Senate tries to ratify plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is racing the clock in a bid to ratify the U.S.-Soviet medium-range missile treaty in the dozen days remaining before President Reagan meets with Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev in Moscow.

The last obstacles to beginning floor debate were swept away Monday as a process of intense scrutiny that began soon after the treaty was signed in early December.

Three Senate committees told Senate majority leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., that last week's agreement in Geneva between Secretary of State George P. Shultz and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze satisfactorily resolved disputes about how to implement the treaty's on-site inspection provisions.

Byrd then announced he would call up the treaty for debate sometime today.

The Intermediate-range Nuclear Forces or INF treaty, signed at the White House on Dec. 8 by Reagan and Gorbachev, would require the elimination of all U.S. and Soviet missiles with a range of between 300 miles and 3,400 miles.

The decision to begin Senate floor action on the pact followed testimony in which Shultz said that in the Geneva talks, "we got what we needed and wanted."

Shultz said that included both the on-site inspection and a Soviet agreement that medium-range weapons using such futuristic technology as particle beam generators are banned by the treaty.

Both issues had delayed consideration of the treaty on the Senate floor with Byrd vowing not to schedule action until they were resolved.

Deadly bus crash inquiry says tank fails federal regs

CARROLLTON, Ky. (AP) — The fuel tank of a bus that burst into a fireball when a pickup truck slammed into it head-on didn't meet federal safety requirements, investigators said after the truck's driver was charged with 27 counts of murder.

At the time of the accident, one of the nation's deadliest bus crashes, truck driver Larry Mahoney's blood-alcohol level was nearly 2½ times the legal definition of drunkenness, authorities said Monday.

John Ackman, Carroll County commonwealth's attorney, said he planned to seek the death penalty against Mahoney, 34, who was in serious condition at Humana Hospital-University of Illinois.

Mahoney's northbound truck was traveling in the wrong direction on Interstate 71 when it struck the church bus filled with teen-agers and adult chaperones returning from an amusement park near Cincinnati.

Twenty-seven people were killed and 42 injured. The victims

Q. — Why do they "foot-print" babies at birth and why is it not a valid birth certificate?

A. — Court officials note the certificate with the baby's footprint issued by most hospitals is in reality a "souvenir" and has no official status. The habit of using a footprint is a custom which has developed over the years. In Texas, a valid birth certificate must be issued by either the county clerk's office in which the child was born or by the Bureau of Vital Statistics in Austin.

Grand opening for Olney Savings planned tomorrow

The grand opening for the Snyder branch office of Olney Savings is scheduled Wednesday from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Located now at 3011 College Ave., Olney Savings has moved "just down the street," noted Fran Farmer, vice president and branch manager. When Olney Savings acquired the S&L in May of 1986, its offices were located on the west side of the downtown square.

The new 5,000 sq. ft. structure, complete with two outside drive-in windows, was officially opened for business on April 11.

Alan D. Myers Jr., Olney Savings chairman and chief executive officer, said "We invite everyone in Snyder and the surrounding area to come by our offices and give us the opportunity to get to know all of you better."

"Fran and her staff are eager to give tours, and register all our guests for prizes to be given away all day."

In addition, Ed Bernet, spokesman for Olney Savings, will be on hand, playing "your favorite songs on his famous banjo," Myers said.

Other features of the new building include a night depository and safety deposit boxes.

During the day, refreshments will be served. Door prizes to be given away will include a color television and a set of patio furniture.

Carriker-Albert ready to face challenge as candidates twice

Reports indicate Steve Carriker (D-Roby) and Bobby Albert (R-Wichita Falls) will face their first test in August before a final showdown in November to determine who holds the 30th Senatorial District seat after Jan. 1, 1989.

Both candidates said Monday they would begin campaigning immediately for the Aug. 13 special election to fill the remainder of Senator Ray Farabee's term.

The announcements came following Carriker's party nomination Saturday by Democratic chairmen for the 30th Senatorial District, which includes Scurry and 29 other counties.

As of Tuesday, it was uncertain if two other Democrats announced for the Aug. 13 election would remain in the race. Candidates have until July 13 to officially file.

Also announced are Helen Farabee of Wichita Falls, wife of the incumbent, and Charles Finnell (D-Holliday).

At Saturday's party vote, Carriker won out over the field of three candidates by gaining the support of 18 of the 30 county chairmen in the 30th Senatorial District. Finnell had 11 county chairs supporting his candidacy and Mrs. Farabee had one.

Following an individual roll call, all 30 party chairs endorsed Carriker by acclamation.

Carriker, who currently serves as the state representative for District 78 which includes Scurry County, was to face ex-Snyder mayor Rod Waller in November for re-election to his House seat.

He is officially off the ballot for that post and Democratic Party

Leader class to graduate

The fifth graduating class for Century II: Leadership Scurry County will receive plaques and certificates Tuesday following the regular May meeting of Snyder Chamber of Commerce directors.

The leadership class is jointly sponsored by the chamber and Western Texas College.

Barbecue set

A barbecue and live entertainment will be held at Martha Ann Woman's Club Saturday, May 21, from 6:30-8 p.m.

Tickets are $6 for adults and $3 for children. Reservations must be made by noon Thursday for the event.

To aid Noah

Snyder's Noah Project, the haven for abused women and their children, is planning a garage sale fund raiser this Saturday and locals are now asked to donate garage sale items—with the exception of clothing.

The items may be brought to Noah Project, located at 2707 College Ave.

The garage sale will begin at 8 a.m. Saturday.

Choir tonight

The annual spring concert by the Snyder High School Choir—which includes a special invitation to choir exes—will be Tuesday evening at 7 p.m. in Worsham Auditorium.

All four high school choirs will sing. Traditional songs will be performed as well as some of the material entered at spring UIL contests.

The public is invited at no charge.

Retirees due 3 receptions

A series of receptions are planned here this week and next for individuals who have announced plans to retire from Snyder public schools.

The first is slated Tuesday at the Snyder Junior High School patio area for retiring assistant principal Bill Hartsfield and social studies instructor Faye Deffebach. It will begin at 6:30 p.m.

This Friday, a reception honoring Bill Sealy, longtime maintenance director for the district, will be held from 3:30 until 4:30 p.m. in the board room of the school administration building.

Next Monday, a retirement party honoring June Brock, fifth grade teacher at Stanfield, is planned. It will be at the First

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The reason candidates need to borrow money is to get used to deficit financing before becoming president."

We've never had confidence in those polls. We still don't, but our reasons have changed.

We've always had our doubts concerning polls—especially those done by a certain candidate who always seem to prove the candidate's position.

Besides, we've never known anybody who has been called for an opinion. So we suspected pollsters called only liberal eggheads living in some downtown metropolitan area.

We still are cynical regarding polls, but only because we know two people who recently were called and were asked to comment—and neither gave straight answers.

"Do you know who your state representative or state senator is?"

"I think it's still Ross Perot."

"Are you familiar with House Bill 72 and do you agree with it?"

Cycle group briefly held

County and state officers converged on the northwest corner of Lake J.B. Thomas Monday afternoon to detain a group of five motorcyclists who were being sought in a rural Howard County burglary.

The incident began with a 4:20 p.m. call from the Howard County sheriff's office about the group and the burglary theft of tools from a rural residence.

The suspects were found at the lake by several Scurry County deputies, a Texas Ranger, state game warden and highway patrolmen.

Howard County authorities had said the motorcyclists were last seen going toward Snyder on Hwy. 350.

The group was held at the lake until the arrival of Howard County officers.

New mayor closes municipal court

PATTON VILLAGE, Texas (AP) — The new mayor of this East Texas town has closed down the Municipal Court, laid off its staff and proposed amnesty for all who have received traffic tickets from Patton Village police.

Mayor Robert Devaney, 66, who took office in this Montgomery County town last Friday, said he took the action Monday because the town is a "parasite" that leeches off motorists on U.S. 59.

"It's a parasitical situation. We're mooching off citizens of East Texas by writing up citations and abusing people, according to reports I've heard," Devaney, an accountant, said Monday. "It's my intent and desire to remit all these fines, wipe them out and dismiss them."

Devaney said he acted on his own, but the five members of City Council will vote on the action today. He said he expects support from three new council members elected with him May 7 as a slate proposing a stream-lined police force and court system.

Patton Village Police Chief Alan E. Hall and some ousted employees have questioned Devaney's authority.

"He's going to shut down court, padlock the doors and open up this whole town to lawsuits. He's opening up Pandora's Box and doesn't even have the sense to realize it," said Hall.

"I was told he'll be libling this city to false arrest charges if you just start returning tickets," Hall said. "It don't take an Einstein to figure it out from a liability standpoint."

The town of 1,300 derives more than 90 percent of its income from tickets and fees processed through its Municipal Court.

The Texas Commission on Judicial Conduct recently issued a warning to Patton Village's Municipal Court, ordering warrant officers to stop arresting out-of-county residents and transporting them into Montgomery County without first being taken before a magistrate.

Devaney ordered city secretary Linda Clayton to order the Municipal Court to shut down by noon Monday. He instructed four Municipal Court employees, including the alternate municipal judge, to leave and ordered Clayton to have City Hall locks changed.

The court will be closed approximately 30 days for an outside audit and then reopened "hopefully with a different focus, not getting money we're not entitled to," he said.

The council, he said, will also consider reducing the town's police force.

"As it is now, this place is a self-perpetuating mess," Devaney said. "The police are on the highway all the time. We don't intend to have a bunch of traffic tickets written on the highway to support a court."

Clayton said 90 percent of the town's 1987 fiscal budget of $435,000 came from traffic tickets and other Municipal Court fines.

From August 1987 through March, the court generated $180,502 in town income, she said.

Floyd Duval, Patton Village's municipal judge, was suspended by the Texas Commission on Judicial Conduct pending the outcome of an official oppression charge against him. He is accused of offering to pay a 21-year-old Splendora woman's traffic ticket in exchange for sex.

Chief Hall, who gave a 30-day notice of resignation last week, said he doesn't plan to stick around that long if council members vote to reduce his staff.

Devaney paints an unfair picture of his Police Department's existing only to produce income, the chief said.

"A law enforcement entity is by nature a revenue-generating entity," Hall said. "But that is a byproduct. Its purpose is to provide good public safety and good traffic safety."

"I tell my officers, 'Don't write chicken tickets. Don't nit-pick. I'm leaving this place with a clear conscience.'"

Dear Abby

Nurses' Loose Lips Give Man That Sinking Feeling

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column, someone complained about a nurse who had broken the code of confidentiality by talking too much. My wife is an RN who never discusses her patients with others, but she has shared with me numerous fascinating cases knowing that I would never repeat anything she told me.

Recently, a male patient in her section was hospitalized for pneumonia. One of the nurses who was caring for him let the word out that he was impotent and had been fitted with some kind of prosthesis. When my wife told me of the ribald remarks being bandied about around the nurses' station concerning this man and his prosthesis, I resolved that should I ever become impotent I would never go to a local physician.

when he takes me home at night. Is it all right to say good-night at the elevator downstairs? Or would this throw a wet blanket on future dates? If I let him take me to my door, wouldn't it be awkward if I didn't invite him in for a few minutes? (I am assuming that he is the "right" one for me — I know what to do about the others.)

I don't mind losing someone who isn't worth keeping, but I don't want to lose a desirable man through ignorance.

UNCERTAIN

DEAR UNCERTAIN: A gentleman should see his date safely to her door — women have been mugged in elevators and halls. If you like him well enough to want to see him again, and consider him the "right" one, invite him in for coffee, tea or conversation.

Abby, medical records, be they in a hospital or a doctor's office, are accessible not only to nurses, but to all of the office help. The only way one can be absolutely sure of confidentiality is to take his or her business to another town, or clear across town if you live in a large city.

DEAR ABBY: He men wearing wedding rings. As our wedding date approached, the issue of wedding rings came up.

My definition of a secret is something that is known only by one person. The moment it is revealed to a second person, it becomes public knowledge. Sign me ...

My fiance asked, "Do you want me to wear a wedding ring?" I answered, "If you don't want to wear one, then neither will I." The idea of his bride not wearing a wedding ring was shocking! We had a double-ring wedding ceremony. I put a ring on his finger, and he has never taken it off.

Your Birthday

May 18, 1988

You will develop several new interests in the year ahead that will expand your horizons socially as well as in the commercial world. Each will produce its own type of benefits.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Usually you take time to think things through, but today you may rush to judgment and arrive at conclusions that are neither practical nor helpful. Taurus, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't put yourself in a financial position where your lifestyle is governed by excessive obligations. Live within your means.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Things that are of critical importance to you today might not be considered top priorities by your companions or associates. Operate independently.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It's important that you keep pace with your duties and responsibilities at this time. If you start letting things pile up, you'll have a mess on your hands later.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't let dissenting factions within your peer group draw you into their petty politics today. Whatever side you take could turn out to be the wrong one.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In order to be successful today, your objective must be clearly defined, and you must have the fortitude to regroup your forces if you suffer initial setbacks.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Today, you may waste a lot of valuable time and emotional energy rehashing a problem instead of seeking a feasible solution. Focus on results.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 31) Someone to whom you are indebted in some manner is beginning to lose patience with you because you have not cleared up this obligation. Do it today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) People with whom you have dealings today could lose respect for you if you are too indecisive or wishy-washy. Take a firm position and proceed from there.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) This will not be a very productive day for you if you postpone tasks you should attend to early in the day. Don't drag your feet.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Don't try to impress acquaintances with liberal spending today. All it will gain you is a thinner wallet, because no one will really take notice.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Unless you are very methodical and disciplined today, you are not likely to complete assignments or projects you begin. Be consistent and persistent.

Some prisoners end hunger strike

SEGUIN, Texas (AP) — Guadalupe County Sheriff Melvin Harborth says federal prisoners at the county jail were apparently swayed more by their stomachs than by the urgings of the leader of a hunger strike.

Harborth says more than half of the 27 federal prisoners who had refused food for two meals accepted an evening meal Monday.

"I guess they were hungry," the sheriff told the San Antonio Light.

The protest, which began Monday morning when the prisoners skipped breakfast, was initiated by admitted San Antonio bank robber Robert Chavez, Harborth said.

One of Chavez's chief demands was for more food and greater access to the jail's commissary to purchase candy and sodas.

Chavez, 39, pleaded guilty May 9 to robbing a branch of San Antonio Savings Association. He is awaiting sentencing set for July 14.

A self-proclaimed gang member, Chavez once asked Mayor Henry Cisneros for better treatment for gangs.

"He says he's not getting enough food," Harborth said.

Following a false trail

By James Jacoby

North tried out a new gadget today — bidding the opponents' suit as a passed hand to demand that partner bid his better major. Poor South responded in no-trump and then finally realized partner must have length in both majors. So they got to four hearts.

North should have bid two spades over two clubs. If he could bid hearts later, fine. But he should not insist on game in a major when partner might not have a fit or even have a decent hand.

As to the play, did West pull a wrong card? After the club king, West continued with the diamond king, ducked by declarer. A second diamond was played. Declarer took the ace and played the heart ace, intending to play another. But on the ace of hearts West played the king. Can South be blamed for believing that East was left with J-9-7? Declarer now hoped that East started with four spades as well. So he ruffed a club, returned to his hand with the spade king and ruffed a diamond. If he could now play A-Q and ruff a spade, he could exit with either remaining minor card and simply discard a spade from dummy. East would have no choice but to ruff and lead back into dummy's Q-10 of hearts. Of course West ruffed the second spade with the heart nine, and his partner took the setting trick with the trump jack. If West plays low on the ace of hearts, declarer will play another heart, and the king will come up. Declarer will then make the contract by ruffing one spade before drawing the third round of hearts.

Pope John Paul II meets with clergy in Paraguay

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP) — Pope John Paul II, in one of his sternest lectures to a head of state, told President Alfredo Stroessner that the granting of human rights "is not a question of political convenience."

"So many peasants, laborers and workers without employment or being exploited lack their badly needed bread," John Paul said.

John Paul flew from Peru to Paraguay, the last stop on his four-nation South American tour, and met privately with Stroessner for 30 minutes before delivering his speech.

In an address Monday night to Stroessner, top government aides and foreign diplomats at the presidential palace, the pope said "respect for human rights stems from the dignity of the person by virtue of his condition as a creature of God."

Swimming classes for children set on 31st of May

Swimming classes for children will begin at Western Texas College on May 31. Classes for beginners, advanced beginners, intermediates, parent/infant, parent-child and spring board diving are on the summer schedule.

All classes consist of eight scheduled meetings, one hour each. Fees are $30 for one class. Each additional class in which a student registers at his first registration is $25. Other children in the same family pay $25 per class.

For advanced beginners, Adv. I meets from 10-11 a.m. May 31-June 9. Adv. II meets from 10-11 Monday through Thursday from June 12-23 and Adv. III meets from 11 a.m.-noon Monday through Thursday from June 13-23.

Mike Harrison and John Gibson will be teaching the classes. A complete schedule of children's swimming classes, which will run through July 21, can be obtained by calling the Continuing Education office at 573-8511, ext. 240.

CRMWD finances appear strong

BIG SPRING — One-third of the way through the year, the Colorado River Municipal Water District is showing an increasingly strong financial picture. Income of $3,902,360 was up 2.06 over budget estimates, while operating expenses of $1,829,136 were 9.30 percent under projections for the period. New revenue of $2,058,969, most of which goes to debt service and indented funds, was up by 16.22 percent.

At the end of April the CRMWD's two lakes contained 334,340 ac. ft. or 48.20 percent of capacity. Lake Spence was 52.87 percent full and Lake Thomas 37.23 percent. During April inflow was only 1,802 ac. ft. while withdrawal was 3,749 ac. ft. a net decrease of 1,947 ac. ft.

Amputation is a last resort

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My wife's legs and feet are horribly swollen and she has developed ulcers on them. She also has had redness that has extended from her feet to her knees. Her carotid vascular surgeon says she may have a blockage or maybe it's an infection. She's only taking Percutane, which does no good, and he's talking amputation. Should we try another doctor?

DEAR READER: You seem to be describing a common medical condition called stasis dermatitis. As people age, they develop sluggish circulation in the veins of the legs. Blood tends to pool in the lower extremities and is unable to return briskly to the heart. Because of gravity, fluid leaks through the walls of veins and capillaries and floods the surrounding tissue, causing swelling (edema), tender, pebbly and brownish red discoloration. The skin's nutrition is impaired, permitting ulcers and infection to develop. Such venous insufficiency can be associated with additional circulatory problems resulting from poor arterial blood supply to the legs.

To cure the ulcers, doctors must first treat the edema. Only then will the skin return to normal. Swelling from incompetent leg veins often responds to elevation of the legs, elastic hose or other supporting devices. If venous therapy for the tissue of excess fluid, meticulous attention to proper skin care and avoiding minor injuries, a balanced low salt diet and occasionally surgery to repair diseased veins or remove them entirely.

Your wife's surgeon, by hinting at amputation, is suggesting that most of her problem may be secondary to arterial blockage. From the information you supply, I believe that there are other avenues to explore. For example, bypass surgery or angioplasty (balloon treatment to remove obstruction) would certainly be preferable to amputation. Percutane, a drug used to retard blood clotting, is not in my opinion going to help your wife's leg problem.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report, "An Informal Approach to Surgery." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 81888, Cleveland, OH 44181-2888. Be sure to mention the title.

In summary, a patient with arterial and venous disease is more likely to be suffering from the effects of poor venous, rather than arterial, circulation. These symptoms can come from weakened veins and capillaries, as well as from liver disease and heart failure, both of which increase pressure in the leg veins. Medical treatment is preferable and available; surgery should be considered as a last resort. If your wife's surgeon has not given her a full course of medical therapy, ask for a referral for a second opinion.

DR. PETER H. GOTT, 2300

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Civil Rights Commission hearing on AIDS turned bitter when gay protesters in clown masks hurled "America the Beautiful" shouted insults at witnesses and commissioners and held up what-watches in debate that "time is running out" for AIDS victims.

Monday's hearing became so heated that one witness said he would rather die "in the street" than in the hospice run by another, and a third said gay pressure groups are thwarting public health efforts.

The hearing also featured "outing" commission members denouncing each other's remarks and laughing with witnesses over racism, sexual addiction and other issues with little direct relation to the subject at hand — AIDS and discrimination. At one point, the 85 gay protesters in clown masks turned their backs on the proceedings to show their disdain for the Commission and its efforts.

"This is a waste of time," said Duncan Osborne, one of the protesters. Osborne said the money would be better spent testing new drugs or educating people on how to avoid getting AIDS.

The commission proposed its hearings, part of a larger study, in a memo that discussed state sodomy laws in the same footnote as Biblical denunciations of homosexuality.

Osborne and others said the commission could play a legitimate role investigating employment, housing, health care and insurance discrimination against AIDS victims. But they said the panel has no business reopening debate on how AIDS is transmitted or hearing inflammatory testimony from witnesses who are not medical or public health experts.

Jim Johnson, executive director of a religious hospice in Long Beach, Calif., called Beyond Injection, said homosexual activists had bombed his hospice and threatened him because he had left behind "the narcissism and contempt of my earlier life" as a homosexual.

Jeffrey Levi, executive director of the National Gay and Lesbian Task Force, noted the prevailing medical belief that a homosexual orientation cannot be changed.

"If I had to make the choice between dying in the street and dying in his hospice, I'd choose dying in the street," Levi said.

Dr. David Pence, a University of Minnesota radiologist, Vietnam war protester and civil rights worker, alleged that gay pressure groups have thwarted public health efforts to stop the spread of AIDS.

"Twenty-five years ago it was Southern bunnies in jeans that we had to fight. Now it's Northern smoothies in ties," Pence said.

An outraged Levi demanded a retraction and an apology. "He has just likened us ... to the Ku Klux Klan," Levi said. "That is so deeply offensive that I question whether I can continue to sit at the same table with him."

He said gay people oppose reporting techniques which identify victims by name because they fear discrimination of all types, even prosecution for violating sodomy laws, if anyone finds out they are victims or carriers of AIDS.

If there were federal laws barring discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation, Levi said, "we wouldn't have to be here."

Dr. Anthony Fauci, director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases, said public health officials had not been influenced by any lobbying groups in determining AIDS policy or interpreting AIDS research.

Teen-age pregnancy, babies with AIDS and incest in migrant families were among the concerns discussed by commissioners and witnesses. So was "sexual addiction," a condition Pence described as likely to lead to AIDS and defined as engaging in "compulsive coital behavior outside of marriage."

2 ministers are jailed for not paying child support

DALLAS (AP) — Two ministers who owed a total of more than $30,000 in back child support payments have been jailed as part of a new program that puts some muscle into Attorney General Jim Mattox's battle against non payers.

Alan Robinson, 33, minister of Hill Avenue Baptist Church, and Raymond Herford, 35, associate minister of Trinity Temple Full Gospel Church, were indicted last week by a Dallas County grand jury on Class A misdemeanor charges of criminal non support. The maximum punishment is two years in jail and a $5,000 fine. Subsequent offense is a third degree felony.

Robinson owes $19,354 in back payments, and Herford, $17,174, according to court records.

Herford was arrested Friday. He posted a $1,000 cash bond and was released from Law Sheriff Justice Center. Robinson was arrested Monday and remained in custody late Monday.

In February, Mattox named a six-member enforcement team in February to combat non-payment of child support.

Russell Wilson, Dallas-Fort Worth special enforcement agent, said that if the team brings in even a percent of the child support payments owed, the statewide total will reach $1.1 million a month.

Wilson said 25 percent of parents pay court-ordered child support, another 50 percent pay sporadically and the remainder do not pay at all. The enforcement team seeks those who do not pay even though they have the financial means.

"We're the attention-getters," Wilson said.

He said the Dallas arrests are part of a second sweep by the enforcement team. Other arrests were made in March in Houston, San Antonio, Abilene, Brownsville and Fort Worth, where Albert Brewer awaits a court hearing on $11,000 in overdue payments.

Wilson said in-house investigators in the attorney general's office previously worked non-payment cases by telephone, contacting offenders about overdue payments but not working in the field to bring them in. Too often, he noted, those who owe money either ignored court documents or could not be found to be served with court papers.

Enforcers now put offenders under surveillance and hand-deliver information on their whereabouts to the sheriff's department. Non-payers who do not have personal property that can be seized and sold to make restitution are arrested.

Arrest is a last resort meant for those who consistently refuse to adhere to the rules, Wilson said.

"The people we pick on are people who have been able to dodge us," he said.

LTV granted 90-day extension

DALLAS (AP) — A federal bankruptcy judge in New York Monday granted The LTV Corporation a 90-day extension to file a reorganization plan for the company and its 22 subsidiaries.

LTV officials filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy on July 17, 1986, saying the company was running out of cash because of unprecedent problems in the steel industry, the company's large debt burden and its heavy pension obligations.

With the extension, LTV officials have until Aug. 18 to present a reorganization plan to the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the Southern District of New York.

Last week, the company submitted a proposed plan to its creditor groups for their consideration. Creditors are negotiating to reach a consensual plan, company officials said.

When the company achieves a plan agreeable to creditors, a disclosure statement will be filed with the bankruptcy court for a hearing. The hearing will be followed by a vote on the plan by all creditors and shareholders, after which the bankruptcy court will conduct a hearing to confirm the plan.

The best shoppers are newspaper readers.

The Texas Poll research data confirm once again a basic fact of marketing life: Newspapers provide the most efficient means of reaching the best prospects in Texas. Daily and Sunday newspaper readership is strong. The majority of adults in Texas read a daily newspaper everyday of the week; two thirds, read every Sunday. In terms of where Texans get most of their shopping information, newspaper leads mail by more than 2 to 1 and TV by almost 3 to 1. More good news—readership is even stronger among up-scale demographic groups. The highest income, occupation, and education groups are the strongest newspaper readership groups. For more information on The Texas Poll findings or on the effective use of newspapers to communicate with your best prospects call the Advertising Director at this newspaper.
