

Bush meets with civil rights heads

by The Associated Press

Republican George Bush sought black support by meeting with civil rights leaders, but some participants said it will be hard for the vice president to win black votes in light of the Reagan administration's civil rights record. And Democrat Michael Dukakis, whose relations with the gay community have been strained, faced hecklers on the topic of AIDS.

Both Dukakis and Democratic rival Jesse Jackson were campaigning today in California, the last big battleground of the Democratic primary season.

With its prize of 314 delegates, the California contest on June 7 overshadows the three other primaries the same day—New Jersey, Montana and New Mexico, which among them offer a total of 152 Democratic delegates.

Dukakis hopes to clinch the delegates needed to nominate with that final round of primaries. According to the latest AP delegate count, Dukakis has 1,645 to Jackson's 974, of the 2,081 needed to nominate.

Although Jackson has little chance of overtaking the Massachusetts governor now, he would like to make California a staging ground for a final show of strength.

Reagan interview...

Gorbachev said friend

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan says he considers Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev a friend as well as an adversary and says the West should applaud whatever reforms Gorbachev can achieve. Reagan also says he believes "it is evident" Gorbachev is encountering opposition from forces "who want to cling to what are more the Stalinist policies" of yesterday.

Providing a rare insight to the private talks the two have had in recent years, Reagan told foreign broadcasters Thursday that strains in superpower relations have not harmed their personal relationship.

Asked if he considered Gorbachev a friend, Reagan replied, "Well, I can't help but say yes to that... Yes, we can debate and we disagree. But there is never a sense of personal animus when the arguments are over."

While Reagan has challenged Gorbachev to prove that his "glasnost" campaign of openness is genuine, he said the West should encourage the move toward change in the Soviet Union.

"If there's any way that outside nations could be helpful in this, they should," he said, "because many of the reforms that he has undertaken are aimed at the things that we have always criticized in the Soviet Union."

"And if there is a way to be helpful in that, certainly, to at least acknowledge our approval of what he is doing, that we should do that."

Reagan's obliging tone came on a day in which the president continued to receive briefings in preparation for his May 29-June 2 summit with Gorbachev in Moscow.

The president also made these points in a wide-ranging interview:

"I believe there is a desire in the Middle East to settle once and for all what is still technically a state of war between the Arab nations and Israel."

He said the purpose of an international peace conference would be to aid the parties but not to "dictate a settlement" and said any Soviet role in such a conference would likely have to be preceded by a Kremlin decision to resume relations with Israel.

Ask Us

Q — Lately there has been a lot of group pictures in the paper without any names. Why are there no names?

A — Such group photos often involve school children, and these are taken during school hours. As a result, only a brief amount of time is available, making the identification of individuals difficult. Also, the photo caption for such a picture can quickly grow longer than normally reserved for cutlines.

In Brief

Water fight

UVALDE, Texas (AP) — A regional plan to limit use of the Edwards Aquifer was torpedoed by Uvalde farmers who said it would curtail their property rights and threaten their livelihood.

In an emotional confrontation with San Antonio representatives of the Joint Committee on Water Resources, Uvalde farmers formally rejected the committee's proposed ground water allocation plan.

"The citizens of Uvalde county will not accept allocations for agriculture," said Charles Griffin, a Uvalde director of the Edwards Underground Water District.

"We are prepared to defeat water allocation for agriculture with all the political, legal and moral support we can muster."

The three-hour meeting at the Uvalde Civic Center Thursday had been organized by San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros to allay farmers' fears that San Antonio is trying to dominate the allocation of water.

But most of the 75 people who attended the meeting were not convinced.

Four indicted

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal grand jury indicted four men on charges stemming from an ongoing probe into a major drug smuggling ring. Authorities say operations between Sicily and the United States.

Salvatore D'Angelo, 44, of Galveston; and Salvatore Ardizzone, 42, of Baytown, were indicted Thursday on charges of distributing heroin and using a telephone to facilitate the illegal transaction.

Umberto Pittino, 42, of Greensboro, N.C., and Carlo Mucca, 40, of New York, also were indicted.

Woman killed

AUSTIN (AP) — A 23-year-old woman was killed in a fire that engulfed an Austin house and forced several college students celebrating the end of the semester to jump from a second-story window.

Natalie Gordon died of asphyxiation from carbon monoxide and smoke inhalation and extensive burns in the fire, said Norm Cavanaugh of the Travis county medical examiner's office.

Added showers forecast

Snyder records more than 1 inch

From Local Wire Reports

Scattered thunderstorms dropped varying amounts of rain in Scurry County Thursday night, and the city of Snyder was graced with one of the wetter amounts, 1.07 inches.

The storm system produced some thunder and lightning but, as one observer noted, it was mostly just a slow, steady rain. Parts of West Texas to the west weren't as lucky, however, as a tornado was sighted near Andrews and hail the size of tennis balls was reported at Midland.

Friday marks the uniform delayed planting date for Scurry County cotton farmers, but fields are expected to be too wet for farm equipment at least for a few more days.

The immediate forecast calls for more rain with a 50 percent chance listed for the Snyder area Friday night.

The clouds and scattered showers are expected to linger through the weekend and into early next week.

Thursday's rain in Snyder brought the official total to 4.76 inches.

Lake JB Thomas received amounts of 40 and 70 of an inch. Other rain totals include 1.30 inches north of Snyder, 1.25 inches at Ita, .85 of an inch at Fluvanna, .85 of an inch at Loyd Mountain, .85 of an inch at Dumas and .60 of an inch at Herdleigh.

For this portion of West Texas, scattered afternoon and evening thunderstorms are forecast through Saturday. Much cooler weather is also due into Saturday with highs in the 80s.

The extended forecast Sunday through Tuesday for West Texas indicates skies will be partly cloudy with widely scattered mainly afternoon and evening thunderstorms throughout the period.

Recruiter assigned...

Guard unit hopes to recruit 30-plus

A National Guard recruiter has been assigned to Snyder and Big Spring in an attempt to help double the size of both units.

Sgt. Harold Hancock, a former Marine who served two tours of duty in Vietnam, has been reassigned here from Wichita Falls.

He said the goal is to increase the strength of Company D of the 111th Engineers Battalion from 28 to 60 Guardsmen.

Hancock said the beefing-up is important because Snyder could lose its National Guard detachment if it continued at such a low level of strength.

He is also assigned to help increase the Big Spring detachment from 60 to 115 men as it converts from an engineers to an artillery company.

Hancock will be at the National Guard Armory in Towle Park each Tuesday and Thursday from 1 to 7 p.m. to talk with potential recruits.

He noted that after six months' service, a Guardsman becomes eligible for full veterans' benefits.

Former members of any branch of military service may usually enter the Guard at their former rank, which, for example, would have a former staff sergeant earning $160 per month for one weekend of duty per month.

Someone who has never served in the military would be paid $85 monthly, he said.

Regarding the local company, he noted the public may misunderstand what Army engineers do. Their traditional assignment is to go into combat zones ahead of combat troops to lay or defuse minefields and to build bridges and perform other tasks to facilitate the advance of combat troops.

In addition to the monthly meetings, National Guardsmen attend summer camp annually at Fort Hood.

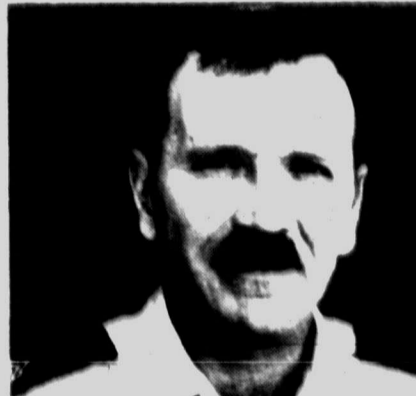

The local permanent staffer at the unit is Sgt. Gerry Portis.

Some changes due at 'long term' unit

Some changes for the long term care unit at Cogdell Memorial Hospital—many related to documentation of services offered to these patients—have been directed following the visit here of an outside medical organization's accreditation team.

This recommendation was one of three offered to Cogdell administrators following the visit of the three-member team affiliated with the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations.

Other changes to be implemented immediately at

Men say...

No regrets about rescue attempt

DALLAS (AP) — Josh Winn Jr. and Bill Betts face long hospital stays and uncertain financial futures, but they say they do not regret their failed attempt to rescue two people from a fiery auto crash.

Both men were injured on their faces and arms and face what is expected to be a long stay in the burn unit at Parkland Memorial Hospital.

But they say they would do it all over again and only regret that they were unable to find the escape route.

Both men listed in serious condition in Parkland's burn unit were injured last Saturday night as they tried to render aid at an accident on U.S. 175 just east of Dallas.

David and Catherine Martin, both 37, and their 13-year-old daughter, Mandy, of suburban Frisco, died in the accident.

Winn was returning to Dallas with his brother-in-law from a day of fishing on Cedar Creek Lake. Betts, his wife and two children were returning in Frisco from watching cat races at a track near Frisco.

Winn didn't know what caused it, but the red Mustang up ahead suddenly lurched into the guard rail of a bridge.

"I saw it all the front of the bridge and turn a flip. It was spinning around in the road," he said.

Winn said he stopped his pickup truck and ran to the car, carrying a flashlight. "It was bottom side up and the wheels were still turning. The top was washed down flat. I got up in the car and looked inside. I said, 'Are you all right?'"

"I never heard the man say anything, but the woman said, 'Get us out. Please help us get out,'" he recalled.

Winn said he couldn't get the door open and the smell of gasoline was strong. He managed to flag down Betts and they approached the car.

"We got up within about 30 feet. I noticed that the back wheels were still turning and that it was a red car," Betts said. "That's as much as I saw when all of a sudden there was a big ball of yellow flame and just a big, loud boom."

Winn fell to the ground, his clothes on fire.

Betts said he fell into a ditch and began falling on the ground.

Winn burned over 50 percent of his body, faces the likelihood of skin grafts. Betts, burned over 10 percent of his body, has been told grafts may not be necessary.

The men aren't sure how they will be able to pay for the hospital stay.

Martin and his wife died in the explosion. Their daughter was thrown from the car and was killed.

Police say the Martin car was struck in the rear by a sports car driven by Darron F. Chandler, 29, of suburban Duncanville, who has been charged with involuntary manslaughter. He is free on $10,000 bond.

DR. GOTT

More heart surgery may be required

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My mother had a quadruple bypass. Four months after the operation, she had a heart attack and it was discovered that two of the bypasses were completely blocked, and the third was partially blocked. The surgeon is urging another operation, but my mother is reluctant. What should she do?

DEAR READER: One of the major complications of coronary-artery bypass grafting is that the grafted blood vessels themselves may become blocked. This is the reason that patients must take special care postoperatively: Stop smoking, lose weight, reduce dietary fats, exercise regularly and take the necessary medicine.

Even with the best of care, reoperation can result. Second — or sometimes third — operations may be necessary. However, repeat surgery is always technically more difficult and carries greater risk. Therefore, most doctors recommend medical management, using reoperation as a last resort.

From the information you supply, I cannot determine whether your mother is a candidate for another operation or whether it has unacceptable risks. I think that she needs a second opinion from a cardiologist, a non-surgical specialist in heart disease. Your mother should almost certainly undergo further testing to assess the state of her heart circulation and function. With up-to-date information about your mother's condition, the doctor will be able to advise her about what action to take.

Additionally, I'm sending you a free copy of my Health Report, "Eating Right for a Healthy Heart," which has advice that might help your mother. Other readers who want to learn to help protect themselves from heart and arterial disease should send $1 and their names and address to P.O. Box 91889, Cleveland, OH 44101-8889. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: We need to get our carpet cleaned but have heard this might be hazardous to our baby, who is at the crawling stage. What can you tell me about this?

DEAR READER: Scientists in Denver, Col., reported an outbreak of Kawasaki syndrome among children who were exposed to freshly shampooed carpets. Kawasaki syndrome is a childhood disease marked by fever, swelling, a skin rash that peels, conjunctivitis and inflammation of arterial walls, sometimes causing blood clots and heart attacks. The cause of the illness has not been identified. However, in view of the rug-shampoo connection — presumably due to an inhaled chemical toxin or infectious agent — many experts are recommending that youngsters be kept away from newly cleaned carpets for a minimum of 24 hours. Unqualified indictment of rug shampoo as a cause of Kawasaki syndrome awaits further confirmatory study.

Reagan puts on slide show at White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan took a turn as a candid camera narrator, saying insider books on his presidency compelled a fanciful pep talk from "the ultimate insider."

Attending his last White House Photographers Association dinner, Reagan had hundreds of photographers, camera crews and an array of news celebrities roaring Thursday night with deadpan captions for a series of pictures projected on three huge screens in a hotel ballroom.

Reagan noted the recent spate of tell-all books on his administration and told his audience that "I've had it with all of that. Tonight, I'm going to give it to you from the ultimate insider."

Standing in one picture alongside Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev, Reagan said he was explaining to his guest: "You have to understand, Mikhail, if Domitri doesn't get the pizza here in 30 minutes, we get it free."

In another slide, Reagan was shown standing in the Oval Office and looking on as Gorbachev leaned over a table to put his signature in a book.

"I even made him write a hundred times, 'I will not cheat. I will not cheat,'" the president told the group gathered in a ballroom of the Sheraton Washington Hotel.

"Like Mikhail, but you have to watch him," he added.

Another slide showed Reagan sitting in a bathrobe in his Bethesda Naval Hospital room with several aides, including then-Chief of Staff Donald T. Regan.

Reagan is laughing heartily in the picture, and the president provided this caption: "So, Don Regan, you say you're going to write a book?"

Reagan said he enthusiastically supports Vice President George Bush's run for the White House. Then, showing a picture in which he is stifling a yawn and first lady Nancy has both her hands raised beside her face, Reagan said, "There we are, listening to one of his speeches."

In a picture of a meeting with some people in the Oval Office, a young boy was acting up in the foreground. Reagan said the youngster must have just "had a vision of Michael Dukakis in the Oval Office."

In another slide, Reagan was shown wearing an earphone headset, with Secretary of State George Shultz sitting next to him. "Somebody along the way planted bugs," the president explained.

Describing another picture in which he was shown peering over sandbags while sitting next to a soldier, Reagan said the GI asked him, "Where's the next book coming from?"

mark currently, Janice Seamon of Chicago and Miami is a good example. Both her parents have won North American championships. Her father played in the world championship in 1957; her aunt, Edith Kemp-Freilich, is a strong candidate for the best woman player of all time; another aunt, Anne Burnstein, has won a number of national championships. As you might imagine, after this buildup I am going to show you a contract that Janice played very, very well.

Playing in six hearts, Janice got a diamond lead. She won the king in dummy and played the ace of hearts. With the bad split giving West a sure trump trick, she had to work out a way to avoid losing a club. There was no hope unless spades behaved, so Janice played out the Q-K-A of spades successfully. She then cashed her high hearts and played a diamond to dummy's ace. Her plan was to ruff a diamond and then play the fourth good spade. Hopefully West would have to ruff and lead away from whatever club honor he might have. If she could guess the location of the club honors, she would be home. The endplay came earlier than she expected. West overruffed the third diamond and led the eight of clubs. Janice Seamon guessed to play dummy's queen and made her slam.

Lamb consumption rises only slightly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sheep producers have fared better the last year or so, but an Agriculture Department report says lamb chops are still a long way from being at the top of the menu.

Lamb consumption may edge up in 1988 after declining over the last 20 years. But don't trade for a sheep ranch just yet.

"In the first place, the slight increase in prospective consumption, from 1.3 pounds per capita to 1.4, does not mean that (producers) can look forward to any sustained recovery in consumer demand," the report said.

By comparison, 1988 per capita consumption of beef is expected to be 72.1 pounds, retail weight; pork, 62.7 pounds; and veal, 1.5 pounds. The USDA's forecast for poultry consumption this year is 82.9 pounds per capita.

The report, largely the work of Richard Stillman of the department's Economic Research Service, was prepared for the June issue of Farmline magazine, which is published each month by the agency.

"While retailers will find buyers for the additional quantities, selling prices are likely to fall, reducing incentives for a major rebuilding of the nation's sheep herd," the report said. "The buying habits of consumers and the abundance of other red meats and poultry will probably exert some downward pressure on prices, and so keep lamb production and consumption from rising substantially."

Lamb is a staple in the Middle East, parts of Europe, Australia and New Zealand but has never been one of the more popular meats for Americans.

"Eating habits are established early in life, and those who don't grow up eating lamb are less likely to develop a taste for it later," the report said.

Americans each consumed an average of 4.2 pounds of lamb in 1986, but the per capita rate has declined by two-thirds, reflecting the downward thrust of the U.S. sheep industry. At the turn of the century, the U.S. sheep herd was around 48 million head. Now, it's fewer than 11 million.

Even so, the department's Jan. 1 inventory report showed a 4 percent gain from a year earlier, a response to the improved prices of recent years.

Stillman said that with production catching up, lamb market prices are unlikely to rebound to the peaks of 1986 or last year's average of $78 per 100 pounds. Continued high production levels and supplies of other red meats and poultry will also dampen gains in the lamb market.

The average price of lamb may be in the range of $74 and $77 per hundredweight this year. Although lower, that would still be high enough to ensure producers a healthy return, he said.

In 1987, for example, with lambs averaging $78 per hundredweight, producers made about $42 per ewe, according to agency estimates, Stillman said.

Farmers experiment with oilseed crop

HEREFORD, Texas (AP) — Farmers and agronomists are awaiting the harvest of a first-time planting of canola, an oilseed used in snack foods, to gauge its suitability as an alternative crop for Panhandle growers.

A crowd of farmers gathered in a field dense with leafy, yellow-blossomed plants Thursday to examine an experimental field of the plant and learn how it's grown.

Farmer Donald Meyer's 60 acres of canola, a plant similar to rapeseed, is among 17 planted in Texas for the first time last fall.

Meyer grows corn under contract with Frito-Lay Inc. and said he was asked by the snack-food giant to experiment with canola, the seeds of which produce oil that can be used in Frito-Lay products.

Canola is now grown extensively in Canada, where the strain was developed, and is regarded as healthier than corn oil. Ninety-four percent of the oil is made up of unsaturated fatty acids, 62 percent of which are monounsaturated.

"In the medical community there is a growing consensus that oils which tend to be higher in monounsaturates have a greater (health) benefit," said Harry True of Frito-Lay's oil-purchasing and commodity research division.

Although the Panhandle's first crop won't be harvested for another month, Frito-Lay is pleased enough with initial results that it is contracting to grow more canola next year and have it sold directly to Frito-Lay at a fixed price, company officials said.

"Frito-Lay has been studying canola for some time and what you see behind you is the tip of the iceberg," True told about 70 farmers as they surveyed the field. "We're really excited and really enthusiastic about the potential this crop represents, not only for ourselves but for the farmer."

This year's harvest should tell agronomists much about how successful canola would actually be as an alternative crop.

"We don't know all there is to know about it," said True, adding that data collected from crops grown near Wellington, Etter and other areas will be used for additional research.

Frito-Lay's agronomists have estimated that an irrigated acre could yield 2,500 pounds of the oilseed. This year's contract price was 7.5 cents per pound.

Meyer said growing canola was easy.

Based in Plano, Frito-Lay is a division of PepsiCo Inc. and posted $3.7 billion in 1987 retail sales.

Mavericks reach NBA 'Final Four'

DALLAS (AP) - The Dallas Mavericks are in the NBA Final Four for the first time, and Sam Perkins said it takes him back to North Carolina.

"I still have goose pimples," Perkins said. "It's the best feeling since the Tar Heels won the national championship when I was on the team. We're in the Final Four."

Rolando Blackman scored nine straight points in the fourth period Thursday night to carry the Mavs to a 108-95 victory over the Denver Nuggets before a capacity crowd of 17,087 in Reunion Arena.

Dallas won the best-of-seven semifinal series 4 games to 2. It clinched Dallas' first visit to the Western Conference chamionship series.

"It's absolute fantasy," said Dallas owner Donald Carter. "It's like a fairyland. We've come a long, long way. I feel like a daddy-sized Jolly Green giant."

Denver's Alex English scored 34 points, but couldn't make up for the loss of LaFayette Lever and Jay Vincent, who missed the last three games with injuries.

"We had to change our lineup and play with what we had," said NBA Coach of the Year Doug Moe. "We had to scramble to find some scoring. You have to accept what fate deals you. Some things you have no control over."

Blackman and Perkins each had 23 points and Roy Tarpley, the NBA's best sixth man, had 18 points and 19 rebounds.

"It's a great feeling to be part of history," Tarpley said. "We can always say we were the first ones to get to the Western Conference finals."

Dallas had lost the Midwest Division title to the Nuggets, who won 16 of their last 18 games.

Blackman is Dallas' best clutch player and relished the role of getting the ball in the clutch.

"I wanted the ball in my hands," Blackman said. "I live for those situations. The plays down the stretch were designed to get me the ball and try to make chances to score."

"I'm glad he is in a Mavericks uniform," Dallas Coach John MacLeod said. "When I was at Phoenix, we would try and figure out ways to defend against him and we weren't successful."

Moe agreed that Blackman was the difference.

"Blackman had the hot hand. He is just a great clutch player. Dallas played good enough to win," Moe said. "The Mavs are certainly one of the favorites to get to the NBA Finals, Moe said."

"It's tough to say how they will do, and I think they will have to play a bit better than they did against us tonight," Moe said.

"They are a tougher team this year."

Carter said MacLeod's biggest contribution to Dallas was getting the team mentally tough.

"This team would have folded under all the adversity last year, but you can see John has made great inroads with mental toughness," Carter said.

Mark Aguirre, the Mavs' highest scorer, only made 4 points as Dallas went to Blackman in the stretch.

"We're going to a place we've never been here before," he said. "We're going to do some celebrating then get ready to go to the finals."

Dallas Center James Donaldson added, "We're getting stronger as the playoffs go on."

The Western Conference finals will begin Monday night in either Los Angeles or Dallas.

If Utah wins its series against the Lakers, the Mavericks will have the home court advantage and host the Jazz in the first game. A Los Angeles win in Saturday's seventh game of the series would give the Lakers the home court advantage against Dallas.

Bliss contacts NMU players; considers potential assistants

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) - Newly-named New Mexico basketball coach Dave Bliss has started trying to solidify the team and his staff for next season.

Bliss, 44, spent his first day as the Lobos' leader, meeting with players and considering potential assistants.

Bliss, who spent the last eight years at Southern Methodist University, met with three New Mexico players in person Thursday and talked to three others by telephone. He also met with Larry Shyatt and Scott Duncan, two of former New Mexico Coach Gary Colson's assistants who are helping with the change of command.

Bliss later said Shyatt would not remain with the program. Duncan also is expected to leave UNM once his contract expires in June.

"Basically I met with some of the players, tried to get some office keys and worked on learning the video equipment," said Bliss.

"Right now we're just trying to get the dust to settle."

Bliss agreed to a five-year contract with New Mexico, reaching agreement with UNM Athletic Director John Koenig less than 24 hours after his arrival from Dallas for an interview.

Bliss met with returning Lobo players Charlie Thomas, Rob Newton and George Adams, and was trying to reach 7-foot-1 sophomore center Luc Longley in Australia.

Longley, who will play on the Australian Olympic team in Korea next fall, has said he may transfer as the result of Colson's forced resignation last month.

"The only factor (Bliss) would have is personality," Longley said. "He just has to be of a personable nature. He has to be fair."

Bliss said he hoped to talk to Longley before the sophomore makes a decision.

"It's necessary for us to talk to him and express the fact we want his ability, good hands and maturity back in Albuquerque," Bliss said.

Bliss also was trying to reach Chris Tower, a 6-foot-10 high school senior in Westminster, Calif., who signed a national letter of intent with the Lobos during the early signing period last winter.

Bliss also began going over a list of candidates to fill out his staff. He said Doug Ash, his chief assistant and recruiter at SMU, is among the candidates, although he apparently is in the running for the vacant head coaching job at SMU.

Bliss said his other assistant at SMU, Paul Graham, also was a possibility.

Baylor stuns Longhorns, 4-2

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) - The surprising Baylor Bears and Texas A&M advanced in the winner's round of the Southwest Conference baseball tournament.

Doubles by Trent Stroth and Chad Patterson powered Baylor to a 4-2 upset victory over the top-seeded Texas Longhorns Thursday.

Texas A&M's Tim McWilliam ripped a three-run homer and teammate Scott Livingstone had an RBI triple to lift the Aggies to a 4-3 victory over host Arkansas in the other first round game.

The Razorbacks' loss forced them into a game with tournament-favorite Texas A&M.

faces Baylor in tonight's game.

The Aggies' Livingstone tripled in Mike Thompson for the game-winning score. A&M, which, like Texas, already has an NCAA tournament berth, is 49-11; Arkansas fell to 39-20. The winner of the tournament gets an NCAA tournament berth.

Left-handed reliever Nick Felix, 8-6, earned the win with two innings of work for starter Sean Snedeker. Arkansas starter Ray Harris, 5-3, who shut out the Aggies for the first five innings, got the loss. He had blanked A&M for 16 straight innings over the past year before giving up McWilliam's big sixth-inning shot.

Arkansas' Greg D'Alexander and Troy Eklund hit solo home runs. Felix struck out three Razorbacks, allowing two hits. Jimmy Kremers tied Ralph Krause's Arkansas career record of 28 doubles with a double in the sixth.

Stroth doubled in a pair of runs and teammate Patterson doubled in another for the Bears.

Left-hander Pat Combs scattered eight hits and struck out four to give Baylor the victory.

Texas, winner of the regular season conference title, was ranked third in the latest ESPN college baseball poll. Baylor is 25-29; Texas is 51-9.

Stroth knocked in the Bears' final run when he grounded out in the eighth.

Texas scored in the seventh when Brian Cisarik singled in Rusty Crockett. The Longhorns' other run came on an eighth-inning home run by left fielder David Tollison.

Eric Stone, 15-3, was tagged with his second straight losing decision while Combs improved to 4-2.

Combs walked five, but the Longhorns left 10 runners on base.

Shortstop Joel Chumelis and designated hitter Mike Patrick collected two hits each to pace Texas while Peterson and third baseman Mike Briley each had two hits for the Bears.

Norm Nixon of the Los Angeles Lakers in 1980 and Sleepy Floyd of Golden State share the NBA record for the most minutes played in a game. Floyd played 64 minutes in a four-overtime game in 1987, equalling Nixon's.

Students storm U.S. embassy

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Radical students stormed the U.S. Embassy compound today and hurled six crude homemade bombs, wounding a police officer, in the fourth day of a wave of violent anti-government protests. Students staged demonstrations and marches today at colleges in Seoul and other cities after three days of fierce clashes between riot police and demonstrators demanding the ouster of President Roh Tae-woo's government.

"Down with the military dictatorship!" and "Drive out the Yankee imperialists!" students shouted at today's mainly peaceful protests.

Students carrying a South Korean flag and banners denouncing the government and the United States scaled the walls of the U.S. Embassy compound and others rushed the gate, police said.

They threw six bombs at police guards. One officer was hurt when four of the devices exploded. The officer was hospitalized with wounds, police said.

Cogdell completes accreditation visit

Hochwalt. "They told us we're doing many good things and that a lot of areas would require no comments at all," he said.

The directions related to the long term care unit came somewhat as a surprise, he said, since inspectors applied different standards to the unit when compared to their last accreditation visit three years ago.

With this visit, he noted, more emphasis was placed on the unit as a facility place where patient's will remain for an extended period of time. Regarding this, he said Cogdell has been directed to better document such areas as recreational needs and pastoral care offered to the patients.

In a health-related recommendation, he said the facility will need to improve record keeping for dental services offered also.

Hochwalt noted that services in these three areas were already being provided, but that the recommendations will likely require a greater emphasis as well as better support documentation.

Toll rises in Moslem fighting

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Howitzers and mortars, resounded through Beirut today in a battle between Shiite Moslem militias that left at least seven people dead and 38 wounded, police said.

The violence between the pro-Syria Amal and the Iranian-backed Hezbollah, or Party of God, for control of the slums of south Beirut entered its 15th day today.

Syrian forces, massed around the disputed area since Saturday, were threatening to move in and stop the fighting.

A representative of a Seattle-based human rights group, meanwhile, arrived in Lebanon to try to meet with a Shiite Moslem religious leader and deliver a petition that calls for the release of foreign hostages.

Hezbollah-affiliated groups are believed to hold most of the 18 foreign hostages in Lebanon. Nine Americans are among those abducted.

The U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, Vernon Walters, arrived in the Syrian capital of Damascus today.

Grain company notes vandalism

The sheriff's office is investigating the cutting of seven truck tires at Ezell-Key Grain Co. on the Sweetwater Hwy.

A deputy said four tires on one truck and three tires on two other company trucks were cut.

An Ezell-Key employee noticed the vandalism Thursday afternoon. The deputy said the tires were probably cut sometime late Wednesday or early Thursday.

Damage amounted to $1,100, he said.

Disturbance prompts arrest

A 66-year-old man was arrested for disorderly conduct at 11:45 a.m. Thursday following a disturbance that was answered by city, county and state law enforcement officers at a residence in far north Snyder.

Law enforcement officials first received reports of loud cursing and what sounded like gunshots, and then a woman called the sheriff's office from a north Snyder convenience store to say that she had been beaten by her husband.

The suspect was taken into custody after he had reportedly been beaten by a younger man.

In a separate incident, a 30-year-old man was arrested for DWI at 11:52 p.m. Thursday in the 2700 Block of 25th St.

2 wrecks noted

Two wrecks were reported by police Thursday.

A 1979 Dodge van driven by Joy Lynn Mullis of 4504 Denison Ave was in collision with a 1976 Chevrolet pickup driven by Aubrey Williams of Hermleigh at 8:21 a.m. Thursday in the 2000 Block of Towle Park.

A 1985 Ford driven by Arthur Frank Feinsod of Rt. 2, Box 201, was in collision with a 1983 Chevrolet driven by Essie Biggs Davis of Rt. 1, Box 366, at 3:04 p.m. Thursday in the parking lot of a College Ave. savings and loan association.

WTSU faculty seeks president's ouster

CANYON, Texas (AP) — Almost 100 West Texas State University faculty and staff crowded into a year-end regents' meeting stood and cheered as the faculty senate president called for President Ed Roach's dismissal.

"The time for debate about who's right and who's wrong is over," said Gary Byrd, a psychology professor. "We have reached the point where we must ask if the current president is capable of leading the university out of its current crisis."

"We faculty think he is not." The audience, predominantly faculty members, stood and applauded loudly in a hostile confrontation with regents that capped a year of strife between Roach and faculty. Thursday's meeting ended with regents deciding to gather more information.

During Roach's four-year tenure, the faculty has issued a no-confidence vote in his leadership, and calls for his resignation have grown louder this semester following a lawsuit filed by Roach against the anonymous publishers of an underground newspaper.

The suit was later withdrawn, after Byrd and Spanish professor Mary Gill said they had published "The Rest of the Prairie."

A review panel of outside academics was brought in earlier to hear faculty grievances and the board retired into executive session to discuss the panel's report for more than three hours. After the session, board of regents chairman T. Boone Pickens said the report made no recommendations for action on resolving problems between Roach and the faculty.

Regents would not divulge contents of the report, and Pickens characterized it as confirming "poor relations at West Texas State between the administration and some of the faculty."

The regents then voted to create a committee to meet with the review panel to gather more information and possible recommendations.

Before the session, Byrd said that reconciliation between Roach and the faculty was no longer possible.

Regent Ed Scott asked Byrd, "Well, what can Ed do?" The crowd responded with shouts of "Leave, leave, resign."

Regent Leo Forrest, one of two regents voting against forming the committee, said he didn't see a need for the delay, but "there were some things in there we didn't understand."

Byrd said he was disappointed. "In my opinion, WT does not have a whole lot of time to get this resolved," he said.

Among those present at the meeting was fired WTSU football Coach Bill Kelly, who recently reached a settlement with the university and received more than $84,000 of two years of his remaining salary.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

Woman Wonders if Deadbeat's Debt Should Be a Dead Issue

DEAR ABBY: Back in 1960, "Tom" and I were engaged. He needed money to finish college, so I gave him $2,000. (I was a nurse living at home at the time.)

After Tom graduated, we broke up, by mutual agreement. He said he'd repay the money when he could afford it.

Ten years later, he sent me a money order for $1,000, saying he had to be "careful" about sending me money because he didn't want his wife to know about what she would assume was an "affair." Since then, Tom has become very wealthy. While my husband and I are not destitute, I resent the fact that he has never really thanked me properly for helping him out when he needed it.

Now my question: Since it was a gift, should I forget it — as he obviously has done? If not, how can I remind him that he still has a moral obligation to repay me? I haven't talked to him in 15 years, and I don't want to jeopardize his marriage over money.

HARB IN BOSTON

DEAR HARB: Do you really believe Tom's marriage would be jeopardized if his wife found out that 24 years ago his former fiancée had given him $2,000 to finish college? Tom has a character deficiency. Write the balance off as a bad debt, and be glad he's not your husband.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently received a wedding gift from a co-worker I'll call "Andy." Andy loves to paint, so he gave us one of his paintings. This painting is definitely not our taste. Andy must have shown it in an art show because the price tag was still on the back of it.

I suppose this painting has some special meaning to Andy and he probably spent many precious hours on it.

Our question: Should we keep the painting and hide it in the closet? Or is there a tactful way to give it back to Andy so he can enjoy it himself, or give it to someone who will appreciate it?

PERPLEXED

DEAR PERPLEXED: I would have to know more about your relationship with Andy. If you returned it, would he be hurt? Insulted? Grateful? If Andy values the painting, I'm sure he'd rather have it back than have it stuck away in some dark closet.

This is a difficult decision to make. Readers? Artists? Any practical, painless suggestions?

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column you printed a letter from "Eileen," who identified Connie Mack as "the last manager in baseball history to wear a suit instead of a uniform on the field."

Mr. Mack never went onto the field — he would wave from the dugout to position his fielders, and send one of his coaches out as his proxy to perform managerial duties such as conferring with players or umpires and making pitching changes.

I love baseball with all my heart and am proud to be one of only two women currently umpiring professional baseball.

PERRY LEE BARBER (LADY UMP)

DEAR PERRY: Anyone (of either sex) would have to love baseball with all his/her heart in order to be a professional umpire. The perks must be great, but from where I sit, the abuse from all directions would drive this swinger batty.

Judge orders waiting list to be eliminated

DALLAS (AP) — Several AIDS patients wept for joy when a Dallas judge ordered Parkland Memorial Hospital to eliminate a waiting list for the drug AZT and begin offering an experimental treatment to indigent AIDS patients who need it.

State District Judge John M. Marshall signed a temporary restraining order Thursday against Parkland after the Dallas Gay Alliance and five Parkland patients filed a lawsuit claiming the hospital had failed to provide adequate treatment for AIDS patients.

The lawsuit also listed seven deceased "John Doe" plaintiffs who Parkland officials say died in recent months while waiting to receive AZT, a federally approved drug that prolongs the lives of some AIDS victims.

must balance the needs of AIDS patients with increasing numbers of other indigent patients — pregnant women, elderly people and trauma victims.

"AIDS patients are very ill at times and require compassionate, humane care that we are doing our best to deliver," Anderson said.

The AIDS clinic, run by Parkland and the medical school, is providing treatment for 679 patients suffering from AIDS, AIDS-related complex or the virus that causes the disease. The hospital's 230 AIDS patients represent 55 percent of the surviving AIDS victims in Dallas County.

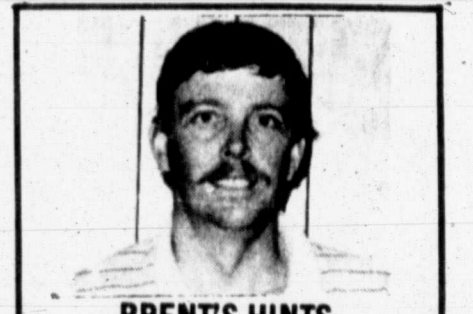

Tom Cox, chief legal counsel for Parkland, said the hospital intended to comply with Marshall's order.

Marshall ordered a trial within 30 days to determine whether a special master should be named to monitor Parkland's handling of AIDS patients.

"To whom must the victim turn?" Marshall said in a strongly worded statement. "Obviously, the public must intervene or else adopt a policy that says, 'Let them die because we can't afford them.' Such a result is not tolerable in a society that for over 200 years has prided itself on placing human values first."

William Waybourn, president of the gay alliance, said he is "gratified that the judge has ruled in favor of life," and added that, "It's unfortunate that Parkland did not listen to us before now."

Dr. Ron Anderson, Parkland's chief executive officer, said in a statement after the ruling that the county's only public hospital
