

Ballot will decide TDC revenue bond sales

By DONNY BROWN
SDN Managing Editor

The issuance of two $1.3 million revenue bonds to finance utility lines for the Texas Department of Corrections prison unit—a proposal which has seen more than 300 names voluntarily added to a steering committee in support of the proposal—will be decided here Saturday.

Voting will take place at city hall between the hours of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

A special group, the Snyder Committee for Economic Opportunity, has been formed in support of the effort. As of last Sunday, more than 300 community leaders had agreed to list their names as supporting the proposal.

The committee has been headed by Martin Brooks, chairman of the board of West Texas State Bank. Serving as treasurer has been Delbert Downing, a longtime community leader and this area's representative to the Silver Haired Legislature.

City council members have opted to seek the bonds through the Texas Water Development Board, a method described by city leaders as "the quickest and the cheapest."

City council members have stressed repeatedly that they believe the bonds will not adversely affect existing rates for water and sewer—primarily because income from sales to the prison will be sufficient to offset the debt service.

Because of the nature of revenue bonds, only revenue from the sale of these utilities can be used to retire the debt.

City officials note with a 20-year payback, the bonds will cost the city some $266,000 annually.

This is to be offset by an estimated profit from water and sewer service sales to the TDC unit of some $151,000.

City officials project water sales to a 1,000-man unit will equal over $129,000 in profit annually, while sewer sales will total a profit of some $22,000.

The difference will be made up from water and sewer revenue funds which have been allocated in the past to capital improvement projects.

City officials are hopeful also that if a second 1,000-man unit is added at the site, the profit from both water and sewer will automatically double without the need for additional expenses related to more lines.

The total revenue bond amount of $2.7 million is figured to finance the laying of two 12-inch lines to the site some 5 miles northeast of the city.

Also figured in this total is purchasing the right-of-way for the lines, an overhead storage tank at the site and the "possible needs" of both a lift station for the sewer line and a pump station for the water line.

City officials say the $2.7 million total is purposely a "high" figure to take into account all contingencies.

If bids for the project come in lower, the lower figure will be the actual amount sought with the bond sales.

Sale for cable TV 'snagged'

City Attorney Ernie Armstrong reported at an agenda discussion meeting of the city council Thursday night that negotiations for a new franchise to effect the sale of SCAT TV Cable to Snyder Cablevision are still apparently snagged.

Armstrong told councilmen in the informal 6:30 p.m. meeting that the Washington, D.C. attorney for the New York City and Colorado City group has now been instructed to seek a specified rate recommendation on the part of the city of $16.95 per month for the group's proposed expansion of local cable TV offerings.

Councilmen indicated that they would allow the cable company to set its own rates, but would not set a "specified rate" for them.

The council will meet at 6:30 p.m. Monday to canvass returns from the Saturday revenue bonds sale. The extension of water and sewer services to the Texas Department of Corrections unit northeast of town on which construction began this week.

Another agenda item will be an appearance by Betty Benson and Art Feinsod to present a petition and propose that the city designate no-smoking areas on city property.

Six contested races to voters Saturday

Voters face six contested board member elections which have drawn 14 candidates Saturday—races to be decided at a combined polling location for the city, college and school boards as well as the Snyder city council.

The polls will be open Saturday from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Who will vote for whom is a mixed bag as both the city and school conduct ballots which exclusively affect single member districts.

Boundary line maps for both are included inside this issue of the SDN. Maps will be provided at the polls also and election workers will be on hand to assist voters in the city and school district they reside in for city and school balloting.

All residents of the city will cast ballots related to two revenue bonds of $1.3 million each (see related story) to be used to finance the construction of water and sewer lines to the Texas Department of Corrections prison site northeast of the city.

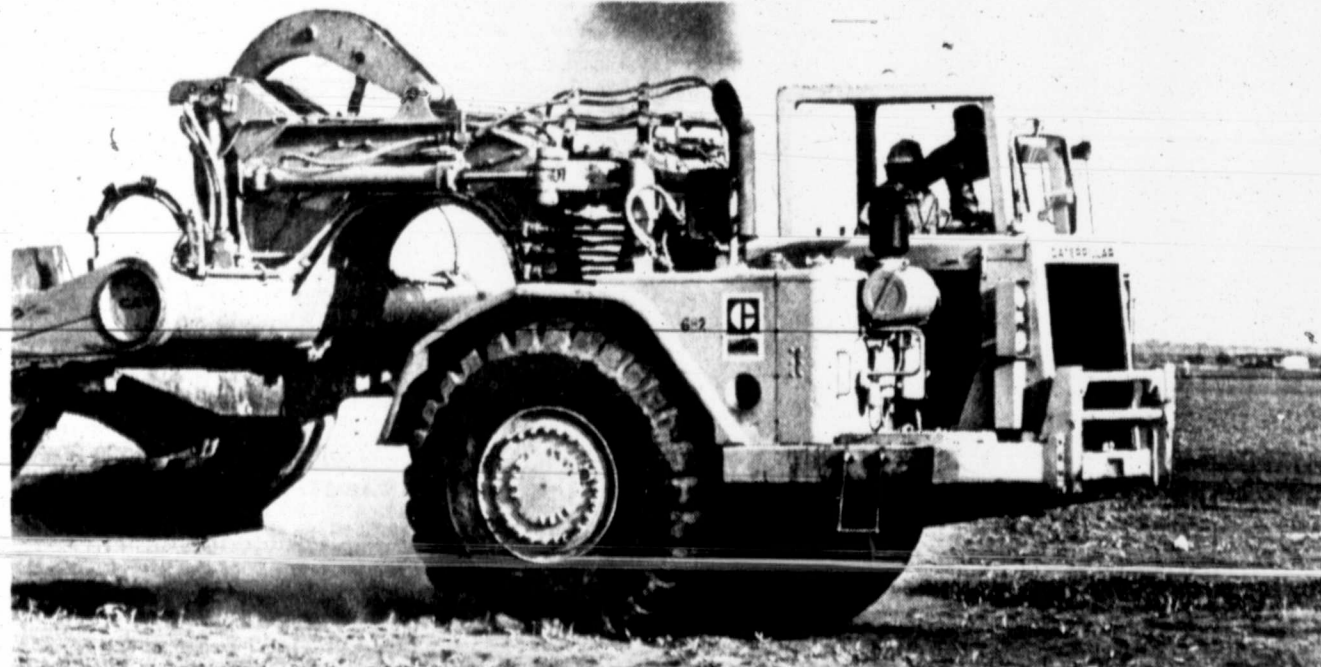

In addition, all registered voters in the county will be eligible to vote in the Western Texas College board race.

At the close of absentee voting Tuesday, the city had counted a record 314 votes; the college had counted a record 108 votes; and the school district had counted 160 votes, at least approaching the record 214 count set last spring.

Elections judges Saturday will be Pat Patis for the school, Ollie Peek for the city, and Janelda

Davis for the college. Four candidates on the three ballots Saturday are unopposed, three of these incumbents.

Incumbents who did not draw challenging candidates include on the school board in place 2, Mike Jordan, 39, owner of J&J Machine; on the city council in place 2, Ralph Williamson, 39, supervisor for Southwestern Bell Telephone; and on the college board, place 7, John Gayle, 44, Snyder city manager. ### Seats contested on rural school ballot

Hermleigh and Ira voters will go to the polls Saturday to decide the school board races in their respective school districts.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. for both elections. Hermleigh residents will vote at the school cafeteria and Ira residents will vote at the Ira Community Center.

Bill Jordan is the election judge for Hermleigh and Sandra Pennington is the election judge for Ira.

Both Hermleigh and Ira have five candidates each who have filed for Saturday's school board election.

Five candidates are seeking three at-large positions at Hermleigh, one of these an incumbent, Carole Haynes. Also announced are Rex Reynolds, Antonio Lambaren, Andres P. Rodriguez and Nancy Wood.

Five persons have filed at Ira with one incumbent seeking reelection, Ray Sorrells for place 4. He will be opposed by Bob Barbee.

In place 5, candidates announced are Sidney Wall, Tommy Sterling and Joe Pierce.

When the filing period began Feb. 22, incumbents with expiring terms on the Hermleigh ISD board were Doug Foster, Jerry

I in hospital due to wreck

A 27-year-old Lubbock woman was listed in stable condition Friday at Cogdell Memorial Hospital with injuries suffered in a two-vehicle collision at 3 p.m. Thursday just east of the Snyder city limits on U.S. 180.

Cindi Taylor was admitted to the hospital after being taken from the wreck scene by Snyder EMS Ambulance Service, along with 52-year-old Modesto Yanez of Rotan and his wife, Marie, 50.

Both women reportedly suffered facial injuries.

The Department of Public Safety said a 1968 Chevrolet driven by Taylor was going north on the U.S. 84 access road and a 1980 Chevrolet pickup truck driven by Yanez and owned by

In Texas there is an ageless debate on when and where headgear should and should not be worn.

In Fort Worth recently, a man's fondness for his cowboy hat landed him a 10-day stay in jail. The Texan had been called for jury duty and the bailiff asked him to remove his black felt hat.

The man still refused, and the judge's gavel fell. He was sentenced to 10 days in jail for contempt of court. After three days in the slammer, the man repented by apologizing and was released.

Illegal entry causes arrest

Three young Oklahoma men were arrested for burglary Thursday afternoon after three Snyder women reported that the youths had come into their homes without permission.

Johnny L. Cooper, 18, and Robert Cooper Jr., 22, both of Spiro, Okla., and a 16-year-old juvenile were taken into custody at 6:08 p.m. at a home in the 2600 Block of Ave. 1.

The juvenile was incarcerated in the Lubbock County Youth Detention Center in Lubbock, police said.

New exhibit

An exhibition of illustrations from children's literature will open Sunday in the Diamond-M-Museum of Art.

The exhibition is titled "Picture That!" and provides a glimpse into the development of children's literature in America.

Included are illustrations selected from the Special Collections department of the University of Oregon Library, a brief history of children's literature, samples of artists' layout books, expanded labels outlining each artist's career and copies of children's books.

Sports awards

Snyder High School honors its top athletes with the annual SHS Booster Club's All-Sports-Banquet at Scurry County Coliseum tonight. The banquet will start at 7:30 p.m.

Awards will be given in baseball, basketball, football, golf, tennis, track and volleyball. The event is highlighted by the naming of the Male and Female Athletes of the Year.

In addition, cheerleaders and trainers will be recognized, and a special award—the Bill J. Hood Scholar Athlete Award—will be presented.

Bake sale

The Gay 20 organization at Snyder High School will have a bake sale Saturday from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. at the bandstand on the courthouse square.

Pet shots

Pet owners are encouraged to bring their animals for the annual rabies vaccination day slated Saturday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. at the coliseum ag annex.

The event is jointly sponsored by the Snyder Jaycees and the city. A fee of $6 is asked.

Japanese customs officials block delivery of cookies

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A Brownie troop's hopes of shipping more than 400 boxes of Girl Scout cookies to sailors aboard a U.S. aircraft carrier are crumbling after Japanese customs officials blocked the delivery.

"I don't think it's fair," 8-year-old Nickelle Clark said Thursday after being notified of the problem. "I'm mad."

She sold more than 500 boxes of cookies this year, including some to a sailor aboard the USS Midway who had written to say he missed the annual treat. Troop 807 leader Manchetta White said a $2,000 duty tax prevented the cookies from clearing customs and going to the 35 servicemen who ordered them.

But most of the Brownies do not know their cookies have not reached the sailors, Ms. White said.

"I didn't want to tell the Brownies because I didn't want tears at this week's meeting," she said. "The girls are so excited and waiting for letters back from the men thanking them."

Now American Airlines officials are trying to figure out what to do with 402 boxes of Golden Yangles, Scot Ts, Thin Mints, Savannahs, Jubilees, Classic Cremes, and Hoedowns, piled in the back of their ticket office in Corpus Christi.

The airline offered free passage for the cookies to the crew of the carrier homeported in Atsugi, Japan. They were shipped April 26 and then spent four days in a Japanese customs warehouse before being returned to the airport.

"They just sent me a message with the cookies saying they could not clear customs," said Jean Titus, American Airlines general manager in Corpus Christi.

Ms. Titus is waiting for a message via teletype from American Airlines officials in Tokyo regarding possible alternatives.

She said she is working with Ret. Adm. James Scott, Homeport Project coordinator, to send the cookies to a naval base in Honolulu or San Francisco where a navy ship or plane could transport the cookies to the USS Midway. It would take eight weeks for the cookies to arrive.

"We didn't mail the cookies originally because we didn't have the money," Ms. White told the Corpus Christi Caller-Times.

The last executions for witchcraft in the United States took place in 1692.

Family Man's AIDS Infection Is a Bitter Legacy for Widow

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am a 59-year-old, college-educated, retired professional woman. My husband — a professional man — died of AIDS three years ago. He was not in a high-risk group. Because he was a family man, and because AIDS was unknown in our area, the doctors never thought to test him for the virus until about a week before he died. The results were positive, but these did not come back until after his funeral, and more important for me, after the death certificate was signed. So the certificate bore no stigma, and there was no publicity.

Because not much was known at the time (at least around here) about how AIDS is transmitted, our adult children were tested for the virus at the same time I was. Now, of course, we know that testing the kids was unnecessary because they neither had sex nor shared needles with my husband, and had no contact with his blood. Naturally, their tests were negative. I, on the other hand, tested positive, and was tested again to make certain there was no mistake. Positive again.

I want to make it absolutely clear that there was no anal intercourse — only normal penile-vaginal (missionary) intercourse in my case. I was told that the odds of a straight, monogamous, drug-free person getting this disease is about 5 million-to-1, but that doesn't help if you're the one in 5 million!

So far, I am still healthy but I have the virus — the virus I got from "normal" intercourse.

Abby, I implore you to alert your reading audience to my message. If this happened to me, it can happen to any straight, monogamous woman.

There may be many, perhaps thousands, of women like me. There are no records on us because as I understand it, only full-blown AIDS, and perhaps AIDS-related complex cases, are reported to the CDC. Carriers are not reported. And if these women are like me, they are telling NO ONE.

Of course, I am not sexually active. But those who are must inform their partners, and insist on the use of a condom, which may still carry some risks, but is considerably safer. To do otherwise is tantamount to murder.

ANONYMOUS WIDOW

DEAR WIDOW: You are courageous to have written, and I thank you for wanting to warn other women. The message here is: A sexually active monogamous woman can be at risk from "normal" intercourse if her partner is infected with the AIDS virus.

DEAR ABBY: I have some good news for the 60-year-old Ohio farmer who, though married, had not experienced marital relations for many years.

The last 12 years of a previous 35-year marriage were also void of all marital relations. As a healthy male, this caused me considerable frustration. At 63, I wondered if I had become impotent.

At age 65, my sexless marriage was terminated when my wife died. Shortly after, I ran into a former high school sweetheart whose marriage had been terminated (unknown to me) 12 years earlier! Our romance resumed and we were married on Valentine's Day.

Abby, I have no idea how old one must be when the bells stop ringing, but at 65, they rang again for me, and life was every bit as exciting (romantically speaking) as it had been 40 years ago.

It takes the right partner to return love and affection in the same manner it is given. Thank God for my lovely bride!

I am signing my name, and you may use it.

WILLIAM HUFFMAN,
WINSTON-SALEM, N.C.

DEAR MR. HUFFMAN: And thank you for giving me permission to publish your wonderful letter.

To get Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send a check or money order for $2.89 ($3.39 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054 (postage and handling are included).

Stockholders shouldn't expect dividends

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — Gulf States Utilities Co.'s stockholders should not expect the company to begin issuing dividends any time soon, the chief executive officer says.

But restoration of stock dividends dominated the discussion Thursday at Gulf States' 63rd annual meeting in Beaumont. Some 450 stockholders attended the meeting.

Gulf States stopped paying common stock dividends in 1986 and stopped preferred dividends in 1987. Before the company can resume paying common stock dividends, the utility must first repay all the missed preferred and preference dividend payments.

Several stockholders told E. Linn Draper Jr., Gulf States' president, chief executive officer and chairman of the board, that they were upset GSU has not resumed paying stock dividends. Draper said he shared their concern, but added it would take time to restore the company's financial health.

He also said 1987 — a time in which the company's revenues, sales and earnings fell — was GSU's most difficult year.

In addition, rate decisions in Texas and Louisiana have dragged on far longer than the company expected, he said.

Two sentenced in tax scam

DALLAS (AP) — Two California men were sentenced to a combined total of 45 years in prison on charges of bilking the federal government out of millions of dollars in taxes.

Prosecutors said James G. Bryan, of The Grand Cayman Islands and Irvine, Calif., and James A. Hearn of Redondo Beach, Calif., offered 2,000 clients fraudulent tax shelters that cost the government $200 million.

The convictions stem from the largest investigation into tax shelter fraud in the history of the Internal Revenue Service, prosecutors said.

Bryan, who founded United States Tax Planning Services

Ltd., was sentenced to 25 years on charges of conspiracy and helping prepare false tax returns. Bryan is currently serving an eight-year sentence on similar charges in Portland, Ore. Hearn, 52, was sentenced to 20 years in prison. Authorities said Hearn, a certified public accountant, promoted and sold fake tax shelters as owner of the Dallas-based Worldwide Capital Management.

The number of women in Latin America's labor force has increased dramatically, according to the Inter-American Development Bank. The number of women more than tripled between 1950 and 1980, rising from 9.8 million to 30 million. Meanwhile, the number of men in the labor force nearly doubled

Ex-employee says he is not guilty

DALLAS (AP) — A former Switzerland aircraft employee told a Dallas judge he was innocent of plotting with his son-in-law to sell microwave tubes, helicopters and anti-tank missiles to an Iranian arms dealer.

John Richard Brown pleaded innocent Thursday to charges he violated the U.S. Arms Export Control Act.

His son-in-law, Virginia businessman James Edward Miller, faces similar charges. Miller told U.S. District Judge Robert Maloney that he couldn't afford an attorney.

Friends:
At the luncheon held in the Armory honoring the Texas Department of Correction, Mr. Roy Baze directed some pertinent remarks to the members. He reminded them that they now own more land at the Snyder prison site than they will initially use. He suggested they consider establishing an Administration Complex in one corner of the land area and consider expanding the size of the presently planned unit.

Both suggestions are pertinent because the Department has already discussed the need for expansion of their Administration Offices. It has also been mentioned that the size of the presently planned unit could be enlarged.

It is fundamentally necessary to provide water and sewer services to the approved unit which is under construction. Revenues generated by the services will pay for providing them.

Snyder's central West Texas location and the approximate 600-acre prison site support the community's opportunities for expansion of the initial facilities. An overwhelming vote in favor of the water and sewer bonds would send another clear declaration to the TDC that they have a dependable friend in the city of Snyder.

Rare disease is inherited

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My wife and I recently lost our 26-year-old daughter who was, we thought, in excellent health. She did have pseudoxanthoma elasticum, which we thought was a skin disease. The medical examiner said the cause of death was narrow and diseased arteries of the heart, producing arrhythmia. Could we have prevented her passing? We also have an older daughter with "pseudo" and are very concerned about her and her daughter.

DEAR READER: Pseudoxanthoma elasticum (PXE) is a rare, inherited disorder of connective tissue, marked by a degeneration of elastic fibers in certain organs. The skin is primarily affected and shows exaggerated folds, inelasticity, grooving and laxity. However, the disease can also attack the retinas, causing blindness, and the walls of the arteries.

Nearly all patients show the vascular complications of PXE. This results in virtual collapse of arteries, as they weaken from loss of elastic fibers. Hemorrhages may occur; also angina and hypertension are common consequences.

In view of the genetic basis of your daughter's disease, you and your husband were powerless to prevent her death. The prognosis of PXE depends on the severity and location of the arterial disease. At present, no treatment — other than supportive care — is available. I share your concern about your older daughter's future — and her child's. I think that you should ask for a conference with her doctor so that, perhaps, complications can be avoided and your family can be given a detailed explanation of PXE.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have a 14-year-old son who is 5 feet 1 and 110 pounds. He has no signs of going through puberty as I know them. He's the shortest male in his class. It is affecting his self-esteem. The doctor just says he's a late bloomer. What can I do to help the boy cope with his situation until his body decides to catch up?

DEAR READER: This is indeed a difficult question to answer because it depends on many factors, including the cause of your son's late development and his feelings about his body image. Some children do mature late; their onsets of puberty are built into their genetic biological clocks. Once puberty starts, they grow normally and catch up to their classmates. However, some youngsters suffer from true lack of sexual development. They need endocrine evaluations and treatment.

Late-bloomers also suffer from psychological stress that is caused by being underdeveloped. This may require counseling and professional advice.

I suggest that you have an in-depth interview with your son's doctor to investigate ways of handling the situation to your son's best advantage. I am sure that the doctor can advise you or can refer you to the proper resource.

If you have questions about CONTRACTION, you can get answers in Dr. Gott's new Health Report on the subject. Send $1 to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to ask for the Health Report on Contraction.

British actor George Rose dies in automobile accident

PUERTO PLATA, Dominican Republic (AP) — British actor George Rose, who won Broadway's Tony award for "My Fair Lady" and "Drood," died when his car swerved into a ditch and flipped over in this Caribbean resort, police said.

He was 68. Police said the accident occurred about 10:30 p.m. Wednesday less than a mile east of Puerto Plata, but authorities were not aware of it until the vehicle was found at 6 a.m. Thursday.

Police officer Jose Nunez said Rose apparently was alone and that the car was traveling at high speed when it swerved off the road and into a ditch, rolling over several times. He said Rose died instantly.

Nunez said Rose was traveling west from the seaside town of Sosua, where he had a home, to nearby Puerto Plata on the north coast of the Dominican Republic 160 miles northwest of the capital, Santo Domingo. He was taken to the Ricardo Limardo

Hospital in Puerto Plata.

Rose, considered an archetype of the British character actor, had lived in New York City since 1961. He won Broadway's coveted Antoinette Perry award in 1976 as best actor in a musical for his performance in a revival of "My Fair Lady." In 1986, he won a second Tony for his star role in "Drood."

The resourceful, inventive Rose was equally at home in drama, comedy and musicals. He attributed his versatility to "an interest that ranges widely over a number of things" and to "a solid belief in technique."

George Walter Rose was born on Feb. 19, 1920, in Bicester, England.

Amnesty program termed success; workers get rest

By The Associated Press

Immigration workers took a breather the day after the landmark amnesty program ended, then braced for the mountains of paperwork remaining in the thousands of undocumented aliens who applied for amnesty.

"Today we're recuperating and doing in-house stuff," Richard Rios, head of the Houston center, said Thursday, as he and his 23 employees toasted the end of 16-hour shifts with champagne.

By the Wednesday midnight deadline, more than 1.6 million aliens had applied for amnesty nationwide, Immigration and Naturalization Service officials said.

About 500,000 aliens applied in the 13-state Southern Region, said INS Southern Region Commissioner Stephen H. Martin.

"This has been a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity, an incredible human adventure," Martin said.

More than 26,000 of those in the Southern Region filed their applications on the year-long program's final day, he said.

INS employees said they were ready for the rest.

"I'm going to sleep all weekend long," Cora Rodriguez, an employee at the Houston center, said early Thursday. "But I wouldn't miss this for the world. This is making history tonight."

Under the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, aliens who have lived illegally in the United States continuously since before 1982 are eligible for temporary residency and amnesty from deportation. They can apply for permanent residency after 18 months and eventually for citizenship.

Special agricultural workers, who so far have constituted about one-sixth of amnesty applicants, apply under different rules and have a Nov. 30 deadline.

People granted amnesty from the application period are given temporary residency and a work permit. Starting 18 months after filing their amnesty applications, recipients have one year to apply for permanent residency.

Controversy already is brewing over testing procedures for amnesty recipients, who unlike legal immigrants must display a proficiency in English and knowledge of U.S. history and government to gain permanent residency.

Legal immigrants have to take such a test only when they apply for citizenship.

The INS can waive the requirements if amnesty recipients can prove they are enrolled in English and government courses.

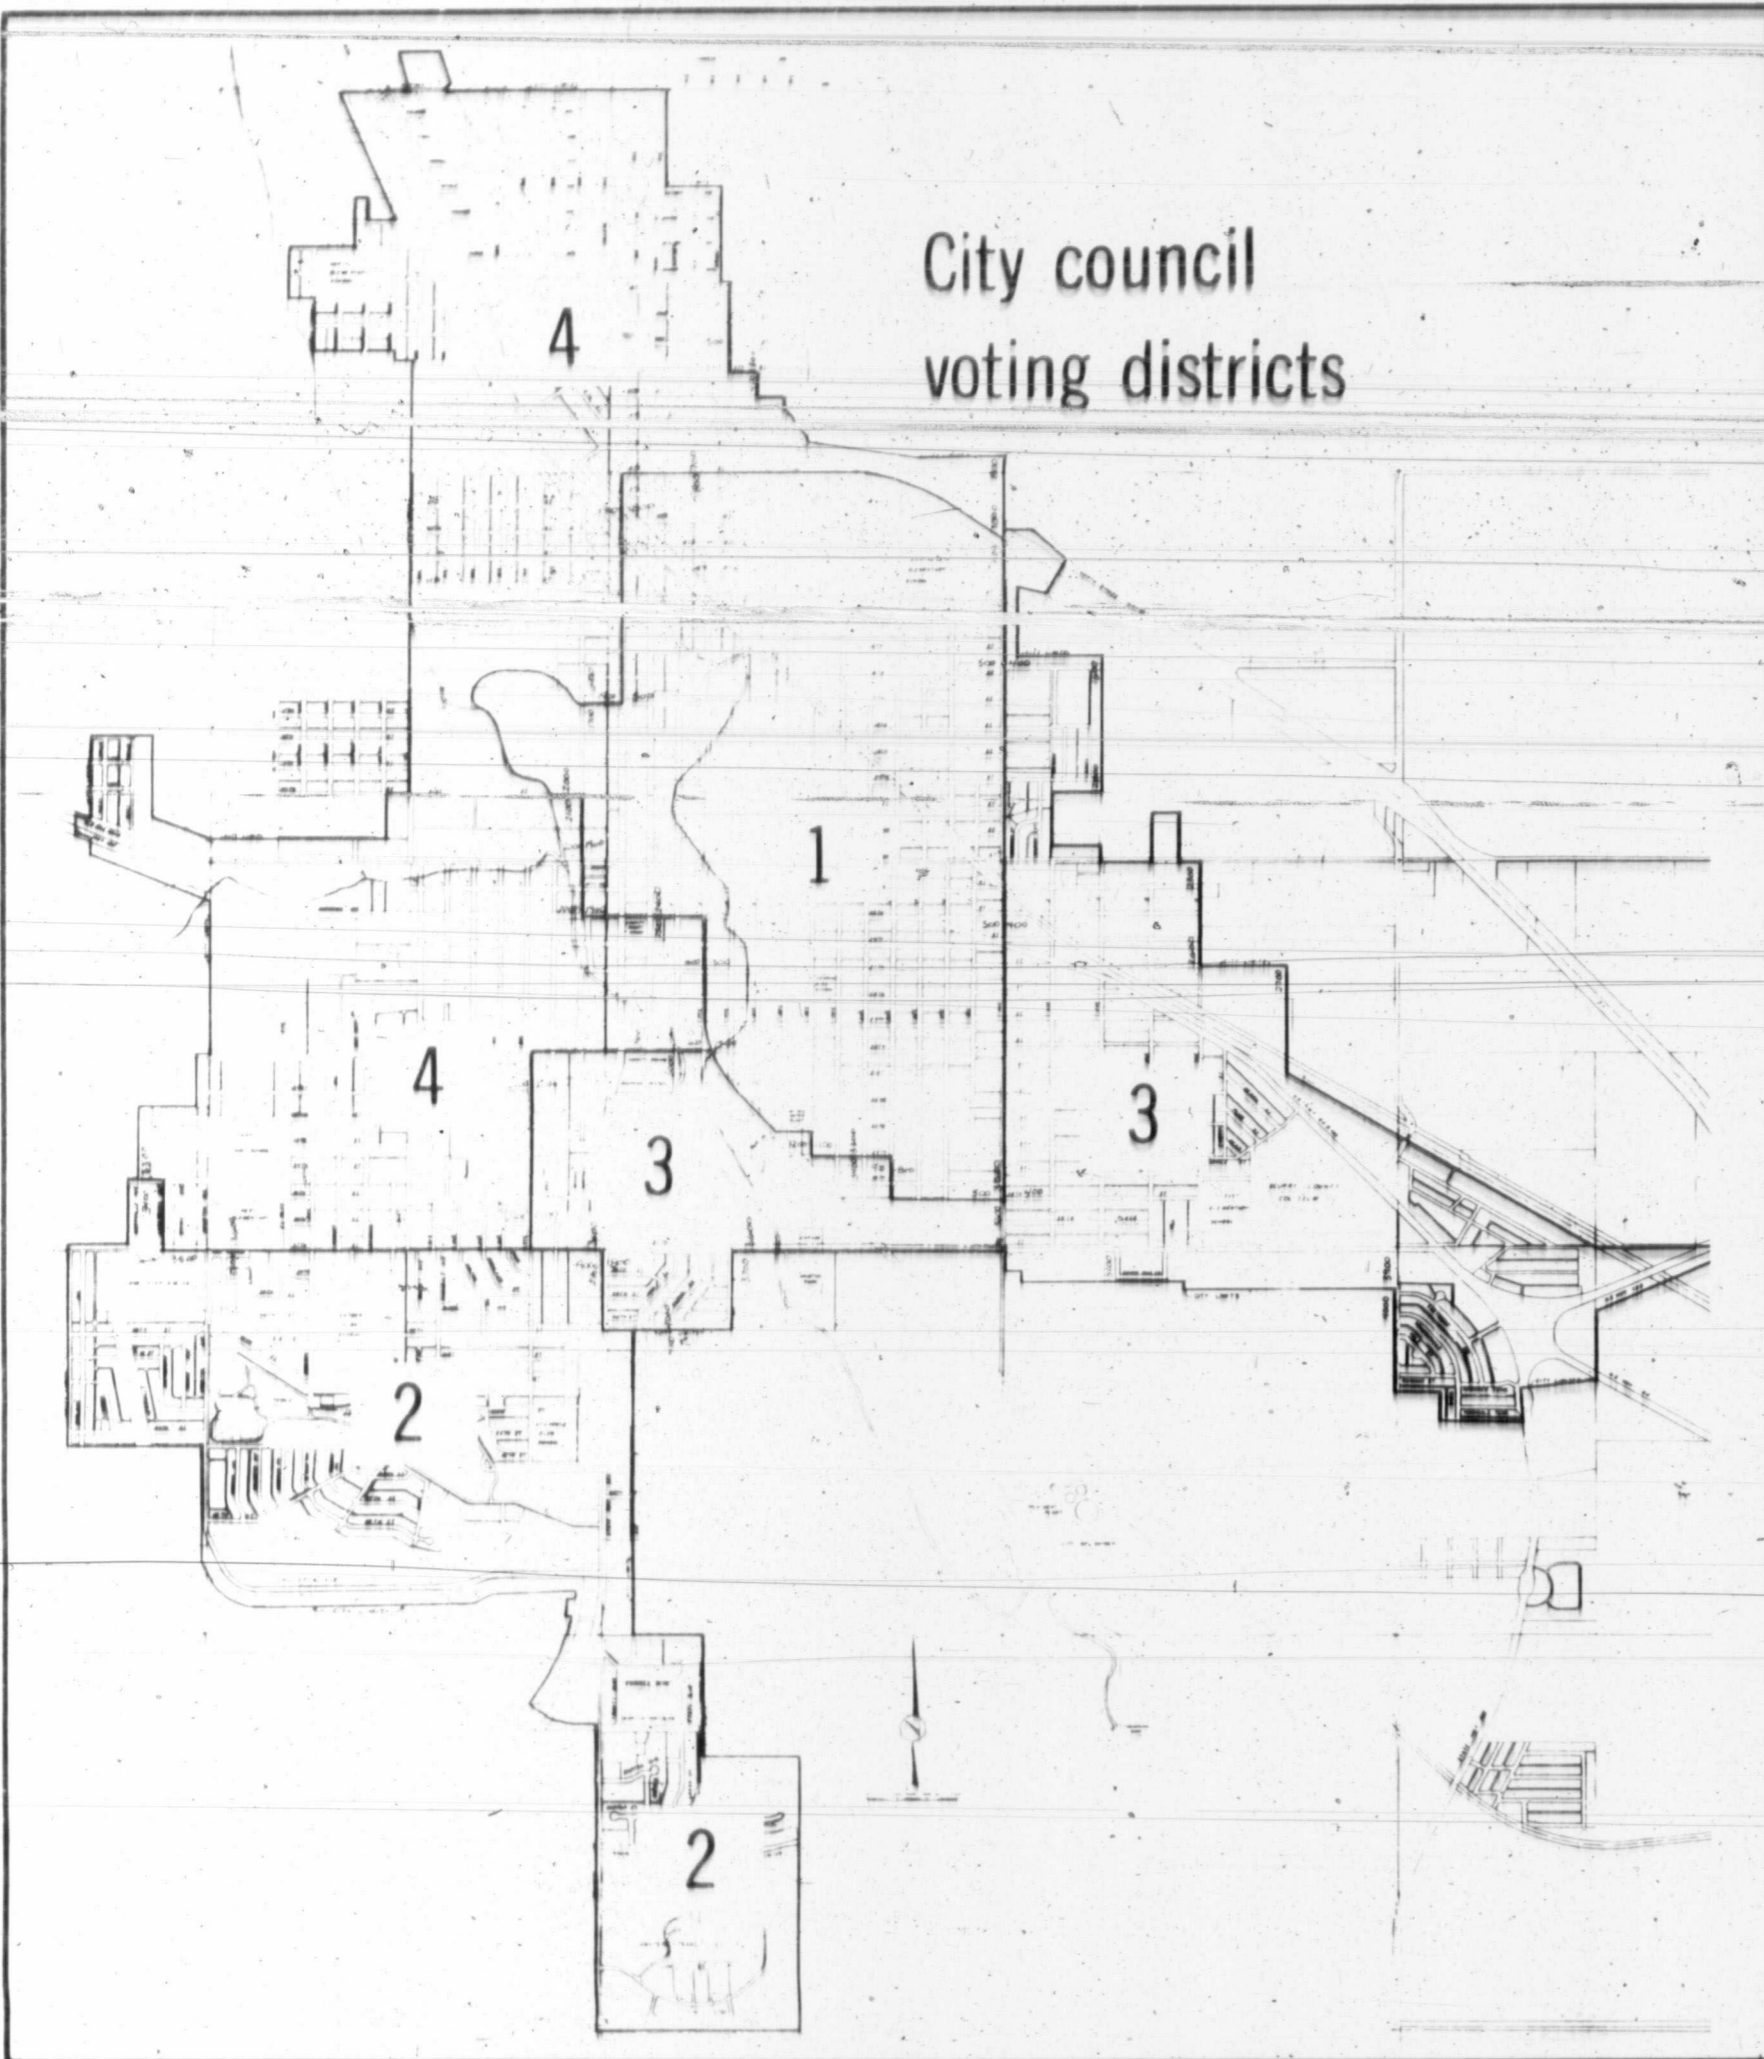

A total of 108,579 people applied through the Houston office, 4,200 in the last 24 hours, said Ron Parra, INS district director in Houston. The total number should increase once mailed-in applications are received.

A total of 600 aliens were processed by the Austin INS legalization center Wednesday, said Lynn Cosentine, director of the Austin office.

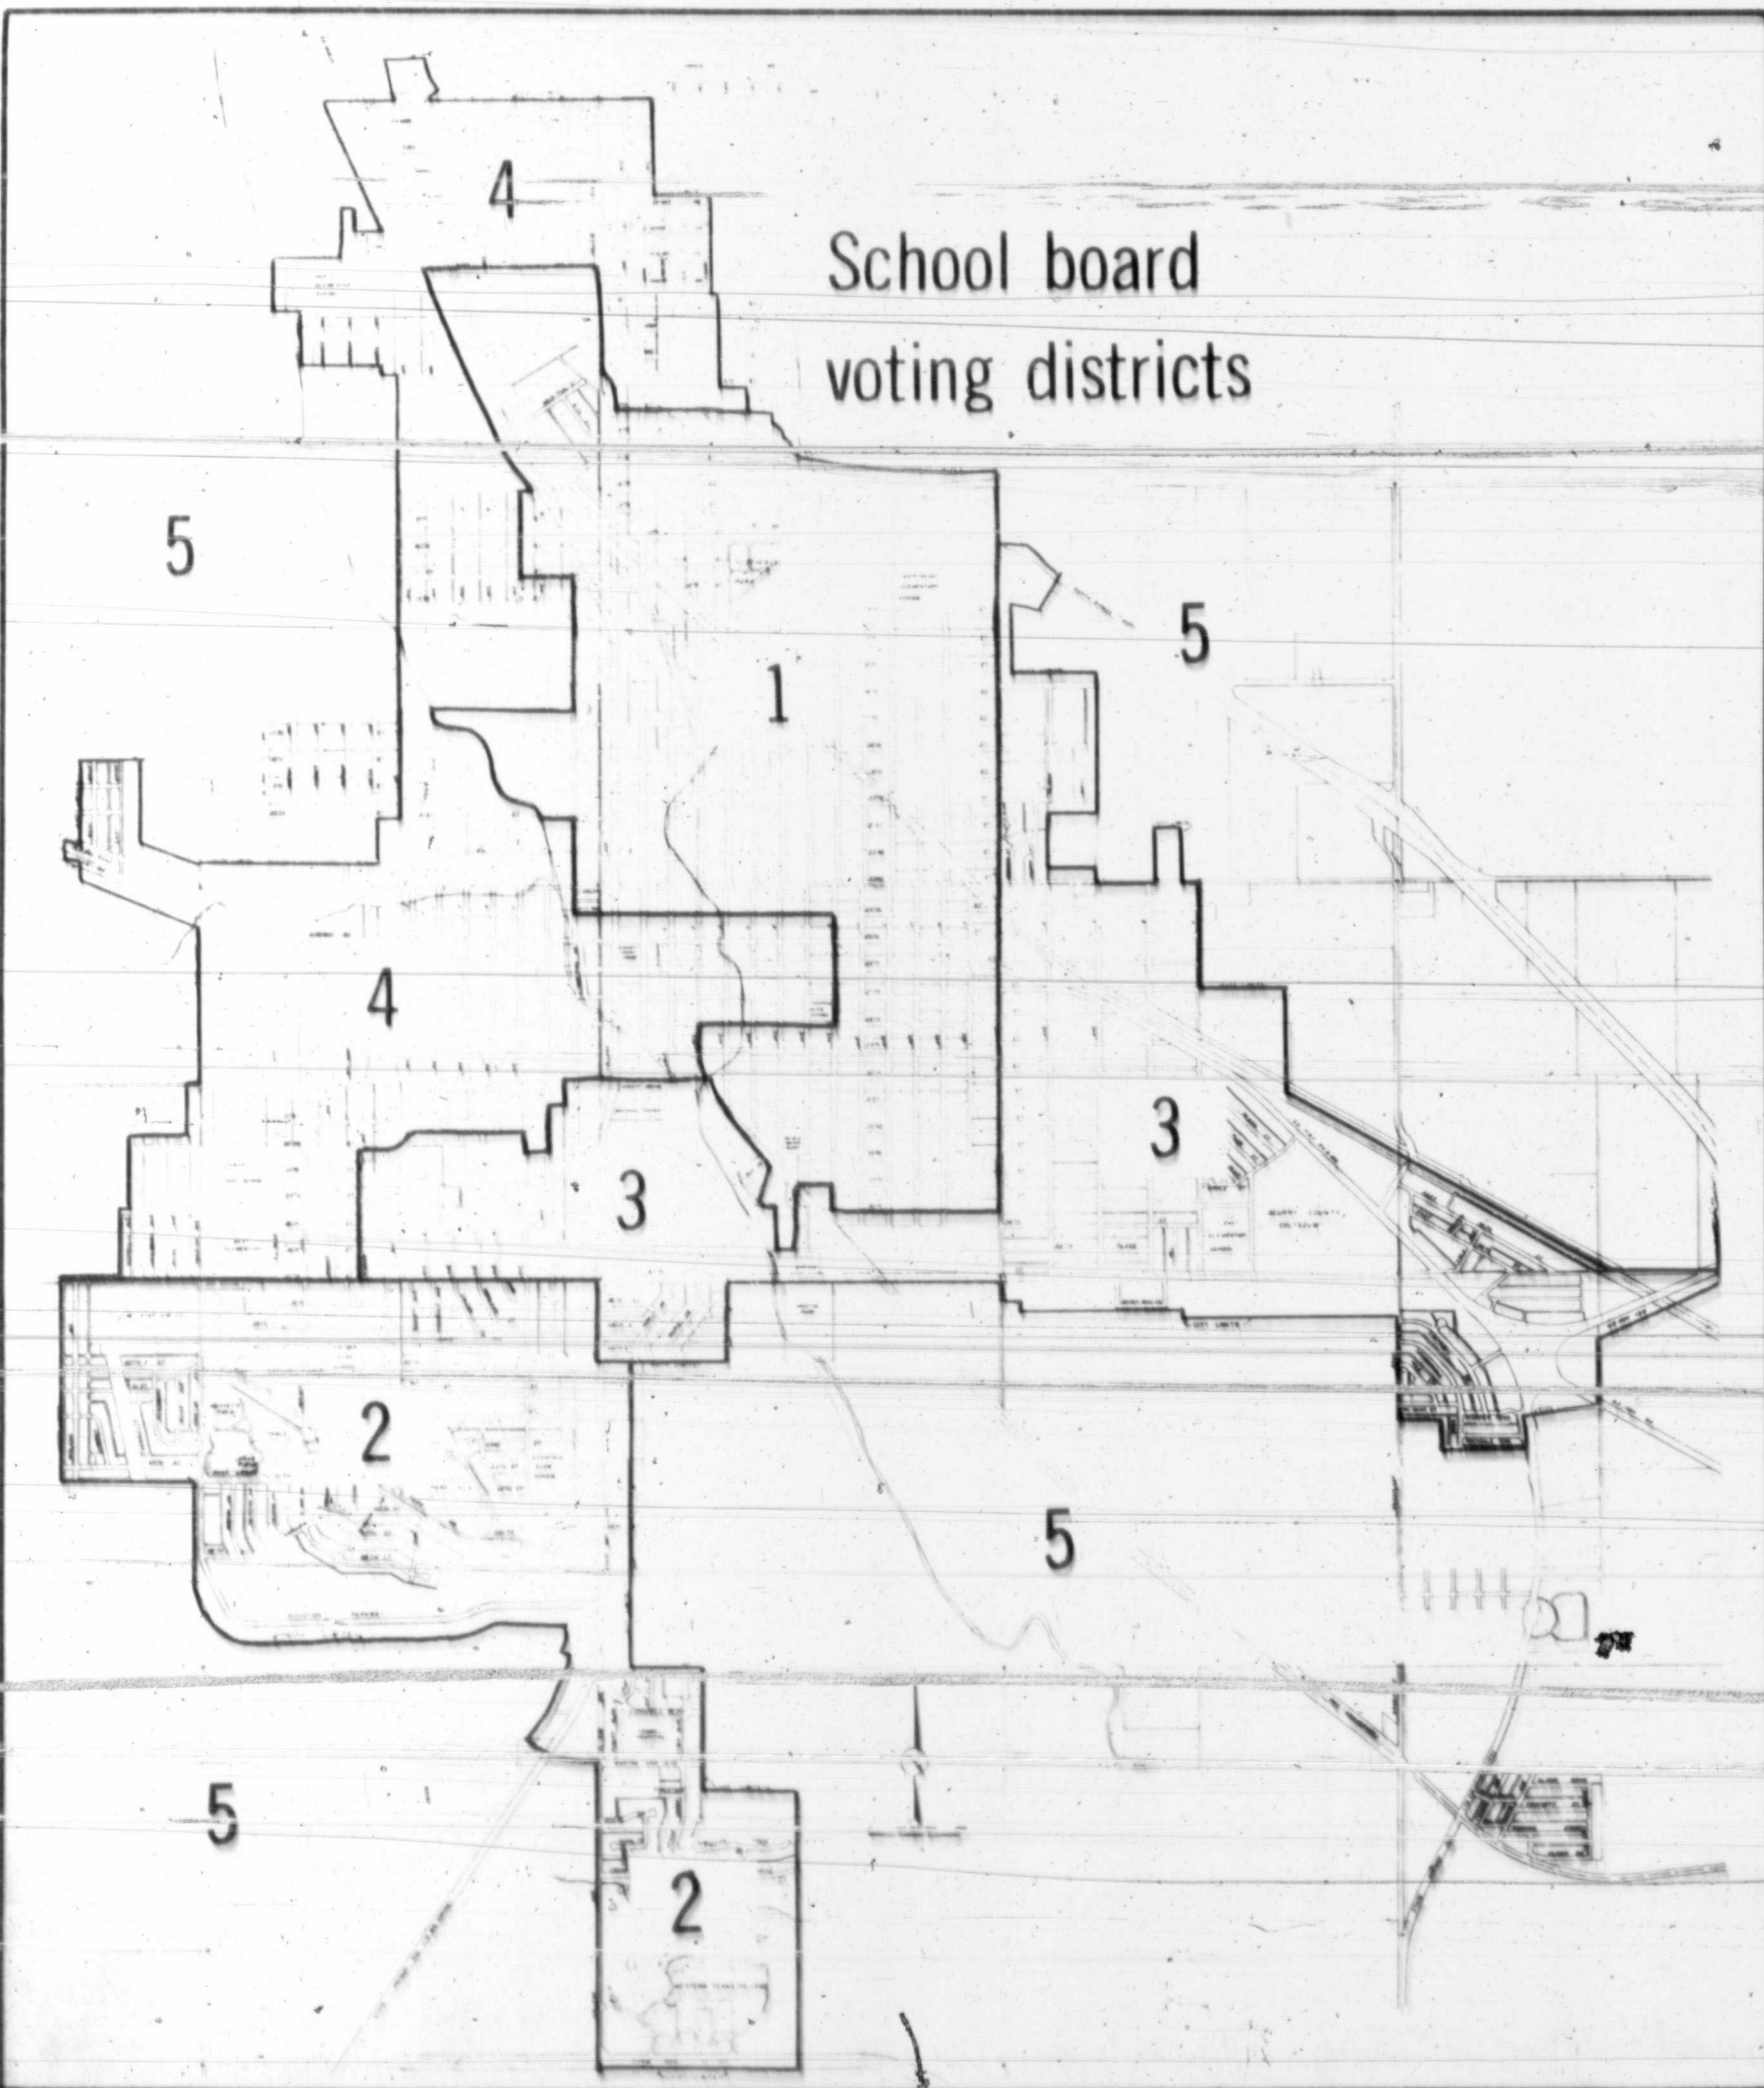

The Harlingen legalization center saw a total of 1,944 applicants on Wednesday, bringing its total to 36,070 in the year it has been open, said chief legalization officer Charles Perez.

California had the most applications, 55 percent of the total, followed by Texas with 17 percent and Illinois, 7 percent.

More than 70 percent of those who applied were from Mexico, 8 percent from Salvador and less than 3 percent from Guatemala.

Emergency facility sought

PRAIRIE VIEW, Texas (AP) — Officials are calling for establishing an emergency care facility in Waller County in the wake of the death of an asthmatic student who had to be transported more than 20 miles to a hospital.

science major from Chicago, died Monday from respiratory distress after an asthma attack, officials said. Memorial services were held for him Tuesday at Prairie View A&M University.

"We feel that situations are happening so fast now we need emergency care for Prairie View and Waller County," Prairie View Mayor Ron Leverett said Wednesday. "I do know of two other people who expired en route to a hospital. One patient was a dialysis patient; the other was a heart patient."

Wright was pronounced dead Monday afternoon shortly after his arrival at Bohne Memorial Hospital in Brenham, about 21 miles from the Prairie View campus.

He was in his dormitory room when he started having trouble breathing. Two friends got him in a car to drive him to the campus clinic, while another one alerted the center he was on the way.

"He had a long history of severe asthma," Dr. Emery Owens said. "He was getting his medication from home, and apparently he ran out."

Clinic physician Dr. Glenn Berry said he began resuscitation efforts when the student arrived, but Wright was comatose. A county paramedic and ambulance were called to transport him to Brenham in Washington County.

Doctors, however, said it is unlikely his life could have been saved even if there was an emergency room or hospital nearby.

In 1985, Waller County's only hospital closed in Hempstead because of financial problems. A temporary emergency room operated at the facility for a few months, but it also closed because it was losing money.

Attempts to create a hospital district in the county have failed.

"We're trying to do anything we can to get a medical facility," County Judge A. M. McCaig said.

Leverett said it may take emergency funding or a federal grant, but officials must do something immediately to provide some form of emergency care in the county.

Assigning the blame

By James Jacoby

South opened one no-trump and his partner quietly passed. The result — three overtricks. And then the discussion began. South: "My dear fellow, you really should give me the courtesy of a raise with eight points, including two kings." North: "Sorry — I never invite game with only eight points, no five-card suit, no nines and no 10s." South: "But..." North: "I say, can we get on to the next deal?"

At first this observer's sympathies were with South. After all, kings are nice cards, and they do take tricks. Then I let a bit of objectivity seep into my thinking. How good would three no-trump be as a contract if, for example, South's partner were a dummy?

The answer is that with just that one slight alteration — a change not even involving a face card — making nine tricks in no-trump would probably require a 2-3 club split plus the favorable location of the queen of diamonds. And South would surely accept a game invitation with 17 points, even if he was missing the 10 of spades.

So cast your glance once again at the South hand: 17 points, three aces and a king and really nice intermediate spot-cards in both major suits. My conclusion is that South should have treated his cards as an 18-pointer and opened one club, intending to jump to two no-trump. Then they would have gotten to game.

James Jacoby's books "Jacoby on Bridge" and "Jacoby on Card Games" (written with his father, the late Oswald Jacoby) are now available at bookstores. Both are published by Phoenix Books.

Tigers host scrappy Chiefs

It's the Chiefs' first year of varsity ball and understandably they haven't had a lot of success on the scoreboard. The record is 6-14. But Snyder Coach Albert Lewis also knows Saturday's season wrap-up here is no automatic victory for his Tigers, either. "What people don't understand is that they have real strong youth baseball programs in San Angelo," said Lewis. "I'm impressed with them. They can really hit the ball. They've lost a lot of close games this year."

In that one, the Tigers had a 9-1 lead at one time. "We're expecting them to be tough. They've got some good kids," added the coach. The Tiger lineup for the 1 p.m. game is a familiar one. Right fielder Randy Morris will lead off, followed by shortstop Brad Gartman. Second baseman Van Echols is next, followed by designated hitter Scott Lanier, who moves to the clean-up slot. The rest of the order is left fielder Willie Garcia, first baseman David Martinez, third baseman

Bert Otto, center fielder Wayne Ware and catcher Tracy Odom. On the mound will be junior right hander Lee Fletcher. He'll likely be relieved by Otto, if necessary. Snyder goes into the game with a 12-18-1 season record and is shooting for 500 in district play with a 6-7 record. In other District 2-4A action, Monahans and Andrews square off tonight for the loop championship. Both go into the game with 11-3 district records. The loser will likely have to stage a playoff with Pecos, 10-3.

Pecos needs a win Saturday in Big Spring to earn a tie with the Monahans-Andrews loser and force a playoff for second place. In one other game, Fort Stockton is at Lamesa this evening.

Brewers 9 Rangers 1

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Bill Wegman's recent pitching victories for the Milwaukee Brewers are easily explained because his team is at last scoring runs when he throws while his fast ball is no longer a hidden quality. "In the past I relied on breaking balls to get guys out. Lately I've been getting a lot of ground balls and fly balls on the fastball. It's a matter of getting confidence in the fastball," Wegman said Thursday after he beat the Texas Rangers 9-1 with a four-hitter. "It's not that I'm throwing it harder. I'm just throwing it in situations that I may have not in years before," he said. When Wegman went 12-11 last season, the Brewers averaged only 1.5 runs during the games he lost. In the last two games he has started and won, they've scored 13 times. The 6-foot-6 Wegman's third complete game this season evened his record at 3-3 while extending Milwaukee's winning streak to six games. It also sends the Brewers on the road to Kansas City and Minnesota with a 14-11 record, the (see RANGERS, page 8)

Aguirre wakes up; lifts Mavs to conference series victory

by The Associated Press
 The Texas range war between Dallas and Houston is over because Mark Aguirre found the range.
 Aguirre, who averaged 25.1 points a game this season, had only 45 points overall in three playoff games against the Rockets. He had only six points at halftime Thursday night.

 Then Aguirre found the target, scoring a club-record 27 points in the third quarter and 38 for the game as Dallas eliminated Houston from the NBA playoffs 107-97. The Mavericks won the Western Conference series 3-1.

Cavaliers 97, Bulls 91
 Chicago won the first two games at home, now Cleveland has a pair of home wins. The Cavs didn't trail in either of its home games until Horace Grant made a free throw, his only point of the game, for an 87-86 Chicago lead with 2:13 to play.

"Mark played a great game, a perfect game," Dallas coach John MacLeod said. "Nobody wanted it worse than him. Some of his points were set plays but he knows to call for the ball when he's hot as a pistol."

Which he was in the third quarter, making nine of 10 shots from the field and six in a row from the free throw line.

"The guy just had the shots and there was no stopping him. I just didn't do my part," said Rodney McCray, who had to defend Aguirre. "He was just a better player tonight. He hasn't had a great series but he had a great game."

Also having great games Thursday night were Ron Harper and Michael Jordan. Harper scored 10 of his 30 points in the fourth period and made two key defensive plays in the closing moments, leading Cleveland to a 97-91 victory over Chicago and Jordan, who had 44 points despite a strained rib cage muscle.

The Cavaliers' victory set up Sunday's fifth game in Chicago.

A fifth game of the Denver-Seattle series was made necessary when the SuperSonics beat the Nuggets 127-117. The teams will finish on Saturday in Denver.

Tonight, Boston is at New York, Atlanta at Milwaukee and Portland at Utah. The Celtics, Hawks and Jazz have 2-1 leads.

The Los Angeles Lakers swept San Antonio and already are in the second round. Detroit and Washington, tied 2-2, finish Sunday at Pontiac, Mich.

Mavericks 107, Rockets 97

Akeem Olajuwon had 40 points and 15 rebounds for Houston, setting a four-game series scoring mark with 150 points. But it wasn't enough, thanks mainly to Aguirre.

"When I finally got the hot hand, I really felt it," Aguirre said. "When I come out of a slump, I do it in bunches."

Dallas missed in bunches in the first quarter, being held to an all-time playoff low of 14 points. But they got straightened out in the second period and grabbed a 46-44 halftime lead.

Aguirre then scored the first 12 points of the third quarter and wound up smashing his team mark of 21 points in a period.

"I'm happy to go beyond the first round but this is hardly the end of the road," Aguirre said.

Goodbye, San Angelo...

Oilers to move training camp

SAN MARCOS, Texas (AP) - The Houston Oilers are moving their pre-season training camp from San Angelo to San Marcos, a move that the San Angelo chamber of commerce president says the team will regret.

"I expect we'll be hearing from them again after they experience some other training camps. They'll recognize the advantages they had here," said Mark McLaughlin, a San Angelo banker and chamber president.

The San Angelo advantages, he said, are "remoteness" and low humidity. Remoteness makes it easier for coaches to "keep up with extracurricular activities of their players," he said.

But an Oilers spokesman said Thursday that remoteness was a problem in San Angelo. Chip Namias, media relations director for the NFL team, said the only way to fly from Houston to San Angelo is to take a commuter airline from Dallas to San Angelo.

"You run players in and out quite a bit for tryouts and guys getting cut," he said, adding that air service to San Marcos is better because it is 30 miles south of Austin and 60 miles north of San Antonio.

Namias on Thursday would not confirm that an agreement had been reached. But Jack Martin of Austin, a member of the board of regents that oversees Southwest Texas State, said an agreement had been struck.

Southwest Texas State officials scheduled a news conference today to announce the details. Martin said Thursday that his board would probably vote final approval at its May 19 meeting in Huntsville.

"I see no opposition at all," he said.

Namias said Southwest Texas State is "definitely a front-runner," but "you can't call anything a done deal until the contracts are signed."

As part of Southwest Texas State's pitch for the Oilers' camp, the San Marcos City Council has approved $120,000 to upgrade three practice fields at the university.

"It adds a lot of prestige to the university and San Marcos," Martin said of the move. He also said school and Oiler officials have discussed holding an Oilers preseason game in San Marcos.

In San Angelo, McLaughlin said he was disappointed but not angry about losing the city's summer NFL team.

"We wish them well in their season and hope they enjoy San Marcos," he said. "I guess they just want a change of scenery and hope it will change their fortunes in football competition."

Italian Open

ROME (AP) - The Italian Open women's tennis championships lost two of its top three seeds as No. 1 Chris Evert defaulted because of a foot injury and No. 3 Claudia Kohde-Kilsch was ousted in the third round.

That left No. 2 Gabriela Sabatini of Argentina, who advanced into the quarterfinals with a 6-0, 6-2 victory over Nieve Dias of Brazil, as the prohibitive favorite in the $200,000 clay court event.

Earlier, No. 5 Raffaella Reggi of Italy, No. 6 Sandra Cecchini of Italy, No. 7 Sylvia Hanika of West Germany, No. 8 Arantxa Sanchez of Spain, No. 13 Judith Wiesner of Austria and unseeded Bettina Fulco of Argentina won third-round matches and reached the quarterfinals.

On Saturday, May 7th, you will have an important role in determining the prosperity of Snyder's future.

- Water and sewer services must be extended to the new prison facility.
- Revenue bonds are the best and least expensive method to finance the projects.
- The new bonds will not affect your property taxes.
- Based on official estimates the new bonds will not affect your water and sewer bill.
- A vote FOR the bonds is a vote FOR Snyder.

Lawyers review Meese interference allegation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government lawyers are reviewing allegations of impropriety by Attorney General Edwin Meese III and possible perjury by other officials in the case of a company that says it was pushed into bankruptcy by the Justice Department.

One of the issues is whether Meese interceded with INSLAW Inc.'s law firm and whether that had anything to do with the subsequent dismissal of the lawyer representing the company.

The Justice Department's public integrity section also is reviewing conflicts in the sworn testimony of two former federal bankruptcy trustees and two Justice Department officials during bankruptcy court proceedings involving INSLAW, according to sources who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The testimony dealt with INSLAW's allegations that Justice Department officials sought to put the company out of business by trying, unsuccessfully, to convert its bankruptcy reorganization to an outright liquidation.

Independent counsel James C. McKay, who is conducting a criminal investigation of Meese in several areas, is not probing the INSLAW case but did refer information about it to the public integrity section.

"We are not conducting an investigation with respect to the INSLAW matter," said Carol Bruce, McKay's deputy. "Any information we have received relating to it we have referred to the Justice Department's public integrity section."

But the section, after reviewing the material, could return it to McKay's office for a fuller investigation of the Meese allegation, according to a source familiar with the case.

INSLAW attorneys told McKay that the company's original lawyer, Leigh Ratiner, was fired from his Washington law firm after Meese discussed the case with Leonard Garment, a politically connected partner in the same firm.

The Justice Department acknowledged to INSLAW in pretrial discovery that Meese recalled talking to Garment about the case in the fall of 1986.

Ratiner was soon asked to leave the law firm of Dickstein, Shapiro & Morin. INSLAW says in court papers that Ratiner was told Garment was instrumental in the decision to ask him to leave.

Garment called the allegation "pure baloney" but acknowledged that he was questioned about it two months ago by public-integrity investigators. The current status of the Meese investigation could not immediately be determined.

The perjury investigation involves sworn depositions or courtroom testimony given by witnesses in connection with INSLAW's allegation that the Justice Department tried to force INSLAW into a liquidation proceeding in bankruptcy court.

INSLAW alleged that Justice Department officials deliberately withheld $1.77 million in payments on a $10 million contract the company had signed in 1982 to computerize 94-U.S. attorneys' offices.

U.S. Bankruptcy Judge George F. Bason Jr. found in INSLAW's favor and ordered the Justice Department to pay the company $6.8 million after ruling that government officials engaged in "trickery, fraud and deceit" to steal the company's software. The department is appealing.

Conversion of the case from a Chapter 11 reorganization to a Chapter 7 liquidation would have put INSLAW out of business. Under Chapter 11 protection from creditors, INSLAW has been able to reorganize and build up clients while arranging to pay off its debts.

Cornelius Blackshear, a federal bankruptcy judge in New York City, gave a sworn deposition last year that when he was a U.S. trustee in 1985 he was asked to help liquidate INSLAW by Thomas J. Stanton, head of the Justice Department's Executive Office of U.S. Trustees.

But a day after he was deposed, Blackshear signed an affidavit recanting the testimony, saying he had confused INSLAW with another bankruptcy matter.

Blackshear then gave a second deposition that was consistent with the affidavit.

In his ruling last year, Bason expressed disbelief about Blackshear's recantation, although he called it "an honest mistake."

"I believe that Judge Blackshear's original testimony is accurate and his recanted testimony is inaccurate," Bason said.

The judge noted that Blackshear changed his initial testimony after receiving telephone calls from William C.

White, then U.S. bankruptcy trustee in Alexandria, Va.

White denied allegations that the Justice Department pressured him to file a motion to liquidate INSLAW, to which Bason said that "people do have a capacity to forget things when it is painful for them to remember—or maybe even inconvenient for them to remember."

Bason said White's testimony was "contrary to other credible evidence."

Deportation order issued by police

JERUSALEM (AP) — Police arrested an Arab-American leader of the Palestinian civil disobedience movement and ordered him deported, Israeli officials said today. A government spokesman accused him of advocating violence.

A Jewish settler shot and killed a Palestinian shepherd Thursday and wounded another in the eye. Israel radio also reported that troops shot and wounded a 15-year-old Arab boy in the Gaza Strip town of Khan Yunis.

Sources who demanded anonymity said U.S. Ambassador Thomas Pickering would protest the ordered deportation of Murbarak Awad, who was arrested at his Jerusalem home at midnight (6 p.m. EDT Thursday). U.S. Embassy officials said they had no information on such a protest.

In 1985 Awad established the Center for Non-Violent Studies in Jerusalem, which calls on Palestinians to peacefully resist the Israeli occupation of Arab lands captured during the 1967 Middle East war.

Leaders of the 5-month-old Palestinian uprising have adopted many elements of Awad's non-violence strategy. Awad also provided tours and information to foreign journalists covering the unrest.

Avi Pazner, spokesman for Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir, said Awad was ordered deported because he had gone beyond his calls for non-violent protest and was responsible for leaflets that urged Palestinians to throw gasoline bombs and stones.

"This is preaching violence," Pazner said.

The move to deport Awad followed a crackdown on leaders of the uprising, 20 of whom have been deported into Lebanon.

Arrests end entry reports

Rotan Seed Delinting Co. was eastbound on 180 when the collision took place.

A DPS trooper said the Taylor car spun around twice after the collision and that parties in both vehicles probably would have been much more seriously injured if they had not been wearing seatbelts.

The Yanezes were treated and released at the Snyder hospital.

Grease ignites

Firemen were called to the scene of a kitchen grease fire at 3:32 p.m. Thursday at the 1810 Scott Ave. home of Monty Farmer.

A department spokesman said firefighters were at the scene for 45 minutes after a pan of grease ignited but that the house had no major damage.

City wreck noted

A 1979 Oldsmobile 98 driven by Lois Creswell Collier of Hermleigh was in collision with a 1979 Mazda driven by Russell Don Radican of 2106 Gilmore Ave. at 11:50 a.m. Thursday at 25th St. and College Ave.

Device stolen from vehicle

Police are investigating a vehicle burglary and a criminal mischief incident that were reported Thursday.

Harold Ellis of 4503 Garwood Ave. reported the theft of a radar detector from a vehicle parked in front of his home, and Penny Roberson of 2204 42nd St. told officers had a windshield had been broken out of a vehicle in front of her home.

Letter to editor

To the editor,
The economy in Snyder has steadily declined with the decrease in oil production and oil prices. Snyder has lost some good people and several businesses.

I believe that the Snyder economy must have a boost or Snyder will see more and greater problems.

For these reasons, and many others, I am supporting the May 7th bond issue for water and sewer line financing. I believe the prison means a better economy for Snyder. I hope we can all get together and approve these needed projects.

Learning to relax Stress quietly brings on fatigue

By Dr. Richard N. Podell

In the modern world, life is often a series of stresses. You miss a bus, get stuck in traffic, the boss gives you a deadline of yesterday, household repair people don't show up, bills are higher than anticipated.

Each of these stresses lasts a long time without relief. And if you dislike your job, live in an unfriendly neighborhood, or have perpetual marital, children, or money problems, your stress may almost never abate. Your body is working full-time at a magnified intensity. No wonder you are tired!

It is important to recognize stress overload and learn how to deal with it so you will not be constantly tired and will not become sick.

The first step is to discover the sources of your stress.

One way is to write out a "wish list" of what your ideal life would be so you can compare it with your reality. For example, complete this sentence: "My life would be perfect if..."

Don't write what is practical or possible. Give yourself free rein. It will offer you a better sense of who you are and what you want. Confront your stresses with purpose, even those you are not in a position to change.

A second way to identify stress is to take an inventory of the life situations that frequently cause it. If your life has changed for good or ill during the six months before you became fatigued, consider stress to be a factor. Surprisingly, even positive changes can be stressful.

Or try reducing your stress, and see if you improve.

Take a vacation (or send your teenagers or in-laws on one). Feeling better on vacation and worse when you return is a good cue that the stress is too great at work, in your home, or in your daily routine.

Start a gentle but steady exercise program. Exercise often alleviates stress. Try it five days a week for a trial period of six weeks.

Take a course in relaxation or stress management. Visual imagery, yoga, meditation, pleasant music, or massage can tone down your body's reaction to stress.

Party members: it's a lean campaign ahead for Boulter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Rep. Beau Boulter will be running a mean-but-lean campaign to the deep-pockets campaign of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, who has already amassed a formidable war chest and could spend up to $10 million on his quest for a fourth term, officials say.

According to quarterly election reports filed with the Federal Election Commission, Boulter had $17,874 cash on hand at the end of March, compared with $3,653,639 for Bentsen, a Democrat and Texas' senior senator.

Estimates vary on how much Bentsen will spend on his reelection bid, but officials of both parties agree his spending will outdistance Boulter's.

Bentsen, chairman of the powerful Senate Finance Committee, is already far outpacing Boulter in spending and fundraising with six months to go before the November general election.

According to FEC reports released this week covering the first 15 months of the election cycle, Bentsen spent just over $2 million en route to an easy defeat of primary opponent Joe Sullivan with 85 percent of the vote.

Boulter spent $357,363 to fend off a crowded primary field and wealthy run-off opponent Wes Gilbreath, who poured $770,000 into his campaign, FEC records show.

Bentsen had raised more than $5 million through the end of March, making him the most financially successful candidate for Congress, the FEC records show, while Boulter's campaign has taken in $365,713, putting him in 50th place among Senate hopefuls.

"Boulter will have to run a very smart campaign and do what he can to hang on to the vice president's coattails as he runs for the presidency," said Texas Republican Party Chairman George Strake.

Bentsen has it to spend — he has unlimited personal wealth and a lot of political action committee support, and Boulter has no personal wealth and will find fund-raising very tough, said Strake, who estimates Bentsen's spending at $11 million to $12 million and Boulter's at $2 million.

Boulter spokesman Joe Fleming agreed the candidate will have to be chary with his campaign funds — a difficult proposition in a huge state with at least 20 separate television and radio markets — and will do his best to cling to the coattails of Republican presidential hopeful George Bush, who calls Houston home.

Boulter campaign manager Greg Graves said his budget is shaping up at around $3.5 million to $4 million, while Bentsen campaign director Jack Martin said he's looking at a budget of $7 million to $10 million.

A $10 million campaign would be twice the $5 million Bentsen spent in 1982 when he defeated James M. Collins with 58.5 percent of the vote, who spent an equal amount.

Tough economic times in Texas make fund-raising more difficult this year, but Bentsen, as an incumbent and chairman of the committee that writes tax law, is on the receiving end of generous PAC contributions, party officials say.

"Bentsen's been in a long time," Strake said. "A lot of the business community is very warm and cozy with him."

The French national anthem, "La Marseillaise," was composed in 1792 by Claude-Joseph Rouget de Lisle.

'Dapper Bandit' identified

DALLAS (AP) — Police say they finally have caught up with the Dapper Bandit, who they believe has pulled off a string of bank robberies over the past decade, ending authorities with his smooth style.

Thursday, authorities identified a man who shot himself in the head after he was cornered by police as the mysterious forger.

Mark Kevin Reeves remained in critical condition at Burnham Hospital Medical City Thursday night with a wound to his upper neck, said Nursing Supervisor Deb Beck.

Reeves is being held in lieu of $50,000 bond on an aggravated robbery charge stemming from the Wednesday hold-up at a Bright Bank branch, police Capt. John Holt said.

Holt said Reeves is the Dapper Bandit, the well-dressed, well-groomed forger with a meticulous knowledge of banking procedures. The Dapper Bandit is believed to have robbed six and a half businesses in the area.

"We and the FBI naturally are very relieved," Holt said of Reeves' arrest. "First of all, he's very good. Second of all, he's very lucky." Holt said of the Dapper Bandit's ability to elude capture. "He planned well, he executed well and he was well-disguised." Reeves shot himself after police surrounded his car at a stoplight a half-hour after the Wednesday robbery.
