Pressey to be honored

300 tickets sold for event here

University of Arkansas coach Nolan Richardson and Dr. Sid Simpson, Western Texas College's first athletic director and basketball coach, will be among the speakers when the college pays tribute to former juco all-American Paul Pressey here Saturday evening.

Proceeds from the ceremonies will go to both the Paul Pressey Yvonne Richardson scholarship funds at Western Texas College. The event also marks the beginning of the WTC Booster Club fund raising effort.

Gallery tickets are still available for the ceremonies, which begin at 7 p.m. in Scurry County Coliseum. Tickets may be purchased at the coliseum ticket office for $5 each. Booster club of-officials note that some 300 tickets were sold for the barbecue dinner at $9 each.

Highlighting the ceremonies will be the presentation to Pressey of jersey number 25, which will now be retired at WTC.

Pressey was a key player on Western Texas' 1980 NJCAA National Championship team under Richardson. The squad made NJCAA history with a perfect 37-0 record. Pressey earned all-conference, all-region and all-American honors and was named most valuable player for the Region V and NJCAA National Tournament.

He followed Richardson to Tulsa, where he led the Hurricane to an NIT championship in 1981 and into the NCAA Tournament in 1982.

Pressey is currently the Milwaukee Bucks all-time assists leader. He averaged 13.1 points per game, 7.0 assists and 5.0 rebounds per game during the regular season in 1988 - his sixth NBA season. He also led the team in steals with 112.

Among the best defensive players in professional basketball, Pressey has been a member of the NBA's All-Defensive First Team twice and the Second Team once.

Pressey—who incidentally also wears No. 25 for the Bucks—will be available for autographs following the ceremonies. The booster club noted they have

Ask Us

Q — How do you get rid of ground squirrels that are digging holes in your yard?

A — Ground squirrels, like tree squirrels, are game animals. Inside the city however, firearm laws disallow hunting. When the squirrels become a nuisance, they may be trapped for relocation. An individual must be issued a trapping permit through the Texas Department of Wildlife, however, and permission must be obtained from the other landowner before they are released.

In Brief

Many killed

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Thousands of people were killed in the central African nation of Burundi in ethnic clashes this week before the army restored order, diplomats and opposition leaders said.

The government imposed emergency rules to prevent further clashes.

The fighting was between the Hutu, Burundi's majority tribe, and the Tutsi, the minority tribe that controls the military and rules the country.

After an abortive coup attempt in 1972 in the former Belgian colony, the Tutsi massacred 100,000 Hutu.

Tank blast

DECATUR, Texas (AP) — A fuel company tank exploded and erupted into fire today, causing authorities to evacuate a six-block area around the site, a Wise County Sheriff's Department spokesman said.

The explosion occurred at about 7:25 a.m. today near Decatur, sheriff's department spokesman Richard Evans said. There were no immediate reports of injuries.

All fire departments from the incorporated cities of Wise County were arriving to fight the blaze at the Mobil Oil Co. site, located next to a railroad track just south of Decatur, said Wayne Hinshaw, the county's emergency management coordinator.

Jury canceled

The jury call for county court Aug. 23 has been cancelled.

Those summoned need not appear.

Senior sked

School officials report that class schedules mailed to all seniors may conflict slightly with schedules to be handed out the first day of school.

If this occurs, the seniors are to come by the counselor's office.

An electrical outage in the city Tuesday erased these schedules stored in a computer at SHS. Because of this, counselors have been required to rewrite the computer information.

GOP candidates hit campaign trail

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — George Bush plunges into his self-proclaimed underdog campaign for president today, buoyed by rave reviews for his speech at the Republican National Convention and betraying no concern over the controversy engulfing his running mate.

With a declaration that "I mean to win," Bush was taking vice presidential nominee Dan Quayle home to Indiana for a big welcoming rally in Huntington, where the conservative, two-term senator grew up.

The GOP candidates were sure to be dogged by questions about Quayle's use of family influence to get into the National Guard at the height of the Vietnam War, a step that virtually assured he would avoid combat.

From Indiana, Bush will point his campaign toward big battleground states for the November election, visiting Ohio, Illinois, Washington state, Oregon, California and Texas in a non-stop blitz through Wednesday.

"I know that what it all comes down to, this election — what it all comes down to, after all the shouting and the cheers, is the man at the desk" in the Oval Office "and who should sit at that desk," Bush told cheering delegates in a convention windup speech Thursday night.

"My friends, I am that man," Bush said.

Although speechmaking is not Bush's strong suit, he delivered his remarks with strength, confidence and poise.

"He hit it. He hit it out of the park," exulted Sen. Alfonse D'Amato, R-N.Y. "For me, it was (a question of) survival, the speech of his life and he did it." Massachusetts delegate Joyce Hampers called it "a grand slam."

Nebraska Gov. Kay Orr said: "It was a sensitive speech because he was so strong and yet so sensitive. He showed that he is attuned to the American people. I believe he revealed a George Bush people have not yet seen and had a chance to appreciate."

"The main message here," said Florida Gov. Bob Martinez, "is America discovered George Bush."

"It was his finest hour. He just couldn't hold back his charisma," said state Rep. Shirley Duer of Tennessee.

Bush's wife, Barbara, delighted the convention with a tribute to her husband. "You've nominated for the presidency a man who is as strong and caring and decent as America herself."

Yet, the controversy over Quayle cast a cloud over the convention euphoria and the forging of a ticket.

Hunting leases solicited

Scurry County landowners interested in leasing hunting rights to the influx of game hunters here each fall are now encouraged to contact the Snyder Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber has agreed to list available properties, placing landowners in contact with individuals interested in securing hunting leases.

"Every year we get calls asking us about hunting," noted Chamber Manager Bill Moss. In the past, he said, many Scurry County landowners were reluctant to lease their property for hunting.

Now, he said, the interest in this is growing since landowners are recognizing the potential pro-

UNDERGOING TESTS — The driver of this vehicle, Irma Sanchez of 1202 20th St., was undergoing tests Friday morning after being involved in a two-vehicle accident at the intersection of 25th St. and

Ave. M. She is shown being attended by staffers with Snyder EMS and local police. The wreck occurred at 8:12 a.m. (SDN Staff Photo)

Driver transported after accident

A Snyder woman was undergoing x-rays and other diagnostic tests Friday morning for possible injuries received in a two-vehicle accident which occurred here at 8:12 a.m.

Transported to Cogdell Memorial by Snyder EMS was Irma Sanchez, 1202 20th St. She apparently struck the steering wheel of her vehicle upon collision.

The vehicle she was driving, a 1976 Buick, was in collision with a 1975 Chevrolet pickup at the intersection of 25th St. and Ave. M.

Police say Sanchez was northbound on Ave. M and apparently pulled in front of the westbound pickup. It was driven by Abelino Valadez of 120 Milburn.

After impact, the pickup also struck a Texas Highway Department sign on 25th St. Valadez reported no injuries, officers say.

Ira board completes ISD budget, tax rate

Ira School trustees approved the 1988-89 budget and set the district's corresponding tax rate Thursday night.

The new budget totals $1,141,687 as compared to $1,089,155 for the previous year.

The tax rate was set at just over 92½ cents per $100 valuation. The exact figure is .92549.

This is projected to raise approximately the same amount of taxes as last year. Because of a decrease in the district's tax base, however, the new rate is almost a five cent increase over the old rate of .8763.

In other business, the school board also accepted the resignation of Carl Smith whose term would have expired in the spring of 1989.

Jay Martin, superintendent, said the board now has the option of either leaving the board with six members or appointing someone to Place 6. In the event that someone is appointed to the post, that person would serve only until the next general election which falls in May of this year.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "To avoid running in circles one should study all the angles."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors: Fort Worth's George Dolan recently heard two North Texas rancher-types discussing the recent thunderstorms.

A cloudburst had struck the area the day before. Trees were uprooted and some of the streets were temporarily impassable. A neighbor's gauge had caught 3.5 inches.

His companion said he lived less than three miles away, and "barely got a sprinkle." The sun was shining the whole time.

The speaker, an old-timer, reminded how tricky those Texas storms can be. "Back in the '40s, I lived in Paducah. My neighbor and I had gone hunting and had gotten in late, so we cleaned our birds and turned in,

"During the night I was roused from sleep by violent thunder and lightning.

"Next morning, I realized that I'd left my double-barreled shotgun leaning against the fence. One of them barrels was plumb full of water and the other was powder dry."

That's typical West Texas weather for you.

Larry Crabtree, in the Vernon Daily Record, told about a boss who found a young secretary and a junior executive smooching in the storeroom.

The boss demanded an explanation. "Well," said the secretary as she straightened her clothes, "neither of us likes coffee."

A recent visitor to New York noted that the Big Apple is really different. "Where else can you find hotels for the homeless with valet parking?"

Services Saturday for former commissioner

Services are scheduled Saturday for former Scurry County commissioner Charlie J. Yoast, 66. He died Thursday after a lengthy illness.

Rites will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at the First Baptist Church auditorium with the Rev. Ken Branam, pastor, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Rick Jones of Pauls Valley, Okla. Burial will follow at Hillside Memorial Gardens under the direction of Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home.

He died at 5:52 p.m. Thursday at Cogdell Memorial Hospital. He was born Aug. 14, 1922 in Fannin County, Tex.

Quayle's triumph tarnished

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Dan Quayle's vice presidential nomination was supposed to be a triumph for the precocious young Indiana senator, but the dream faded overnight.

Bush's surprise choice for his running mate was supposed to ignite a campaign that has seemed at times to suffer from lack of inspiration, but he quickly encountered questions over his military record and suggestions he could best serve the Republicans by withdrawing from the ticket.

Though he found himself in danger of fizzling Thursday, Quayle managed to stir the convention hall with his upbeat speech about family, generations and the rosy future he foresaw under a Bush administration.

"Let's go on to victory!" Quayle exhorted, as the crowd erupted in cheers.

The 41-year-old nominee delivered the speech with calm self-assurance, sticking close to his text and avoiding his penchant for extemporaneous remarks — perhaps another result of the unanticipated controversy.

Bush, who followed his running mate to the podium, said he was "proud to have Dan Quayle at my side." The two will stress the unity of their ticket as they campaign together this weekend through Indiana, Ohio and Illinois.

But beyond the optimistic words was an unsettling under-current that threatened Quayle's candidacy just as it was launched.

Retired Maj. Gen. Wendell C. Phillippi — who worked for Quayle's grandfather, Eugene C. Pulliam, as managing editor of The Indianapolis News — said he contacted the National Guard on behalf of Quayle when the young man applied in 1969 and "recommended him very highly," the News reported.

'Safe sex' messages not heeded enough

ATLANTA (AP) — A jump in the syphilis rate to the highest level in 37 years shows that minorities, and particularly heterosexuals, have failed to heed the message about practicing safe sex despite the AIDS scare, health officials say.

The national Centers for Disease Control on Thursday reported 35,241 cases of syphilis in the United States in 1987. The rate of 14.6 per 100,000 people was up from an estimated 11.4 a year earlier and equaled the 1982 rate as the highest since the rate of 16.7 in 1950.

Reported U.S. cases of syphilis rose 30 percent in two years, from 27,143 or 11.5 per 100,000 in 1985, the CDC said.

"The increase ... was greatest for blacks and Hispanics — groups for which incidence rates were already high," the CDC said in its weekly report.

Welcome Mat Rolls Out, Then In for Self-Invited Houseguests

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Today a woman who has been a friend of my wife for many years telephoned to tell her that she and a married couple whom we have never met would be visiting our city in the near future.

"Agnes," my wife's friend, then invited herself and the couple to stay with us for the week of their visit. To my surprise, my wife accepted this "offer," then "asked" if it would be OK with me.

Abby, I love my wife and I am willing to have Agnes stay here, but I do not like the idea of having a strange couple staying here as well. We have a small (two bedroom, one bathroom) house, and it would be too much of an inconvenience for five adults to live here for "only" one week. I think I should have been consulted before my wife made these arrangements. Furthermore, I think Agnes should be informed that she is welcome, but her friends should make arrangements to stay elsewhere (like a hotel).

My wife thinks I'm being selfish, unreasonable and inhospitable. What do you think?
FRIED IN FRISCO

DEAR ABBY: I would like your opinion on a difficult matter. I am one of many divorced fathers and I'm doing my best to build a good relationship with our 2-year-old daughter.

My ex-wife is in the process of toilet-training her, and has voiced concern over the fact that I intend to take our little girl into a men's rest room when she has to use the bathroom.

I cannot think of another reasonable alternative during our outings together, and feel that if this is done using good judgment, there is no problem with it. Is there another way for divorced fathers to handle this situation?
DIVORCED DAD

DEAR FRIED: I think Agnes was presumptuous to have asked if she could invite a couple of strangers to be guests in your home. (She put your wife on the spot.) And your wife should not have agreed to welcome the additional couple without having consulted you. She should telephone Agnes and say, "I'm sorry, I just shared this with my husband. Now we both agree that our little place cannot accommodate five adults for a week." Then she should offer to make reservations for Agnes' friends. Don't worry about offending Agnes. She appears to be anything but thin-skinned.

DEAR DAD: Obviously, you should take your daughter to the men's room. Of course, if there is a stall with a door, that's the one you should choose. (Women would be properly outraged to see a man in the women's bathroom even though he's there tending to his little girl's needs.)

If your wife is concerned because the plumbing facilities are unlike those in the women's bathrooms, she need not be. A 2-year-old will think nothing of it — unless an adult makes a fuss.

DEAR ABBY: I want very much to write to you about a personal matter. What address should I use?
DOVER, OHIO, READER

DEAR READER: Address all mail to: Dear Abby, P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. If you want a personal, unpublished reply, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Astro-Graph

By Bernice Bede Osol

Aug. 20, 1988

The year ahead will be an exciting one, with opportunities developing in several quarters. The only fly in the ointment will be in knowing which venture to pursue.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) There is a possibility you may play it a bit too loose today, not only with what you have, but also with that which belongs to others. This could create complications. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Conditions may be a bit tumultuous at home today owing to everyone pulling in different directions. Substantial blame might be traced to you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your wisest course of action today is to tell it like it is, even if what you say is unflattering to yourself. It's best to play it straight than be sorry.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your judgment might not be too nifty today where finances are concerned, so before making any significant cash outlays, give matters a second, or even a third, thought.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your independence and freedom of movement may be infringed upon by others today if you allow them to do so. Avoid involvements that don't serve your best interests.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Complications that you have to deal with today could be self-inflicted. Guard against irrational actions where you might paint yourself into a corner.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) A relationship could be jeopardized today if you put material considerations above good will. Don't place something at risk that money cannot buy.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Supporters who are important to your present aims must be handled very tactfully today. If you alienate anybody, they might turn around and work against you.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Have a competent associate check your work today if you are required to put anything in writing. You could look your own mistakes square in the eye and never recognize them.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be extra watchful in joint ventures or business matters today. If you make any wrong moves, there is a chance they could have serious consequences.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Do not enter into agreements today unless all of the fine points are clearly spelled out to your satisfaction. That which you assume could be interpreted otherwise later.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Co-workers could be a trifle difficult to get along with today, especially if you are insistent upon doing everything your way. Strive to be democratic.

IRS, Shiite are in tax dispute

SAÑ ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service has been sued by a Hill Country Shiite teacher in an attempt to get $10 million in tax liens removed from property.

Associates of the teacher, Fadhalla Haeri, filed a civil lawsuit against the Internal Revenue Service, seeking to have the service remove liens on the property. The complicated case is being heard by U.S. District Judge Emilio Garza.

The IRS is claiming the liens are proper because Haeri and his wife, Muneera, owe about $10 million in back taxes and penalties.

The plaintiffs claim the liens should be released because Haeri no longer owns the property, which includes a mosque and school.

A decision in the case is expected next month.

The assets in question include 158 acres in Blanco and Bexar counties, the mosque and Moslem school located near Johnson City, an indoor swimming pool, a publishing house and luxury cars.

The IRS had determined the property is worth $2.5 million, but that a more accurate figure would be $1.5 million, an attorney for some of the plaintiffs said.

Texans cheered speech

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The band played "The Eyes of Texas," balloons rained down and Republicans from George Bush's home state said he hit the home run he needed in his speech accepting the presidential nomination.

"The force was with him," said H. Pulse Martinez of Pleasanton. "He hit a home run. I think we won the election tonight," added Rep. Joe Barton.

Because of the wide acclaim received by Democratic nominee Michael Dukakis, many Texans had said Bush needed to deliver a dynamic speech to the Republican National Convention Thursday night.

In a wide-ranging talk that discussed his personal background, his family and his philosophy, Bush did just that, Texas delegates said.

"He's not going to make just a competent president, he's going to make a superb president," said Wendy Gramm, chairwoman of the Commodity Futures Trading Commission and wife of Sen. Phil Gramm.

Bush, who calls Houston home, accepted the nomination after telling a national television audience that he had "learned a few things about life in a place called Texas."

He recalled moving to the West Texas in 1948 and going to work in the oil business and starting his own. That, he said, made a lasting impression.

"The big thing I learned is the satisfaction of creating jobs, which meant creating opportunity.... I learned that the good done by a single good job can be felt in ways you can't imagine," Bush said.

"We've got a candidate who understands our Texas philosophy," said Tom Loeffler, a former member of Congress who is co-chairman of Bush's state campaign.

Karl Rove, an Austin political consultant, said he believes the vice president accomplished several objectives with the speech.

"He was able to project an upbeat, positive message without the type of personal assaults we saw at the Democratic convention," Rove said.

House for sale: $35 million

HOUSTON (AP) — In a city which has experienced a slump in the real estate market, one homeowner is asking $35 million for his house, and the royal price is in keeping with the resident.

The sales agent boasts that the house, owned by Prince Abdul Faisal of Saudi Arabia, may be "the world's most expensive listed residence."

Faisal had the home built only four years ago in the fashionable River Oaks neighborhood.

"I think the reason he's selling it is because he doesn't ever use it," said Realtor Marilyn Hoffman of Dallas.

She said that, although the asking price is steep, "the house is worth it. It's just a palace."

Tax records show the house has 22,400 square feet of space divided into 20 rooms, 10 of them bedrooms. There are 10 baths, five half-baths, three recreation rooms and three wood-burning fireplaces.

One of the recreation rooms is a gymnasium, Ms. Hoffman said. She said the exterior is covered in imported white French limestone. Amenities include gold-plated bathroom fixtures, carved marble switchplates and a computerized air-conditioning system.

Ms. Hoffman said the brass and beveled glass front doors alone cost more than $100,000.

The house sits on a three-acre site. Its grounds feature a 60-by-22-foot swimming pool with a bathhouse, tax records show.

Not all 17s are equal

By James Jacoby

What does the opening bidder need for a jump to two no-trump after his partner has responded at the one-level? Try 18-20 high-card points, and you will be on the mark. That's standard bidding, but it shouldn't surprise you that there are sound reasons for upgrading card values so that what adds to 17 is deemed to be 18 or 19. Look at the South hand. South liked his six-card suit headed by the A-K, and he also liked the fact that most of his high cards were in aces, slightly undervalued by the 4-3-2-1 point-count system. So after opening with one diamond and hearing his partner's one-heart response, he bid two no-trump. Four clubs was Gerber, asking for aces, and four no-trump showed three. North confidently bid six.

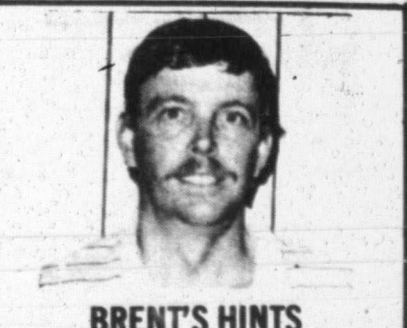

Declarer won the ace of spades and immediately led a low heart to dummy. West played low. (Taking the ace of hearts was not going to set six no-trump.) When dummy's king of hearts won, declarer cashed the Q-J of diamonds, the king of spades and the king of clubs. He then led a club back to his ace and played all his diamonds. At the end, West had to either throw away his ace of hearts or unguard the jack of clubs. Either way, declarer South had managed an overtrick.

Although West had made the right rubber-bridge play in ducking the heart ace, at tournament play he might well have figured out what was going on and grabbed his heart ace before he had to eat it.

Depth, talent earn Aggies favorite's role to repeat as conference football champs

DALLAS (AP) - The only thing different about the Cotton Bowl this year might be its new name. Texas A&M could be there for the fourth consecutive year.

While it's now the Mobil-Cotton Bowl, the mobile-and-hostile Aggies very well could earn another invitation as the host team because of a talent pool as deep as any in the nation.

A&M, facing a tough non-conference schedule, should know by October what kind of team it will field.

The Aggies, who defeated Notre Dame 35-10 in the Cotton Bowl to finish 10th in the final Associated Press poll, open with Nebraska on Aug. 27 in the "Kickoff Classic" at East Rutherford, N.J.

The next Saturday, A&M visits Louisiana State. After a week off, the Aggies will then play host to Alabama.

Back on the road again, A&M travels to Stillwater, Okla., to play Oklahoma State on the next Saturday.

A&M launches its Southwest Conference title defense on Oct. 1 against Texas Tech at Kyle Field. The Red Raiders were the only SWC team to beat the Aggies in 1987.

Texas, Arkansas, Baylor, Texas Christian, and Tech could give the Aggies trouble. A&M plays SWC games on the road at Arkansas and Texas.

"We should be better on offense than we were last year," A&M coach Jackie Sherrill said. "The schedule is the most difficult we've ever played."

Sherrill, who also is athletic director, was asked why he did it. "I strongly believe that it does a team more harm to play easy non-conference opponents early," he said. "When conference play begins you're not nearly as ready as you are when you've got some tough games under your belt.

"It might hurt you in the polls but the real gauge of how good a team is is how well it finishes."

The Aggies have some potent offensive weapons in quarterback Bucky Richardson, offensive MVP of the Cotton Bowl, and Darren Lewis, one of the top running backs in the nation.

Sherrill said Richardson, Lance Pavlas and Chris Osgood, will all play quarterback.

"We'll play all three of them," Sherrill said. "I'm not as concerned about that as the media and fans seem to be. They all bring something to the table."

The defense is led by All-American linebacker John Roper and linebacker Adam Bob, the defensive MVP of the Cotton Bowl.

The Aggies also must handle the distractions of an NCAA investigation, charging them with 31 violations and seven other allegations of possible coverup. The NCAA's decision could be announced in late August.

The Texas Longhorns could ride the explosive runs of Eric Metcalf to a surprise championship.

Texas loses only seven seniors from a team that defeated Pittsburgh 32-27 in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

Coach Dave McWilliams has an experienced defense, a Longhorn tradition. Texas opens at Brigham Young on Sept. 8.

Arkansas is talented, but must develop a passing attack. Coach Ken Hatfield believes he has one through the improvement of Quinn Grovey.

"We have exciting potential an offense," Hatfield says. "We have more weapons at the skill positions than we've ever had."

Baylor could be a sleeper if the Bears' young offensive line comes on strong.

Pittsburgh transfer Bobby Sign, considered one of the best centers in the nation, will anchor it.

"Bobby started three years at Pitt and should give us some of the experience we need," Teaff said.

Quarterback Brad Goebel could be the best passer in the SWC.

TCU should be ready to spring an ambush with 31 seniors.

Coach Jim Wacker said, "This is potentially the best team we've had."

However, TCU has to open at Georgia.

Texas Tech has a big play producer in quarterback Billy Joe Tolliver and a corps of speedy wide receivers.

"We've got great skill people but it won't mean much if we can't get the job done up front," Tech Coach Spike Dykes said. "We'll be average as every day wash if the offensive line doesn't come through."

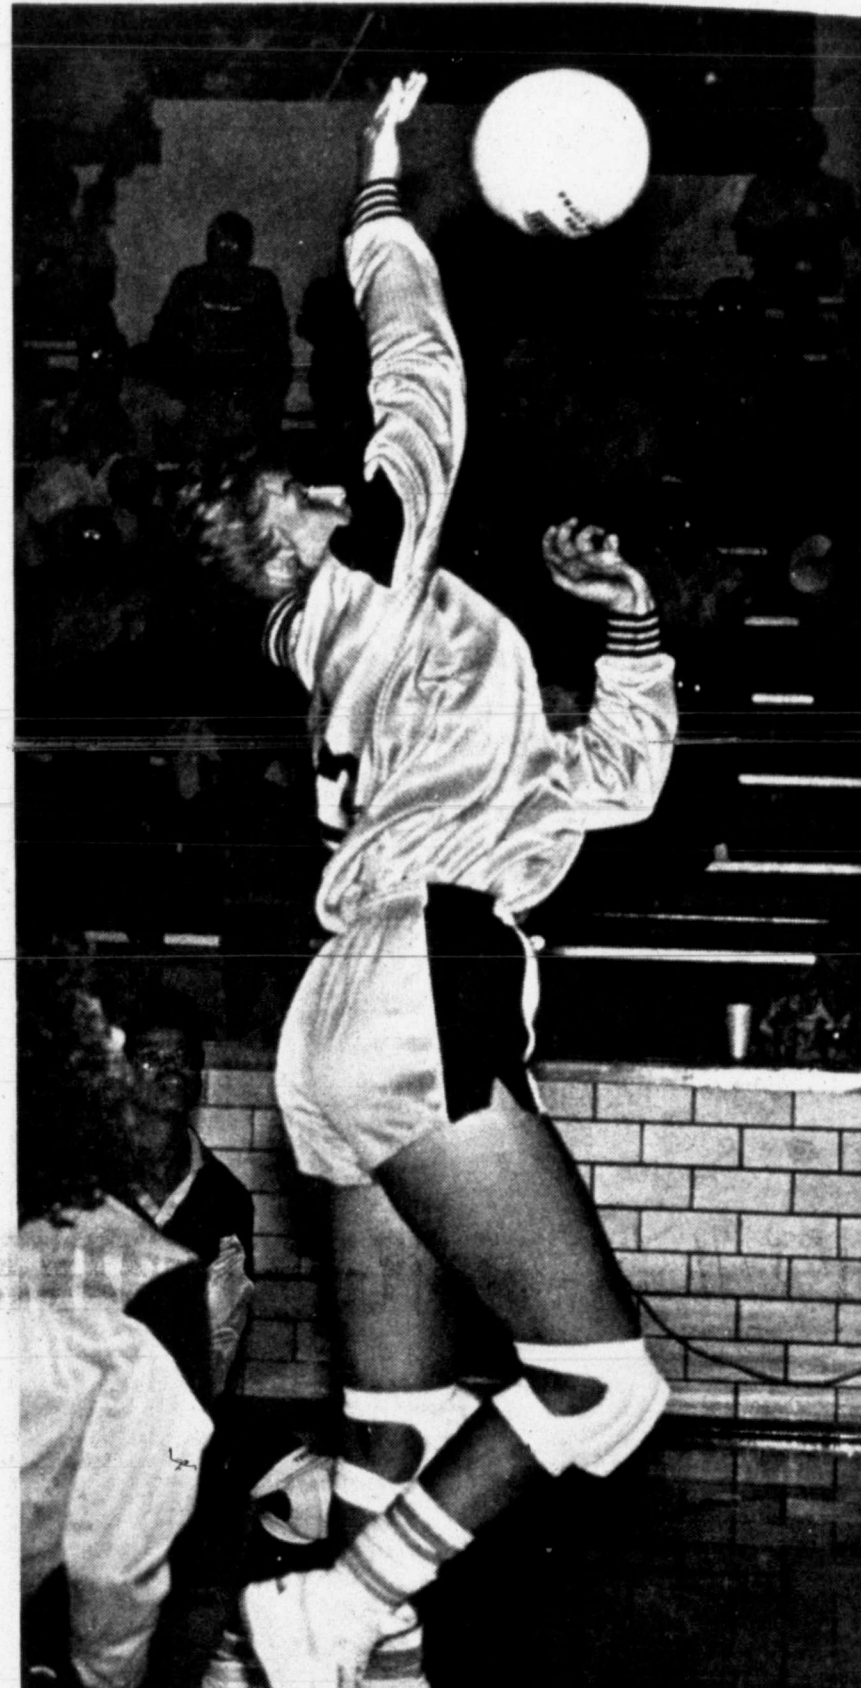

Houston could be troublesome with Jack Pardee's run-and-shoot offense, which piled up a 60-40 victory over Texas last year.

Jason Phillips caught 99 passes last year and the Cougars have one of the top defensive backs in the nation in cornerback Johnny Jackson, who set an NCAA record by returning three interceptions for touchdowns in the win over Texas.

Houston also is under investigation by the NCAA on accusations of illegal payments to players.

Rice's lack of depth keeps the Owls from being legitimate threats although Coach Jerry Berndt said, "I expect our offense to be among the best in the conference."

SMU will not field a team this year because of NCAA probation.

Crenshaw burns Castle Pines 18

CASTLE ROCK, Colo. (AP) - A player who hits the ball long and with a high trajectory has to be favored to win The International, according to noted golf analyst and historian Ben Crenshaw, who also plays a little bit.

Crenshaw, after blistering the 7,503-yard Castle Pines Golf Club for a 4-under-par 68 Thursday that was worth 10 points under the Stableford scoring system used in this tournament, offered his insights into the potential champion.

"I think Freddie Couples would be a wonderful pick here this week," Crenshaw said. "He hits the ball so far and so high. You have to drop your shots softly on the greens here. Some shots are hard to get in the air, like your second shots uphill at number 9 and 17. If you're hitting a 6-iron instead of 4-iron, it helps."

"I'd look for the longer hitters to do well on Sunday. It takes a certain amount of length on this course. Joey Sindelar would be an excellent pick. He plays well here about every year. And (Coloradoan) Steve Jones is a good choice. He's a fine player and he has some local knowledge."

Crenshaw, Couples, Jones, Mark O'Meara and PGA champion Jeff Sluman were among the survivors Thursday as half of the field completed its first round. The other half played on Wednesday.

The 78 qualifiers faced another cut in the second round today, with 54 of them moving on to Saturday's third round. Eighteen players will advance to Sunday's final round.

Meanwhile, the dreaded daily cut claimed a number of notables Thursday, including Tom Watson, Payne Stewart, Johnny Miller, Hale Irwin and defending champion John Cook.

Stewart was eliminated in a playoff. Seven players at plus-2 competed for three spots. Stewart bogeyed the first playoff hole, No. 9, and was ousted along with two others.

On the next playoff hole, Tom Purtzer bogeyed, leaving David Ogrin, Richard Zokol and Mark Wiebe as the final three qualifiers.

Crenshaw and O'Meara both led the way with plus-10 scores and each won $8,750 from the daily purse.

Couples, Jones and Billy Andrade were at plus-9 and won $2,500 apiece.

And Rangers stop Twins...

Detroit Tigers get 'ugly' win

By The Associated Press
The Detroit Tigers were having trouble scoring runs until the Chicago White Sox showed them the way in the ninth inning.

Dave Bergman capped a four-run rally with a two-run homer off Bobby Thigpen Thursday night after the Tigers went into the ninth trailing 4-2.

The Tigers had scored one run in three consecutive losses to Minnesota and were on the verge of another defeat before a series of mistakes gave Bergman the chance to win it.

"We won ugly today, but a win is a win - you take them all," Bergman said. "I was just trying to get a good swing, not necessarily to hit a home run. But there's a long way to go. I wish there were two games left and we had a three-game lead."

Elsewhere in the AL, it was California 7, New York 1; Baltimore 10, Oakland 1; Seattle 6, Boston 1; Cleveland 4, Milwaukee 3; and Texas 4, Minnesota 2.

Rangers 4, Twins 2
Minnesota failed to gain ground on the A's as Jeff Russell pitched a five-hitter and Pete In-caviglia and Geno Petralli hit consecutive homers for Texas.

Russell, 10-5, allowed only one hit, a fourth-inning double by John Moses, until the eighth, when he gave up two runs and three hits.

With two outs in the eighth, Russell surrendered a double by Al Newman, an RBI single by Dan Gladden and a single by Moses. Gladden then scored from third on a wild pitch, but Kirby Puckett struck out to end the threat.

Incaviglia led off the second by hitting the first pitch from Charlie Lea, 6-7, for his 22nd home run.

Mariners 6, Red Sox 1
Seattle became the first team since Toronto on June 2-5 to win a series from Boston at Fenway Park as Jim Presley hit a three-run double in the sixth inning and Mark Langston pitched a five-hitter for 7 1-3 innings.

Dodgers' lead in West grows to 4 1/2 games over Houston

by The Associated Press
Ramon Martinez has pitched great ball in his first two major-league starts for the Los Angeles Dodgers, but he doesn't have a victory to show for it.

Martinez, making his second major-league appearance, gave up four hits in seven innings Thursday against the Philadelphia Phillies, striking out seven and walking three. But he left with the score tied 1-1.

The Dodgers went on to beat Philadelphia 2-1 on Dave Anderson's eighth-inning RBI single and took a 4 1/2-game lead over Houston in the National League West.

How badly did Martinez want the victory?

"I was trying, but it's OK," the 20-year-old Dominican said. "I pitched well and we got the win. That's the most important thing."

Martinez has given up two runs in his first 14 2-3 innings in the majors.

"He's won at every level, and with his arm, there's no reason why he shouldn't be able to continue to win in the major leagues," Dodgers catcher Mike Scioscia said. "He's got a changeup that you just can't teach. And if he improves with it, it will be a devastating pitch."

Anderson singled off Kevin Gross in the eighth to score Tracy Woodson from second base with the go-ahead run.

Gross, 11-9, allowed five hits in his fifth complete game, striking out five and walking none. Philadelphia is last in the National League in hitting and it was the ninth time in 25 starts that Gross has been involved in a one-run game.

In other games, San Francisco beat New York 4-1, St. Louis beat Houston 2-1, San Diego beat Montreal 5-4 and Cincinnati beat Chicago 9-1.

Philadelphia went ahead in the second. Chris James and Darren Daulton singled and James scored when shortstop Alfredo Griffin let Jeltz's potential double-play grounder bounce off his chest. Los Angeles tied it in the fourth on John Shelby's sacrifice fly.

Cardinals 2, Astros 1
Tom Brunansky tripled in the Cardinals' first run and snapped a tie with a sixth-inning homer off Mike Scott, his 18th of the season.

Bob Forsch, 7-4, allowed four hits in seven innings, his longest outing this season. Todd Worrell got two outs for his 23rd save, finishing a combined four-hitter.

No progress reported in talks

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — Lawmakers from North and South Korea met for the first time in nearly three years today to discuss easing their long rivalry, but they made no progress on a non-aggression pact or on the North's demand to be a co-host at the Olympic Games.

The two five-member delegations agreed to hold a second meeting at the truce village of Panmunjom on Saturday to see if they could agree on terms for full-scale parliamentary talks. Today's meeting was the first between delegates from North and South since 1985.

Chief South Korean delegate Park Joon-kyu said afterward that he rated chances for holding parliamentary talks at "50-50" and said North Korea will have to be more flexible.

The two Koreas, technically still at war, are archenemies with hundreds of thousands of troops along the 150-mile border. The two sides have no relations.

North Korea's chief delegate, Chon Kum Chol, said the two sides had yet to clear the way for the North's proposal for talks between their parliaments on a non-aggression pact and the Olympics. North Korea says it must be a co-host at the Olympics or it will boycott the Games. They start Sept. 17 in Seoul.

The Olympics, he said, were a "serious political problem which will decide the destiny of the Korean people."

Park, in an opening speech, said the only solution was for the North to participate in the Olympics. He said the South will keep the door open until the last moment for the North but noted the deadline for entries is Sept. 2.

All the North Korean delegates were drawn from the rubber-stamp Supreme Peoples' Assembly. The South Korean delegation consisted of two government National Assembly lawmakers and a legislator from each of the three main opposition parties.

Delegates differed over an agenda for full-scale talks, with the North wanting to focus on a non-aggression pact and the Olympics. The North Koreans said they did not want to discuss several issues raised by the South, including a summit between their presidents.

The talks became heated at one point when North Korean delegate Ahn Byong Soo questioned how representative the South's Parliament is. The chief South Korean delegate objected loudly, saying, "Wait, your statement is too much."

The North continued to insist on the participation of the full parliaments of both sides plus representatives of social and class groups in the full-scale talks.

South Korea insisted on 20-member delegations, saying the North's plan would mean talks involving 954 delegates and would be unworkable.

Chon said the first full-scale meeting should be held Aug. 26 in the North Korean capital of Pyongyang. He said any final agreement would be put to a vote of the two assemblies.

The North is demanding to be a co-host at the Olympics to stave off a major political defeat. Both sides claim to be the sole legitimate government of Korea. The South sees its selection to host the Olympics as international recognition of its claim.

The International Olympic Committee says North Korea cannot be a co-host because they are awarded to a single city. South Korean authorities say the North may use terrorism to try to disrupt the Olympics.

Sporadic talks between the two sides since the early 1970s failed to make progress on easing hostilities. The last talks collapsed in January, 1986 when North Korea pulled out to protest annual South Korean-U.S. military exercises.

The Korean Peninsula was divided in 1945 by Soviet and U.S. forces that ended the Japanese occupation at the end of World War II. North Korea invaded the South in 1950 to start the Korean War, which ended in stalemate in 1953 without a peace treaty being signed.

The South has evolved into a major economic power and started to move toward full democracy, while the North has remained one of the most isolated nations in the world.

White House won't give up data on Noriega drug info

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — The White House says it will not provide information sought by congressional investigators about alleged drug dealing by Panamanian ruler Manuel Antonio Noriega unless the scope of the investigation is reduced.

The announcement Thursday by President Reagan's chief spokesman, Marlin Fitzwater, came as Democratic presidential nominee Michael Dukakis accused the White House of "stonewalling" the probe by the General Accounting Office.

The inquiry could delve into Republican presidential nominee George Bush's knowledge of the Noriega case.

Bush, who is promoting his role in administration anti-drug efforts, has denied having early knowledge of Noriega's ties to the drug world or suppressing information about the matter. For years, Noriega provided intelligence information to the CIA, which Bush headed in the 1970's.

Fitzwater, in Santa Barbara while Reagan vacations at his ranch north of here, said administration officials had "met with the GAO in an effort to narrow the request, which GAO declined to do."

He said the GAO request "asks for a broad range of sensitive intelligence material, information from open law enforcement files, and material reflecting the deliberative decision-making process of the executive branch."

The administration told the GAO on July 13 that it would need to complete a legal review before responding to the request, Fitzwater said.

"The Justice Department has just completed that review and has concluded that the subject matter of the request is beyond GAO's statutory authority," he said. "The Justice Department has also concluded that, even were the request within GAO's legal authority, there are statutory and constitutional objections to providing various specific categories of information requested."

Based on this advice, the White House spokesman said, "We cannot participate in the study as currently designed."

In Miami, Dukakis said, "I think the White House does not want to cooperate because they are embarrassed by this. They should be embarrassed by this."

ordered 100 photographs of the standout player, which will be available at the coliseum for $1 each.

Richardson coached at Western Texas from 1977-78 through 1979-80, taking the Westerners to conference and regional championships all three years. His teams placed 11th, fourth and first in the national tournament as he compiled a record of 101 wins and only 13 losses.

Richardson will begin his fourth year as head basketball coach at the University of Arkansas this season.

Simpson began Western Texas' men's basketball program in 1971 and initiated the women's program in 1974. He fashioned a 36-17 record in men's play for two years. Simpson's four-year stint as women's coach produced three conference championships and an overall record of 70 wins and 30 losses.

Strikers shut down five mines, docks

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Labor unrest idled five major coal mines today and left the nation's second-largest port without dockworkers or public transportation. Solidarity leaders called a rally to show support for the strikers.

The work stoppages, which began Tuesday when miners occupied the July Manifesto colliery near Jastrzbie, in southwestern Poland, spread Thursday to a fifth mine.

In the Baltic port of Szczecin, transportation workers also stopped work Thursday, joining dockworkers in the city, the nation's second-largest port after Gdansk.

The state-run PAP news agency estimated that 70,000 tons of coal had gone unmined as a result of the miners' strikes, resulting in a loss of more than $1.7 million. It has denounced the strikes as illegal.

Solidarity activists at the Lenin Shipyard in Gdansk urged workers to rally today in support of the strikers, who are demanding legalization of the Solidarity trade union federation, higher pay, and improved working conditions.

Solidarity's leader, Lech Walesa, who works at the Lenin Shipyard, gave his support to the "just struggle" of those on strike. "The workers are defending Solidarity because it is for them the key condition of preparing, winning and carrying out economic and political reforms," Walesa said in a statement released in Gdansk.

Solidarity was born in Gdansk eight years ago during nationwide labor unrest. It was crushed during a martial-law crackdown in 1981 and officially declared illegal in 1982.

Solidarity spokesman Jacek Kuron said Thursday night the five striking mines formed a 15-member strike committee, led by Krzysztof Zakrzewski of the July Manifesto mine. But no new talks were announced between workers and management.

All the struck mines are in Silesia, the rich mining region of southwestern Poland, and are major producers of high-grade export coal. Together, they employ about 40,000 workers.

In addition to the July Manifesto mine, strikers also occupied the Andaluzja, Moszczenica, Morcinek, and the Jastrzbie mines.

Solidarity activists estimated that a total of 9,900 miners joined the strikes. They said there were 5,000 occupying the July Manifesto mine. A management spokesman put the July Manifesto figure at 800-900.

In Szczecin, 600 bus drivers and other employees of the municipal transport service walked off the job. PAP said the walkout stopped normal bus service and forced authorities to lease buses from tourist agencies and factories to aid stranded commuters.

About 2,000 Szczecin dockworkers were on strike, said Solidarity spokesman Wojciech Maziariski.

Czeslaw Czerwiec, a spokesman for July Manifesto strikers, complained that security forces were hampering efforts by supporters and relatives to bring food into the mine.

Witnesses described the scene as tense, with police still holding positions around the mine's entrances. A regional leader of Solidarity, Wladyslaw Frasnynuk, was picked up by police in Wroclaw on Thursday night, union activists said.

Czerwiec said the miners would continue the strike until their demands were met. "We're fighting for everyone," the strike spokesman said.

GOP courts Hispanic vote

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Republican strategists urged "sensitivity" toward Hispanic voters, and party heavyweights spent much of their convention courting a group that could spell the difference in such key states as Texas and California.

The week opened with muted grumbling from some minority groups about being excluded from the party, but that didn't extend to Hispanics where party leaders said "the environment is changing" and the GOP must react.

"Whether it is welcome or unwelcome, the fact is the key political factor in the Southwest is going to be the Hispanic vote before the turn of the century," said Arizona Sen. John McCain.

"Our Republican Party is learning that if we're going to prevail, if we're going to play a major role in politics in the Southwest, we must have good Hispanic candidates," McCain told a group of Hispanic teenagers Thursday.

The 265 young people, many of them yet too young to vote, were brought to the convention from across the country for a lesson in non-textbook politics. They heard speeches from various senators and members of the family of presidential nominee George Bush.

"We are teaching them about politics, about the political process," said Sandy Estrada, a Dallas-based political consultant.

Texans shrug off controversy surrounding veep candidate

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Texas Republicans are trying to shoot down questions that have arisen over vice presidential candidate Dan Quayle's Vietnam-era military record.

Despite the Indiana senator's hawkish congressional record, his military record became the talk of the GOP National Convention hall Thursday after it was disclosed that a Quayle family associate had interceded to help get Quayle into the Indiana National Guard at the height of the Vietnam War.

"It's ridiculous," said George W. Bush, the vice president's son and a stateside National Guard pilot during the war.

"I joined the National Guard in 1968, one year before he did. I thought it was service to my country and I'm proud of my time in the National Guard," Bush's eldest son said.

Amarillo Rep. Beau Boulter, said he didn't think the issue would pose a major public relations problem for the Republican ticket.

"He was not dodging the draft. He was serving his country in the same way a lot of other young men at that time chose to serve their country," Boulter said.

"He was ready and willing to go. Other National Guard people were called up. He would have gone," Boulter added.

Sen. Phil Gramm called the questions a tempest in a teapot. "I never knew serving in the Guard wasn't totally honorable. The Guard and reserve are critical elements in the nation's defense," Gramm said.

Gramm, who the previous night nominated George Bush for president, said he believed the attention being focused on Quayle's military record stemmed from his sudden emergence as a national political figure.

Hispanic population.

Bush claims Texas as his home, while Democratic nominee Michael Dukakis picked Texas Sen. Lloyd Bentsen as his running mate.

"You've got a new personality out there. You've got people running around trying to find something about him. This thing of going into the Guard is the thing that has seized the attention of the moment. I don't see it as a problem," Gramm said.

"If only people who had fired shots in anger supported national defense, we'd have lost our freedom long ago."

Side effects of emphysema drug

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband was diagnosed as having bullous emphysema and is taking prednisone. He cut the amount from 20 milligrams per day to 15 one day and 10 the next. He is constantly flushed and cannot stand any heat. He has gained weight and is very puffy. Is this caused by the medicine or the disease?

DEAR READER: Normal lung tissue is composed of tiny, feathery air sacs with extremely thin walls, across which oxygen and carbon dioxide diffuse between inspired air and the bloodstream. In healthy people, these sacs add up to an enormous surface area. Hence, large quantities of air are exposed to the diffusion membrane. Oxygen readily passes into the body and carbon dioxide passes out.

Emphysema is characterized by destruction of the air sacs. Actually, the sacs break down and coalesce into larger sacs, called bullae. This results in a substantial reduction of surface area; therefore, the efficient mechanics of air exchange are lost. What's more, the bullae, being big bags of air, don't empty well with each breath. Stale air becomes trapped in them, causing an increase in "dead space" — lung air that is not available to the body for use.

Bullous emphysema often is a consequence of asthma, a disease in which bronchial blockage prevents oxygen-poor air from being expelled. The added work of breathing — and a natural tendency to infections — causes breakdown of the air sacs.

I suspect that your husband is being treated with prednisone because this cortisone drug relaxes bronchial passageways and is useful in treating asthma. The doctor apparently believes that the treatment will aid breathing and prevent further lung damage. Prednisone, like other steroid drugs, is helpful in relieving the symptoms of certain forms of asthma-induced emphysema. However, these drugs are not appropriate in all cases, such as emphysema without asthma.

Your husband's weight gain and puffiness are probably due to the salt- and water-retaining properties of prednisone. Weight gain can increase the work of breathing and make respiration more difficult. The drug's side effects include fluid buildup, cataracts, bone softening, diabetes, hypertension and susceptibility to infection. These effects can be minimized by taking the medicine in smaller quantities on an alternate-day schedule of therapy. In other words, fluid retention (and other complications) can be lessened if the prednisone is taken two or three times a week, rather than daily.

Because your husband's weight gain is probably due to the treatment and not the disease, I think that you ought to share your concerns with the doctor. The physician may choose to change drugs or alter the dose of prednisone so as to reduce side effects.
