Bush's choice for GOP job said out

By The Associated Press
Vice President George Bush launched a five-state trip today after the weekend resignation of his hand-picked choice to run the Republican Party's campaign activities, and Michael Dukakis set out to speak more forcefully on defense issues.

Frederic V. Malek resigned Sunday as deputy chairman of the Republican National Committee. The resignation followed a report the same day in The Washington Post that he compiled figures on the number of Jews in high-ranking positions in the Bureau of Labor Statistics in 1971 for then-President Nixon.

Notes that are part of the presidential archives refer to Nixon's search for a "Jewish cabal" that he thought was using unemployment data to put him in an unfavorable light. Malek acknowledged compiling the figures, but said he thought Nixon's notions were "nonsense," and that he had nothing to do with subsequent demotion of two Jewish officials in the bureau.

The report was the second in a week suggesting that people connected with the Bush campaign engaged in activities that were either overtly anti-Semitic or could be construed as such.

Malek, who was Nixon's personnel chief at the time, issued a statement with the announcement of his resignation Sunday saying he didn't want publicity about his actions for Nixon to jeopardize the Bush campaign.

In an accompanying statement, Bush called Malek "a most honorable man without a trace of bigotry in his makeup."

"I condemn any vestiges of anti-Semitism, prejudice or bigotry and so, I believe, does Fred Malek," Bush said.

The resignation deprives Bush, at least temporarily, of direct control over the national party during the fall campaign.

Malek's resignation followed the departure last week of Jerome Brentar as co-chairman of Bush's campaign organization for ethnic groups. Brentar, a Cleveland travel agent, had been an active defender of Ohio autoworker John Demjanjuk, who was extradited and convicted in Israel of being a Nazi war criminal.

Last week, the Washington Jewish Week newspaper reported that Brentar was active in groups that denied the existence of the Holocaust and that he had made anti-Semitic statements. The report named several members of Bush's ethnic coalition who had ties to fascistic and anti-Semitic groups.

House to get 'textile'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate supporters of the textile and apparel industries are going into this week determined to break their opponents' grip on import restraint legislation and send the bill to the House once and for all.

"Business is business," Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., declared Friday as the Senate approved the bill 57-32. "Business is not fair. It's no use crying and moaning about fairness."

The bill, designed to limit foreign competition to selected U.S. industries, would freeze this year's textile and apparel imports at 1987 levels and limit growth to 1 percent annually from then on.

Imports of nonrubber footwear would be capped at 1987 levels with no increases in market share for foreign manufacturers allowed.

Supporters say it would save American jobs while critics counter that it would raise prices, narrow consumer choices and throw a wrench into the gears of international trade.

The House also plans action this week on the drug issue, including debate on proposals to fine users $10,000 and prod states to cancel their driver's licenses. The Senate, meanwhile, must decide what to do with a $140 billion social programs spending bill that has become snarled in the abortion issue.

Cogdell Memorial Hospital had for its employees and their families Saturday in Towle Park. The picnic is an annual event for Cogdell staffers. (SDN Staff Photo)

Economic plan joined

Scurry County commissioners Monday voted to join an area economic development district that the West Central Council of Governments in Abilene is organizing.

In the absence of County Judge Bobby Goodwin, who was sick, the commissioners voted to join other area counties in applications for federal grant money to help attract more new industry to West Central Texas.

In other action, the court accepted the resignation of Bonnie Kruse of Ira as Precinct 9 election judge. Commissioner C.D. Gray Jr., who represents the Ira area, noted that she is moving away from Scurry County.

Gray said he will nominate a replacement at next week's meeting.

Commissioner Ted Billingsley presided in Goodwin's absence.

Horseshoes, goats added to 1988 fair

A goat dressing and a horseshoe pitching contest are two of the competitions added to this year's 23rd annual version of the Scurry County Fair.

For the goat dressing, there will be three divisions, civic clubs, banking institutions and educators.

Regarding the horseshoe pitching, two-member teams will comprise the entry.

The goat dressing will have three-member teams per organization and a traveling trophy will be given out for each of the three divisions.

The event will require the teams to carry a completely dressed goat across a designated finish line in the fastest time.

There will be an entry fee of $5 per team and these may be submitted up until noon on Thursday, Sept. 22, the first day of the fair.

The goat dressing competition will begin at 8 p.m. on the 22nd. Fair superintendents in charge of the event are Jim Judah and Tim Riggan.

The horseshoe pitching will have an entry fee per team of $4. It will be staged the Saturday night of the fair, Sept. 24, and the cutoff to enter will be at 6:45 p.m. on Friday the 23rd.

The pitching distance will be 40 ft. for men and 30 ft. for women. Scoring will be 3 points for a ringer or 1 point for the closest shoe within six inches of the stake. A regulation game will be 21 points.

Trophies will be awarded to the top two teams. Fair superintendent for the horseshoe pitching is Jim Judah.

Pedestrian hit-and-run among wreck injuries

A 22-year-old Snyder woman was treated and released at Cogdell Memorial Hospital early Monday for injuries received in a reported hit-and-run accident at Huffman Ave. and Ave. L in northern Snyder.

Sandra Givens, a pedestrian, was reportedly hit by a motor vehicle in the 1:22 a.m. incident and was taken to the hospital in a private vehicle.

The accident was investigated by the state highway patrol, which had not completed a report.

The incident capped a weekend of several accidents with reported injuries.

A 21-year-old Snyder woman and her two children were injured, although not seriously, in a two-vehicle collision at 2:33 p.m. Sunday in the 3100 Block of College Ave.

A 1983 Ford station wagon driven by Carrie T. Dunnam of 310 20th St. was in collision with a 1973 Chevrolet four-door driven by Leo D. Glover of 2709 Ave. Q, after which Dunnam and her children, 3-year-old Leonard and 9-month-old Joshua, were treated and released at Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Neither vehicle had to be towed, police said.

A 1985 Dodge two-door driven by Dianna Delarosa of 311 36th St was in collision with a 1985 Chevrolet El Camino driven by Minnie G. Yost of 5508 Cedar Creek at 12:41 p.m. Sunday in the 3800 Block of College.

Ethel B. Taylor was treated and released at the hospital after an 8:20 p.m. Saturday accident in the 100 Block of the East Hwy.

Police said a 1983 Ford pickup driven by Taylor was in collision with a 1986 Chevrolet two-door driven by Thomas Rocha of 1211 29th St., after which both vehicles had to be towed.

The highway patrol reported a 12:25 a.m. Saturday accident in which two 16-year-old Snyder girls were hurt, neither seriously.

A trooper said a 1982 Honda Accord driven by Kathy L. Blumenstock of Hermleigh was eastbound on County Road 362 3.7 miles west of Snyder when it went out of control on a curve and turned onto its right side in the ditch.

Diez y Seis events set locally

The annual Diez y Seis festival sponsored by Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church is planned this coming weekend.

Queen for this year's event is Yvette Ramos, a freshman at Snyder High School and the 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ramos.

The festival will include such traditional attractions as the downtown parade, queen coronation, folkloric dancers, mariachi music and outdoor food and game booths.

The coronation of the queen will be Saturday the 17th at 6 p.m. Folkloric dancers and music will be featured at the Our Lady of Guadalupe Center at this time.

The coronation will be followed by the dance with music by Larry Vialiareal of Lamesa.

On Sunday at 2 p.m., the Diez y

Seis parade will begin at 2 p.m. It will begin at the Varsity Square shopping center, go down College Ave. to circle the square, then down Ave. R to the Latin American Center, 13th St. and Ave. K.

At the center, Mexican food will be sold during the afternoon and game booths will be open.

Music will be featured during the afternoon as well.

In Brief

Students mad

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Oral Roberts University medical students say they feel betrayed by the cancellation of a scholarship program funded after evangelist Oral Roberts said God would end his life unless he raised $8 million.

Although the television preacher-faith healer said the donations would fund full scholarships for medical students at Oral Roberts University, those scholarships turned out to be loans.

New students at the Tulsa, Okla., school have been told the university has canceled the scholarship program for them.

Local

Council meet

The September meeting for Snyder city council members will begin at 6:30 p.m. Monday, an agenda which includes a proposed resolution related to the 37th St. widening project and a no-smoking ordinance for the city.

The meeting will be the last regular session of the city's 1987-88 fiscal year, which ends Sept. 30.

Leader class

Applications will be accepted through Wednesday for the sixth class of Century II: Leadership Scurry County.

Those interested should contact the chamber of commerce.

For the 1988-89 class, tuition will be $225 and chamber officials are expecting to have an enrollment cutoff of around 15. Local civic clubs and organizations are encouraged to sponsor applicants.

Sports club

The Snyder All Sports Booster Club will have a brief meeting Monday beginning at 7 p.m. at the Snyder High School student center.

Weather

Miss America is overachiever

Dear Abby

Pilot's Procrastination Leads To Stormy Family Weather

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Earlier this year — just before Mother's Day — I phoned my sister to ask if she would please buy a Mother's Day gift for me and drop it by our mother's. I am an airline pilot and sometimes get in tight jams with gifts. Also, I live in Portland, Ore., and my sister lives five minutes away from my mother in Carmel, Calif.

My sister agreed to help me out. No sooner had I written the check for the gift, when my phone rang. It was my sister, informing me that she had reconsidered and decided not to buy the Mother's Day gift, as it would "mean more" if it came from me. Abby, here it was 24 hours before Mother's Day and she flatly refused to help me out. Needless to say, my mother received a belated gift.

Soon after, my sister's birthday rolled around, so I called my mother and asked if she would kindly get my sister a birthday gift. She graciously agreed to. Later she told me she bought a rather expensive bottle of wine for my sister and I immediately sent Mom a check. My sister never acknowledged the gift.

Abby, am I unreasonable to feel annoyed? And shouldn't my sister be sent to "charm school"?

THE CAPTAIN

DEAR CAPTAIN: There is no excuse for failing to acknowledge a gift, but if you're considering sending your sister to "charm school," go with her and learn something about gracious gift giving.

Don't wait until the last minute and then ask someone to buy the gift and deliver it for you. Your penchant for getting into "tight jams" with gifts reflects poor organization, chronic procrastination and an obvious lack of caring.

Hispanics will help candidate win

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — Whether the next U.S. president is Democrat or Republican, Texas Hispanics will play a key role in his election, the leader of a national Hispanic organization said.

Jose Garcia De Lara, national president of the League of United Latin American Citizens, said both Republican nominee George Bush and Democratic nominee Michael Dukakis will need the Hispanic vote to win Texas and the White House in November.

DEAR ABBY: A 47-year-old man wrote to say that he resented being asked if he was entitled to a senior citizen's discount. I'll be 69 on Sept. 12 and I'm glad to be alive.

I survived 47 anti-submarine patrols in the Royal Canadian Air Force as well as a very serious brain operation. Maybe because I've been in the life insurance business for nearly 40 years and have had my share of death claims — most of them younger than me — I value life so much.

In everyone's life there is usually an inspiration — a mentor. It could be a priest, a rabbi, a swimming coach, a teacher. Such a man was Dick Campbell of Altoona, Pa. He recited a poem in 1950 that truly inspired me. Perhaps you'll want to share it with your readers. The author is unknown.

The clock of life is wound but once And no man has the power To tell just when the hands will stop On what day — or what hour.

Now is the only time you have So live it with a will Don't wait until tomorrow The hands may then be still. HERMAN ENDLER, ENCINO, CALIF.

DEAR HERMAN: Thank you for an inspirational message. Happy birthday!

Dear Abby's Cookbooklet is a collection of favorite recipes — all tested, tried and terrific! To order, send your name and address, plus check or money order for $3.50 ($4 in Canada) to: Abby's Cookbooklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61064. (Postage is included.)

"Obviously Texas is going to be the battleground," Garcia told the Beaumont Enterprise Saturday. "This is where the blood is going to be shed, and whoever wins in the state of Texas is going to be the next president of the United States."

And in Texas, where Hispanics comprise 25.5 percent of the population and 19.4 percent of voting-age residents, Hispanics will have a significant influence on the Presidential election.

Studies by the San Antonio-based Southwest Voter Registration Project show Hispanics represent 13.5 percent of the registered voters in Texas and cast 8.8 percent of the ballots in the 1986 gubernatorial election.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Newly crowned Miss America Gretchen Elizabeth Carlson, a Minnesota car dealer's daughter whose brothers once called her "blimpo," is a sushi-loving Swedish-American who hopes to be a corporate attorney.

The confident new Miss America 1989 says chance didn't figure into her win.

"This wasn't luck," she said just hours after her crowning in this seaside resort's Convention Center early Sunday, adding that she didn't bring any good-luck charms to the 62nd Miss America Pageant.

The 22-year-old woman from the Minneapolis suburb of Anoka said her own skills brought her the crown. After winning a preliminary talent competition earlier in the week, Miss Minnesota said parts of her performance were "exquisite."

Miss Carlson performed a spirited violin solo titled "Gypsy Airs." She has studied violin for 17 years, winning national and state violin competitions and performing a solo with the Minnesota Orchestra.

"I'm definitely an overachiever," she said.

This year, pageant officials took special pains to emphasize that the judges were looking for an "articulate, educated, dynamic role model" and not just a beauty queen.

Miss Carlson is several credits away from graduating from Stanford University with a degree in organizational behavior. She says she wants to attend Harvard Law School "and become a successful corporate executive."

But for the next year, Miss Carlson will tour the country promoting the Miss America scholarship program. She also will push the products of the pageant's corporate sponsors, including underwear, orange juice, pantyhose and hair coloring.

Last year's Miss America, Kaye Lani Rae Rafko, also used her reign to promote nursing.

Miss Carlson said she wants to focus on "education for the children of tomorrow." Specifically, she wants to see children receive more education on values, "teaching children to be less narcissistic."

"Today children tend to be more in love with themselves instead of being in love with other people," said Miss Carlson.

The new queen traveled later Sunday to New York City with Miss Rafko, who will stay on for several days to orient the new titleholder. Miss Carlson planned to pick out a personal wardrobe for the year and prepare for television appearances.

When asked what kind of Miss America she would make, Miss Carlson laughed and replied, "A short one."

The 5-foot-3 Miss Carlson didn't have to bend when Miss Rafko placed the crown on her head. At 108 pounds, she is 20 pounds lighter than the hefty 128 she weighed when she was 16.

"When I used to be fat, my brothers used to call me 'blimpo,'" she said, adding that she "went on this major diet and lost all this weight."

Today the green-eyed blonde of Swedish descent likes to dine on sushi.

Sunday's crowning was supposed to be just before midnight Saturday, but was delayed almost 12 minutes after judges had to cast new ballots to break a tie for second runner-up.

Miss Colorado Maya Walker was named first runner-up, Miss Oklahoma Lori Lee Kelley won second runner-up, Miss California Marlies Sharleen Ricardos was third runner-up and Miss Alabama Jenny Lee Jackson was fourth runner-up.

Philbin's trip takes 7 years

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Talk show host Regis Philbin took seven years to make a coast-to-coast round trip from here to New York and back to introduce a new, nationally syndicated show.

Philbin left Los Angeles and his KABC-TV "A.M. Los Angeles" morning magazine show in 1981 for a similar job in New York City, only to return for the Labor Day debut of a new celebrity talk show with Kathie Lee Gifford.

The format hasn't changed much from the early days in Los Angeles, with the obligatory how-to segments, cooking demonstrations and cozy celebrity chats.

Your Birthday

Sept. 13, 1988

In the year ahead you are likely to become involved in several new ventures. Although each may be small, their collective returns could be surprisingly large.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Think in terms of small gains today, because pennies have a way of adding up. Concentrate on taking advantage of little bargains you would ordinarily ignore. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You will know better than others what's best for you today. Establish your own agenda, instead of letting your companions write the script for you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Keep your own counsel today even though you may be tempted to repeat something that was told to you in strictest confidence.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A matter about which you have high hopes can be discussed with a friend who has your best interest at heart. The exchange should be productive.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If your ears are burning today it is because others are talking about you. If you could hear their conversations it would give you ego a boost.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Something may occur today that will put your faith and beliefs to a test. The results will help make you stronger.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be especially observant today in your business dealings. You may be able to spot something that could save or make you money.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Before making any agreements today, scrutinize the fine print. It's the little details that are going to turn out to be significant in the long run.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In order to clear the decks for the important projects that lie ahead of you, make an effort to get all of the small jobs out of the way.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You have a marvelous quality today that equips you to competently manage those younger or less experienced than yourself. Use it wisely.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A matter that has caused discord in the family recently can be ironed out today. It will be up to you to open the negotiations.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You might have to be a trifle assertive today in order to advance your personal interest. This can be done more effectively with the mind, not muscle.

Salinas confirmed as next president

MEXICO CITY — Carlos Salinas de Gortari, who faces continued economic crisis and a vocal opposition that questions his mandate, was confirmed as president-elect of Mexico by a bitterly divided Chamber of Deputies.

The 263-85 vote came abruptly at the end of an all-night session Saturday after leftist deputies walked out tossing invalidated ballots in the air and chanting "Electoral fraud, electoral fraud."

Virtually all the votes to certify the results of the July 6 election came from members of Salinas' ruling Institutional Revolutionary Party, or PRI.

"In no way is he the president of the Mexicans. He is the president of the cabinet, of the International Monetary Fund or of the technocracy, but he's not the president of the Mexicans," said Octavio Moreno, a Democratic Front delegate.

Salinas was the architect of an austere economic policy that successfully fought inflation and helped the nation recover from near bankruptcy, but also devastated the average Mexican's buying power.

Salinas accepted congratulations from supporters at his office, telling them "Thanks. Onward," as he shook hands.

"Mexico has to grow again and will grow again, because it's the only way to raise our countrymen's standard of living," he told reporters.

Salinas takes the presidency on Dec. 1 from Miguel de la Madrid for a six-year term. Mexican presidents cannot succeed themselves.

The raucous scene in the Chamber capped 3½ weeks of stormy debate over the election results, during which the PRI brushed aside claims of fraud.

The opposition, made up of the leftist Democratic Front and the rightist National Action Party, made its strongest gains ever in the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate but claims that only massive cheating allowed the PRI to retain its 59-year grip on power.

A crowd of opposition supporters outside the Legislative Palace slowly dispersed after the vote; they had been showing up every day the chamber met.

Democratic Front candidate Cuauhtemoc Cardenas and National Action candidate Manuel Clouthier plan to lead further demonstrations next week, when Mexico celebrates the anniversary of its independence from Spain.

"Until now we haven't gone as far as the people want," said Moreno. He refused to be specific about the opposition's plans.

At the Saturday morning session of the Chamber, Democratic Front delegates walked out before PRI delegates rammaged through a vote to cut off debate while many were still waiting to speak.

A roll call vote to certify the election results as valid quickly followed. PRI supporters shouted "Salinas, Salinas, Salinas" as they took the vote; National Action delegates stalked out one-by-one after voting no.

The PRI and the government have consistently rejected opposition charges, and the party accused the opposition of trying to derail an orderly presidential transition.

"What they are seeking is to destabilize the government and degrade the republic, its institutions and its politics," a PRI statement said as the final confirmation session began Friday.

Cardenas, leader of a democratic reform movement, said the confirmation session was the last chance for the PRI and the government to set a fraudulent election right.

"PRI lost all its opportunities to legitimize the election," said Moreno, a delegate from the state of Mexico. He called Salinas a "usurper."

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

Possible causes of morning pains

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband has had lower abdominal pain and vomiting every morning for five years. He has had every test imaginable. His physician said it might be pancreatitis. Could he be overlooking something?

DEAR READER: He must be overlooking something — or your husband wouldn't still be sick. Pancreatitis is usually diagnosed with a blood test, but other causes of abdominal pain and vomiting may be more elusive. I suggest that your husband ask for a referral to a gastroenterologist, a specialist in digestive disturbances, who can review your husband's tests and offer further advice.

In an average medical practice, such as mine, morning abdominal pain and vomiting are often due to alcohol abuse. This would be at the top of my list of probable causes, based on the little information you supply. If your husband is overindulging in alcohol, share this information with his doctor. With professional help, this situation can be corrected.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm 30, have children 3 months, 10 and 2. I'm 5 foot 7 and weigh 182. I really watch my diet — no sugary snacks, no fried foods. My day starts at 7 a.m., and I'm at it until 11 p.m. I have constant diarrhea, and I feel irritable, fatigued and depressed most of the time. I take Erythromycin and Imodium. What could be causing my weight problem?

DEAR READER: Diarrhea, irritability, fatigue and depression can have many causes. I am more concerned about these symptoms than I am about your weight problem, although they all may be related. You need a thorough examination and testing by physicians who will check you from stem to stern. You obviously put in a stressful day, which could certainly account for your problems. Yet infection and malnutrition are possibilities, too.

Erythromycin is an antibiotic. Why are you taking it? Imodium is a diarrhea preventative that will simply make your bowel symptoms more manageable. After you've been diagnosed, if your excessive weight is due to fluid retention, not fat, you could be helped by diuretic therapy. A good general doctor should be able to get at the cause of your problem and, along the way, give you some helpful dietary advice too. I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Irritable Bowel Syndrome." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

College losing interest in humanities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Colleges and universities are losing interest in literature, language and history but Americans are showing a "remarkable blossoming" of interest in cultural events, spending more money on them than on sports events, a government report says.

The report by Lynne V. Cheney, chairwoman of the National Endowment for the Humanities, says the high cost of education may be causing more students to avoid liberal arts subjects in favor of courses that will give them a money-making career.

While the number of bachelor's degrees awarded increased 88 percent in the past two decades, degrees in the humanities dropped 33 percent, said her report released Sunday. Foreign language majors were down 29 percent, English majors 33 percent, philosophy majors 35 percent and history majors 43 percent, it said.

The 73-page report ordered by Congress says too many colleges are neglecting the achievements of Western culture while requiring ethnic courses, treating literary masterpieces as political documents, stressing publishing rather than teaching, and dealing in topics so specialized that they have little meaning outside the academic world.

The report says museums, libraries, educational TV stations, state humanities councils and private historical societies provide so much education that they have become "a kind of parallel school," reaching millions of people outside college campuses.

"The remarkable blossoming of the humanities in the public sphere is one of the least noted, though most important, cultural developments of the last few decades," writes Mrs. Cheney.

The $140 million endowment she has headed since May 1986 provides grants to scholars, colleges, museums, libraries and other institutions to promote the humanities.

Citing a variety of sources, the report gives several examples of increased public interest in the humanities, including record high book sales, a doubling of the number of historical organizations in 20 years to nearly 10,000, and a 660 percent increase in visitors to the National Gallery of Art in Washington since 1957.

Americans who spent twice as much on sports events as on cultural endeavors 20 years ago are now spending more on culture — $3.4 billion compared with $3.1 billion for sports in 1966, said a news release accompanying the report. It gave no details on how the figures were obtained or what cultural events were included.

The report says that while some have argued that television is the enemy of books, people are actually both watching television and reading, with book sales up 400 percent since television was rare 40 years ago.

Changes have been subtle since pope's visit last year

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Pope John Paul II inspired Texas Catholics to recommit themselves to their faith, their families, their communities and their immigrant neighbors, said church officials who are celebrating the first anniversary of the papal visit to San Antonio.

"I don't think anyone in church can say they are in church because of the papal visit," said the Rev. Greg Nevlud, pastor of St. Francis of Assisi Catholic Church. "But I think it has increased evangelizing by not only the priests, but by the laity."

Catholic church officials in San Antonio celebrated the Sept. 13-14, 1987, papal anniversary Sunday with an evening Mass.

A historical marker at a plaza near Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church also was scheduled to be dedicated and blessed Sunday, but the installation was postponed.

Last year, more than 300,000 Texans saw the pope when he celebrated the only Sunday Mass of his 10-day, nine-city tour of the United States at a 144-acre lot in northwest San Antonio in an area known as Westover Hills.

The pope's Texas visit also included speeches to Catholic Charities USA in Municipal Auditorium, an address at San Fernando Cathedral to men and women studying to become priests and nuns, and a speech in Spanish to parishioners in Plaza Guadalupe.

Today papal Mass site near Sea World of Texas is the home of a Stop-N-Go convenience store and the future home of a Dairy Queen restaurant and a shopping center. Landowner A. Wayne Wright said other developments could include a McDonald's, a 16,000-seat amphitheater, a golf driving range and another shopping center.

But Wright said, "from an economic standpoint, (the papal visit) didn't have an impact on Westover Hills."

But for the Catholic community, Pope John Paul II's 22-hour stay in San Antonio visit may have helped strengthen community and religious bonds, officials said.

"I see a lot of good curiosity coming out of it," the Rev. Virgilio Elizondo, rector of San Fernando Cathedral, told the San Antonio Light. He noted some 300 adults recently completed a five-week course that explains Catholic customs.

As for more visible work, Catholic leaders say they have stepped up efforts to help immigrants and have begun to revamp programs to strengthen the family.

"We redoubled our efforts in the amnesty program," said the Rev. David Garcia, a key figure in the papal-visit planning who now is archdiocese director of vocations.

Monsignor Marvin Doerfler, director of social services for the archdiocese, said the focus has shifted from helping aliens seek temporary resident status to the second phase of the amnesty program — teaching English and civics classes to potential citizens.

In another area, the pope's comments also spurred the local church to study the adequacy of its work with the family, said Archbishop Patrick Flores.

The case of the wasted king

By James Jacoby

In today's deal, South opened one diamond, made a jump shift into clubs and then supported spades. So how many hearts could he possibly have? Of course only one, and so East did not need to put up the king of hearts on the opening lead from West. But he did.

After winning East's heart king with his ace, declarer was able to reach dummy with a spade and lead the 10 of diamonds. East covered with the king and declarer won with the ace. When the queen of diamonds brought down the nine, declarer got back to dummy with the eight-spot and played the jack of hearts, discarding a spade. The 10 of hearts then was a parking place for a small club, and South only had to lose to the club king.

See the difference if East does not waste the heart king. Declarer will go to dummy with a spade and play diamonds as before. But he will have a spade loser, and a problem in the club suit. If he happens to play to the club queen, losing to the king, then East will most likely take the eventual setting trick. There are variations that allow declarer to succeed, but there is certainly no need for East to put up the heart king when he should know that the trick is going to be won by declarer's singleton ace.

But what if West was underleading the ace of hearts? That is done on occasion, but not after today's bidding. West would simply lay down the ace of hearts if he held it.

James Jacoby's books "Jacoby on Bridge" and "Jacoby on Card Games" (written with his father, the late Oswald Jacoby) are now available at bookstores. Both are published by Pharos Books.

Juror now engaged to white supremacist

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — A juror who helped acquit 14 white supremacists accused of sedition and other crimes has fallen in love with one of the defendants and hopes to marry him, she said.

"I never knew when I was filling out the jury questionnaire that my life was going to change the way it has," Carolyn Slater, 30 and divorced, said.

She said she and David McGuire, 25, plan to marry — as soon as he gets a divorce.

The federal government contended that McGuire, 25, conspired to kill a federal judge and an FBI agent while working with other members of a now-defunct survivalist group called the Covenant, the Sword and the Arm of the Lord.

"This is who I've been looking for all my life," Ms. Slater said of McGuire.

Some of the defendants were charged with plotting to overthrow the United States government, and others were accused of transporting stolen money across state lines. All of the defendants were found innocent when the seven-week trial ended in early April.

Ms. Slater said she mistakenly thought McGuire was serving a prison term for another charge, so it wasn't until a few weeks after the trial that she thought of writing him. She contacted his lawyer and had him deliver a letter to McGuire in Greenville, Ill.

Ms. Slater said McGuire has been open about his past, and has told her about his 1985 forgery conviction in Hillsboro, Ill., and the two years he spent in prison for it. He also told her how he became affiliated with the CSA and about his beliefs which hold blacks and Jews in low regard.

"I know all the stuff he's done," she said. "Nobody's perfect."

Ms. Slater said McGuire and his former associates hold deep religious convictions and many members of the radical right have "twisted their beliefs around" to obtain money illegally.

"But who's to say?" she said. "If there's millions of dollars around, I probably could twist my beliefs too."

She and McGuire plan to stay within the law, she said. She said he's now working as a carpenter and they want to stay in Fort Smith.

The pairing is a bit odd, she said, and she wondered if a federal juror has ever fallen in love with a former defendant. U.S. Attorney J. Michael Fitzhugh said he hasn't seen anything like it in his 15 years in federal courthouses in Arkansas.

Barry Manilow loves his job

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Pop balladeer Barry Manilow says he doesn't hunger for applause like many of his fellow entertainers.

"But don't get me wrong. This is a great job that I've got. I enjoy it and I know there's a part of me that needs that love-me-love-me-love-me stuff," he said in a recent interview.

Manilow concedes that his own time in the spotlight has been sporadic, by choice.

"I've done it this way throughout my career," the Tony, Emmy and Grammy winner said.

Carlson responds to the challenge; guides Oilers in 38-35 win over LA

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston quarterback Cody Carlson had a better memory Sunday against the Los Angeles Raiders than he did Saturday night in his dreams.

"I woke up two or three times in the night and couldn't remember a single play," Carlson said. "I couldn't even eat lunch today."

By kickoff, however, Carlson had better recall of the Oilers playbook.

Making his first NFL start for injured Warren Moon, Carlson threw two touchdown passes and fueled a last-gasp drive that led the Oilers to a 38-35 victory.

"We just kept picking ourselves up until we got the job done," said Carlson.

Allen Pinkett, who started in place of injured Mike Rozier, was also a super-sub, scoring three touchdowns, including the 6-yard game winner with 31 seconds left in the game.

"Our execution on the play was superb and I just ran for my life," Pinkett said of his final score. "There wasn't a single player ready to throw in the towel. We never doubted our ability."

The Oilers had plenty of chances to fold.

Los Angeles quarterback Steve Buerlein completed second quarter touchdown passes of 42 yards to Willie Gault, 4 yards to Tim Brown and 9 yards to Steve Smith.

But the Oilers battled to a 28-21 halftime deficit and took the lead at 31-28 on a 19-yard field goal by Tony Zendejas and the first of two touchdown passes by Carlson.

Carlson hit Ernest Givins with a 12-yard touchdown pass to give the Oilers the lead with 10:07 left in the game.

Marcus Allen scored on a 1-yard dive play set up on a 28-yard pass interference penalty against Houston's Patrick Allen that gave the lead back to the Raiders 35-31 with 2:59 left in the game.

Carlson coolly returned to the field and hit six passes in a 79-yard drive that climaxed with Pinkett's game-winner.

The play that kept the drive going was a 16-yard pass to Givins on fourth down at the Raider 46.

"I knew it was 1-1 if I didn't catch it," Givins said.

Instead, the Oilers are 2-0 and the Raiders dropped to 1-1.

"I'm devastated, I need to get out of here and get some rest," Raider defensive end Howie Long said. "I could have played better. You didn't see me make any outstanding plays in that last drive did you?"

Long batted a pass by Carlson into the air and then returned it 73 yards to set up a second quarter Raider touchdown.

Carlson also fumbled at his own 5-yard line, setting up another Los Angeles touchdown.

Carlson completed 21 of 34 passes for 276 yards while Pinkett gained 78 yards on 20 carries and became the first Oiler to score three rushing touchdowns in a game since Earl Campbell on Sept. 4, 1983.

Pro football roundup...

QBs remain key difference

by The Associated Press

Just how important is one-eighth of a football team?

The Cincinnati Bengals, with Boomer Esiason at the controls, demonstrated that a healthy quarterback can make all the difference.

The Cleveland Browns proved the point when their second starter in as many weeks went to the hospital.

The end result in the National Football League is measured on the scoreboard, and the relative health of quarterbacks played a major role. With Esiason throwing four touchdown passes, the Bengals remained unbeaten by beating the Philadelphia Eagles 28-24.

The Browns, with Bernie Kosar out with an elbow sprain, lost backup Gary Danielson to a broken ankle on Sunday. That left the Browns with former Indianapolis Colt Mike Pagan running a strange offense, and it showed. The Browns lost 23-3 to the New York Jets and after eight quarters of football are still looking for their first touchdown of the season.

"A lot of people didn't think we'd come in here and play well," Esiason said after winning an offensive duel with the Eagles' Randall Cunningham. "That was motivation for us. We have a lot of weapons."

In other games Sunday, it was San Francisco 20, the New York Giants 17; Chicago 17, Indianapolis 13; Buffalo 9, Miami 6; New Orleans 29, Atlanta 21; Washington 30, Pittsburgh 29; Tampa Bay 13, Green Bay 10; Denver 34, San Diego 3; Minnesota 36, New England 6; Houston 38, the Los Angeles Raiders 35; the Los Angeles Rams 17, Detroit 10, and Seattle 31, Kansas City 10.

Dallas visits Phoenix tonight.

Jets 23, Browns 3

The Jets, 28-3 losers in a miserable performance at New England last week, preferred to think they had earned Sunday's victory on performance and not because of Cleveland injuries.

Roger Vick had two short scoring runs in the fourth period and Pat Leahy kicked three field goals.

Bengals 28, Eagles 24

Esiason completed 20 of 32 passes for 363 yards, throwing two scoring passes apiece to Tim McGee and James Brooks. Cunningham hit 25 of 36 for 261 yards and added another 85 on the ground.

Esiason fired the final volley, a 3-yard touchdown pass to McGee with 5:02 left to overcome a 24-21 Eagles lead.

49ers 20, Giants 17

Joe Montana, on the sidelines in favor of Steve Young at the start of the game, hooked up with Jerry Rice on a 78-yard scoring pass play with 42 seconds to play. The Montana-Rice score came just 39 seconds after Phil Simms hit Lionel Manuel with a 15-yard touchdown pass that gave New York a 17-13 lead.

Redskins 30, Steelers 29

Washington had to rally late to keep from starting defense of its Super Bowl title with consecutive losses. Chip Lohmiller kicked a 19-yard field goal with 12 seconds left to overcome the Steelers.

Bears 17, Colts 13

Indianapolis, 0-2, had two chances to come back after Chicago took a four-point lead on Matt Suhey's 2-yard run. But Eric Dickerson, whose 12-yard run had given the Colts a 13-10 lead, fumbled at the Chicago 37 and Steve McMichael recovered.

Houston Cougars impressive in 60-0 blowout of La. Tech

by The Associated Press

The Houston Cougars take their amazing offensive circus to the "Show-Me" state on Saturday and coach Jack Pardee's run-and-shooters hope to show they aren't just one-game flukes.

Stepping up in class, the Cougars take on the Missouri Tigers of the Big Eight Conference after crushing Louisiana Tech 60-0 last Saturday in the wildest passing show in Southwest Conference football history.

In other Saturday games, Baylor parlayed a blocked field goal into a 27-14 victory over Kansas; Indiana beat Rice 41-14; Georgia bounced Texas Christian 38-10; Arizona ripped Texas Tech 35-19; and Arkansas outlasted Tulsa 30-26.

On Thursday night, Brigham Young University ripped Texas 47-6.

Houston's 522 passing yards broke the old conference record of 476 set by Texas last year against the Cougars. Houston attempted a school-record 73 passes and completed 46.

Wide receiver Jason Phillips set an SWC mark with 16 receptions.

"It was fun out there, it was like playing in your own backyard," Phillips said. "We just seemed to do anything we wanted to do."

It was Houston's first shutout since 1979. Louisiana Tech hadn't suffered such a flogging since 1930.

"Our defense got with it, too," said Pardee. "We get Missouri next. We'll see how good we are."

The two teams threw a total of 129 passes, an NCAA Division I-A record. Baylor almost got more than it bargained for against Kansas, trailing 14-3 before Robert Blackmon ran 64 yards with a blocked field goal. The Bears then scored twice in the fourth period.

"I told the team they deserve credit for winning but they are going to make an old man of me," said Baylor coach Grant Teaff.

Baylor quarterback Brad Goebel broke the small little finger of his left hand and had to play with two fingers on his non-throwing hand taped together.

The Bears' heralded running back recruit, Anthony Ray, scored on a six-yard run, his first play from scrimmage as a collegian.

Arkansas also had to sweat it out before linebacker Kerry Owens forced a fumble that Wayne Martin recovered to preserve the victory in the final minute.

Tulsa quarterback T.J. Rubley passed for 380 yards and three touchdowns against the Hogs.

TCU was outmuscled by Georgia.

"They flat whipped us in every stage of the game," said TCU coach Jim Wacker. "I still believe in this team. We'll bounce back. We played one of the best teams in the nation."

Arizona was led by quarterback Bobby Watters, the former SMU star who transferred to the Wildcats after the Mustangs got the NCAA's "death penalty."

Tech's Billy Joe Tolliver hooked up with James Gray on an 85-yard scoring play as the Raiders raced to a 13-0 lead. It was the third longest pass play in school history.

"We've got a long way to go, particularly on defense," said Tech coach Spike Dykes.

In other games this weekend, Baylor is at Iowa State in a 1 p.m. game, Mississippi is at Arkansas in a 7 p.m. game at Little Rock, New Mexico is at Texas in a 7 p.m. game, Bowling Green is at TCU in a 7:30 p.m. meeting and Alabama is at Texas A&M in a 3 p.m. game to be shown over national television (ESPN).

To win U.S. Open...

Wilander stops Lendl

NEW YORK (AP) - Now when they compare Mats Wilander to Bjorn Borg they can talk about the things Borg never did.

Up until now, the focus has been on the failings of Wilander. But his stirring five-set victory Sunday over Ivan Lendl in the men's final of the U.S. Open changed all that.

He won the tournament Borg never won.

And today the computer rankings released by the Association of Tennis Professionals will have No. 2 Wilander replacing Lendl as the No. 1 player in the world.

That number combined with his 6-4, 4-6, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4 victory over Lendl should put to rest some of the talk about him not winning the big one.

Ever since Wilander, 24, burst on the scene as a 17-year-old champion at the 1982 French

Lady Tigers defeated by defending champs

PECOS - Snyder's Lady Tigers took it on the chin in their District 4-4A volleyball opener here Saturday, falling to defending state champion Pecos, 15-4, 15-2.

Snyder, now 10-7 overall and 0-1 in league play, will try to regroup Tuesday when the Lady Tigers entertain Sweetwater. Pecos will take records of 15-2 and 1-0 to Andrews.

Snyder Coach Patty Grimmer said the scores were not par-

Netters ready to open loop play Saturday

Snyder's Tigers have been getting ready for action on the courts and the date has almost arrived.

Coach Charlie Chrane's netters open the 1988 District 4-4A team tennis competition Saturday in Andrews. Action will start at 11 a.m. On the following Tuesday, Sept. 20, Snyder hosts San Angelo Lake View at 4 p.m.

Snyder recently staged some tune-up matches with Big Spring and Lubbock High. The Tigers tied the Steers, 11 matches to 11, and trailed Lubbock High, 17-8.

The Tiger girls met with the most success, winning 15 of their matches while losing only 7.

Lori McFarland, Kim White, Gayle Henderson and Rachael Wilson won all of their singles and doubles matches. McFarland whipped Lubbock High's Nancy Sines, 6-1, 6-1, and blanked Tracy Owens of Big Spring, 6-0, 6-0. She was joined by Jennifer Harden to win both of her doubles matches.

ticularly indicative of the way the Lady Tigers played.

"We played a lot better than what the score says," noted the coach. "We had a bunch of long rallies which we would win but it wouldn't be when we had the ball so we wouldn't get a point."

Scoring on serves for Snyder were Angie Brewster and Sandra Morin, 2 each, and Teena Brazier and Melody Pickering, 1 each.

"The potential is there. We just didn't play up to our potential," said Grimmer.

In other action Saturday, Snyder junior varsity lost to Pecos 8-15, 15-10, 15-7.

Meanwhile, unlike in years past, Sweetwater will bring a tough team to Snyder Gymnasium.

"This is the best I think they've ever been," said Grimmer of the Lady Mustangs, 11-4 on the season and 1-0 in loop play. "We saw them at the Monahans Tournament and they were pretty scrappy."

Tuesday's play begins with the freshmen at 5 p.m. Junior varsities play at 6:30 p.m. The varsity match is set for 7:30 p.m.

WTC tees off today

DENISON - Western Texas College opened the 1988-89 golf season here this morning at the Grayson Invitational.

Sixteen of the area's top teams are entered in the two-day, 36-hole event. Among them are Paris, Odessa, New Mexico JC, New Mexico Military Institute, Temple, San Jacinto and Texarkana.

The teams were playing at Tanglewood Golf Course today and will play at Grayson County Course on Tuesday.

Playing for Western will be Wade Hatter, Mark Burgen, Jeff Baker, Chris Jefferson, Darrell Cofer, Gary Schoen, David Turrentine and either Lance Jones or Jeff Beal.

"We had four rounds of qualifying and there have been some bright spots and some low spots," said Coach Dave Foster. "It's early and we need to get some competition to see where we're headed. This tournament will be a good test for us right off the bat."

Softball tourney

MIDLAND - The Stone Softball Tournament will be held Sept. 17-18 at Hidalgo Park in Midland.

Fee is $90 per team, ASA rules, five-home run limit. Deadline is 8 p.m. Sept. 15.

Prizes include first through fourth team, first through third individual, 10 all-tournament, MVP and Golden Glove.

For information or to enter contact Tony at (915) 699-4244.

Bowlers meeting

Ladies are invited to bowl Mondays at Snyder Lanes.

The group will hold an organizational meeting this evening at 6 o'clock at the lanes.

Snow gives Yellowstone firefighters quiet day

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP) — Shivering firefighters rejoiced as snow eased their battle against blazes that have blackened the nation's oldest park, but a forecast for warm, dry weather kept them on guard.

"I just love it. It means we might get to go home earlier," firefighter John Massey said Sunday as snow dusted much of Yellowstone National Park.

Three to 4 inches fell in areas south of Mammoth Hot Springs. Humidity was as high as 90 percent, and temperatures in the mid-30s combined with winds of up to 30 mph for a wind chill index of 19 degrees.

"Things for the short term are better here," park spokeswoman Amy Vanderbilt said.

Elsewhere, a blaze in the Sierra Nevada foothills of California burned 5,000 acres of brush and timber, shutting down Highway 49 and forcing the evacuation of rural residents, authorities said. Twenty to 30 structures were destroyed, but there were no reports of injuries, officials said.

Light snow and low temperatures also helped firefighters in Idaho, and rain and cooler weather slowed fires in Colorado.

In northwest Oregon, officials closed millions of acres of state-protected forests in an effort to curb the number of fires caused by human carelessness.

In Montana, crews took advantage of the cool weather to carve lines around a forest fire north of Yellowstone and another that has scorched more than 30,000 acres in and around Glacier National Park near the Canadian border.

At Glacier, two firefighters were injured when a tree fell across the back of an open truck carrying crews to a 30,400-acre fire, officials said.

Today's forecast was almost as good as Sunday's weather: a chance of rain or snow, temperatures no higher than the 50s and light winds.

But by Tuesday, a drying trend is expected, with temperatures climbing back into the 60s and 70s.

Firefighters took advantage of Sunday's good weather to shore up their defenses against the wildfires, which have blackened about 900,000 of Yellowstone's 2.2 million acres since June in what firefighters call the worst fire season in the West in 30 years.

The weather allowed park officials to reopen the west entrance and the road from there to Old Faithful and Madison Junction north of the famed geyser. The rest of the park remained closed to visitors.

Residents of park headquarters at Mammoth were allowed to return home, but were told to be ready for another evacuation if flames from a 263,400-acre fire threatens the area again.

A 328,100-acre fire in the park's northeast quadrant expanded significantly, combining with an 87,500-acre fire. But weather conditions helped firefighting crews, enabling them to attack the blaze directly.

Lower temperatures raise humidity, and the moisture is soaked up by tinder-dry trees, said Joe Halliday, chief naturalist for Yellowstone's west district.

"Basically with this cold front that's moved in, it's going to put us kind of in a holding pattern," said park spokeswoman Marty Tobias.

Cabinet officials, who toured Yellowstone National Park over the weekend on President Reagan's orders, said the fires must be extinguished, and said the policy of letting wildfires burn unless they threaten property or people hasn't worked.

"The most important thing is to concentrate our efforts on getting these fires under control and then out," Interior Secretary Donald Hodel said Sunday at the Boise Interagency Fire Center in Idaho, which coordinates Western firefighting efforts.

Hodel was accompanied by Agriculture Secretary Richard Lyng and Deputy Defense Secretary William H. Taft IV.

Taft said two Marine battalions — 1,200 men — from Camp Pendleton, Calif., would be sent to help fight fires. About 2,300 Army soldiers from Fort Lewis, Wash., have already been dispatched.

3 killed, scores wounded in attack with guns in Haiti

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Police and soldiers made no attempt to intercede as thugs with guns, knives and machetes attacked parishioners at a Mass said by an outspoken opponent of Haiti's military rulers.

At least three people were killed in Sunday's massacre, said a foreign journalist who escaped, and radio reports said 60 were wounded. Some witnesses said as many as a dozen people were killed.

and children as they fled the church in panic, the journalist said.

"They started shooting people, beating them, and stabbing and slashing them," she told The Associated Press in a telephone call to New York. "They stabbed a woman who was pregnant. They stabbed another man who ran outside the church. He died. Some people were shot." Another witness saw a pregnant woman shot in the abdomen.

Soldiers at a compound across the street watched the violent attack but did not intervene.

Asked for official government reaction, Frantz Lubin, director of information for the military government, responded, "No comment before all the facts have been gathered."

Some witnesses said about a dozen people were killed, but the bodies could not be removed before the attackers set the building on fire and torched cars parked out front. Some said they saw the assailants remove bodies from the churchyard.

Radio stations reported 60 were treated for wounds.

Estimates of the number of people in the church ranged from 600 to 1,600.

A witness in the church's nearby health center said he watched as about 300 men fell into formation and marched to the entrance of the church compound, and stormed the courtyard and the church before a gang of them rushed inside.

The witnesses spoke on condition of anonymity.

The Crusade for the Constitution Committee, headed by the political opposition, had urged Haitians to dress in white Sunday to protest Namphy's voiding of the constitution in July.

"The relationship between the crusade and the massacre is obvious," said the Rev. Antoine Adrien, a Catholic priest. "There is a campaign to bring the country back to the Duvalier days, to re-establish a reign of terror, to prevent the people from organizing for their welfare."

Paul Latortue, a former Senate candidate, said he was sure the church attack was the work of the government and its supporters.

Shielded by supporters, the Rev. Jean-Bertrand Aristide escaped uninjured.

After the attack, gangs of armed men roamed the capital's deserted streets, stoning two radio stations and the headquarters of two political parties opposed to the government of Lt. Gen. Henri Namphy.

Men fired shots about outside one of the stations, Roman Catholic-run Radio Soleil, which went off the air after being pelted by rocks.

A Catholic priest and a former Senate candidate blamed the government for the attack, which preceded a planned Sunday protest against Namphy's voiding of Haiti's popularly approved Constitution.

Attacks on civilians by armed thugs accused of support from the military are not uncommon in the 2½ years since the Duvalier family dictatorship ended. On Nov. 29, 1987, armed thugs and soldiers killed at least 34 voters in thwarting independently run nationwide elections.

On Sunday, Aristide had just begun 9 a.m. Mass when a group of men started stoning the church, said the foreign journalist, who was attending.

Then men shouting "Communists, Communists!" burst into the church, slashing and hacking mercilessly at men, women and children as they fled the church in panic, the journalist said.

"They started shooting people, beating them, and stabbing and slashing them," she told The Associated Press in a telephone call to New York. "They stabbed a woman who was pregnant. They stabbed another man who ran outside the church. He died. Some people were shot." Another witness saw a pregnant woman shot in the abdomen.

Pilot testifies in court trial

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) — The pilot of a TWA jetliner hijacked to Beirut in 1985 testified today that Mohammed Ali Hamadi fired the shot that killed a U.S. Navy diver during the ordeal.

Capt. John Testrake also testified that the hijackers brutally pistol-whipped his flight engineer when they first burst into the cockpit.

WILLEM DAFOE plays Jesus in Martin Scorsese's controversial new film, "The Last Temptation of Christ."

FILMETER

What's new in movies and video
Robert DiMatteo

By Robert DiMatteo

In Movie Theaters

THE LAST TEMPTATION OF CHRIST (R) The controversy surrounding Martin Scorsese's rendering of Nikos Kazantzakis' 1955 novel has tended to obscure the movie's real strengths and failures. Scorsese's film is a meditation on Biblical themes — especially on the split between the sacred and the profane in human consciousness. It is the movie's conceit to portray Christ (Willem Dafoe) as the living embodiment of this split. If such a conceit offends you, skip the movie. The more open-minded, however, will find plenty of food for thought and some remarkable, moving sequences.

Scorsese has intriguingly cast his film with actors known for their off-beat contemporary qualities. Dafoe manages the almost impossible task of making Jesus both a flesh-and-blood character and a spiritual force. Harvey Keitel makes a strange, yet somehow credible, Judas; David Bowie is Pilate; and Barbara Hershey is a freshly imagined Mary Magdalene.

At 160 minutes, the movie's a long haul, and it's very serious — sometimes oppressively so. But you come out of it knowing that you've seen something, and it's certainly not like any other Hollywood religious epic ever made. GRADE: ★★★ thriller, tries his hand at an American setting in this intermittently powerful, ultimately overblown movie.

Debra Winger stars as an undercover FBI operative who infiltrates a Midwestern white supremacist group. Winger's entry into the group is through an attractive, deceptively nice-guy farmer (Tom Berenger). She must determine if the farmer is actually one of the most rabid racists — and the murderer of a liberal Chicago talk show host.

Winger is ultimately seduced by the farmer's good ol' boy charm. Having gotten in over her head, she asks her boss at the bureau (John Heard), an ex-lover, to remove her from the case. Instead, he pushes her deeper into danger.

Costa-Gavras has tackled a potent, disturbing subject — the rise of anti-black, anti-Jewish violence in the conservative backlash of the '80s. They've come up with at least one shocking and convincing scene to illustrate this violence: A half-dozen white guys convene in the woods at night to stalk a blindfolded black man as if he were no more than an animal.

There's also potency to Winger's dual life — especially in the tension created by her divided loyalty to the two men. The movie allows for some shades-of-gray complexity here: After a while, the methods of the FBI and the racists start to look almost equally corrupt.

But the film goes too far, giving the white supremacists too much power, and suggesting a conspiracy that extends to other levels of society. In the past, Costa-Gavras has shown a sometimes limited, largely negative understanding of the United States. Here, it gets out of hand. After working up a full head of steam, the movie falls apart in the second half, as Winger puts herself in compromising situations that make her seem downright stupid. GRADE: ★★½

New Home Video

HAIRSPRAY (PG) RCA/Columbia, $89.95. From John Waters ("Pink Flamingos") comes this comedy of teens in 1962 Baltimore. The result is a deliciously campy musical satire.

Waters' casting of the lead role is inspired: Bubbly Ricki Lake makes her screen debut as Tracy Turnblad, an overweight miss who becomes the hottest mover on the local TV dance party "The Corny Collins Show," and the leader of a protest against the all-white policy of the show.

In this, his last movie, the late Divine is triumphantly funny. He plays two roles: Tracy's mountain-chested, perpetually ironing mom, and the slimy male owner of the TV station. GRADE: ★★★½

PROMISED LAND (R) Vestron, $89.98. A coming-of-age movie that was developed at Robert Redford's Sundance Institute, this is an earnest, lyrical portrait of four Middle-American kids (Meg Ryan, Kiefer Sutherland, Jason Gedrick and Tracy Pollan) after high school. It's meant to be a study of a generation growing up without a clear sense of the future, but a lot of the evidence seems familiar and melodramatic. GRADE: ★★½

Heavy rain, wind hit Jamaica

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Hurricane Gilbert, packing 110 mph winds and torrential rain, churned westward toward Jamaica's underbelly today after skirting the southern coasts of Puerto Rico, Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

High winds and heavy rain preceding the storm drenched the capital of Kingston overnight, toppling trees, causing local flooding and littering streets with branches. Authorities said there were no immediate reports of injuries.

Most Jamaicans stayed home, boarding up windows to prepare for the hurricane's expected arrival just south of Kingston later in the day. Some companies broadcast appeals for technicians and electricians to report to work.

The weather bureau predicted Gilbert's center, 140 miles southeast of Kingston before dawn, would pass south of Kingston and hit the southern parish of Clarendon.

Flash flood warnings were issued for the parishes of Portland on the northeast and St. Mary on the north. The north coast tourist region from Montego Bay on the west and Ocho Rios on the east, far from the southern impact zone and separated by mountains, was expected only to receive heavy rain.

Officials urged residents in the higher risk areas along the south coast to seek higher ground.

"It's certainly one of the larger systems we've seen in the Caribbean for a long time," said Hal Gerrish, forecaster at the National Hurricane Center in Miami.

Forecasters at the center said the eye of Gilbert was 140 miles southeast of Kingston at dawn today. Maximum sustained winds were near 110 mph, with tropical-storm force winds extending up to 250 miles to the north and 100 miles to the south.

Prime Minister Edward Seaga of Jamaica alerted all government agencies, saying Sunday night: "Hurricane Gilbert appears to be a real threat and everyone should follow the instructions and hurricane precautions issued by the Office of Disaster Preparedness in order to minimize the danger."

Forecasters said the hurricane had been gaining strength as it passed over the ocean after it dumped 5 to 10 inches of rain on the Dominican Republic and Haiti, which share the island of Hispaniola.

Juvenile youth detained with reported stolen car

A 16-year-old boy was arrested Sunday in a 1986 Ford Escort that had been reported stolen in Sulphur Springs.

Police had received a report Saturday from a relative of the juvenile that he might be coming to the Snyder area after going to New Mexico from Sulphur Springs, and a patrolman took him into custody with the car at 12:01 p.m. in the 100 Block of 30th St.

He was then given into the custody of juvenile authorities.

A 45-year-old man was arrested for DWI and driving with his license suspended at 1:06 p.m. Saturday in the 1400 Block of 22nd St., and a 27-year-old man was taken into custody for DWI at 12:31 a.m. Sunday in the 300

Block of 28th St.

A 15-year-old girl was arrested for public intoxication at 1:23 a.m. Sunday in the 100 Block of Milburn St. following a report that a boy and girl were fighting in the street.

State highway patrolmen reported arresting a 22-year-old man for DWI at 9:07 p.m. Sunday four miles south of Snyder on Hwy. 350 and a 21-year-old man on the same charge at 12:10 a.m. Monday on Hwy. 208 south of the city.

A 26-year-old man was arrested on a misdemeanor assault charge by a county deputy after reportedly hitting and choking his wife at 10:45 p.m. Sunday at a residence off the Lamesa Hwy. west of town.

50 hurt; 200 arrested in protests in Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — At least 50 people were injured during anti-government demonstrations marking the 15th anniversary of the military coup that installed President Augusto Pinochet, police said today.

The protests, which occurred mostly in slums and working-class neighborhoods of the capital, ended early today after more than 200 people were taken into custody, police said.

Sparked by the anniversary Sunday, the protests included the stoning of Pinochet's motorcade during a campaign tour on the anniversary of the 1973 coup that ousted the elected government of President Salvador Allende, reporters at the scene and Radio Cooperativa said.

Police fired buckshot and used tear gas and water cannon to disperse bands of protesters who hurled stones and erected barricades of burning tires in the poorer residential zones ringing Santiago. Some 50 people suffered bullet or buckshot wounds, police said.

Pinocchet said his new government would be fully democratic. "All sectors will be present," he said.

But he attacked those who "do not recognize the political system in effect, aligning themselves with totalitarian groups."

Dispute over home continues

HOUSTON (AP) — The chancellor emeritus of the American Educational Complex has denied a published report that his spacious residence, which is up for sale at a price of $525,000, might still belong to the school, a Killeen newspaper reported.

Luis Morton Jr. told the Killeen Daily Herald that an agreement to serve as the school's president for 10 years was completed, giving him title to the elaborate Spanish-style residence near Killeen.

"I met my obligations (regarding the home)," Morton said, adding he owns the home and its furnishings.

"Everything that's in here, I have paid for."

The Houston Chronicle reported in a copyright story Sunday that Morton placed the home on the market about six weeks ago, shortly after paying off the mortgage he used to gain a $475,000 loan from the school's pension plan.

The Chronicle story said a 1978 special state audit showed that the college paid the $247,456 cost of building and furnishing Morton's hillside home.

But a school official told the Daily Herald that the audit shows the home was built by a private foundation with privately donated funds.

Jim Lindley, attorney for the AEC, told the Daily Herald "the 1978 audit basically found that (the chancellor's home) was built by the foundation. The AEC doesn't own it and never has."

"If it was not built with state funds, then where is the problem?" Lindley said.

Morton said that in the time between 1969 and 1971, the board of trustees deemed it necessary to have a chancellor's home which would be used to further the college's growth and development. During that period, Morton said he was offered several chief executive positions with major universities.

Morton told the Daily Herald that the school's board of trustees, through a private foundation, offered to build a chancellor's home to help entice Morton to stay. The house was built on land donated by Morton, then turned deeded to him after 10 years under a contract agreement.

The Temple Daily Telegram reported today that Morton, in a 1978 interview, said the home at that time belonged to the Central Texas Area Foundation.

Board President W.A. Roach confirmed Morton's account, the Daily Herald said.

Morton resigned in April amid numerous problems. His successor, Phillip R. Swartz, resigned four months later. The AEC is a Killeen-area consortium consisting of the tax-supported Central Texas College and three related operating units that offer education contract services to the military.

Food stamps said missing

The sheriff's office is investigating the reported theft of $200 in food stamps from a home on North Ave. M.

Patsy Flores of 902 N. M told a deputy at 8 p.m. Saturday that the food stamps were missing.

"History," said Henry Ford, "is more or less bunk."

Whether Pinochet wins or loses the vote, elections for a Congress are planned for 1990. But the legislature will be virtually powerless to amend an 8-year-old constitution that gives the armed forces freedom from civilian control and a role in national policymaking.

Pinocchet said his new government would be fully democratic. "All sectors will be present," he said.

Berry's World

"I was NOT in a brawl at a bar. I was in a brawl on the Morton Downey Jr. show."

Increased prices help wool industry

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas sheep raisers this year are enjoying a peak in prices thanks to higher domestic and overseas demand.

Growers in the rugged Edwards Plateau area of Texas and the western parts of the state have seen wool prices exceed $3 per pound for the better grades, compared with about $2 last year. The result will likely be another record-setting year for one of the state's major livestock industries.

Because they raise fine wool breeds such as Rambouillet, Texas ranches produce 80 percent to 85 percent of the nation's fine wool. The wool from many other breeds is more coarse and goes into items such as blankets and carpets, and sells for less.

Taking all grades into consideration, the price of Texas wool has been averaging about $1.80 for the first eight months of this year, according to government statisticians. That is up from $1.21 for 1987, which was a record average.

Most sheep are sheared in the spring, and it also is a prime time for sending lambs to slaughter. Wool prices averaged $2.30 per pound in April, $2.40 in May and $2.15 in June, said Charles Drain of the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service in Austin.

The preliminary average dropped to $1.70 in June, but increased to $2 in August.

The high prices are a worldwide phenomenon based on increasing demand, said Christopher Lupton, head of the wool and mohair research laboratory at the Texas A&M agricultural center in San Angelo. Demand from China is considered to be the main reason, Lupton said. Demand in the United States has also increased sharply.

The Chinese are buying wool, processing and exporting much of the woven products, he said.

Rites pending for 14th victim

DALLAS (AP) — Services are pending for a 64-year-old Waco man who became the 14th fatality of the crash of Delta Flight 1141. Edmond Fadal died Sunday, eleven days after the Boeing 727 went down at Dallas-Fort International Airport. Fadal suffered burns when he tried to go back into the fiery wreckage in a futile attempt to save his wife.

An unidentified woman taking calls for Connally-Compton Funeral Directors in Waco said a time and place for services may be set today.

Fadal was pronounced dead at 1:43 a.m. Sunday at Parkland Memorial Hospital in Dallas, where he had been listed in critical condition since the crash.

His wife, 65-year-old Marian, died with 12 others in the Aug. 31 accident. There were 94 passengers and crew members who survived.

Fadal family friends and longtime traveling companions, Jean and Frank Nix, also of Waco, had joined the couple on the Delta flight for a trip to Lake Tahoe.

Mrs. Nix said she and her husband were upset to learn of Fadal's death, but not surprised, given the extent of his injuries. "We knew it was coming," she said.

Fadal suffered from smoke inhalation and severe burns over 60 percent of his body, hospital officials said.

"He had mostly third-degree burns over 50 percent of his body," said hospital spokeswoman Paula Turner. "He never did improve from critical condition."

Mrs. Nix, 54, said Sunday the three of them escaped from the jet wreckage without severe injuries, but Fadal returned to the plane for his wife.

"The plane broke open right in front of us," Mrs. Nix recalled. "We all unbuckled our seat belts and tried to run out ... We never looked back."

But when the Nixes and Edmond Fadal noticed Marian Fadal was not with them, Fadal ran back to the wreckage.

"That's when (Edmond) first ran back to get her," Mrs. Nix said.

Frank Nix, 65, tried to stop Fadal from going back into the plane, but Fadal kept running, Mrs. Nix said. Both men sustained most of their burns when returning to the aircraft, she said.

Nix finally was able to pull Fadal away from the plane, but not before both men were burned, Mrs. Nix said.

"We had to be lucky to be sitting there because there was a gaping hole in front of us," Frank Nix told the Waco Tribune-Herald in an interview after the crash.

"The plane was not engulfed, but heat and smoke was everywhere. Ed rolled out of the plane next, but before he could get back to the plane to get his wife, it became engulfed in flames. He rushed to get his wife, but I had to pull him back. It cooked his face. He had to be restrained," said Nix.

The crash of 1141 came a little more than three years after DFW's worst air disaster, the crash of Delta Flight 191 which killed 137 people.

Electronics era creator to be honored

DALLAS (AP) — Thirty years later, it becomes very clear just how big a discovery Jack St. Clair Kilby made.

In 1958, Kilby was one of two people who demonstrated the first workable integrated circuit, which have come to be known as computer chips.

On the 30th anniversary of his feat, Kilby's former employer, Texas Instruments, planned to honor him today at its Richardson headquarters.

The 64-year-old Kilby and Robert Noyce, who later founded two of the world's largest semiconductor manufacturing companies, were the first to recognize that the basic building blocks of electronics — capacitors, transistors and resistors — could be built from a single semiconductive material.

The discovery helped eliminate the expense and time needed to hand-solder electronic circuits.

Kilby constructed a somewhat crude working model from a material called germanium and started an electronics revolution that changed the face of science.

Kilby's work boosted TI to a lofty place among the world's most successful high technology firms and 30 years later has Texas booming as a computer research and development section.

Kilby also was a co-inventor of the hand-held calculator that TI developed to show the commercial possibilities of the integrated circuit.

Kilby's first integrated circuit had the nine components in a space one-sixteenth of an inch wide by seven-sixteenths of an inch long.

Arson on increase in troubled area

CONROE, Texas (AP) — Arson has been a smoldering problem in Montgomery County, where fire officials say losses of $6 million last year are a doubling of the previous year's level and a sign of tough economic times.

In the first quarter of this year, the county fire marshal's office added 30 structure arsons to its caseload, double the number in the same period of 1987.

"It's an exceptional problem here," said County Fire Marshal Dan Welsh. "We're in a prime area, adjacent to Houston. Oil belled up, and we're seeing the effects of that, strictly because of our location."

Fire investigators say that as the economy goes down, arson tends to flare up as people try to defraud their insurance companies.

Figures from the state fire marshal's office show Montgomery County's trend is not an isolated one. Structure arsons have increased steadily in Texas for three years, particularly in neighboring Harris County and other areas that have suffered since the oil prices plunged.

But Montgomery County's problem is compounded by an understaffed two-man department, which lost four investigators to a 1983 tax rollback. Last week, Welsh told county commissioners that 112 arsons went without follow-up investigations last year because he and investigator Mack Fuller were unable to spare the time.

Most arson investigations this year have been residential dwellings, structures that financially strapped homeowners have liquidated to insurance companies through arson, Welsh said.

But arson is one of the hardest crimes to prove, he said, since evidence is usually destroyed and eyewitnesses are rare, he said.

Authorities are still searching for the transient, last seen in Oregon, suspected of setting a fire at an Interstate 45 truck stop in April that killed two truck drivers and caused $1 million in damage.

Recreational fee fishing profitable

HOUSTON (AP) — The concept of private fishing ponds — where people pay for admission and buy their catch by the pound — is not new, but Houston-area customers are starting to bite.

"For years, people have felt there was no reason to have a fee-fishing operation in the Houston area because they didn't think anyone would come in," said Jim Davis, a fisheries specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, who said the concept is about 35 years old.

The logic in people paying to fish in an area rich in lakes, bays and bayous was hard to fathom, Davis said. But times have changed, and businessmen like Charles Wilson have been reeling in the profits.

"We've been open only 2½ months, and we had 400 people in here over the past weekend," Wilson said.

"Our state-owned waters have so many people on them and the crowds are so bad that people don't want to go there," Wilson said. Besides, there is a market for a fishing spot where any angler, regardless of experience, patience or luck, is practically guaranteed to catch catfish. Some of the customers are re-faced fishermen.

"A guy with a $400-a-month boat bill who's been going out in the heat all day burning gas wants to take something home," Wilson said.

Linda Fritche, whose family owns The Fish Pond, says the biggest problem for some customers is knowing when to stop.

"They catch all they want and keep all they catch," she said. "There's no junk fish for them to catch, so there is no reason to throw them back."

Fee fishing is virtually risk-free because of the density of fish population in the stocked ponds.

Lake Houston, for example, has a fish population of about 400 pounds per acre, of which about half are "trash" fish, Davis said. A standard fee-fishing operation, however, will have anywhere from 6,000 to 10,000 pounds of fish per acre.

"The idea is there is going to be something to bite a hook when you put it in," Davis said.

OLTON SMITH, owner of Smith Plumbing located at 3902 College Avenue, can handle all your plumbing needs.

Hundreds suffer minor injuries

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — Rock superstar Michael Jackson ended his European tour with an outdoor concert organizers said drew 125,000 people, and officials said more than 1,500 of the fans were hurt in a crush near the stage.

Organizers said the crowd at Sunday's open-air show on Aintree horse racing course at Liverpool was the largest ever at a rock concert in Europe.

In all, the volunteer first-aid workers of the St. John Am-balance Brigade said they treated an estimated 3,400 fans for minor injuries, mostly hysteria, headaches and minor cuts.

Brigade assistant commissioner Arthur Crook said 1,550 of the casualties were treated after being crushed at the front of the crowd near the makeshift stage because of the pressure behind them.

Police said four of 40 people taken to Liverpool's Walton Hospital were admitted.
