GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Residents along the Gulf Coast are stockpiling on food and supplies as they brace themselves for powerful Hurricane Gilbert while emergency preparedness officials make plans for evacuations.

The hurricane, packing winds of 175 mph, already ripped through Jamaica and the Cayman Islands and took aim early today on the resort island of Cozumel, Mexico. It was expected to move into the Gulf of Mexico late today.

Robert Sheets, director of the National Hurricane Center, said early today he expects Gilbert to make landfall on the Texas-Louisiana coast in about 48 to 60 hours.

"There's a little bit of uncertainty how fast it's going to turn to the north or northwest, so we're going to wait until the center moves off the coast of Yucatan Peninsula and we'll still have 38 to 46 hours," Sheets said during an interview on NBC-TV's "Today" show.

Bill Tompkins, coordinator for the Galveston County emergency preparedness, said communications systems were being tested and procedures were being reviewed. Based on weather forecasts from at least four sources, he expected the storm to be in the Gulf by Thursday morning.

"That's probably our most critical time," he said. "We'll be making decisions Thursday morning about what to recommend to the citizens."

In Orange County, officials were meeting this morning to pre-plan a possible evacuation.

"This thing could come right at us," said Orange County Emergency Management Systems Coordinator Dick Stanfield.

Orange officials on Tuesday also began stockpiling sand for use in sandbagging operations if the hurricane continues to head toward the area.

"This could come right at us," Stanfield said. "I hope it doesn't. I hope it goes into the part of Mexico where nobody lives."

In Brownsville, Cameron County Sheriff Alex Perez said he has already posted special schedules for his officers to follow if a hurricane watch is issued.

"We've contacted all the schools for shelters, to see which ones we'll be using this time," said Perez. "We're getting all the emergency generators ready for the jails, and getting extra gas for the patrol cars and getting everything set up. It seems like it will be coming this way, so we are getting prepared."

For the second time in two weeks, oil companies evacuated thousands of workers from rigs in the Gulf.

Houston city officials also scheduled a meeting today to develop detailed emergency plans, said Dick Hawkins of the Office of Emergency Management.

He said the city's plans include cordoning off the downtown area.

Ask Us

Q. — Was the ad about the city tax rate (in the Sunday, Sept. 4 issue) paid for by a group protesting the rate?

A. — No. State law requires taxing entities which propose to increase taxes more than 3 percent to publish a quarter page ad notifying of this. The city's proposed tax rate is just over a 5 percent increase, and the city ran the ad mentioned.

In Brief

Hamadi trial

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) — Mohammed Ali Hamadi today accused witnesses at his trial of failing to tell the truth a day after they testified that Hamadi gloated over the killing of an American passenger during the hijacking of a TWA jet.

Hamadi, a Lebanese Shiite Moslem, is accused of murder and air piracy in the June 1985 hijacking. U.S. Navy diver Robert Stethem was killed and 39 Americans were held captive for 17 days.

"The testimony very often deviates far from the truth," Hamadi told the court today.

Funds okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is releasing $188 million in overdue U.S. payments to the United Nations after becoming convinced that the world body has reformed some administrative and budgetary procedures.

At the same time, the White House said Reagan told the State Department to work out "a multi-year" repayment plan involving some $520 million in arrearages that have piled up in recent years because of U.S. dissatisfaction with the way the U.N. was run.

"In announcing these decisions, the president called on the United Nations to continue progress in areas where reform remains incomplete," spokesman Marlin Fitzwater told reporters Tuesday.

Utility sale

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — San Antonio City Council members have decided to at least temporarily halt talk of selling municipally owned City Public Service for $2 billion profit to fuel city capital improvements.

Members of the City Council and City Public Service trustees met Tuesday to consider the possibility of the sale. But a motion to go forward with further study of the idea failed to gain a majority vote, meaning the subject is closed unless a council member wants it brought up again.

The council voted 5-4 in favor of moving forward with a "short study" of the issues surrounding a potential sale of CPS to an investor-held corporation.

Deportation woes cause local crisis for French family

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of articles pertaining to a local family's effort to stay in Snyder and their adopted country of America.)

By DONNY BROWN
SDN Managing Editor

The Jack Pointeau family, which has learned to call this oil-based West Texas town "home" the past seven years, has been notified they will have to leave America by Sept. 30.

The industrious French family, who operate the Travelodge here and have graduated three of their four children from Snyder High School, were notified last Thursday that their "investor's permit" issued through the U.S. Dept. of Immigration would not be renewed.

The notification has left Jack, the 51-year-old head of this family of five, confused, frustrated and angry.

With his anger, he asks the rhetorical questions, "why my family and why now?"

Because of Jack's innate ability to "hustle," establishing smaller businesses such as a frozen food sales operation and a business card service, he has managed to supplement an income hit hard by the state's depressed oil economy and its related effects on the motel industry.

As a result, the family is not faced with angry creditors waiting to foreclose.

Because of his family's seemingly seamless integration into the community—where Jack is a member of Rotary and his wife Francoise a Sunday school teacher's aid at St. Elizabeth's Catholic Church, the Pointeau's do not face unhappy neighbors disoriented with the fact of their foreign birth.

In Jack's view, they are troubled by a new type of adversity for those of other lands who attempt to grow roots in America—answering machines that fail to return phone calls and a faceless bureaucracy which has seemingly decided to enforce a law "now" which the Pointeau's could have been informed of seven years ago.

County again receives rain

From Local, Wire Reports
Moist, unstable air and an upper level disturbance combined to trigger scattered showers and thunderstorms across Texas Tuesday afternoon and night, including 7.8 of an inch of rain here.

Other county rain totals were varied, from 1.3 inches at Ira to 10-of-an-inch at the Lake Thomas dam. Others totals included Hermleigh, 6.0; Fluvanna, 3.5; and Dunn, 2.0 of an inch.

Snyder's official rain total to date is now at 16.68 inches.

The forecast for more rain Wednesday is now listed at less than 20 percent locally.

Across the state, showers and thunderstorms were expected to continue through Wednesday night with the possibility that some may linger Thursday.

The extended forecast Friday through Sunday for most of Texas will depend on the direction and speed of movement of Hurricane Gilbert and where the hurricane makes landfall, according to National Weather Service officials.

Early Wednesday, showers and thunderstorms were reported over western portions of the Panhandle and over northwestern sections of North Texas. Heavy showers moved into the Wichita Falls area before dawn.

A weak frontal boundary extended across North Texas from near Texarkana to near Abilene.

30 volunteers counted for literacy workshop

Some 30 people have expressed an interest in attending the upcoming Laubach Way to Reading Workshop which will be held at the Scurry County Library this Friday and Saturday, reports Janice Mitchell, librarian. Ten of those are from Colorado City.

The workshop is designed to teach these individuals how to be tutors for persons who have difficulty reading.

"If I receive a bunch of calls today I may have to change the location of the workshop since the library can only accommodate 30 people," Mrs. Mitchell said. "I won't turn anyone away."

The Friday session will be conducted from 6-9 p.m. and the session on Saturday will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. with one hour reserved for lunch.

Registration will be held from 5:30-6 p.m. on Friday.

The presenter will be Judy Higginbotham, a Laubach certified instructor from Lubbock who will train volunteer tutors to teach adults to read by using the Laubach method.

The workshop is open to anyone in the community who is willing to volunteer their time to teach adults to read. All materials will be provided.

At the completion of the 10-hour workshop, all participants will be awarded a tutor certificate.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "School dropouts too often can't read the handwriting on the wall."

Sometimes he tries to trick us, but we've got proof that Bunk Casey is no fool.

He's been described as everything from crazy to eccentric for his dedication to jogging in all sorts of weather. And when he's drinking coffee at the Dairy Queen, Bunk may take an extreme position just for sake of argument.

Casey will tell you he's an expert—and this time of year he claims to be an expert on politics and how to get rid of those annoying political solicitors who ask for a contribution right in the middle of a Gunsmoke re-run.

When the telephone rang, the caller told Casey that he was calling for Senator Lloyd Bentsen.

A quick-thinking Bunk Casey replied, "He's not here," and quickly hung up.

That's what some would call heads-up politics.

It reminded us of the story told about the unsuccessful presidential candidate, Adlai Stevenson.

After he had made an eloquent, thoughtful speech during one of his presidential campaigns, the candidate was approached by a woman who said, "Gov. Stevenson, your speech was magnificent. You'll get the vote of every thinking person in this country."

"It's not enough," the Democrat replied. "I need a majority."

One of the coffee shop regulars claims a woman thinks different from a man, and for that reason, has no business in the White House.

He says, "Women will buy anything they think is exclusive. Men are more practical. They will buy anything they think everybody else is buying."

Program No. one

NEW YORK (AP) — She might not be any match for them on the field, but Miss America knocked out those big mean football boys in the television ratings.

CBS and ABC vainly put up college football games against "The Miss America Pageant" on NBC, but they ended up way downfield in 60th and 62nd places, respectively, while Miss America was No. 1.

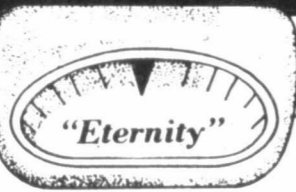

NBC estimates that between 50 million and 55 million viewers watched all or part of the pageant on Saturday night, giving it a rating of 22.3 and a 44 share, higher than last year's 20.4 and 42, according to the A.C. Nielsen Co.

Each rating point represents 886,000 homes with televisions. The share is a percentage of sets in use.

After the pageant, last week's top prime-time shows were: "Golden Girls" NBC, "Baby Boom" NBC, "The Cosby Show" NBC, "Monday Night Football" — Washington vs. New York Giants" ABC, the Bob Hope Special on NBC, "Full House" on ABC in its Tuesday time period, "Who's the Boss?" ABC, "Cheers" NBC and "227" NBC.

Settlement will be reviewed

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Amarillo City commissioners have voted to accept a settlement in the city's lawsuit against Mesa Limited Partnership and Energas Co. over the Amarillo gas supply.

Mayor Glen Parkey and commissioners John Chandler and Don Chrysler Tuesday endorsed the settlement that could reach $9 million after making one change in the 23-page agreement, the Amarillo Globe-News reported.

The agreement must be approved by a state district court judge.

The City of Amarillo is suing the two companies, claiming the quality and amount of the city's gas supply has been damaged because of Mesa's alleged over-extraction of natural gas liquids from the gas supply sold in the city.

The city also claims damages because of price markups of the gas supply dedicated to the city under a 1928 contract.

Mesa General Counsel W. Lin Patterson and Energas General Counsel Don James said they would review the change and, if found acceptable, recommend to Amarillo-based Mesa and Energas that the companies support it.

A paragraph in the settlement was changed by commissioners, so the city could keep its rights and assert beneficiary claims to natural gas from the "B" acreage in the West Panhandle Fields, according to a Sept. 12 letter to the commission from Robert L. Templeton, the city's outside counsel in the lawsuit.

Gifted, talented students meet under stairwell

DALLAS (AP) — Students of Sharon Arnold don't have to look far to see the steps to higher education.

They sit on them, daily.

For the past two weeks, the 21 gifted and talented students have been meeting on a stairwell at Lakewood Elementary School as they await a portable classroom. They have had to put up with noisy hallways between classes, no air conditioning and poor lighting.

Penumbra, which means "a space of partial illumination," was one of the vocabulary words during a morning reading lesson, made more difficult by burned-out light bulbs.

"Now when your parents ask you about your classroom at school, you can tell them it's a penumbra," Ms. Arnold told the students. "At least you'll have a good vocabulary, no matter where we're having class."

The teacher doesn't have far to look to show her students the steps to higher education.

Her pupils call their classroom "the townhouse." The wall is lined with colorful pictures showing steps for higher-order thinking and illustrating the importance of reading. Other signs explain pertinent voting terms, and still others encourage students to "be risk takers."

The first landing is used as a library; the second as a study area. It has a couch, rug and 10 small pillows for students to use as they recline on every other step to read a Jack London story.

"I never tried to approach this place as a traditional classroom, and I think that's why it works," Ms. Arnold said. "The only thing that really bothered me was not being able to do bulletin boards."

"All the decorations are held up with duct tape, and I spend the weekends worrying about how much is going to be on the floor when I get back."

Test yourself as declarer

By James Jacoby

Casual players may never learn to recognize situations that call for unusual plays, but experts are supposed to be alert to them. Today's deal presents just such a situation. Would you be surprised to know that two of our best young experts flunked the test? Anyway, cover the East and West hands and see how you would do in four spades.

The opening lead is the nine of diamonds. East wins the ace and leads a low club. You will either play the king or play low. Either way, West will take the ace and queen in some order, depending upon what you play, and will continue with a third club. So plan the play. Did you discard a heart? And then did you play dummy's A-K of spades and a spade back to your queen to take a heart finesse? That would win, but you are now in trouble. If you play the heart ace, East shows out, so you can no longer ruff out the king. If you return to your hand with the spade 10 to take another heart finesse, once again the bad heart split defeats you.

And the winning play? Ruff the third club in your hand and take an immediate heart finesse. Then play three rounds of spades ending in your hand and take another heart finesse. Then play a spade back to your 10 and take one more heart finesse. Voila, you are home!

You've Come A Long Way Baby Happy 90th Birthday Love, "the Pherigo Clan" the missing puzzle piece that could explain why the plane crashed and 14 people died, an official said.

Lee Dickinson Jr. of the National Transportation Safety Board said Capt. Larry Davis "does not know why this plane crashed."

Davis was released from the hospital Tuesday after talking for NTSB investigators about two hours. He was one of 94 survivors from the Aug. 31 crash at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport and was being treated at Parkland Memorial Hospital for back and facial injuries.

Dickinson, who briefed the press by telephone from Washington, D.C. Tuesday, said that Davis seemed to have sharp recollections of much of the flight, but could not help explain why the plane lost engine power and crashed.

Davis told investigators that the flight from Jackson, Miss., to Dallas had been uneventful, and that everything seemed normal again as he waited on the D-FW taxiway to leave for Salt Lake City, Utah.

When the plane took off, everything seemed normal until it climbed into the air, Davis told investigators.

Davis heard "two loud bangs, or explosions," but had not heard any warning beforehand to indicate something was amiss.

"He previously experienced compressor stalls, but nothing like this," Dickinson said.

Davis, who is still on medication but has been taken off morphine, told investigators he went to full power and simply "tried to keep the airplane in the air."

One of the last things Davis told investigators he recalls was the fact that he had failed in an attempt to pull the plane out of trouble, but he did not remember the tail dragging along the runway.

Investigators had hoped Davis might be able to tell them if the plane's flaps had been set correctly. But he could only tell them that he remembered they were approved in a preflight checklist.

Try for victory again Saturday...

Lady Tigers drop second loop contest

Snyder's Lady Tigers hope to find the ingredient that has been missing in back-to-back District 4-4A losses before they meet up with Fort Stockton this weekend. "We definitely have our work cut out for us now," said Coach Patty Grimm after the Tigers lost 16-14, 15-13 to Sweetwater here Tuesday night. "Everybody gets up for us. We're going to have to get up for every game and play hard from start to finish. I think we played hard (against Sweetwater) but we didn't have that fine edge or something to pull it out."

Whatever was missing from Tuesday's loss and last Saturday's 15-4, 15-2 loss to defending state champion Pecos will have to be found. Fort Stockton comes to the high school gym Saturday, bringing a 2-0 district record.

"It's still real early and we're definitely not out of it. But we obviously need to turn things around," said Grimm.

Serving for points for Snyder were Angie Brewster 7, Rhonda Echols 6, Teena Brazier 5, and Holly Fuller, Melody Pickering and Sandra Morin, 3 apiece.

"The first game we missed some crucial serves. As a matter of fact we had five missed serves," said the coach.

Snyder led 10-4 in the second game, but couldn't put the Lady

Mustangs away.

The loss put Snyder at 10-8 on the season, 0-2 in district play. Sweetwater vaults to 11-5 and 1-1.

In other matches Tuesday, Snyder junior varsity defeated Sweetwater 15-11, 3-15, 15-6. Snyder freshmen lost. No scores were available from that contest.

"Overall we played well together," said JV coach Laurie Welch. "We had a little trouble serving but when we did we had offense and scored."

Saturday's action begins at 2 p.m. with a junior varsity match. The varsity takes the floor at 3 p.m. Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Landry lauds Walker

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Tom Landry said if he wasn't coaching the Dallas Cowboys he would pay to watch Herschel Walker run.

"If I was an offensive lineman I would enjoy blocking for Herschel," Landry said.

Walker's fourth period performance against the Phoenix Cardinals on Monday night underlined why the Cowboys traded Tony Dorsett to Denver.

Walker carried nine times on a 13-play, 81-yard drive to the winning touchdown.

"Herschel was just dominating," Landry said on Tuesday. "He's just so powerful that you can be in position to make the tackle and he runs over you."

The Cowboys traded Dorsett to Denver after Landry decided Dallas' future was with the younger Walker.

Walker rushed 29 times for 149 yards against the Cardinals and scored on a 3-yard run.

"Herschel is the number one challenge of any defense that plays us," Landry said. "What you saw in the fourth quarter against the Cardinals is the type of offense we are leaning toward."

Landry added, "I guess in that fourth quarter was as many times as Herschel has ever run the ball. He just gets stronger. That was the hardest workout he's had since summer camp. I was beginning to wonder if he had any spring left in his legs."

Landry said the Cowboys, who are 1-1, are "playing a much tougher offense than we did in the 1970s. We are blocking tougher. Our young offensive line is improving."

Landry said quarterback Steve Pelluer only had "an average" game against the Cardinals.

"He didn't beat us or get trapped," Landry said. "He only had one bad throw when he under-threw a receiver deep. He's learning. It's a progressive thing. He threw a ball away down there on the goal when the receiver was covered. He learned that from last week."

The Cowboys are tied with the New York Giants, Washington, and Philadelphia for the lead in the National Conference East with 1-1 records.

Dallas hosts the Giants at 3 p.m. in Texas Stadium in the Cowboys' home opener. About 17,000 tickets were still available.

"Even without (suspended linebacker) Lawrence Taylor the Giants still have one of the top defensive teams in the business," Landry said. "They have a dominating defense whether

Gaylord decision is expected today

DALLAS (AP) - A decision is expected to be announced today on whether Oklahoma billionaire Edward L. Gaylord will exercise an option to buy controlling interest in the Texas Rangers.

The announcement will be made without the fanfare of a press conference, Gaylord said.

WTC looks to regroup, get set for conference

DENISON - Things will get better for Western Texas College golf team. They have to.

"We really lacked a lot of consistency in our scoring," said Coach Dave Foster, after his Westerners shot a 617 to finish eighth at the Grayson County Invitational here Monday and Tuesday. "We did not play as bad as we scored. By that, I mean we made a lot of mental errors. We made a lot of high school mistakes. We weren't thinking on the golf course at all. It was a very disappointing first tournament."

San Jacinto, New Mexico Military Institute and Odessa all shot 583s to tie for first place in the 36-hole event, held Monday at Tanglewood and Tuesday at Grayson County Golf Course. Western turned in a 306 Monday and a 311 Tuesday. Fifteen teams entered.

Gary Schoen led Western with a 147, carding a 74 and a 73. Mark Burgen turned in an 80-71-151, followed by Lance Jones with a 78-74-152. At 154 were Darrell Cofer (75-79), Wade Hatter (77-77) and Jeff Baker (78-76). Chris Jefferson shot (76-79) 155 and David Turrentine a (82-79) 161.

Medalist was San Jacinto's Chris Chapman with a 141. Alvaro Ortiz of Weatherford and Mike Felker of Boosier shot 142s.

"What we're looking for now is to regroup these next couple of days and get ready for conference here Saturday," said Foster.

The 27-hole tournament begins 8:30 a.m. Saturday at the college course. Teams entered are WTC, New Mexico Military, Odessa, Midland and defending conference champion New Mexico Junior College.

Details given about state primaries

By The Associated Press

Wisconsin Democrats dashed the comeback hopes of a former governor by nominating a millionaire sports club owner to succeed Sen. William Proxmire, while a Republican legislator became the first woman chosen by either party for a Senate seat this year.

Elsewhere in six state primaries Tuesday, two Republican congressmen from New England passed the first hurdle toward higher office.

Vermont Rep. Jim Jeffords won the right to face Democrat William Gray, a former U.S. attorney, for the seat of retiring GOP Sen. Robert Stafford.

New Hampshire Rep. Judd Gregg, son of a former governor, captured his party's nomination to succeed Republican Gov. John Sununu and will run against Democrat Paul McEachern.

In Arizona, Republican candidates loyal to ousted Gov. Evan Mecham were having mixed results in primary challenges to more than a dozen legislators who voted to impeach or convict Mecham last spring. Senate President Carl Kunasek was defeated by Mecham supporter Jerry Gillespie, according to unofficial returns, and House Speaker Joe Lane appeared to be in trouble in his southeastern Arizona district. But Mecham's former press secretary, Ron Bellus, was trounced by former Senate President Leo Corbet.

Minnesota voters, as expected, set up a November clash between Republican Sen. Dave Durenberger, seeking a third term, and Democratic Attorney General Hubert H. "Skip" Humphrey III.

The victor in Wisconsin's Democratic Senate primary was Herbert Kohl, the Milwaukee Bucks basketball team owner who spent $2.1 million, mostly his own money, on a campaign built mainly on TV ads.

Kohl, seeking office for the first time, said voters wanted "a qualified non-politician with real business-world experience and they said they want a senator who'll be independent of special interests."

But former Gov. Anthony S. Earl, who finished second in a five-way race, said he hoped there could still be a place for personal campaigning not so reliant on big money.

"I don't think Herb Kohl would mind if I say he got the most votes but I got the best votes," said Earl, who lost the governorship in 1986 after one term.

Kohl will face state Sen. Susan Engleiter, who defeated Stephen B. King, a conservative former state GOP chairman. Engleiter, in a reference to Kohl's wealth, said there were "major differences between me and Herb Kohl. I am an average member of an average Wisconsin family. I understand the concerns of the people out there."

King had criticized Engleiter for seeking the Senate when she has two small children at home.

That theme also was sounded in New Hampshire, when Sen. Gordon Humphrey said former state Sen. Betty Tamposi should not seek the GOP nomination for Congress because she has a 22-month-old daughter. Humphrey apologized two days later, but the candidate he backed, former state Supreme Court Justice Chuck Douglas, won a six-way race.

In New Hampshire's GOP gubernatorial primary, Gregg brushed aside two opponents, then promptly attacked McEachern, vowing to "show the people of New Hampshire what deep philosophical differences there are ... a choice between fiscal restraint and liberal spending."

In Vermont, Jeffords soundly defeated conservative Michael Griffes after a primary in which his frequent opposition to President Reagan's policies became an issue. Jeffords said Griffes' supporters had "overstated the case, to put it nicely" in attacking him on issues such as gun control and abortion.

"I'm hurt that people would feel so emotional about me that they would want to try to destroy me," said Jeffords, whose popularity among Democrats makes him a heavy favorite.

Primaries also were held in: — Utah, where Democrat Robert Stringham edged Craig Oliver for the nomination to oppose Republican Rep. Howard Nielson.

— The District of Columbia, where all five City Council members up for re-election gained their party's nomination. The council has 13 members.

DR. GOTT Scabies sores keep returning

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My sister is 87 and lives in a retirement home. She has had scabies for a year. She takes oral medicine and the nurse applies ointment but the sores persist. What else can we do?

DEAR READER: Scabies, a skin condition marked by intense itching, is caused by the itch mite, a parasite that burrows into the skin and deposits her eggs. It is highly contagious but easily treated with Kwell lotion. Your sister may be experiencing repeated infections, courtesy of the other nursing-home residents or workers. I believe that she will continue to have symptoms until the environmental sources of the mites are eradicated. Speak to her doctor about this problem because he or she will have to deal with more than your sister to prevent recurrences. For more information that may help, I'm sending you a copy of my Health Report "What You Should Know About Nursing Homes." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My son stepped on a nail and developed scedosprium inflatum. He's had two hospitalizations for intravenous antibiotics, three operations on the foot, and it still persists. He's only 7, and is losing bone. What is our next step?

DEAR READER: Scedosprium is now known as monosporium, a type of fungus that can cause deep tissue infection. Your son appears to have contracted a rare infectious disease of the foot, called maduromycosis or madura foot. This serious chronic condition is caused by more than 20 different micro-organisms, of which monosporium is one.

The problem with madura foot is that the fungus infection (and secondary bacterial contamination) are difficult to treat. The inflammation penetrates deeply, antibiotics may give only temporary relief, and surgical drainage may be necessary. In advanced cases, amputation may be the only method of stopping the infection.

Fortunately, maduromycosis progresses very slowly, and modern antifungus drugs, such as amphotericin B, are often effective. I think that your son needs the combined expertise of an orthopedic surgeon and an infectious disease specialist. Working together, the two doctors can advise you further.

Huckabee photos to be displayed

Photographs by Jay Huckabee of Snyder and Dudley Cramer of Oakland, Calif., a former Snyder resident, will be on display at the Ranching Heritage Center in Lubbock during the annual Ranch Day on Saturday.

Buildings at the National Ranching Heritage Center depict the development of the ranching industry in Texas. Both Huckabee and Cramer became interested in photographing ranch buildings in the early 1970s while they were members of the Snyder Unit of the Ranch Heritage Association (formerly the Ranch Headquarters Association).

Photographs by the two were featured in an exhibit in the Scurry County Museum last year.

Cramer photographed several of the buildings before they were moved to the Ranch Heritage Center and his 13 photographs show them in their original settings. His photographs are all black and white.

Huckabee will display about 10 photographs in color, showing the Harrell house, originally in Scurry County, the OS Ranch headquarters near Post in Garza County and Paddles and Cairns houses in Kent County. His pictures of the Harrell House include one showing Myrtle and Fay Harrell, who gave the house to the Ranching Heritage Center.

The presentation of the eleventh annual National Golden Spur award on Friday will precede Ranch Day. O. J. Barron, Jr., will be this year's recipient. Several Snyder residents will attend the ceremonies to be held in Lubbock's Memorial Civic Center.

The Ranching Heritage Center, located just east of the Texas Tech Museum on Fourth Street, is open the year around. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 1-5 p.m. on Sunday. Visitors on Ranch Day will see demonstrations of pioneer ranch skills and enjoy special entertainment.

Napoleon Bonaparte abdicated as emperor of France in 1814 and was banished to the island of Elba.

Dukakis campaigning against Bush liability

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michael Dukakis relishes running against Dan Quayle.

"Is there anybody here today," he recently asked a shirt-sleeve rally in Portland, Ore., "is there any citizen in the United States of America, who thinks Dan Quayle is qualified to be the nation's drug czar?"

Loud cheers and hoots from the partisan crowd.

A week later, Dukakis was in Chicago to deliver an address on his view of U.S.-Soviet relations, the kind of speech aides were quick to describe as "major."

Early on, he questioned Republican nominee George Bush's judgment with this example:

AP analysis

"If he truly believes that J. Danforth Quayle is qualified to be one heartbeat away from the presidency, how can we trust his judgment when America's future is on the line."

Dukakis campaign aides make no secret they are convinced Quayle, the junior senator from Indiana, is a major liability to Bush as the GOP vice presidential nominee.

Certainly, polls show that most voters think Dukakis' running mate, Texas Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, is far more qualified to succeed to the presidency than Quayle.

But those same polls also show Bush gaining, not losing, ground since he picked Quayle.

That phenomenon can be explained by a number of factors unrelated to Quayle.

The big early Dukakis lead was illusory, based as it was on polls taken before voters were giving a moment's thought to the two candidates.

More important was how Dukakis dealt with his perceived setback in his campaign to capture the White House.

His first reaction was to heat up his rhetoric. But the target was more often Quayle than Bush.

But as tempting a target as Quayle might be, when Dukakis attacks him, the Democratic presidential nominee is in the position of spending a lot of time running against the GOP vice presidential candidate.

It's the political equivalent of kicking a small dog. The dog gets all the sympathy even when he sinks his teeth into the kicker's ankle.

When Bentsen kicks Quayle, that's a fair fight. Or when other Democratic senators take jabs at their GOP colleague that too is effective.

Dukakis has as great a dilemma and fewer options on the other principal target of his stump speeches — Ronald Reagan.

Twice now — in 1980 and 1984 — the Democrats took their best shots at Reagan. The total score was Reagan 93 states, Jimmy Carter and Walter Mondale 7.

When the Democratic nominee wants to attack the record of the past seven and a half years, he is doing what Democrats had hoped they would never again have to endure — he is campaigning against Ronald Reagan.

U. S. monitors nuclear tests by Soviets

SEMPALATINSK, U.S.S.R. (AP) — U.S. experts for the first time monitored a Soviet nuclear test explosion today at this long-secret testing ground in the republic of Kazakhstan, the official Tass news agency reported.

At 100-150 kilotons, the blast had a forces several times more powerful than the bomb that devastated Hiroshima, Japan, at the end of World War II, Tass said.

The Hagfors Observatory of the Swedish Defense Research Establishment said it measured the explosion at 50-150 kilotons.

Buried in a hole more than 2,000 feet underground, the nuclear explosion was not expected to have a noticeable impact at the observation site about 30 miles from the site in the vast, sparsely populated region 1,700 miles east of Moscow.

"The radiation situation in the region of the test and beyond the boundaries of the test site is normal," Tass reported after the blast at 8 a.m.

Sophisticated American sensors planted just over 10 yards from the device itself and five seismic sensors each in the United States and Soviet Union were designed to gauge the force of the blast.

The verification techniques were expected to lead the U.S. Senate to ratify two long-pending treaties limiting the size of underground blasts.

Workshop set for literacy

Any adult who wants to learn how to read may contact the library about participating in the program, she said, adding, that they will also teach those 16 and older who have dropped out of school.

The library may be contacted at 573-5572 for more information.

According to Mrs. Mitchell, it is estimated that one out of every five adults in Scurry County has trouble reading. She also said that no special professional experience is needed to become a literacy tutor, just a willingness to expend time, energy and effort to help an adult learn to read, and a sensitivity to the frustrations felt by the illiterate adult.

Chain-reaction wreck damages four vehicles

Three people were injured, none seriously, in a four-vehicle chain-reaction accident at 11:48 a.m. Tuesday in the 2300 Block of 37th St.

Police said the accident developed as one car stopped for another vehicle that was crossing the street and the others, all going the same direction, ran into one another from behind.

The vehicles involved were a 1976 Toyota station wagon driven by Jerine Slaughter of Rt. 3, a 1977 Oldsmobile two-door driven by Michael D. Brasher of Rt. 2, a 1988 GMC pickup truck driven by Leslie N. Rinehart of Rt. 1 and a 1971 Ford pickup driven by Justin R. Hester of 2257 Sunset Ave.

Slaughter, 18-year-old Billie Slaughter, a passenger, and 15-year-old Stephanie Ornelas, a passenger in the Rinehart pickup, were all treated and released at Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

None of the vehicles had to be towed, police said.

In a Friday incident that was reported at 2:38 p.m. Tuesday, a 1972 Ford pickup driven by Perry W. Lee of 1601 Ave. E was in collision with a parked 1983 Toyota two-door owned by Billy W. McLanahan of Hemphill in the parking lot of a College Ave. drive-in restaurant.

Texas experts downplay effects

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas economists and oil analysts are shrugging off a recent slide in the price of oil, what many consider the lifeblood of the state's economy.

And that's a dramatic change from the days when the prospect of $14-per-barrel oil would send shivers down the spine of any self-respecting Texan.

Optimists may attribute the change in attitude to a diversification of the state's economy since the last great oil bust of 1986. But analysts say the main reason is that oil companies have grown so lean the prices will have to drop considerably to force further cutbacks.

Petitions are now being circulated throughout Snyder by individuals seeking to assist the Jack Pointeau family, which has been notified that effective Sept. 30 their visa to stay in America will be suspended.

The family, which initially arrived in Snyder in 1983 and has since graduated three of the four Pointeau children from Snyder High School, has been told that a sign of community support might weigh in their favor for U.S. Immigration officials to at least extend this Sept. 30 deadline.

Family learns of deportation threat

"They do not know me," he says with anger rattling his voice, "and they do not want to know me."

The family arrived in America for a visit in the fall of 1981. By Christmas of that year, they had decided that America was still a land of opportunity, and they invested their savings into a motel in Oakland, Calif.

To stay in the U.S., they applied for and received an E-2 visa, a so-called "investor's visa," in September of 1982.

In February of 1983, they sold the California motel and relocated to Snyder after having learned that the Travelodge here was for sale.

"At that time the business was fantastic," Jack remembers. "But now..." and he finishes his sentence with a shrug of his shoulders.

Upon their arrival in the U.S., the Pointeau family spoke only a marginal amount of English.

To compensate, however, they immersed themselves in American life. And their efforts have been rewarded.

Their 20-year-old daughter, Isabelle, graduated from SHS in 1985, finishing as a member of the National Honor Society here and achieving a listing in the Who's Who of American Students both in 1984 and '85.

She earned an associate degree from Western Texas College, graduating with a 3.7 grade point average, and is now working toward her BA degree in French and math at Angelo State University (ASU) in San Angelo, planning to graduate in December of this year.

Their second daughter, Christine, now 19, graduated from high school here in 1986 and is also now studying at ASU after first graduating from WTC. She was a member of the honorary organization Phi Theta Kappa at WTC and currently has a 3.6 GPA at ASU.

Their son, Francois, known as Frank to his friends, is currently a freshman at WTC, graduating from Snyder High at the age of 16 last spring. In addition to his studies, he has earned a third degree "blue belt" in Tae Kwon Do and dreams of some day being accepting into the U.S. Naval Academy.

The Pointeau's youngest child, Virginie, is 13 and an eighth grader. She is in advanced classes for both math and algebra and has been first chair in the band's clarinet section.

Francoise Pointeau, the mother of the brood, has also been busy. Since her arrival in the U.S., she has also graduated from both WTC and ASU, earning her BA degree there in May of 1987.

She is now enrolled in the graduate program at Texas Tech University, studying French Literature. Last year, she was asked to be a teaching assistant at Tech, but found this impossible because of her "temporary" visa status.

Likewise, the Pointeau children have been unable to receive state financial assistance in college because of their status as non-citizens. They have received academic scholarships, however.

All of these plans and work have been formulated with the assumption that the family had a future in America. And each September, they applied for and were granted a one-year extension on their investor's visa.

Last Thursday, their hopes and dreams were shaken at the foundation.

(In Thursday's newspaper, the SDN will continue the developing story of the Pointeaus.)

The statement above shows the percentage increase the proposed rate represents over the (effective) tax rate that the unit published on (July 26, 1988). The following table compares taxes on an average home in this taxing unit last year to taxes proposed on the average home this year. Again, your individual taxes may be higher or lower, depending on the taxable value of your property.

	Last Year	This Year
Average home value	22,527	22,970
General exemptions available (amount available on the average home, not including senior citizen's or disabled person's exemptions)	5,000	5,000
Average taxable value	17,527	17,970
Tax rate	1.016	.9681
Tax	178.07	173.97
		(proposed)

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would (decrease) by $ (4.10) or (2.3% decrease) percent compared with last year's taxes.

Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the tax rate would (decrease) by $ (.0479) per $100 of taxable value or (4.7% decrease) percent compared to last year's tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.
