

Firm notified it will receive local TDC bid

By DONNY BROWN
SDN Managing Editor

Texas Department of Corrections officials have extended the official "notice of award" to construct the 1,000-man TDC prison unit here to Argee Corp. of Denver.

Argee was the apparent low bidder on the project when bids were opened June 9, but awarding the contract was held up until TDC officials dealt with an apparent $3.5 million shortfall in monies allocated for actual construction.

Argee has now been informed that they will be building the local prison with construction projected to begin July 25.

"We've told them we're going to sign a contract with you and we'll get official next week," said Larry Fickel, TDC construction manager for the Snyder unit and the 2,250 prison to be built in Amarillo.

He said he expected the contract to be officially signed following a meeting next Monday of the TDC board. Argee will then await an official notice to proceed, which will hinge on the completion of dirt work at the 579-acre site some 5 miles northeast of Snyder.

Fickel estimated Tuesday that the dirt work is now 90 percent complete. The rainfall experienced here last week has held up its being finished sooner.

The total construction package from Argee is currently some $13.9 million, Fickel said. This has been reduced from their bid estimate submitted June 9 of $14,445,500.

This will make total cost of the Snyder prison in the range of $18.5 million, Fickel noted. Initially, $15 million was budgeted for the entire project.

Khamenei wants to avenge incident

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — President Ali Khamenei of Iran said today his country has the right to avenge the victims of the Iran Air jetliner shot down by the U.S. Navy, Tehran Radio reported.

He did not say if, how or when Tehran would seek revenge. Iran said all 290 people aboard the aircraft were killed in Sunday's missile attack.

The radio, monitored in Nicosia, quoted Khamenei as saying: "Iran considers it to be its definite right to avenge the blood of innocent children, men and women."

In Beirut, the spiritual guide for Iranian-backed guerrillas holding foreign captives in Lebanon was quoted as saying today that the hostages should not suffer because the U.S. Navy shot down an Iranian jetliner.

But an anonymous caller purporting to speak for Islamic Jihad, which holds Americans Terry Anderson and Thomas Sutherland, threatened to kill one of them in revenge. It was not possible to authenticate the call.

Islamic Jihad has said it would authenticate its statements with photographs of the hostages.

Iran's top diplomat in London had hinted that the attack might endanger the lives of 18 Western hostages in Lebanon.

In Tehran, mass funeral services were scheduled today and Wednesday for some of those killed in the attack.

Iran's revolutionary patriarch, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, 87, vowed Monday to dedicate his "worthless life" to fighting the United States. His designated heir, Ayatollah Hussein Ali Montazeri, called for total war.

Foreign Minister Ali-Akbar Velayati said Iran's revenge would extend to countries that have helped the United States in the Persian Gulf. He did not elaborate.

Iranian divers searched for more bodies from the Iran Air Airbus A300, which was destroyed on a 150-mile flight from the Iranian city of Bandar Abbas to Dubai, across the Strait of Hormuz in the United Arab Emirates.

The United States said the crew of the USS Vincennes mistook the plane for an Iranian F-14 fighter and said it failed to respond to seven radio warnings.

Boosters to honor WTC pair

The Western Texas College Booster Club will honor former WTC basketball player Paul Pressey, now a member of the Milwaukee Bucks, and former WTC coach Nolan Richardson, now head coach at the University of Arkansas, in an Aug. 20 banquet to raise money for scholarships, Scurry County commissioners were told Tuesday.

Booster club representatives Don Edgmon and John Boyd appeared to ask that the $300 rental fee for Scurry County Coliseum be waived for the event, and they were told that because they were not on the Tuesday agenda, they would have to re-appear next week.

Edgmon said scholarships will be established in the names of Pressey and Yvonne Richardson, the coach's daughter who passed away last year after a lengthy illness.

Pressey played for WTC in 1978-79 and the '79-'80 season. In his last year, the team won the national championship and Pressey was a junior college All American.

Q. — I thought there was a law passed a couple of years ago which would essentially stop the construction of new billboards along Texas highways. How come I'm still seeing new signs go up?

A. — The law had a grandfather clause under which if permission to erect the sign had been granted prior to the law going into effect, such signs could still be built, a highway department spokesman said.

Local

Mistrial here

A mistrial was declared in a 132nd District Court civil suit Tuesday morning after an attorney's comments to prospective jurors were judged improper.

District Judge Gene Dulaney declared the mistrial after statements by plaintiff's attorney John D. Hart of Abilene were objected to by defense lawyer William Wade of Lubbock.

The case pertains to a Sept. 6, 1986, traffic accident here, with Cliff Harrison of Snyder seeking unspecified damages from Kelly Brown of Snyder and Laurie M. Dickinson of Alamogordo, N.M.

Truck ok'd

Scurry County commissioners Tuesday approved Pct. 2 Commissioner Tommy Pate's request to advertise for bids for a used diesel truck.

The bids will be opened on July 18, they decided.

Other business in the brief 10 a.m. meeting included the appointment of a four-member committee to consider personnel policies on sick leave, vacation time and other topics.

The committee members are Bernhard Bartels, county auditor, District Clerk Polly Underwood, County Judge Bobby Goodwin and county tax assessor-collector's office deputy clerk Diana Williamson.

AD meeting set

The Scurry County Appraisal District board of directors will meet in regular session Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. in the offices of the appraisal district, 2612 College Ave.

June bills are the only agenda item to be considered.

July 4th events produce local winners Monday

Monday's Independence Day celebration here produced several "winners," to include entries in the annual art show, bicycle decorating contest, fishing rodeo and the annual July 4th queen contest.

Crowned the queen Monday was seven-year-old Kacy Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Cole and sponsored by the West Texas Tae Kwon Do Parents Association.

She was announced as the winner just before the fireworks display which closed out the three-day celebration here.

The queen's contest was held as a fund raiser for the fireworks display, and Kacy's candidacy resulted in $166. In all, candidates raised $338 for the event.

Other queen candidates included Becky Bynum, representing the Scurry County Charter Chapter of the ABWA; Sheila Garza, representing the Vietnam Veterans Association; Susana Rodriguez, representing Our Lady of Guadalupe Church; Ann LaRoux, representing the Senior Citizens Center; and Jean McCormack, representing the American Legion Layne Kite Post 181.

Local youngsters were declared winners also in two events, the bike decorating contest held as part of the July 4th parade; and for the Jaycee-sponsored "Fishing Rodeo" held at the Towle Park pond.

For decorated bikes, the winners in three age divisions were 6 and under, Tiffany Nations; 6-12, Scott Upton; and 12 and over, Swanna Swain.

For the fishing rodeo, the winners included Shae Sisson, who caught the most fish—23 in all; Robert Nin, catching the largest fish—9¼ inches; and Sheena Callaway, catching the smallest fish—three inches.

Winners were announced also from the July 4th Art Show sponsored by the Snyder Palette Club. Some 82 entries were received with Tony Brown of Abilene serving as judge.

The best in show awards went to La Verne Lee in the professional division; Huanna Birdwell Glass in the amateur division; and Kevin Combest in the student division.

For photographer, the best in show award went to Sonny Greenfield in the amateur class and Samantha Keller for the student division.

Other awards by division, listed in order of place, went to entries submitted by:

SDN begins lucky contest

Beginning with this issue, the Snyder Daily News and local merchants are sponsoring the Lucky Number Game. The prize giveaway will continue daily through Aug. 31.

To win, participants may pick up their lucky number sheets at any of the merchants listed in a full page Lucky Number Game ad in this issue.

Readers should then check the SDN daily for a hidden lucky number. If the number in the newspaper matches a lucky number sheet received from a participating merchant, they are a winner.

To receive the prize, winners have until 5 p.m. the next business day to bring the lucky number to the SDN office.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "A pessimist is an optimist who started paying attention."

Now that most of us have enjoyed a long holiday, it's back to work so we can "rest up" for the next long weekend.

Mondays or the first day back to work after vacation is said to be the least productive, but recent research suggests that work ethics may have more to do with genetic makeup than with working conditions.

Many firms strive to create attractive work environments in hopes that a happy worker will produce more.

A recent report in the Wall Street Journal sadly suggests that an unhappy worker is destined to be that way no matter what efforts are made to improve his outlook.

A study done by the University of California at Berkeley on 5,000 middle-aged people was done over a 50-year period. The study found that people who were unhappy and dissatisfied with their occupation in the 1930s tended to be unhappy today. Results of the study were similar to one done by the University of Minnesota. Identical twins reared separately scored about the same when measured for job satisfaction. The study concluded that enjoying your work may simply be the result of being born with the right genes.

It's a depressing thought to think that some folks can stay miserable for half a century.

Oh well, the holiday's over, and we have to go back to work—so the best choice is to turn up the air conditioner and be happy.

Did you hear about the disgruntled oilfield worker who decided there must be a better way to make a living?

He cashed out his retirement, moved to the mountains of New Mexico and decided to follow the horses.

His bubble soon burst—his horses were following other horses.

Blaze guts part of home

Firemen battled a house fire for more than two hours early Monday, containing damage at the residence to two rooms and the attic. Damage was said heavy to these areas, however.

Firemen were at the scene from 2:58 a.m. to 5:10 a.m. Monday at 125 Browning St. In addition to the attic, damage was noted to the living room and dining room.

The rest of the house, occupied by Ralph Hoyle Jr., had some heat damage but was substantially intact, Fire Chief Terry Don McDowell said.

Also damaged was vinyl siding to a neighbor's house. The siding was said melted from the side of a home occupied by Wayne

System used to down airliner also focus of contracting investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Investigators in the Pentagon bribery probe are looking closely at how the Navy awarded contracts for its Aegis ship-defense system — the type used by the USS Vincennes to shoot down an Iranian passenger jet.

Pentagon officials now find themselves defending the system's capabilities, in addition to facing questions about the role of private consultants in determining which defense contractors won the multibillion-dollar Aegis production contracts.

The Vincennes relied on its Aegis nerve system to track and destroy an incoming aircraft on Sunday during hostilities with Iran. The aircraft, mistaken for an Iranian F-14 attack plane, turned out to be an Iranian jetliner with 290 people aboard.

Aegis, named for the shield of the Greek god Zeus, combines computers, radar and weapons in a protective net around Navy ships like the Vincennes.

Reps. Jim Florio, D-N.J., and H. James Saxton, R-N.J., have called on the Defense Department to determine whether the Aegis contracts are tainted by disclosures in the ongoing Pentagon purchasing investigation.

A chief target of the bribery probe is Melvyn Paisley, a former assistant Navy secretary who oversaw division of the Aegis work. Paisley left the Navy in 1987 to become a consultant to, among others, a company that got Aegis work. Paisley, though his attorney, has denied any wrongdoing.

Aegis systems had been built for 15 years at RCA's Moorestown, N.J., division when, in 1985, the Navy sought production changes despite the system's then-stellar reputation.

Unisys Corp. of Detroit eventually was awarded a contract to begin work on a key radar component.

Unisys spokesman William Beckham confirmed that Paisley was hired by the company as a consultant after he left the Navy, but said he did not offer advice directly on Aegis.

Beckham said another Unisys consultant, William Galvin, "monitored" the Aegis proposals.

Investigators reportedly are looking at links between Paisley and Galvin, and federal records show that Paisley's wife had a $50,000 ownership share in a company associated with Galvin.

Then-Navy Secretary John Lehman had a simple explanation for his order to "second-source" some of the work: Congress had told him to do so. Congress had required second sources on an effort to spark competition.

"I have yet to meet a second source I didn't like," Lehman scribbled at the bottom of a May 1985 letter defending the shift.

But despite the goal of increasing competition, the Navy announced that it would transfer the radar work without competitive bidding — to the Sperry Corp. of Great Neck, N.Y., now part of Unisys.

New Jersey legislators rallied to protect some 600 jobs at RCA and as many as 5,000 related positions. Saxton wrote to colleagues at the time that "RCA has been on time, below cost and has exceeded all performance goals."

The New Jersey group suspected that Rep. Joseph Addabbo, D-N.Y., chairman of the House defense appropriations subcommittee, was behind the plans — trying to get the Aegis work for his home state. Addabbo died in 1986.

"They clearly muscled their way in through Joe Addabbo," said Rep. Jim Courter, R-N.J.

As originally proposed, the Aegis competition was to include dividing both the work on developing and making the systems' nearly 900 major components, as well as the delicate task of putting the parts together.

Aegis' 6 million parts and 4,900 cables are weaved together at RCA's $141 million "cruiser of the cornfields," a mock warship in a rural area along the New Jersey Turnpike.

The New Jersey delegation eventually collected enough congressional muscle to fend off part of the Navy's plans. Lehman's successor, James Webb, announced the Aegis assembly work would remain at RCA.

But plans to split work on Aegis components continued. Paisley in June 1986 ordered subordinates to implement the changes within four months.

The trade journal Defense News reported Monday that RCA executives complained bitterly to Paisley, and that he told them they could expect a "quite pro-quo" share of a separate $2.4 billion submarine electronics system.

Defense News quoted an RCA spokesman and Paisley's lawyer as denying the report, which it attributed to sources speaking on condition of anonymity.

In October 1987, seven months after Paisley had left the Navy, the service informed the Armed Services panel that Unisys — now one of Paisley's clients — was the sole bidder to compete with RCA.

In January 1988, House Armed Services Committee Chairman Les Aspin withdrew his objections to splitting the Aegis component work between RCA and Unisys. With that, congressional resistance crumbled.

Popular Hispanic leader is moving to sidelines

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — For a decade Henry Cisneros has been the pre-eminent Hispanic leader — a successful mayor, an articulate speaker, a thoughtful politician, a powerful role model.

At the height of his prestige, he is moving to the sidelines, maybe even getting out of politics.

He's turned down an offer to speak at the Democratic National Convention, quashed any talk of the vice presidency and ruled out trying to spread his "San Antonio Miracle" with a statewide race in Texas in 1990.

Even as national attention turns to the power of Hispanic political clout this year, Cisneros says he may not seek re-election as mayor.

Cisneros said of his move out of the national arena, "It's a decision that I've made."

"For the moment my total and exclusive focus is on San Antonio issues," he said. "We're in a period of tremendous resurgence in San Antonio after the Texas slump and we have many, many initiatives here that are setting this city in position for the long run."

His attention is also focused on a year-old son with a congenital heart defect who will require extensive surgery at about the same time as the 1990 campaigning season.

Cisneros also talks regularly with two businessmen about joining them in a corporate venture.

To other Hispanics leaders across the country, not having Henry Cisneros out front carrying the torch will be a setback.

"He leaves a huge vacuum," said Los Angeles City Councilwoman Gloria Molina. "His soft-spoken yet direct way is what we need and I don't know if anyone else can sit down with presidential candidates, labor leaders, or whoever and look them in the eye and not give in."

"As he steps to the sidelines, he'll be sorely missed," Molina said.

"Everyone thinks it's a shame but they respect his priorities," said Harry Pachon.

Posting of Student Grades Is Cruel and Also Illegal

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: You recently published a letter from a parent who had attended an open house at her daughter's school where an English teacher had posted all the students' names and their grades for public viewing.

You were correct to say that it was improper as well as cruel, but did you know that it also violates federal law?

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act, commonly known as the Buckley Amendment (giving credit to its author), forbids educational institutions at any level from releasing any information about any student without written permission. (The exception is for the release of certain "directory" information. Most states have similar laws in addition.)

I find that most teachers and many administrators are not aware of the provisions of this important statute, and do not realize that they should not discuss students with anyone who does not have a right to information according to the law, or without written permission of the parent (or the student if he or she is old enough).

NANCY HABLUTZEL, Ph.D., J.D., CHICAGO

DEAR DR. HABLUTZEL: Add my name to the list of those who were not aware of the above-mentioned statute. Thank you for educating me and countless others. Teachers, take a lesson.

DEAR ABBY: Can you stand one more letter about original works of art given by the artist to friends who stick them away in a closet never to be seen again?

I happen to be an artist, and a fairly good one. I've given some of my paintings as gifts, and if I go to the home of someone to whom I've given a painting and I don't see it displayed anywhere, here's how I handle it: I ask if I may "borrow" my painting for an "art show." (I even offer to pick it up.) Then I keep it "indefinitely." Of course, should I be asked to return it, I would, but so far, nobody has asked.

PRIDEFUL ARTIST IN NEW MEXICO

DEAR ARTIST: My mail has been running 2-to-1 in favor of artists saying they would not be offended if the recipient asked if the painting could be exchanged for one that would be more appropriate for their decor.

Almost all artists said that rather than have their work hidden in a closet, they would prefer to have it returned.

Few people realize that an original painting — valuable or not — is part of the artist's divine inspiration and represents time and talent (be it ever so modest), and should be respected as such.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for telling "J.M.B." that there was nothing weird or abnormal about eating only one thing at a time. I've always eaten that way and I'm 59 years old. I like to savor the flavor of everything I eat. If I wanted to combine all the flavors of baked ham, sweet corn, potato salad and stewed tomatoes, I'd put them all in a blender, liquify the whole mess, and drink it!

ME TOO IN HORNELL, N.Y.

Vincennes' captain is soft-spoken Texan

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — It's widely said in the U.S. Navy that any warship sooner or later takes on the character of its skipper. But there's little about Capt. Will C. Rogers III to suggest he commands what he calls "the most sophisticated ship in the world, bar none."

The ship, the missile cruiser USS Vincennes, and its skipper, a soft-spoken, graying man in his mid-40s, are at the center of the storm over the shooting down of an Iranian jetliner over the Persian Gulf on Sunday.

It was Rogers, from his console in the ship's darkened Command Information Center, who ultimately gave the "shoot" order that sent two SM-2 Standard missiles roaring off their deck launcher to blast the plane from the sky.

Only later did the United States admit that what the Vincennes' officers had identified as an Iranian F-14 fighter diving on their ship was in fact an Iran Air A300 Airbus with 290 people aboard.

The captain and his tactical action officers will be called to answer questions under oath before a team of top military and technical experts arriving in the gulf today to investigate the incident.

In Rogers, they will find a man who, as one Navy officer said, "has probably aged ten years in the last two days."

"You cannot help but feel for the man," said another. "The first priority is protecting the ship, and it was his decision. Once you fire them, you can't get 'em back." The officers spoke on condition of anonymity.

Rogers, a native of Fort Worth, Texas, has a dry wit and so much of the American southwest in his manner and voice that he spends a lot of time denying he's related to the famous Oklahoma cowboy humorist Will Rogers.

"I don't know how that rumor got started, but it isn't true. Even my mother says so," he said recently when reporters visiting his ship asked.

The assumption is so widespread that some other officers were surprised at the denial.

Rogers has commanded the Vincennes for nearly two years and is the 9,600-ton warship's second skipper. He and his wife Sharon, also Fort Worth-born, live in San Diego, Calif., where the cruiser is based.

They have a son, Will C. Rogers IV.

Rogers is a career Navy man, a graduate of the Navy's Officer candidate school who has served aboard a variety of vessels from mine sweepers to the aircraft carrier Independence.

His first command, in the early 1970s, was the tiny wooden-hulled mine sweeper Exploit. After later tours at the Pentagon and navy staff college, plus other sea duty, he served as skipper of the destroyer Cushing in 1981-84.

The Vincennes, launched at the Ingalls shipyard in Pascagoula, Miss., three years ago Wednesday, is the third of the Navy's billion-dollar "Aegis-type" missile cruisers, designed to defend an American battle fleet from air and missile attack.

Its computer-linked surveillance and missile system is built around "phased-array" radar, which can simultaneously identify and evaluate the threat, if any, from dozens of targets.

M&F Plastic Pipe has variety of sizes

M & F Plastic Pipe is your locally owned dealer for polyethylene pipe, sales and rental, with a wide range of sizes and pressure ratings.

Polyethylene pipe is now replacing steel pipe and PVC pipe in many areas. It is much more versatile than PVC and more economical than steel. Its flexibility makes it easier to handle, therefore saving you time and labor. The durability of this pipe has been proven under all kinds of weather conditions and it can be re-spooled and re-laid several times without damage to the pipe.

They have spooling trailers, reel trailers and a spooling truck to handle pipe up to three inches. Pipe that is four inches or larger comes in joints and must be laid by hand. It is "welded" together by using an electric iron that melts each end of the pipe and then it fuses when put together. This eliminates the worry about leaks from bad threads or not being tight enough such as in steel pipe or the hassle of cleaning and gluing as in PVC.

Poly pipe can be used for water lines in homes, stock tanks, water wells, water supply for drilling, transfer lines, gas lines or production flow lines.

They will lay new or used pipe, provide you with valves, fittings, ditching, etc. to suit your needs and will also repair your lines, relocate it or replace it if needed.

M & F Plastic Pipe is owned and operated by Ricky and Teresa Trammell. Please feel free to call them or Darby K. Scott, manager, for prices or information at 573-8612.

Deep Creek ABWA hears gospel songs

Local talent Jackie Hackfeld was the feature at the June meeting of the Deep Creek Chapter of American Business Women's Association held at The Texan restaurant.

Pauline Withers, vice-president, presided. Penny Cochran offered the invocation and members repeated the Pledge of Allegiance.

Hackfeld gave a program of gospel songs including, "I'm a Jesus Fan," "Jesus Is Alive and Well," "I Was on His Mind," and "You're the Light They Need Tonight."

Hackfeld's parents sponsored the making of a tape entitled "Garment of Praise." She commented that it was released just before her father passed away.

Hackfeld is co-owner of Bar H Bar with her husband, Keith.

They have two sons. The club presented her with a gift for the program.

Club reports were given and minutes were approved.

Members discussed plans for White Buffalo Days and a fundraiser for the club's scholarship fund.

Withers was given a birthday gift and offered the benediction.

All interested people are invited to attend club sessions which meet the third Thursday of each month at The Texan.

Getting tuned in

What happens when your partner's opening lead holds the first trick against a no-trump contract? Obviously you follow suit, but what is the significance of the card you play? In traditional methods you can convey your attitude by encouraging with a high card or discouraging with a low card. Some players like to give count, starting a high-low with an even number of cards and playing the lowest card with an odd number. Then, of course, when a switch to another suit is mandated by either the bidding or the appearance of dummy, third hand's play should be suit preference — a relatively high card asking for the play of the higher suit of two possible choices, a low card asking for the lower. I know it is all very confusing, and I need not tell you that even great experts make frequent mistakes in this area.

Today South got to three no-trump when five diamonds was unbeatable. On the first trick, East played the deuce of clubs. East hoped that West would interpret that as a preference for hearts. East would win the heart ace and lead through the declarer's club queen. Instead, West read the deuce as saying, "Use your judgment, partner, but don't continue clubs." So West played a spade. Why should he play a heart? It's logical that South would not bid three no-trump without the club queen. If both defenders know that, then the play by East to trick one must be telling West where he has an ace. In other words, deuce of clubs equals ace of hearts.

Don't turn a deaf ear

Playing a bridge hand is an information-gathering process. Too bad that today's declarer used his mind to gather wool instead.

North was quick to pass his partner's two-heart response after East had made a one-spade overcall, since the king of spades shrank in value. But East would not sell out — he doubled, a special bid telling his partner that he had defensive values plus willingness to play in clubs as well as spades. So West bid three clubs, and now North's three hearts ended the auction.

Declarer put in dummy's spade jack at trick one. East won the queen, led a low club to partner's queen, won the next spade and cashed the club ace. That was four tricks for the defense, and now came a low spade. Knowing that West could ruff, declarer trumped with the queen. He then cashed the heart king and played a heart to dummy. When West followed with the nine, he rose with the ace in dummy. Down one.

Declarer's play was the right percentage play — but only if it were in a vacuum. The bidding by East, especially the reopening "action" double, made no sense unless he had a singleton heart originally. Sure, a crazy East just might have bid that way with J-4 of hearts, but you're always better off believing that your opponents are doing what common sense would dictate. Putting in dummy's 10 of hearts would have won the day.

- ¼ cup dairy sour cream
- 2 tablespoon green goddess or creamy buttermilk salad dressing
- 1 teaspoon snipped fresh basil or 1 teaspoon dried basil, crushed

Plainview Club hears paramedic

Plainview Extension Homemakers Club met June 21 for the final club meeting until fall. Joyce McCoy and Donna Sunderland were visitors at the session held at Texas Electric Reddy Room.

Sterling Williams, local paramedic, gave a program explaining how his equipment worked with the ambulance service. He also gave informative tips on dealing with an accident or emergency.

Following a brief business meeting, hostess Ada Staton served refreshments. Jimmie Cummins was the "Lucky Lady" for the occasion.

"How about a cigarette? Er ... on second thought, never mind."

Man eats 10 hot dogs in 12 minutes

NEW YORK (AP) — A year ago, Jay Green vowed that he would not taste defeat again. Instead, he tasted sweet victory — and spicy hot dogs.

Green swallowed 10 hot dogs and rolls in 12 minutes to defeat 12 other contestants Monday at the Nathan's Famous 72nd annual Hot Dog-Eating Contest. Last year, the 30-year-old manager of a limousine service came in second.

"In the newspapers, I vowed that I would win this year,"

Green said.

He lives in nearby Sheepshead Bay and eats franks at the Coney Island emporium four times a week. "I've been eating them since I was 4. I just totally love them," he said.

This was not a particularly good year for the sport of hot-dog eating. The record, set in 1979, was 17½. And Green himself ate 13¼ hot dogs last year in a losing effort. Was the competition weak this year?

"I guess so," the champ said.

Prepare for launch pad test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — For the first time in 2½ years a space shuttle is on a launch pad here, and engineers and technicians are grooming it for an engine test crucial to the ship's return to space in early September.

Preparations for the engine firing began shortly after Discovery reached the launch pad Monday and workers had hooked up electrical, environmental control and other connections.

The July 24 test is to subject the three main liquid fuel engines to a 19.4-second ignition while Discovery is bolted firmly on its launch mounts. The exercise will check scores of engine modifications and provide the launch team with countdown practice. Discovery rolled to Launch Pad 39B on a Fourth of July filled with emotional outpourings from officials, thousands of space workers and one of the astronauts who will fly on the first shuttle mission since the Challenger disaster in January 1986.

"America, the dream is still alive," astronaut Dave Hilmers told about 2,000 Kennedy Space Center workers who cheered as the spaceship moved out of an assembly hangar to start the 4.2-mile trip to the pad.

"It's been a long 2½ years since Challenger, and I'm very pleased with the progress we've made during that time," center director Forrest S. McCartney told the crowd. "It's been a team effort. ... This is a proud day."

McCartney presented Hilmers with a book containing the signatures of more than 15,000 center personnel who have labored to return the shuttle to flight. The book will be carried into space aboard Discovery.

Shortly after the shuttle reached the launch pad, center gates were opened to permit space workers to bring their families out on the holiday for a drive by the launch pad and a close look.

More than 4,000 cars, with an average of four people in each, passed through, creating a huge traffic jam, with lines stretching to 18 miles at times. For some, the drive to the pad took nearly two hours, but no one seemed to mind once they saw the shuttle standing majestically in the sunlight.

"Wonderful!" "It's great!" "We're back in business," were among the comments as drivers slowed to allow their passengers to take photographs.

The launch-pad firing of Discovery's engines is the next major milestone along the route to orbit.

The next day, July 25, the shuttle's other propulsion system, the redesigned solid fuel booster rocket, will undergo its final pre-flight test at the Morton Thiokol plant in Utah.

Both tests are considered essential to the shuttle's return to space.

A faulty booster rocket joint led to the explosion of Challenger and loss of its seven crew members on Jan. 28, 1986.

The move to the launch pad ends several months of frustration for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's shuttle program.

White agent reportedly harassed black

NEW YORK (AP) — Recently released documents show that a Chicago-based FBI agent has acknowledged planning with white colleagues a retribution campaign against a black agent, according to published reports.

The FBI documents also show that the white agent, Gary W. Miller, conceded that in 1985 he forged agent Donald Rochon's signature on an application for death and dismemberment insurance for the black agent's family. The New York Times reported in Tuesday's editions.

Rochon has said that while living in Chicago, where he was assigned from 1984 to 1986, his family's safety was repeatedly threatened in anonymous telephone calls and obscene, racist letters from white FBI agents. He has called the unsolicited insurance policy a death threat.

Miller, who was suspended without pay for two weeks as a result of that and other incidents aimed at Rochon, has denied he was trying to harass Rochon, the Times said.

The disclosures came in court papers filed in Washington on Friday and amount to the FBI's first public acknowledgment that white agents may have taken part in harassing Rochon in Chicago.

The bureau has been sharply criticized by members of Congress over that case and other discrimination claims. More than half the FBI's Hispanic agents have joined in a separate lawsuit against the bureau charging discrimination in hiring and promotion, the Times said.

The Justice Department and the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission have already found that Rochon was the victim of "blatant racial harassment" in the FBI's Omaha, Neb., office in 1983 and 1984. A federal grand jury is investigating the later incidents in Chicago, which Rochon has contended were more serious than those in Omaha.

The newly released documents, which include records of an internal investigation of Rochon's charges, were made available to Rochon's lawyer, David Kairys of Philadelphia, in preparation for trial on a civil lawsuit filed by Rochon in U.S. District Court in Washington, which charges the FBI and several white FBI officials in Chicago and Omaha with violating federal civil rights laws.

The white agents have called Rochon a troublemaker who brought unfounded charges of racism against other agents in the Omaha and Chicago offices in an effort to get transferred to his hometown of Los Angeles.

FBI Director William Sessions has described Rochon's charges as "very serious" but has declined to discuss details of the case because of the pending litigation.

Party sidesteps call for strong president

MOSCOW (AP) — The Communist Party conference approved Mikhail S. Gorbachev's call for an overhaul of the legislature but did not endorse his proposal for a strong presidency, according to a resolution published today.

In his speech last week opening the national conference he had called, Gorbachev said, "The president of the U.S.S.R. Supreme Soviet should be granted sufficiently broad state authority powers."

"Specifically, the president could exercise overall guidance in the drafting of legislation and of major socio-economic programs, decide on the key issues of foreign policy, defense and national security, chair the Defense Council" and name the prime minister, he said.

That would have made the presidency, now a largely ceremonial post, the locus of Soviet power. Most authority now rests with the party general secretary — Gorbachev — and the party's ruling Politburo.

The resolutions adopted by the 5,000 delegates, as published today by Soviet newspapers, were silent on the question of presidential authority.

The resolution on political reform did propose creation of a new elective body, to be known as the Congress of People's Deputies, which would meet annually to set general policy and elect members of a smaller, full-time legislative council, the Supreme Soviet.

The Supreme Soviet now has 1,500 members who meet twice a year to give rubber-stamp approval to party policy.

The resolution also would limit officials to two five-year terms in the same party or government office, eliminating the common practice of what amounts to lifetime tenure for many officials.

The congress also would "elect by secret ballot the president of the Supreme Soviet," the document said. But it was silent on what that officer's duties would be.

Andrei A. Gromyko, the longtime Soviet foreign minister and Politburo member, was elevated to the presidency of the Supreme Soviet by Gorbachev, but he performs the largely ceremonial functions of head of state while Gorbachev wields power as head of the Politburo and the Defense Council.

It was not immediately clear whether the 13-member Polit-buro had moved to block Gorbachev's plan.

A senior party spokesman told reporters Friday night, just after the conference ended, that the delegates had approved Gorbachev's proposal when they adopted seven resolutions in the final hours of the four-day session.

The spokesman, Central Committee Secretary Alexander Lukyanov, said the party meeting, the first in 47 years, had agreed to the proposal to give the powers Gorbachev requested to the president.

He said the body also approved the general secretary's more controversial plan to have the party leader at every level — local, regional, republic and national — stand for election to head his or her governmental council, or soviet.

Swede storms Wimbledon...

Edberg wins championship

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) - Eight years after Bjorn Borg won the last of his five Wimbledon titles, another blond Swede held aloft the gleaming gold trophy on Centre Court.

He had the same big serve, the same crisp volleys and the same lightning returns. More important, he had the same mental toughness.

His name is Stefan Edberg. "I watched all the Wimbledon finals he's been in. I think he's been a big influence on me... as a person and a player," Edberg said after Monday's rain-delayed championship victory over Boris Becker.

"All of us grew up watching him in the Wimbledon finals," the 22-year-old Edberg said. "It's always going to be in my memory."

Edberg's 4-6, 7-6, 6-4, 6-2 success brought memories of the Borg era flooding back as he took apart the man who never had lost on Centre Court.

Becker, the champion in 1985 and 1986, had dropped only one set in six matches on his way to the final.

Edberg, with a reputation for mental weakness, had dropped sets in every match except one as he reached the championship here for the first time.

But in true Borg style, the Swede was peaked when it mattered most, got his opponent against the ropes and squeezed the last resistance out of him.

"It hasn't sunk into my system yet," said Edberg, a two-time Australian Open champion who had never been able to master the grass of Wimbledon despite his classic serve-and-volley game. "This is something I've worked for a long time. It could be the best match I've ever played in a Grand Slam tournament."

In other finals decided Monday, Americans Ken Flach and Robert Seguso retained the men's doubles title with a 6-4, 2-6, 6-4, 7-6 victory over Anders Jarryd and John Fitzgerald in a match spread over three days, a first in Wimbledon history.

Steffi Graf, who won her first Wimbledon women's singles title on Saturday with a three-set victory over Martina Navratilova, completed a successful tournament by winning the women's doubles as well.

Graf and Gabriela Sabatini saved two match points in beating Soviets Natalia Zvereva and Larisa Savchenko 6-3, 1-6, 12-10.

In the mixed doubles final, the United States collected its second trophy as Sherwood Stewart and Zina Garrison beat compatriots Kelly Jones and Gretchen Magers 6-1, 7-6.

Tennis tournament complete despite threatening weather

Snyder's annual Fourth of July Tennis Tournament recovered from a hard, driving rain to crown winners of all ages here over the weekend.

The tournament, due to start Saturday morning, was held up until early afternoon after cloudbursts soaked courts throughout town. Once the rains stopped and the water "squeezed" off the courts, play finally got underway. Not surprisingly, one of the top winners was a familiar face.

Larry Wiggins, an annual competitor at the tournament and more often than not a winner, took the men's singles and 35 singles trophies back home to San Antonio. Wiggins defeated Dana Jones of Big Spring in the men's singles, 6-4, 6-2, and topped Snyder's Gary Bingham to win the 35 singles crown 6-0, 6-2.

Snyder produced several winners, including three doubles teams. Michael Rodriguez and Kevin Winter won the men's doubles event 6-1, 6-2 over Andy Edwards and Sean Olson of Abilene.

Howard Sterling and Leslie Butler teamed to oust Jim Bates and Kevin Hutson of Sweetwater.

New York wrecks Rangers, 13-2

Don Mattingly hit a three-run homer, Jack Clark hit a two-run Expos 7, Astros 6

(AP) - Returning home was no help for the slumping Astros, who lost for the sixth time in seven games, 7-6.

Montreal's Tim Wallach drove in three runs with a pair of doubles and red-hot Andres Galarraga had four hits.

Wallach had a two-run double in a three-run fifth-inning off Danny Darwin, 3-8.

Houston's Glenn Davis had four hits, including a two-run homer off Dennis Martinez, 8-7.

shot and New York took advantage of 15 hits, seven walks, two wild pitches, four passed balls and a hit batter to beat the Rangers, 13-2.

Winner Charles Hudson allowed two runs and three hits in seven innings before giving way to Tim Stoddard.

Texas starter and loser Charlie Hough, 8-8, struck out four in the first inning, only the eighth time that feat has been accomplished in the American League. The last time four strikeouts were recorded in an inning in the AL was Aug. 2, 1987, by Bobby Witt of the Rangers. In the National League the record has been set 11 times.

Hough gave up eight runs, six earned, six walks, a wild pitch and a hit batter in addition to striking out six. In six June starts Hough went 4-1 with a 1.26 ERA.

Rickey Henderson had walked to lead off the game and stole second, the 42nd of the season for the American League leader and 743rd of his career, tying him with Eddie Collins for sixth on the all-time list. Henderson hadn't stolen a base in 12 games, dating back to June 4.

The three-game series continues tonight with Tommy John (6-2) starting for the Yankees against Ray Hayward (4-5).

Downing of Iranian airliner...

Soviet reaction said varied

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's various reactions to the U.S. Navy's downing of an Iranian airliner appeared designed to maintain smooth Soviet-U.S. relations while satisfying some allies' desires for a harsh response.

Moscow radio said Monday that the Navy committed "deliberate mass murder," but Kremlin reaction was milder and defense officials did not even bring it up with an American visitor.

The United States said the crew of the USS Vincennes shot down the Iran Air jetliner over the Persian Gulf on Sunday when they mistook it for an F-14 fighter and it failed to heed warnings. Iran said all 290 aboard were killed.

In China, official newspapers today joined in condemning the attack and said major powers must cease "meddling" in the Gulf.

The Kremlin's first statement about the incident contrasted with angry pronouncements by President Reagan and other U.S. officials after Soviet fighters shot down a South Korean airliner with 269 aboard.

Reagan spoke at the time of "the barbarity of the Soviet government in shooting down an unarmed plane."

Foreign Ministry spokesman Gennady Gerasimov told a news briefing that the Soviet Union did not intend to follow the "bad example" of "wild" American criticism after KAL Flight 007 was shot down Sept. 1, 1983.

He said the U.S. explanation that U.S. sailors could not tell the difference on radar screens between the Airbus 300 and a F-14 jet fighter "appeared to be strange."

"It shows American naval officers were not very competent, or to use an American phrase, trigger-happy," Gerasimov declared.

He noted that KAL Flight 007 was over a "strategically sensitive" area of the Soviet Far East while the Iranian jet was "flying over its own territory and territorial waters."

The spokesman also said the profile of the KAL jet was similar to that of American spy planes, while the profile of an Airbus and an Iranian fighter are distinct. He said the South Korean plane was shot down at night and the Iranian jet in daylight.

Gerasimov said the shooting was an outgrowth of American policy in the Persian Gulf, where Iran and Iraq have been at war since September 1980, and proved U.S. actions there were dangerous.

"U.S. naval forces must immediately leave the waters of the Persian Gulf," he said.

Moscow radio's reaction was far stronger. Its English-language service called the attack "deliberate mass murder in cold blood" and asked: "What was the American cruiser defending itself from? Was it threatened by the 66 children and 52 women who were among the nearly 300 passengers of the airplane?"

It called the Vincennes "a brazen intruder in an alien land." "There is a difference between a true act of self-defense — protection of a nation's borders — and deliberate, cruel murder," it said, claiming the KAL flight was on a spy mission and received warnings.

Neither Gerasimov nor official media accounts mentioned U.S. contentions that the Airbus had flown into a war zone. The radio, quoting Iran's official Islamic Republic News Agency, said the jet was in "a corridor reserved for civilian aviation." Aides to Air Force Secretary Edward C. Aldridge had feared the event would make his current visit to Moscow difficult. A U.S. official said it was not mentioned in meetings Aldridge had Monday with the Soviet air force chief, Marshal Alexander N. Yefimov, and Defense Minister Dmitri T. Yazov.

The China Daily said it was hard to believe that the Vincennes could not distinguish a wide-bodied commercial airliner from a two-seat fighter jet.

"The fatal incident of the Airbus crash has once again underlined the urgency for the removal of big powers' military meddling in the region and for the peaceful settlement between the warring nations," it said.

Sheriff says no motive known in shoot-out fire

ORANGEBURG, S.C. (AP) — An elderly farmer wearing a helmet and a bulletproof vest opened fire on police and set fire to their headquarters, wounding two and forcing authorities to transfer 140 inmates to state lockups.

"It put us out of business," Orangeburg County Sheriff C.R. Smith said of Monday morning's attack.

Clyde B. Myers of Branchville, shot six times by police, was in fair condition today at Orangeburg-Calhoun Regional Hospital, said a spokeswoman who refused to give her name. Two officers suffered minor gunshot wounds in the fray.

Warrants will be issued charging Myers, 67, with arson and assault and battery with intent to kill, Smith said, adding that the motive for the attack was unknown.

Finding cause of bad breath

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My kids tell me my breath is so bad it smells rotten. I'm mid-50s and have gas frequently. I do have one kidney which does not function properly because of childhood infection. My other kidney is functioning well, but is swollen to a larger size. What can you recommend?

DEAR READER: Halitosis can be due to disease (such as renal failure or liver ailments), to dental problems (abscesses or periodontal disease) or to the regular ingestion of certain foods (such as garlic).

Ordinarily, maldigestion and intestinal gas do not cause bad breath. I think that you should begin your investigation with a thorough dental examination. Your dentist may be able to pinpoint the source of your problem. In addition, because of your history of a malfunctioning kidney, you should check with your doctor to make sure that your remaining kidney is, indeed, doing its job. People can live perfectly normal lives with just one kidney, but if yours is beginning to fail, halitosis may result. A simple blood test will indicate satisfactory kidney efficiency.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm 73. A ring of skin on my penis has gotten hard and shrunken. It makes urination difficult. Circumcision would cure it, but I have a serious heart condition, so I'm reluctant to undergo surgery. What should I do?

DEAR READER: Although circumcision in an adult is uncomfortable, it is a simple operation that can be performed under local anesthesia. Despite your age, the risks of not having circumcision (to relieve your urinary problem) may exceed the risks of having it done. Ask your doctor to refer you to a qualified surgeon or urologist for an opinion.

To give you more information, I'm sending you a free copy of my Health Report on "Surgery." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I work with a young mother who put her baby on Gatorade instead of milk so he wouldn't get fat. Don't all children need milk?

DEAR READER: This practice can be dangerous, causing infant malnutrition and other problems. Gatorade, a mineral-rich sugar water, is not a substitute for milk or formula feedings. It contains no proteins or vitamins. In particular, protein is an important nutrient for growing babies. Gatorade and other such supplements are all right as snacks for older children and adults, but should not be used as food or as a replacement for a normal infant diet.

In addition, Gatorade is rich in salt — since it's meant to replace salt lost during exercise. Children do not handle salt as well as adults do; therefore, Gatorade may not be appropriate in quantity for infants.

You might suggest to your co-worker that she check with the pediatrician for specific advice about what to feed her baby so that the child is not nutritionally shortchanged. Too many parents go overboard in trying to keep their children from becoming fat. An overly low-fat/low-protein diet can cause malnutrition, growth retardation and other health problems in infants and children.

Your Birthday

July 6, 1988

In the year ahead your successes will be predicated upon what you know and not necessarily who you know. Fortunately, you'll possess the correct knowledge. CANCER (June 21-July 22) In career developments today the strong will take it away from the weak and the smart will take it away from the strong. Be among the latter. Cancer, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If an old friend who now lives in some different place has been on your mind lately, give him or her a call or drop a note in the mail. A worthwhile exchange could result.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Something that has had a deleterious affect upon your working conditions can be changed for the better today, provided you have the will and determination to do so.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A frank discussion with an associate can help to improve upon your relationship today. Be forthright and don't pull your punches.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You have a genuine knack for being able to revise or transform methods or things that are outdated into something more functional.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Today, your greatest asset is your ability to turn any dealings you have with others into an enjoyable happening for everyone concerned.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your mind readily responds to new ideas or concepts that could help improve home life. Implement these changes because the entire family will be pleased.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll be more effective today if you make plans that will productively keep you on the go. If you're restricted to the home or office, you won't operate as well.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) This is a good day for finding that item for the home you've been wanting. If you can't get out of the house, browse through some mail order catalogues or watch a television shopping show.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your curiosity will be at a high level today and your inquiring mind will be alert, seeking new information. What you learn will be useful.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Today a small payoff is possible regarding something that is long overdue. It's not apt to be all that grand, but it's better than nothing.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Hobnobbing with new acquaintances could prove to be mutually beneficial today. What you know is of value to them and what they know is of value to you.

Independent counsel files report on attorney general

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 13 1/2-month-long criminal investigation of Attorney General Edwin Meese III ended today with independent counsel James McKay filing an 800-page report, but Meese now faces an internal Justice Department review.

As expected, McKay apparently has concluded that there is insufficient evidence to recommend criminal prosecution of the attorney general at this time.

The report, submitted to a three-member federal appeals court panel, will be released to the public in several weeks, after Meese's attorneys have had an opportunity to prepare a rebuttal.

McKay has said that he would file such a report if there is insufficient evidence to seek a criminal indictment of Meese.

The office of the independent counsel would say only that the report was filed and that it expected that the judges will direct that a copy of the document be given to Meese's attorneys, Nathan Lewin and James Roca.

In April, McKay said that if he decided that no prosecution was warranted, he would "refer all of those matters for review and action by the appropriate administrative authorities."

Ethical questions raised by McKay's office are to be referred to the Justice Department, where they are expected to be examined by the Office of Professional Responsibility, a unit which examines improper behavior inside the department. The ethics review could last for months and could result in a recommendation to President Reagan that Meese be dismissed.

McKay's office has been: —Examining Meese's assistance to scandal-plagued Wedtech Corp. in 1981 and 1982 when he was White House counselor.

—Reviewing his actions on behalf of a $1 billion proposed Iraqi oil pipeline project in 1985 and 1986.

—Delving into Meese's meetings with regional Bell Telephone company executives and his favorable decision on behalf of the firms at a time when he held $14,000 in phone industry stock.

—Looking into a possible conflict in which members of a Washington real estate arranged to pay a $40,000-a-year salary for Meese's wife before being awarded a $50 million lease on Justice Department offices.

Meese's lawyers say their client received no financial benefit from any of the matters under investigation and that he violated no conflict-of-interest laws or ethical guidelines.

Each aspect of the investigation stemmed from Meese's relationship with longtime friend E. Robert Wallach, who is under indictment for alleged racketeering in the Wedtech scandal.

Incidents include thefts, vandalism

Sheriff's deputies are investigating a burglary at the rural home of Jeff Brown in which a gasoline-powered weed-cutter and a circular saw were stolen.

The break-in, southwest of Snyder, was reported Monday night.

County officers are also investigating a criminal mischief incident in which a Snyder man's car was painted with red, white and blue paint.

Henry Carrisalez of North Ave. M told officers Saturday that his yellow 1977 Pontiac Grand Prix was spray-painted between 9:30 p.m. Friday and 7 a.m. Saturday.

Police were told at 7 a.m. Monday that someone broke out the south-side window of the East Hwy. Sears catalogue store building.

Officers said the incident was being handled as a criminal mischief offense.

July 4th has several wrecks

Several July 4th weekend accidents were investigated including one involving minor damage to a police vehicle.

A 1987 Ford four-door city police car driven by patrolman Trevlyn D. Pitner was damaged slightly at 2:34 p.m. Sunday in the 4200 Block of College Ave.

A second non-contact vehicle listed in connection with the accident was a 1968 Dodge two-door driven by Armando E. Perez of Rt. 3, Snyder.

A parked 1979 Chevrolet Impala owned by Adislado R. Garcia of 601 25th St. was hit and damaged by an unknown vehicle and driver in an incident discovered at 12:58 p.m. Monday in the 2900 Block of Towle Park Rd.

A 1984 Cadillac Eldorado driven by Ralph E. Evans of 2802 Ave. E hit a parked 1983 Honda Prelude owned by Ruben Martinez of 405 35th St. at 6:56 p.m. Sunday on Towle Park Rd.

An unknown vehicle and driver hit a parked 1976 Buick Riviera owned by Jesse Carrisalez of 903 Ave. Q in an incident discovered at 10:31 p.m. Sunday in the 1000 Block of 29th St.

A 1983 Oldsmobile four-door driven by Tara Greene of 2900 35th St. was in collision with a 1984 Mercury driven by Carla Denson of Ira at 10:38 p.m. Saturday in the parking lot of a College Ave. drive-in restaurant.
