

Dukakis to name Bentsen

BOSTON (AP) — Michael Dukakis today will name Texas Sen. Lloyd Bentsen as his vice presidential running mate, according to a well-placed party source, giving a conservative and Southwestern flavor to the Democratic ticket.

The selection came late Monday night in a meeting among Dukakis, his long-time confidant Paul Brontas and campaign manager Susan Estrich. The word was passed to Bentsen late in the night or early this morning and he accepted, the source said.

Bentsen, 67, was expected to fly to Boston today for a 2 p.m. news conference in Faneuil Hall near the Massachusetts statehouse.

Bentsen appeared briefly this morning on the Senate floor in Washington but declined to answer reporters questions.

"I hope to be in Boston," he responded with a smile when asked what his plans were. Other Democratic senators congratulated Bentsen as he made his way to the Senate chamber and then back to his office.

Bentsen's selection will give the Democrats a ticket much like that of 1960, when John Kennedy of Massachusetts chose Texan Lyndon Johnson in a successful effort to add experience and balance.

In 1970, Bentsen defeated George Bush in a run for the Senate from Texas. Bush, now the Republican presidential nominee-in-waiting, said recently, "(Bentsen) doesn't worry me," adding, "We can carry the state" even if Bentsen is on the Democratic ticket.

With his choice, Dukakis signaled a determination to challenge the Republican Party's Electoral College stronghold in the South and especially in Bush's presumed strongest state. Texas is his adopted home state.

Texas has 29 electoral votes, more than any state except California and New York, and some Dukakis aides have said they hope selecting a Southerner would at least force the expected Republican candidate to spend more time defending the region than he would want.

Bentsen, an elegantly tailored, silver-haired patrician, is the scion of a wealthy landed family from the Rio Grande Valley — and a card-carrying member of the Senate Democratic establishment. He is a former chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Committee.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — The leftist Sandinista government accused U.S. Ambassador Richard Melton and seven other embassy officials of inciting unrest and ordered them to leave the country.

Also Monday, the Sandinistas shut down the country's Roman Catholic radio station, arrested an opposition politician and closed the lone opposition newspaper for 15 days.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The governing party says new election returns confirm its claim that its candidate, Carlos Salinas de Gortari, won the presidency, even though votes are still being counted nearly a week after the election.

The Institutional Revolutionary Party denies that final results are being delayed by vote fraud and squabbling among members of the party that is now losing its 60-year near monopoly in Mexican politics.

MOSCOW (AP) — The legislature of a largely Armenian mountain enclave at the heart of a months-long ethnic dispute voted today to secede from the republic of Azerbaijan and join Armenia, reporters in the area said.

Reporters for the radio station in Nagorno-Karabakh's main city, Stepanakert, read a statement by telephone saying the region's lawmakers had taken the bold step at a meeting today.

Arrests noted after auto stolen, burned

An 18-year-old Lubbock man who is on Scurry County probation for a vehicle burglary last October was arrested Monday night by Lubbock police in connection with a Saturday car theft here which ended with the stolen vehicle destroyed by fire.

Police were told Tuesday morning that a second defendant had been taken into custody and was being questioned in Lubbock in connection with the Saturday theft.

A city detective returned early Tuesday with the suspect, Ruben Baker III, and booked him into the county jail.

Justice of the Peace Dan Callaway Tuesday morning set bond for Baker at $10,000.

The car, a 1987 Oldsmobile Royale belonging to Cogdell Memorial Hospital laboratory technician Sara Reeder, was found burning at 5:08 p.m. Saturday at Erskine St. and Zenith Ave. in East Lubbock, two hours after it was discovered missing here.

Vehicles belonging to Pearl Schwartz and Mona Brown were found broken into in the hospital parking lot, but nothing was reported missing from them.

Baker and another 18-year-old Lubbock man, Booker Thomas Jones, pleaded guilty last November in the Oct. 17 break-in into a car at a central Snyder apartment complex and were given four-year probated sentences.

AD review board hears 7 as appraisal appeals continue

The three-member board of review for the Scurry County Appraisal District heard arguments related to seven tax appeals Monday as hearings were conducted for real estate and personal property.

Value adjustments made by the board totaled some $10,000.

Some $8,000 of this related to the value of a residence protested by Paul Thompson, and another $2,000 to the value of a private aircraft protested by Richard Stoker.

The board met also with one individual who represented several appeal cases, Len Bradford, a representative of Strategis Property Tax Service of Dallas.

In two of these cases, an adjustment was made by the appraisal district staff and did not require a final board decision.

These involved an ownership question brought by G.N. Heinzleman Sr. and a question related to an oil well service building brought by Joe M. Melton.

Two cases argued by Bradord produced no adjustments by the board, one related to vacant property adjacent to cotton warehouses owned by G.A. Poe; and one related to a vacant service station building at 37th St. and College owned by Pride Marketing of Texas.

The board also granted no adjustment for protested property values related to the College Heights Addition here. That was brought by owners of the Su-an Company, Bill McCormick and Marshall Parham.

Prior to actual hearings Monday, the board had on file 10 notices of appeal for real estate and personal properties.

At 9 a.m. Tuesday, the board was to be back in session for hearings related to oil field properties. Valuation engineers from the firm of Thomas Y. Pickett and Associates of Dallas, which contracts to provide the district's oil-related values, were to be on hand to assist with these appeals.

Chief Appraiser Ray Peveler said "99 percent" of these appeals related to value placed on equipment.

Oil company owner now facing charges

A Snyder oil field company owner was indicted for felony theft charges Monday in connection with allegedly failing to honor an agreement to forward payment for work billed by her company after selling the invoice for this work to a Midland-Odessa investment firm.

Indicted was Vonnice Ray Overton of 2906 Denison, owner of Dynamic Specialty Services Inc.

Bringing the complaint against her is Key Commercial Investment Inc. of Midland-Odessa, a firm which purchases accounts receivable at a discounted rate, taking its profit at a later date when such accounts are paid in full by the company's customers.

The incident prompting Monday's indictment allegedly occurred last Nov. 25 and involved some $1,800. Overton is charged with receiving this payment but failing to forward it to the Midland-Odessa investment company.

Monday's indictments included also three involving alleged drug deliveries. The names of a couple indicted for these offenses were not immediately released pending their arrest.

The male suspect faces two counts of delivery of marijuana in an amount of less than 4 ounces but more than one quarter ounce; and his wife faces one count of a similar indictment.

Other individuals indicted by the July grand jury include:

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Scandals are good for a nation. They remind us some things can't be replaced by a computer."

If you happen to be one of those folks who "long for the good old days," a trip down memory lanes may cause you to reconsider the definition of "good times."

Car dealer Howard Gray, who grew up on the banks of the Concho in San Angelo, often says the good times are right now and not in the past.

Ixon Joyce, a long-time Scurry County observer, ran across an Oct. 17, 1941 copy of The Denver Post. News contained in that edition reminds us that things can be worse.

The Great Depression was still on the minds of Americans, and World War II dominated the headlines.

In addition to gloomy news on the international front, newspaper readers in Denver were also dealing with the city's crackdown on speeders.

A front-page article told that the city's youngest speeder appeared in municipal traffic court. The Post reported, "He didn't have to go to jail, and neither did his grandmother who was driving the car."

Denver had just introduced a new law requiring jail time for speeders. Rather than put the child behind bars, the municipal court judge heard the case immediately and fined the woman $10 and then suspended the fine.

From 1988 perspective, there was good news in the way of prices. If anyone had any money to spend, sample fur coats were advertised for $48 and a man's 12-piece outfit was available for $22.50.

One store advertised "holeproof silk socks" for only 40 cents a pair, and you could buy three pair for $1. Brides and grooms could have their choice of diamond wedding rings—starting at $9.95.

One restaurant offered a steak dinner with all the trimmings for 65 cents. A dress shirt at J.C. Penney sold for a buck, and Sears advertised a 10-piece bedroom suite for $89.95.

The average paid circulation for the Denver newspaper was 158,885. Single copy prices were 3 cents from newsboys and 5 cents on trains and out of Denver.

Death toll at 11 in Greek attack

PIRAEUS, Greece (AP) — A body was pulled from the Aegean Sea today and a second was found on the Greek ship where three men threw grenades and fired guns at sunbathing tourists. The death toll in the bizarre attack rose to at least 11.

The casualty count was expected to keep rising after Monday's assault aboard the 370-ton City of Poros cruise ship.

"We also have found some floating body remains that indicate the death toll could go higher..." said a harbor authority officer who spoke on condition of anonymity.

One body was found on the ship today and another was taken from the sea, he said. Nine bodies were recovered Monday and at least 98 people were injured in the attack.

Police said the three assailants fled in a speedboat. No group claimed responsibility for the attack, and police said they had few clues to a motive.

Earlier Monday, two unidentified men believed to be of Arab origin were killed when an explosives-packed car blew up near the Trocadero Marina, police said. They said the blast probably was linked to the cruise ship attack.

Police said they found an Iranian magazine in the wrecked car. They said the vehicle had been rented to a 36-year-old Lebanese man, Hamoud al Hamid, and contained hand grenades and automatic weapons.

Terrified passengers scurried for cover and leaped into the sea when the gunmen hurled grenades and sprayed gunfire at the tourists on the crowded vessel. The grenade blasts triggered a fire aboard the ship as it headed for the Trocadero Marina in this Athens port.

The ship, about 16 miles out, was returning from a day-long cruise.

Although the harbor authority reported some bodies may have not been recovered, a Merchant Marine Ministry spokesman said all 471 passengers and 22 crew members had been accounted for today.

The spokesman said 50 of the wounded were hospitalized, 15 in serious condition, he said.

By today, authorities had released the names of only two of the dead: Antonis Demaizis, the ship's 45-year-old first mate and a Danish tourist, 33-year-old Karl Johan Grabas.

"I was on deck when I heard automatic fire," Jean Wogewda of Lorient, France, said from his bed in a Piraeus hospital, where he was recovering from gunshot wounds in both legs. "I turned around and was thrown into the air by the impact of the bullets hitting my leg."

"I saw a man who was shooting and I couldn't believe it and thought it was a joke. When I saw others falling to the deck, it turned out to be real."

A Swedish passenger who asked not to be identified said he saw a man in his early 20s pull an automatic weapon from his backpack and open fire.

"Then he threw two hand grenades and fire broke out and the deck caved in. There were burning sheets of metal falling on the people in the saloon below," the Swede said. "There was total panic, it felt like a million years but all in all it must have been over in four minutes."

Senator accuses law firm

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A representative of attorney Oliver Heard Jr. offered a state senator between $10,000 and $30,000 to convince local school officials to steer a delinquent-tax collection contract to Heard's firm, the San Antonio Light reported.

State Sen. Frank Tejada secretly recorded two conversations with Lupe Zamarripa, a representative of Heard's firm, the Light reported in a copyright story. The Light said the tapes were recorded in Tejada's southside district office.

Heard said Sunday he was not aware of any impropriety and demanded access to the tapes.

Former governor likely next AG

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's likely choice to quiet the Justice Department storm left by departing Attorney General Edwin Meese III is former Pennsylvania Gov. Dick Thornburgh, a squeaky-clean ex-prosecutor known for keeping cool under fire.

A knowledgeable administration source said Monday that Reagan had approved Thornburgh for the attorney general's job, and that Thornburgh had told the White House he would accept it if offered.

The news cheered officials with Vice President George Bush's presidential campaign, who had worried aloud about political damage to the certain Republican nominee from the furor over Meese's ethics in office.

Thornburgh's resume includes successful prosecution of public corruption cases at both the federal and state level, in addition to his eight years as governor of Pennsylvania.

Victims' families file suit

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — Relatives of two women killed when a department store collapsed in a thunderstorm have filed suit, charging that the roof was unsafe.

Juan Lopez-Butron of Matamoros, Mexico, whose wife, Graciela Cortinas de Lopez, was the fifth victim pulled from the rubble, filed two lawsuits Monday.

Lopez-Butron accused Amigo Store of failing to warn his wife a collapse could occur and failing to properly inspect the roof and its drainage system.

In a second suit, he accused the store's builders, Adams Brothers General Contractors Inc. of failing to install a safe roof, failing to inspect it and failing to properly install an adequate way to drain the flat surface. In that suit, he requests a trial by jury and asks for no more than $5 million in damages, interest and court costs.

Luis Enrique Cortinas Villarreal filed a suit seeking damages for the death of his mother, Marisela Villarreal Vda. de Rivera. He named Bernard Levine, owner of the store, and his company, Los Amigos Inc., in the suit alleging negligence.

Meanwhile, officials continued to investigate why the building collapsed after heavy rains last Thursday, crushing 14 people to death.

Inmate population may top 60,000

GATESVILLE (AP) — The Austin man for whom the state's next maximum security prison is named says Texas needs several more like it.

Alfred D. Hughes, former prison board chairman, said the trusty camps that will be ready within a year are an adequate stop-gap measure in the battle against prison crowding, but maximum security units are the only long-range answer.

"We have to have additional facilities. They cannot all be the cheap-to-build trusty camps," Hughes said Monday before he joined prison and local officials in using shiny silver shovels to symbolically break ground for 2,250-bed Alfred D. Hughes Unit.

The new $60 million prison, scheduled for completion in October 1989, will be paid for by bonds approved last year by voters.

Another 2,250-inmate prison, at Amarillo, is scheduled for completion shortly after the Hughes Unit, which is near existing prisons in this Central Texas city of 71,100.

Other prison construction programs in the works include seven trusty camps scheduled for completion late this year, 2,000 private-prison beds set for completion in June 1989 and two, 1,000-bed medium-security prisons that should be ready next summer.

The prison board on Monday gave the go-ahead for preliminary work on five additional trusty camps, approved last Friday by top state leaders in an effort to ease crowding at county jails that are backed up with felons awaiting space in state prisons.

Hughes said the facilities on the drawing board will not solve the problem.

"We have to somehow get across to the Legislature that we are going to have to pay the price to build these units," Hughes said. "We're in the middle of this race. We are not at the end of it."

Charles Terrell of Dallas, current prison board chairman, agreed.

"We have simply got to have the facilities. It doesn't do any good to have rehabilitation programs ... if you don't have the people long enough to do something about it," he told the small crowd at the groundbreaking ceremony.

State Rep. Bob Melton, D-Gatesville, said at the ceremony that Texans must be willing to pay for more prisons. He said Texas' prison population, now about 40,000, could top 60,000 by 1991.

"You can't have it both ways," Melton said. "If you want to build more prisons there is only one place to get (the money), from me and you, the taxpayers."

House Ways and Means Committee Chairman Stan Schlueter, D-Killeen, said his constituents support more money for more prisons.

"I think we're going to do it. I don't think we have any choice," he said after the ceremony.

Schlueter said he does not yet know whether more prisons will require more taxes.

Terrell said Texans are willing to pay higher taxes if it means more prisons.

"Our position is the first function of government is to protect the public. You start with what it takes to protect the public and then you look at your other needs," he said.

New IRS director offers cooperation

DALLAS (AP) — The new district director of the Internal Revenue Service said he will cooperate with investigators looking into possible abuses of authority at the Dallas office.

But Gary O. Booth, who was sworn in Monday, said the congressional subcommittee's inquiry was "news to me."

U.S. Rep. Doug Barnard Jr., D-Ga., said Monday a House subcommittee is investigating charges of cover-ups and lax enforcement of agency regulations of seven IRS offices nationwide.

Barnard, a member of the Commerce Consumer and Monetary Affairs Subcommittee of the House Government Operations Committee, said Monday that the Dallas office was aware of the probe.

"We have not been in contact with the Dallas office, but our three investigators (from the General Accounting Office) certainly have," Barnard said.

Booth, the former IRS district director in Austin, said he was unaware of the probe but pledged to cooperate with investigators.

The IRS's Washington, D.C. headquarters and its offices in Chicago, Cincinnati, Los Angeles, Newark, N.J., and San Francisco also were probed in the inquiry, Barnard said.

Barnard said cases being studied include:

— A "bogus investigation" ordered at an office and two coverups of results of legitimate inquiries.

— The light punishment of an IRS employee who illegally invested in a tax shelter. Barnard said the discipline went against the proper procedure.

— An IRS employee was allowed to retire rather than be punished for divulging "private information" to a taxpayer.

The IRS' criminal investigations unit and its in-house security division covered up wrongdoing in several instances, Barnard said.

"When you've got as many people working in the IRS as you do, there's going to be a lot of room for pointing fingers," Barnard said.

"We're always subject to congressional oversight," Booth said. "We're subject to the accounting office looking into us in a number of ways."

Barnard would not link any cases to specific district offices.

"We've got to get a House resolution passed to look into the tax records of some of the instances that have come to our attention," Barnard said. "We hope to get that done next week."

Barnard said hearings in the investigation will probably start in mid-September.

The bidding guides the play

How do you play K-Q-7 opposite 9-8-5-3-2? You lead up to the king, and if it wins, lead up to the queen. However, when you know the ace is behind the K-Q, your only chance is to find both the jack and the 10 in front of the K-Q, allowing a double finesse to succeed.

In today's competitive auction, East fought all the way to the three-level on his own; then North concluded the auction with a three-spade bid. East ducked the heart opening lead and declarer won the king. A diamond was led to the 10 and king, and East returned a low spade. That was won in dummy, and the diamond queen was covered by the ace and ruffed. Declarer now led a club to dummy's king. East won, cashed the heart ace and played back his remaining spade. Declarer still had to lose a trump trick and another club, so he was down one.

Listening to the bidding and believing it will guide declarer right. When East shows length in both red suits by bidding three diamonds opposite a silent partner, he cannot hold more than three black-suit cards. And West would never have passed the one-heart opening with the club ace. So declarer, when he attacks clubs, should simply insert dummy's seven. East wins the ace but has no way to play a third trump. Eventually a club can be ruffed in dummy and the contract made, but only because declarer profited from the clues in the bidding and played the club suit "anti-percentage."

The right time for an uppercut

When you have taken all the side-suit tricks that you can against a suit contract, the only place left to get a trick is in the trump suit itself. But you have to keep your thinking cap on to know when the right conditions exist.

North used a Jacoby transfer bid (two diamonds) to tell his partner he had five hearts. Then two no-trump invited game. South declined but still placed the contract in hearts, the known 5-3 fit. After the king of spades lead drew the discouraging deuce, West switched to the 10 of clubs. Declarer won the jack and played a heart to dummy's queen. East took the king, and West then took two more spade tricks. The defenders now had "book," needing one more trick to set the contract. West reasoned that declarer could not hold more than the ace of clubs. (With A-K-J in that suit, declarer would have played them out to shed a spade from dummy before attacking trumps.) With seven high-card points in the black suits, declarer had at least eight in diamonds to bring him up to no-trump opening strength. If that were A-K-J, East would have the queen but it would not take a trick. So the best chance for the defense was for East to hold a spot-card in the trump suit that could be promoted to the setting trick. The three of spades hit the table and East set the contract with his lowly eight of hearts.

Family pets, four-footed therapists

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Pets can help people deal with their problems, psychologist Dr. Janet Ruckert says she has observed in more than two decades of work with both children and adults.

Ruckert, a therapist in the West Los Angeles area, is the founder of the Center for Petology, where her staff of co-therapists includes two large Rottweilers and two Burmese cats.

Author of the recently published "The Four Footed Therapist: How Your Pet Can Help You Solve Your Problems," she discovered that when an animal was present during a patient's sessions, the patient could express deep emotions and psychological needs much more easily.

"Pet therapy is not a substitute for psychotherapy," Ruckert points out, "but the animal's presence offers healing massage, which in turn can open the door for the healing human."

Dear Abby

Hard of Hearing Must Open Their Eyes to Facts of Life

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: "Hurt in Paterson, N.J." said her day was spoiled when the florist delivered a beautiful basket of fruit — an Easter gift from her granddaughter — and on the delivery order was written: "She is deaf, so please wait for her to answer the door."

Abby, this grandmother has mistaken a kindness for an insult. In some cities, delivery people merely ring the doorbell, and if no one answers, they leave the package by the door where it can remain for hours — or even days.

How thoughtful it was of her granddaughter to have given those special instructions to the florist. And since florists make numerous deliveries in one day, their drivers can't be expected to remember special instructions unless they are written on the package.

Abby, a hearing loss is a fact of life; it is neither an insult nor anything to be ashamed of. I was surprised you didn't point that out instead of agreeing with "Hurt" that it was "insensitive and thoughtless" for the delivery instructions to have been in plain sight.

Seems to me, "Hurt" is overly sensitive. If that spoiled her day, she should have sent the basket of fruit to a nursing home where residents would have been thrilled to be remembered at all.

DOLORES WERDER,
SUN CITY, ARIZ.

DEAR DOLORES: You are absolutely right — I rate a raspberry on that answer.

One wonders why so many people who are hard of hearing are reluctant to admit it. And how ironic it is that so many of us willingly stick something in our eyes to improve our vision, but we're too embarrassed to stick something in our ears to improve our hearing.

Let's hear it from a sister who's right on in Sisters, Ore.:

DEAR ABBY: "Hurt in Paterson, N.J." should have been grateful, not hurt. I was hospitalized not long ago. Several nurses were in and out of my room to take care of me. Some of them scolded me for not following instructions until I explained that I could not hear. One of the nurses made a sign and hung it over my bed: "Mrs. Tuggle is deaf, but she reads lips well."

From then on, all the people who came into my room made sure I could see their faces when they spoke to me. I wasn't offended by that sign. I was grateful to the nurse who put it there.

I hope that "Hurt" will accept her disability and not try to deny it or reject the help that comes from letting others know about our special needs. I have never known a person who did not respond positively to me when I explained my special needs.

Thank you, Abby, for giving space in your column to the problems of hearing impairment. You may use my name.

RUBY TUGGLE, SISTERS, ORE.

DEAR RUBY: Thank you for sharing your sensible attitude. Many people who are hard of hearing pretend they aren't. They sit in groups, smiling and nodding, and either remain silent, or frequently they'll interject inappropriate comments because they don't have the faintest idea of what the conversation is about. Letters such as yours may help to persuade them to put vanity aside and see an audiologist.

Wedding bells? Wedding bills! Who pays for what and everything else you need to know if you're planning a wedding can be found in Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send your name and address, clearly printed, plus check or money order for $2.99 ($3.99 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Wedding Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054 (postage and handling included).

Thirty are first-timers...

'Kids' dominate All-Stars

CINCINNATI (AP) - Mark Davis likens his first trip to the All-Star Game to "a two-minute spree in a toy store for a kid." And there are lots of kids in this toy store.

Davis, the San Diego Padres' bullpen ace, is one of 30 first-timers on the teams that will meet tonight in the All-Star Game. The National League will have 18 first-time All-Stars, the American League 12.

Whitey Herzog of the St. Louis Cardinals, manager of the National League, believes this may signal a changing of the guard in the major leagues, "but there still are a lot of good veteran ballplayers out there."

And there will be several on both sides for the scheduled start at 7:30 p.m. CDT, if rain that washed out part of Monday's workouts holds off tonight.

There are two first-time All-Star starters on the American League squad; the battery of left-hander Frank Viola of the Minnesota Twins and catcher Terry Steinbach of the Oakland Athletics. The AL starters, however, have 39 years' All-Star experience among them, including 12-time All-Star Dave Winfield of the New York Yankees.

The National League starters include three first-timers - Vince Coleman of the St. Louis Cardinals, Bobby Bonilla of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Will Clark of the San Francisco Giants. Nonetheless, the National League starters have 41 years' All-Star experience among them, including 11-time selection Gary Carter of the New York Mets.

"There are a lot of young players here," American League Manager Tom Kelly of the Minnesota Twins said. "And there are a couple more around who didn't get picked like Ellis Burks, Joe Carter, Dave Henderson, Dave Stewart. There could have been more first-timers."

"But you've also got your Dave Winfields and Don Mattinglys - bona fide All-Stars who get the job done year in and year out," Kelly said.

Both starting pitchers come in to the game with some rest. Dwight Gooden of the Mets, 11-5 with a 3.04 ERA, will start for the National League on three days' rest, one short of normal, after last pitching on Friday night in Houston. Viola, 14-2 with a 2.24 ERA for the defending World Series champion Twins, has not pitched since last Wednesday, giving him five days' rest.

"It'll be hard to top what we did in the World Series, but at least this will be a chance to show off our ability," Viola said, referring to himself and four teammates on the squad, the most ever for Minnesota. Oakland also has five All-Stars. Viola is the first Minnesota pitcher to start an All-Star Game since Dean Chance in 1967.

The lineup for the National League will be Coleman, left field; Ryne Sandberg, Chicago, second base; Andre Dawson, Chicago, center field; Darryl Strawberry, New York, right field; Bonilla, third base; Clark, first base; Carter, catcher; Ozzie Smith, St. Louis, shortstop, and Gooden.

Kelly said Viola would be followed on the mound by Roger Clemens of Boston, who pitched Saturday, striking out 15 Chicago White Sox. Herzog will follow Gooden with left-handers Bob Knepper of Houston and Danny Jackson of Cincinnati.

Judge turns down free agency but ruling gives players hope

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - When U.S. District Court Judge David Doty ruled last month that labor negotiations between NFL players and owners had reached an impasse, he warned the NFL Players Association not to light a victory cigar.

On Monday, he validated that warning, siding "decidedly" with the NFL Management Council by refusing to grant an injunction to make free agents of nearly 300 players.

Saying such an injunction "could ultimately lead to diminished spectator interest and franchise failures" and "would work a wholesale subversion of the collective bargaining process," Doty told players and owners to move their dispute out of the courtroom and back to the bargaining table.

At the same time, however, the judge may have provided the impetus to keep the battle going in the courthouse when, on Page 15 of his 16-page ruling, he said: "The court finds it probable that the players will prevail at trial (in an antitrust suit), and that at least some of the players are likely to sustain irreparable harm

(and could therefore be eligible for damages) if they are not immediately permitted to sign with other NFL clubs."

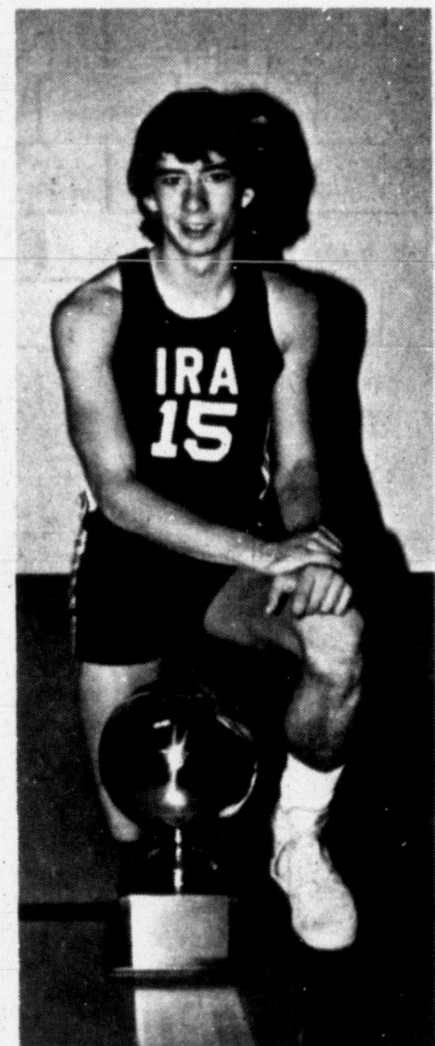

Now that teams have already opened 1988 training camp, union head Gene Upshaw held little hope for successful collective bargaining, saying the players would ask for an expedited trial date that would put the antitrust case in front of a jury by next spring.

"We are not surprised that the injunction was not granted, because it is rare for a court to grant such relief prior to a trial," Upshaw said. "What is significant, though, is that Judge Doty reaffirmed that what the owners have done since last season cannot survive antitrust scrutiny. The judge is obviously warning the NFL that they will likely face huge damages unless they stop their illegal conduct."

But later, told that owners such as Tampa Bay's Hugh Culverhouse and Cleveland's Art Modell said there might be room for compromise, Upshaw said: "If they're willing to change their position, if they're willing to compromise, I'm willing to return to the table. There's no doubt in both of our minds that we need an agreement. The judge has given us a road map to get it done and said 'If you don't, here are the consequences.'"

Doty has had jurisdiction of the case since last October, when the players filed an antitrust suit at the end of their unsuccessful 24-day strike.

BRENT WITHERS

Withers to play in All-Star Game

STEPHENVILLE - Ira standout Brent Withers will be participating in the annual Six-Man Association All-Star Basketball Game here this week.

Withers and other young men will participate in a week of hard work and entertainment sponsored by the association, the Stephenville Chamber of Commerce and Tarleton State University.

The basketball game will be held Saturday at 3 p.m. in Wisdom Gym. The association also stages an all-star football game at 8 p.m. in Memorial Stadium.

Withers is the son of Travis and Carolyn Withers of Ira.

Tyson coming out of retirement soon

NEW YORK (AP) - Mike Tyson's retirement may be even shorter than his usual pre-fight training period.

At a news conference in a Manhattan hotel on Monday, the undisputed heavyweight champion said his "retirement" would last one or two months and that Kevin Rooney may be out as his trainer. Tyson also confirmed that Donald Trump is his new advisor.

"I called this press conference to set the record straight. I call all the shots," Tyson said in a pink and mauve ballroom, surrounded by 46 pink spotlights, 22 candelabra and 28 ionic columns.

Tyson, who beat Michael Spinks two weeks ago to retain the title, was surrounded by Trump, attorney Michael Winston, wife Robin Givens, mother-in-law Ruth Roper and Rory Holloway, a long-time friend.

"That's very absurd," Tyson said of assertions that his family controlled him. "Face the facts." Thirteen days ago Tyson said he was quitting. "It's time to move on. It's time to call it a day," he said then.

"I didn't say I was retiring," he said now. "I love fighting."

How long will the layoff last? "This is something I have to consider," he said. "Perhaps a month or two."

Tyson, who is 22, tentatively is scheduled to fight Frank Bruno this fall. He didn't talk about that fight but said he would box for about five more years.

CFL may expand to U.S.

TORONTO (AP) - The Canadian Football League will be looking into opening franchises in such American cities as Oakland, Baltimore, St. Louis and Jacksonville, CFL Commissioner Doug Mitchell says.

In a recent interview, Mitchell also named Birmingham, Ala., Memphis, Tenn., Portland, Ore., Sacramento, Calif., and New York as likely entries for a new league or as potential CFL franchises.

Mitchell said the league will form a long-term planning committee that will study the prospect of expanding. Many of the cities are candidates for NFL expansion franchises, but NFL expansion is on hold pending some settlement of the league's collective bargaining dispute.

Mitchell is convinced a new league will be formed in the United States "by 1990 or shortly after that" and the CFL should consider moving first into those cities.

Can wrap up title Thursday...

Snyder buries Merkel, 25-0

SWEETWATER - Snyder buried Trent under an avalanche of 12 hits and 16 walks here Monday to move within a game of capturing the Senior Teenage League championship.

If the offensive output by Snyder weren't enough, the defense made sure, allowing Merkel just one hit enroute to the 25-0 thrashing.

The win put Snyder at 10-1 for the season and in line to capture the league crown with a victory over Merkel at 7 p.m. here Thursday. A loss by Snyder would put them in a playoff situation with the Sweetwater Tigers, who have completed their season at 10-2.

Monday's victory was secured early, with 15 first-inning runs, and ended via the 10-run rule after five innings were played. Snyder scored once in the second, six times in the fourth and three more in the fifth.

Seven of Snyder's 12 hits were for extra bases, including triples from Todd Perry, Simon Gutierrez and Tracy Odom. Willie Garcia and Bert Otto each looped a double and a single while Tommy

Ladies begin tournament play

The Ladies Golf Association began its Tournament of Champions event at Snyder Country Club this morning.

The two-day tournament will conclude with an awards luncheon Wednesday.

Don Mattingly of the New York Yankees set a major-league record with six grand slams in 1987.

Lane, Randy Morris and Israel Hinojos slapped a double apiece. Bert Merritt added two singles. Merkel pitching also gave up 14 walks, and beamed two batters for free passes.

Garcia took care of the mound duties for Snyder. He walked two, struck out seven and gave up one hit in an impressive performance.

Thank You

The Family of Ross Williams, Sr. wishes to thank the doctors and nurses for the good care of our Dad and Granddad during his stay at the hospital. A deep gratitude is felt by all of us for the gentle way Dr. Jim Burselson treated him, both as a patient and a person. Thank you to the many people who brought food, flowers, and sent cards. The memorials sent in remembrance of our loved one and the numerous visits were greatly appreciated. A special thanks to the Primitive Baptist Church who fed the family on Sunday and again on Monday, along with First Baptist Church of Hermleigh, Lighthouse Assembly of God and First Baptist Church of Snyder. We are sorry if we missed anyone in our acknowledgements and so appreciate your kindness, prayers, and love in our time of sorrow. God bless you.

"LBJ Law" allows dual candidacies

AUSTIN (AP) — Under a state law custom-written for Lyndon Johnson in 1959, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas could run for reelection to the Senate and for vice president at the same time. Johnson, who was John F. Kennedy's running mate, won both races in 1960 and later became the first president from Texas. But Johnson's dual victories cost his party a Senate seat they have yet to win back.

Bentsen is a heavy favorite to win Senate re-election over Republican challenger Beau Boulter, a West Texas congressman. But if Bentsen becomes vice president, his Senate seat would be declared open in January, and Texas Gov. Bill Clements, a Republican, would appoint an interim replacement. A replacement to fill out the six-year term would be picked by the voters in a spring special election, the same route Republican John Tower used in 1961 to replace Johnson. That wild race drew 70 candidates. Tower and Bill Blakley, a Democrat appointed as interim senator by then-Democratic Gov. John Connally, advanced to a runoff, which Tower won. The Democrats could never beat Tower. He retired in 1984, and Republican Phil Gramm won the seat. Boulter, Bentsen's Senate race opponent, has said it would be "greedy" for Bentsen to run for two jobs. "He's making it look like the Senate is unimportant," Boulter said.

Selection pleases Texas Democrats

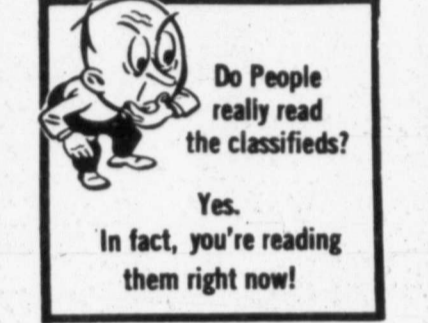

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Democrats rejoiced today over the reported selection of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen as Michael Dukakis' running mate, but the state's Republicans said the move would not put Texas in the Democratic column in November. "Lloyd Bentsen will be a tremendous asset for us in Texas. He will help immeasurably," said State Treasurer Ann Richards, keynote speaker for next week's Democratic National Convention at Atlanta.

Texas Gov. Bill Clements, a Republican and co-chairman of the Bush campaign in his state, called the Bentsen selection a "movement of last resort." "Dukakis is desperate. He knows he can't win without carrying Texas. Well, it ain't going to work," Clements said. Mark Sanders, spokesman for the Republican Party of Texas, said Dukakis is beyond help in his effort to capture Texas' 29 electoral votes.

"George Bush is going to carry Texas regardless of who Michael Dukakis' vice presidential nominee is. Presidential races are not won by the vice presidential candidate. They are won by the man at the top of the ticket. George Bush understands how to talk to Texans. Michael Dukakis doesn't," Sanders said. "No Democrat has ever won the White House without carrying Texas. Former Democratic Texas Gov. Mark White also hailed the Bentsen selection. "I think Lloyd Bentsen typifies what Texas is about and what Texans are proud of. He's a successful businessman and he's a successful politician," White said. Dukakis was scheduled to announce his running mate later today in Boston. Well-placed Democratic sources today said it would be Bentsen, the 67-year-old senator who is seeking a fourth term this year. "There's always been a subset of Austin-to-Boston, Massachusetts connection, and I think that this ticket adds that same sort of magic," Ms. Richards said. In 1970, Bentsen beat Bush in a Texas Senate race. Both claim Houston as their home, although Bush's legal address there is a hotel room. Many Texas Democrats have been pushing Bentsen as vice presidential material since it became clear that Dukakis would win the presidential nomination. Bentsen made an unsuccessful 1976 presidential race.

"I just think that Bentsen is such a level guy and he will make a great vice president," Ms. Richards said. Bentsen's current Senate opponent, Republican U.S. Rep. Beau Boulter, has said it would be unfair for Bentsen to run dual campaigns this year. If Bentsen becomes vice president and resigns his Senate seat, Republican Clements would appoint an interim successor until a spring special election. Johnson won both races in 1960. The special election to replace him in the Senate drew 70 candidates and put Republican John Tower in the seat. Texas Democrats have not yet been able to win back that seat.

Five dead, one missing in Texas flooding

HUNT, Texas (AP) — Searchers in helicopter, on foot and in boats today resumed looking for a scout master swept with his brother into a rain-swollen river in central Texas, part of heavy rains that also drowned four family members in the western part of the state.

The body of boy scout Frank Tellez, 13, was found in the Guadalupe River Monday afternoon, but his 33-year-old brother Richard Tellez was still missing this morning, police said.

The brothers were in a stalled pickup truck at a low-water crossing with Dan Knight, director of the nearby Bear Creek Boy Scout camp, authorities said. Knight said he managed to swim to safety after a failed rescue effort.

Officials resumed the search for Tellez at 6:30 a.m., Kerr County Sheriff's Deputy Bobby Love said.

The river had risen 21 feet by mid-afternoon near Hunt, destroying piers and docks at summer camps along its banks. Barrels, picnic tables and small rafts floated downstream.

The waters began receding late

Monday afternoon.

Ravaging flood waters sent a family of five from San Jose, Calif. down a normally-dry draw in Pecos County Sunday night, drowning four family members, authorities said.

The four were killed on their way to Del Rio when their station wagon was washed away by floodwaters. A fifth man clung to a tree overnight, then walked to Sheffield, about four miles away, to report the tragedy, said Pecos County Sheriff Bruce Wilson.

The flooding came nearly a year after 10 teen-agers drowned when Guadalupe River flood waters swept away a church bus and van they were in near Comfort.

the campers were on their way to Hunt Monday morning when the truck stalled, said Lt. Bill Robinson, chief game warden in Kerr County.

Knight said he got out of the truck when it stalled and went to a nearby home to get some rope and inner tubes. But the rope was too short, he said.

"They were inside and they started to panic. I went up to the truck to pull them out," Knight said. "We were holding hands and walking past the truck when a tree came up and hit us."

"We floated about a half mile down to the bend and I was still holding to them. A log hit my head and arm pretty hard and I had to let them go."

Mrs. Evelyn Hickey, an area resident who witnessed Knight's rescue attempts, said the efforts were heroic.

"He had made several attempts at the boy, but the other man pulled them down. When he couldn't help them anymore, he got out a long way downstream," Mrs. Hickey said.

In West Texas' Pecos County, Cipriano Enriquez Rodriguez, 47, was the only survivor after he and four family members drove into a flooded draw.

Day has 3 wrecks

Police investigated three accidents here Monday.

A 1982 Ford Granada driven by Kathleen K. Hariman of 2601 Ave. U was in collision with a 1973 Chrysler New Yorker driven by George A. Milliken of 2107 29th St. at 1:21 p.m. Monday in the 3000 Block of College Ave.

An unknown vehicle and driver hit a 1988 Chevrolet Suburban owned by Carl Burleson of 209 37th St. in an incident discovered at 1:42 p.m. Monday in the southwest parking lot at Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

A parked 1977 Cadillac four-door owned by Betty M. McCordell of 2212 44th St. was hit by a 1983 Honda two-door driven by Paulette F. Prichard of 2210 44th at 2:39 p.m. Monday in the 4100 Block of College.

Final review slated for college budget

Trustees for Western Texas College are to consider final approval of the 1988-89 budget at the board's regular July meeting Tuesday. It will begin at 5:45 p.m. at the campus administration building.

The board has conducted two previous budget work sessions on the operating estimate. It is projected to be in the $5.2 million range, down from the current year's budget of $5.4 million.

Features of the budget include a proposed increase in student tuition fees and, for the first time, charging a higher rate for students living outside the college district.

The proposal would up the charge for in-district students from $8 to $10 per semester hour. For out-of-district students, the cost per semester hour would go to $12.

Also, hourly fees for summer school classes would increase from $10 to $15 for in-district students and to $17 for those living out-of-district.

Student services fees would increase as well, from $1 to $3 per semester hour.

Merit pay raises for 22 faculty members and 18 maintenance and clerical personnel have been discussed in earlier budget workshops also.

If granted, some $38,000 in salary benefits would be added to the current budget.

Other items to be considered Tuesday include a proposal to retire the basketball jersey of Paul Pressey, the former junior college All American at WTC who now plays for the Milwaukee Bucks.

A scholarship fund-raising banquet in honor of Pressey and former WTC coach Nolan Richardson is now planned by the WTC Booster Club Aug. 20.

Under old business, trustees will consider also ratification of a roofing bid for campus buildings.

The 1988-89 college catalogue is to be approved also.

Other agenda action will involve bid items. These include estimates for painting the college gymnasium; purchasing a 1988 automobile and mini-van; purchasing a construction tractor with backhoe; and purchasing computers for the English Dept., computer lab, journalism department and the admissions office.

possibly county jail trustys would not be justified except inasmuch as the city promised to do so.

"I think the whole thing is a waste of money, but in the permit it says we will provide a fence," Williamson said.

Bids for 8,400 feet of pipe to be cut into fenceposts and for galvanized wire to make the fence were tabled.

Other business in the 6:30 p.m. meeting included approval of the final plat for the construction of a new Wal-Mart store off the 4500 Block of College Ave. and a presentation by Joe W. Smith of First Southwest Co. in Abilene on the city's application for loans from the Texas Water Development Board to extend water and sewer services to the new Texas Department of Corrections unit northeast of town.

Smith also discussed the bond issues that will be used to finance the loans, a total of $1,375,000 each for the sewer and water extensions.

First City National Bank of Austin was designated as paying agent and registrar for the bonds.

Also related to the TDC construction was the passage on second reading of new ordinances on plumbing and water conservation, which were updated as part of the city's recent dealings with the state water development board.

Street-paving materials bids were accepted from American Petrofina of Dallas of $18,933 for 150 tons of asphalt and from R.E. Janes Gravel Co. of Big Spring of $26,048 for 2,200 tons of aggregate.

The council accepted a bid from Xerox to lease a copier for the police department at $84.54 per month and approved a residential-to-commercial zoning change in the 2300 Block of Gilmore Ave. to allow Snyder Signs to erect a billboard.

A preliminary plat submitted by Frances D. Sizemore and Snyder Savings & Loan was approved to replat part of Blocks 10 and 11 of the Westside Heights Addition to create the Paul Sizemore Addition.

A change in the constitution of the Snyder Volunteer Fire Department was okayed to probationary members to be accepted by a majority vote rather than a two-thirds vote of the membership, as had previously been required.

Fire Chief Terry Don McDowell won first-reading approval of an ordinance providing for fire lanes and designating how they should be marked.

The ordinance would require all commercial buildings with more than 20,000 square feet of floor space and buildings whose primary access is more than 150 feet from a public street or highway to have fire lanes.

But it calls for the fire department and owner or manager to agree on such a designation and for the Builders Board of Appeal to arbitrate if an agreement cannot be reached.

Fire lanes would have a minimum width of 20 feet and a minimum height clearance of 14 feet, according to the proposed ordinance, which McDowell said is modeled after Lubbock's.

He said existing fire lanes are marked in different ways and sometimes confusing ways and that some buildings that need fire lanes do not have them.

The council voted to begin offering the fill-quality caliche at the landfill for sale at 10 cents per cubic yard after City Engineer Don Osborn said 167 cubic yards are being displaced every day there and that something needs to be done to dispose of it.

Council members were given working copies of the 1988-89 municipal budget in preparation for budget work sessions on July 18 and 25.

No proof that 'antidote' works

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Are the potassium iodide tablets one can buy over the counter the same things as the potassium iodide used as an antidote for nuclear-fallout poisoning?

DEAR READER: Yes, they are. However, potassium iodide was not used precisely as an "antidote" by Europeans after the Chernobyl nuclear-reactor incident. Here, briefly, is how potassium iodide works.

The iodine we eat — in fish and other edibles — is extracted by the thyroid gland, stored and used for new hormone production when needed. Most of the iodine in our diets passes through the thyroid, even when the gland is not deficient. Therefore, it's a pretty good bet that any dietary iodine will eventually end up being concentrated in the thyroid gland.

During a nuclear accident, many types of charged atoms (isotopes) are discharged into the atmosphere. In time, these isotopes fall to earth (in rain and snow) and become part of the food chain by being incorporated into plants and water supplies. I-131 and I-125-I are two forms of radioactive iodine that are released by a nuclear accident. Since these iodine isotopes will enter the body and be concentrated by the thyroid gland in like manner as nonradioactive iodine, Europeans were justifiably concerned that the isotopes were dangerous. Thyroid radiation has been shown to cause thyroid cancer.

Therefore, the people chose, quite literally, to stuff their thyroid glands with nonradioactive potassium iodide. When the glands are saturated with iodine, they tend to excrete, rather than to store, new dietary iodine. This ingenious method served to reduce the people's exposure to iodine isotopes. By saturating their thyroid glands with iodine in pill form, the people hoped to prevent absorption of significant amounts of cancer-causing isotopes. Hence, potassium iodide was used as a block, not as an antidote. The effectiveness of this measure has yet to be determined, several years will have to elapse before scientists will be able to detect increased cancer rates in citizens exposed to the Chernobyl fallout.

Dr. Gott's new Health Report on "Viruses and Cancer" tells about the latest discoveries in cancer research. For your copy, send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the newspaper.
