Dedication Ceremony for New Stadium Planned Friday Night

FRANK KIMBROUGH WILL BE SPEAKER

New Playing Field
To Be Dedicated By H S U Coach

Haskell high school stadium will be officially dedicated Friday night when the Haskell Indians Throckmorton clash in game to be played on the new field.

Frank Kimbrough of the Cowboys, HHS graduate football star of the Indians will deliver the address during the brief ceremony.

The dedication will be held during the afternoon of Friday, Sept. 17, at 7 o'clock.

Supt. C. B. Breeding, in charge of arrangements, said that the Haskell high school stadium will be officially dedicated Friday night when the Haskell Indians Throckmorton clash in game to be played on the new field.

Weinert Schools Close For Cotton Gathering Season

The Weinert schools closed Tuesday Sept. 14, and classes will be discontinued for a period of a month to six weeks, depending on the cotton gathering season, announced I. J. Duff, superintendent.

High school and grammar school opened Wednesday, August 25 with an enrollment totaling almost 475. Added to the curriculum this year was the agriculture department.

Farmers Combating Leaf Worms With Airplane Dusting

About two hundred acres of cotton are being dusted per day by the Schoreder Airplane Dusting Co., Inc. in Haskell county to combat cotton leaf and boll worms, reports County Agent B. W. Chesser. Calcium Arsenate is now being distributed between Weinert and O'Brien for leaf worm control.

Four pounds of calcium arsenate applied early in the morning by the airplane when there is more moisture in the air is "really killing the worms," says Roy Tankersley, M. A. Bumpas and other farmers who have had cotton dusted recently.

A large crop of bollworms were poisoned with a mixture of six pounds of calcium arsenate plus four ounces of paris green per acre on the Kennedy farm just north of the Ballew school last week at a total cost of sixty-six cents per acre.

Apparently the worms are "letting up" in some places, Mr. Chesser reports, but farmers should watch their cotton closely.

Guest Tickets Will Be Given Want Ad Readers

The Mauch twins, Billy and Bobby, playing in "The Pince and the Pauper" will be the featured attraction at the Texas Theatre Sunday and Monday. For this attraction four complimentary tickets will be given to readers of the Free Press whose names appear in our Want Ad column today.

These tickets are given our readers each week as a courtesy of this newspaper in cooperation with the theatre management. Persons whose names appear must call at the Free Press office to secure the tickets.

PARADE PLANS FOR FALL FAIR INCLUDE COWGIRL SPONSORS

Throngs expected to be present here for the Central West Texas Fair, Oct. 20-23 will witness one of the most spectacular parades ever to be presented in West Texas on the opening fair day. Colorful floats representing each of the twelve months and a float for each season of the year will lead the parade.

Beautiful young ladies of Haskell will be chosen by local merchants to represent them on their floats and costumed in appropriate attire they will ride on the decorated floats carrying out the theme of certain months.

Cowgirl sponsors and their escorts from neighboring towns mounted on their horses will ride through each sponsored float. Surrounding towns will select sponsors within a few days reports the Special Attractions committee and these young ladies will be special guests during the entire fair.

Fall Festival Queen will be selected from the group of honored Haskell girls who are chosen to represent merchants on their floats. Coronation of the Queen will be presented in connection with the grand pageant to be given Wednesday night.

MERCHANTS VOTE TO CONTINUE "TRADES DAY"

The 1937 Squad of the High School Indians

INDIANS CLASH WITH THROCKMORTON CLUB IN SEASON OPENER

Front row: Curtis Ballard, Milton Wilfong, Bob Cousins, Jerry Francis Carmichael, Jack Simmons, Junior Jenkins, J. C. Scott, Ellis Hayes, Fred Barnett, Bill Wiseman.

MATTSON SCHOOL WILL OPEN IN NEW BUILDING MONDAY

Mattson Rural School will officially open for classes Monday, Sept. 20 announced Superintendent Elmer C. Watson. Interior work in the new building will be completed by the week-end and equipment will be installed by Monday morning.

Total enrollment figures are expected to reach two hundred and forty when the last few students register.

A dedication program for the new building is planned within the next three weeks and an interesting ceremony and public reception, including a barbecue, is reported for formal dedication.

Teachers headed by Superintendent Watson are: Henrietta Perrin, Gladys Crume, Mildred Moore, James Wray, R. L. Coody, Mrs. Rod Clifton and Mrs. Veda Furrh.

WEEKLY EVENT IS BELIEVED HELP TO BUSINESS

Business Men Unanimous For Continuance of Present Plan

Trades Day on each Wednesday will be continued it was decided by Haskell business men at a recent meeting. Merchants voted unanimously for its continuance, believing that the people wanted it.

Started more than a year ago it has proved highly popular with people of Haskell and surrounding territory. But of more importance, the Wednesday Trades Day has developed a produce market that is higher than the average market price in adjoining towns. Truckers have learned that produce is brought into Haskell twice a week regularly and they can afford to pay a higher price for merchandise because they know it is fresh.

This higher market has resulted in an increased demand by shippers for Haskell produce.

BRAVES PLAY SECOND GAME AT MUNDAY '37 CHAMPIONSHIP

Predicted To Take Three Straight Games In Series

The Haskell Indians will invade the Munday Moguls field Sunday afternoon for the second game of the five-game series for championship in the Wichita Valley League. Winning the first with a score of 8-2 the Braves are planning on making Sunday's encounter the second setup for a hoped-for sweep of the series. Winners of the pennant for the past two years, Indian fans have already marked "1937 champions" down in their scrapbook.

But Sunday's game is yet to be played and Red Nichols, Mogul pitcher, may rally for the second game and receive support from his team.

Same lineup as was used in the last game will be used.

Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Parmelly, Mrs. B. C. Oman of Leuders, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Briles visited the Carlbad Cavern last Friday and Saturday.

Kimbrough To Give Dedicatory Address

Coach Frank Kimbrough of the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys, and former football star of the Indians will deliver the dedicatory address at the opening ceremony of the new Haskell High School football stadium Friday night.

DISCUSS IMPROVED VARIETY OF COTTON IN MEETING HERE

Selection of one variety of cotton and exclusive cultivation of that variety is the way to improve the State's future grade of staple. This was the message carried home Tuesday afternoon by more than two hundred farmers, ginners, and business men who met here to hear State Extension Service officials. The serious situation of the penalty West Texas farmers are receiving for producing a short, non-uniform staple cotton, and how this situation can be remedied was discussed by E. A. Miller, Extension Service Agronomist and F. E. Lichte, Extension Cotton Gin Specialist. J. A. Scofield, District Agent and B. W. Chesser, County Agent also made short talks.

"The so-called backward countries like Mexico, Brazil, Egypt, and China are taking much of our foreign markets from us by producing a good staple of cotton that the spinners want," Mr. Miller said.

It was pointed out further by both Mr. Miller and Mr. Lichte that many spinners are discriminating against Texas cotton by specifying in their orders that "no cotton from Texas be included in the sale."

Mr. Miller went on to say that

MERCHANTS REPORT BUSINESS INCREASE

Wheat Producers Urged To Treat Seed For Smut

Smut will be scarce in Haskell county next year if as many wheat producers treat their seed as have indicated by inquiries at the county agent's office recently. It was estimated that more than $10,000 was lost in Haskell county as a result of smut reducing the price as well as the yield of wheat this year. It has been proven that seed treated properly will prevent the costly losses caused by smut at an expense of less than two cents per acre.

Copper carbonate and Improved Ceresan are the most popular dust treatments now used. From one-half to one ounce of the Ceresan mixed well with the seed is sufficient and from two to three ounces of the copper carbonate is recommended. The copper carbonate should contain 55 per cent metallic copper.

It is very important to mix the dust well with the seed, Mr. Chesser says. A concrete mixer, an old barrel churn, a water-tight barrel, or a steel oil drum can be used very satisfactorily making a mixing machine at home.

Extension Courses Start Monday For Haskell Teachers

Classes in two extension courses will start Monday, Sept. 20 for teachers in Haskell County at the North Ward school building.

Course in history will be offered by Dr. R. N. Richardson and Dr. R. A. Collins will teach education. Both are of Hardin-Simmons University. Classes, conducted from seven until ten p. m. are expected to be attended by about fifty teachers.

WILLIAM PETTIT IS EMPLOYED BY MAYS DRY GOODS STORE

Mr. William Pettit of Seymour has been added to the staff at Mays Dry Goods Store. He will assist Mr. Mays in the men furnishings department.

Mr. Pettit, whose former home is at Throckmorton, moved here this week. He has been connected with the dry goods business for a long period of time and is very experienced in this work.

SINGING CONVENTION AT O'BRIEN CHURCH

The Haskell County West Side singing convention will meet at the O'Brien First Baptist Church Sunday, Sept. 19.

Services will start at 2:30 p. m. The public is cordially invited to attend.

HASSEN'S RETURN HOME AFTER VISIT IN NATIVE COUNTRY

Mr. and Mrs. Shahr Hassen and two children, Nabeela and Rajah, arrived home Wednesday, after spending the summer months in their native country, Syria.

The party docked in New York last Thursday and made a six-day trip coming home.

Season's Ginning Total Here Passes 1,000 Bale Mark

Fall business is getting in full swing this week with more than 1,012 bales of cotton ginned by Haskell gins Thursday at noon. Merchants of the town report that there is a decided increase in business varying from twenty to fifty per cent. This increase is credited with opening of cotton which is expected to start in earnest within the next few days. Cotton leaf worm damage has been slight and boll worms have caused only spotted damage and what few are left are being controlled by timely poisoning.

With the influx of cotton pickers and local unemployed all working in the fields "cotton pickin' money" is in circulation and although most farmers are holding their cotton for higher prices, the outlook is very optimistic for one of the best fall seasons in several years.

Dry goods stores report that buying has almost doubled with the last week and is expected to increase even more within the next few days. Ginning reports indicate that the gathering of this year's crop, estimated at 45,000 bales, is just getting started. Several gins are already running late at night and will start operating twenty-four hours as soon as ginning demands it.

Already the general relief for the county has been reduced in half is expected to be further reduced.

Although calls were numerous last week for cotton pickers, there have been few this week and farmers are finding all the necessary help needed without calling for outside assistance.

FIVE FINED FOR EXCEEDING SCHOOL ZONE SPEED LIMIT

Motorists Are Warned To Observe Traffic Regulations

Five fines have been collected from motorists for speeding through school traffic zones this week by Justice of the Peace Bruce Clift. Others have been warned for speeding and reckless driving.

Drivers are warned to heed speed limit when passing traffic zones at both high school and South ward school zones. There has also been complaint of reckless driving in the business section and on highways in town. Officers will continue to rigidly enforce traffic regulations until motorists heed warnings.

High School Orchestra

For the first time in many years the Haskell High School will have its own orchestra. It will consist of from twenty to thirty-five members, and will be as a class in "no-ool, meeting the seventh period every Wednesday afternoon. There are certain rules and regulations just as there are in the schools.

Two classes of music will be taught. Standard, consisting of classical and marches and popular are the two classes.

Miss Riley Attends University of N. M.

Miss Riley was in Albuquerque, New Mexico this summer, attending the University of New Mexico. Albuquerque is a beautiful town, one can always see the mountain on one side and the river on the other. Miss Riley studied Spanish and Spanish American history. One course of Spanish was under Professor Del Rio, from the University of Madrid. He is now teaching Spanish at Columbia University. He was a visiting professor at the University of New Mexico, which has every summer a visiting professor from Spain. Another Spanish course Miss Riley took was under Dr. Kercherville head of Spanish department in the University. Professor Castaneda, custodian of the Spanish library at the University of Texas taught her class in South American history.

The Indians were always interesting. Miss Riley said, "I stood on the streets with my mouth open and watched the Indians." Many of the Indian women wore white boots reaching to their knees, they all wore beautiful shawls, but always wore tacky dresses. Besides an Indian woman carrying a papoose on her back, Miss Riley was interested in the Indian blanket sellers, with the bright blankets draped on their arms. On Sundays our teacher visited the Spanish churches. She said it was easy to sing with them in Spanish, but the preachers talked so fast she could hardly keep up with them.

One of the most interesting trips Miss Riley made was to Taos, an old Indian town, where you find many typical pueblos. The front part of the houses are shops where the Indians sell things they have made. In one house a little Indian boy, dressed up with feathers in her hair and jingles on his clothes danced. In the corner an old Indian man beat a drum and sang. Once Miss Riley tried to look into the room where the Indians lived, but a little Indian boy shut the door and wouldn't let her see.

Mrs. Meyer Attends T. S. C. W. at Denton

Near the first of July Mrs. Meyer home economics teacher in the high school of Texas, left to attend school in Texas State College for Women located at Denton, Texas. Her study was a course in child development under Miss Stedinger of Merrill-Palmer Nursery School of Detroit, Mich. Mrs. Meyer was outstanding in her work and completed six hours on her Master's Degree.

After returning from two trips to Kansas, the first to get Minnie Ann and second, on account of a death in the family, Mrs. Meyer quoted, "I made six hours and six thousand miles this summer."

Miss Vick Visits Folks in Colorado

In August, Miss Vick visited her brother and his family in Loveland, Colorado, which is in the northern part of the state, at the foothills of the Rockies. She said she was surprised when on arriving there she saw women going about wearing long dresses and bustles. The men, too, were old-fashioned; they wore whiskers and sideburns. This was preparatory to a coming pioneer celebration of the sixtieth anniversary of Loveland. Among other oddities Miss Vick noticed was the fact that silver dollars were used almost altogether. Especially would the clerks give them to tourists in an effort to get them distributed throughout the nation. Colorado produces silver, and Denver has a mint; that is why the silver dollar is so common there.

While driving through the Rocky Mountain National Park, Miss Vick and her party stopped to see Baldpate Inn, an exact replica of the historic inn in New England which is the setting of the mystery story and screen play "Seven Keys to Baldpate." While there she saw Frances and Minnie Ann Meyer, who were there for the day. It was a surprise to them all to see each other so far from home.

"You know how we all like to shine in reflected glory," said Miss Vick (quoting David Grayson) "so I enjoyed the privilege of attending a garden party in Amarillo and meeting Fay Peterson, Thompson, a metropolitan opera star, in whose honor the party was given."

Miss Vick visited her brothers and other relatives and friends in Amarillo while away. During the earlier part of the summer she taught some summer school students at her home in Rule.

Mr. Breedlove Stays On The Job

Mr. Breedlove with his family, camped at El Monte Park in Cristofal for five days the past summer. Other activities of Mr. Breedlove pertained to the improvement of Haskell High School and its campus. The grounds have been beautified, the ball stadium built and work has begun on the new auditorium.

"With our commodious building already complete and the assembly hall soon to be completed, with all new equipment, with the largest student body ever registered, and with an exceptionally well qualified faculty we should have the best year in the history of Haskell High School," stated Mr. Breedlove.

Mr. & Mrs. Wimbish Attend University

Enrolled in the classes of the University of Texas, this summer, were Mr. and Mrs. George V. Wimbish, teachers of Haskell High School.

Mr. Wimbish completed his work on his Master of Arts Degree, taking Public School Administration as his major subject and History as his minor. "An Administrative Survey of Haskell County" was the title of his thesis.

During the three months of study Mrs. Wimbish finished her course in English and lacks only six hours in her minor subject, government. Her thesis has been assigned and is entitled, "An Irish Poet." It is a study of William Butler Yeats. Mrs. Wimbish had the interesting experience of being in the class of an English instructor who is literally English—from England, in other words.

In a space of twelve weeks a Master's Degree was acquired and another almost completed by Mr. and Mrs. Wimbish.

Mr. Mason Attends Peabody University

Completing a second term of George Peabody in Nashville, Tennessee this summer, Mr. Mason worked on his Master of Arts degree, majoring in history and minoring in Physical Education. He has begun his thesis, entitled "The West Point of the Air." In one more summer he will complete his degree.

During the time he was away he visited many points of interest, such as old battlefields and the home of Andrew Jackson, which is kept up by the government of Tennessee and open for people to visit.

Introducing Our New Teachers

Haskell High School welcomes two new members to its faculty this year. The first, Clayton Charles Banks, teaches science and math. To make the students better acquainted with him we present the following facts: He was reared near Athens in Henderson county and has taught in Kaufman county, Texarkana Junior High, Post, and Gilliam schools before coming to Haskell. This summer he obtained his degree in Industrial Education at A. and M. College. Mr. Banks is married and has a two-year-old daughter, Carolyn Sue. Concerning his impressions of our school he said, "Haskell has one of the nicest school systems I have experienced. I consider it an honor to teach in it."

Mr. Banks likes football, news reports, and nonsensical poetry. He promises not to flunk anyone in physics who makes an effort to understand it.

Pyatt McCollum is the other teacher, at whom the feminine half of the school have been casting admiring eyes. Already one Miss has nicknamed him Tyrone. Aside from that, he spent most of his life at Clyde until the past four years, which have been spent in Abilene attending A. C. C. where he received his degree in chemistry last spring.

Mr. McCollum's favorite sport at present is football, but he also enjoys college basketball and ping pong. His favorite type of student is one who prepares his work as the teacher wants it prepared and then goes on to other subjects. He thinks all students should have some sort of hobby. Sports, current events, and articles in current magazine are subjects he enjoys discussing.

Warwhoop Staff Yet To Be Selected

This week's articles have been written "by request" due to the fact that as yet no regular staff has been named. It is hoped that by next week we can have a staff named for the rest of the year. Selection depends on a number of considerations; hence it takes time.

In the first place, an effort is made to use students of upper classes who want the journalistic training, and all who want a place on the Warwhoop staff are invited to apply for it. Other considerations are that the staff members need to write a plain hand, and to have fluent expressions and pleasing style. Sponsors also have to have students whose study hall periods come at convenient times, so that they can do the work at a set time.

These facts should explain why it is necessary to select a staff, rather than let the students elect the members by their vote.

Mrs. Angie Herren and son Clinton and John Kimbrough, Mrs. Bon Herren and daughters Bobbie Ann and Betty Jo were visitors in Abilene Tuesday.

Football Team Dresses Up

The students as well as teachers, and most especially the football boys are very thrilled and proud of the new football suits and helmets. The suits are made of black wool and bright yellow satin and are very pretty. The wool stretches and allows for the needed room when the boys are in action. The helmets are yellow with black stripes. The yellow satin will be attractive from the field.

We intend to start this school year with a new vigor and a conquering spirit, as well as new football suits. We are going out and bring in the honors.

Pierson and Simmons To Lead Pep Squad

The pep squad, under the direction of its sponsor, Mrs. Meyer, met Monday for the first time. If all present remain in the squad it will be as large as it was last year. Madge Leon was made reporter for the coming season. Two striking blonds, Anita Jo Simmons and Louise Pierson were chosen for the leaders. We think they have what it takes to make a swell pep squad.

Early Start for "Short Run" Pupils

There may be some inconveniences in riding a bus to school, but nevertheless it has its advantages. For instance there's that group who are passengers on the short runs. They leave school at the beginning of the eighth period, and don't have to stay in eighth period study hall. Do they feel important? If you are on the south side you can see them actually swagger as they start toward their bus. They could be more sympathetic with the rest of us, couldn't they?

Senior Class Has Large Number

School started off with a bang last Monday and with the senior class, of course, being the royalty of the year's number. To make them even prouder, the class is larger than it has been for several years, approximately sixty having enrolled so far. All of them with the exception of two, Christine Wells and David Perkins, are very familiar sights; and Elizabeth Luckabee, who was a Georgia Miss last year is back again with Haskell High School. Due to the large number of seniors for the first time ever, there are two mathematics classes this year; also it has been necessary to make two sections of History IV, which is unusual. The class of 1938 is expected to do great things and to be remembered as an outstanding senior class of all times.

Large Enrollment Calls For Changes

The first week of school was one of many changes, due to the large number of students. During the first two or three days an effort was continued to make satisfactory adjustment of sections by changing of individual schedules, but this could not suffice. It was apparent by Wednesday afternoon that two more classes would have to be divided, which would necessarily alter the teaching schedule of some of the teachers. Therefore, on last Thursday we started new with a brand new schedule and, for many students, a change of one or two teachers. Since then we have had a certain amount of shifting in the sections, but at last we are beginning to think the thing may work now. During this week the teachers hope to be able to assign regular seats and make their class rolls permanent. It may not be possible, however, to make satisfactory arrangement in our study hall until agriculture classes begin meeting.

Everyone from Haskell, Stamford and other points who are interested in boxing are welcome to come. The admission is free and plenty of action will be shown.

Last Friday night the bouts ranged in weight from 65 pounds to 275 pounds. The heavyweight bout was the main fight of the evening. It was administered by Mr. Bear Teague, 275 and Mr. Paul Bell 235.
The next boxing matches will be held Friday night September 17.

Bicycle Racing
Bicycle races were held in Rule Saturday morning. There were many entries. Mr. Paul Gibson who is in charge of the racing invites all who have bicycles to enter, as it costs nothing to enter. The next races will be Saturday, September 18. The races start approximately at 10 o'clock.

H-SU Cowboys Being Whipped Into Condition
Abilene, Sept. 13.—The Hardin-Simmons University Cowboys, as the University begins its forty-sixth annual session this week with an increased enrollment that may establish an all-time high mark, are working hard, twice daily, under Coach Frank Kimbrough, to be ready for the opening of the nine-game football schedule, on September 24.
Prospects are bright that Coach Kimbrough, who came back to his alma mater two years ago, to put Hardin-Simmons on the football map in the Southwest in a masterly way, will continue to keep it there in his third season as head coach.
The team itself, in early workouts and scrimmages, looms strong with a keen competition under way for positions, and two backs, Ed Cherry, the powerhouse from Shamrock, and Burns McKinney, flashy tall back, and co-captain, from Wichita Falls, already are widely mentioned by Texas sports scribes, and national syndicates, as "men to watch" for All-American berths, or mention, in 1937.
The Hardin-Simmons schedule, with the first two, and final pair of games, in the home stadium, reads: Kentucky State, Sept. 24; Ouachita College, Oct. 1; Loyola University, at Los Angeles, Oct. 8; West Texas State, at Canyon, Oct. 15; East Texas State, at Commerce, Oct. 29; Emporia, Kan., State Teachers, at Wichita Falls, Nov. 5; Fresno State, at Fresno, Calif., Nov. 11; November 19, Oklahoma City University here, and Howard Payne College, of Brownwood, at Abilene in the annual homecoming game, December 4, 1937.

What Irvin S. Cobb Thinks about

Tombstone Inscriptions.
PHOENIX, ARIZ.—A gentleman took me sightseeing through a cemetery that abounded in proud mausoleums and stately shafts.

I figured he wanted to show me that rich folks continue to enjoy the utmost luxury even after becoming deceased.

How futile and how vain are most tombstone inscriptions. They give the dates of birth and death — events in neither of which the departed had any say-so — unless he committed suicide. And just as the average graveside eulogy is a belated plea for the defense, offered after the evidence is all in, so an epitaph is an advertisement for a line of goods which permanently has been discontinued.

Somehow this burying ground stuff reminds me of hired critics of other men's efforts. The difference between professional book reviewers and the other obituarists is that the latter do their work after you pass on, but the reviewers can't wait until you're dead to write your literary death notice for you.

Maybe critics are to authors what fleas were to David Harum's dog; they keep authors from brooding on being authors.

Catching Barracuda.
LEO CARILLO is quite a yachtsman when not acting for the screen or leading parades. He's our champion parade leader. It's got so they don't dare let a colored funeral go past his house for fear he'll rush right out and head the procession.

On one of those days when there wasn't a parade, he took Victor Moore and me out on his boat. We caught a mess of slim, yet fragrant fish. Leo called them barracuda, but, with their low retreating foreheads and greedy jaws, they looked more like shyster lawyers to me—the kind who chase ambulances and eventually get disbarred.

Glad, Mad Artists.
HERETOFORE, the glad, mad geniuses, who produce masterpieces of sculpture and painting which resemble nothing on heaven, earth or in the waters below except possibly some bad dream which these parties had once while feeling pretty bilious, have depended upon the ultra-ultra among the intelligentsia for support.
But now one hears divers millionaires may endow for them an academy or a gallery—or possibly it's an asylum for the more violent cases. Anyhow, there's money behind the cult, and when money gets behind a thing in this country, it usually flourishes, provided the money doesn't get too far behind, as happened in 1929, when the rest of the country was trying to figure out what had become of the deposits and investments, which we, of the sucker class, had entrusted to our leading financial wizards.
Still, we of that same ignorant mass-group do not have to buy examples of this new school. We don't even have to look at them unless we're in Germany and are escorted to the official state-run display by a regiment of Nazi storm-troopers.
And, aside from their ideas of what constitutes art, it's said that some of the artists themselves are not really dangerous, merely annoying in an itchy sort of way. In other words, they're all right if you don't get one of 'em on you.

Pugilistic Authors.
I'M ALWAYS missing something. On the occasion of one really historic battle between a brace of distinguished writers, I yawningly left the scene before Messrs. Sinclair Lewis and Theodore Dreiser quit swapping hard words and started swapping soft blows.
And it was just my luck to be out here recently when Ernest Hemingway threw a book—or maybe it was a publisher; anyhow some such hard, knobby object—at Mr. Max Eastman and Mr. Eastman retaliated with a tremendous push which damaged Mr. Hemingway not at all.
The typical writer, no matter how red-blooded his style may be, packs all his wallops in his pen and never in his fist. There have been exceptions. Once Rex Beach cleaned out a night club all by himself, but his opponents were hoodlums, not fellow-writers. He had something substantial to work on.
Some of my belligerent brethren in the writing game never lose an argument, but, on the other hand, none of them ever won a fight. Neither did their literary opponents. In fact, next to the average professional pugilist, I can think of no one who, in the heat of combat, equals a writer for showing such magnificent self-control when it comes either to inflicting personal injury or sustaining same.

The Methodist Missionary Society

On Monday Sept. 13th the women of the Stamford district Missionary Societies met in an all day meeting in Haskell the occasion being that of a zone meeting. As a prelude to the morning program, Mrs. Patterson rendered a most inspiring medley of organ music.

Mrs. Griffith of Weibert, zone leader with Mrs. Andrew Shriver as secretary presided throughout the day. For the opening song all joined in singing "Jesus Calls Us."

Mrs. Matt Graham speaking for the local society very graciously welcomed the visiting members and friends. To this welcome Mrs. P. G. Baker of Luaders most graciously responded.

Mrs. Clark of Sagerton who was to have brought the morning devotional being absent, Mrs. Lingino conference superintendent of Spiritual Life Cultivation brought a splendid message her subject being "Christian Bridge Building." This address was concluded with a prayer by the speaker. Next on the program was Mrs. Billie Bryant of Stamford who is conference superintendent of study. We were given a very comprehensive outline of the Missionary Study for the coming year, Mrs. Randall of Seymour, president of the Northwest Texas Missionary Societies gave a prayer.

Lunch was next announced and all proceeded to the dining room where a most delicious covered dish luncheon had been spread. The table was very beautifully decorated and was centered with a handsome old time cake stand on which rested a most beautiful and delicious angel food cake brought by Mrs. Baker of Luaders. Rev. Lingino of Munday gave the invocation.

Promptly at 4 p. m. all again assembled in the auditorium. "Sweet Hour of Prayer" was used as the opening song for the afternoon session. Mrs. Reed of Stamford brought the devotional using as her subject prayer verses from Matt. Luke and John were quoted and the comments were most interesting. This devotional was concluded with a prayer by Mrs. Huckabee. Mrs. Morris Neal of Rule next gave an explanation of the minutes of the last district meeting. Mrs. Huckabee, district superintendent of Christian Social Relations work next told of some of the interesting and vital things being done by her department.

Miss Daisy Baskin of Seymour who is spiritual life director for the Seymour district was recognized at this time. An invitation to her group to meet in Seymour was given. Mrs. Dodson of Sanford, district secretary next told of her trip to the Assembly of Mount Sepoyia near Fayetteville, Ark.

Mrs. Randall next told of her early recollections of the Haskell Church. Our local society appreciated very much her words of appreciation.

Mrs. Griffith of Weibert and Mrs. Shriver of Haskell were re-elected president and secretary respectively of the zone. The next zone meeting will be held in Luaders in January. Mrs. Persons president of the local society was presented and in a few well chosen words told of her pleasure in seeing each one present. We felt unusually honored by the presence of three conference officers. We were also delighted to have Mrs. W. H. Wyatt of Nugent who is chairman of the "Peace Movement" of the Abilene district. Mrs. Wyatt was accompanied by her daughter who is a member of the faculty of McMurray College.

One of our faithful Missionary Society members and Sunday School workers Mrs. Jim. Isbell who recently moved to Munday was also in attendance. The pastors of the Munday and Weibert Churches also Rev. Huckabee of the local church were appreciated visitors.

Our local society meets on next Monday afternoon at this time.

Mrs. Hugh Smith as director will present a program on "World Evangelization." The president requests a good attendance.

Josset Home Demonstration Club News

"Homemaking is a created calling" stated Miss Mildred Vaughan in her talk on "Homemaking" to members of the Josset H. D. Club last Tuesday September 14 at 2:30 with Mesdames Walter Rogers and Mrs. Jesse Josset hostesses.

House keeping doesn't make the home, don't make life easier but better. Our homes are a shifting channel through which life unceasingly flows, continued Miss Vaughan.

To make a peaceful and contented home husband and wife must join life together in home making.

The housewife as well as other members of the family busy themselves from sun up until sun down yet do we always accomplish results? It's better to detail our work and get through with it.

A day's work in a home is more changeable than any other work for some days there are so many interferences and when the day ends we haven't accomplished the work we have planned. A certain standard can not be set for home making but a certain amount of results can be made.

Some women is thrown in a nervous race if a rug is unstraightened or a chair is moved from its place, or a sandstorm comes because they have to change their plans by re-fixing. That isn't home. We must not allow ourselves to have the same routine day in and day out, year in and year out but improve by better work and happier homes.

Home is a place where body, mind and soul are reconciled for greater accomplishment with each succeeding day.

Household Hints

Dried peaches should be covered with water and boiled 35 minutes or until tender, before serving.

A discolored coffee pot can be cleaned by boiling it for a short time in a strong solution of borax and then washing in the usual way.

Oilcloth coverings for shelves, stands and table tops will last longer if a layer or two of old newspaper is placed under the oilcloth.

Sour milk may be used in place of sweet milk in many recipes by using half a teaspoon of baking soda to each cup of sour milk, and cutting down on baking powder by one and a half teaspoons.

The flavor of boiled ham may be improved by adding a teaspoon of vinegar and a little brown sugar to the water in which it is boiled.

A good way to cut dried fruits is to use a pair of scissors. To prevent the fruit sticking, wet or butter the scissors.

Meat should not be pierced with a fork while cooking as this allows the rich juices to escape. Salt in the last rinse water will prevent the freezing of clothes while hanging them out.

Stove polish stains on dresses and other garments may be removed by laundering—using plenty of soap. If the stain is old and dried, however, it should first be soaked in kerosene.

A tasty sauce for baked apples can be made by mixing honey and whipped cream.

A quick application of ammonia will make the brownish purple stain caused by iodine disappear.

If beets are cooked with their skins on they will retain more of their color and flavor.

A pinch of salt added to very sour fruits while cooking will greatly reduce the quantity of sugar needed to sweeten them.

THE WIDOW'S MITES

By J. G. Maiphurs

When that "poor widow" cast into the contribution her "two mites" her Lord saw her. She had started something. He saw also what Ananias did, and the Holy Spirit started something. (Acts 3: 1-11). He sees what we do today. The Lord made this woman's offering to become a proverb in charity work. Let us note a few things about this woman's unusual gift, as told in Mark 12: 41-44.

1. She gave all she had, "even all her living". It was less than one cent of our money. It has become proverbial to say when we have only a little to give to a worthy cause, "Here is my mite". The proverb has been overworked, and wrongfully used. The church often gets "two mites" only from some who ought to give an hundred mites. We should never claim to give our mite unless our offering represents our living. Let us refrain from that holy expression unless what we give touches our living.

2. The Lord commended "this poor widow". He did not say that she was foolish for making such a sacrifice; neither did he say that she should give nothing unless she could have done more than "two mites".

Clarence Massey last Saturday night.

Miss Zaza Chenoweth of Hatchell is visiting Mrs. C. A. Lewellen and son.

Rev. Walter Copeland spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. A. Thomas and family.

Several of this community attended the Weibert baptizing last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Josset have moved to Haskell for the school term.

But the Lord

she gave "more than all are casting into the treasury." What a lesson here to us! Would worship God in the money of the rich would food for the hungry "two mites" of the widow, but of the rich were pauperized to that of the "poor widow" of her living enriched giving of their abundance touching their living to pauperize their souls for your offering representing for God and a desire to "that love" or does it represent heart to be void of a appreciation of what God is for you?

3. This "poor widow" cause to be ashamed of without Bible inferring this woman as shy or rich or waiting until she to make her offering, she were ashamed to be in only "two mites" for work. She had nothing ashamed of; she had a duty, "all she could". We could she do? Angels are more. Those who give of ing have nothing to be ashamed of. The man who can give "mites" should do that good over it, the man who an hundred mites but a Lord is ashamed of his church is ashamed of when he thinks of his seriously he is ashamed self.

Preaching at eleven o'clock. The Church of appreciate your visit.

HEADLINES FROM THE LIVES OF PEOPLE LIKE YOURSELF!

"A Swim in the Ocean"

By FLOYD GIBBONS
Famous Headline Hunter

HELLO EVERYBODY:

Here's the story of an adventure that almost ruined a girl's career. That's the way Grace Stoner of New York City looks at it, anyway. And since Grace is the girl in question—well—she ought to know, hadn't she?

But if you left it up to me, I'd put it a little more strongly than Grace put it. I'd say that adventure came doggone near ruining Grace. I wouldn't say it was only her career she was in danger of losing. It seems to me she stood a mighty good chance of losing her life in that little episode in the harbor at Corinto, Nicaragua, in July, 1922.

Maybe in mentioning her career, Grace was talking about the thing that mattered most. Grace is a dancer, and I've heard it said that dancers take their careers mighty seriously. But the point is that Grace risked her career, and her life, too, for that matter, because a couple of birds made a couple of sneering remarks about her sex.

It Happened in Corinto Harbor.

Grace was off on a cruise when it happened. The ship was anchored in Corinto harbor about a mile from shore. It was late afternoon—just before sundown—and a more peaceful picture you never saw in your life. There wasn't a breath of wind blowing. The sea was like glass. Off in the distance the beach was bathed in shadow and the sun was sinking behind the towering peaks of the Central American Sierras.

A bunch of the young folks aboard the steamer were splashing around in the tiny improvised pool, rigged up out of wooden frame-work and waterproof canvas on the afterdeck. There was a bunch of young Spanish students aboard, going home from the University of California to their homes in Panama and San Salvador. They made up most of the crowd. The rest of it was Grace.

In a nice cool bathing suit, and with half a dozen handsome young fellows around her, Grace ought to have been happy. But the canvas pool was so small you could hardly turn around in it, and Grace was casting longing eyes on the placid, inviting waters of the harbor. It would be swell fun, she thought, to dive right off the deck and swim to shore.

Grace Wouldn't Take a Dare.

Grace mentioned her idea to the young Central American students. And that's what started all the trouble. The boys laughed at her. One of them said: "You? A girl? Why you wouldn't have the nerve to swim ashore." And another one wanted to bet her ten bucks she wouldn't have the nerve to try it.

It made Grace see red. They couldn't talk like that to her just because she was a girl. Without another word she ran to the rail, dived overboard and struck out for shore.

Behind her, the boys crowded to the rail, shouting and gesticulating. Grace wondered what they were making all the fuss about. It was only a mile to shore, and that wasn't much of a swim, even if she was a girl. Grace knew lots of girls who could swim twice that distance. She smiled to herself as she rolled along through the cool, calm water. She'd show those birds what a girl could do.

She was halfway across when she noticed a commotion ashore. A bunch of the people had formed in an excited knot there. They were waving and shouting. Finally, two men in uniforms launched a canoe and began paddling wildly toward her. Now what was the matter with those fellows anyway? Hadn't they ever seen a girl who could swim before? Or were they customs officers, seeing to it that she didn't smuggle any grand pianos into the country in the folds of her bathing suit.

Swimming Toward the Shark.

Grace decided to have some fun with them. When the canoe was about two-hundred yards away she put on a sudden spurt, swerved, and swam away from it. Cries came from the canoe behind her, but the more they shouted, the faster she swam.

And then—she saw it. Ahead of her a dark, triangular fin was cutting the water, coming straight for her. A SHARK! Instantly, all the stories she had ever heard about those man-eating monsters of the deep flashed through her mind. Here was one of them coming toward her—and what was worse, she herself was swimming toward it. Now she knew the meaning of all the shouting and gesticulating—of the commotion on the beach and the two men in the canoe. Why hadn't she remembered that these weren't the northern waters she was used to swimming in? These were tropical seas, infested with sharks, barracudas, and all sorts of other aquatic dangers.

For a second or two, Grace was paralyzed with fright. She was closer—much closer—to that shark than to the canoe. And that ominous fin was steadily diminishing the distance between them.

Then, suddenly, Grace collected her wits again. She lit out for that canoe with a speed that would have shamed an Olympic champion. No time to look behind—and no reason to. Either she won that race or she didn't. Her life was at stake, but strangely enough it was her career she was thinking of most. What if that shark bit off a leg or two? There just wasn't any such thing as a legless dancer.

One Yard Between Her and Death.

When she reached that canoe, the shark was just ONE YARD behind her. One man hauled her hastily into the boat while the other beat the shark off with a paddle. The passengers and crew were hanging anxiously over the side of the steamer when at last the canoe brought her back, and then there was a first-class brawl. The officers in the canoe bawled out the captain of the ship for allowing Grace to go swimming in the harbor, and then the captain turned around and bawled Grace out. The only ones who didn't have anything to say were the boys who hadn't thought much of a girl's swimming ability, and especially the one who bet her ten bucks she wouldn't have the nerve to try it. "And incidentally," says Grace, "I collected that ten."

"Signposts of the Sea" Must Be Kept in Order

The ocean highways need as much repair and patching as the roads on land. The "signposts of the sea" must be kept in perfect order. Thousands of buoys are placed around our coasts, marking the danger points and directing the way up river mouths and into ports, says a writer in London Answers Magazine. Scores of lighthouses warn mariners of rocks and sandbanks, and out to sea lightships are stationed where buoys and lighthouses cannot be placed.

All these seamarks are subjected to the ceaseless battering of wind and wave, and throughout the year repairs have to be carried out when weather permits. Naturally enough, most damage is incurred during the winter, when conditions are at their worst, and when it is not uncommon for the crews of lightships and lighthouses to be cut off from the land for a month on end. Because of gales and gigantic seas it is frequently impossible to carry out repairs during the winter.

A large number of buoys are always kept ready at an instant's notice at the depots, and if a wreck occurs, wreck buoys are at once taken out to mark the site. As a rule the small buoys are brought in for overhaul annually, the large ones every three years.

Rochester

Another rain Saturday sent the cotton pickers to the shed until Monday. The sun is shining nicely and everyone is at their job again. We are hoping for a fair week. Everybody is well and seemingly happy, especially the children over school starting the 13th. (Said to be unlucky. Well watch it and see for once).

Grover Carothers and family of Stamford spent Sunday here with his mother, Mrs. A. B. Carothers.

Tommie and Ina Ruth Greer left Saturday for college, the former to McMurry and the latter to Weatherford. This is Ina Ruth's first year in college and Tommie's last year. It is commendable in any youngster to finish high school and have the nerve to work their way through college.

Mrs. Vestus Alvis accompanied her daughter Sidna Vestus to Waco Sunday to enter Baylor Belton College. Mrs. Belton Bagwell went along to visit a sister until Wednesday and be company for Mrs. Alvis on her return trip.

These are all the names I have of our young folks who are entering college from Rochester, but there may be more later.

The Abilene Fair Boosters were here last Wednesday. The high school band was fine. If they enjoyed their visit as much as we did they won't count their time wasted in our little city.

The new school buses are sailing by so fast and often I can't do anything but look. They are luxury in the first degree. What about our tax?

Mr. Homer Anderson and family of Knox City visited their parents here Sunday Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Anderson.

Mrs. A. B. Michael entertained at her home here Friday in honor of her little sons Dan and Mark's birthdays. A beautiful trimmed up cake in white, and pink with six candles around the edge and 1 in the center represented their ages. After a few hours of real play and fun for the youngsters they sang "Happy Birthday" to Dan and Johnnie while they puffed out the candles. All departed wishing them many more happy birthdays.

This city was full of folks Saturday until late at night. The center of attraction it seemed was a medicine show located near the city well tower in the park.

Mr. Walter Flournoy of Lubbock was operated on last week at Knox City Hospital. His many friends will be glad to hear he is recovering rapidly.

Miss Annie Browder of Wichita Falls spent last week end here with her sister and family, Mr. A. M. Reeves.

Dr. Lee A. Martindale and wife of Oakland, Calif., are spending their vacation here with their mother Mrs. J. A. Martindale.

Mr. and Mrs. Dow King of Pampa and Mr. and Mrs. Swain Burgett of Demmitt spent the weekend here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Reeves.

Andy Norris and family of Haskell, Holt Moseley and family of Knox City and Joe Watkins and family of near Knox City were the house guests of their parents here last Friday, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Watkins.

"SAFE" DRIVERS CAUSE ACCIDENTS

Ninety per cent of traffic accidents are caused by experienced, supposedly safe drivers, not by the inexperienced motorists, said Ralph Lee, safety expert, at the recent Western Safety Conference. He cited a California survey which showed that 75 per cent of traffic fatalities in that state were chargeable to drivers with an average of eight years' experience, who had never had a previous accident.

Finally, he said, before accidents can be prevented, the popular belief that the great bulk of them are caused by a relatively few congenitally reckless or incompetent persons, must be corrected. It is no longer true.

Over-estimating safety factors has turned many a driver who used to be careful, into a dangerous menace on the highways. Where the cars of a few years ago gave you a thrill at 40, the cars of today do 60 and 70 with ease. That makes for comfortable motoring when all goes well—but lack of vibration, and motor smoothness doesn't help when you careen head on into another car at a mile-a-minute clip. And the fact that today's highways are safe, from an engineering standpoint, when compared to the roads of yesterday, doesn't help when you experience a blow-out while you're hitting it up—or speed around a curve to find the road blocked and insufficient room to stop.

It is the average, experienced, "safe" driver who is causing today's accidents. This is the driver who must be reached by law enforcement agencies, and who must be appealed to by safety campaigns that are to get results.

DETOUR DEFENSE

Nine super-highways, over which United States armed forces could move to meet an invader's attack at any point in the nation, are urged by Democratic Congressman Snyder of Pennsylvania.

Each road would be 200 feet wide, sufficient to allow transport of army equipment across the continent in 72 hours. In peacetime, the roads could be used for commercial purposes. Three routes would run from coast to coast and six from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico.

Every motorist—and that includes a big section of the population—will endorse Representative Snyder's plan. While we are at peace, those roads will be a comfort to the tourist. And if the nation is attacked, all our army will have to do is set up a generous proportion of detour signs. Dust and the barrel-top side roads will bog down any invaders.

AVIATION VISION

Glenn Martin's imaginative picture of 250,000-pound air liners carrying 180 passengers on non-stop ocean flights might sound like a pipedream—if it came from anyone else. But Mr. Martin has already advanced so far on the road to the super-airplane that we can only take it for granted that planes such as he describes will be in actual commercial operation within a decade.

Mr. Martin's prediction—voiced to an interviewer at the recent National Air Races—is interesting because the famous designer and builder of planes does not seem to believe that there is a theoretic limit to plane size. For a long time it had been supposed that the "curve of efficiency" diminished as size increased, and that there was a point beyond which added size would prove a drawback.

But he has already made studies of this projected 250,000-ton airplane. His studies indicate that such a ship, properly designed and built, should be perfectly practical. And, as he remarks, "If we can build to 250,000 pounds, I am convinced there is no definite limit."

If this is correct, we shall eventually have planes that will dwarf the mightiest sky liners of the present day.

TARDY TIP FROM HIROTA

Japan, opening its war on China to "save" the Chinese people, seemed to have written the last word in diplomatic camouflage. But a postscript added by Foreign Minister Koki Hirota of Japan carries the farce a step farther.

Because Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, top man of China, refuses to co-operate with the invaders, Hirota demands that Chiang be replaced by a man more sympathetic to the Japanese cause.

Pressed to explain, Hirota might consistently claim this measure to "prevent useless bloodshed," to "save from destruction" the Chinese cities under fire, and to make less painful Japan's "service to humanity" in North China.

Here is one that Napoleon overlooked. How simple Waterloo would have been with Wellington and Blucher disposed of by decree! What painful suspense Bismarck could have avoided simply by pointing the finger at Louis Napoleon and saying, "You must go!" What terrors of war the whole world might have escaped had Minister Hirota lived to deliver his classic hundreds of years ago!

STYLISH DISPUTE

Styles change, but never the argument about them. Latest gladiators to enter the arena are Lucien Lelong, Paris couturier, and Edward Stevenson, who fashions frocks and frills for Hollywood movie stars.

Lelong says movie styles are too striking and lack simplicity. Stevenson ducks and counters with the claim that costumes worn by film stars are acceptable in the most discriminating drawing rooms. As evidence, Stevenson produces Ginger Rogers' "swing skirt" and tight bodice, which were adapted into evening gowns and coats; Clark Gable's turtle-neck sweater; Marlene Dietrich's trousers.

It takes nerve for a couple of men to stand up before the symposium of woman's opinion and deliver categorical decrees on what is right and what is wrong in fashions. Especially when those men overlook the fact that the horsehair and linen hoop skirt was the only style which ever completely and effectively "swept" the world.

Snake skin came into prominence as a leather in 1927. Since then its use has increased rapidly. Cobras and pythons make up the largest portion of the trade, but many other species are used.

"House Without Stairs"

By FLOYD GIBBONS
Famous Headline Hunter

HELLO EVERYBODY: Here's the story of how progress in Chicago brought on an acute attack of adventure.

It's Charles Schreiber of Chicago who is telling this story, and it's a tale that goes back to October, 1925, when a whole flock of buildings were being torn down to make room for Wacker drive.

At that time, Charley Schreiber was working for one of the wrecking companies engaged in the work. The job they were working on was a big ten-story building of steel and concrete that stood at 303 North State street.

It was a rush job. The whole building had to be leveled to the ground within sixty days, and the wreckers had gone to work without waiting for the tenants to get all of their belongings out of the place.

On one floor there was a room full of old shelving, empty boxes, and tanks half filled with turpentine and varnish remover, but the wreckers weren't paying much attention to it. They had torn away the roof, wrecked the stairways and ripped out all the elevators but one. That one was a freight elevator—and the man who ran it was Charley Schreiber.

He Had to Stay Late and Run the Elevator.

It was along about 6:30 in the evening on October 25. Work was over for the day, and all the workmen had gone home. That is, all of them had but Charley. He had to stay on because the super, the timekeeper and the super's father were in the office on the top floor going over some figures and planning the work for the next day. The elevator was the only way they had of getting out of the building, so Charley had to hang around until they were ready to leave.

Charley ran the car up to the tenth floor so he'd be there waiting when the men came out of the office. There was no top to the freight elevator and the roof was off the building. Charley gazed up at the sky overhead and wished those birds in the office would hurry.

And then, all of a sudden, Charley SMELLED SMOKE!

It seemed to be coming up the elevator shaft. Charley threw the lever over and started his car downward. As he descended he could smell the smoke more plainly. He passed the seventh floor—the sixth—the fifth. Then, coming to the fourth, he could feel a terrific heat coming from the iron doors on each side of the shaft. The fire was on the fourth floor—and that was the floor where all those TANKS OF TURPENTINE and varnish remover were stored!

Charley kept the car moving down the shaft. At the bottom he called to the watchman and told him to send in the alarm for the fire department. Then he reversed his lever and was shooting back up the shaft again. By the time he started, the shaft was filled with smoke.

Up the Shaft Through Flames.

Open at the top it was acting like a chimney, feeding the flames with a strong draft. But Charley didn't stop. Up there in the office on the tenth floor were three men who were depending on him for their lives. The stairs were all torn out, and his elevator was the only chance they had of escaping from the burning building.

As the car approached the fourth floor, flames began shooting out through the walls and around the iron doors. He drew back in the elevator to keep from being scorched as the car moved slowly through the fire. The car seemed to be crawling. Charley thought it would never reach the top. The smoke had him coughing violently now. It was getting into his eyes and making them smart.

To make matters worse, it was now dark in the shaft. There was no light in the elevator, and he had to watch his step. If he let the car run past the tenth floor it would blow a fuse when it hit the top of the shaft. Then the car wouldn't run again until a new fuse was put in down in the basement. A delay like that could easily be fatal for all of them.

At last he reached the tenth floor and brought the car to a stop. Below him the flames were increasing in violence. Heavier, thicker smoke was rolling up the shaft. He called to the men in the office to come as quickly as possible, and then he waited for what seemed an eternity until they arrived.

The whole shaft was getting hot now. Charley could hardly breathe for the smoke. He couldn't tell much about the flames. He could look at them only through the cracks between the shaft wall and the elevator floor. But it seemed to him that they were getting closer—reaching upward at an alarming rate.

The car moved slowly downward. By the time they reached the seventh floor the heat in the shaft was terrific, and when they came to the sixth floor, Charley knew how the fire had spread. Already the fourth, fifth and sixth floors were in flames and the blaze was reaching up toward the seventh.

Stuck Heroically to His Post.

Now the flames were shooting into the car. Charley and the three passengers huddled back trying to avoid them, but there just wasn't room enough. Those flames were shooting halfway across the elevator. Crouched in a corner, Charley could feel them on his hand, but he couldn't move it. That hand was the one that was holding the lever. If he let go, the car would come to a stop.

And so, almost overcome by smoke, his hand blistered and cooking as the flames licked at it, Charley stuck to his post. The big steel doors of the elevator were warping and twisting in the terrific heat. They went past the fifth floor, and the fourth floor—and then, the next thing Charley remembers, they were at the bottom, and safe. And Charley staggered out with a badly burned hand, to get a little fresh air in his lungs.

But not before he had taken a last look at the warped steel doors of the elevator and decided he was pretty lucky. "Those doors," he says, "were bent out so far toward the side of the shaft that it would have been impossible to run it for another floor."

'WAY BACK WHEN

By Jeanne

BETTE DAVIS WAS AN USHERETTE

LIFE has a strange way, sometimes, of repeating a circumstance from our previous struggles, as if to remind us that what may have once seemed a difficult trial was actually preparation for a later triumph. I am thinking, particularly, of Bette Davis and the marvelous performance she gave as the waitress, Mildred, in "Of Human Bondage."

Bette Davis was born in Lowell, Mass., in 1908. Her mother had only a small alimony with which to support Bette and her sister, so she became a professional photographer. After attending the Mary Arden school of Peterboro, N. H., Bette went to Cushing academy of Boston. There, she waited on tables to earn her tuition. To the sixteen-year-old little girl, whose dramatic ambitions made her super-sensitive to her role in life, her occupation as waitress was humiliating in contrast to the advantages enjoyed by her fellow students. Miserable though her school days were, that occupation was to be the role of one of her greatest triumphs. Would Bette Davis have played such a convincing "Mildred" if circumstances had never forced her to be a waitress at school?

Recognition came to Bette Davis soon after school. She had always wanted to be an actress and her mother encouraged her, although her father thought she should take a business course in New York and prepare to be a stenographer. She attended a dramatic school in New York instead, and then obtained a job as an usherette in the Cape Playhouse of Cape Cod, Mass. Finally she was given a small part, and rose rapidly in the theater, going on to Hollywood where she rose to stellar heights in "Of Human Bondage." For her performance in "Dangerous" she received the Motion Picture award in 1935.

TEAMS OF FORMER HHS GRID STARS TO PLAY GAME

F. Kimbrough and "Froggie" Stewart Meet Again As Opponents

Two former high school football stars of Haskell, now coaches of University football clubs, will meet once again Friday night, Sept. 24 when their teams play at Cowboy Field, Abilene.

Coach Roy Stewart of the Kentucky State Thoroughbreds will bring his eleven into Abilene for the opening game of the season with the Hardin-Simmons University Cowboys coached by Frank Kimbrough.

"Froggie" Stewart was one of the best athletes I ever saw. And he'll coach the same way he played the game."

In these words, Coach Frank Kimbrough, of the Hardin-Simmons University Cowboys, expressed his high regard for his former classmate and teammate.

In Haskell high school, both played halfback in football. In basketball, both Frank and Froggie were forwards. In track, both were star men. In baseball, Kimbrough was a pitcher and infielder, and Stewart was likewise an infielder.

Both served as captain in four sports. And, in different years, each was elected Best All Around Man in Haskell High.

After their high school days, Coach Kimbrough entered Hardin-Simmons, and continued to star in Texas athletic circles.

Stewart entered Union University, at Jackson, Tenn., where he lettered in football, basketball, track and tennis, was captain in all these sports, twice in football, and was an "All-SIAA" halfback.

He coached at his alma mater for a time, took time out to get his masters degree in physical education at Columbia University in New York, and has been coaching at Murray State since 1931.

Since 1928, Murray coached eleven have won 59 games, lost 25, and tied 5.

Murray tackled Hardin-Simmons here September 24 for the first meeting in history for the Thoroughbreds and the HSU Purple and Gold, and the engagement opens the season for both schools.

SCOUTS AWARDED STAR RANK AT COURT OF HONOR TUESDAY NIGHT

Two members of Scout Troop No. 36 attained the rank of Star Scout at the court of honor held Tuesday night, Sept. 14. Six boys also passed ten merit badges.

David Patterson and Homer Leclair were advanced to the rank of Star Scout. David passed requirements for merit badges for Handicraft and Personal Health. Homer passed Farm Mechanics, and Personal Health; Ray Buford, swimming; Henry Post, Bird Study and Carpentry; Hugh Lowe, Reading; and Edwin Cass, Swimming and Painting.

A knot board with sixty of the more common Boy Scout knots has recently been completed by the Hawk patrol.

Concession will be sold by Troop 36 at the local football games this season and proceeds will be applied on the Scout hut.

Principal Wimlish is scoutmaster of this active troop.

Cotton Meeting—

much study should be made to determine the best variety of good staple cotton that is most suited for this section of the state. Mr. Chesner said that he would get all available information from the nearest experiment stations. He also encouraged the farmers to watch the different varieties of cotton now grown in the county to see which would pay the most per acre if cotton was bought on the grade and staple basis.

Munday Defeats Local Lions In Donkey Baseball

The Munday Lions club defeated the local Lions in a donkey baseball game at Rice Springs Park Wednesday night with a score of 2-0, making good their boast of a few weeks ago that the game was already as good as "in the bag."

Each player was furnished with a donkey and had to do all base running and chasing balls on the animal furnished him. Players were permitted to dismount to pick up the ball, but had to hold the reins. Spectators were furnished plenty of laughs by players trying to mount the animals, by the balking, and tricky tactics of the beasts.

Proceeds of the game, witnessed by a large crowd, will be used to supplement the Lion's Charity fund.

Football—

with an injured shoulder. He pulled a ligament in his shoulder in practice Tuesday afternoon. James Jenkins, end, will replace Henshaw at half and Bob Cousins, a rookie, is slated for the vacant end position. Co-captains Eugene Rogers, quarterback, and Marion Josselle, full, and Zeldon Thomason will complete the backfield.

Robert Thompson who lettered last year at tackle has been transferred to center this year. Jack Simmons and Scott will hold down guard positions. Barnett and Wilfong 230 pound man, will start at tackles. Other end will be Ellis Hayes. This group will make up one of the heaviest class B squads in this district it is reported.

Throckmorton, tied Newcastle last Friday afternoon in a practice game 12-12, a slow game lacking punch and aggressiveness, but Coach Morris has had a week to remedy defects shown in Friday's tilt.

Following final workout of his boys Coach Perry Mason, in a very pessimistic mood, announced that he expected the Greyhounds to give them a real battle and the Indians will be lucky if they beat them.

Races—

Carothers of the Southwestern Auto Racing Association. A larger field of racers than has ever been received before are expected before final closing to enter this meet, attracted by large purses and the fine track. Already inquiries have been received from internationally famous drivers and more are coming in weekly.
