The 37th annual Gem, Mineral & Jewelry Show will be held February 27-28 at the Ollie Liner Center in Plainview. We have been to this show several times, and have always enjoyed it. Our grandchildren have always enjoyed getting a geode cut in half. You can buy a geode and they will cut it for you. Sometimes you'll find the one you selected is filled with amethyst or something equally beautiful.

This year they will have a demonstration of flint knapping. They will be doing silversmithing, faceting, sculpturing, rock inlay and gold wire wrapping. There will be door prizes given hourly, and this year there will be no admission charge.

Show hours are 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Saturday and 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Sunday.

The members of the Hi-Plains Gem & Mineral Society will give free rock and mineral sets to elementary teachers as long as their supply lasts.

Leslee Weaks has been named to the dean's list at Lubbock Christian University for the fall semester.

Matthew R. Garner, a senior at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos, has been named to the dean's list for the fall semester. Matt is a microbiology major, with a minor in biochemistry. He is the son of Mary and Bryan Garner of Amarillo; the grandson of Clifton and Joy Stodghill, and the great-grandson of Bonnie May.

Matt's brother, Nicholas J. Garner, has been named assistant chaplain of the fraternity BCA (Brotherhood of Christian Aggies) at Texas A&M. He is a sophomore psychology major.

Mary Ivory waited a long time to have a little girl in her family, but her wait ended with the arrival of Kelsey Nichole Ivory into the family of her eldest son, Lyndell, and his wife, Kelly. They live in San Antonio, where Lyndell is attending nursing school at the University of Texas-San Antonio.

Mary was blown away last week when members of her family started calling and telling her that they had seen Clint's picture in the Parade magazine section of the Sunday newspaper. She said people were saying: "I knew that was your kid because he looks just like you!" Mary laughed and replied that Clint really looks like L. B., but I think she's just kidding herself.

Daniel Rogers and Clint Ivory were featured in a teen section of the magazine where young people from Texas, Kansas and California were asked: "Do you ever put yourself down in public?"

Ivory said, "I like my personality, because I think I am a funny

Nominations Are Needed For City, School Positions

The terms of office of Mayor John Bowman and Councilmen W. D. Rowell and Lane Garvin are expiring, and there will be a general election held by the City of Silverton if more than one candidate is nominated for each of these positions.

The terms of Penny Carpenter and Dewey Estes on the board of trustees of the Silverton Independent School District also are expiring this year.

Deadline for filing as a candidate to get your name on either ballot is Wednesday, March 17. You may have your name placed on the city ballot by contacting Jerry Patton at the City Hall before that date. To get your name placed in nomination for a seat on the school board of trustees, you need to go by the school office.

Both elections will be held May 1 if more than one candidate for each office seeks places on the ballot.

Tree Health Conference Set Feb. 26

The annual High Plains Tree Health Conferences will be held Thursday, February 25, in Lubbock at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center, I-27 & FM 1294 and Friday, February 26, in Amarillo at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center, 6500 West Amarillo Boulevard.

Guest speakers will be Dr. David Appel, Associate Department Head and Professor in Plant Pathology and Microbiology from Texas A&M University, College Station; Dr. Harold Kaufman, Associate Professor and Extension Plant Pathologist in Lubbock, and Dr. Carl Patrick, Professor and Extension Entomologist in Amarillo. There will

Methodists Have a New Sign

"You have probably noticed as you've driven around town this week that the Methodist Church has a new sign out front," said Rev. Jay Stinson, pastor. "What you might not know is just how grateful we are to the people who made it possible for us to build it."

The sign was built as a memorial to Chester Strickland (this donation was given by Gladys Strickland) and to John and Jessie Vaughan (this donation came from the entire Vaughan family when they celebrated pointing others to the Lord Jesus Christ that they too may share in the glorious inheritance that awaits. His children. We will strive to be faithful to Him and the memory of the ones you love. Thank you!" Stinson concluded.

"You have probably noticed as their reunion with the church u've driven around town this family last year).

"We cannot thank everyone enough for thinking of us in this way as you remember your loved ones. It is our prayer that this sign will not only be a memorial to those who have gone on before but may it also serve as a beacon pointing others to the Lord Jesus Christ that they too may share in the glorious inheritance that awaits His children. We will strive to be faithful to Him and the memory of the ones you love. Thank you!" Stinson concluded.

Emergency Help Provided For Elderly Citizens

CEAP (Comprehensive Energy Assistance Program) is a Panhandle Community Service program which provides emergency utility assistance for low income, elderly and handicapped/disabled persons. This year Panhandle Community Services will continue holding Enrgy Conservation Workshops throughout the year in compliance with program rules.

These classes are geared to educate clients in budgeting and energy saving methods to decrease utility costs, thereby eliminating their need for assistance. Many clients have received these services repeatedly over the years; therefore, this year's plan from the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs focuses on outreach and serving those in the most need.

Assistance will be allowed only to those families who have

TELECREPORT

A WEEKLY SUMMARY OF COTTON MARKETING NEWS

For the Week Ended February 11

Council (NCC) planting intentions report boosted the market higher early in the week, but the bears quickly took possession of the market once again with the help of disappointing supply/demand figures coupled with an export sales report riddled with cancellations.

NCC's annual survey of growers' planting intentions for 1999 revealed a surprisingly small rise in the area devoted to cotton, thereby limiting the potential increase in output. NCC reported its poll indicated total cotton acres would be 13.5 million acres, up less than one percent from the 13.4 million acres planted in 1998, and would produce a crop of approximately 17.0 million bales this year.

The acreage rise was limited by grower uncertainty and cotton's price relationship to competing crops which limited its perceived advantage. Predictably, the largest increase in plantings was in Texas where producers plan to raise their cotton acreage 216,000 acres from last year to 5.8 million. Acreage also is expected to rise in Alabama and Tennessee. A decrease in cotton plantings is anticipated in Louisiana, Arkansas and Califronia as some growers there plan to shift to alternative crops.

In other news, USDA's monthly supply/demand report, which was termed "bearish" by analysts, contributed to a downward plunge in futures prices. The department's February adjustments to world supply and demand left 1998-99 ending stocks 990,000 bales higher, primarily due to a 1.0 million bale reduction in consumption. Also, world carryover at the conclusion of the season was raised to 41.6 million bales. In the U.S., both domestic use and exports were lowered by 100,000 bales and ending stocks were lifted to 3.4 million bales.

Although weekly export ship-ments have been satisfactory, sales since the loss of Step 2 funding have not been eough to keep previous forecasts. Likewise, consumption activity has slackened and most likely will not return to the higher levels needed to sustain the previous estimate.

Meanwhile, a disappointing U. S. export report surprised analysts y pushing the futures market significantly lower this week as they were expecting only a slight downward dip on news of export sales cancellations.

USDA's export sales report for the week ended February 4 showed new sales of 25,100 bales, but sizable cancellations by several countries led to a net sales figure decline of 68,100 bales, the

A supportive National Cotton largest decline of the marketing year. Mexico bought 6,600 bales, but canceled 49,100. Significant cancellations also were made by Vietnam, Indonesia, Argentina and Japan.

The cancellations, however, had not been expected to trigger a plunge in prices, as total U.S. sales remain above 90 percent of the new USDA export target of 4.2 million bales. In addition, analysts noted that shipments for the week had improved slightly. Shipments of 29,800 bales were 27 percent above the previous week. Total U.S. shipments are about 70 percent of USDA's target for the season.

Spot cotton sales of Texas/ Oklahoma cotton also were slower this week. Sales on the TELCOT electronic marketing system in the five trading days ended February 11 totaled 7,359 bales, a 15,825 bale decrease from the previous week's activity. Average daily prices received by producers utilizing TELCOT ranged from 41.90 to 47.35 cents per pound, compared to a range of 45.03 to 49.22 cents per pound the week before.

A Message For The Elderly Newlyweds

by Mary Jane Shanes Social Security Manager Plainview, Texas

The question of marriage and Social Security crops up occasionally from elderly couples who wonder if getting married would affect their Social Security benefits. The answer, in general,

If a person receives Social Security benefits on his or her own work record, marriage generally would have no effect on the benefits. Likewise, marriage does not affect the benefits of a person receiving widow's or widower's benefits if tey are age 60 or older. If a widow or widower is disabled at age 50-59, the Social Security benefits would not be affected by marriage.

However, younger persons will find their benefits affected by marriage, as do most other beneficiaries whose benefits are based on the earnings record of a retired, deceased or disabled

There are some other exceptions to these general rules, and you should call Social Security to discuss your situation if it does not fall into any of the above sce-

Also if your new spouse is a Social Security beneficiary, you may want to apply for a benefit name change.

Applications Open For Bobwhite Brigade Camps

Pammy Millican County Extension Agent

Looking for a summer camp experience for your high school youth? The Bobwhite Brigade may be just what you're looking for. The Bobwhite Brigade Wildlife Camps are taking applications now through April 15. The camps are four-day programs for high school students ages 13-17. The hands-on camps are designed to make its participants quail experts and impart communication and leadership skills. Bobwhite Brigade originator Dr. Dale Rollins says he is hoping for at least 300 applicants for this year's three camps. Camp tuition is $200 per cadet. The cost covers meals, lodging and supplies. Camp applications are available from local county Extension offices or by contacting Rollins at 915-653-4576 or by email at drollins@tamu.edu.

The Texas A&M University Board of Regents agreed to name its Center for Southern Crop Improvement in honor of Nobel Laureate Norman Borlaug. The decision is a rare exception to a policy against naming a university facility for a current employee. Borlaug, who won the Nobel Peace Price in 1970, is a Distinguished Professor of International Agriculture at Texas A&M. Texas A&M vice chancellor Dr. Ed Hiler says the name provides A&M a distinct opportunity to honor Borlaug for his far-reaching contributions.

Research to keep Texas' biggest crop on the leading edge of technology received a big boost in January with a $100,000 donation from Deere & Company to Texas A&M University. John Deere spokesman Pat Pinkston says the cotton industry and cotton producers provide important business to John Deere. Pinkston says that Texas A&M has been an industry leader in developing new production methods for cotton. and this money will help enhance activities in the future. Agricultural Engineering department head Dr. James Gilley says filling this important chair enhances the commitment to the cotton industry by Texas A&M University and increases the industry's visibility. Deere & Company is the world's largest producer of agricultural equipment.

Owls Drop Game to Motley In Playoff For Championship

Since the season ended in a three-way tie for first place, a playoff was necessary to establish the seeds. The Owls and Motley County played a game at Valley High School to see which team advanced to play Guthrie on Monday night, and in a game that appeared to have a lot of the players "uptight" the Owls dropped a 35-30 decision.

Jay Arnold was the only Owl to score in double figures, ringing up 12 points. Also scoring were Nathan Francis, seven; Adrian Ramirez, five, and Jeremy Holt, four points.

Motley County led most of the way in the game, and even relinquished. though it was not a large lead, held on to win the game.

meeting for the annual Project

NCC Agrees on Step 2; Efforts Proceeding

Delegates to the National Cotton Council have agreed on a unified position regarding the effort to revitalize the recently ended Step 2 portion of the 1996 Farm Bill's Cotton Competitiveness Provisions.

Plains Cotton Growers (PCG) is supporting the NCC policy and will work with the NCC to revialize the Step 2 Program.

The NCC's Step 2 policy includes agreement by the industry to seek procurement of additional funding for the Step 2 with safeguards to prevent the depletion of funds in the middle of a marketing year. It will also in-

*Language supporting the continued use of the current world price formula for loan redemption purposes:

A return to the 1.25 cent trigger level for Step 2;

*Discontinuance of the use of Step 2 values when calculating Step 3 when the monthly projection of season-end U.S. stocks falls below 16 percent.

There will be an organizational Graduation party on Monday, February 22, at 6:30 p.m. in the school board room.

This project requires the input and willingness to work and plan to put together a quality memory for our kids. All parents of high school students are needed to help with this endeavor.

If your child is planning to attend the graduation party, we need your help!

Support your kids by showing up and let's get this off to a great start. If you are interested in helping, but can't attend Monday, please call 847-2221.

All senior parents are especially urged to be there. There will be a short meeting to discuss upcoming events after the Project Graduation meeting.
