

Oil prices rebound after steep decline

Saudis may take lead in curbing OPEC production

NEW YORK (AP) — Oil futures prices, which had been trading near two-year lows, could stabilize at higher levels amid speculation that Saudi Arabia might take the lead in curbing OPEC production, traders say.

On the New York Mercantile Exchange this morning, prices for near-term contracts of crude oil opened slightly higher than Monday's closing prices.

Crude futures prices had skidded below $14 a barrel Monday but then surged higher in the final hour of trading after Saudi King Fahd called for joint cooperation between OPEC and non-OPEC producers in establishing production limits.

On the New York Mercantile Exchange, the October contract for delivery of first grade intermediate, the benchmark grade of U.S. crude, was trading between $14.50 and $14.58 a 42-gallon barrel in early trading today, compared with Monday's $14.49 closing price. Before the late rally Monday, the contract had dropped to $13.75, the lowest level since oil traded for $13.73 on Oct. 29, 1986.

Contracts for refined oil products also were trading higher this morning. Wholesale unleaded gasoline for October delivery ranged between 42.90 cents and 43.50 cents a gallon, compared with Monday's closing of 42.62 cents. The October wholesale heating oil contract ranged between 41.80 cents a gallon and 42.05 cents, compared with Monday's settlement price of 41.68 cents.

George Konikowski, an analyst at Smith Barney, Harris Upham & Co., said Fahd's statement could indicate Saudi Arabia — the world's biggest crude exporter — was moving to take a leadership role and lower its own oil production.

Two years ago when oil prices hit similar lows, Saudi production curbs helped reverse the market's decline, traders said.

"If the king says he doesn't want the market to go much lower you would think the Saudis would set some limits," said Peter Beutel, an energy analyst with Elders Futures Inc. "It looks like prices are going to stabilize in this range."

Monday's early selloff was fueled by anxieties about the continuing world oil glut.

Smoking curb has initial approval from city council

By BOB CAMPBELL
SDN Staff Writer

As the Snyder city council considered a no-smoking ordinance here Monday night—a measure ultimately passed on first reading—there was some smoke and a little fire.

Opponents and supporters got nose-to-nose in the debate over individual freedoms versus the right of non-smokers to be protected before the council passed the ordinance's first reading by a 5-1 split vote.

The only vote against the measure was cast by Ernest Tippen. During discussion, she questioned if the law would require store owners to designate smoking areas. City staffers said they "could designate" an area but would not be required to.

To become law, the proposal still requires a second reading and approval by the council.

Fire Chief Terry Don McDowell, who wrote the proposal on a committee with smoker Phillip Kimmel and City Manager John Gayle, opened the discussion with a synopsis of the ordinance.

McDowell noted compliance with the law would appear to be more voluntary than forced in the cities, Abilene and Lubbock, on whose ordinances the proposed law here is based.

He explained that smoking would generally be prohibited in all public buildings, with store owners or managers given the option of designating areas where people could smoke.

But he said there would be no violation unless there was a complaint about someone carrying a cigarette, for example, from a smoking to a non-smoking area.

Gail Dixon opposed the proposal at Monday's meeting and at one point got into a heated argument with proponent Betty Benson, whose petition helped get the ordinance-writing committee appointed.

Dixon presented the council with 255 signatures on a petition opposing the ordinance. "You're walking on people's freedoms," she said.

Ed Casebolt joined Dixon in arguing that there should be no legal restrictions on smokers. "I'm not going to smoke anywhere where they don't want me to, but I think our civil rights are being violated here," he said.

Art Feinsod, who joined Benson in the original petition effort, said only 27 percent of Texas residents are smokers and that such ordinances are needed because "smoking is very annoying to non-smokers."

If passed on second reading, the ordinance would make a violation a Class D or the lowest grade of misdemeanor, punishable by up to a $100 fine.

Hearing still due...

37th St. widening gains city support

City councilmen voted unanimously Monday night in favor of a resolution asking the highway department to widen 37th St. from College to Crockett Aves. but noted that a public hearing still has to be held before the project can be finally approved.

Mayor Troy Williamson said the hearing will probably be held early next year and that construction might begin in the spring of 1990 if the project goes forward on schedule.

Although about 30 people attended the 6:30 p.m. meeting, there was no verbal opposition to the proposal, as there had been in a recent meeting in which a number of 37th St. residents complained that the widening would be too great of an infringement on their properties.

The resolution is to accept the provisions of a Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation minute order for the 6-of-a-mile project, which department officials have said recently would also entail the re-shaping of 37th from Crockett west to El Paso Ave.

Other business in the meeting, which lasted until about 10:30 p.m., included approval of authorization for engineering consultants Parkhill, Smith & Cooper of Lubbock to advertise for bids on the extension of water and sewer services to the Texas Department of Corrections east of the city.

A public hearing was held on the proposed property tax rate increase to 31.99 cents per $100 of valuation, after which, hearing no comment, Williamson said the council will reconvene at 6:30 p.m. Thursday to vote on the rate.

West Texas State Bank was awarded the depository agreement with its bid for an 8.45-percent interest rate on 180-day

Monday grand jury hands down 14 indictments

Thirteen suspects were indicted by the September session of the Scurry County grand jury Monday.

One of the 13, a 25-year-old man, now faces two indictments to include unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and burglary of a local business.

Charged is David Lujan of 1500 College Ave. He was indicted in connection with two incidents reported here Aug. 8, the theft of a 1982 Ford pickup from Grimm Brothers Construction and the break-in of Lloyd's Lockshop, 1912 College Ave.

During the burglary, five rifles and four shotguns were said stolen, items recovered with Lujan's arrest Aug. 11 by city police and county deputies. The pickup

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Money still talks, but we may have to know Japanese to understand what it says."

A classified ad offering a $100 reward always catches our eye. Getting that prize would be almost as good as winning the lottery in Florida.

Another interesting thing about the ad was that Tom Machen was listed as offering the reward, although there is some doubt that Tom actually placed the ad himself. Machen, owner of Tom's Marine, is definitely more comfortable at taking in money than in giving it out.

Over at Louise's Coffee Shop, we had seen the coin purse on numerous occasions. Unless there was some unknown sentimental attachment, the purse would hardly be worth more than 50 cents—and you might have to pay someone to take it.

Tom's concern must certainly be the contents, so we concluded that Tom must have had some $100 bills stashed away. But an opportunity presented itself.

Someone called the SDN office wanting to know about Tom Machen. The caller had the coin purse in possession, but wondered if it might demand more than the $100 reward.

We couldn't resist, so we offered $101. Here came the good news and the bad news. The bad news revealed that the contents had 49 cents, two keys and an unknown leftover part. The good news was that it contained a token that will certainly get the $101 back plus a nice bonus.

If he doesn't ante up, we're gonna tell everybody that the token was for the infamous Chicken Ranch in LaGrange, Texas. On the back side of the brass token it reads, "All Night Check, $3."

Three dollars! Machen has been carrying around that token for a long, long time.

had been found abandoned the night of Aug. 8.

Lujan had $5,000 bonds set for both charges.

An 18-year-old suspect, Darren Keith McCowen of 4116 Kerrville, was indicted for aggravated assault on a peace officer with his bond set at $10,000.

He is charged in connection with an incident reported outside a local convenience store Sept. 6. According to reports, McCowen kicked a local police officer in the groin area after officers approached him regarding an earlier disturbance report.

The suspect was arrested by police approximately two hours after the first alleged assault incident occurred.

A 33-year-old man was indicted for sexual assault on a child, identified as a 14-year-old girl in the indictment.

A $5,000 bond was set for Curtis David Jones, 33, of Tye. He was indicted in connection with two incidents reported July 14 and Aug. 14.

A forgery by making indictment was handed down for Rutch. See INDICTMENTS, page 8

Ask Us

Q. — Why has cheese been left out of the commodity distribution for the second time?

A. — The local distribution, handled through the senior citizens center, is part of a program called TEFAP, the Temporary Emergency Food Assistance Program. It was implemented by the U.S. Government to relieve an overstock of several surplus foods. In Texas, it is administered through the Texas Department of Human Services, and Ralph Hawkins of that office reports that currently the surplus of cheese has all but been eliminated and that TEFAP is not currently scheduled to receive any more. Food items still in abundance, he said, are butter, flour and corn meal. For the record, the local center has no control over what is given out or in what quantities.

In Brief

Suspect dies

MINERAL WELLS, Texas (AP) — A man killed Monday in a shootout with law officers had fired shots from his house a year earlier, a neighbor told officials.

Jack William Upham Jr., 39, of Route 1, Mineral Wells, was fatally shot about 11:45 a.m. when he emerged from a rural home about 6 miles north of Mineral Wells and brandished a .357-magnum revolver at lawmen.

Trade deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The deficit in the broadest measure of U.S. foreign trade narrowed sharply from April through June, despite the fact that America suffered the first deficit in 30 years in the category that includes investment income.

Sierra fire

LAKE WILDWOOD, Calif. (AP) — An out-of-control wildfire zeroed in on hundreds of rural dwellings in the rugged Sierra Nevada today after leveling nearly 100 homes and forcing the evacuation of at least 8,000 people.

Delta wreckage awaits destruction

JUSTIN, Texas (AP)— The southwesterly wind not only kicks up dust from a newly plowed field, it also stirs what air crash investigators call the smell of death.

The acrid odor of burned jet fuel, melted aluminum and charred plastic still hangs over a warehouse where the remains of Delta Flight 1141 have come to rest.

And just like the smell lingering over the warehouse, mixed thoughts sometimes hover in the mind of convenience store clerk Charlie Jo McMurry.

She can look out her window, across Farm Road 176 and about four blocks of undeveloped land, and see the large, white tin buildings where Delta 1141 and Delta 191 are stored until the two crashed planes can finally be destroyed.

Fourteen people died at Dallas Fort-Worth International Airport about 30 miles southeast of here as a result of the Aug. 31 crash of Delta 1141. There were 137 fatalities from the August 1985 crash of Delta 191.

Both planes lie in padlocked warehouses, waiting only to be disassembled and melted down into metal ingots whenever Delta officials decide the time is finally right.

Ms. McMurry said she and other residents in town simply don't think about the great tragedies the two planes represent.

Yet, in another way, being able to see the warehouse reminds her how lucky she is that her first cousin is still alive.

Ms. McMurry said she saw her relative, Dr. Dan Walker of Dallas, at a family reunion last weekend. He showed her his still-bandaged ribs and explained how he had helped treat others following the crash.

"It makes you think," Ms. McMurry said, looking out a convenience store window toward the warehouses. "He was some lucky guy. I don't know if I'll ever have opportunity to fly again in my life, but I'll think about it."

After Delta 191 was brought here in 1985, hundreds of people came to the corner of Topeka and Fourth streets in Justin, hoping to see the garbled aluminum wreckage.

Some even tried to break into a 150-foot-long tin warehouse built over the Lockheed L-1011 by Delta officials, looking to lift a macabre souvenir of one of the world's worst air disasters. Officials had to post 24-hour sentries for six weeks to keep the thieves away.

Scores of reporters and photographers also tried to talk their way into the cold, unlit warehouse. Even last summer, a couple of reporters from Europe requested permission to take the last photos of Delta 191.

"It's sort of a tin coffin they built over it," Justin resident Chris Johnston said.

It is possible to slip around to the back and peer in a crack of a courtyard area and see a six-foot-high pile of what used to be some of Delta 1141. But nobody does.

"Nobody knows where it is; that's why they don't come around to see it," said Joel Moore, who works about two blocks away.

Justin residents are accustomed used to salvage storage and sales. A truck trailer reminds those driving by that this is the "Salvage Center of the World." And in a town where so many trade on tragedy, the two airplanes are no big deal.

"I guess you just can't dwell on it," said Chris Johnston's wife, Linda, who works next door to the Delta 191 warehouse. "There were a lot of people dead."

DR. GOTT

Did tonsillitis cause irritation?

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: An ear, nose and throat doctor told me my carotid artery was irritated because of having so many cases of tonsillitis. I had my tonsils taken out three years ago. I take prednisone and four to six aspirin a day. Is this treatment appropriate?

DEAR READER: Carotid artery irritation from tonsillitis would be an extremely unusual condition, unless the tonsillar infection had progressed to the point of being an abscess that threatened to burrow through the tissues of the throat. In this case, antibiotics and surgical intervention would be necessary.

You have not given enough information about the purpose of your prednisone/aspirin treatment for me to judge whether it is appropriate or not. Prednisone, a cortisone drug that inhibits the body's immune response, is useful in treating certain health problems. However, chronic therapy carries risks: diabetes, cataracts, bone softening and susceptibility to infection, to mention a few. Therefore, patients who take prednisone must weigh the risk/benefit ratio.

Because I do not know why your doctor prescribed this medicine, I cannot advise you. I suggest that you address this question to your doctor and request a lengthy discussion about the pros and cons of prednisone — and aspirin — therapy. I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Consumer Tips on Medicine." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have multiple sclerosis and am 7 months pregnant. My doctor says I can't have any pain killers during labor because I may suffer long-term reactions. But wouldn't the trauma my body will go through giving birth have just as disabling an effect? What do other women with M.S. do?

DEAR READER: Many women are opting for drug-free natural childbirth. This would certainly be an appropriate option for you. You seem to be fearful of giving birth without pain-killers. However, with training and support, your body need not suffer any disabling effects.

On the issue of your doctor's refusal to consider analgesia during labor, I believe that he is incorrect. With careful monitoring of your labor, you could be given pain medication or spinal anesthesia. The medicine should not necessarily affect you. M.S. is thought to have a genetic link, or, possibly, be caused by a virus infection. Drugs given cautiously should not cause you to have long-term reactions. Nonetheless, natural childbirth would protect you from any unforeseen consequences. You can obtain further information from the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, 205 East 42nd Street, New York, NY 10017.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am 38, twice divorced and have three kids, ages 20, 16 and 3. I have always supported myself and my children with no help from anybody.

Six months ago, I met "Mr. Right" — I'll call him Mel. He's 31, kind and honest. He's been divorced for a year after a seven-year marriage (no children). He loves my kids and they love him.

There is only one thing wrong. Mel has been hiding my children from his friends and family. We live 70 miles apart and see each other only on weekends. It bothers me that he doesn't want his family to know that I have three children. (He has asked me not to mention them because he doesn't want them to know yet.)

We have had long talks about our future together. He foresees marriage in about three years. So, what do you think of this, Abby? I really love him and he says he loves me.

IN LOVE IN SOUTH DAKOTA

DEAR IN LOVE: There is something wrong with Mr. Right. "Hiding" your children from his friends and family is downright deceitful. Mr. Right is very shortsighted. If there is marriage in your future, your three children will have to come out of the closet. What then? Put this question to him, and draw your own conclusions.

DEAR ABBY: This concerns something that sounds trivial, but it's actually very serious. I heard that while baseball players are waiting in the bullpen, they pass the time by pulling the hair out of each other's noses. A man told me that his aunt actually died after she had pulled some hairs out of her nose. This shocked me into writing to you so you could warn your readers. I hope you print this. It may save some lives.

F.S.S., DENVER

DEAR F.S.S.: I consulted a medical expert and was told that because the membranes of the nose are very delicate, pulling hair from the nostrils can cause an infection called furuncle of the hair follicle. However, since the advent of antibiotics, the chances of dying are minimal. Bottom line: This baseball team needs a better way to pass the time.

DEAR ABBY: I have no problems, complaints or questions, but I would like to tell you what my husband gave me for my 30th birthday.

Kevin and I have been married for 11 years and have five daughters, ages 10, 8, 5, 4 and 2 1/2. For obvious reasons, I do not work outside my home, and my "outing" is a weekly trip to the grocery store.

Although my birthday is two months in the future, last week Kevin surprised me with a birthday cake and a round-trip airline ticket to visit my best friend in Florida — alone. Yes, all by myself — for eight days!

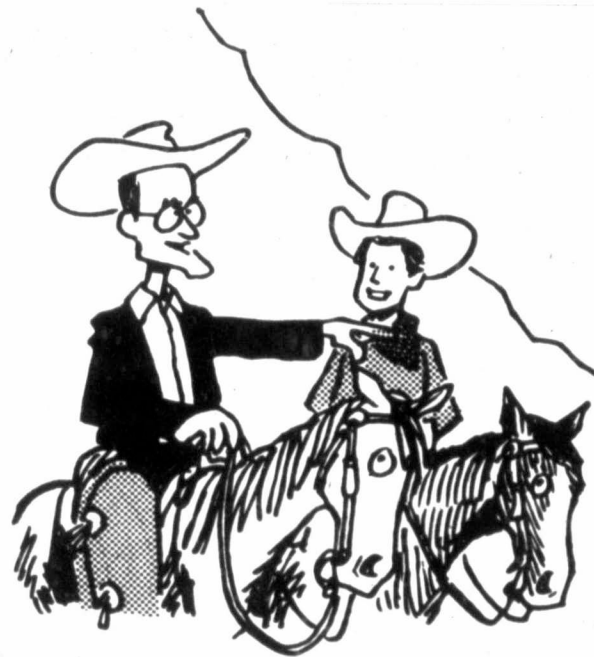

He had prearranged this trip so it wouldn't interfere with the children's school or the holidays. He lined up a sitter for the kids while he's at work. (I baby-sit weekdays, so he's already informed the children's parents that I will be gone for eight days.) I have nothing to do but pack, and grocery-shop before I leave.

I thought I'd share this with you, so you can pass it along to other husbands who wonder what to give their wives for a birthday present. Just a little vacation with rest and recreation.

When count doesn't count

By James Jacoby

If today's deal were played 30 years ago, North would likely just pass three hearts and hope for the best. That way a plus score would be registered, since declarer would lose only three heart tricks and the king of diamonds. However, North-South had the agreement that making an immediate two-over-one response committed the partnership to playing a game. And so the bidding went on until South grasped at the three-no-trump straw. But now to the defense.

The opening lead of the diamond three was won by the nine in dummy. Declarer immediately led a low spade back — nine from East, 10 from South, and the jack from West. What now? After some thought, West led the king of clubs. He hoped his partner would have as much as the club queen and five cards in the suit, plus the ace and hearts. No such luck, and the no-trump game came limping home. We can see that a heart to the king and the jack of clubs return would set the hand. Was there any clue that would have helped West find this play?

In fact, it would have served no purpose in this deal for East to give count in spades when a low card was led at the second trick, so strong inference about suit preference should have been taken from that play of the spade nine. If West had read that card as asking for a heart play, he would have led one despite the deterrence of the bidding, and the hand would have been set.

Hobo 'king' passes rule

LUDLOW, Ky. (AP) — Even a hobo can get too old for his profession.

Harry Messer, "the king" of the Ludlow Hobos, is abdicating. He's going to kick back and take life even easier.

Messer, 71, has been king, or top hobo, of the Ludlow Hobo Club for 23 years.

"They appointed me king for as long as I could prove myself worthy," he says. Soon, another hobo will get that chance.

In the main, the Ludlow hobos are knights of the road in spirit only. They come from all walks of life, many of them holding blue-collar jobs. Their common thread is the fellowship found at Hobo Springs.

Since the mid-1960s, when Messer and the late Duke Botkin founded the hobo club, the leisure-hour hobos have been coming to the springs to have a few brews, maybe some homemade soup or barbecue and carefree talk.

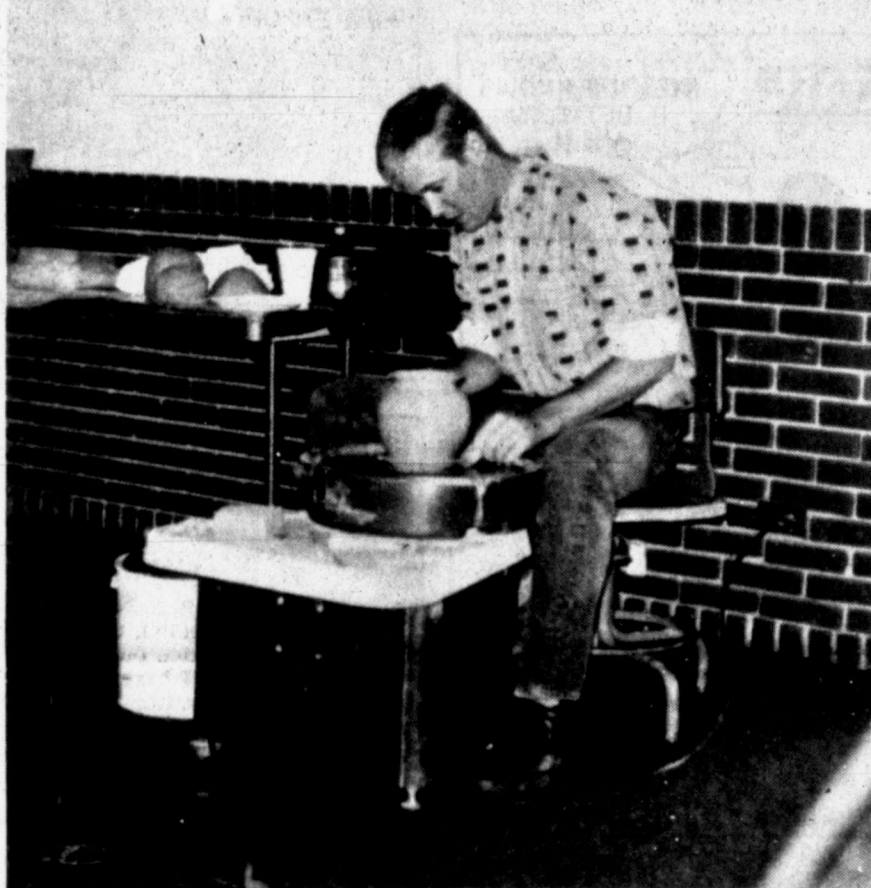

The club, nestled in this Ohio River town in Kenton County, has about 150 members, some being non-active membership card holders.

In a ravine, and within earshot of passing trains, the springs attracted hobos and drifters in decades past and provided water for Ludlow during the 1937 flood.

It's the steep climb out of the ravine, whether by concrete stairway or up the banks, that pushed Messer into retirement. A former bartender and cook who traveled as a hobo some, Messer said his health is in decline, and his doctor has recommended he avoid climbing.

One of the king's duties is to be judge of a kangaroo court. The charges against members were anything Messer could think of.

"They were always guilty, but the top fine was 50 cents," he says.

PALETTE CLUB FEATURE — Ty Brunson, newly named art instructor at Western Texas College, was featured at the first meeting of the Snyder Palette Club Thursday. Nineteen members were present for a demonstration of the potter's wheel. A business meeting was also held. This easy-to-assemble main dish tastes like a chili dog, but the pasta takes the place of the hot dog bun. There's no need to precook the pasta shells.

MEXICAN MANICOTTI

- 10 frankfurters (1 pound)
- 10 manicotti shells
- ½ cup boiling water
- Two 15-ounce cans chili with beans
- 1 cup taco sauce

Place 1 frankfurter in each uncooked manicotti shell. Place the filled shells, so they are not touching, in a 12-by 7½-by 2-inch baking dish. Slowly pour boiling water into the dish around the entire inside edge. Stir together chili and taco sauce. Spoon on top of the filled shells. Sprinkle with cheese. Cover tightly with foil. # Cardinals can't stop Walker

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) - The Cardinals may have moved from St. Louis to Phoenix, but one thing hasn't changed - they still can't stop Dallas Cowboys running back Herschel Walker.

HERSCHEL WALKER

Walker rushed for 149 yards on 29 carries, scored one touchdown and set up the clincher in the fourth quarter as the Cowboys beat the Cardinals 17-14 Monday night in the first NFL regular-season game ever played in Arizona.

"Herschel did it almost all by himself. A lot of times, he didn't have good blocking," Dallas coach Tom Landry said. "I think he's going to run this way every week. If we can get him out in the open more, he'll be devastating."

Walker took a pitchout and scored on a 3-yard run around left end with 4:35 remaining in the second quarter to put the Cowboys ahead to stay at 10-7.

He knocked over a television cameraman in the end zone on the play, sending the man to a local hospital with a bruised arm and cut under an eye.

"I hope the guy is OK. I know I took a pretty good shot to the back of the head myself," Walker said. "It was just a little sweep play. I got the ball and headed for the end zone, that's all."

The 1982 Heisman Trophy winner from Georgia almost did it all himself on a 13-play, 81-yard drive in the fourth quarter. He gained 58 yards on nine carries and got the ball down to the 1-yard line where Steve Pelluer's quarterback sneak made it 17-7 with 5:23 remaining.

"It was a great drive," said Pelluer, who finished 12-of-24 for 162 yards with one interception. "Phoenix had a tough zone defense, so we kept calling Herschel's number and he got us the yards."

The drive started with 10:22 left and was delayed for several minutes as the near-capacity crowd of 67,139 at Sun Devil Stadium caused such a din that Pelluer couldn't call the signals.

"We weren't trying to encourage the crowd," Phoenix coach Gene Stallings said. "I tried to quiet them a few times, but it wasn't that bad. The problem was we couldn't stop Herschel Walker."

Phoenix, 0-2, seemed to be in position to at least force overtime after closing to 17-14 on Neil Lomax's 23-yard touchdown pass to tight end Jay Novacek with 3:52 to go in the game.

But a pass-interference call on cornerback Reggie Phillips on a third-and-12 play gave the Cowboys a first down with 1:50 remaining and they ran out the clock.

The Cardinals also hurt themselves with four crucial mistakes, two involving placekicker Al Del Greco. He was wide left on a 40-yard attempt with 1:27 left in the first quarter and was tackled at the Dallas 16 after a fake field goal try on the half's final play.

"We weren't sure we could kick it," Stallings said. "Del Greco missed one and he wasn't even kicking that good before the game started."

Phoenix's rookie running back Tony Jordan also was stripped of the ball by Ed "Too Tall" Jones, who recovered the fumble at the Cowboys' 27-yard line with 4:46 remaining in the third quarter.

And Pro Bowl offensive tackle Luis Sharpe was called for an illegal formation, nullifying a 34-yard completion from Lomax to J.T. Smith to the Dallas 9 early in the third quarter.

Oilers locating some depth, coming together as solid team

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston Oilers defensive end William Fuller was a sack specialist with only three sacks in two seasons.

But opportunity, hard work and playing time helped make Fuller a force on the Houston Oilers' defensive line.

"You can't make plays if you're not on the field," said Fuller, whose 2½ sacks paced the aggressive Oiler defensive line in Sunday's 38-35 victory over the Los Angeles Raiders.

"But I've changed my attitude and the whole team's attitude has changed."

The youthful Oilers grew up a little more against the Raiders, led by rookie quarterback Cody Carlson and third year running back Allen Pinkett.

"Before the game, others may have wondered if Cody Carlson could play well but no one with the Oilers was surprised," Oiler Coach Jerry Glanville said.

"No one was surprised that Allen Pinkett played well." The Oilers also managed to win without starting cornerback Steve Brown, sidelined by a hamstring injury.

"We've been able to develop some depth and that's a plus for us," Glanville said.

The Oilers came from behind twice to win, starting their game winning drive with 2:50 left in the game.

The Oilers also have developed some confidence. Glanville said.

"When we got the ball with under three minutes to play, everyone on the sidelines felt we had them just where we wanted them," Glanville said.

The Oilers' defensive line also was a collective star in the game, sacking Raiders quarterback Steve Beuerlein five times, including 2 1-2 by defensive end William Fuller.

"Our defensive line sets the tone with a lot of hard work," Glanville said. "It's fashionable to say that we've got great talent and great athletes but the fact is, we work very hard."

Glanville also was kind to rookie cornerback Cris Dishman, who started for Brown and was penalized twice in the first three plays of the game.

"I don't think I'm allowed to comment on what I just saw on the films," Glanville said. "It's illegal for me to comment."

But latest flap resolved...

Olympic spirit tainted from the start

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) - American athletes threatened to boycott the Olympic opening ceremonies if the whole team wasn't allowed to march in the parade, but officials swiftly ended the flap with a welcome to everyone.

The jolt to the Olympic spirit hit Tuesday along with reports of Soviet gymnasts spying on Romanians, a new excuse for a steroid scandal among the Canadians and last-minute moves by boycotting Cuba to join the Games.

The International Olympic Committee and the Seoul Olympic Organizing Committee wanted to speed up Saturday's ceremonies by limiting participation to 8,000 athletes, coaches and officials, and leaving out more than 5,000 athletes.

Within hours of a threat by American athletes to boycott the ceremonies if they all couldn't participate, SLOOC issued a statement saying, "Any athlete who wants to take part in the parade and ceremonies can do so. It is their right."

The cutback would have affected all countries with more than 30 team members. Medium-sized teams would have been trimmed by a third, while the largest delegations, such as the United States, Soviet Union, China and host South Korea would have been limited to 42-44 percent of their total.

Only about 300 of the 800-member American delegation would have been allowed to join the ceremonies, a prospect that angered and disappointed many American athletes.

Evie G. Dennis, chief of the U.S. mission, said the restrictions were not acceptable and were resented by the athletes.

"Every American who has a right to compete here feels that the chance to march in the opening ceremonies is the culmination of the Olympic dream itself," said Mike Moran, spokesman for the U.S. Olympic Committee.

"Any athlete who represents his or her country and could not march would have a disappointment probably exceeding any failures they suffered on the playing field," he said.

There was no word yet on whether other large nations also would protest the ceremony cutback.

Meanwhile, Cuba, which has supported the boycott by North Korea, may try to compete in a nominal way to avoid sanctions from the International Olympic Committee, according to a top South Korean Olympic official quoted in the Korea Herald.

Cuba is worried that if it boycotts the Olympics it may be denied the right to stage the 1991 Pan American Games, the official said.

The boycott has been ignored by most other North Korean allies, including the Soviet Union and China.

Soviet gymnasts are focusing on their Romanian rivals, with an eye especially on recapturing the Olympic women's team championship they won at every Summer Games since 1952 except for the boycotted Los Angeles Games in 1984.

Romania went to Los Angeles and won the gold, then stunned the Soviets at the world championships last October by winning the women's title again.

The Soviets have come here with a particular grudge to settle against their rather independent comrades.

"We are most determined and very confident that we will win both the team and all-around gold medals," says Lioubov Miromanova, one of the Soviet coaches.

You bet they are, especially after sneaking a peak at the Romanian team practice. Among those watching was Soviet gold medal favorite Elena Shushunova, the 1985 world champion dethroned by Romanian Aurelia Dobre in 1987.

When the Romanians spotted the Soviets scouting them at the Gymnastics Hall, the Romanians ordered their athletes off the uneven bars. Feeling the Romanians' hostility, the Soviets left the gym. The Romanians then resumed their workout.

A day after Canadian weightlifter Kevin Roy was sent home following a positive test for steroids, the leader of the team tried to explain why Canadians are more likely to be caught using banned drugs.

Yvon Chouinard said the four athletes dropped after testing positive for anabolic steroids - three were left in Canada last week - probably took the banned drugs because they were having difficulty meeting the Canadian Olympic Association's standard to make the team.

"I have to presume that they were trying, all the way out, in order to make the Canadian Olympic standard and they felt this was the only avenue that was left to them," Chouinard said.

The Canadian standards are higher than those set by the IOC, he said, and should be changed.

The disqualifications leave only three Canadian weightlifters to compete in Seoul.

he said, and should be changed. The disqualifications leave only three Canadian weightlifters to compete in Seoul.

"The morale is very low. I would say I've never seen it lower than what it is now," Chouinard said. "People have been demoralized by what took place."

One hostage said freed

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — West German Rudolf Cordes enjoyed his first day of freedom since being kidnapped in Lebanon 20 months ago. His former captors credit Syrian and Iranian intervention for the release.

But the captors said the mid-night Monday release was linked to a Lebanese Shiite Moslem on trial in West Germany for the 1985 hijacking of the TWA jet and the shooting death of U.S. Navy diver Robert Stethem.

In a note issued in Beirut, they said if Mohammed Ali Hamadi's release cannot be gained legally, "then we shall be obliged to again resort to violence."

In Bonn, West German television reported early today that a military plane was being sent from Bonn to Syria to pick up the 55-year-old businessman.

His kidnapers released Cordes in Moslem west Beirut.

City approves depository bid

certificates of deposit. Snyder National Bank offered 7.5 percent and American State Bank 6.92 percent.

Bids on galvanized wire and fence posts to put an 8 ft. fence around the city landfill east of town were tabled after a council discussion on the pros and cons of the city's eight-year-old agreement.

In that plan, the city had agreed to build a fence. Some councilmen, however, disputed the current need for such a fence.

Councilman John Johnson said the city should build the fence because of the agreement and was joined by Councilman Joe Coronado in voting not to table the bids, which appeared to total about $14,000 for the materials.

Thirty plans from nine companies for medical and life insurance for city employees were discussed, with Councilman Paul Zeck's motion that a bid from G.I.C. from Williamson-Steakley Insurance Agency of Snyder gaining five-to-one approval. Coronado voted "no."

The city's current insurance carrier, First Benefit, did not bid this year, accounting office representative Jackie Buckland said. The plan keeps the current $200 deductible provision and will increase the city's monthly contribution from $63.61 to $71.70 and a family's payment from $122.98 to $127.11.

A bid of $3,024 from A&B Construction of Snyder was accepted for repairs on the canopy between the police and fire departments, and the city's tax-collection agreement with the Scurry County Appraisal District was renewed, contingent on the district's acceptance of a new provision to deliver an annual summary by mid-October following the Sept. 30 end of the fiscal year.

The city pays .3 of a percent of its tax revenues to the district for the service, which city officials will amount to about $4,200 this year.

On second readings, the council approved ordinances to adopt the 1988-89 budget, for total expenditures of $4,750,196.

In other action, the council: —Changed the zoning in the 600 Block of Ave. P to allow the establishment of an automobile wrecking yard.

—Adopted updated service credits and annuity increases for the Texas Municipal Retirement System.

—Approved a replat of Lot 3 in Block 1 of the Houston Ave. Addition and part of the undeveloped J.L. Wadeigh Tract, to allow the construction of a carport.

ELMORE CHRYSLER AND CHRYSLER MOTORS ANNOUNCE THE CAR BUYER'S BILL OF RIGHTS.

1. EVERY AMERICAN HAS THE RIGHT TO A QUALITY CAR

You want a car that will start every morning. In numbing cold or in downpours of rain.

You want a car that will age well. And give you years of satisfaction.

You want quality. That's your right. Your undisputed right. Quality should also be the first and foremost commitment of the carmaker. Without it he becomes morally and fiscally bankrupt. Chrysler has no intentions of forsaking this commitment.

Since 1980 Chrysler has initiated Five Key Quality Programs that involve every member of the work force, every level of management. Top, middle and first rung.

These programs touch every phase of the car-building process. From drawing board to final inspection. The goal: to top the quality of imports. An ambitious goal, but results are already showing it is within reach.

Lowest Recalls. On average, over the last 8 years, Federal government records show that Chrysler has the lowest safety recall record of any American car company for passenger cars registered for the '80 through '87 model years.

And over the last 5 years, a lower average safety recall record than such prominent imports as BMW, Porsche and Volvo.

2. EVERY AMERICAN HAS THE RIGHT TO LONG-TERM PROTECTION

Chrysler has consistently led the industry in long-term quality protection. In 1980, Chrysler introduced the innovative 5/50 Protection Plan that protected the most important and costly part of your vehicle, the engine and powertrain, as well as protecting against outer body rust-through.

In 1987, Chrysler extended this protection substantially to 7 years or 70,000 miles, plus 7-year or 100,000 mile protection against outer body rust-through,* inclusive of every car, truck (except Jeep vehicles) and mini-van Chrysler builds in North America. This plan was an unprecedented move.

Now, Chrysler breaks new ground again. With its new Crystal Key Owner Care Program that comes with the Chrysler New Yorker. It is a remarkable warranty. It protects the entire car for 5 years or 50,000 miles. It covers engine, powertrain, air-conditioning, steering, rust, suspension, electrical-everything right down to the door handles.** All you have to do is take care of normal maintenance, adjustments and wear items.

Not even Rolls Royce or Mercedes Benz can match this warranty.

3. EVERY AMERICAN HAS THE RIGHT TO FRIENDLY TREATMENT, HONEST SERVICE AND COMPETENT REPAIRS

Dealer service is the key-link in the relationship between the car buyer and the carmaker. Fully aware of this, Chrysler (under the direction of Lee Iacocca) has taken specific action to strengthen this relationship, and the results have been very gratifying.

Highest Satisfaction. Chrysler owners have the highest level of satisfaction of any buyers of American cars. Higher than GM owners. And significantly higher than Ford owners.**

As Lee Iacocca says, "The next great leap forward in the car industry isn't going to happen in Detroit. It's going to happen at the dealership". Chrysler is stressing customer service to its dealers in the form of educational programs, dealer incentives and motivating awards.

If Dodge, Chrysler, Plymouth, Jeep and Eagle dealers do their job right, there is much to gain. The dealer will have achieved one of the highest goals in the auto industry, a satisfied customer.

4. THE RIGHT TO A SAFE VEHICLE

Safety is a right we all desire, not just for ourselves, but for our families, too. That's why Chrysler has committed enormous resources and talents to building you a safe car. And that commitment has taken hold.

Chrysler is the first American car company to offer air bags as standard equipment. And by 1990, Chrysler will feature driver-side air bags on every car it builds in the United States.

Every Chrysler-built passenger car has over 30 safety features standard for 1988. And Chrysler plans to add many more features between now and the 1993 model year.

The passenger compartments for coupes and sedans provide protection because of the vehicles' unitized body construction.

By 1992, Chrysler will have spent 440 million dollars on testing to learn how to enhance your safety.

Chrysler Motors has a Safety Shield Program from design through assembly. Safety components are identified by a safety shield, so everyone at the factory knows its importance to safety.

This program guards against the malfunction of critical items such as brakes, wipers, steering systems and starters. And is one of the prime reasons why Chrysler Motors has the lowest average percentage of safety-related recalls for any American car company.

5. THE RIGHT TO ADDRESS GRIEVANCES

If you have a warranty-related problem with your dealer, you have an impartial ear ready and willing to listen to your side of the story, at no cost to you: The Customer Arbitration Board.

This Arbitration Board consists of three voting members: a local customer advocate, a technical expert and a person from the general public. And not one of them is affiliated with Chrysler in any way.

All decisions made by the Board include the action to be taken by the dealer or Chrysler and the time by which the action must be taken.

All decisions are binding on the dealer and Chrysler, but not on you, unless you accept the decision. The whole process normally takes no longer than 40 days. We believe this Board is, without question, the best in the industry.

6. THE RIGHT TO SATISFACTION

Chrysler believes there's no secret to satisfying customers. Build them a quality product. A safe product. Protect it right, with the longest powertrain warranty in the business. Service it right. And treat them with respect. It's that simple.

And Chrysler is doing exactly that. The proof is coming from you, the customer.

J.D. Power and Associates, one of the most respected research organizations in the industry, surveyed over 25,000 owners of 1987 passenger cars for product quality and dealer service: the results: Chrysler Motors has the highest Customer Satisfaction of any American car company - two years running - for overall product quality and dealer service.**

We've come a long way, but everything we've accomplished thus far is just a fraction of what Chrysler has planned for the future.

Because Chrysler believes it's our job to satisfy your needs. We have the obligations...you have the rights.
