Plan Santa Visit Early December

Olton Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture has started getting the town's glad rags in shape for the Christmas holiday season.

Present plans call for purchase of Christmas decorations from Littlefield. A sample of these decorations are on display in front of Kelley's.

On the street decorations committee for the OCCA are Bill Kelley, chairman; and Bob Duncan, Mrs. Herman Meyer, Mrs. Lester Thompson, Mrs. Roscoe Thomas, Mrs. M. T. James, Mrs. Tom Smith and Mrs. G. H. Bley.

Chairman Kelley told members of his committee Wednesday that OCCA has an opportunity to purchase 50 street decoration fixtures from Littlefield at about 40 percent of the new book cost of the same fixtures.

Mr. Kelley went before the city council Tuesday night to enlist the aid of the council. He asked the city to assume ownership of the street decorations when and if they are purchased.

The council voted to have city workmen put the decorations up December 1, and to take them down for storage when the Christmas season is over.

The street decorations fit on city light poles and depict various holiday scenes including the Wise-men, snowmen and the nativity scene. They are lighted from the inside so as to show up well at night.

Mr. Kelley said the Chamber has agreed to stand $300.00 on the cost of the decorations. Olton businessmen will be solicited for the remainder of the cost.

Mr. Kelley said Olton business firms will be urged to decorate their buildings this year for the Yule season.

Santa Claus

Members of Mr. Kelley's committee also discussed plans for bringing Santa Claus to town early in December. Details on the Santa party will be worked out by members of another OCCA committee.

Plans also call for an intensive effort to promote a maximum of decoration in the residential districts of Olton. Further details on this project will be announced at a later date.

Olton has had little or no Christmas decorations in the business district in recent years.

Mr. Kelley told the city council he believes an excellent Christmas program, complete with street decorations would be a step forward in the progress of Olton.

Peggy Joyce Golden, Billy Edmonson Wed Saturday Night

Before an altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli backed by white cathedral candelabra tapers and flanked by baskets of palms, Miss Peggy Joyce Golden became the bride of William L. (Billy) Edmonson, Saturday at 7:30 PM, in the Asbury Methodist Church, Lubbock.

The Rev. C. A. Bickley performed the double-ring ceremony. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Golden of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Edmonson of Olton.

Miss Yvonne Skinner, organist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Robert Leonard as she sang "Song of Ruth", "Through the Years" and the "Wedding Prayer."

Wears Traditional White
The former Miss Golden, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white lace and embroidered net, styled waltz-length. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a v-neckline, short sleeves complimented by white short gloves and white pearls. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a lace half-hat with a crown of white pearls around the top of the hat.

She carried a white Bible topped with a dozen white roses showered with stephanotis and white satin ribbon. For something old, she wore a gold wedding ring belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. W. H. Bittick; something new, wedding dress; something borrowed, wedding veil, Mrs. Ralph Wilcox; and something blue, wedding garter.

Mrs. Richard H. Higgins of Lubbock attended the bride as matron-of-honor. Bridesmaids were Mesdames William J. Price, Lubbock, Ralph Wilcox, Jr., Lubbock, and Wallace R. Jones, Wichita Falls. They were attired identically in organza dresses over taffeta in pastel colors. The honor attendant's dress was blue and the bridesmaids wore yellow, green and pink frocks. They were fashioned with satin trim on scoop necklines, puffed sleeves, and bouffant skirts. Two satin bows trimmed the back of the dresses. They wore velveteen tiaras with net veils attached and they carried colonial nosegays of white Esther Reed daisies.

Miss Jobob Sneed of Lubbock and Ronnie Bittick, cousin of the bride, Midland, were candlelighters. Miss Sneed wore a dress styled identical to the honor attendant's in blue. Miss Patricia Bittick of Midland, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. Ring bearers were Stephen and Tommy Golden, nephews of the bride of pneumonia costs less

Before antibiotics, medical bills for the average pneumonia case usually amounted to more than $300 and a hospital stay of about 5 weeks. Today, prompt treatment with about $15 worth of antibiotics clears up most cases of pneumonia . . . and treatment is at home.

"MY ELECTRIC HOME FREEZER MAKES MEAL PLANNING SO

Easy!

SAYS
Mrs. H. S. Hackfield,
2132 56th STREET,
LUBBOCK, TEXAS

"An electric home freezer is the perfect answer to meal planning, especially for working wives," says Mrs. Hackfield. She continues, "There are many advantages of owning a freezer. For example, it's such a convenient appliance and, because we can buy in quantity when prices are lowest, our freezer lets us realize a big savings in food costs. But, getting back to meal planning - when I have odd moments I can prepare complete meals in advance, freeze them, and then when we have dinner guests it's a simple matter just to 'heat 'n serve.'"

The same advantages that Mrs. Hackfield speaks of can be yours just as soon as you get that electric home freezer you've been wanting for so long - why wait - there's never been a better time to buy!

Delane Adams Claims Life In Japan Living!

By Sue May

"It was most thrilling! We Americans almost lived the life of celebrities," exclaimed Delane Adams when telling of living in Japan for the last two years.

"It was so wonderful. They (the Japanese) treated us like 'kings' almost and we had maids and bought things cheap at the PX. We lived a life of leisure," she declared.

Delane has been teaching second grade in an army school in Japan for the past two years. "The American soldiers—that is—men with the rank of sergeant and above, may bring their families overseas at government expense," Delane pointed out, "These children must go to school; the school must have teachers—and there was had formerly been the emperor's parade ground. It was named 'Washington Heights' and was 'a little piece of America'."

The houses for families and dormitories for the single personnel made up the living quarters, she said. Some married couples taught in the schools.

"The housing area was like an American Suburban area with a shopping center," Delane remarked.

The lovely, brunette is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Adams of Olton. She taught school for GI children in Germany two years, prior to her teaching in Japan.

"While in Japan, I had a maid, Setsuko-San," Delane said, "She gave me the yukata (cotton kimono), I am wearing in the picture. Almost everyone had a maid and perhaps a cook or houseboy or a driver." Delane explained that the wages were cheap in Japan—so cheap that even some American's maids had maids of their own.

"I paid Setsuko $10 a month. She also worked for two other girls. She did the washing and ironing and cleaned the room—everything except cooking," she said.

She remarked dreamily, "Japan is a pretty country—absolutely lovely. Vision spring with pale blue hills . . . those near you are darker and they grow paler in the distance . . . wisps of mist are between them. The rice paddies are squares of fresh bright green and everywhere are soft pink cherry trees in bloom." She went on, "In the fall the trees are red and yellow and the paddies are gold squares and the hills are still blue. Have you ever seen a Japanese or Chinese painting? And Mt. Fuji . . . I could get as poetic as the Japanese about that mountain in the four seasons."

"Japan is not one island, but a cluster of four and I traveled on each one," Delane said, "Tokyo is on Honshu. There is the giant Buddha at Kamakura and fishing with cormorants (birds with rings around their necks) at Gifu, Kyoto—old capital city, with hundreds of exotic temples."

"The top island is Hokkaido with barns and silos and fish drying businesses and Ainu, the original people of Japan—a Caucasian people from Russia," she pointed out. "A small island is Shikoku where the McCoy's and Hatfields of Japan (Genjis and Heikis) fought for the supremacy over Japan. On Kyushu is Nagasaki where Madame Butterfly lived and the atom bomb was dropped. Oh, I went UP, too—to the top of Mt. Fuji."

Delane said she liked some of the Japanese food. "I grew to like snkiyaki (a relative of stew) and tempura (deep fat fried foods dipped in a batter) and green tea and cakes filled with sweet bean paste," she remarked.

She said that she never did like Sashimi (raw fish) or seaweed. "Chopsticks are very easy to eat with and Americans learn how quickly," Delane declared. "But the strangest food I ate was fried bees. Good!—something like nuts."

She pointed out that the Japanese eat more rice than anything because "It gives them a full feeling." "They eat a lot by how 'full they feel' instead of the way a food tastes," she said, speaking of the Japanese people.

"What did I like best about Japan?—oh, the inns and the gardens," exclaimed Delane. "The rooms have thick straw mats on the floor and you must take off your shoes. You sit on pillows, sleep on a thin mattress on the floor, eat sitting on the pillows at a low table. You wear a kimono provided by the inn and take a Japanese bath."

The Japanese bath was a very interesting and restful custom, she said. "Americans love these baths. You soap and rinse in a tiled room outside of the tub. In the corner of the room is a sunken pool—like a child's wading pool—where you soak in the hot water. Sounds strange, but we adjust quickly and favorably."

Delane said that the reason for washing outside of the pool was to be completely clean before entering the water. She said it's very refreshing.

"The Japanese can make paradise out of a few rocks, a little sand, a tiny pool of water, a few shrubs and moss and trees and a little stone lantern," she smiled. "The gardens are so beautiful and restful."

Delane said that the Japanese people on a personal basis, like the American people. "Every American has many Japanese he considers good friends." The Japanese have reserved personalities—and we have outgoing personalities—and somewhere between we can meet and be friends," Delane said.

"As a group, they wish we (American Armed Forces) would go home, but they fear that if we do, Russia will step into the footsteps we just walked out of," she said. "We are also a good source of income. We spend our money freely in Japan. But no country WANTS a foreign army in its land!"

Delane said that "although Japan's economy is in a slump right now, Red China is trying to ruin her markets and Russia is quibbling over her fishing rights."

Japan has made great progress since the war. "She is an importing and exporting country and her factories are built and running again." She said that Japan is trying to make new markets in the east and satisfy the old markets. She is interested in the undeveloped countries where she is sending technical advisors. Her greatest problem is still unsolved—"too many people on too small an island," she said.

"One surprising fact," Delane declared, "is that the American GI's don't date the American girls over there. They date the Japanese girls." She said that she herself went with French, Japanese, Danish and English men.

When asked if she would like to go back to Japan, Delane exclaimed, "Yes! In a few years, I would like to go back and visit my Japanese friends, stay in an inn and look at the lovely countryside, at cherry blossom time!"

As for America, Delane said she didn't know how she would be able to live here after the life she led as a "foreigner" in Japan—the prices here are much higher and the living not nearly so romantic or exciting, she remarked.

What would she REALLY like to do if she had her choice? "Teach in South America!" cried Delane with a sparkle in her eyes.

Olton schools will be kinda' lonely without them all there.

Gwen Phillips, who is an airline hostess for TWA, flew her first jet-stream recently. She said it was really exciting and a lot of fun, but more work for the hostess. It was a non-stop flight to Philadelphia.

Husband and I laughed until we thought we'd die when Mother-in-law wrote us of their new job at Olustee, Okla.

She said that all Father-in-law had to do was to drive this retired doctor around in this "cool Cadillac" (They are working and living with this 80-some-odd-old doctor).

Anyway, as the letter read, Father-in-law ran a red light when they were in Altus and Mother-in-law was along. She said that the doctor almost had a fit—and that she thought to herself, "Old Man, you haven't seen a thing yet!" (She's been riding with Father-in-law for some thirty years now, and she's seen some pretty scary driving.)

She began telling of the huge house that they live in—has a sitting room, a music room, 8 or 9 bedrooms, a kitchen, a dining room,—and she stopped here, saying "I can't tell you about the rest of the house because I've got to get this in the mail."

Needless to say, Husband, who has been slightly homesick to see them, was cheered up to a loud roar when we giggled over the happenings in Olustee.

Our vocabulary has slightly changed 'round home since Scott has his own ideas on how to pronounce words. For instance we say, "tink goo" for thank you; "git-git" for a dog; "hoe" for a horse; and "mooooo" for a cow; etc . . .

But his plainest word is "Coke" and he says it just that plain! (He reminds me how plain he says it, too, when we pass a drive-in or Coke machine!)

Retta Lou Snider is a cute young matron . . . Can you imagine the bank without Margie Carlisle—oops!, Margie Coen? It seems different somehow . . . Mrs. Joe Wood is a very attractive person . . . I was very, very impressed when I met Delane Adams other day. Delane is such a pretty girl, so much poise and ever so charming. She certainly charmed Troy and I (we both just met her Friday). My! and the adventures and sights she's had and seen in Europe are so fascinating. She held me spell-bound and her accent is lovely—very much as "foreigners" speak when they just learn our language.

The Hair house with its washable walls and livability has an air of elegance and the convenience and charm of modern and semi-modern furnishings. It is definitely planned around the ABC of good design—it's artistic; it's beautiful; it is comfortable.

Laus Hairs Have Built Their Home For Artistry, Beauty, And Comfort

BY SUE MAY

The only formula Ruth and Laus Hair followed in their new home is what is called the ABC of good design: Artistry, Beauty, Comfort. And perhaps nowhere have these qualities been translated into reality with more passionate determination than in the Laus Hair home.

Ruth, who has been working on house plans for 6½ years, was responsible for the interior color scheme. The result is a degree of integration seldom achieved by interior decorators because it expresses without restriction the taste of the Hairs.

The Hairs have four daughters: Sydney, Lana, Phyllis and Pam.

Most important to the Hairs is their belief that a home should be designed to encourage closer family relations between children and adults. Their idea was to have a decorative kitchen open to a dining and den area so that no one member of the family would be closed off from another.

The minute you step into the kitchen-den-family room-dining area, you see how beautifully the Hairs have accomplished this in their plans. The living room, den and dining area, and hall are covered wall-to-wall with a "stylish" brown, tan, and white tweed cross-spun carpet.

On the east wall of the enormous room is the kitchen cabinet of birch which is complimented with a built-in oven and range. Separate both living and eating areas, is an oblong bar with high stools. As so often is the case, entertaining means extra steps and extra preparation. . . but not here. Family meals and guest meals get the same billing, and each is as easy as the other to prepare and serve.

The ceiling in the family-den-kitchen-dining area is white and three of the walls are covered in primanna pine wall paneling. Wall number four, the dining area's background, is bright rust. Half of the south wall in the family room is covered with an elegant fireplace of Arizona stone.

The dining area is accented by maple table and chairs and a gracious-looking china cabinet of maple—all done in a pecan finish.

Lovely tan, rust, brown, and white block designed draperies cover the large picture windows at the dining area and the family area. A brown sectional, blonde coffee table and TV, and a green reclining chair complete the family room furnishings.

From one side of the kitchen, you walk into a spacious utility room and a small half bath is connected to it. The garage, which has its entrance at the back of the house, is also connected to the utility room.

The living room walls are white—white is fresh and gay, and a perfect foil for using courageous colors, and even for changing color schemes without changing background walls. Ruth, who likes modern decor anyway, has put artistic know-how to good use in her modern living room.

Her full-length curtains over a light picture window are white with a gold, orange, brown, black, and turquoise modern design and they pull over white nylon panels.

Before her window is a huge modern turquoise lamp and a bowl of roses on a rectangular coffee

Other furnishings in the Hair living room are a blonde piano, two bright rust-orange chairs, a turquoise sectional and mahogany end-tables with large white lamps trimmed in gold. An outstanding feature in the room is a picture-plaque over the couch of musical instruments done in all-white and trimmed in gold. Two brick planters, of which Ruth has already made good use for decorative house plants, divide the entrance into the living room from the hall that leads from the front door.

The quiet, attractive master bedroom reflects the glow of two people very much in love who are, with care and respect, building a successful life together. The carpet is of a shag brown cotton and the furnishings are turquoise, brown and white. The connecting bath is a blend of beige, brown, and turquoise. In the shower, at Laus' request, the carpenters built a little seat "for sitting while you shower."

The closet in the master bedroom is larger and roomier than the bath. It is a walk-in closet with rows and rows of shelves and storage space with a great deal of room for hanging "hers and his" wardrobes.

Sydney's and Lana's room and Pam's and Phyllis' room are both "storybook" rooms—all frilly and soft and pleasant.

Syd's and Lana's room is done up in a soft baby blue. . . the cotton shag carpet, the white and blue bed, the chinz flowered curtains. The night tables and the double dresser are grey and the double beds are Hollywood beds. The "pink room" is Pam's and Phyllis'. It is all rosy with a rose beige carpet, pink walls and ceiling; pink nylon ruffled curtains; and a pink built-in corner table. Their room is made even more feminine-looking with dolls placed around in the room.

The girls' bath is lovely in shades of brown, pink and blue. The dressing table is enhanced by a unique little modern what-not shelf—just full of figurines.

Outside of the attractive and comfortable home, the house is bricked with red brick and trimmed with white wrought iron; white window trimming and white roofing.

The Hairs moved into their home in October, 1957.

There's nothing quite so adorable—nor memorable—as when a little girl first begins to dress up in Mamma's clothes.

She perks an old funny hat on her too-small head; she clippity-clops around in high heels that won't stay on; she smears lipstick on her lips, polish all over the ends of her fingers, and tries to make eyebrows like her mommy does with a pencil.

She invades Mother's most expensive perfume as if it were mere water. She dons all the beads and bracelets and earrings she can possibly get on her small apparatus. She tries in vain to keep her mother's size 26 belt on her size 20 waistline. She drags around in the old skirt and blouse that hang like they aren't supposed to.

And then, she puts her baby in her doll buggy and away she goes, looking so tiny and vulnerable and precious!

Jeana and Jan Chester gave a dress-up party Monday, and they were all a sight to behold: Dan Hardy with painted freckles and long necktie, Bonnie Offield in Francine's REAL high heels, Jeana and Jan making like busy hostesses, Jamie in saggy pants and shirt, Kaysee with the inevitable hat perched sideways. And they sat around and sipped cool-aid and ate cake just like big folks!

Life's Frustrations:

Sandra Hamby, lovely lifeguard at the ORC pool, has found she's allergic to WATER and SUN! They make her sick.

How we shall miss Ann and Jimmy Williams around here. Ann's ready musical talent was such as addition to the community. However, I've been told some of our new school administration people have brought like talent to Olton. So I'm sure they'll be put to work as quickly as Mrs. Williams was.

One Olton man predicted this week that our population will be 5,000 in five years.

It's later than you think. Better hustle off on that last-minute vacation if you're going to make it at all.

Ladies are busily sewing school clothes.

Girls are getting that college wardrobe together.

Boys and men are sandwiching talk of crops with football predictions.

Students are speculating about what their new teachers will be like.

Some are groaning about the new science courses OHS has scheduled.

Youngsters are cramming in every moment of hard play each day with the start of school so near.

And everyone is holding his breath about the marvelous crop prospects in this area.

Books on Parade

by mardema ogletree

The Travels of Jaimie McPheeters by Robert Lewis Taylor, Doubleday and Co., $4.50.

Lewis Nordyke in his review of the book in the New York Times says, "This is a tremendously exciting novel, and . . . in sharp focus historically."

This account of the adventures of a young boy, his father, and their wagon train companions during the 1849 rush to the California gold fields is a lusty, raw kind of story.

The atrocities of both Indians and white men are at times unbelievable even though the reader is convinced that the author has drawn much of the story from actual happenings.

The plot gets a little thin and contrived at times. Jaimie keeps encountering the same scoundrels in California he had known back in Kentucky.

But it is easily read, and the style is different—a sort of Sugar Foot and Andy Griffith combination.

In a detached way two religious groups are ridiculed. And the detachment is contagious. I never really became attached to any of the characters of the novel. But for some reason (curiosity maybe), I could not put the book down until I had read the last page.

MGM has just bought this one for a major movie. The price was rumored to be $200,000.00 according to a recent issue of Publishers Weekly.

The Panhandle's own Loula Grace Erdman has written a new book called Short Summer to be published September 2 by Dodd, Mead.

And this has been a short summer, and very soon the trek back to school will begin.

The opening of school each year reminds me of a cartoon I saw once. It showed the harried mother of some small children scattering rose petals in the path of an oncoming school bus and shouting, "Welcome, Welcome!"

I am pleased to hear that Spanish will be offered in our high school this year. Understanding other people and their language is more important now than ever before, I think.

And the American people have been conspicuously lazy about this. I read of a group of Americans who had lived in Latin America for thirty years and still had not bothered to learn their language.

For practical purposes a little manual called Spanish For Farmers by Dr. Samuel R. Skaggs and Amelia Montes Skaggs should be widely used in this area. The present edition is only 50 cents, a new one is coming out next month, and it might be higher.

For travellers in Mexico there is a little book called Spanish For Travelers (Berlitz Self-teaching method) $1.00 which lists common words and phrases tourists might need to know.

And there is a new record album out called Spanish For The Young- er Set, written by Zelda Klapper, narrated by David Allen, music by Israel Ross, University Associated Children's Educational Records, $4.95. It is from the fun in language series and has songs, games, and activities in both English and Spanish for the three to eight year old group.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Olton, Texas
August 11, 1958

Dear Editor:

From time to time you have published notices from our state and county road officials to us farmers telling us to stay out of the road right-of-way with our plows. The officials will have little trouble with us, if they will keep the right-of-way clean of weeds that will spread to our fields. Drive out 70 from Olton and see how many patches of Johnson grass are headed out and going to seed on the right-of-way. Go out our county roads and see the deep ditches full of Johnson grass and sunflowers. Also see our big graders running up and down the middle of the roads, keeping them dusty this dry weather. This week I am digging Johnson grass out of the ditch along our place with a shovel. I am wondering if this, too, is against the rule?

Yours truly
Charles Bowers

Dimmitt, Tex., Man Reports—
"Ammonia makes a big difference in my wheat"

Frank S. Wise, who farms 960 acres near Dimmitt, says: "I know from experience that Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia makes a big difference in my wheat yields. I figure I'm getting an average of 20 bushels more to the acre by putting down 80 to 100 pounds of Phillips ammonia pre-plant."

Other successful Southwestern farmers use Phillips 66 ammonia to give them higher grain yields . . . and more profitable grazing. The 82% nitrogen in Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia gives young wheat a fast start, supplies plenty of lush, protein-rich forage that puts on more beef at less cost per pound.

Many of these farmers plow down Phillips 66 ammonia in the fall on maize land. They know that 82% nitrogen helps decompose crop residue, to provide extra plant food and make the soil more productive. Remember, Phillips 66 ammonia gives you more nitrogen per dollar than any other form of fertilizer—a full 82%.

OPTOMETRY: The Art and Science of Visual Care

"Oh, what a shame!"

Jimmy had to put on glasses—and he's so young!"
"Yes, Clara, he did. But you know what . . . . Dr. Roberts said that such an eye problem as his couldn't have been corrected 25 years ago."
"Back in those days youngsters with Jimmy's eye problem grew up unable to do well enough in school to make passing grades. Then, children's chances of achieving much in life were very poor."
"Now, thanks to optometric science, Jimmy is able to learn and to adjust himself. We're SO grateful that optometry could provide him an equal opportunity to live a good normal life."
A professional optometric examination might mean the difference in your child's future.
