

Engine trouble may have caused crash

GRAPEVINE, Texas (AP)—Speculation centered on engine trouble as investigators and manufacturers' representatives today tried to determine the cause of a Delta Air Lines jetliner crash that killed 13 people.

Nearly 100 people, many leaping through thick smoke and blazing jet fuel, survived the crash of the Boeing 727 that broke open and burned during takeoff Wednesday morning at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport.

"All I heard was screaming from the people on the ground," paramedic Jim Hartman, one of the first rescuers at the scene, said. "Just screams."

Ninety-four people were accounted for at six area hospitals, many of them suffering from smoke inhalation, broken bones and burns. The passengers included 10 off-duty Delta flight attendants, five on their way to a training session in Salt Lake City, according to Delta spokesman Henry Conley of Dallas.

Nearly two dozen investigators from the National Transportation Safety Board converged on the crash site at the south end of an airport runway.

The airport is the same one where on Aug. 2, 1985, 137 people died in the crash of another Delta flight, an L-1011 attempting to land during a thunderstorm.

In Wednesday's accident, Flight 1141 originating in Jackson, Miss., stopping at Dallas and continuing to Salt Lake City, the weather was clear.

Survivors said the plane appeared to lose power immediately after leaving the ground at 9:03 a.m. and bounced three times before sliding along the ground and breaking into pieces as fires broke out.

"Apparently the pilot made an attempt to abort. ... There apparently was an engine problem," said Fred H. Rollins, Delta's district manager for marketing in Salt Lake City.

Delta officials in Dallas, however, would not confirm speculation about an engine problem.

"We will not rule out anything," Lee Dickinson, a member of the NTSB panel, said when asked to speculate on a cause. "All doors are open."

Dickinson said the team would remain at the scene five days to a week, perhaps longer. He said aircraft flight data and cockpit voice recorders, the so-called "black boxes," were found in good shape and were taken to Washington for analysis.

ISD enrollment mirrors last year

Enrollment for the first day of classes in Snyder ISD saw the local count almost exactly match figures reported on Sept. 1 last year.

The first-day total this year is 3,430 compared to 3,448 last year, a drop of 18 students.

Both Snyder High School and junior high had slight enrollment increases, combining for a plus 13. The six elementary campuses saw total enrollment drop by 31, from 2,109 to 2,078 this year.

At the elementary level, North and Northeast Elementaries had large enrollment differences this year compared to last, but this was credited to boundary line changes approved last spring.

At SHS, the enrollment Thursday was 844 compared to 836 last year. At the junior high, the total was 508 compared to 503.

The student number is expected to increase after Labor Day. Last year, 100 more student enrolled on the Tuesday following the holiday.

- Snyder Junior high, 508, (503)

Demos planning local fund raiser

A Democratic Party Fundraiser-Rally will be held in Scurry County Oct. 1.

County Democratic Chairman Hassie Sneed said the event is set for noon at the Towle Park Pavilion. Tickets are $10 each and are now on sale.

The rally will feature a steak dinner and appearances by Democrats from throughout the state. Sneed said all state-wide office holders have been invited.

To date, those indicating they will be in Snyder include Garry Mauro, state land commissioner; Jack Hightower, candidate for place four on the state supreme court; State Sen. Steve Carraker, Sen.-elect Temple Dickson of the 24th district; and David Counts, Democratic candidate for the District 78 house seat.

All local candidates are also expected to appear. Scurry County Sheriff Keith Collier will serve as master of ceremonies. Entertainment will also be included on the program.

Tickets may be obtained by calling either Sneed or Collier or from Clarence Payne at City Realtors.

Area lists rain possibilities through Labor Day weekend

From Local, Wire Reports

The Snyder area has a 30 percent chance for rain showers Thursday and Friday, part of a forecast for numerous thunderstorms for the Panhandle and South Plains regions of West Texas.

The local extended forecast for the weekend and into Labor Day calls for partly cloudy skies and widely scattered thunderstorms.

Temperatures should range from highs in the mid 80s to overnight lows in the mid 60s. Thursday, the high temperature for Snyder was 90 degrees.

The National Weather Service reported an upper level disturbance over Oklahoma was triggering the thunderstorms Thursday over the Panhandle and extreme West Texas.

Simultaneously, a tropical disturbance in the western Gulf of Mexico was causing showers and thunderstorms which were beginning to move ashore near Houston.

Activity from both systems was expected to continue through Thursday night with the rest of the state to have clear to partly cloudy skies and warm temperatures.

Early morning temperatures around the state Thursday included 63 at Amarillo, 62 at Wichita Falls, 70 at Fort Worth, 72 at Waco, 74 at Austin and San Antonio, 75 at Houston, Brownsville and San Angelo, 64 at Lubbock, 68 at Midland and 67 at San Antonio.

Tire firm manager assumes owner role

Longtime McWhorter's Tire Co. manager Bob Lang has purchased the 1701 25th St. store, which will be re-named Lang Tire & Appliance.

Lang said that other than the name change, all other services will remain the same. The store employs six persons and sells Goodyear tires and General Electric appliances, opening from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 7:30 a.m. to noon on Saturdays.

Lang is a native of Hays, Kan., who worked in a tire store there for 10 years before coming to Lubbock to work for McWhorter's for four years. He came to Snyder to manage the store here when it was opened some four years ago.

Lang Tire & Appliance will continue to do brake work, front-end alignments and shock absorber and muffler replacements, the owner said.

Owner change made for abstract business

An ownership change for one of Snyder's oldest businesses, Scurry County Abstract, has now been completed with new owners Tom and Leatha Ritchie.

The change also continues a cycle of family ownership which dates to 1924, when Mrs. Ritchie's grandfather, H.J. Brice, purchased the business which was founded around the turn of the century.

The Ritchies have been managing the office since July of last year pending the completion of the sale from Bette Fay Brice, who will remain as a director for the business' incorporated board. Scurry County Abstract has been at its present location on the south side of the downtown square since 1927.

Mrs. Ritchie is a graduate of Snyder High School, but was away for 25 years before returning last year. The couple moved here from Muskogee, Okla.

The business is involved with real estate title insurance and abstracts.

Its early history dates to the settlement of the Block 97 controversy, where ownership rights to the western half of Scurry County were questioned in litigation involving land owners and the state. The issue was finally decided around 1899.

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "When traveling down the highway of life, it quickly becomes apparent there are more tollways than freeways."

Administrators at the county-owned Cogdell Hospital have estimated that it will take 40 patients to achieve a break-even status.

Progress is being made, but many smaller hospitals in Texas have been forced to close—mainly because of a disparity in Medicare reimbursements—specifically the imbalance between reimbursements to urban and rural hospitals.

The bureaucrats have decided that it costs more to take out your gall bladder in Dallas, Houston or Lubbock than it does in Snyder. A formula has been created heavily weighted to the big cities.

The formula violates the time-honored economic principle that the higher the volume, the lower the cost. The more gall bladders you take, out the lower the cost should be.

Supporters of small hospitals have finally gotten the ear of some legislators. Citing the disparities, State Sen. Richard Anderson of Marshall noted in a capitol news conference that a Houston hospital would get $7,200 for a pneumonia case. The same case in a rural hospital would net the facility about $2,200.

The Legislative Budget Board recently ordered the Department of Human Services to prepare a report concerning the disparity in payments. Equity is long overdue.

After all, a gall bladder is a gall bladder—and the removal of the same ought to be about the same in Snyder as it is in Houston or Dallas or Boston.

It's a clear case of discrimination. Where are all the lawyers?

Analysts: Delta can survive crash furor

ATLANTA (AP) — Delta Air Lines has built up enough good will in 60 years to withstand any damage to its reputation caused by its second fatal crash at Dallas in three years, many financial analysts believe.

A Boeing 727 crashed on takeoff Wednesday from Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport, killing 13 people. On Aug. 5, 1985, a Lockheed L-1011 crashed in a thunderstorm while trying to land at the airport, killing 137 people.

In addition, the airline was beset by a series of unrelated, embarrassing incidents last year: pilots landed at the wrong airport or on the wrong runway; one plane plummeted toward the ocean because the pilot mistakenly shut off the engines; one plane was involved in a near-collision over the Atlantic Ocean.

Nevertheless, Delta has maintained its reputation in the financial community as a sound company and among consumers as a safe airline.

"I don't think the reputation is undeserved," and it probably won't change, says Robert Decker, an airline industry analyst with Duff & Phelps Inc. in Chicago. Delta spokesman Bill Berry says the Atlanta-based airline expects little long-term damage to its reputation. However, following industry practice after crashes, Delta will suspend advertising for a few days, he said.

"The passengers who fly with us, we think they feel very comfortable," Berry said. "The traveling public stayed with us" during last year's problems.

"Those passengers who know Delta don't feel Delta is doing something wrong. If there is anything that Delta can do, we will do it."

Berry also noted that the airline had flown 119.3 billion passenger miles since the 1985 accident without a fatality.

"If you ask people in airline maintenance who they think does the best job, Delta's almost always the name mentioned first," said John Pincavage, an analyst with PaineWebber Inc. in New York. He believes Delta's reputation "should stay the same."

Although Delta's common stock dropped $1 on the New York Stock Exchange with news of the 9 a.m. crash, it had recovered half of that by the final bell to close at $46.50 per share of common stock, with 328,500 shares traded.

Analysts attributed the stock drop as much to a round of fare reductions touched off Tuesday by Continental Airlines as to the crash itself. In addition, transportation companies generally traded lower.

Jail death indictments dismissed by court

TYLER, Texas (AP) — Three white lawmen were cleared of murder charges in the death of a black county jail inmate by an appeals court, which said the murder indictments constituted double jeopardy.

The 12th District Court of Appeals dismissed the indictments Wednesday against Hemphill Police Chief Thomas Ladner, 41, and Sabine County Sheriff's deputies Bill R. Horton, 58, and James M. "Bo" Hyden, 35, who were dropped late Wednesday, said Appeals Court Clerk Barbara Holman.

The lawmen were indicted March 3 by a Smith County grand jury for the murder of Loyal Garner of Florien, La., who was arrested with two companions Dec. 25, 1987.

Garner, 34, died two days later, in Medical Center Hospital in Tyler of extensive head injuries he suffered in the Sabine County Jail.

The three lawmen were acquitted July 15 in Hemphill of violating Garner's civil rights, but the Smith County district attorney's office filed murder charges against them because Garner died in a Tyler hospital.

Defense attorneys claimed the Smith County charges constituted double jeopardy, and Tyler's 12th Court of Appeals agreed.

The appeals court heard arguments on the double jeopardy issue Aug. 4.

Vitamin cure isn't proven

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My brother suffered for years as a paranoid schizophrenic. He had poor results from drugs and shock treatment. Then he went to a holistic clinic and came home alert and sane. He was told that he was not cured, but would have to be checked periodically and the vitamin doses adjusted. Please rethink your answer about megavitamins.

DEAR READER: Although I'm delighted that your brother's mental condition improved, I have trouble crediting megavitamin therapy with his remission. I am not aware of any valid scientific study proving that megavitamins are useful in treating mental disorders. This subject — and others like it — is well covered in a fully referenced book that I recommend to any reader interested in up-to-date nutrition information: "Popular Nutritional Practices," by Jack Yeviv, M.D., Ph.D., (Popular Medicine Press, P.O. Box 4021-G, Menlo Park, CA 94026; $12.95 — includes postage and shipping).

I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report, "Mental and Emotional Illness," which describes the symptoms and currently accepted treatments for mental illness. Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What are the symptoms of tsetse?

DEAR READER: Tsetse is not a disease; it is an African fly that carries the organisms causing trypanosomiasis (sleeping sickness). The disease is marked by fever, swollen lymph glands, painful skin swelling and rash — progressing to tremors, headache, apathy, convulsions and coma.

The diagnosis is established by identifying the trypanosome organisms in the patient's blood or spinal fluid. Treatment is dangerous and prolonged. Travelers to Gambia and Rhodesia, the primary areas of infection, must take special care to protect themselves against the bite of the tsetse fly.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 3-year-old grandchild's parents put Vicks Vapo-rub up her nose when it is clogged. They also let her eat it. Isn't this harmful?

DEAR READER: You are absolutely correct. This use of Vicks Vapo-rub is extremely hazardous. Vapo-rub is a combination of menthol, camphor, eucalyptus oil and turpentine in a petrolatum base. The turpentine and petrolatum are toxic if inhaled or ingested. In fact, the manufacturer specifically cautions: "Do not swallow or place in nostrils." Vicks Vapo-Rub should be used externally only. Please tell your grandchild's parents to discontinue their inappropriate use of Vapo-Rub immediately.

Dear Abby

Reader's Feathers Are Ruffled Needlessly Over Turkey Flap

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This is about the letter from the reader who was concerned that a grandmother's annual gift of money might become mandatory because he had read that a court ruled that a company's gift of a free Thanksgiving turkey to its employees became mandatory even though the company had fallen on hard times, and decided one year not to give its employees this "gift."

Obviously, neither you nor your writer has the proper knowledge of labor law to evaluate the Thanksgiving turkey case, which is a labor law matter and deals with a concept known as "unilateral changes."

In a very simple manner, when the employees of a company are represented by a union, the company generally is not permitted to unilaterally make changes in the wages, hours or terms and conditions of employment (including fringe benefits, which the Thanksgiving turkey was) without first notifying the union and giving the union the opportunity to bargain about the change. Collective bargaining between company and union is what union representation is all about.

The case your reader referred to did not hold that the giving of the Thanksgiving turkey was now a mandatory matter that the company could never cease. What it held was that the company had an obligation to notify the union and give the union the opportunity to bargain about the change before the company actually implemented the new policy; this the company had not done.

So, as you can see from the above explanation, since the federal labor laws do not apply to the grandmother, she has no worries about her gifts becoming a mandatory obligation.

Well, I am sure this is much more than you ever wanted to know about labor law. Believe me, it's a complex, specialized area of law, and this is just a simple explanation of one small aspect of it.

The moral of all this: Don't jump to conclusions when you don't know all the facts!

STEPHANIE BULLOCK,
LABOR LAWYER,
EL CENTRO, CALIF.

DEAR MS. BULLOCK: Sorry, my answer was a turkey. Thanks for the short course in labor law. Whew! The things I learn through writing this column.

DEAR ABBY: Just read the letter signed "No Vacancies in Florida," the person who was tired of having friends who came to visit only "during the season."

I was reminded of friends who retired to Carmel, Calif., with the same problem. The mister advised all their friends: "You can have your headquarters here, but put your hindquarters somewhere else."

Local poet is featured at Scurry ABWA group

The Scurry Charter Chapter of American Business Women's Association met Aug. 25 at Martha Ann Woman's Club with Inez Teaff as hostess to 20 members. Pam Murray led the invocation.

Guest speaker Sherry Bryant was introduced by Barbara Scrivner, program chairman. A member of Scurry County Penwomen, Bryant has written some 148 poems. She observed that there is poetry in everyone and urged members to respond to it.

Write about a dream, a sunrise or sunset, rainbows, love or hate, a sleeping child, laughter, God's love, or fear, she said. Bryant began writing about three years ago. She takes paper and pen with her everywhere she goes. She wrote her first poem in 15 minutes. Her "Little Country Girl" placed third in the state in children's poems in 1987.

She pointed out that anyone can write free verse which simply means that the poem has a beginning, a middle and an ending. Some poems tell a story, and Bryant has written several poems in honor of other's loved ones.

Judy Moss, vocational speaker, was introduced by Murray. Now a third grade teacher at North Elementary, Moss told about meeting her husband, Bill, at college. She also stated that she worked as a secretary then returned to college. Moss commented that she loves her work with the children.

Irene Brooks, Martha Ann Woman's Club representative, reminded members that a barbecue will be held Sept. 16 from 5:30-7:30 p.m. with tickets at $6 for adults and $3 for children; food booths at White Buffalo Days will be Oct. 8; a garage sale will be held at the Towle Park Barn Nov. 12.

Leona Wiggins, ways and means chairman, described the progress being made for the club's White Buffalo Days fund raisers.

Kathy Landes reported that the club's scholarship recipient, Martha Gutierrez, was enrolled at Western Texas College.

Murray reminded members of the National Convention to be held in Florida Oct. 5-9. She dismissed with a benediction.

again after North bid one no-trump. North optimistically invited game with his three-card spade support, and South accepted. Nice scientific bidding, and the result would have been pleasant against normal defense. But West had something better to do than lead the king of hearts. He felt that declarer would try to ruff clubs in dummy, so he led a low trump. Declarer had to give up a club trick, and back came another trump. Now South could ruff only one club in dummy and had to lose an extra club trick to go with his two diamond losers for down one. If the defense fails to lead trumps, South will be able to ruff clubs twice with the seven and eight of spades in dummy to make 10 tricks.

In 1986, for the third consecutive year, Brazil's manufacturing output increased, achieving a growth rate of 11.3 percent, according to the Inter-American Development Bank. Argentina also registered a strong recovery in its industrial output levels in 1986 — 12.8 percent — more than offsetting the 10.5 percent drop of the previous year.

Deep Creek ABWA hears local teacher

The Deep Creek Chapter of American Business Women's Association met Aug. 18 at The Texan.

President Penny Cochran presided with Mae Cole offering the invocation.

Several members discussed plans to attend "Explore Lubbock ABWA Day" Sept. 17. Members will meet at Lubbock Plaza and tours will be taken beginning at 12:30 p.m. with a reception. A banquet at 7 p.m. will end the day.

Food was planned for the club booth at White Buffalo Days, Oct. 8.

Members were reminded of the ABWA National Conference to be held in Orlando, Fla. Oct. 5-9.

Judy Moss, teacher at North Elementary, was the featured highlight of the evening. She teaches third grade, and spoke of her efforts to make learning fun. She said she strives to help the children enjoy attending school instead of being bored.

Moss used some of her teaching games with club members and they discovered they were rusty in mathematics. Moss told members about one of her students who had a problem and stated, "My brain just went out of order for a minute!"

Moss grew up in Snyder and graduated from Snyder High School. She attended North Texas State University where she majored in business and married her husband, Bill Moss. Following graduation, the couple moved to Seymour where Bill coached and Judy worked as a secretary in the bank for two years.

The couple lived at Alpine, Pecos and Monahans before returning to Snyder. During those years, Judy returned to college and earned her teaching certificate.

Guests from the Scurry Charter Chapter of ABWA were Grace Bryant and Pat Faver.

Pam Dortch received the birthday gift.

The next club meeting will be Sept. 15 and will include the fall membership tea.

Cochran ended the meeting with the benediction.

Hope for arthritis

ATLANTA (AP) — Researchers supported by the Arthritis Foundation say they have isolated a gene that causes specific cells to attack the joints of laboratory animals.

The discovery may lead to new ways to treat arthritis, says the foundation.

People who have severe autoimmune diseases such as rheumatoid arthritis must often resort to drug therapy which shuts down almost all immune cells. But researchers at the Mayo Clinic are developing a technique that suppresses only those cells causing the problem, leaving the rest of the immune system intact to combat other infections.

Scientists feel they can begin clinical trials in humans within five years and hope these experiments will lead to improved treatments within the next 10 years, the foundation says.

Don't be surprised by the cocoa powder in this microwave main dish. It's the ingredient that makes it so dark and full-bodied. Serve the saucy mixture with your favorite south-of-the-border toppings: tortilla chips, sour cream, chopped tomato, and/or sliced avocado.

TURKEY MOLE

1 pound ground raw turkey
1 stalk celery, sliced (1/2 cup)
1/4 cup chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
One 8-ounce can whole kernel corn, drained
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons unsweetened cocoa powder
1 1/2 to 2 teaspoons chili powder
1 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/8 teaspoon apple pie spice
1 1/4 cups beef broth
Tortilla chips
Dairy sour cream
Chopped tomato
1 medium avocado, halved, seeded, peeled and sliced (optional)

In a 1 1/2- or 2-quart microwave-safe casserole crumble turkey. Add celery, onion and garlic. Cook, covered, on 100 percent power (high) 6 to 8 minutes or until no pink remains and onion is tender, stirring once. Drain off fat. Stir in corn, flour, cocoa powder, chili powder, sugar, salt, pepper and apple pie spice. Stir in broth. Cook, uncovered, on high 6 to 8 minutes or until thickened and bubbly, stirring every 2 minutes. Cook 1 minute more.

Place one-fourth of the turkey mixture and tortilla chips in each of 4 individual casseroles. Top with sour cream and tomato. Serve with avocado, if desired. Makes 4 servings.

Finding the best lead

By James Jacoby

There are different opinions as to the correct opening bid when you hold five spades and five clubs. Some players bid the stronger suit; others bid one spade with a strong hand and one club with minimum values. I prefer one club, since that always seems to leave the opener positioned to bid spades later. It's also true that when you open with one club, you frequently have the opportunity to tell partner that you have a five-card spade suit without getting too high in the bidding.

That's the way it happened with today's deal. South opened one club, re-bid one spade and then bid spades Earns 20th win along the way...

Viola shoots down Rangers

by The Associated Press
Becoming the majors' first 20-game winner this season was nice, but gaining the 100th victory of his career was music to Frank Viola's ears.

"Actually the goal of winning 100 was more important to me," Viola said. "It means you go out there every fourth day, be consistent and stay healthy. I just hope the next 100 are a little easier than the first 100."

Viola, 20-6, allowed five hits in seven innings before the Twins finished off a 10-1 victory over the Texas Rangers on Wednesday night.

Viola failed in two previous bids to become the first Minnesota pitcher to win 20 since Tom Koosman in 1970. But while he struggled with his favorite pitch, the changeup, a 5-0 lead in the second inning was more than enough support. German Gonzalez got the last six outs.

In other American League games, it was Milwaukee 4, Toronto 2; Oakland 7, Boston 2;

Kansas City 1, Cleveland 0; Detroit 9, Chicago 3; New York 4, Seattle 1; and California 7, Baltimore 5.

Kirby Puckett led a 13-hit Twins attack with three hits and four RBI, including a pair of solo homers, his 20th and 21st of the season.

Viola, whose earned run average dropped to 2.36, lost his shutout in the sixth when the Rangers scored a run on left fielder Dan Gladden's fielding error, allowing Oddibe McDowell to score from second on Ruben Sierra's single.

seven-hitter for his second shutout for Kansas City, and Bill Pecota's suicide squeeze drove in the only run against Cleveland.

Greg Swindell held the Royals scoreless until the seventh, when Pat Tabler and Danny Tartabull led off with singles. Tabler was caught in a rundown between third and home on Frank White's ground ball and was tagged out as Tartabull went to third and White to second.

Pecota followed with a bunt to the first base side as Tartabull raced home.

Yankees 4, Mariners 1

New York halted a six-game losing streak and got a win from a starter for the first time since Aug. 14 as Rick Rhoden pitched a six-hitter against Seattle.

Dave Winfield, who had three RBI, opened the scoring with a two-run double in the first inning, driving in Willie Randolph and Don Mattingly, who both singled off Seattle starter Scott Bankhead, 7-9.

Seattle scored its run in the bottom of the first on an RBI single by Darnell Coles.

Charlton gets victory for Reds on fourth try

by The Associated Press
Rookie Norm Charlton earned his first major-league victory by doing a lot of bending but very little breaking.

Charlton allowed eight hits and walked three in eight innings, but gave up just one run as the Cincinnati Reds beat the slumping Pittsburgh Pirates 4-1 Wednesday night.

second-inning single to Rafael Ramirez. The right-hander struck out five and walked one in his 10th complete game.

Rafael Palmeiro led off the top of the fifth against Houston's Jim Deshaies, 9-11, with a double and stole third. Two outs later, Sutcliffe hit Deshaies' first pitch over the scoreboard in right for his first homer of the season.

Tigers 9, White Sox 3

Detroit increased its AL East lead to two games over Boston as Lou Whitaker drove in three runs and Jack Morris improved his record to 4-0 against Chicago this season.

Morris, 12-12, allowed five hits in eight innings, striking out two and walking one, helping the Tigers snap a four-game losing streak. Guillermo Hernandez pitched the ninth.

came over from Borger.

The Mustangs bring back three returning starters from their secondary of a year ago. Also back is center Jeff Baker and David Cobb at quarterback.

Despite the first year under a new coach, Coronado is thinking playoffs. The squad finished third in District 3-5A a year ago with a 5-2 mark. They were 5-4 for the season.

Snyder was 2-6 in District 2-4A and 2-8 for the season. The UIL has re-named the district District 4-4A this season but all of the opponents, with the exception of Lamesa, are the same. Lamesa dropped down to 3A ball after the end of the school year.

elsewhere in the National League, it was San Diego 6, New York 3; Chicago 3, Houston 1; Montreal 4, Los Angeles 3; St. Louis 6, Atlanta 4, and San Francisco 3, Philadelphia 2 in 11 innings.

Charlton had been weak at holding runners on base in the minors, but managed to prevent the Pirates from stealing any bases Wednesday night.

"I pitched from the stretch most of the night," Charlton said. "I wasn't real happy about that. They put the ball in play."

Cubs 3, Astros 1

Rick Sutcliffe pitched a six-hitter and hit a two-run homer and a double to lead Chicago.

Sutcliffe, 11-11, retired 13 straight batters after giving up a

Former WTC standout...

Welch leads AIA team in points, rebounding

HUNTSVILLE -- Brenda Welch, former Western Texas College basketball all-American and currently a standout player at Sam Houston State University, was a star for Athletes In Action this summer.

Welch helped her team to a 7-3 record while playing in Korea. She led the squad with 20.3 points and 10.1 rebounds a game. She shot a hot 74 of 107, 69 percent, from the floor.

A number of WTC fans and other community supporters helped local efforts to raise money to send Welch on the trip.

As a sophomore at Western Texas, Welch helped the Lady Dusters' to conference and regional championships and to a fourth place finish in the NJCAA National Tournament in 1987.

Now beginning her final season at SHSU, the 5-10 senior will attempt to surpass last season's numbers for the Lady Kats. Welch earned second-team all-conference honors a year ago while leading the team in scoring with a 19.6 average, and in rebounding with an 8.6 average.

"It's great to have Brenda back with us another season," said Cloyce Chadwick, Lady Kats' coach. "We're looking forward to a good year."

Lendl survives early scare

NEW YORK (AP) - Ivan Lendl lost twice as many sets in his first match of the 1988 U.S. Open as he did in each of his three straight championships runs.

Was Lendl worried when Amos Mansdorf forced him to five sets Wednesday night?

"Not really," the top-seeded Lendl said after outlasting Mansdorf 6-2, 6-7 (3-7), 6-1, 5-7, 6-0. "We know each other and practice together and I know how long he can last. At the end of the second set, I saw he was tiring."

"I won this match because I was fitter. I played three good sets and two not-so-good ones."

In winning the last three Opens, Lendl did not drop more than one set in any of them.

"Maybe that's it for this year and next," he said of dropping two sets to the Israeli, who is ranked 24th in the world and had the crowd - which included several people waving Israeli flags - on his side.

While Lendl struggled in the evening match, Steffi Graf took the first step toward what could be the final leg of a Grand Slam sweep with a 6-1, 6-1 rout of Elizabeth Minter of Australia. Graf is trying to become the first winner of all four majors in one year since Margaret Court in 1970.

Every seeded player in action

Wednesday advanced to the second round except for Guillermo Perez-Roldan of Argentina. The 12th-seed was trailing Ken Flach 6-7 (4-7), 7-6 (7-4), 3-6, 4-1 on an outside court when darkness forced suspension of the match. It was to be completed today.

Fourth-ranked Andre Agassi, the 18-year-old American sensation who has won 19 straight matches and his last three official tournaments, beat Philip Johnson; No. 6 Jimmy Connors eliminated Agustin Moreno of Mexico; seventh-rated Yannick

Noah downed Kelly Jones; No. 9 Tim Mayotte outlasted Jim Pugh in five sets; No. 13 Jonas Svensson ousted Todd Witsken; and No. 15 Anders Jarryd beat fellow Swede Joakim Nystrom.

Seeded women who advanced included No. 3 Chris Evert; No. 6 Manuela Maleeva; seventh-rated Helena Sukova; ninth-seeded Lori McNeil; No. 12 Barbara Potter; No. 14 Katerina Maleeva; and No. 15 Sylvia Hanika.

Terminal TVs draw shocked travelers, workers

GRAPEVINE, Texas (AP) — As passengers scrambled for their lives Wednesday amid the blazing wreckage of Delta Flight 1141, travelers hustling to the airline's departure gates looked out on sun-baked runways, taxiing jetliners and the haze-shrouded Dallas skyline.

Television soon brought home the tragedy that was unfolding less than a mile away.

A half-hour after the crash, a hush fell over the normal hubbub at Terminal 4-E at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport as the first television pictures flashed onto sets in restaurants, bars and shops.

"Oh, my God," said Phyllis Gardner of Orlando, Fla. "I don't think I can go on today."

Mrs. Gardner, a 42-year-old advertising account executive, was en route to Atlanta from Dallas on a business trip. But the sight of the smoldering wreckage so unnerved her that she said she would cancel her ticket and take another flight on Thursday after she calmed down.

Although other departing passengers seemed to regard the graphic television images as only a remote danger, the disaster's true magnitude gradually began to manifest itself throughout Delta's busy terminal.

Howard Robles, a 22-year-old worker at a delicatessen in the terminal, said he mourned along with the families and friends of the passengers. When he heard about the disaster, he called his mother.

"I ... asked her to get the kids together to pray a rosary for the people aboard the flight," he said.

"I feel bad, I really do."

As smoke billowed from the charred, shattered wreckage of the Boeing 727 on the west side of the airport, Delta personnel ushered the stragglers at Gate 15 to a nearby waiting room in the terminal. The smoke was the only evidence of the tragedy that could be seen from the terminal's observation windows.

But there were plenty of indicators within the terminal itself.

Less than an hour after the crash, a red-haired woman in a green-striped shirt arrived at Delta's Fort Worth Room. Trembling and crying, she suddenly exclaimed "Oh, no! Oh, no!" as she talked with a red-jacketed Delta security agent.

She grabbed a wall, nearly collapsing as television crews directed their spotlights on her, and was escorted to a meeting room where Delta was briefing passengers' families.

Shortly after 10 a.m., the scene was repeated: A tall, gray-haired man in an automotive workshirt arrived, his hands shaking and his voice querulous.

"Where's the plane if you've got family on that plane?" he asked Delta personnel.

Reporters thronged around him as he walked toward one of the designated meeting rooms, but he used his hands to shield his face from the glare of television lights.

"No, man, I don't want any of that," he told reporters.

A short while later, a glimpse through the open door of meeting rooms C and D provided an insight into the depth of the grief and uncertainty burdening the waiting relatives and friends: They were clustered in groups, some sobbing and holding hands, others staring blankly out the window in the direction of the wisps of smoke still issuing from the wreckage.

By late morning, airport chaplain Louis Tobola had arrived to offer spiritual aid.

The mood lightened a bit just before noon, when a bit of good news arrived for the waiting relatives of one of those aboard Flight 1141.

Two young women burst from Group Room C — hugging, laughing and crying with joy. One of the women — the girlfriend of the flight engineer aboard the jet — had been waiting for nearly an hour and a half on word of his fate. She finally had learned that he had survived.

The woman refused to speak with reporters, but a friend related the details.

"She's had a real hard day today," said the friend, who refused to give her name. "It's been super tough, but everything's fine now. He's OK — she's so excited she can hardly talk."

Boeing 727s given high safety marks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Boeing 727 is the backbone of many airlines in the United States and abroad, and draws little but accolades from aviation experts despite the crash of one of the airliners at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport.

"There is no more reliable plane in the world," says Gary Reich, aerospace analyst for Shearson Lehman Hutton, the New York investment firm. "It has flown through storms and turbulence, and it's performed beautifully and reliably."

"They've been a highly reliable aircraft," says Roger Fleming, technical chief for the Air Transport Association, the trade group for the airline industry.

The Boeing Co. manufactured 1,831 of the jets between 1962 and 1984, of which 1,770 are still in use worldwide, Boeing spokesman Jack Gamble said Wednesday at company headquarters in Renton, Wash.

Boeing estimates that 727s have flown 27.6 billion miles and carried 3.1 billion passengers.

It is the most commonly used plane in the U.S. commercial fleet. According to airline consultant George James, of 3,476 passenger and cargo aircraft used by American carriers, 1,148 are 727s. The second most commonly used craft is the Boeing 737, with 634 in use.

The Delta Air Lines 727-200 that crashed Wednesday at Dallas-Fort Worth Airport had made 36,829 takeoffs and landings, Boeing spokesman David Jimenez said. Gamble said the plane's 44,000 hours of flight time were average for its age. It was built in 1973.

Gamble said that since the first 727 went into service in 1964, 53 have been lost after accidents. That includes Wednesday's crash, and four other 727s that have been destroyed in attacks by terrorists or shot down.

The aircraft's early years, however, revealed some problems that had to be dealt with.

Reich said that in the early years of the 727 — when the nation's airline fleets were just entering the jet age — several of the planes crashed because pilots were unaccustomed to the rapidity with which the aircraft descended during landings.

Pilots had to be retrained to cope with the so-called high sink rate.

In the course of those accidents, another problem came to light, Reich said. In the early models, lines brought fuel along the top of the fuselage from the wings to the three engines at the rear, which meant that in accidents, coach passengers would be doused with burning fuel. Within a few years, the lines were repositioned to the bottom portion of the fuselage.

"They had some difficulties in the early years, but those go back to the mid- to late '60s," said Fleming of the Air Transport

Association

Over the years, the Federal Aviation Administration has issued 122 "air worthiness directives" ordering the owners of 727s to make specific adjustments to the planes, said FAA spokesman Mitch Barker in Seattle. He said that represents "a normal number for an aircraft that old."

Of those, however, only 12 applied to the model 200, the longer, modernized version of the plane that Boeing began delivering to its customers in December 1967. In all, 1,260 of the 727s manufactured were model 200s, including the jet that crashed Wednesday.

Eyewitnesses watched plane crash

GRAPEVINE, Texas (AP) — Horrified passengers aboard planes on the runway watched struggling Delta Flight 1141 and cheered the pilot to coax the troubled plane into the air.

Thirteen people were killed when the Boeing 727 lifting off from Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport for Salt Lake City crashed on takeoff, officials said. Ninety-five passengers survived.

Gene Metzgi was aboard a commuter flight that had just landed at D-FW from Wichita Falls.

"His right wing was coming straight at us. It was probably no more than a foot or 10 inches off the ground," Metzgi said. "As he pulled it back to the left, I don't know how the hell he missed us, but he missed us."

Passengers began to cheer on Metzgi's plane as they watched Flight 1141 trying to get off the ground.

"It was like a football game," Metzgi said. "We were cheering this guy to get that plane off the ground. It was very emotional. Plus, we were in danger of our own lives. We were rooting for that pilot to get that plane up. But there was just no way."

Rick Arnett, an Austin attorney, was also on a plane that had just landed.

Air Force sergeant, family join other victims at facility

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — An Air Force sergeant, his wife and child burned when an air show went awry in West Germany are among the latest victims to be treated at the burn unit of Brooke Army Medical Center, officials said.

Air Force Sgt. Jeffrey McCanch, 28, of Pittsburgh, his 27-year-old wife, Tammy, and their 2-year-old son, Jeffrey Jr., arrived at the burn unit about 9 p.m. Wednesday.

McCanch and his wife were able to walk to the hospital entrance from a military ambulance, but their son had to be wheeled in.

"I'd rather be in West Germany," McCanch said when questioned by reporters.

McCanch and his wife admitted in satisfactory condition, with burns to their arms, but their son was admitted in critical condition with more serious burns, officials said.

The McCanches join four servicemen who were transported to the burn hospital early Wednesday.

They were identified as Air Force Master Sgt. Stephen Hull, 31, stationed at Kelly Air Force Base in San Antonio; Army 1st Lt. Kim Strader, 41, of Salt Lake City; Army Pfc. Myron Riggs, 24, of Pittsburgh; and Anderea, or Andrew, DeLaRosa, 33, a sergeant major assigned to the Italian Embassy.

Dr. Basil Pruitt, head of the world-renowned burn unit, said said at a news conference earlier Wednesday that the four servicemen face a tough battle. "The extent of burns ranges from 21 to 65 percent of the total body

"A lot of people on the left side of our plane were saying 'Get up! Get up!' when they saw it coming in front of us," Arnett said.

"As the plane came up to take off, it was barely getting off the ground and the right wing was dipping as it passed beyond us. There were flames coming out of the right engine and the wing touched the ground. The plane started spinning (and) there was an explosion," he said.

A motorist driving along the interstate said he watched in disbelief when he saw the aircraft erupt into flames.

"I was coming over the bridge on I-30 in Arlington, and I saw a big ball of fire going into the air," Greg Isaacs of Dallas told KRLD radio. "I started driving over there and it looked like it was over near D-FW, and I thought, 'No way could it be an airplane accident.'"

"I could tell it was over near D-FW. It was an unbelievably big explosion. I could not believe it — I absolutely could not believe it was that big an explosion," Isaacs said.

The plane burst into flames and plowed into the dirt of a north-south runway, witnesses said.

David Hooker, 28, of Celina, was waiting at a gas station at the south end of the airport when the plane crashed.

"I heard the normal noise of an airplane taking off. I turned to watch and just barely saw the nose clear a building over the e," Hooker said, pointing to a low-level warehouse-type building about a half-mile away.

"Then there was a cloud of smoke about three stories high and an explosion," Hooker said.

"The prognosis on three of them is quite guarded," Pruitt said.

The victims were among those injured Sunday when three Italian jets crashed during an air show at Ramstein Air Force Base. More than 40 people were killed and another 500 injured.

"During the first two-to-three-day period, the main consideration centers on maintaining vital organ function and preventing shock and then the care centers on the care of the wound to remove dead and effect a timely closure of the wound by skin grafting," Pruitt said.

Firemen worked for about 30 minutes to extinguish a grass fire Wednesday night off the old Lubbock Hwy. 1/2 miles north of Snyder Country Club.

The call came in at 6:09 p.m. to the roadside blaze.

Crash draws crowd of onlookers

GRAPEVINE, Texas (AP) — They came only to gawk, hundreds of them, craning their necks and shading their eyes to get a glimpse of the smoking remains of Delta Flight 1141.

Within minutes after the Boeing 727 jetliner crashed upon takeoff at 9:03 a.m. Wednesday, the first of hundreds of motorists began pulling their cars and pickups onto road shoulders around the south end of Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport. Many drove north on Airport Road to see if they could get a better view of the disaster just north of Highway 163 on the airport's south side.

At least some of them admitted they were embarrassed to be doing what they were doing.

"I guess this is kind of an indictment of our society," said Simon Young, a sales representative from Arlington, who looked about him at the scattered groups of onlookers on a rise several hundred yards east of the crash site. "And I'm as guilty as the rest of them. We all seem to be really fascinated by things like this."

"I can't explain it," he said. "I wish I could."

Tina Jurek, 25, an Irving homemaker, said she lives just a few minutes from the airport and drove to the scene as soon as she heard about it on the radio.

"I don't know why exactly," she said. "Just out of curiosity, I guess. Yeah, I'm a little embarrassed."

Canadians approve free-trade bill

OTTAWA (AP) — Opponents waved the flag and sang "O Canada" to decry what they called a sellout of national sovereignty as the House of Commons overwhelmingly approved a sweeping trade bill that will open the border to more U.S. goods and services.

Prime Minister Brian Mulroney's Progressive Conservatives, with 207 of the 282 seats in Commons, easily defeated the combined opposition on Wednesday and sent the bill to the Senate on a 177-64 vote.

Members of the opposition-dominated Senate vowed to stall the bill, which was signed Jan. 2 by President Reagan and Mulroney.

The deal would amend 27 federal statutes to eliminate tariffs and reduce other barriers in nearly every facet of the $150 billion annual trading partnership between the neighbors.

Proponents, including big business, have touted it as a boon to business and jobs and say it will cut the $2 billion a year in tariffs that Canadian businesses and consumers pay on U.S. imports.

Opponents, who include labor and cultural leaders, say the deal threatens Canada's sovereignty. They argue that jobs will be lost as U.S. businesses move into the Canadian market.

"This is a very positive development for jobs, for the youth of Canada for their economic future," Mulroney told reporters after the vote.

11-year-old boy drowns in canal

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — An 11-year-old boy drowned in a canal in an unsuccessful attempt to rescue his 9-year-old sister, who also drowned, officials say.

Neither child could swim, investigators said. Bystanders and medical officials Tuesday were unable to revive Rachel and Juan Silva after they were pulled out of the canal, which forms a water hazard at the 16th and 17th holes on Ascarate Municipal Golf Course.

The children were pronounced dead at Thomason Hospital about 9 p.m., two hours after golfers plucked them from the 5-foot-deep canal, El Paso County sheriff's deputies said. A third sibling, a 7-year-old girl, was uninjured.

Sheriff's Sgt. Marvin Ryals said the children probably were playing in the water when Rachel fell in.

"The brother may have tried to save the girl," he said.

Michael Hutcherson of Pampa was playing golf when he noticed Juan splashing around in the water. He asked the 7-year-old girl whether her brother was in trouble, and she said she thought so.

"I knew he was in trouble then, and I hit the water," Hutcherson said.

He pulled Juan out and tried to revive him while a fellow golfer ran for help. The 7-year-old went for the children's mother, Patricia Silva. When they came back, someone asked the little girl where Rachel was.

"She said the other girl was the same place her brother had been," Hutcherson said. "I knew right then the boy I was trying to save had been trying to save his sister."

An unidentified bystander jumped in, found the girl and pulled her out. Attempts to revive the children at the scene, in ambulances and at Thomason Hospital were unsuccessful.

Thornburg curbs trip-taking practice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney General Richard L. Thornburgh will only permit Justice Department employees to take trips directly related to their jobs, a policy that could have barred some officials from traveling to Japan with Edwin Meese III this week, a top aide says.

The aide, speaking Wednesday on condition he not be identified, said Thornburgh raised questions about the Tokyo trip taken by six officials, but decided against canceling any part of it to spare the Japanese hosts any embarrassment.

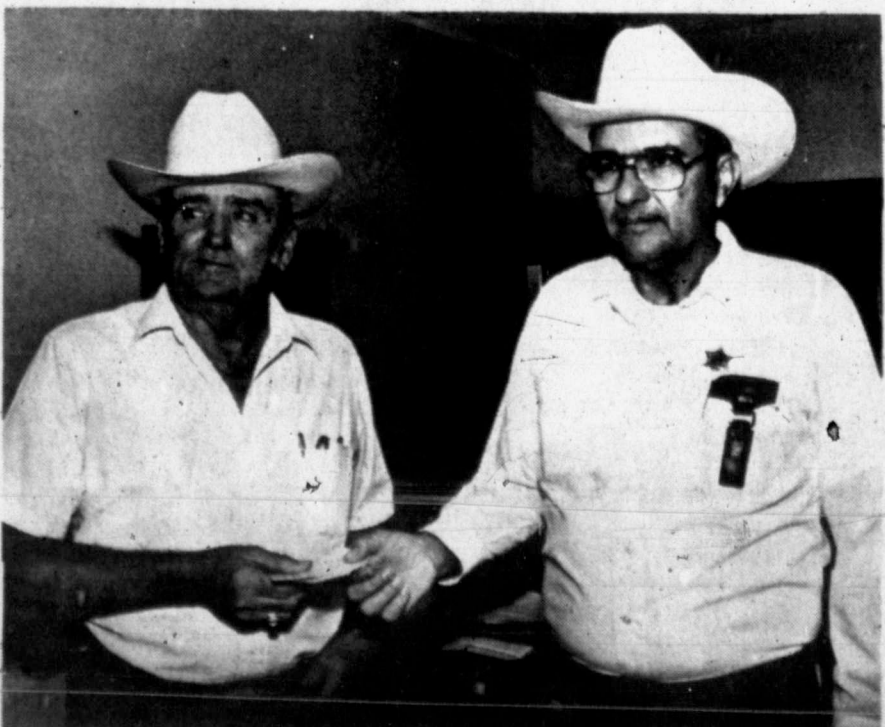

"There were international considerations to let it go ahead," the aide said, noting the event had been scheduled long in advance. "It involved a foreign government and certain commitments had been made."

The six department officials joined Meese, the former attorney general, at a four-day legal symposium in Tokyo that ends today. All are Reagan administration appointees at risk of losing their jobs next year.

Thornburgh's aide said the former Pennsylvania governor has been reviewing the department's travel policies since he was sworn in to succeed Meese on Aug. 12.

"Based on his experiences in Pennsylvania, he will only permit travel when it pertains exactly to your job," the aide said. He said this policy would rule out traveling on "people-to-people type" exchanges that are not directly job-related.

"Going on this kind of trip was originally raised in Pennsylvania," the aide said. "The decision in Pennsylvania was not to go on these kinds of trips."

Physical fitness classes listed

A variety of personal fitness classes is offered in the fall semester at Western Texas College. These include aerobics, karate, swimming and aqua aerobics, and a sampling is listed below.

Mike Harrison will be teaching swimming for beginning or advanced students and the popular aqua aerobic classes. Distance swimming is for men and women who wish to swim for exercise and that class will meet from 6:30-7:30 a.m. on Tuesdays with lab times for additional swimming to be arranged. Aqua aerobics classes will meet at 1:00 p.m. MWF or TTH or at 5:20 p.m. MW. Students in these classes exercise in the swimming pool but do not have to know how to swim.

An aerobics course designed to strengthen and tone the body will be taught by Loraine Hall from 5:30-6:45 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. She will teach Jazzerobics from 8:35-9:50 a.m. on TTH and a co-ed aerobics from 12:10-1 p.m. MW.

Margaret Beaver will have co-ed aerobics classes meeting from 11:45-1 p.m. on TTH. These classes offer aerobics for beginners and for persons already into a fitness program and the instructor will work with the students at the present levels.

Tang So Do, Chinese karate, will be taught by Gene Groce, a third degree black belt. Groce has scheduled his fall class from 7-9 p.m. on TTH. The course includes open hand and weapons training.

"We would like to remind everyone that registration for fall classes will end on Sept. 9," Lee Burke, chairman of the Physical Education Department, said. "There is still time for men and women to register and start the fall with a good program that they will enjoy and which will be beneficial to them. Anyone who would like more information about the courses being planned is welcome to call us."

Religion class offered at night

An evening religion course to be taught by Glenn McCathern will meet on Tuesday evenings in the Western Texas College Baptist Student Union this fall.

"From the beginning to the present, the single most important factor in determining world history has been religion," McCathern said. "Perhaps it is time we took a closer look at some of the religions that seem foreign to us. Influences like Buddha, Christ, Moses and Mohammad will be studied in our course. The last half of the course will deal exclusively with the development of Christianity."

The course is listed on the schedule as Religion 131 and will meet from 6:30-9:20 p.m.

Late registration for fall classes is underway and will continue through Sept. 9. Students beginning registration are to go first to the Administration Building.

Word processing class to begin

Introduction to Word Processing (WP 137) will be offered in Tuesday evening classes at Western Texas College this fall.

The first class will meet next Tuesday, Sept. 6, so students registering late will not miss any class time.

WP 137 is the beginning class in word processing. Students will work on the IBM and Apple IIe computers and will learn computer terminology which will be useful in any further computer work they do.

Classes will meet from 6:30-9:20 p.m. and no lab time is required. Tammy Wesson will be the instructor for the course.

Good Samaritan couldn't turn away from second crash

GRAPEVINE, Texas (AP) — Jerry Weeks said he rushed to the scene of Delta Flight 1141's fiery crash Wednesday to help in any way he could because he could not ignore another tragedy at Dallas-Forth Worth International Airport.

"I just bit my lip and went," said Weeks, who has long regretted not offering his aid after the 1985 crash of Delta Flight 191 that killed 137 people and injured 25 others.

"When 191 occurred, I was driving trucks and had just seen a terrible accident in which some girls were beheaded," he said. "I'm tough and I've seen plenty of horrendous wrecks as a truck driver. But I was near the airport when 191 crashed and I just couldn't go."

It was a different story Wednesday when Weeks, who is married to an American Airlines flight attendant, became one of the first to arrive and offer assistance.

At first, Weeks and an Irving policeman he was with assumed the thick column of billowing black smoke was merely a "controlled burn," another of the frequent drills held at the airport to prepare emergency workers for plane crashes.

But a man who drives a bus for Weeks' airport shuttle company called in and said he had just seen a plane go down.

Eusebio Padilla, 31, of DeSoto, said he was putting gas in his bus at a filling station on the south side of the airport when the crash occurred.

"I'm still like a kid in the fact that I never tire of watching the planes land and take off," Padilla said.

Flight 1141 took off, but it soon was all too apparent to Padilla that something was wrong.

"It got up to about 30 or 40 feet up in the air, then it veered to one side, and went out of my sight," Padilla said. "Two seconds later, I hear a large explosion. I see smoke and flames, probably 30 feet up in the air."

In 1985, most Latin American countries lowered their central government deficits in relation to their gross domestic product, according to the Inter-American Development Bank. The exceptions were Argentina, the Bahamas, the Dominican Republic, Mexico and Suriname. Bolivia and Costa Rica reduced their deficits markedly: Bolivia from 45 to 5 percent and Costa Rica from 8 to 2 percent of gross domestic product.
