court when the dispute developed almost a year ago, and that will be returned to the company except for the $15,000, according to court documents.

Calloway Huffaker of Tahoka, attorney for the Winston family, said Tuesday that the settlement ends all of the lawsuits that had been filed in the matter, dispenses with the question of "remaindermen" or potential heirs and settles a suit that TU Electric had filed to oppose a $53,000 award that was made to the Winstons by a three-member commission in March 1987.

The commission awarded the land owners $53,000 as compensation for the easement across some 20 acres of land, and TU filed suit to protest that amount as excessive.

Construction was halted for about a month in May and June last year after heirs to the Winston property filed suit, claiming that the court had erred in failing to include potential Winston heirs, known legally as "unknown remaindermen," in the $53,000 award.

The judgment lists Florenze Joyce, executrix of the estate of the late J.R. Joyce, Dorothy Casey, Sam B. Casey, tenant Jess Everett, Helen Hatter and other remaindermen of the family as beneficiaries of the $15,000 award.

In Brief

Fire attack

AUSTIN (AP) — Austin Police investigators say they are attempting to determine what led a 13-year-old boy to douse another boy with gasoline and set him on fire.

The 14-year-old victim was recovering Wednesday at the Shriners Hospital Burn Unit in Galveston, the victim's mother said.

"He's alive, and I can deal with the rest of it," the mother said Wednesday. She said her son had surgery for second- and third-degree burns on his neck, chest, face and back that covered 30 percent of his body.

The mother said her son spent three to four hours in surgery, where doctors grafted skin from his head and leg.

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Paramilitary rangers accidentally set off a phosphorus bomb on a passenger bus in northeastern Thailand, killing at least 22 people and seriously injuring 20, police said today.

Bank robbers botch job; take hostages

Six gunmen kill, wound several hostages

LOS MOCHIS, Mexico (AP) — Hundreds of police today surrounded a bank in northwestern Mexico where six gunmen were holding more than 40 customers and employees captive. The robbers have killed at least four hostages and wounded 10.

The major private television network Televisa said five people died and at least 15 were wounded after the gunmen tried to rob the bank Wednesday. It said one of the gunmen was believed to be among the seriously wounded and that the gunmen were threatening to blow up the bank if their demands were not met.

The gunmen are demanding to be allowed to travel to a nearby airport and leave on a plane, said Ignacio Lara, spokesman for the Sinaloa state governor.

The governor's office said no developments took place during the night and that Gov. Francisco Labastida Ochoa was monitoring the crisis.

One of the gunmen, in an interview broadcast live on Televisa this morning, said all the hostages were being treated well.

Asked where they could go if given safe passage, he replied: "I wouldn't be able to tell you where we could go."

The gunman, who did not give his name, said the last contact with the government was at about 6:15 a.m. (9:15 a.m. EDT).

"We can't turn ourselves in," he said. "They want to kill us. ... We're young."

Televisa said the gunmen appeared to be about 19 or 20 and that none wore masks.

Authorities gave conflicting accounts about how the casualties occurred. One official said they occurred in a shootout with police. Another said the gunmen shot the hostages inside the bank.

The standoff in this coastal Gulf of California city of 120,000 began at 12:45 p.m. Wednesday (3:45 p.m. EDT) after the gunmen burst into the Banamex bank and an alarm alerted police to the robbery, said Ramiro Guerrero, news editor at the Noroeste newspaper in the state capital of Culiacan.

One of two police officers inside conducting business, Roberto Soto Cruz, tried to prevent the robbery and was shot, Lara said. The other officer apparently was disarmed by the robbers, the spokesman said.

The gunmen then attempted to leave the surrounded bank, using Soto and at least one customer as a shield, said Guerrero, who was on the scene.

The customer, Marco Antonio Estrada, was killed and Soto received more wounds when the escape attempt led to a gun battle between police and the robbers in which "nine or 10" hostages were wounded, according to Lara.

It was not clear if the wounded were still among the hostages, he said.

Soto died at a hospital after the gunmen allowed Red Cross officials to escort him from the building, Guerrero said.

Social studies meet underway at college

Western Texas College was the host Thursday morning for a social science contest for students from 12 area high schools.

Students began registration at 9 a.m. and the competition was slated from 10 until 11 a.m. Following a break for lunch, the contestants were to return to the campus for an awards ceremony in the Fine Arts Theatre at 1 p.m.

Schools pre-registered for the contests were Snyder, Sweetwater, Abilene High, Crosbyton, Seagraves, Sundown, Spur, Abernathy, Coahoma, Highland, Grady and Vernon.

Dr. Franklin Pruitt is serving as contest director.

First time event... Junior high UIL meet on tap

In a first-ever event, students in grades 6-8 from Snyder, Big Spring and Lamesa will participate in a University Interscholastic League academic contest Friday at Western Texas College.

Snyder Junior High School faculty member Kellye Starnes said 172 students have been registered for the meet.

Starnes said the event will be the first junior high-level UIL competition and that the events will be many of the same ones in which high school students compete.

Sponsors hope to make it an annual event. Next year, it will be staged in Big Spring, and in Lamesa the following year.

Events to be held include oral reading, impromptu speaking, science, ready writing, spelling,

Twin events to aid 'Heart'

Twin events, both stressing the importance of exercise for healthy hearts, will be held on the campus of Western Texas College Saturday to benefit the American Heart Association.

A four-man scramble golf tournament and a "Dance for Heart" planned by local aerobic instructors and enthusiasts are both scheduled.

The golf tournament will begin first, starting at 8:30 a.m. at the WTC golf course. The entry fee is $25 per person or $100 per team and all proceeds will be donated to the American Heart Association.

Prizes will be awarded to the first, second and third place

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The new mini-skirts allow gals to air their differences in public."

A fellow in the coffee shop just this week said he knew his marriage was off to a shaky start. Upon return from a brief wedding trip, there was a thank you note waiting for him—from his father-in-law.

A few Sunday nights ago, a Snyder man was seen wearing a tee-shirt with the following message:
"Of all my wife's relatives, I like myself the most."

The afternoon Dairy Queen crowd recently was discussing the various presidential candidates. It was unthinkable to some that someone might call the vice president—a Texan—a wimp.

That sparked a discussion to determine the real definition of a wimp. After several minutes, Bunk Casey said he had it all figured out.

"The wimp factor amounts to something like this. A guy comes home unexpectedly and finds his wife with another man and he becomes furious."

The coffee pals insisted that this would be a normal reaction. They argued there would be nothing wimpy about being angry over an unfaithful wife.

"Yeah, but the difference is that the wimp looks around for some kind of weapon and grabs the unwelcome visitor's umbrella. But instead of stabbing him with it, the husband breaks it in half and says, 'I hope it rains.'"

Some voters are still old-fashioned: They still believe in separation of the church and the motel.

4 runaways apprehended

Four juvenile boys and girls were arrested Wednesday at two different locations in Snyder, and a 1979 Pontiac four-door that had been reported stolen in Pasadena was recovered.

The arrests developed after two young men were reported looking into cars near a construction company at College Ave. and U.S. 84.

The boys, 13 and 15, were taken into custody at 1:21 p.m. near the construction company, and the girls, 14 and 15, were arrested at 2 p.m. at a truck stop restaurant off 84.

An officer said all four youngsters were being sought as runaways from Pasadena, near

Meese might appoint acting deputy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney General Edwin Meese III says he may appoint an acting deputy while the search continues for someone to fill the No. 2 slot in his embattled Justice Department after two people have rejected the post. The position is being vacated Friday by Deputy Attorney General Arnold Burns, who resigned in protest March 29 out of concern that the nearly year-long criminal investigation of Meese was hurting department operations.

Meese's latest choice, former American Bar Association president John Shepherd, said Wednesday he was concerned with the "personal and financial sacrifices" required of him and his family for the brief appointment.

"My wife and I were not prepared for the pressures to which someone recommended for this position at this time would be subject," Shepherd said.

Meese had hurriedly announced Shepherd would be his choice April 5 in a bid by the attorney general to assert his leadership at the department.

Minutes after the announcement that Shepherd was withdrawing, Meese told a Senate appropriations subcommittee he would appoint an acting deputy. He later told reporters he did not rule out the possibility of appointing his counselor, William Bradford Reynolds.

The Senate three years ago refused to confirm Reynolds as associate attorney general, the No. 3 post in the department, because of Reynolds' handling of civil rights.

Meese later refined his remarks, with department spokesman Terry Eastland saying no decision has been made on whether to appoint an acting deputy and no thought given to who might fill the job in the interim if it were deemed necessary.

Shepherd withdrew his name in the face of mounting publicity about an alleged affair with his bookkeeper.

There were also disclosures that longtime Meese friend E. Robert Wallach, now under indictment in the Wedtech scandal, had recommended Shepherd to Meese for a Justice Department post in 1984 or 1985 and that Shepherd belongs to an all-white country club and an all-male social club.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch reported Wednesday that its investigation determined that the woman who alleged the affair, Denise Sinner, made up nearly every portion of her background.

Also on Wednesday, Meese reiterated there was no connection between a building lease signed by the department and the arrangement for a foundation to pay his wife's salary at the Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Dental Horror Stories Send Patients to Surgeon's Chair

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to "Disgusted in Virginia," who was upset because his dentist had sent him to an oral surgeon to have a tooth pulled. "Disgusted" doesn't know how lucky he was.

Thirty years ago I went through two hours of torture in a dentist's chair while he attempted to pull an impacted wisdom tooth. Abby, that primitive practitioner was sweating from the effort, and he had to inject Novocain three times to help me endure the agony. I was a petite 22-year-old at the time and had recently given birth to my first child. When I got home, the Novocain had worn off and the pain was worse than going through childbirth!

The pain lingered on to a lesser degree for two months, so I went back to the dentist, who acknowledged that while nearly yanking my jaw apart, he had broken a healthy molar next to the one he had extracted! Although he had "repaired" the broken molar, it had to be removed because an abscess had formed.

The whole horrible experience caused me physical problems for years, but I was too naive at the time to sue anybody. How I wish I had been referred to an oral surgeon.

TORTURED IN PENNSYLVANIA

DEAR TORTURED: Meet a reader who was similarly tortured:

DEAR ABBY: "Disgusted in Virginia," who was annoyed when his dentist referred him (her) to an oral surgeon to have a tooth pulled, should be grateful!

Twenty years ago, a dentist told me that a tooth had to come out — then he proceeded to pull it. It cracked at the gumline, so he called his associate in from the next room — more painkillers while they both stood over me taking turns trying to dig the tooth out! Meanwhile, there was blood all over the place! That instilled in me a fear of dentists that I didn't have before. This fear caused me to avoid regular maintenance visits, so a few years later I needed another tooth pulled. This time, the dentist sent me to an oral surgeon, who extracted the tooth with no effort, no pain, no problems. It cost me a few extra dollars, but it was well worth it.

V.J. GIBBONS, PORT ST. LUCIE, FLA.

DEAR V.J.: Now let's hear it from the "Drill Sergeant":

DEAR ABBY: I think it's important for the public to be better informed, so I am responding to "Disgusted in Virginia."

The dentist referred his patient to an oral surgeon because he had the patient's welfare in mind. Dentists refer to oral surgeons when:

1. The patient is not in good health, and the extraction of a tooth could jeopardize health or life.

2. The tooth is exceedingly difficult to remove where neighboring teeth, the sinus or other vital structures may be damaged.

3. The patient is what I call a "dental loser." A dental loser is someone who sees a dentist only when he has pain. A dental loser accepts no responsibility for the deterioration of his teeth; instead he says, "My parents have dentures ... bad teeth run in the family."

Abby, it's disgusting to have to extract teeth that could have been saved with only a little effort on the part of the original owners.

Woman ordered to undergo tests

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A judge has ordered that one of two women who claim to be the mother of a newborn baby girl abandoned on a bus stop bench to undergo a blood test and physical examination in an attempt to determine if she is the child's mother.

The child, named April Marie Doe, was found last week bundled in a towel on a bus stop bench near a San Antonio hospital. District Judge Tom Rickhoff

Wednesday ordered the baby placed in the legal custody of state officials for six months.

He also appointed state Sen. Cyndi Taylor Krier to act as the baby's attorney and she used the case to show the critical need for foster parents and better child care education in Bexar County.

"You don't have to become so desperate that you have to give birth to a child without care and you have to leave the child on a bench," Krier said.

Assistant District Attorney Wayne Young told Rickhoff the Texas Department of Human Services has received two letters that indicate who the child's mother may be.

The letters were written by a woman who claims her newborn baby was taken from her and another woman who says she delivered the baby and left the infant on a bench, Young said.

Social workers know who the alleged mother of the child is because the Department of Human Services has taken custody of all her children, aged 5 to 11, Young said.

"She's had six kids and we have them all," he said.

Officials said it appeared the baby was left at the bus bench only hours after her birth.

Krier said April Marie is in good health and probably will be placed with a foster family "sometime next week."

Finding an alternative

When defending against six, you should never be in a mad rush to take an ace if that is the only trick you can make. The other side of this is that any good declarer should ask himself why the opponents are not taking that ace. The logical answer is that they hope to take two other tricks later.

South did not get an ideal dummy. He would gladly have exchanged the K-Q of diamonds for the queen of clubs. Still he had to play with what was dealt. He won the opening heart lead with his king, drew trumps ending in his own hand, and then played a diamond. West played low, since his diamond ace was only one trick, and he needed two tricks to set the hand. When dummy's diamond king won the trick, declarer ruffed a diamond, returned to the ace of hearts and ruffed another diamond. When the ace did not fall, declarer played the king of clubs and another East showed out, and poor South could not avoid losing two club tricks and his contract.

Declarer's play was shortsighted. After winning the diamond king, he should simply duck a club. The defenders will return a heart to dummy's ace, but now declarer can ruff a diamond to his hand and run spades. Eventually West will have to either unguard the clubs or throw the ace of diamonds away. If East had the long clubs, that circumstance would show up when the king of clubs is played on the second round of the suit. The club finesse would then provide the slam-giving tricks.

Garden Club hears native plant report

The Snyder Garden Club, a member of Texas Garden Clubs, Inc., met April 7 at Martha Ann Woman's Club. President LaVerne Hood called the meeting to order with 19 members present.

Jo Ann Nunley, program chairman, introduced Don Buckland, WTC golf and landscape instructor. Buckland introduced the guest speaker, Derwin Price.

Price spoke on conservation of water and land using native Texas plants. A Snyder native and WTC student, Price commented that WTC has done studies on native plants of the area and their importance to the ecology.

Price also listed many plants which adapt into the home landscape. He informed members of the schedule for WTC wildflower day which took place April 16.

Committee reports were given. June Boren reported on the flower show at the Scurry County Museum the last of April. Nunley gave information concerning the spring convention to be held in San Angelo. Julie Fox spoke about the wildflower day at WTC. Hood reported on the Scurry County Courthouse landscape project and Jo Irwin reported on the MAWC garage sale. Jo Ann Nunley reminded club members of the last meeting of the season, a trip to Dallas May 4.

Hood requested that members keep a record of their plantings in order that the garden club may make an application for an award in gardening.

Orioles flying low; lose 14th

by The Associated Press
When will it stop for the Baltimore Orioles?
"One of these days we'll win a game and it's all going to be behind us," Baltimore's Terry Kennedy predicted Wednesday night after the Orioles set a major league record by losing their 14th straight game to start the season, falling to the Milwaukee

Brewers 8-6.
The Orioles, in tying the franchise's longest losing streak, surpassed the 1904 Washington Senators and 1920 Detroit Tigers for early futility. They each lost 13 to start the season.
"The Orioles are always remembered for something, mostly for winning, and they're going to be remembered for this, too," Kennedy said. "Thirty years from now when we're old, we'll be watching as some other team is creeping up around 12 or 13 and we'll be laughing at them. But it's not funny now, but it may be someday."

Baltimore, in its highest-scoring game this year, led 5-3 in the fifth inning before the host Brewers rallied. The Orioles' last chance to avoid setting the record came when pinch-hitter Carl Nichols flied out with the bases loaded to end the game.
"When you lose 14 games, nobody likes it," Manager Frank Robinson said. "We're professional players and nobody is embarrassed."

Minnesota 7-6 in 10 innings, Cleveland edged Texas 2-1, Toronto defeated Kansas City 3-0, Oakland rallied past California 9-8 and Seattle downed Chicago 5-4. The Boston at Detroit game was rained out.
Indians 2, Rangers 1
Tom Candiotti scattered nine hits and Cleveland stopped Charlie Hough's 13-game winning streak against the Indians.
Hough lost despite a four-hitter.
Candiotti is 3-0 with a 1.08 ERA.
Hough, 2-2, retired the first 12 batters before Joe Carter and Mel Hall hit RBI doubles to start the fifth. Jay Bell's RBI single made it 2-1.

Yankees 7, Twins 6
Jack Clark's first AL home run, a 10th-inning shot off Minnesota relief ace Jeff Reardon, led New York in the Metrodome.
Clauddell Washington homered against Reardon, 0-1, in the ninth. It was the 10,000th home run in Yankees' franchise history. Earlier, Dave Winfield hit a three-run homer off Twins starter Frank Viola.
The Twins tied the score at 6 in the ninth on Gene Larkin's two-out, RBI single off Dave Righetti, 0-1.

WTC rodeo team set for Hardin-Simmons

ABILENE - Western Texas College, which has stormed the Southwest Region by winning three of the last four rodeos this spring season, goes for another top effort tonight.
The show is the Hardin-Simmons University NIRA Rodeo, being held at the university facilities on Grape St. here. Grand entry is set for 8 p.m.

The rodeo will continue with performances at 8 p.m. Friday, and 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. Saturday. The Saturday night show will serve as the short-go or finals.
After a slow start last fall, Western has run roughshod over the field to move into second place in the regional rodeo standings. First and second place teams advance to the College National Finals Rodeo in Bozeman, Mont.

Now solidly in second place with only two rodeos remaining, WTC is as concerned about placing well as it is about accumulating points. Both frequently go hand-in-hand.
"We just need to continue to try to win first place. As long as we win it, we don't have to worry about how many points we score," said Coach Bob Doty.
Included in tonight's show for Western will be last week's all-around cowboy, Adam Brewster. The Snyder native scored 210 points last week as Western enjoyed a 340-point rodeo. Also out tonight will be Wesley Henderson, Cody Cooper, Shawn Goemmer, Shane Goemmer, Clyde Himes, Barry Byrd, Lance Luttrell and Melanie Graf.

Boys gave fine effort at district track meet

Coach Kevin Wiseman said that although Snyder did not score a lot of points at the District 2-4A Track and Field Championships last weekend, the effort his Tigers gave was a good one.
"As young as we are, I thought we competed real well," said the coach. "I thought we did as well as we could, considering everything."
Snyder will send pole vaulter Charles Guynes on to the Region I meet in Brownwood. Guynes took second in his event and was Snyder's only qualifier to region.
Other athletes from Snyder gave a solid effort, noted the coach.

"Our sprint (400 meter) relay ran one second faster than they have all year. It's a tribute to them to give that kind of effort," said Wiseman. "We had some other people in the long jump, shot put and discus do the best they've done all year, too. I was pleased with the effort."
Running the relay were Dewayne Cato, Paul Anderson, Jason Presley and Jeff Thompson. They ran a 44.9, just sevenths of a second slower than runnerup qualifier Andrews.
Snyder junior varsity also competed in the district meet with Chad Hall, Manuel Espinosa and Edward Rios all taking home first-place ribbons.
Hall threw the shot put 39-10; Espinosa tossed the discus 113-9 and Rios cleared 5-8 in the high jump. A list of Snyder's results in the junior varsity division is listed below.

JV RESULTS
Shot put: 1. Chad Hall, 39-10; 5. Manuel Espinosa, 37-5.
Discus: 1. Manuel Espinosa, 113-9; 3. Chad Hall, 105-10.
High jump: 1. Edward Rios, 5-8; 200 meters: 3. Anthony Palacios, 12:16.0; 4. Robert Palacios, 12:21.0.

Welfare bill clears finance committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is likely to join the House in approving major changes in the nation's welfare system, despite the near certainty that a presidential veto lies at the end of the long road to congressional consensus.

The 25-year drive to overhaul welfare took a significant step forward Wednesday when the Senate Finance Committee voted 17-3 to send a comprehensive reform measure to the floor.

The five-year, $2.8 billion "Family Security Act" reflects a hard-won bipartisan consensus that welfare parents should work to support their children, that the government should help make this possible and that government aid should be a last resort.

The bill was shaped during months of negotiations and had garnered 56 co-sponsors by the time the committee acted. Most of the Republicans on the Finance Committee, including Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole of Kansas, voted in favor of it.

"For all the troubles, in the end, we agree," said Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, D-N.Y., chief sponsor and architect of the plan. "We learned to talk to each other and listen and learn."

While a majority of Senate Democrats and Republicans may have reached a fragile consensus, Reagan administration officials have raised numerous objections to the bill and have said they will recommend a veto.

But Moynihan said the support of the Finance Committee, which has killed many reform efforts in the last two decades, is evidence that welfare reform has come too far to fail.

"If the president vetoes it, the next president will sign it," he said.

Both Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., and Finance Committee Chairman Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, have said they want to complete Senate action on the Moynihan bill and achieve a compromise with the House before the end of the year.

The House passed a broad plan last year that, according to rough, preliminary estimates by the Congressional Budget Office, would cost $7.1 billion over five years.

Unlike the Senate bill, the House would give states financial incentives to raise their benefits until 1991. In many states, welfare payments amount to less than half the federal poverty standard.

Both bills would require states to take stronger steps to establish paternity and collect child support from absent parents. The provisions include automatic wage-withholding from paychecks in some cases.

States would also have to set up education, training and job programs for welfare recipients and spend half their money on those considered most difficult to help, such as teen-age mothers. Child care, transportation and Medicaid assistance would be provided.

Rare disease produces swelling

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: After eight months and 11 doctors, my medical problem was finally diagnosed as eosinophilic fasciitis. It's rare, apparently, and my doctors aren't very familiar with it. What can you tell me?

DEAR READER: It's not just rare; it's only recently been recognized. Eosinophilic fasciitis is a variant of the autoimmune disease scleroderma. Its cause is unknown. It produces painful swelling of the hands, legs and feet that has an orange-peel appearance. Carpal tunnel syndrome (tingling of the fingers) may accompany it. In addition to swelling and pain, patients complain of fatigue, weight loss, arthritis, dry eyes and general weakness.

Eosinophilic fasciitis is diagnosed by biopsy. Microscopic analysis of small portions of affected tissue will reveal the typical inflammation of the disease. Prednisone (cortisone) is the most effective treatment; however, to produce long-term remission, it may have to be taken for years. Although no patients have been followed for extended periods, the disease is self-limited and, in most patients, does not seem to cause serious ill effects.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Two of our children were born with maple-syrup-urine disease. Let me emphasize that immediate diagnosis is critical to saving the health of infants born with this condition. Do you think, as I do, that screening tests should be done on all children?

DEAR READER: Maple-syrup-urine disease is a rare (1 in 120,000 to 300,000 births) genetic disorder characterized by the inability to metabo-lize the three amino acids leucine, isoleucine and valine. These acids can build up in the bloodstream and cause weakness, lethargy, feeding difficulties, low blood sugar, convulsions and death within the first few weeks of life. As you point out, early diagnosis is essential. The disease is usually first suspected because of a maple-syrup odor to the urine. Treatment consists of avoiding the three amino acids and taking niacin.

I agree that early blood and urine testing of all newborns would be a valuable procedure, such as is now done with another amino acid disorder, called phenylketonuria. However, because of the rarity of maple-syrup-urine disease, I doubt that mass screening will be adopted in the near future.

Actress donates $1.5 million

DALLAS (AP) — Actress Greer Garson has endowed a professorship at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School with a $1.5 million gift, medical school officials say.

The donation, announced Wednesday, honored Dr. Paul C. Peters, chairman of the division of urology, who cared for Ms. Garson's husband, E. E. "Buddy" Fogelson, who died last December following a lengthy illness.

Fogelson was an independent oilman and lawyer.

Southwestern President Dr. Kern Wildenthal said he would request that the University of Texas System Board of Regents appoint Peters as first holder of the endowed chair to be established with the gift.

Ms. Garson, who won an Academy Award for her starring role in the 1942 film Mrs. Miniver, had a 30-year Hollywood career. She now divides her time between an apartment in Beverly Hills, Calif., her Dallas condominium and a ranch in Pecos, N.M.
