New city budget, 37th St. widening on city's agenda

City councilmen Monday night will consider approving the city's 1988-89 budget and will hear concerns from a Snyder couple about the proposed widening of 37th St. The budget is for total expenditures of $4,780,196, which is an increase over the 1987-88 budget of $4,514,002. Prior to a vote regarding the budget, the council will open the floor for public com-consider an ordinance to set the property tax rate at 32.83 cents per $100 in valuation, an increase from the current 29.22 cents.

A public hearing on the tax rate will be held during the next regular council meeting if the proposed ordinance is approved.

A former tax assessorcollector's office employee Monday protested her recent dismissal to the commissioners court, asking for an apology from the commissioners for what she alleged was their involvement.

Maxine Ragland said Tax Assessor-Collector Rona Sikes told her on July 19 that an anonymous "hate letter" that had been sent to a county employee had been attributed to her by county commissioners who had recommended that she be fired

Then the company fell on hard times, and in the early 1980s it decided to discontinue the distribution of some 15,000 turkeys as an economy measure.

The Steelworkers Union set up a howl and took the company to court. Believe it or not, the court took the position that through the company's generous practice over a period of years, it did indeed owe the employees their Thanksgiving turkeys! Small wonder they call them "gobblers"?

We are planning to marry in December and we'd like a church wedding with gown and veil, tuxedos and bridesmaids, etc. Family members have expressed disapproval, stating that after 11 years and three children, this would not be appropriate.

My question: What, in your opinion, would be an appropriate ceremony for two people in our situa tion? We would be handling the entire expense ourselves. Your a revised, up-to-date guide for formal immediate reply would be greatly appreciated. Thank you.

DEAR READERS: With summer here, and a recordbreaking heat wave across the nation, this bulletin published by the Animal Protection Institute in Sacramento, Calif., is well worth space in my column:

On a hot summer day, the inside of a car heats very quickly. For example: On an 85degree day, the temperature inside your car - with the windows slightly opened - will reach 120 degrees. On warmer days it will go even higher.

A dog's normal body temperature is 101.5 to 102.2 degrees Fahrenheit. A dog can withstand a body temperature of 107-108 degrees Fahrenheit for only a very short time before suffering irreparable brain damage - or even death. The closed car interferes with the dog's normal cooling process; that is, evaporation through panting.

Should your dog be overcome by heat exhaustion, immediate first aid can be given by immersing him or her in cold water until the body temperature is lowered.

DEAR ABBY: My grown son also forgets me on my birthday and Mother's Day. He started to forget right after he got married.

I came up with a good idea. I am going to send him a calendar around Christmas time with big red circles around Mother's Day, my birthday, and other important family dates such as his sister's birthday and the grandparents', too. I'll bet it works

Jackson reportedly okays meeting with Mayor Koch

Democratic presidential hopeful Press late Sunday that he had Jesse Jackson reportedly has agreed to meet with Mayor Edward I. Koch in an attempt to end their differences, which have threatened party unity.

Jackson said Sunday he had accepted Gov. Mario Cuomo's request to smooth over differences with Koch, who sharply criticized Jackson during April's New York state presidential primary campaign, The New York Times reported today

'Governor Cuomo has expressed interest in the relationship being healed," Jackson told the Times. "I think that's good."

Koch said in a statement: "I agree that in the interest of party unity and the election of (Massachusetts Gov.) Michael Dukakis, it would be good to meet with Jesse Jackson.

Cuomo has invited the two to meet with him over coffee.

Cuomo said Sunday he talked with Jackson on Friday, and that he has told Jackson and Koch "how important I thought it was to put things together again."

Jackson, referring to Koch, said: "The guy who closed doors is now trying to open them. If he calls me, I will respond to his call."

Koch and Cuomo said a first meeting should be attended by only the three. Koch added Sunday that he "would have no hesitancy in sitting down with Jesse Jackson and any black leaders he would like to bring."

In April, the Jewish mayor said Jews would be "crazy" to vote for Jackson, who supports Palestinian self-determination.

"He raised race and religion as a litmus test, which set a sour tone in New York and injured a lot of black and Jewish relations," Jackson told the Times.

On the WCBS-TV Sunday program "Newsmakers," Koch said: "It's hardly likely that Jesse Jackson and his intimate supporters — you know, the ones closest to him — are ever going to support me. We have fundamental differences:"

But he said they could work together, noting that "there are probably wider differences between Jesse Jackson and (Democratic vice-presidential nominee) Lloyd Bentsen than between Jesse Jackson and me."

Soon South was in seven spades, a contract that depended upon either the diamond queen coming down early or bringing in the club suit without a loser.

Although it would seem that declarer can do no more than fall back on a club finesse if the diamond queen fails to drop, there is a little bit more working in his favor. South won the king of hearts, played A-K of spades and then played the ace of diamonds and uffed a diamond. He played ace of hearts and ruffed a heart and then ruffed another diamond. West of course showed out but could not overruff. Declarer now cashed the last high trump, discarding a club from dummy. He played a club to dummy's ace, cashed the king of diamonds, and then led a club toward his hand. When East followed with the 10, it was known that his remaining card was the queen of diamonds, so declarer rose with the king and dropped the doubleton club queen in the West hand. Ho-hum, another routine grand slam bid and

Dukakis expanding efforts to win over black voter voters

FLINT, Mich. (AP) - Michael Raleigh, N.C., and here in Flint black officials. Dukakis begins an expanded effort this week to win over the black voters he largely ignored in the primaries and who have yet to respond in any big way to an endorsement by Jesse Jackson.

The Democratic presidential nominee travels to Detroit tonight to address an Urban League convention and, according to an aide, his campaign this week will begin distributing literature highlighting his gubernatorial record on issues such was affirmative action and judicial appointments.

"Michael Dukakis is not a known quantity to black Americans but this should help change that," said Donna Brazile, the Dukakis campaign's deputy national field director.

Dukakis also plans to invest in black media advertising and will schedule campaign events in inner city neighborhoods and other predominantly black areas, Brazile said. He rarely ventured into black communities during the primaries and still draws relatively few blacks to campaign events.

Brazile and other top Dukakis advisers conceded in interviews during last week's seven-state campaign trip that Jackson's endorsement of Dukakis at the Democratic National Convention in Atlanta has yet to translate into visible support for Dukakis among blacks.

One assessment of Dukakis' problem came from Sam Riddle, field director for Jackson's winning effort in the Michigan caucuses.

"All you got in Atlanta was that Jesse got a little prime time, a credit card and an airplane," he said. "Black America is still not sure what's in it for them and until that gap is bridged I don't think you'll see them being too enthusiastic about Dukakis.

NOTICE TO CITY OF SNYDER WATER CUSTOMERS

Dear Customer

The United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has adopted requirements that all public water systems notify their customers about lead exposure. This notification is intended to educate and inform consumers on this issue in light of the fact that your drinking water may be a potential source of lead exposure. This is being done even though your water system is not in violation of the current standard. There are also other potential sources of lead contamination in the environment.

The following specific language is required by EPA in this notice

The United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) sets drinking water standards and has determined that lead is a health concern at certain levels of exposure. There is currently a standard of 0.050 parts per million (ppm). Based on new health information, EPA is likely to lower this standard significantly

Part of the purpose of this notice is to inform you of the potential adverse health effects of lead. This is being done even though your water may not be in violation of the current standard.

EPA and others are concerned about lead in drinking water. Too much lead in the human body can cause serious damage to the brain, kidneys, nervous system, and red blood cells. The greatest risk, even with short-term exposure, is to young children and pregnant women.

Lead levels in your drinking water are likely to be highest:

1. if your home or water system has lead pipes, or 2. if your home has copper pipes with lead solder, and

- if the home is less than five years old, or - if you have soft or acidic water, or if water sits in the pipes for several hours.

Ways to avoid potential lead exposure are to "flush" faucets before use and to use cold water for drinking and cooking. You may wish to have your home tap water tested for lead content by a competent Laboratory. You may also wish to check to see if lead pipes, solder, or flux were used in your home plumbing.

(a) Steps the City of Snyder is taking to mitigate lead content:

Ordinance meeting EPA requirements. 2. Replacing any existing mains that do not meet EPA standards.

Mets hurlers shine again

By The Associated Press The best pitching staff in baseball was better than ever this weekend.

"There's an old adage that good pitching stops good hitting and that's the way it's gone so far," said New York's Ron Darling after his six-hitter led the Mets to a 2-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Sunday. "They're a talented bunch and they're going to score runs, but hopefully not against us."

The Mets' talent was much in evidence as they lowered their earned run average to a major league-leading 2.96. Bob Ojeda shut out the Pirates Friday night and Sid Fernandez and Randy Myers combined to blank Pittsburgh on Saturday. New York has won five straight and now leads the second-place Pirates by five games in the National League East.

"This is one of the few series I've ever seen where you have to keep as many runs off the board as possible," Darling said. New York has given its pitchers little room to breathe, scoring only six runs in three games.

Elsewhere, it was Montreal 2, St. Louis 0; Philadelphia 6, Chicago 3; Los Angeles 6, Houston 1, and San Diego 8, Cincinnati 5. Also, San Francisco swept a doubleheader from Atlanta, 4-2 and 3-2 in 10 innings.

Dodgers 6, Astros 1 Orel Hershiser became the National League's second 15-game winner as Los Angeles snapped Houston's four-game winning streak. Hershiser, 15-5, allowed five hits. He lost his bid for a shutout when Buddy Bell hit an RBI single with two outs in the ninth.

The Dodgers got two RBI each from John Shelby and Rick Dempsey to beat Jim Deshaies,

Chi Chi wins senior

CONCORD, Mass. (AP) — Chi Chi Rodriguez survived a double bogey on the next-to-last hole Sunday to win the $300,000 Digital Senior PGA golf title and set a senior tour record by taking the event for the third straight year.

Ballesteros sets mark

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Steady Seve Ballesteros seized an early lead when his rivals failed to get going and made it a runaway, record-breaking five-stroke victory Sunday in the $450,000 Scandinavian Enterprise Open golf tournament.

It was the fourth victory of the year for the 31-year-old Spanish ace, who captured the British Open a fortnight ago after earlier wins in the Majorca Open in Spain and the Westchester Classic on the U.S. tour. But he has yet to win the PGA Championship.

Ballesteros closed with a 67 on the 6,747-yard Drottningholm course for a 18-under-par total of 270. It was one stroke better than the tournament record on this course, set in 1976 by Hugh Baiocchi of

Verplank wins Buick Open

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) — A visit to a sports psychologist helped Scott Verplank get his head together. A weekend at the Warwick Hills Golf and Country Club did wonders for his golf game.

The two came together Sunday, when Verplank shot his third 66 in four days to win the $700,000 Buick Open, his first PGA Tour win in three years and his first as a pro.

The victory also cemented his new resolve not to let golf rule his

"It all started about a week ago when I missed the cut at the Hartford Open," said Verplank, who had known mostly hard times since winning the 1985 Western Open when he was still a collegian at Oklahoma State. "I said, 'Heck, I can't go on like this.' I was talking about going home. I couldn't go on the next 19-20 years like that." Instead, he talked with Dr. Bob Rotella at the University of Virginia. Something clicked.

"He didn't tell me anything I didn't already know," Verplank said. "What he basically does is refresh your memory."

Cowboy exes win

PITTSBURGH (AP) - Former Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach said he liked being back on the field, and it showed.

Staubach completed 26 of 38 passes for 431 yards and three touchdowns Saturday night to lead his team of retired Cowboys to a 24-22 flag football victory over former Pittsburgh Steelers. "It was a typical Pittsburgh and Dallas game," he said.

The game recalled the teams' matchups in Super Bowl X and XIII. Pittsburgh defeated the Cowboys 21-17 in January 1976 for the championship and again in January 1979 by a score of 35-31.

Pittsburgh quarterback Joe Gilliam threw a 12-yard touchdown pass to Theo Bell at 9:27 in the third quarter, putting the Steelers within two points. Neither team came close to scoring the rest of the

The Cowboys opened the scoring at 11:32 in the first quarter when Drew Pearson caught a 1-yard touchdown pass from Staubach. Pittsburgh followed with a 1-yard touchdown by Rocky Bleier with 6:11 left in the period.

Dallas followed with a 3-yard touchdown by Tony Hill with 1:07 left in the first quarter.

The Cowboys led 24-14 at halftime, and Pittsburgh's defense held them scoreless in the second half.

Boston Red Sox still hot

By The Associated Press Boston's lost summer is becoming a season to savor.

Mike Boddicker, who joined the Red hot Sox two days earlier, was a smashing success in his Boston debut Sunday, allowing eight hits over 7 1-3 innings in a 5-0 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Boston has won 17 of 18 games since Joe Morgan was named manager after the All-Star break and is 11/2 games behind Detroit in the American League East. The Red Sox have won their last 20 games in Fenway Park, one short of the club record set in September 1949 and two short of the AL record.

"It's great to watch Boddicker pitch," Morgan said. "I wouldn't want to be hitting against him. He has great control and can really mix them up."

Foreign ownership in U.S. triples since 1980

WASHINGTON (AP) Foreign investment in the United States is expected to accelerate dramatically this year, yet the true scope of that overseas ownership is hidden from public view, says a Texas congressman who is trying to lift the veil.

But Rep. John Bryant says the Reagan administration opposes his legislation because. "they don't want to look like the folks that give away the store.'

Bryant says a private study released last week showing foreign ownership in the United States more than tripled since 1980 adds weight to his argument that those holdings must be systematically cataloged.

The Dallas Democrat has legislation pending in the House that would require foreign owners to register their major U.S. assets with the Commerce Department, including business and industrial holdings, real estate and farm land.

Foreign ownership in the United States is "the most dramatic new phenomena" in the economy, yet policy makers remain in the dark about its extent, Bryant said.

He bolsters his argument with a few facts uncovered by the Congressional Economic Leadership Institute report - that the Justice Department and Federal

INS speeds up its interviews

HOUSTON (AP) - Immigration and Naturalization Service workers in Houston have begun working overtime to process as many as 700 amnesty applications a day and begin the second phase of the amnesty program.

The aliens are being asked to come in earlier than expected for follow-up interviews so immigration officals can finish with legalization before embarking on the phase of the program that grants aliens permanent residency in the United States.

Officials said they were forced to postpone about 50,000 applicant interviews because the Houston legalization office was swamped by a deluge of applicants in the last month of the 1year amnesty offer, which ended May 4.

More than 118,400 aliens applied for amnesty in the Houston area.

To make a clean break between the first and second phases, Houston immigration officials decided to work overtime and push up thousands of interviews so that all applicants for amnesty will be processed before Nov. 7, when immigration workers will shift their attention to permanent residency.

In the new study, researchers did not know whether workers were in their reported jobs when the heart attack occurred. But it is unlikely that a worker would have a heart attack in a lowstrain job and later move into a high-strain one, Karasek said.

It may take 10 to 15 years of high job strain before a heart attack would occur, he said.

Management of kidney problem

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have what's called sponge kidneys. The doctors don't tell me much. I have an infection that won't clear up and a history of kidney stones. What can you tell me about this condition?

DEAR READER: Medullary sponge kidney is a congenital abnormality of the renal collecting tubes, marked by dilation of tiny passageways in the kidney. This causes poor urine flow (stasis) and a tendency to stone formation. Bleeding into the urine, renal colic and chronic infection are common complications that need treatment as they arise. No preventive or curative therapy is available. Most patients have an excellent prognosis, providing the infection and kidney stones are appropriately treated when symptoms develop.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report, "Kidney Disorders." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have AIDS-related complex (ARC). Would the new drug AZT help?

DEAR READER: AZT, formerly known as azidothymidine, is now marketed as Retrovir (zidovudine).

would help your condition; this is a subject that you and your doctor should discuss.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My temperature ranges between 94 degrees and 97 degrees. My blood pressure is 170/110. I take 200 milligrams of Synthroid, plus Lasix, Corgard and K tabs. I have a problem with low sodium, potassium and chloride levels. Why is my temperature so low?

DEAR READER: Your low body temperature is less of a potential problem than your persisting high blood pressure and mineral imbalance. A blood pressure of 170/110 is too high: It needs to be brought down to a more normal range. This may take some alteration of your medicines, under your doctor's supervision.

Your low potassium probably means that the Lasix, a diuretic, is depleting your system of the mineral, despite the use of supplemental potassium (K tabs). Take more K tabs with your doctor's instructions and ask him to order a blood test to check your thyroid level; you might need more Synthroid.

A low thyroid state could cause your subnormal temperature. However, hypertension and low potassium are your chief priorities at this time.

"We, the bottlers, created the bottled Coca-Cola business. It's something we own," said William Schmidt, whose family has run a Coke bottling business in Elizabethtown, Ky., for four generations. "Gosh, my grandfather started the fifth plant in the United States. You can't just kind of leave it like that.

"I just don't like being pushed around. We've been in this business, my family, since 1901,"

Schmidt said. Schmidt said the suit is a fight for the thing which made Coca-Cola what it is today: an independent group of private bottlers working hard to market the pro-

The bottlers' independence was guaranteed by a 1921 fixed-price agreement that tied syrup price increases only to the cost of sugar, and gave businessmen like Schmidt the right to market Coca-Cola forever.

It made many of the bottlers of bottling rights.

"That's what made Coca-Cola the independent bottler merchandising and selling the product like he knew how to do in his own territory," said John Knox, the retired executive director of the Coca-Cola Bottlers' Association. "He was a pillar of the church, a pillar of charity work."

Today bottled Coke accounts for about two-thirds of domestic sales, according to spokesman Randy Donaldson.

Ever since a group of investors bought the company in 1919, management has been trying to regain the profits lost by the sale

In the 1950s there were more than 1,100 bottlers, most of them independents. Today, independent companies account for only one-fourth of the Cokes sold in the United States, Knox said.

Management made the move to take control of the bottling portion of operations because "our business was not growing like it The problem dates to the should. We were being squeezed," Keller said.

Competitors not locked into a han century old bottling agree ment were using the profits for advertising, cutting into Coke's share of the market.

Many small bottling companies sold out to large corporations, or to Coke, in the 1970s.

Today, 75 percent of all Coke in the United States is bottled by 10 large corporations at least partly owned by Coca-Cola.

In the 1970s, Coke came up with a new price proposal, one that split the cost of sweetener from the other ingredients and allowed Coca-Cola to raise the price of syrup in connection with increases in the Consumer Price Index.

Most bottlers eventually went along with the plan.

But Schmidt and his allies refused. Their suit was over the pricing plan.

He said if the group of bottlers lose, "we're in deep trouble.
