Olton Lads To Kansas Lamb-Buying

A group of Olton boys were scheduled to leave Friday for Kansas to attend the Southdown and Shropshire wether lamb sale to be held at New Haven. The sale is to be held on the Harold Tonn farm. Many of the good show lambs bought for show purposes all over the country are purchased at this sale. The Olton boys anticipate buying some 30 head of lambs. The boys are to be accompanied to the sale by Vocational Agriculture Instructor Harold Warren and J. C. Hamby and Merrill Brigrance.

Olton FFA Boys Win At Lubbock

Olton FFA boys won some top honors over the week-end at the area contest held in Lubbock's Texas Tech. The land judging team made up of Royce McFadden, Jerry Moore and Jack Hysinger, placed third. Jerry Moore was third high individual. Royce McFadden was sixth. John Adams was third high in competition with 321 boys in the livestock judging contest.

Communications, Transportation Committees Appointed By Mayor

Olton Wednesday night set up an organization to cope with any disaster which might occur here.

Mayor D. Y. Ray called the meeting which was attended by approximately 30 townsmen including the city health officer, Dr. B. J. Souders.

Principal speaker for the occasion was County Judge Bob Kirk. Olton's organization will fit in with a similar organization being organized on a county-wide scale.

Mayor Ray appointed Deputy Sheriff V. L. Smith to take charge of communications. Deputy Smith pointed out that most telephones connecting Olton to the outside world probably would be inoperative in event of a major disaster.

He said the town has access to several two-way radios which could be used if disaster strikes. In town there are five mobile units, including police cars, with two-way systems.

Deputy Smith designated City Hall as communications center. Ambulance central point will be the fire station. In case the fire station is not usable, Thompson Chevrolet Building will be used as the alternate ambulance depot.

The Olton Enterprise staff will be responsible for the identification and information center and will work in close coordination with the hospital facility set up.

The information station will keep as near complete as possible casualty lists. All information from the hospital will be dispensed through the information station.

This will make it unnecessary for folks looking for friends and loved ones to interfere with work of the physicians and nurses.

Police Chief Vernie Head has been authorized to deputize such men as he might need to help him with law enforcement.

On a county-wide basis, Judge Kirk said the county clerk's office in Littlefield will be the communications center.

He said the county is trying to organize a pool of two-way radios and heavy equipment for use in event of disaster.

Judge Kirk pointed out that normally the American Red Cross is designated to take charge in case of natural disasters and Civil Defense in case of attack.

He said one of the biggest problems in case of disaster is sight seers. He said two REA trucks were stalled three hours in traffic after the recent tornadoes near Littlefield.

He said equipment can be bottled up and useless unless folks keep off roads and streets in time of emergency.

He urged the city of Olton to pass stringent ordinances against the following of emergency vehicles.

He urged the city also to take steps to prevent looting. This was one of the reasons Chief Head was empowered to increase his police force in an emergency.

He said station KVOW in Littlefield has agreed to begin broadcasting weather information at the first indication of a tornado or emergency situation.

"We can do little to save property," Judge Kirk said, "but we can do a great deal to save life."

He advised folks in the path of an approaching tornado to open the north and east doors and windows. "You may have some water damage but you might save your house."

Houses caught in tornado vacuum tend to explode as the air inside tries to escape from the building into the vacuum outside.

Judge Kirk said the best thing to do is get into a cellar. "Be sure the door is in order," he advised.

The next best thing is to get into the southwest corner of a room or building, cover yourself with mattresses or get under a bed or table, he reported.

He warned sight seers against approaching high tension wires which have been blown down. "Just because it's dead on one end is no sign it's not alive on the other end," he declared.

He said large areas of wet ground can be activated with lethal electricity.

Membership Drive Gains Momentum For Proposed Recreational Center

A membership drive for the Olton Municipal Recreation Center is in full swing following a community meeting on Monday night in the high school auditorium at which proposals of the temporary officers and steering committee were presented.

In a tax-saving move, the committee had launched plans to join the City of Olton in creating and maintaining a recreational center that will furnish the children and adults, and their guests, of Olton and neighboring communities with adequate facilities for a well-rounded recreational program.

The A. D. Meltons, who several weeks ago offered a 90-acre tract for community recreational use, have agreed to deed the property to the City of Olton.

Members of the temporary steering committee are George Richards of Springlake, Melvin Hines, Ed Thompson, Troy Martin, Elmer Moore, A. D. Adams, Dub Hall, Basil Sherman, Ed Harris of Hart, Roy Roberts and Frank Cornelius.

TORNADO CLEAN-UP UNDERWAY IN HART CAMP AREA THIS WEEK

Hart Camp was a busy place this week as folks of that community and the surrounding area pitched in to help clean up after the tornado.

Parts of Hart Camp was reduced to rubble a week ago Sunday night. At the J. W. Wells place, the family has just moved into a spanking new trailer house. It will be home to them until their new house is constructed.

The Wells home was demolished by the storm. Little has been done at either the C. D. McAteer home or the Cotton Owens home. The Hart Camp Co-Op Gin wreckage likewise remains untouched.

Mr. Owens, manager of the gin, said the property has been left as is until an insurance settlement has been effected.

Mr. and Mrs. Owens are living at the Claude Parkey home. The McAteer family is staying on the J. W. Johnson, Jr., place.

Mr. Owens said the Salvation Army and the Red Cross has been of assistance in the Hart Camp disaster.

"There are certainly some good people around here," declared W. P. Neinst, owner of the place occupied by the Wells family.

He said folks from the surrounding area have been a great deal of help in the aftermath of the storm.

An effort has been made to clear the fields in the tornado areas of rubble. "We'll be finding rubbish out there for years," declared Mr. Neinst.

Deputy Sheriff V. L. Smith Puts Emphasis On Need For SL Phones

"A 15-minute delay in communications can mean the loss of a human life."

These were the words of Deputy Sheriff V. L. Smith of Olton as he loosed a verbal salvo in favor of improved telephone service at Springlake.

Mr. Smith addressed the regular Thursday noon meeting of the Springlake Lions Club at the Community Building.

Mr. Smith serves as deputy sheriff here at Olton and his territory extends westward beyond Springlake.

"I only recently had a telephone call from Springlake," the officer related, "and it had to be channelled through Lubbock."

Mr. Smith said the lack of adequate telephone communications hampers law enforcement a great deal.

"Why, if some of you folks had a burglar breaking into your house and you saw him and could call me and give a description of him, why I might catch him on the way out to your place," the deputy emphasized.

Surveys of the Springlake community's phone needs have been turned over to officials of REA and General Telephone Company of the Southwest.

Leaders in the movement for better telephone service at Springlake are Billy W. Clayton and J. J. Coker.

Mr. Clayton said the survey has revealed a need for 135 phones in the community. He said that as soon as the engineers of the companies involved have had time to study the survey, he expects negotiations for phone service to begin.

Mr. Clayton previously reported that an area of 60 square miles—10 miles long and 6 miles wide—is without telephone service. In this area, the city of Springlake is equipped with only 40 telephones, with only two circuits going into the town and no exchange there. There is an average of nine parties to a line, three of which are business, he said.

"A franchise will be given to whichever company can best serve our needs—whether it be General or REA remains to be seen," Mr. Clayton declared.

Annual dues of $60 per year will be in effect when the Center is opened for use. In the event that 100 members are not procured, the money taken in will be refunded.

Memberships Hit 46 Thursday morning Carroll Cox, temporary president, reported to the Enterprise that 46 memberships had already been procured to his knowledge, even though numerous individuals could not be contacted for a report. Those attending the Monday night meeting were given petitions to sign up area residents desiring membership.

Meeting To Be Monday Another community meeting was set for 8 p. m. Monday night, May 6, in the auditorium for the purpose of obtaining individual reports from the membership drive.

The steering committee proposed at last Monday's meeting that a golf course, at an estimated cost of $18,000 which includes a well and underground tile, be started at the time that 100 memberships are obtained.

A swimming pool, including a filtering plant and heating system at an estimated cost of $17,500, would be built after sufficient additional memberships are obtained.

Many Facilities Planned The Center in its entirety will consist of a nine-hole bent grass greens golf course, a swimming pool, a club house, diamonds, courts, picnic areas and other appurtenances.

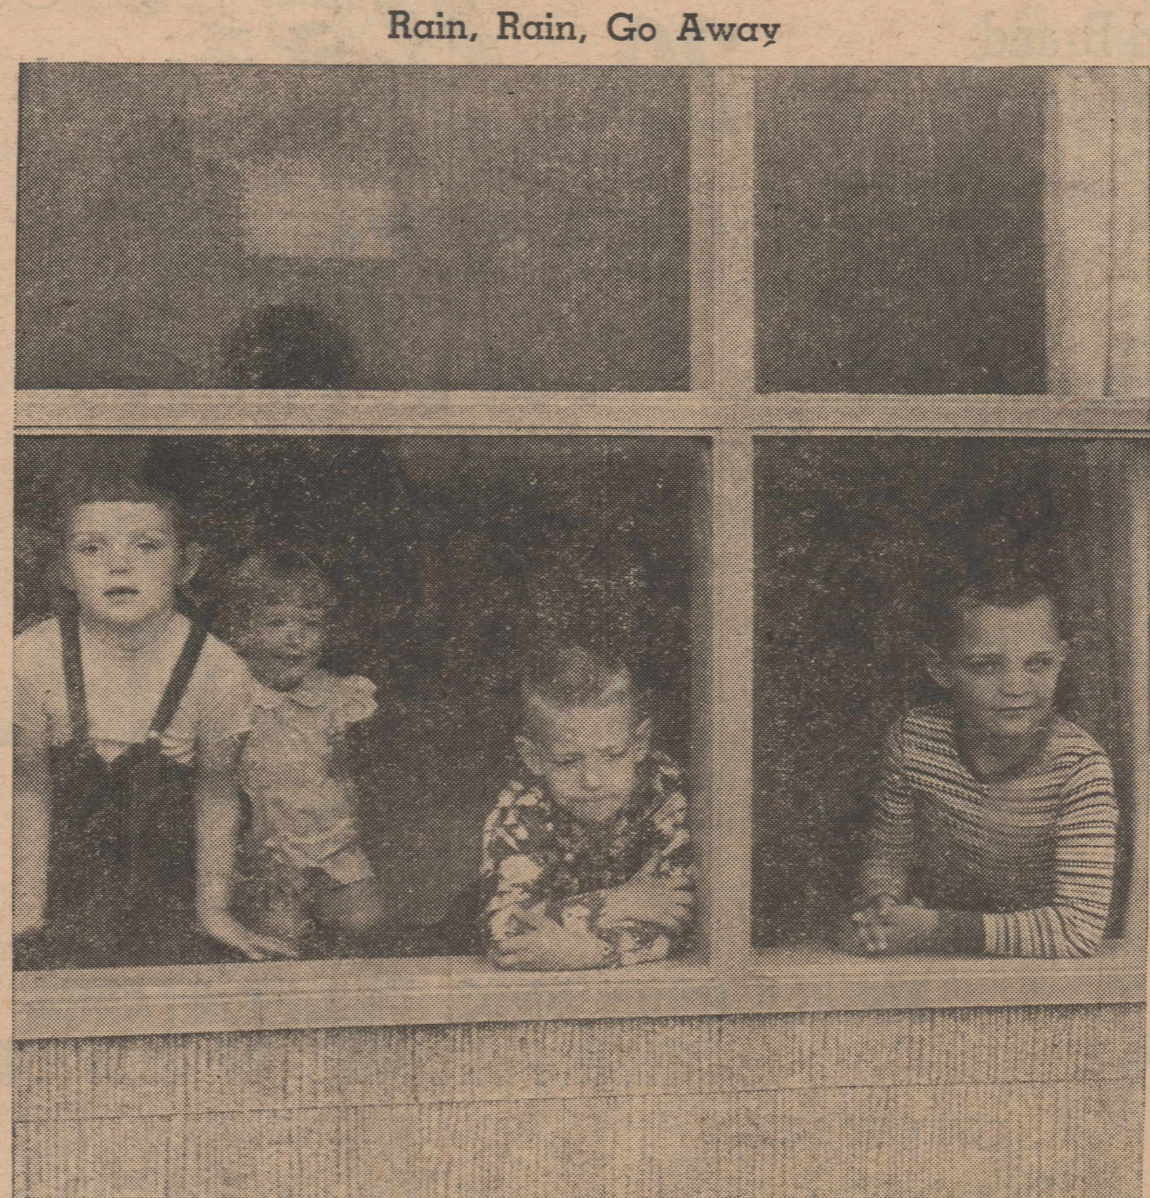

E. J. Moore, chairman of the by-laws and constitution committee, presented the proposed by-laws and constitution. Others on the committee were Roy Roberts and Ed Thompson.

Construction Of New Methodist Church To Get Underway In June

Construction of a new church structure for the First Methodist Church of Olton is slated to begin on or about June 1, following a vote of the congregation at the quarterly conference Sunday afternoon, April 28.

The conference voted to go into contract with the Church of the Nazarene for sale of the present church building. Approval was given plans to purchase the north half of the block on which the new church will be built, thereby giving the church ownership of the entire block.

Dr. Luther Kirk, Plainview district superintendent, presided over the conference.

Juanella Andrew, just who is this "mysterious" boy you are scheduled to go to the band banquet with?

Landon and Sharon and Sammie and Karen were all seen together Sunday afternoon.

Congratulations to Sherry Teal who got married Friday. She married Charles Kidwell from Alamogordo, NM.

Flash! Remember, everyone, just three more weeks until school is out. Just think—no more books and rushing around for three whole months.

Congratulations to the band. They walked off with 14 first place medals, and 8 first place medals at the Interscholastic League band contest at Brownfield this year.

Everyone is in a hustle around OHS getting ready for the band and choir banquet.

Judy Moore and Kent Wozenchaft are still crazy over each other.

Barbara J. and Royce M. are still escorting each other up and down the halls.

Can you imagine: Mrs. Ford not giving homework?

Sue Witten with auburn hair? Jerry Edmonson being still and quiet?

Don Edwards four feet tall? Donald Mason being dumb? Neil Kessler as a preacher? Alvin W. going with anyone but Linda?

Bettie Daniel as a Home Ec teacher? Dan Wallace in a ballet costume? Gayle Machen as Queen of England?

Jackie Pinson, what is your new nickname?

Jerry Edmonson and Latrell Stewart seem to be quite interested in each other. Jerry are her books very heavy?

Several of the FTA girls taught in the primary building Monday. Quite an experience, right girls?

High Plains Water District Begins Issuing Valid Certificates On May 1

On May 1 the District Office of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District began issuing certificates of valid water well permits.

Authorities of High Plains Water District state that in their opinion a situation has developed lately which requires some protection for purchasers of land or mortgages advancing money on land on the strength of existing wells. For example, suppose a land owner drilled a well in violation of the District rules and before appropriate action could be taken to close the well, the violator either sold or mortgaged the land. This would give the District the unpleasant task of proceeding against the party who was misled.

The District, to prevent the occurrence of this situation and prevent a cloud of the land title, will begin issuing certificates to abstractors and attorneys to show what permits have been granted on a particular tract of land. The interested parties may then determine whether or not the wells are at the correct location as specified on the well permits.

The District is perfecting its records so it may furnish certificates on permits of wells drilled after February 1953. This service has been requested many times by people in the legal and abstracting professions.

It is planned to charge $1.00 for each permit certificate to offset the costs involved.

Famed Pappy O'Daniel Band To Appear at Cash Way Food April 10

With the familiar strains of "We're the Light Crust Doughboys from the Burrus Mills," the Light Crust Doughboys will appear in person at 3 o'clock the afternoon of Friday, May 10 at Cash Way Food.

They also will be featured entertainers at the ABC Boys Club Rodeo in Lubbock at the Municipal Coliseum May 8, 9 and 10.

The Light Crust Doughboys came into being back in 1930 when a group of musical mill workers from Burrus Mills organized a band. They had one of the first commercial programs on any Fort Worth radio station, and when time for their broadcast came around, they left their machines, shook the flour dust off, picked up their fiddles and guitars and swung into the program right there in the flour mill. And now the Light Crust Doughboys are a radio tradition in the Southwest.

The Doughboys were an immediate sensation, and the Texas Quality Network was formed in order that the show could be presented throughout the state. A partial basis for the popularity of the Light Crust Doughboys is their personal appearances. They have made appearances at rodeos, fairs, store openings and barbecues, and in 1933 appeared at the World's Fair in Chicago. Each year they appear as the top western and folk music group at the Texas State Fair.

In 1936, Texas Centennial year, Governor Allred designated the Light Crust Doughboys as ambassadors of good will and they set out in their sound truck to make a triumphal tour across Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and into California. In Hollywood they made two pictures with Gene Autry which inaugurated the series of "western-musicals" now so familiar.

Bohner Girl Wins Second In State Finals Saturday

Little Jean Bell of Bohner School won second place in the 50 yard dash, girls finals, in Prairie View last Saturday. She led for better than 45 yards of the way but was nosed out by last year's first place winner from Weimar.

Booker T. Graves, Bohner principal who accompanied his group, said the contest was held on a muddy field and the time was somewhat slow, 6.5. He said earlier last week Little had run the distance in 6 seconds.

Results of the literary events entered by Bohner students have not been announced.

Speeches, Banners, And Posters Mark Student Council Election

A well-organized and enthusiastic election campaign for OHS Student Council officers reached a climax Thursday morning at general assembly when John Paul Jones emerged the victor over Jack Royce Straw as 1957-58 council president.

John Paul, son of Mrs. Pauline Jones, is a junior student and participates in FFA, football and track. He was vice-president of his freshman class, sophomore president, and is Junior Class Favorite.

Other election results are: vice-president, Ellen Jones over Darryl Dennis; secretary, Latrell Stewart over Linda Clark; treasurer, Doniece Silcott over Kent Wozencraft; reporter, Joe Pendleton over Jack Hysinger; and parliamentarian, Royce Bodkin over Oneeta Yates. Campaign speeches by the 12 campaign managers preceded the election by secret ballot this morning. Alvin Wallace was manager for the presidential winner. Remaining campaign managers were Sonny Bryant, Yvonne Pinkerton, Jerry Moore, Paul Ray Montgomery, Marty Singletary, Joyce Nichols, Shirley Nichols, Donald Mason, Sherrill Alexander and Martha Johnson.

Candidates for student council offices were nominated by the nominating committee of this year's council and presented to the student body for approval. Signatures of 40 students and three faculty members are required for each candidate before he is eligible for election.

Officers are elected by eighth graders through juniors, the seniors being excluded. The only office open to freshman-students is that of reporter. Others require a current sophomore or junior.

Mrs. Dora Walthall's Code Of Life Entails Work, Worship, Love Of Family And Friends

By Felicia Duncan

Such timeworn phrases as "young in heart" and "76 years young" are given new life when applied to a white-haired little lady who has endeared herself through the years to generations of Oltonites—Mrs. Dora Walthall.

Her friends, church and health are the things for which she is most thankful as she continues her contented and fruitful life alone (except for a roomer) in her neat brown home on Main Street, looking back on 53 years of happiness with her husband Arthur, who passed away six years ago, and the rearing of 12 children to adulthood.

MRS. DORA WALTHALL

Holds To Independence
A life of independence and self-sufficiency is maintained by Mrs. Walthall, cooking her own meals and keeping her home neat as the proverbial pin. Occasionally she has to put her foot down to her children who feel that she should use a cleaning woman to relieve her of household chores.

"In the first place," she said with her blue eyes twinkling, "they just don't clean to suit me so I just clean after they leave. And in the second place, as I tell my children, I'd rather wear out than rust out."

Tinkle's Chapel Is Birthplace
Born near Emhouse, Texas, known then as Tinkle's Chapel, on Oct. 14, 1880, Mrs. Walthall spent her girlhood days in that community with activities centered around three buildings—a Baptist church, a Methodist church, and a school. "You had to be either a Baptist or a Methodist if you wanted to go to church," she mused.

In the Emhouse community was an orphan boy, Arthur Walthall, who worked on the various farms around. "We got to playing when he could come around, and when Father would go off on a fishing trip, he would get Arthur to spend the night at our house. First thing you knew we were in love."

Married Life Begins
They married in 1898, the beginning of a wedded life destined to last for 53 years and 11 days. In 1901, they moved to Kerens in East Texas with a few household goods obtained from a family whose son had borrowed money from Mr. Walthall. They set up housekeeping with a bedstead, springs, a cotton mattress made by Mrs. Walthall from cotton they had picked, a wood cook stove, a wooden churn, a table and three chairs, and some quilts.

"Times were not easy, but we were happy," reminisced Mrs. Walthall. "Our total harvest for that first year was a bale and a half of cotton. We bought a cultivator and lacked $7 paying for it out of our crop money."

To help support his family, Mr. Walthall would rise before dawn, take a lunch packed by his wife, and ride a mule to a farm five miles away where he would pick cotton until dark for 50 cents per hundred.

Cheaper By The Dozen
During the 25 years the Walthalls made their home on their 110-acre farm near Kerens, their most successful crop was a "round dozen" children, 9 boys and 3 girls. The doctor that delivered her second son predicted that she was going to have a houseful of boys. "I had just enough girls sprinkled around to provide me with a dishwasher all the way through," Mrs. Walthall laughingly remarked.

Eight of the Walthall children are still living. Tragedy struck early one of the children. Marvin was afflicted with infantile paralysis when only 18 months old and was permanently crippled. He died at the age of 21. Mrs. Walthall said, living a happy and successful life in spite of his handicap.

Move To Plains
In 1925 a neighbor came back from the South Plains area with tales of the bountiful harvests he had seen. Mr. Walthall made a trip out and liked what he saw, and the couple made their decision to "blaze the trail west." At this time, their youngest child was Dale, 4, and the four oldest children were settled in their own homes.

They bought a new car and truck and chartered a railway car to bring out their household goods, farm implements and livestock, the latter including a pair of horses, two cows, a shepherd dog and chickens. "I didn't know they'd have chickens in West Texas so I thought we'd stock them." But when they came through the sandhills and heard the coyotes howling, her first thought was a dismayed, "I'll never be able to raise a chicken here."

After two and a half days of travel, the Walthall family arrived in the Olton community. They bought a half section from the late John Cowart and moved into the old Cowart home when he moved to Plainview.

The Walthalls held on to their home back in Kerens "just in case." "Everyone said we'd be back, but we were never sorry we moved," she said. The old homestead was finally sold in 1956.

"Cotton was 6 cents a pound and grain 25 cents per hundred. We didn't do so well, but we made a living," declared Mrs. Walthall. Cotton was often picked in March because no hands were to be had. "It used to rain a lot more than it does now. I can remember only one or two dry years back then."

Olton Sparingly Settled
At the time the Walthalls moved to Olton there were only a few houses scattered around the town section. The business section consisted of a telephone office, a couple of filling stations, the post office, courthouse, and Bley's Mercantile. The Baptist Church, where the Walthalls faithfully attended, was housed in the structure now used by the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

"Yes, we saw Olton grow from infancy. And what has made Olton such a wonderful town is that it is made up of wonderful people," she said.

Mr. Walthall's health had begun to fail and they moved to Dallas for 18 months in the hopes of regaining it. The move was not beneficial. In fact, Mrs. Walthall says, "I thought he and Marvin would both die before I could get them back home."

They moved into town in 1946, purchasing the house built originally for a doctor's office in 1929 and used by a Dr. Sparks. It is in this home that Mrs. Walthall still lives—refurbished and redecorated, to be sure.

Goes On Alone
Her husband died on Jan. 13, 1951. Mrs. Walthall's great spiritual strength led her to look forward to the future even without her life companion.

Mrs. Walthall's only regret is that more of her children do not live near her. "With so many children, if each one came by only once a week, I'd never have a chance to get lonely."

Five of the Walthall children live in California. Louise and Jewell teach in Fresno and Anaheim, respectively, although she happily reported that Jewell will return to her former home, Hale Center, when this school term is over. George lives in Inglewood, Elmer in San Bernardino, and Lloyd in Richmond. Her other three sons live in Texas—Dale in Littlefield, Tilden in Odessa, and Johnny in Lake Dallas.

"I wish I could see all of my grandchildren and great-grandchildren together, but don't guess I will as they're scattered from Virginia to Illinois to Oregon," said Mrs. Walthall. And it would be quite a roomful as she boasts 27 grandchildren and 37 great-grandchildren. "Oddly enough, after all my boys, I had 11 granddaughters before getting a grandson."

Has Superlative Health

This sweet-faced little lady is living proof that hard work, a zest for living, love for her fellowman, and healthful habits, usually add up to mental and physical health. Seldom ill, she had never been in a hospital until four years ago when she was in for a two-day check up. None of her 12 children were born in a hospital. "My goodness," she exclaimed, "I'd be afraid they'd shift babies."

Life is never dull for Mrs. Walthall—indeed it is always filled with new and good things because she seeks them. Last winter she was known as the "flying grandmother" as she gaily took off by plane to visit her children in California. On a spring or summer day a passerby might see her puttering around in her yard. On the Sabbath one will always find her in the First Baptist Church for worship services. And on any day she is ready with her warm smile to greet any "friend or kin" who has come to visit.

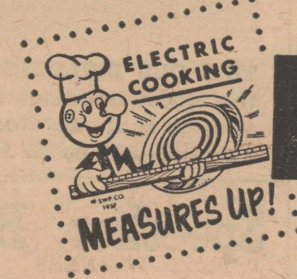

Expressing her love for her community and friends, she said that she feels the same as her son Albert, who died on January 13 of this year, six years to the day of his father's death, who often remarked, "I never want to live where I can't see that Olton water tower."

BY SUE MAY

Korkye is writing bits of poetry in her column every once in awhile and I enjoy it.

One of my favorites is "I'm Nobody" by Emily Dickinson: "I'm nobody! Who are you? Are you nobody, too? Then there's a pair of us—don't tell!"

They'll banish us, you know. "How dreary to be somebody! How public like a frog To tell your name the live-long day

To an admiring bog!" s-w-s

Based on my past experience: 1. The befuddled fellow who imagines he can reach his friends by dialing my number will try it again tomorrow at the usual time—2:40 a.m.

2. When I get the apple pie home from the bakery, it will be prune or apricot.

3. It will rain this afternoon. Husband just washed our car, "Mister Crow."

4. As I'm writing these words, the weather outside is lovely—no wind or sand. But just as soon as I put dirty clothes in my washer—sand will start blowing.

"Soft Words and Tidbits" Aids In Coaxing Tony the Coon Out of Attic

As if there were not disturbances enough on the night of Easter Sunday, suspicious sounds coming from Mrs. Jean Maxey's house top kept her on the alert and her imagination on the rampage.

Deciding that someone was attempting to steal the television antenna, Jean called the law about 1:30 a.m.

Answering the call, Vernie Head and Emmett Burrows searched the roof with flashlights and announced that they had caught sight of the culprit—the thief in the night was none other than a coon.

The thumping, rock 'n roll sounds, human in effect, continued even more plainly but no signs of the four-footed trespasser could be found again. Finally, Jean mounted a ladder, stuck her head in the attic opening, and peered right into the eyes of the coon—the first she'd ever seen. Evidently, the Sunday night winds had blown enough shingles off the roof to give the animal an entry to the attic.

Thus the battle of wits began. Jean discovered that the coon belonged to Lefty Hollingsworth who had raised him since birth, about a year ago. The little animal, named Tony, had vanished about a month prior to its appearance on the Maxey housetop.

Lefty offered to kill his pet to rid Jean's attic of its uninvited guest; but Jean, an animal lover of long standing, preferred to try to get him out her own way.

The two got to be quite companionable. For four days, Jean enticed Tony with sweet talk and such delicacies as strawberry shortcake. Tony would always make an appearance and even let his hostess affectionately rub his nose. But once he caught sight of the chain which Jean was trying to attach to his collar, he would back gingerly away from the opening in a reproachful manner.

In the meantime, Tony would sleep through the day and be in form for his night-time prowlings—not quite the way to gain in popularity with those on a different schedule.

At long last, patience paid off. Jean, armed with nothing except a soothing voice and a tidbit in hand, coaxed Tony slowly down the ladder, rung by rung, until she was able to get firm hold of the little creature (hands protected with leather gloves—just in case) and place him in his cage which Lefty had brought over.

Once the cage door was fastened, Tony's temperament changed. "He was one furious little animal," laughed Jean.

But Tony is now free again. His owner took him to Buffalo Lakes and released him, for during his month of freedom Tony had changed from a gentle pet who would sit in his owner's lap. He had reverted to a wild animal, making Lefty fearful that he might bite someone.

Tony had won Jean's heart, though. "I would have kept him if I could," she maintained. "I love animals of all kinds—in fact, I believe I could tame an elephant if I tried."

SIGN OF THE TIMES

NOTHING CREATES INTEREST in storm cellars like the recent tornadoes which hit in the Olton area. Orders started pouring in "the morning after", and several area residents immediately made plans for "do-it-yourself" projects. Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Company have men working on four storm cellars this week, all to be constructed of cement floors and top, concrete block walls, and metal doors. The average size of the cellars is 10 x 12 feet. Jeffrey Lumber reports that 50 orders for cellars have come in since the Easter Sunday storm. A big aid in local cellar digging will be a reverse digger, to be attached to the back of a truck or tractor, which was obtained by Paul Featheringill last Saturday. The first such implement in this vicinity, it is estimated to save about one-half the cost of excavating by manual labor. Five or six cellars a day can be dug by this reverse digger, whereas one week per hole is required for manual labor. Shown above working on a storm cellar in the Bob Gullett yard are from left, Clyde Truelock and James Martin. Ed Truelock is contractor on this cellar. (Enterprise Photo)

by felicia duncan

"Family reunions are just like the county fair—they get bigger and better every year." Such was the observation made by one of the sons at a recent reunion of the L. R. Cruce family. And 'tis true—in large families it seems that at each family gathering, another child or so has joined the clan. At such times, one cannot help but feel a little sorry for families that can't even crowd a fair sized breakfast table when all are together.

Of course, there ARE times... especially toward the end of a day such as Christmas or Thanksgiving... when the din suddenly has your head pounding and you long for solitude and silence... when you feel that you've been crawled over and pulled at just once too often... when you wish you had done without turkey and dressing and all the trimmings rather than face the vast piles of dirty dishes... well, you know how it all goes.

But would we trade? Indeed not—not ever!

Just like the stories of the snowstorm experience, there's no end to the tornado stories either... which suits us fine. We love to hear them and try to add a few of our own, though nothing more exciting happened to us than just flipping the channel changer from one station to the other and sliding all the way down a mud cellar... seemed that rain leaking in had reduced the dirt "steps" to a slippery chute.

We suspect that a Littlefield family by the name of Yarborough wishes they had "sat out" the recent tornado. And we also suspect that Frank Struve wished they had, too. Mr. and Mrs. Yarborough and their son and daughter, aged 10 and 7, struck out from Littlefield Sunday evening upon hearing the tornado warnings and ended up in a bar ditch near the Frank Struve home, 5 miles west of Olton, during the hail and rain. When Frank found them, water was in the car and they were plain scared. While a wrecker pulled the Yarborough car out, Mrs. Yarborough and the children were taken to the Struve home where they remained until about 11:30. Then they started out to the highway... and yes, you guessed. The Yarboroughs ended up in the bar ditch again and the Struve tractor was brought out for the second rescue. What a night!

Benjamin Franklin said that "A man wrapped up in himself makes a very small bundle." A case in point against the old saying that good things come in small packages.

The month of May is loaded with days and weeks designated for special observance. Among these are May Day, Mother's Day, National Music Week, Child Health Day, National Family Week, Memorial Day, and I-am-an-American Day. And, of course, no one aged 30 and up will forget that May 8 will mark the 12th anniversary of the German surrender.

Too, always the high point of the month, will be the END OF SCHOOL and GRADUATION. And what is more exhilarating to a school youngster than the realization that summer vacation is just around the corner. Just wish we had the Olton recreational project all ready for use this summer. Hope it will be a reality by the summer of 1958... and it can be if we want it to be.
