Initial Membership Goal For Olton Center Reaches Three-Quarter Mark

Maintaining hopes that the proposed Olton Municipal Recreation Center will soon move from the planning stage to the working stage, a Thursday morning report on the membership drive for the Center indicated that about 75 memberships have been obtained.

This is three-fourths of the number required before work can begin on the project. The membership drive is less than two weeks old, with 60 memberships reported in at last Monday's community meeting.

Monday Meeting Slated

Another of the series of community meetings is slated for Monday evening, May 13, at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium. Carroll Cox, temporary president, has urged that all those interested in the Center attend the meeting at which various questions concerning the project will be discussed and progress reports on the membership drive be given.

To Start Golf Course

At the time that 100 memberships are obtained, work will begin immediately on the first facility of the Center—a golf course. The estimated cost for a nine-hole golf course, including a well and underground tile, has been set at $18,000. One hundred memberships at $200 each will give the Center the necessary funds for the golf course.

Swimming Pool Next

As proposed by the temporary steering committee, as soon as sufficient additional memberships are obtained, a swimming pool will then be built. It is anticipated that the pool, including a filtering plant and heating system, will cost approximately $17,000.

Several people expressed feelings at the last general meeting that the membership drive might gain more headway if the swimming pool were to be built before the golf course. It was, however, pointed out that all contacts with persons connected with similar clubs and projects clearly led the steering committee to place the golf course first. Those persons experienced in the building of such a project described a golf course as the "backbone" of a recreational center and, without exception, recommended that it be built first to assure the success of the completed project.

Complete Facilities

In its entirety, the Center will consist of a nine-hole bent grass greens golf course, a swimming pool, a club house, diamonds, tennis courts, picnic areas and other appurtenances.

Its purpose is to furnish the children and adults, and their guests, of Olton and neighboring communities with adequate facilities for a well-rounded recreational program.

Permanent Officers

When 100 memberships are procured, permanent officers and a board of directors will be elected and the proposed constitution and by-laws adopted.

Boys Buy Lambs At Kansas Sale

Olton FFA boys purchased some 44 head of show lambs last week-end at the Harold Tonn farm at New Haven, Kan.

These lambs will be ready to show at Dallas next fall and possibly some of them will be entered in spring shows.

Olton's own J. W. "Jay" Brown cried about half of the sale which is one of the largest of its kind in the entire country.

Making the trip, other than Mr. Brown, were Harold Warren, J. C. Hamby, Houston Hamby, Darryl Dennis, John Paul Jones, Roy Neal Jones, John Lynn Burrow and Jerry Mathis.

Showers Hamper Local Planting

Showers hampered the cotton planting activities here this week.

Two Bootlegging Charges Filed; Two DWIs Docketed, One Pending

A rash of liquor violations kept officers busy here over the week end.

One case charging illegal transportation of liquor and another charging illegal sale of liquor were filed. Two charges of driving while intoxicated also were filed and another charge of driving while intoxicated, a felony, is pending.

Domingo Rosas Quiroz was charged with driving while intoxicated and with illegal transportation of alcoholic beverages as an aftermath of an accident Saturday night in south Olton.

The accident occurred in front of the W. T. Hall, Sr., home and was a chain reaction affair that involved three parked vehicles as well as the one operated by Quiroz, according to Deputy Sheriff V. L. Smith, who investigated.

Deputy Smith said the Quiroz vehicle struck the rear of a car belonging to Jack Straw, which struck the rear of a station wagon and the station wagon struck the rear of another car.

The officer said that Jack Royce Straw had driven the family car to a get together of young folks and was in a house nearby at the party when the mishap occurred.

Quiroz entered a plea of guilty to DWI charges and was fined $200 and assessed a six-day jail sentence, according to County Clerk Charles Jones.

Action in the case charging illegal transportation of liquor still is pending, Mr. Jones reported.

Lupe Martinez has entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of illegal sale of alcoholic beverages. Deputy Sheriff Smith said Martinez was arrested in the Latin-American section of Olton.

Martinez is free on $1,000 bond. Maclobio Fierro was fined $100 and assessed a three-day jail sentence on charges of driving while intoxicated, according to County Clerk Jones.

Deputy Smith said he has also handled three bad check cases during the past few days.

A second-offense, felony, driving while intoxicated charge was pending at press time. It had not yet been docketed when The Enterprise went to press Thursday.

Memories Of Bygone Days Revived By Olton Old-Timer

(BY FELICIA DUNCAN)

It's a close draw which of two things have given L. D. Bartlett more pleasure in life—breaking horses or making a trade.

And he's done plenty of both in his younger days, although he pretty much gave up horse breaking when he married. The trading was something else again. "It's as natural for me to trade as it is for a goose to go barefoot," declared the old-timer with a twinkle in his eye.

Is Town Fixture

Names of people and dates of events occurring 75 years ago slip off his tongue as easily as if they were of yesterday, and many an Oltonite has doubtless been entertained with tales of his days with a cow wagon and his raising a baby buffalo on a bottle. For this pleasant, easy-going man, whose dusty black felt hat and drooping white mustache are distinguishing features, is a familiar figure in town as he makes his rounds, occasionally checking the time with his pocket watch which he has carried for 50 years. These rounds include visiting with his five daughters who live in or near Olton. As he says, "I can see every girl in five minutes if I need to."

Fulfills Own Needs

Usually, around 4 o'clock in the afternoon, he heads for home—an old-fashioned white stucco house in northeast Olton where he has lived since Jan. 1, 1930, and "bached" for the 17 years since his wife's death. "I just barely make it," he stated in reference to his home-making abilities, as he basked himself in front of a black kerosene heating stove which occupies a central position in the room. He confessed that the stove is a sore point with his daughters but it suits him fine. "Breakfast is my main meal. I always eat a good warm breakfast. For the other meals, I just put in and cook enough to last a day or so." He supplements his diet with alfalfa meal in orange juice and gelatine as added health measures. Judging from his spryness at 88 years of age, his cooking agrees with him. "Caught an awful cold during the snowstorm and was laid up here for days feeling like I'd been sued for murder and lost the suit. But right now all I can complain of is corns on my two little toes," said Mr. Bartlett whose remarks are colored with homely phrases and quips.

Proud Of Children

His special prides are his seven children and his "twenty or so" grandchildren and great-grandchildren ("not a mean one in the lot") and the fact that "I don't owe a living human a penny." The two Bartlett sons are Drummond, who has served as district judge at Waco for the past 28 years, and Bonney, who is in the insurance business in Austin. His five daughters are Mrs. Jim Fuller, Mrs. J. T. Gibson, Mrs. Anne Blythe, Mrs. Roscoe Thomas and Mrs. Roy Granbery.

First of the Bartletts to live in the Olton community was a daughter, Mrs. Fuller, whose husband built the house in which Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett moved soon after coming to Olton from Wellington in September of 1928.

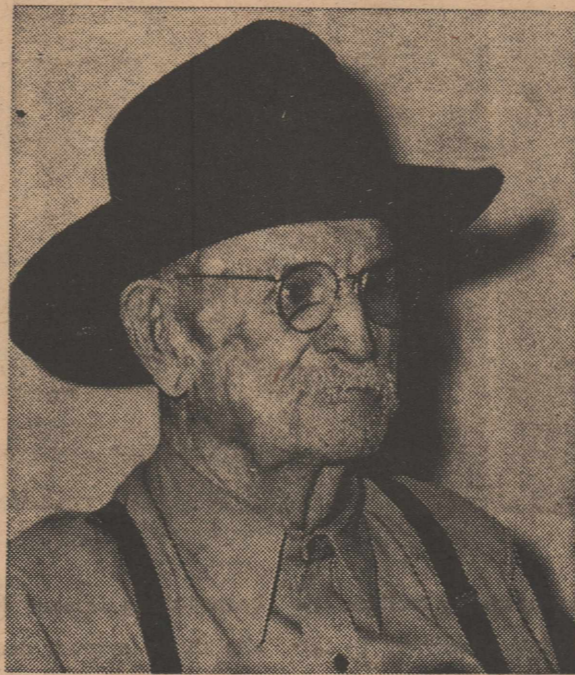

Is Expert Trader

After farming 21 years in Wellington, Mr. Bartlett made a trade which resulted in his being an Olton citizen for the past 29 years. He traded his 240 acres in Collingsworth County for a section of land southwest of Olton.

The land, which had originally belonged to the Schreier family, had been purchased by a Wellington man whose desire to return to his home led him to agree to the trade. This was one of many advantageous trades made by Mr. Bartlett who says he has turned down $400 per acre for his land. In 1907 he paid $9,000 for a half section near Wellington, including the crop, seven head of hogs, a pony and buggy. That fall he harvested 31 bales of cotton and plenty of corn and feed for his stock.

"I gave back five acres of corn because the man's wife said they didn't get enough out of the deal," mused Mr. Bartlett. "Then after three years, I sold 80 acres for $3,000, which left me 240 acres."

Through shrewd purchases and smart trading, Mr. Bartlett came a long way from a young bridegroom of 21 who "didn't have enough money to buy a goose." "I'd trade anything, but I never misrepresented on a trade and never lost on a trade. I knew when I wanted something. I could see what they had and would tell them what I had," declared Mr. Bartlett, making it sound as simple as ABC's.

Native Of Tennessee

Born at Buffalo Valley, Tenn., on Jan. 21, 1869, he moved to Texas with his family at the age of eight years. The family originally settled in Fannin County, moved to Grayson County after a year, and finally bought a farm in Wise County. "Sorriest county in Texas," he declared.

The elder Mr. Bartlett told his sons he didn't have land enough for all, so as a lad of 16, Mr. Bartlett started to work on his own. He worked in Wise County until the crops were laid by, picked cotton in Grayson County, and then helped move a family to Young County where some of his happiest years were spent.

Happy Years

In Young County he worked for an old bachelor—tending stock, cooking and splitting rails. He worked on cow wagons and remembers once when 110 calves were branded in one hour's time. "Three men were roping and they never missed a throw. Smoothest work I ever saw. I was the youngest of the bunch on the cow wagon but have never been treated better," said Mr. Bartlett.

During these years, he was kept busy with his favorite occupation—breaking horses. "Wish I could see all the horses I have broken in a bunch. I have no idea how many there would be," declared Mr. Bartlett. "Horses are my weakness."

Soon after arriving in Young County, a man (his future wife's cousin) who had 200 acres of corn to hoe asked him if he'd rather hoe corn or break 10 eight-year-old horses fresh from Kentucky that had never been handled. "I told him right off that I'd rather ride horses bareback than to hoe corn," said Mr. Bartlett.

"I always broke them gentle and wouldn't ride with spurs," he emphasized in speaking of his success with breaking horses. "And I never once got hurt."

His biggest horse breaking assignment was 3,000 head of horses, including race horses from Kentucky, belonging to a John Reynolds from the Blue Grass state. In this bunch was a little bay mare for which he traded a big horse. And the passing years did not dim the shine in Mr. Bartlett's eyes as he spoke of the little mare and how she could outrace any animal put against her. "But as I said, I'd trade anything, so I traded her to a man who took her to Kentucky where I bet she won many a race," he said.

"Those were wonderful years—just wish I could live them all over again."

Marries Kentucky Girl

On Dec. 23, 1890, he married a young girl who had moved to Young County from Kentucky and lived across the river at Belknap. Not yet 15 years of age, she was the youngest of 16 children.

After his marriage Mr. Bartlett settled down to farming. He first rented a farm in Young County, farmed a little in Wise County, and then in Knox County. In 1903 he bought 375 acres in Donley County for $3 an acre, kept it for two years, and told out for $12.50 per acre. He then bought 400 acres near Plainview for $7 per acre and sold that land for $33.50 per acre after two years, the land increasing in value after the railroad came through. In 1907 he purchased his half section in Wellington.

"During those years we raised good crops and seven good kids," said Mr. Bartlett. "What more could one want? I told Mama I'd work my fingers to the bone to give our children an education that I didn't get."

Raised Buffaloes

Recalling experience while living at Wellington nearly a half century ago, Mr. Bartlett told of two baby buffaloes that he raised. The first one was not a matter of intention. Some people who had bought buffaloes from the Goodnight Ranch stopped by the Bartlett home and asked permission to leave a badly injured baby buffalo, offering to pay for the burial. It had been injured as it was dragged during the roping. After the strangers went on their way, Mr. Bartlett decided to try to nurse the animal back to health. He fed it milk and named it "Mary" after Mr. Goodnight's wife.

After a few months, he bought another baby buffalo and kept them about three years. He finally sold them, for Mary had become so attached to her master that she was jealous even of his own children.

"When anyone would come near us, Mary would nuzzle against my side and grunt. I hated to give her up but I feared that she might hurt one of the children or someone else," he said.

Through the years he was still trading, buying and selling. He purchased 65 head of horses in Wise County and traded them for cattle at Sulphur Springs. In 1934, he and another man went to Wyoming and bought four cars of horses, including one car of 51 Shetlands. Through it all, he maintained he never made a "bad deal."

Smallpox Strikes

But a bitter blow was to fall the way of this veteran farmer and horse trader a few years after moving to Olton. In 1936 Mr. Bartlett contacted smallpox and a short time later his wife came down with it. She never recovered and died after a lingering illness of four years on Feb. 28, 1940, a few months before their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

Likes Peaceful Life

Life is still good to this beloved old gentleman who looks forward with anticipation to living out a full century. A good part of his success in life can be attributed to his motto of good will. His assertion that he has never been really angry except twice in his life is a record of which he has reason to boast. "I'd rather be sick than mad," he stated, "and I sure don't like to be sick."

"I've never lived where I didn't like the people. I want all the friends I can get and no enemies at all."

Third Generation at the Wheel!

"Like father, like son", the poets say. And never was it truer than in the case of a great many fine Cadillac families.

For there are, in our land today, a number of families that currently boast as many as three generations at the wheel.

We mention this simply to underscore a great and dramatic truth about Cadillac—that, of course, is its unchanging goodness and quality.

For fifty-five years, the Cadillac name has signified one and the same thing to motorists everywhere—a motor car created at the highest level that automotive science would permit.

Over that time, Cadillac has attracted to the ranks of its owners the finest list of names to be found anywhere on the American motoring scene.

And, those who have followed the path to Cadillac in 1957 are enjoying the most abundant blessings of this ceaseless crusade for quality.

The new "car of cars", with coachcraft by Fleetwood, is beautiful and luxurious to an unprecedented degree. And its performance and handling ease are a revelation!

Certainly, the Cadillac car has now become an even wiser investment for an even wider circle of America's motorists.

If you have yet to acquaint yourself with these brilliant Cadillac virtues for 1957, your dealer will be delighted to tell you how easily you can make Cadillac a fine family custom of your own!

Since May is the month our women's clubs are installing new presidents, I thought this would be helpful—(maybe!).

Beatitudes for Presidents—
1. Blessed be the president who is courteous, remembering that his or her manners are a mirror from which the club reflects.
2. Blessed be the president who presides with dignity, without stiffness, who is calm, serene under all circumstances.

3. Blessed be the president who starts meeting on time, who values her time too much to waste the time of others.
4. Blessed be the president who covets the confidence of her club by knowing its by-laws and enforcing them.
5. Blessed be the president who has enthusiasm; whose influence inspires others to leadership.
6. Blessed be the president who is impartial, and protects the rights of others.
7. Blessed be the president who expedites business, and is willing to do her work, and leaves the work which has been delegated to others to them.
8. Blessed be the president who knows all about her organization, but does not discuss it outside the organization.

9. Blessed be the president who does not expect credit, but gives her services unselfishly and happily.
10. Blessed be the president who reflects Christian service in deeds of kindness; who leaves behind a challenge of Christian leadership.

Fear has become a kind of national habit.
Since the end of World War II we Americans have been developing an increasing tendency to jump at strange noises, peer under beds, and generally quake in our boots as if we were walking through a graveyard after dark.

What are we afraid of? What's behind the Iron Curtain?
We are not a secretive people; we broadcast the statistics of our strength from the rooftops.
We don't know what our edge is in A-bombs and H-bombs, but we probably have at least ten to their one, and better ones, too.
And the worst of it, from their views, is that they haven't a whisper of a chance of closing the gap. The productiveness of our free-enterprise system is too much for them.
Plainly the advantage, over the long run, lies all with us. Only foolish and groundless fear, swollen in panic, could forfeit that victory.

Thank God for America!
