Council Makes Arrangements for Extra Night Police

In regular meeting Monday night City Council members decided that the regular nightwatchman and City Marshal Sebo Britton would constitute the night police force during the fall months. No other night police will be employed.

Routine matters including approving minutes of last meeting, warranting bills and payments and one adjustment of city taxes concluded the meeting.

No action was taken on appointing a city attorney.

Acreage Leased In Southwest Part of County Recently

Carl Oleander, Avoca oilman, has leased a block of acreage from Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Denson of Haskell.

He has leased a 372 acre tract for an unnamed consideration, located 12 miles southwest of Haskell.

Mr. Oleander owns the property on which the first Avoca well was drilled. Since that time five other large producers have been drilled in the field.

Free Clinic For Children To Be Held October 8

Dr. W. B. Carrell, head of the Crippled Children's Hospital in Dallas, announced Saturday afternoon that he would conduct a free clinic in Wichita Falls on October 8.

This clinic will be held in the First Methodist church, under the auspices of the Wichita Valley Scottish Rite association and the Maskat Shrine Temple. S. H. Fagadau is president of the first organization and Kindel Paulk heads the Shrine temple.

Second Free Clinic This will be the second free clinic for crippled children held in Wichita Falls, the first being held in this city in 1935, when 359 children were examined. This number set a world's record for medical clinics.

Dr. Carrell will be assisted by Doctors Girard and Driver, also associated with the Scottish Rite hospital at Dallas, and Miss Annie Laurie Little, superintendent of the hospital.

Members of the Wichita County Medical association and the Wichita Falls Graduate Nurses association will also be on hand to assist at the clinic.

Brown To Be Here An important feature will be the presence of J. J. Brown of the State Board of Education. Brown is head of the rehabilitation work for this department. He will make case notes and begin work on the education of the crippled children at the time of the clinic, instead of waiting until after the cure is effected.

Sidney A. Gaines, head of the Wichita Falls district for crippled children's work in the Scottish Rite Masonic body, said Saturday that Albert Ellis would be head of the committee in charge of publicity. This committee will see that every Masonic organization of West Texas and the Panhandle is informed of the free clinic, and all crippled children, regardless of creed, color or race, are contacted.

When necessary, the local Masonic lodges will provide transportation to Wichita Falls for the children, Gaines said.

Oral Jones was named committee head for the preparation of the Methodist church building to receive the children and see that ample facilities are provided for the doctor's work.

To Receive Treatment After the clinic in Wichita Falls, Gaines pointed out, the children who can be cured are to be taken to Dallas by Masonic lodges in their own towns and cities. The incurable cases will be eliminated in Wichita Falls, providing more cases.

Early examination was stressed by the doctors, as cases are more easily treated soon after the accident or disease that cripples the limbs, than when the case is allowed to become several years old.

Several new cases of crippled children have been reported in this district in recent months Gaines said, and these children should be brought to the clinic at all costs.

Details of 1937 Cotton Loan and Subsidy Payment Plan Outlined By County Agent

Cotton Must Class At Least 7-8 Inch Staple and Grade Middling

Details of how the loan will be made on the 1937 cotton have been received by county agent, B. W. Chesser. Some of the details of how the subsidy payment will be made have also been released.

The note and cotton loan agreement that producers will have to sign when they receive the loan reads nearly like it did in 1935. Apparently the warehouse will have to guarantee the grade and staple, and bear any loss that might occur if the cotton is not graded correctly at the time the cotton is put into the warehouse. (However this is now in dispute.)

After a producer puts his cotton into the loan he stands no chance of taking a loss even though the price of cotton goes down, provided he qualifies with the 1938 program, the cotton stands up as to grade and staple, and lives up to the other agreements outlined in the note he signs. These agreements are just like they were in 1935.

In order for a producer to be eligible to enter the 1937 Government loan his cotton must class at least 7-8 inches in staple and middling grade or above, 13-16 inches in staple and middling in grade or better, or 7-8 inches in staple but below middling, but not below low middling. A producer carries a sample of his bale to a cotton classifier and has the cotton classed. After the classification is determined the bale of cotton is placed in a Government bonded warehouse for storage. The manager of the warehouse issues a warehouse receipt to the producer. The farmer will carry this receipt to any lending agency that is handling the Government loan, and the lending agency fills out the combination note and agreement, and pays the amount of the loan to the producer that he is entitled to on his cotton. The loan bears 4 per cent interest and the warehouse charges 25c per month for storage and insurance in the cotton. The bale is taken as collateral and therefore, the cotton remains the property of the farmer.

The loan matures July 31, 1938. In order for the producer to receive the cotton price adjustment payment it must be sold by June 30, 1938. In case a producer does not desire to sell his cotton after the loan has matured a pool will be established and the cotton may be transferred to the pool to hold for higher prices.

In signing the necessary forms to receive the loan the producer must agree to comply with the Agricultural Conservation Act now in operation and to be in effect in 1938 and further agrees to cooperate in any reduction program to be enacted by a special session of Congress or in regular session of Congress beginning in January. Thus, it is impossible to advise the grower as to the type of program that he must participate in for 1938.

The landlords cannot borrow on the tenants share of the cotton crop, nor on cotton taken on account. The tenant may borrow

Proclamation

KNOW ALL MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN BY THESE PRESENTS:

That, WHEREAS the health, happiness, life and safety and general welfare of each citizen are dependent upon existing living conditions, and

WHEREAS, the lives and property of our people are endangered by fire caused by rubbish accumulations in homes, offices, stores, factories, alleys and streets, and

WHEREAS, a city is judged largely by its general appearance of cleanliness, freshness and beauty, and

WHEREAS, fire to a very large degree is preventable by the proper application of education in fire prevention and fire protection;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, F. G. Alexander, Mayor of the city of Haskell, do hereby proclaim the week of October 3 to 9 as FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, during which week I most respectfully urge our civic and commercial organizations, our school officials and teachers, and our citizenship as a whole, to cooperate and work with the fire chief, fire marshal and city officials in an effort to control this useless loss of life and property by fire. Every home, office and place of business should be inspected carefully and all fire hazards removed.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I hereunto sign my name and affix my seal of office on this the 21st day of September, A. D. 1937.

F. G. ALEXANDER, Mayor.

VISITORS FROM 40 TOWNS ARE EXPECTED

Seed Loans Are Available For Needy Farmers

Wheat seed loans are still available to qualifying farmers through the Emergency Crop Loan department. It is announced by Marvin P. Bryan, field supervisor.

At the present time 275 loans have been made in this district including Haskell, Stonewall, Throckmorton, King, Baylor, Foard, and Knox counties. Collection on last year's loans total 97.86 complete.

Loans are made to those who depend on farming for their income, have farming equipment, good credit rating and moral standing, and cannot get a loan elsewhere.

Definite closing date for seed loans has not been announced but it is expected to be about Oct. 15.

Banquet For Guests After Regular Business Session

City officials of Haskell will host Tuesday night to members of the Central West Texas Water Works association. Waterworks superintendents and city officials from forty West Texas towns and cities are expected to attend.

Following a business session visitors will be guests at a banquet given by Haskell aldermen.

A. J. Gate residential engineer of a project at Seymour and Roy Matthews, Albany, president of the association, will be principal speakers, it is announced. Mayor F. G. Alexander will make the welcome address and Rev. David Stitt will preside as toastmaster. Further entertainment features are being worked out by Roger Gilstrap, local water superintendent.

Time Limit Is Extended For CCC Enrollment

Haskell County's quota of Civilian Conservation Corps boys has not been filled and a few more days is being allowed for more application.

Only 45 boys have enrolled in the CCC from this county and headquarters has increased the number to 60. Those desiring to enlist are urged to make application at the earliest possible date at the local relief office.

Qualifications will be explained by Mrs. Mack Perdue, county relief agent.

Free Tickets Await Readers of 'Want Ads'

This group, organized to promote closer relationship between managers of West Texas, elected officers in a business meeting Saturday. William Wilson of Olney was chosen president; N. J. Benefield of Brady, vice-president; and Bill Colyns of Midland, secretary. Directors selected were: Geo. Barber, Sweetwater, Carl Blasig, Colorado, Garnet Reeves, Pampa, Ben Smith, Pecos, and A. J. Payne of Slaton.

Next annual meeting of the group will be held at Big Springs.

Holt Eastland of Monahans was here the first of the week visiting his mother, Mrs. Sue Eastland and other relatives.

THROCKMORTON WINS 2-0 OVER INDIANS

The Throckmorton Greyhounds defeated the Haskell Indians Friday night in the opening game of the season 2-0. With a hard-charging line the light Greyhounds rated as underdogs, struck early in the first quarter to score a safety when Haskell fumbled, and held the two point lead throughout the game.

The flyweight gridsters opened holes at will through the Indian line throughout the tussle but lacked punch and were held for downs each time they neared the goal. The Indians, stunned in the first quarter showed a ragged defense and still poorer offense for three quarters. Finally breaking loose with a wild passing and running attack in the fourth quarter they reached scoring positions twice in the period but were held once on downs and again on an ineligible pass.

On the opening kick-off the Greyhounds took the ball on their own 35 yard line, ran it back to the 40 and on a long pass to Loyd took the ball downfield to the Indians 22.

But on the next play Thompson, Indian center recovered the ball on a fumble. However his glory was short-lived. On their first play from scrimmage he passed wildly over the head of Josselot, Indian half, and the ball rolled over the goal line to count 2 points for the Greyhounds. Josselot covered. Farm Security Administration Made Permanent

The Farm Security Administration, formerly the Resettlement Administration, has been made a permanent agency under the direct power of the United States Department of Agriculture reports R. E. Skipworth, field supervisor.

The district has recently been enlarged and now includes Haskell, Knox, Stonewall, Throckmorton and Baylor counties. To aid Mr. Skipworth in this added work Roy J. Peace has been transferred from Ralls to this district as assistant supervisor.

This agency makes crop loans and supervises farm administration for their clients.

C. C. C. NOT A HOTOUSE FOR CANNON FODDER

America's lot in the depression was bad enough to suit the most discriminating pessimist, but along with the hard jolts came a few innovations which proved their value not only as emergency trouble-shooters but as semi-permanent projects as well.

One of these was the Civilian Conservation Corps. Its immediate service was to take thousands of boys off the highways, out of railway yards and slum districts, away from the evils of idleness and give them a job to do and a decent place to live.

Through all the pitfalls of changing government policies, through the criticism of skeptics, and the dangers of possible exploitation by militarists, the CCC was kept respectable. And it earned its place as probably the noblest of all the New Deal alphabetical agencies, both in purpose and in practical accomplishment.

For those reasons, citizens have a personal interest in a proposal made by the Veterans of Foreign Wars at their recent national convention.

A resolution "demanded" that the 300,000 youths now enrolled in the CCC be signed as a permanent corps and "be recognized as a complement to our national defense."

This plan, carried out to its logical conclusions would mean, in the first place, that every boy seeking the advantages of the CCC as it stands today would have to admit the government's right to call him out for military duty in case of war.

It follows also that the duties which the CCC has performed so admirably thus far in conservation and community building projects would have to be curtailed to allow for the teaching of the basic principles of army practice.

And out of it all would come the inevitable growth of a junior military clique patterned after those now in vogue with the European dictatorships.

Of course, the CCC candidate himself would have to approve this plan before it could be put into successful operation, supposing, naturally, that enlistment would be voluntary.

But the blessing of the American public would be necessary, too. And it is extremely doubtful whether that blessing would be forthcoming. For one thing, the CCC was accepted as a depression emergency measure, and should be continued only as long as the emergency exists.

Opposition to this proposal and insistence on keeping the CCC on its present basis until it can be disbanded will prove that the nation is smart enough to know just how far to go with a good thing.

PUBLIC LAWBREAKING

There has been a certain amount of fine talk about international law, in connection with the activities of submarines in the Mediterranean, but most of it has been just talk. For the dismaying but inescapable fact of the matter is that today there is no such thing as international law. It is just something that we remember from a former epoch.

The whole course of such powers as Italy, Germany and Russia in regard to the Spanish civil war has utterly disregarded all tenets of international law. So, of course, has the submarine campaign in the Mediterranean. So, too, has the war in China, where the New York Times points out that the contending armies are coldly refusing to take prisoners.

We might as well recognize the fact that we are living in an age of international anarchy, not international law. It is a hard fact to have to swallow, but there is no sense in deluding ourselves about it.

HOLIDAY 'GAIN' ON DEATH

The ordinary prophet is chagrined to see his predictions confounded; but the National Safety Council undoubtedly was very happy to see its gloomy forecast of 1,000 accidental deaths over the Labor Day holiday going wide of the mark.

Experience in previous years had indicated that at least that number of Americans would die in traffic and other accidents. But experience, for once proved a poor basis for prophecy. For, as it turned out, only about 500 deaths were recorded.

"Only" about 500! The grim irony of that remark indicates how fearfully careless we are, even when we do twice as well as anyone had a right to expect.

GROWERS' GRAIN OF HOPE

For the last three years the United States was an importer of wheat—after some three-quarters of a century in which it acted as a granary for half the world. Crop restriction plans, droughts and other unusual circumstances had reversed a tide which had been flowing since before the Civil War.

Now however, the tide is resuming its normal course. A bulletin from the Alexander Hamilton Institute reports that this year the United States will be in a position to export some 200,000,000 bushels of wheat. The West is producing a bumper crop. Once again, American wheat will be flowing across the Atlantic to help restock the cupboards of Europe.

PRODUCTION RIVALRY

The newspapers recently printed a picture of a huge six-motored flying boat with which France is about to begin trans-Atlantic survey flights, and the captions remarked that the French were at last entering the "rivalry" for transoceanic air service.

It occurs to us that this is one form of international rivalry which is all to the good. In a day when most international rivalry finds expression in new cruisers, high-speed tanks, super-bombing planes and motorized infantry divisions, it is extremely comforting to see nations competing in straight-out commercial service.

Quicker communications, the speedier transport of goods and people, the conquering of the space which separates nations—these are things the world needs in ever-increasing quantities. The more competition we have in that field, the better off we all ought to be.

HEADLINES FROM THE LIVES OF PEOPLE LIKE YOURSELF!

"Hospital Horror"

By FLOYD GIBBONS
Famous Headline Hunter

HELLO EVERYBODY:
You know, lots of adventures have happened because someone did the wrong thing somewhere along the line, but here's one that resulted from saying the wrong thing. It's the story of George T. Parker of Brooklyn, N. Y., and it's as fine an example of a horrible experience as I've come across in many a day.

It isn't that George talked out of turn, or tried to start an argument. No—there's nothing like that in this yarn. What little George did say, he said with the best and most peaceful intentions in the world. As a matter of fact, George was just out of the operating room and lying on a hospital bed when he said it. Birds in that fix don't go around looking for fights, and you and I know it.

But just the same, George sure talked himself into a sizable lot of trouble. Trouble that probably caused one death and came mighty near causing George's.

It was April of 1917. The United States had just entered the World War, and maybe you remember how we used to guard our bridges and railroad yards in those days. Well, that's what George was doing. He was a private in the Seventy-first regiment, and his company was sent to Kingston, N. Y., to guard a bridge over the Rondout creek. They had put a couple of freight cars on a siding and built bunks in them to house the men, and it is in one of those freight cars that George's story starts.

It was twelve midnight, and George was just leaving to take his turn at guard duty when he began to feel terrific pains. The doctor said it was appendicitis, and he flagged a train, loaded George on the baggage car and took him into the Kingston city hospital.

Bearded Old Man in Next Bed.

They held him in a ward for a day for observation. There were some twenty other patients in the room, and one of them was a bed-ridden fellow named Tony. He had been there fifteen years, poor devil, with a broken spine. But helpless as he was, Tony is the hero of this yarn. It was he who saved George's life.

While George was still under observation they brought in another patient—a bearded old man with a case of blood poisoning in his left arm. They put him in a bed right in front of George's and—well—somehow or other that old fellow gave George the creeps every time he looked at him.

In the morning they took George out to the operating room and the sawbones took out his appendix. They brought him back and put him in the same bed he had had before—right next to the old fellow with the beard who gave him the willies.

"Where Is That Fifteen Cents?" He Kicked.

For two days after his operation, George was a pretty sick man, what with the ether he had swallowed and the shock of being cut up by the surgeon. On the second day, the old fellow with the beard became delirious and started to rave, and that didn't help George's frame of mind any.

George Pretended to Be "Lenny."

"He was talking about some one named Lenny," George says, "and he kept it up until everyone started to complain. I thought it would be all right to try and pacify him, so when he called for Lenny again I answered him."

The trick seemed to work. The old fellow actually thought he was talking to Lenny. "What did you do with that junk in the attic?" he asked. And George answered, "I sold it." "How much did you get for it?" the old fellow wanted to know. And George told him, "Fifteen cents." After that the old fellow was quiet. At ten o'clock the lights were put out and George dozed off.

And then, suddenly, George woke up at the sound of a foot-step beside his bed. "I looked up," he says, "and there, staring down at me, was the old fellow. His eyes seemed to be popping out of his head and his good hand was reaching down for my throat. And in a low voice he hissed, 'Where is the fifteen cents?'"

It might have been funny—that situation—if it hadn't been so pathetic, too. But to George there was neither humor nor pathos in it—nor anything else but just plain terror. There he lay helpless, two days out of the operating room, and hardly able to lift a finger in his own defense, and over him stood a man out of his mind and plainly bent on violence.

Strangling Him to Death.

"I was petrified with fright," says George. "Perspiration began running off me like water from a faucet. The old man was in a long white nightgown, with his long hair hanging down over his shoulders and his white beard flowing over his chest. The moonlight was shining full on him and the very picture of him was enough to scare a man to death. 'I couldn't find my voice—couldn't utter a word. I put up my hand to protect myself, but it was weak and shaking. The old man grasped me by the throat and began to squeeze. His hand was strong, and it's lucky for me he didn't have two of them—that the other one was crippled with blood poisoning—or he might have strangled me then and there.'"

As it was that one hand wasn't any too gentle. George wondered if anyone in the room was awake. If he could only scream! But with the old man's fingers tightening on his throat, it was too late for that now. He wondered if he was going to die there, in the apparent safety of a hospital bed. And then, suddenly, the lights came on. Nurses and attendants came running to the rescue. Tony, the poor fellow with the broken spine, had brought help. He had awakened, seen what was happening, and pushed the buzzer that summoned the nurse.

The old man was taken away to a padded cell, and on the following morning he was dead. The exertion had been too much for him. —WNU Service.

Ancient Ways of Greeting
How do you greet a friend when you meet him or her in the street? If you shake hands or take off your hat you aren't doing anything new. You're just following old customs, says a writer in London Answers Magazine. In days of old, the joining of hands was equivalent to a peace treaty—it meant that the hands were free of weapons. And even the boldest of knights would take off his helmet among friends to show that he wasn't afraid of a blow on the head. Kissing, too, has its origin in earliest times. The old Greeks and Romans used to kiss their friends and acquaintances on every occasion. One old scholar relates that it was polite, when calling on anyone, to kiss first the host, then his wife, followed by all his children, and finally the dog and cat.

The Word "Starboard"
The word "starboard" appears to have come down from the earliest Anglo-Saxons, who called that side of their Viking ships from which the steering oar protruded the "steorboard," which became corrupted to "starboard" or even the "sta'b'rd" of the far. Naturally enough, according to a writer in the Chicago Tribune, the opposite of the ship, which was brought in contact with the jetty or wharf when loading for fear of breaking the steer or rudder, became the lading board, laddeboard, or larboard, later changed to port because of the danger of confusing larboard and starboard when hearing was difficult during a storm. The full rigged ship is seemingly a tangle of ropes, every one of which is called mangle, slay, sheet, line, painter—anything but a rope.

Junior-Senior Club Will Begin Year's Meeting Thursday

The Junior-Senior Magazine Club will begin their club year Thursday evening, Sept. 24, when their first meeting of the year will be held at the Magazine Club. The junior group will be host to members of the Magazine Club at a tea to be given at 8 o'clock. One feature of the program will be a review by Miss Ann Taylor of the book, "Of Lena Geyer" by Marbia Davenport.

South Ward P. T. A.

Thursday afternoon the Parent Teachers unit of South Elementary School met for its first program of the new school year. There was a large attendance which in itself was very inspirational. New patrons were introduced and then, Mrs. Ballard presented the new South Ward faculty member, Mr. Garrison.

Topic—Character Growth.
Quotation—"His education forms the common mind—As the twig is bent so is the tree inclined."

Director—Mrs. Willie Johnston.
Sing Song led by Miss Hambleton.

Prayer—In Union.
Greetings to Parents—Mrs. Ballard.

Heart's Desires—Miss Patsy Koonce.
What is Character—Mrs. L. B. Hammer.

Immediately after this inspirational program the room count was taken, sixth grade winning first place and first opportunity to use the radio.

May our work be of such character and value that parents will be drawn to these meetings without urging.

Of special interest is the fact that each paid-up member receives the Parent-Teachers magazine for one year. It is a beautiful magazine of interesting stories, helps, aids, etc. for parents and teachers.

Mrs. Charles Smith Hostess To Sunshine Sewing Club

HOW MUCH MUST YOU PAY FOR THE CHURCH?

By J. G. Malphurs

"The kingdom of heaven is like unto a treasure hidden in the field; which a man found, and hid; and in his joy he goeth and selleth all that he hath, and buyeth that field" (Matt. 13:44). Let us think of the church as a house which we are thinking of buying. The church is the "house of God" (Tim. 3:15). It is not a literal building, but a spiritual building, to which all God's children are added. (Acts 2:47) Four questions enter our minds when we think of buying a piece of property, which we can reasonably use in placing a value on the church.

1. "What Did The Church Cost The Owner?" We are not likely to offer more for a house than it cost the owner, unless we think we know of some treasure about the place of which the owner knows nothing. The owner of a house might be ignorant of the true value of his property, but Christ, the Architect for the spiritual temple, knows the full value of the church. Therefore he "gave himself up for it and purchased it with his own blood" (Eph. 5:25; Acts 20:28).

2. "What Use Will The Church Be to Me?" A piece of property might be of great value to one man, but worthless to another, depending on the use each can make of it. If we are buying a machine, we are willing to pay for it in proportion to its usability and increased performances. A farmer can well afford to pay more for a harvesting machine than he could for the old-fashioned scythe; a woman can afford to pay more for an electric iron than she could for seven old-fashioned flat-irons. A father is willing to pay more for an insurance policy that gives him sick benefits, a burial fund, and some handy cash for dependents, than for a policy that furnishes burial expenses only.

Every man needs (1) fellowship, (2) social obligations, (3) spiritual development, and (4) soul salvation. Human organizations can furnish the first two of these needs, and perhaps a little of number three, but can not do anything on the last. The church can furnish all four of man's needs, and it is the only organization that can. The church, then, is the "treasure hidden in the field", and the "pearl of great price", which so many know so little about.

"How Long Will The Benefits of The Church Last?" Age and durability have much to do with the value of things. A dependable clock maker of fifty years business at the same old stand, has two clocks to sell. The one is new and untried, and can have no strong guarantee; the other is an old Seth Thomas clock. The honest jeweler says to you; "I can't tell you how long the new clock will last, but the old clock is as good time yet". Of course you would be willing to pay more for the clock that has age and durability. Jesus said of his church, "The gates of hades shall not prevail against it" (Matt. 16:18). Since he said that, 1907 years have passed, and the church is here yet. It has already lasted longer than the world's mightiest empire, and "will stand forever" (Dan. 2:44). If you wish to invest in an institution that has the greatest age and durability test, by all means invest in the church.

3. "What Does The Owner Ask For The Church's Benefits?" Don't try to "jew" the Lord down. Don't try to go to heaven on a nickle, even if you could. You can't buy with money your way into heaven, but your money can block your way to the celestial city. If you would secure for yourself the benefits of the kingdom of heaven (the church) your Lord requires of you:

(1) Sever all fleshly ties, when they interfere. (Matt. 10:37).

(2) Renounce all earthly possessions, forbidding them to come between you and your Lord. Jesus will not "play second fiddle", to riches (Luke 14:33; Acts 4:32).

(3) Present your body "a living sacrifice", which is your "reasonable service" (Rom. 12:1).

"The kingdom of heaven is like unto a man that is a merchant seeking goodly pearls; and having found one pearl of great price, he went and sold all that he had, and bought it." (Matt. 13:45-46). Will you not do the same?

Great audiences are hearing these sermons on the church which are preached by the local minister at eight o'clock each Lord's day evening. Plan now to hear the next sermon.

Cotton Loans—

separately on his share of the crop. Under the new Government Loan Plan it may be difficult for growers to decide whether to sell cotton which is eligible for price adjustment payments or put it in the loan. In this connection we quote you herewith the ideas of a well known cotton economist.

"Watch the average price quotation for the 10 designated spot markets. When this is above 8.50 cents cotton should be sold as soon as ginned, unless you want to take a chance on waiting for the market to get above 12 cents, and enough higher to cover carrying costs. It is especially desirable to sell when the spot average is above the 9-cent level. You will then get the market price for your cotton plus the price adjustment payment from the Government for the difference between the 10 market average and 12c. If you put cotton in the loan at that level you would get 9 cents, and would then have to wait until the market rose 300 points, and enough higher to cover carrying costs of about 9 cents a month, before you could break even.

"Cotton selling at substantial discounts below the loan price should not be put in the loan while the 10 market average is above 8.50 cents, unless the loan value is equal to the market price of the cotton plus the adjustment, or unless you want to hold for a possible rise to above 12 cents.

"This means that even on cotton which would sell for 6.00 cents for example it will pay to sell at that price and get your adjustment of 3 cents, making 9.00 cents in all, than to put it in the loan and get 9 cents. This may seem queer but a little figuring will show why it is so.

"Suppose you put it in the loan, and in 5 months cotton prices rose 3 cents, your cotton goes from 6.00 to 9.00 cents, and the 10 market average goes from 9.00 to 12.00 cents. At that level no adjustment payment will be made, so you will get nothing from the Government if you should sell your cotton at 9.00 cents. For carrying the cotton in the loan 5 months you will be charged about 45 points, leaving you only 8.55 cents net, whereas if you had sold it 5 months earlier you would have received a total of 9 cents. Of course if prices should have a considerable rise, more than 350 points in 5 months, you would gain by putting your cotton in the loan."

It should be remembered that this analysis applies only to whatever per cent the individual grower's cotton on which the price adjustment can be obtained. This has been tentatively estimated at 65 per cent of base production, but may be a greater per cent if the fund of $130,000,000 appropriated for the payments will permit, depending upon the amount required to make up the difference between the spot market average and 12 cents and upon the number of growers who take advantage of the plan.

Adjustment Payments
WHO ARE ELIGIBLE FOR THESE ADJUSTMENT PAYMENTS? Only those persons who, having produced and sold cotton from the 1937 crop, and who shall engage in the production of cotton in 1938 in accordance and in compliance with the 1938 Adjustment Program.

WHAT IS THE RATE PER POUND OF THE ADJUSTMENT PAYMENTS? The rate of the adjustment payments will be the difference between the average of the ten spot markets on the day the producer makes a bonafide sale of his cotton and 12 cents, but not to exceed three cents per pound.

UPON WHAT PART OF THE 1937 CROP WILL ADJUSTMENT PAYMENTS BE MADE? These payments will be made to those producers complying in the 1938 program upon not less than 65 per centum of the base production from the 1937 crop as that base production of each producer was determined, or may hereafter be determined, in accordance with the regulations applicable to the 1937 Soil Conservation program. (Those who participated in the 1937 program know just what their base acreage and normal production figures are. Those who have not co-operated under the 1937 Soil Conservation program may obtain their designated base acreage and normal production by application to the County Agricultural Extension Agent, or to the Chairman of the county committee administering the Soil Conservation program.)

DURING WHAT PERIOD OF TIME MUST THE PRODUCER SELL HIS COTTON IN ORDER TO BECOME ENTITLED TO THE ADJUSTMENT PAYMENT? His cotton must be sold on or before June 30, 1938. Cotton that was sold before the formulation of this program shall be eligible for adjustment payments to the same extent as that selling thereafter.

WHEN WILL ADJUSTMENT PAYMENTS BE MADE? The date payment will be actually made is problematical. Payments will be made only to those producers who comply with and cooperate in the application of such Agricultural Adjustment Program as may hereafter be formulated by the United States Department of Agriculture under authority of legislation hereafter to be enacted by the Congress. You see from this that payments will not be made on a promise to comply with a program but upon proof that the 1938 Agricultural Adjustment Program has been complied with. Therefore, it would appear that payments will not be made earlier than July or August, 1938.

The representatives of the Cotton Cooperative Associations maintained records of the cotton handled through the Associations and can furnish the necessary information so that at the proper time documents may be filed with the County Agricultural Extension Agent for the adjustment payments.

Cotton Loans
WHO IS ELIGIBLE TO BORROW? Any farmer who produced cotton this season who will obligate himself to comply with the adjustment program for 1938 as may hereafter be formulated.

WHAT COTTON IS ELIGIBLE FOR THE LOANS? Any cotton produced from the 1937 crop by the applicant which classes 13-16 inch in staple and middling or better in grade, or which classes 7-8 inch or better as to staple and low middling or better as to grade.

AT WHAT RATE PER POUND WILL LOANS BE MADE? Middling or better in grade, 7-8 inch or better in staple 9c; Middling or better in grade, 13-16 inch in staple 8c; Under middling, not below low middling 7-8 inch or better in staple, 7 3/4c.

BY WHOM WILL THE CLASS OF THE COTTON, UPON WHICH LOANS ARE TO BE MADE, BE DETERMINED? The applicant for the loan will state in his loan papers that the cotton is equal to or better than the class required to justify a loan at the rate per pound shown therein. The warehousemen with whom the cotton is stored will furnish a certificate guaranteeing the class of the cotton is stored will furnish a certificate guaranteeing the class of the cotton to be represented in the loan papers.

WHAT RATE OF INTEREST WILL BE CHARGED AND WHEN WILL THE NOTES MATURE? The rate of interest will be four per cent per annum and the notes will mature July 31, 1938.

HOW ARE THESE LOANS MADE? The procedure for obtaining these loans will be identical with the procedure applicable to loans made against the crop of 1935.

MAY A PRODUCER PLACE HIS COTTON IN THE LOAN AND THEREAFTER RECEIVE THE BENEFIT OF THE "ADJUSTMENT PAYMENT" TO BE MADE BY THE SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE? A producer may place his cotton in the loan and thereafter withdraw his cotton by paying off the loan, and may then sell his cotton and if otherwise eligible receive the benefit of "Adjustment payments" provided the cotton is withdrawn and actually sold prior to July 1, 1938.
