Johnson Resigns Olton Post; Will Head Abernathy Schools

Noel Johnson will return to his home town of Abernathy as school superintendent next term.

Abernathy school board came in a body to see Mr. Johnson and simply would not take no for an answer. They literally drafted the 34-year-old former naval officer into the job of headmaster of the school system where he himself learned his 'readin', 'ritin' and 'rithmetic' twenty odd years ago.

It was a signal honor for a young school administrator who had won the respect of his associates in his first command—the superintendency of the Olton school system.

"I will always feel grateful to Olton school board and to the people of Olton," declared Mr. Johnson. "They gave me my first chance."

Mr. Johnson will remain with the Olton school system until July 1, at which date he will assume his duties at Abernathy. His resignation was accepted by the Olton board Friday night.

Mr. Johnson came here last week to fill the post left vacant when Supt. Carl Macon died of a heart attack.

Olton school board announced no plans for filling the post left vacant by the resignation. Board members indicated that no action will be taken earlier than March 1.

Love Birds And Prize-Winning Cocker Share Attention, Love Of The Ben Souders Family

BY KORKYE MARTIN

The king of the canine world in Olton—according to the judges of an amateur dog show here last spring—is also "top man" in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Ben Souders and children.

She is Honey, a black part-Cocker Spaniel past two years old. She won the "Best of Show" trophy presented by Ken-L-Ration in a dog parade staged at Sherman Food last spring. She also brought home a cup for third place in the "leading" contest.

"One of the most valuable members of the family," Honey makes many house calls with Dr. Ben. She always goes along if they occur in the night, and many times through the day if he has time, Dr. Ben picks Honey up enroute to a patient's home. Honey sits up in the back seat as if she were the doctor and Dr. Ben were chauffering her around.

In fact, Dr. Ben is Honey's favorite person. Eight-year-old Beth, 11-year-old Johnny, 14-year-old Junior, Mrs. Souders, or a stranger, can walk up on the front porch and bring forth barking from Honey if she hears from inside.

But at the sound of Dr. Ben's car in the drive, she becomes very excited, and impatiently, but quietly waits until her master enters the house, then runs to greet him.

Honey was given to Junior about two years ago as a young pup. But she really belongs to all the family. All three of the Souders offspring enjoy sprucing her up—in the bath tub—then brushing her shiny, black, wavy hair.

She is liable to be fed at the hands of all five of the Souders', and will eat anything they give her. She makes many out-of-town trips with the family; but stays in an animal hospital if she can't go along.

Last summer she made the long trip to Galveston where Mrs. Souders' mother lives, and had the time of her life swimming in the Gulf.

However, Mrs. Souders comments, her mother also has a dog, and the two of them don't get along so well, so Honey usually has to stay behind.

Whether she's jealous of the attention they get, or whether she just follows her innate inclinations to devour them, Honey has an aversion for the two parakeets that live where she does.

Pretty Girl and Pretty Boy seem to think it's just as well that the door of their cage is seldom opened to them, too, with such an enemy lurking about.

Pretty Boy is the second male parakeet the Souders' have obtained. They bought a pair of birds some time ago, but the male died. Pretty Girl became so lonely and quiet that they finally had to give her another companion.

"They didn't like each other at first," Mrs. Souders recalls. "They'd sit at opposite ends of the cage and never coo or sing to each other. But they finally got together and now they get along as they should."

She went on to say it seems they all the time. Their receptacles are kept filled with bird food, of course.

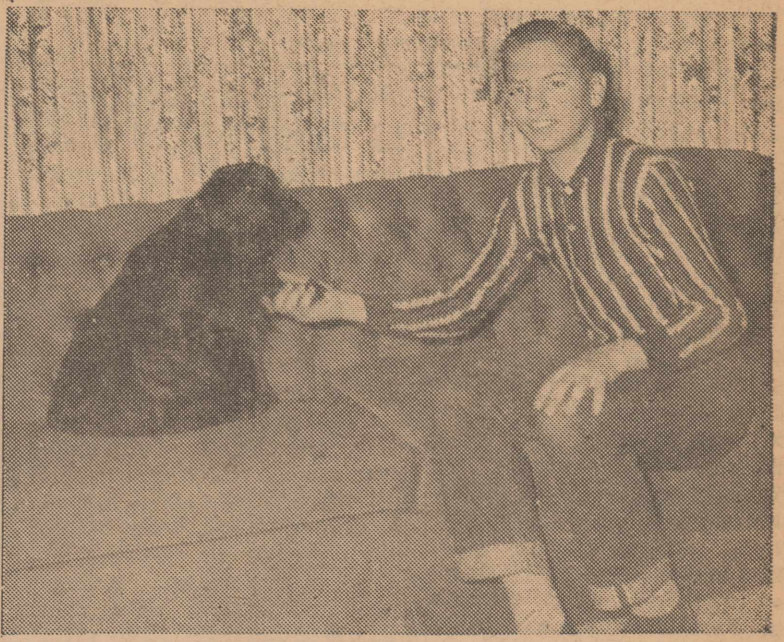

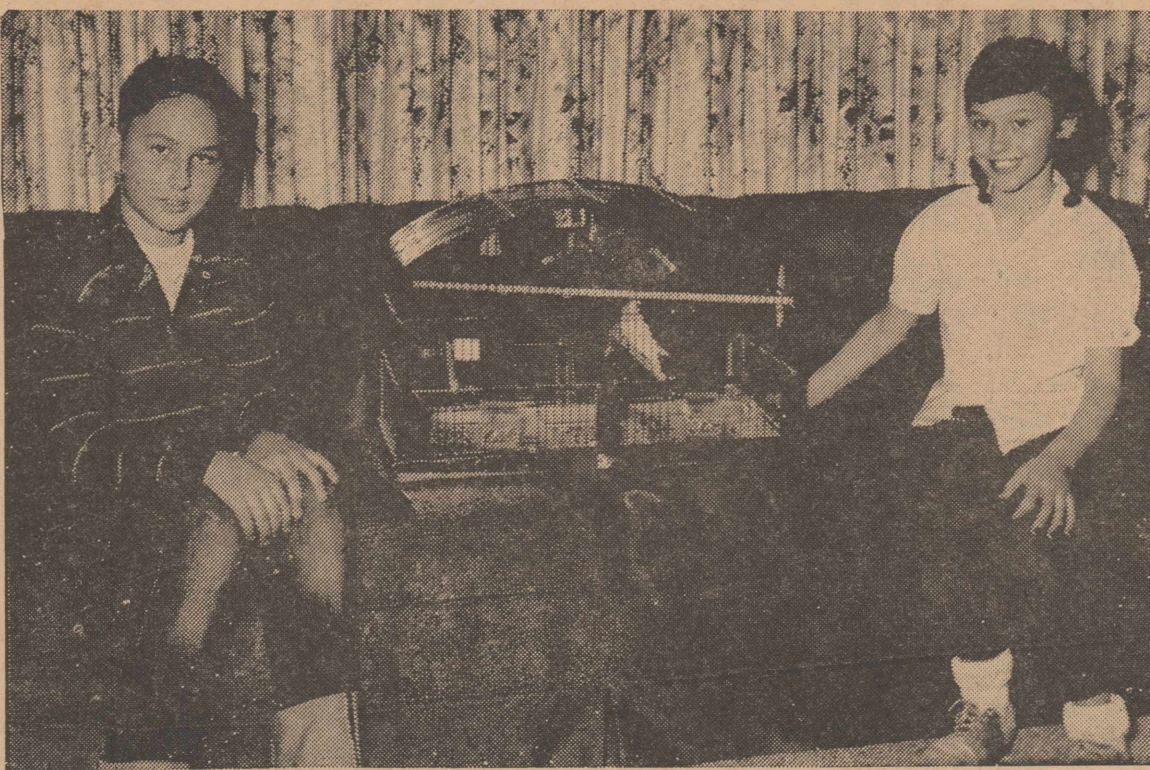

Pretty Boy, as are all male parakeets, is very light blue. The girl is a bright royal blue. Characteristic of all birds, they become completely quiet when their cage is covered, which arrangement is convenient, since they live in the TV room. Also true to form, the birds do not learn to talk when they are paired—except to each other.

Junior's first love for several years was the rabbit he kept penned in the back yard. He studied arduously on the care and habits of his rodent pets, and spent many hours with them. When reproduction occurred, he would carry the news to all his friends and neighbors. At one time he had 17 rabbits,

Church of Nazarene Plans Easter Series Featuring English Speaker

Looking toward the 1958 golden anniversary of the Church of the Nazarene, Rev. Winfred Ritter has outlined a number of events to co-incide with other churches of the denomination.

Highlighting the church activities for the year will be a series of revival services April 2 to 13, with Robert Emsley of Leeds, England, as the speaker.

Emsley is also scheduled to appear before the Lions Club and the high school assembly while in Olton.

Official church birthday is October 13, 1908. A group of smaller churches in the east, west and south formally united at Pilot Point, Texas to form the Church of the Nazarene. Delegates representing 228 churches with 10,414 members were gathered.

The members share a belief in the Wesleyan doctrine of entire sanctification, or heart purity.

The original number has increased now to 4,500 churches with approximately 300,000 members. There are now 341 full-time missionaries engaged in 33 world areas.

Headquarters of the Church of the Nazarene is located in Kansas City, Mo., where a theological seminary is also located. A new publishing house is now being contemplated.

Is the Teacher Really to Blame?

Too many times the Teacher is blamed when a student is not doing well in school. Recent research from Purdue University indicated that seldom is the teacher to blame when "Johnny Can't Read." Many times the cause is inadequate vision.

It is the Parent's duty to make sure the child's eyes are able to take the load of school work. Frequently lenses and visual training are necessary to enable the child to accomplish in school. If visual training is necessary, it is the Parent's duty to provide it. After all, your child depends on his vision to learn and he will depend on his learning to make a living later in life.

CONSULT THE VISUAL PRACTITIONER OF YOUR CHOICE AND HAVE YOUR CHILD'S EYES EXAMINED AT LEAST ONCE EACH YEAR.

Golden Wedding Celebration Sunday PM Will Honor Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Comstock

Open house will be held Sunday afternoon from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Fitts, in observance of the golden wedding anniversary of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Comstock.

Mr. Comstock is employed as bookkeeper with the Fitts Implement Company. Prior to coming to Olton a year ago, he was employed by the Levelland Daily Sun News at Levelland.

He was born April 7, 1884 at Eads, Crawford County, Ark. He is the oldest of ten children, all of whom are living. His mother, Mrs. Winnie Comstock, 93 years of age, resides in Westville, Okla.

Mrs. Comstock was born at Uniontown, Crawford County, Ark., Jan. 13, 1887. She was the youngest of ten children, four of whom are still living.

The couple were married in the home of her parents in Uniontown Jan. 26, 1908, by R. V. Dipboye. Comstock recalls:

"My wife and I grew up together, attended the same school, and were together most every day, but it took me almost three years to convince her I was the proper guy for her to marry."

There were no attendants to the wedding, but appropriate music was furnished by Miss Minnie Hays, now Mrs. Ira Comstock of Van Buren.

"The day following the wedding," he continues, "my wife got up at 5:00 a.m. and prepared breakfast so I could ride horseback seven miles and be on time to open school. I was teaching at the time."

The Comstocks have one other daughter besides Mrs. Fitts. She is Mrs. Richard Stockton of Denver, Colorado. They have two step-grandchildren, two adopted grandchildren, five step-great-grandchildren and one adopted great-grandson.

"We've only lived in Olton since last February," the Comstocks say, "so we are not too well-known here, but a blanket invitation is extended to any who may wish to call between 2 and 5 o'clock next Sunday afternoon."

That Betty Souders! Get her started and her mind turns like 16 cylinders!

She went to Carlene Hardy's Diminishing Coffee Friday morning, and Friday afternoon she came in the office with a brain-twister deluxe.

You see, the Diminishing Coffee, a gimmick of the March of Dimes, starts with the hostess inviting ten women, each of whom in turn promises to give a coffee and invite nine OTHER women, who again will agree to give a coffee and invite eight OTHER guests, the number of guests decreasing each sequence until SOMEBODY is drinking alone. At each affair, of course, guests bring a contribution to the March of Dimes.

Well, Betty's riddle is this: If each one of the ten women invites nine others; that's 90 women for the second series of coffees. (Yes, that's right.)

Then if each of those 90 gives a coffee and invites eight others, 720 women will be drinking coffee at about the same time. Those 720 are supposed to invite seven each; that makes 5,040.

(All right, stay with me.)

Those 5,040 agreed to invite six others for coffee; that will be 30,240. That number will have five guests each; so there'll be 156,200 coffee-drinkers.

(I know it's fantastic, but we aren't through!)

One hundred, fifty-six thousand, two-hundred women will invite four guests for coffee; that 624,800 will invite three others; those 1,874,400 are to invite only two others; and finally, the 3,748,800 women are to invite one lone friend for a coffee session on behalf of the polio drive. SO!

In the end, HOW many PEOPLE are drinking coffee alone? HOW many PEOPLE drank coffee all together, and from that, if each contributed a dollar apiece, how much money would the March of Dimes have raised. And finally, HOW much COFFEE did all those ladies consume? i-t-o

How many of you do some dry cleaning at home with naphtha or gasoline? Well, it still IS dangerous, you know, and so the Texas Department of Health has a list of suggestions for you, endorsed by the National Safety Council:

1. Use only a non-inflammable fluid for dry cleaning. Remember, a can of cleaning fluid may be marked "non explosive," and still be FLAMMABLE.
2. Keep the hands out of the solvent by using a suction washer.
3. Do the cleaning outside of the house, where all toxic and other vapors will be quickly dissipated.
4. Dry the garments outside of the house.
5. Keep children and pets away.
6. Never, under any circumstances, use gasoline or naphtha for garment cleaning purposes.
7. Even when removing only I would add No. 8. Take your clothes to the cleaners.

Small spots, follow these same instructions. It was pretty cold one morning last week as Glen Singletary got out of his car and started into Ideal Cafe for a steaming cup of coffee.

But he was stopped by a small boy, about 6 or 7, who said: "Mister, is that your car?"

Glen replied yes, it was. And then—

"Well, would you drive me to school? I'm cold!"

Well, didn't make it to that women's press session last Saturday. Betty Williams and Polly Middleton (Littlefield and Earth) were supposed to have gone, though, and I'm anxious to hear their stories!

i-t-o

We ARE planning to attend the mid-winter session of the Texas Press Association in Austin Saturday, however. 'Twill be my first trip to Austin since I was a high school sophomore. And then I had my head too much in the clouds of Interscholastic League play contests to be interested in sight-seeing.

We are to be guests of the Governor at a reception in his palace, I understand. So for country hicks like me and Troy, that will be some experience. I'm sure

"DO YOUR BEST"

TCU COACH SPEAKS TO PACKED HOUSE

An audience of 225 students, parents, and citizens heard TCU Head Coach Abe Martin, guest speaker, issue sound advice to high school athletes, particularly boys interested in attending college on athletic scholarships, Thursday night at the all-sports banquet in the school lunchroom.

"Five things you've got to have," Coach Martin admonished, "if you want to be on the first team: the desire to do it, the ability to do it, a real fine attitude about your organization, and finally, dependability." The Horned Frogs mentor stressed that the first thing a scholarship boy goes to college for is an education; football is second, and if he succeeds in getting an education, whether he even letters in football, if he has tried his best, he got what he came for. Elmer Moore was master of ceremonies for the dinner. Invocation was said by James Carson. A musical number was presented by Charlotte Loveless, Judy Ogletree, Gayle Machen, Charla Granbery, Latrell Stewart, Ellen Jones, Sue Witten, Donice Silcott, accompanied by Kay Sherman.

Appropriate decorations in blue and white were prepared by the OHS cheerleaders. Centerpieces for individual tables were formed with various athletic trophies acquired by OHS.

Patsy Moss, football queen, was presented a gift by Co-Captain Jack Royce Straw. Other Co-captains James Ray Hyatt and Billy King presented gifts to Coaches Jeff Smart, Travis Reator, Jimmy Goss and Joe Turner.

Football players and both boy and girl basketball teams were presented individually by the coaches. This was Abe Martin's second appearance at the sports banquet in Olton.

Speaking of the Amarillo stock show, congrats to the boys that won places there. Too many names to go into here.

Arno Hall and Glenda Hall, a couple that attended the All Sports Banquet Thursday night may have been a surprise to you. (It wasn't to me—a little birdie squealed!)

Couples together Friday night were Sharron Dennis and Joe Miller; Jackie Pinson and Mary Scribner; Ronnie Dennis and Patsy Moss; and Sue Witten and Harlan Carson. (The first two couples attended the basketball game in Plainview.)

Marty Singletary, Lana Hair, Koenia Schenk and Sydney Hair went to the Twin View in Plainview Saturday night. If everybody only knew the time those girls came home, you'd wonder if they were sane!

There's a little rumor going around that a fan club for Mr. Don Johnson is being talked. What do you think about that, girls? (No boys allowed, I'm told.)

Together Saturday night were Joyce Gray, T. J. Smith; Janice Campbell, I. A. Webb; Charla Granbery, Terry Don Allen; Gayle McAnally, Freddie Davidson; Joyce Curtis, Harvey Garrison; Jean Williams, Marion Green; Coy Carlisle and Donna May.

Janet Oak and Shirley Venable went with boys from Hart Saturday night. The boys were Don Ray Clark and J. D. Myrick. They were cruising around in a '58 Chevy station wagon in case you were wondering who that was.

Gene Varner and Janice Sharp of Hart were together Saturday night. Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Carl McClure upon the birth of their son, Christopher Paladino.

Lucky Dewey Hukill! He is the owner of a red and white 1955 Chevrolet. The car is a two-door hardtop. Dewey's car will probably be filled with boys most of the time, but I'd give a lot to know what girl occupies it on Saturday nights.

Sue Witten and Harlan Carson were together Wednesday night.

Dixie Upton of Lubbock spent the week-end with Janice Campbell and Joyce Gray. She went with Hayden Hankins to Plainview Saturday night.

Why do OHS students dread to go home after reports cards have been issued? Why isn't shep singular for sheep? Why do girls go steady, but their "steadies," the boys, don't? (And vice versa in some cases.)

Charla Granbery, who called you from Amarillo during the stock show that was going up there at the time?

One of the courses listed in a university bulletin is "Beginning Finnish." Sort of throws you at first, doesn't it?

Wes Izzard of the Amarillo Daily wrote some wise words in his "From A to Izzard" column recently. They made me stop and think—hope they do you, too!

"In these days of world tension we like to turn back and read the story of Nehemiah and the rebuilding of the wall of Jerusalem.

"It has a direct application to current events.

"Word came to Nehemiah, cup-bearer for Artaxerxes, the king, that Jerusalem, the city of his fathers, remained a waste, its gates burned, its wall rubble, just as it was left after the siege. "Nehemiah's concern for the city and its people was so great that the king granted him permission to go back and direct the rebuilding.

"So Nehemiah went to Jerusalem, and rallied the people there, and they began to rebuild the wall.

"Now in the province were some powerful political and military leaders who decided it was dangerous to allow the Jews to build back their walls and fortifications.

"Among them were Sanballat and Geshem, the Arabian.

"First they threatened military force. Nehemiah promptly armed his workers and set a guard around the wall. The builders worked with one hand 'and with the other held a weapon.'

"Then Sanballat and Geshem tried trickery. "They sent word to Nehemiah that reports were going around saying the Jews sought to fortify the city so they might rebel against the king.

"They proposed that Nehemiah come down from the wall and confer with them 'in some one of the villages in the plain of Ono.'

"But Nehemiah knew better. He was in no mood for appeasement.

"They thought to do me mischief,' he said.

"So he sent back this word: "I am doing a great work, so that I cannot come down; why should the work cease whilst I come down to you?"

"It occurs to us that President Eisenhower just now is engaged in building a wall—a wall of security and freedom for mankind. The enemy wants him to stop the work and come down and confer on the plain of Ono—a 'summit meeting' they call it.

"But, like Nehemiah, the President said, in effect: 'Why should the work cease whilst I come down to you?'

"Any one of us, when engaged in some worthy enterprise, might keep the story of Nehemiah in mind. Always, there are suggestions that we stop the work and come down to the level of thinking of those who would hinder it. Like Nehemiah, we can reply: 'I am doing a great work so that I cannot come down.'

"And in these days of the short work week and demands for more and more leisure, it should be noted that Nehemiah reported, 'So built we the wall . . . for the people had a mind to work.'

"You can find the whole story in the first six chapters of the Book of Nehemiah."

A doctor operated on an Indiana boy and removed two marbles. Maybe it's best not to play for keeps.

Billy Graham is right you know—

"It is small wonder that the Bible has always been the world's best seller! No other book can touch its profound wisdom, its poetic beauty, of the accuracy of its history and prophecy. Its critics, who claimed it to be filled with forgery, fiction, and unfilled promises, are finding that the difficulties lie with themselves, and not the Bible. Greater and more careful scholarship has shown that apparent contradictions were caused by incorrect translations rather than divine inconsistencies. It was man and not the Bible that needed correcting."

We know where the expression "better half" came from—"better do this, better do that."

If you don't want to look like a "sack of door-knobs" this spring in the chic new sack dresses—better start on that diet today! (I am.)
