Harvest Slowed As Rains Dampen Olton Community

Area Can Employ 1,000 Additional Hands When Weather Permits Work

Rains halted field work this week just as harvest was beginning to get under way.

Olton farmers were plagued not only by weather but also there is a shortage of harvest hands here.

Murrie Machen, with the Texas Employment Commission, said at least 1,000 hands are needed immediately. He said that some of the old cotton is ready for second pulling.

Elmer Machen pulled over last week. "It's good pulling again," declared Murrie Machen this week.

"Cotton is opening fast and the hands are just not coming in," the TEC representative reported. He said he believes that hail publicity has scared away many hands, who ordinarily might have come to the Olton area.

"They've heard that the crops have all been hailed out and are just not coming in as fast as would be expected," he declared.

607 Bales
A count down at Olton gins revealed that 607 bales had been ginned through Wednesday morning. Mr. Machen reported. This compares to 1,934 ginned up to this date last year.

Ginmen said cotton ginned here so far has been of excellent quality. Grades have been middling and strict middling. Staple has run from fifteen-sixteenth to an inch.

No Damage
Farmers Thursday appeared not to believe that the rain had damaged cotton grades to any extent, as yet.

Ginners said harvest has been confined to early cotton so far. James Gallagher, who keeps rainfall records for Pioneer Gas, said .85 of an inch of moisture has fallen here this week.

The weather forecast Thursday called for continued inclement weather for two days. "Sunshine and some wind would have pulled in the field in a half a day," one observer declared Thursday morning.

Grain Harvest
Grain was rolling into elevators here before the rainy spell set in. One elevator operator said the grain was getting fairly dry and a large percentage of the Olton crop was ready for harvest before the rain began.

When Johnny Schenck goes into the game as quarterback, John Wayne Hair will move up to Buchenau's spot.

Coach Turner said the Olton starting lineup will be about the same as last week, otherwise.

Olton P-TA Sets 500 Goal For Membership

A goal of 500 members has been set by the Olton Parent-Teachers Association. The deadline for attaining this goal is set for October 15.

Some 300 members in the P-TA have been registered to date. Memberships will be accepted throughout the school year.

An executive meeting of P-TA officers will be held October 5, at 4 o'clock in the high school library. All standing committees, school principals and superintendent have been requested to be present.

BUCHENAU OUT OF OLTON LINEUP

Mustangs Travel North To Hereford

Rande Buchenau

Olton's Mustangs— smarting from injuries— will be out to make it two victories in a row when they travel to Hereford Friday night.

Coach Joe Turner was singing the injury blues this week. Rande Buchenau, who suffered a shoulder injury in the Littlefield game, has been benched until conference play.

Buchenau, one of Olton's biggest threats, has not even been allowed to work out this week. He saw only limited service in the Hale Center game last weekend.

Another on the injured list is Jimmy Moss. Moss also suffered a shoulder injury. He was hurt in practice.

The Hereford Whitefaces deploy from a spread T formation and a wing T. Coach Turner said the Whiteface team will average about 170 pounds per man.

Dirks is the Hereford quarterback. One of their best running backs is Skypala. These two were outstanding against Plainview last week.

Coach Turner said James Lovelless will play in Buchenau's position when he is in the game.

GYM FLOOR

Olton will have the first free floating gym floor in West Texas. The spacious new gym is scheduled for delivery some time in October. The resilient floor is credited with preventing injuries to athletes who use it. The floor is attached to wood slabs which, in turn, rest on porous rubber pads, giving the resilient effect. SPENT FIFTEEN DAYS ON ROAD

Ross Couple Returns From Trip To Alaska

By Celia Waldrip
Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ross have recently returned from a trip through seven western states, two Canadian provinces, one territory and Alaska . . . their ultimate destination.

Of the thirty-seven days they were gone, fifteen were spent on the road. The trip to Alaska is usually an eight day trip "hard driving", but the Rosses drove all night on their return jaunt home, and made the trip in seven days.

The young couple left in their station wagon August 15 and returned September 21. Their daughter, Elisa, 2 years old, stayed in Olton with her grandparents. Mrs. Ross stated they missed her tremendously, but the trip would have been entirely too rugged for her.

Tom stated the expense of the trip was just about what they had anticipated. The greatest expense was gasoline. At one point in Canada they paid 68 cents a gallon for gas, however the British gallon is approximately 5 quarts, which somewhat eased the pain of paying the high price.

Visit Yellowstone
Enroute to Alaska, the Rosses visited Yellowstone National Park, Wyo., and "fought off the bears." They stated they missed the earth tremor there by two hours. In Casper, Wyo., they visited briefly the Greer Hamils, who are former residents of Olton. Mr. Hamil is in the hotel business in Casper.

The Rosses also toured the western part of Canada enroute. They spent some time in Edmonton, Alberta, and also in several cities of British Columbia. According to Mr. Ross, Whitehorse, the capital of the Yukon Territory, is about the size of Texas and has a population of only 7,000.

Camping Out
The Rosses said they were fortunate to have planned sleeping in their station wagon and camping out, for in Canada and Alaska there are few motels or hotels. The only accommodations for tourists at all are lodges, which were not particularly comfortable and outlandish in price.

The road from Canada entering Alaska, is a 1,530 mile stretch of gravel road. Each mile is marked with a milepost. At intervals of twenty or thirty miles, camping grounds are designated. It was at these camping grounds the Rosses met some of their most interesting acquaintances. Tom explained the British mile is 5,700 feet, and it was difficult for him to become accustomed to the difference.

Aleda declared she thought Alaskan climate cold. She was forced to wear a heavy sweat shirt and a car coat throughout their trip.

Not Cold
However, it was not as cold there as Tom expected. He stated he "doubted it would ever be a tropical country", but the climate was gradually getting warmer in Alaska. He said the glaciers were gradually melting as a result of the Japanese current, which flows through southern Alaska.

The coldest weather they experienced on the trip was near Circle City, the nearest point to the North Pole one can reach by car. They said the temperatures there was in the lower thirties at all times.

The Rosses agreed the countryside was beautiful, but it lost its effect after seeing so much of it at one time. Tom compared it to "eating a large dinner and then being presented with more food"—there was just too much for one serving.

They saw the aspens turning and the willows blooming with fall colors. The spruce, the most prominent tree of Alaska, is perennially green and the grass was only beginning to turn brown.

Except around Circle City, the country is not the frozen, snow-covered ground always associated with our ideas of Alaska.

The Rosses saw myriads of mountain sheep, bears, moose, elk and caribou. However, Aleda was happy to discover, there are no snakes. It is impossible for most reptiles to live in the cold climate there.

Tom stated with disgust, that a hunting license costs $100 in Alaska, but he splurged, and went to an inland lake by plane to hunt. He killed one caribou, which they butchered and froze, and a 1,000 pound grizzly bear, which was skinned to make a bear rug. The Alaskans eat bear meat, but Aleda confided, "she wouldn't touch the stuff."

People Friendly
The people of Alaska were very friendly, according to Mrs. Ross. She stated many times the people followed them out to their car, just to talk about the states. Many of the people they met were homesteaders from various states. One couple from Minnesota had been there seven years, as homesteaders and had built a two-story home for themselves and their six children.

Some of the people they talked with were teachers, who had gone to Alaska to teach Eskimo and Indian children. One such family had four children of their own. They had adopted a small Eskimo girl, named Oik-jacke, whom they for obvious reasons, called Jo Ann!

The Rosses said the native Eskimos had so many children and lived in such cramped quarters, they willingly gave children to any who requested them. Tom and Aleda noticed the children of Alaska, even the transplanted ones, do not play games like children in the states. Their games are strange and spiced with unfamiliar words such as "caribou, glacier, Copper River Indian, whaling" etc.

Modern City
In Fairbanks the Rosses found a very modernized city, complete with television. The food in the supermarkets was high, according to our standards, but low compared to the smaller cities of Alaska, where the competition was not so great. In one place they paid a quarter for a coke, and household staples that we pay 89 cents for here, were as much as $1.65.

A weeks laundry which they had finished in Fairbanks, cost them $15.80. Aleda said this included two changes of clothes for each of them, and two bed sheets.

In Anchorage, the Rosses visited the Doyce Wynns, who were formerly Oltonites. Mr. Wynn is in the insurance business in Anchorage.

According to Tom, Juneau, the capital city of Alaska, is inaccessible by any conveyance, but plane or well-constructed boats. There are no roads at all cut into the mountainous country surrounding Juneau. For this reason, many Alaskans feel the capital should be moved to a larger and more accessible city.

Well Pleased
Upon being asked how most Alaskans felt about becoming members of the United States, Tom answered, generally they were well-pleased, but a few old timers, dubbed "sour doughs", did not approve of the taxes that came with becoming a state. Mr. and Mrs. Ross noted they made the same mistake in travel.

ing as most people in that they "took too many clothes and not enough money". They also said people sometimes accused visitors to Alaska of coming home with wild tales all stretched out of proportion, but if one only told the truth about the things they had seen and heard, it would be strange enough as to be unbelievable!

For great new efficiency, let us install the new—McEACHERN "ROW HARVESTER" On Your Combine This Season.

- Simple In Design
- Fits All Major Brands Combines
- Long Life Construction
- Transferable To Combines Purchased In The Future
- A Really Wise Equipment Investment

The McEACHERN "ROW HARVESTER" will put more grain in the bin than any other device ever tried.

The "ROW HARVESTER" will practically clean the field of all milo heads, including the leaning stalks and the low and high heads. It prevents the loss of heads from the combine headers by means of shields behind the cylinders. All this means more grain saved and less volunteer maize in the field the next spring.

In field tests in 1957 the combines with the mounted (ROW HARVESTER) saved from 100 pounds to 500 pounds of grain per acre more than those with regular reel in the same field before the maize fell to the ground. It will give years of service without any repairs to speak of. It is mounted entirely on self-aligning, pre-lubricated ball bearings, and thus eliminates any need for lubrication, assuring long life.

Several of the attachments were tried out in the field last year to the satisfaction of every user. Three different farmers, after testing one on a combine, bought one, and every owner, without exception, will use the "ROW HARVESTER" this year instead of the slatted reel.

Come in, let us show you this machine that pays its own way.

Fertilizer Sales Down First Of '59

COLLEGE STATION—Sales of fertilizer materials for January 1 to June 30, 1959 were down three percent from the same period last year. Sales of anhydrous ammonia were down 6000 tons and sales of ammonium sulfate were down by about 10,000 tons. These figures come from a new progress report released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station entitled, "Fertilizer Sales in Texas, January 1 to June 30, 1959," was written by J. F. Fudge, state chemist.

The spring of 1959 was almost the same as in the spring of 1958, Fudge says. The tonnage of mixed goods was up by less than three percent, while the tonnage of materials was down by more than nine percent. In actual tonnages, the increase in mixed goods amounts to about 6000 tons and the decrease in materials to about 16,000 tons.

There has been a continuing trend to higher analysis as shown by the fact that the 6-12-6 and 10-20-10 grades showed significant increases. Mixed goods accounted for 46 percent of the total tonnage sold during 1959, as compared with 43 percent in 1958 and 59 percent in 1954.

Sales of 16-20-0 increased 9000 tons, and sales of ordinary and concentrated superphosphate were the same as last year. The combined tonnage of nitrogen material amounted to 131,172 tons, as compared with 150,124 tons in 1958. Nitrogen from anhydrous ammonia accounted for more than 57 percent of the nitrogen from materials and 46 percent of the total nitrogen used, notes the chemist.

Reports from individual counties indicate a varied fertilizer purchase pattern in different regions of the state. East Texas used 42 percent of the total tonnage of mixed goods sold in Texas and 50 percent of the tonnage of mixed goods of the 1-2-1 ratio. More than 76 percent of the mixed goods sold in Texas was used in the three eastern regions—East Texas, Gulf Coast and North Central. West Texas used 78 percent of the total tonnage of anhydrous ammonia, 67 percent of 0-20-0 and 57 percent of the total tonnage of concentrated superphosphates, adds Fudge.

The report lists tonnage used in each region and county. Write the College Station for a copy. Ask for PR-2099.

Extension Men Give Hints On Egg Production

COLLEGE STATION— Do you know what factors to consider in analyzing your commercial egg producing operation? To be really successful a poultryman needs to be a skilled "money husbandman" as well as skilled poultry husbandman. In order to be a good money husbandman you should analyze the following two points.

First you should analyze the business to determine the wage or salary earned. This is called labor-management income and is that income above interest, depreciation on facilities, and out-of-pocket expense.

The other point of analysis is to determine the income received from being an investor or owning the property. This item is often neglected. Money invested in commercial egg production is worth "money" and should earn its fair return as an investment. To help poultrymen analyze their operation, Tom E. Prater, extension farm management specialist, and Ben C. Wormeli, extension poultry husbandman, have written a leaflet entitled, "Guide for Analyzing Commercial Egg Flock." Your local county agent has a copy and can help you analyze your particular operation.

By using the outline in the guide, with his particular situation, a basis is provided for measuring a poultryman's specific opportunity for earnings and planning for improvement.

BIG IMPROVEMENT OVER TIN LIZZIE

Olton Woman Thrilled By First Airplane Ride

BY—GAYLE MCANALLY

When Mrs. Anna Martens, at 72, traveled in an airplane for the first time, arriving in Iowa 3½ hours after takeoff from Plainview, she was only true to form. Her daughter, Mrs. Paul McFadden, says that her mother has always liked to do things quickly. "When Mother took us to school in the buggy, she always drove the horses faster than Daddy did. And if she had ever learned to drive, she would have kept the gas pedal on the floorboard!"

Mrs. Martens, who lives in her own house on the McFadden farm, will be 72 years old Dec. 29. She has made the trip to Iowa, via car, to visit relatives "at least a dozen times" since 1949, when the McFaddens moved to Olton. The trip covered 800 miles and took sixteen hours. Flying via plane, the mileage is two hundred miles less.

"It was easy and nice taking off," Mrs. Martens relates, but when we hit the wind, I thought, 'Oh, Lord, take care of us!' The plane went up and down." Actually she received no more than a headache from the journey. Mrs. McFadden claims her mother also gets one traveling by car, because "she tenses up."

Mrs. Martens was amazed at the smallness of the large towns from the air. "Kansas City was so small," she explained. As a whole, she felt the trip was "really thrilling."

A commercial airline trip would not have been as rough as the one made in the Beechcraft-Bonanza, four-passenger air plane. Traveling companions were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn O. Brown of Griswold, Iowa. They had chartered the light plane for the trip to Olton to attend a wedding anniversary celebration of the McFaddens. They invited Mrs. Martens to accompany them on the return trip. Mrs. Brown is a sister of Mr. McFadden.

Mr. and Mrs. Martens were married in 1907, and their "courtship" was done in the buggy-days. Mr. Martens died in 1945. A lumber wagon was used to haul coal and to gather crops, but all other transportation used were buggies.

Mrs. Martens tells of when she and her mother would take a one-horse cart, full of produce and butter, to the near-by town of Elliott, Iowa. Their home was near Grant, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Martens bought one of the first Fords built about seven years after they were married. Mr. Ford promised that everyone who bought one of his cars in the summer would receive $50 back in the fall. We decided on the purchase, and it had a curtained top.

She says their cars "didn't go as fast as they do nowadays." Today's cars are really an improvement. Lots of people broke their arms when they tried to crank those first cars.

Even after the family bought the Ford, they had to rely on the buggy for use during the rains and winter snows.

The diminutive, grey-haired woman declared "I've seen a big change in my lifetime."

As for the plane trip, she believes she'd rather travel by car. She says she wouldn't hesitate to use the airplane travel in an emergency, but Mrs. McFadden hinted a leisurely trip to Iowa aboard a commercial airline would not be at all impossible in the future for Mrs. Martens.

Swine Litters Being Accepted For WT Tests

CANYON (Special)—Swine litter entries are now being accepted for the West Texas Testing Station, located on the West Texas State College farm, according to Charles Smallwood, head of the WT agriculture department.

The station was constructed here after a number of swine breeders of the West Texas area, members of the West Texas Swine Improvement Association, met to plan a testing program.

A capacity of 100 pigs in 40 pens has been set for the station, and litters will be tested from the age of 56 days until they reach 200 pounds in weight. The station will begin the program with the first litters coming around Oct. 1.

Smallwood said the pigs must have been born between August 1 to Sept. 10 and must be selected from litters of at least eight pigs. Two boars and two litter mate gilts or barrows will be tested.

Any breeder of purebred hogs may obtain additional information or applications from the WT agriculture department, which will conduct the testing program. The pens were built by agricultural business firms of the area.

Mustangs Humiliate Owls 27-6

Scoring in every quarter the Olton Mustangs combined a fine passing and running attack to turn back the Owls of Hale Center by a score of 27 to 6. The Mustangs were playing a time ceremony in his honor, one

Pollard, an outstanding student, who was recently killed while cleaning a rifle. Following half time ceremonies in his honor, one couldn't help but wish that the Mustangs were playing another team this particular night and that the Owls would be victorious over another rival.

Hair Shines
Alternating at halfback and quarterback position, John Wayne Hair had his best night of the season while carrying the pigskin across the double stripe 5 times. Penalties nullified 2 of these touchdown jaunts.

The defensive play of all the Olton lads was outstanding at times, but Robert Duncan from his linebacker position must be given credit for the finest individual defensive game yet played by an Olton Mustang this year.

At one point just before the half Duncan threw the Owl quarterback, Perry Ritchey, for a 5-yard loss as he attempted to run wide around left end. On the next play, as Ritchey again this time attempting an end run to the right, Duncan hauled him in after a one yard pickup. With the Owls facing third down and still needing 14 yards, Duncan again, this time working in the secondary, broke up Ritchey's pass to fullback Jim Louthan.

Play in the hard fought contest went as follows:
Mustang Phil Neinstast's kick was taken at the 25 yard line to the 27 before the Owl ball carrier was hit by reserve back, James

First Score
From single wing formation fullback Robert Priest carried through the center of the line to the 43. Priest's pass to Schenck was complete to the 37 for a first down. Priest went through left guard to the 31, Hair handed off to Duncan, who plowed down to the 29. Priest on a pass-run option saw an opening and went around left end to the 25, picking up a first down.

Hair hit right tackle to the 23. Priest found the going rough and was thrown for a loss back to the 24. On third down, still needing 9 yards, from the single wing Priest's pass to end Fred Riney was good for 24 yards and a score. Rande Buchenau's kick was good and the Mustangs led 7-0. Neinstast's kick was taken at the 25 by fullback Louthan, who returned it to the 31, before being brought down by Tommy Wilson.

Two plays later the Owls had set up shop on the 42 with a first down. Hitting the line, the Owls found going rough and on third down, halfback Phil Richardson skirted left end and nearly broke into the clear as he invaded Mustang territory to the 47 yard line for another first down.

Aided by a Mustang penalty, the Owls picked up another first on the 20-yard line.

Three plays later, the Owls had set up shop deep in Mustang territory at the 12 and on fourth down, still needing 2 yards for the first, Hair broke through on an attempted end run to throw the ball carrier for a loss at the 14 yard line.

Through Line
Priest hit the middle of the line to the 16. Priest carried again, this time running around left end to the 30 yard line, but an Olton backfield in motion penalty put the Mustangs back to the 11 yard line. Priest hit right guard slot for yardage to the 13 as the first quarter ended.

On third down Priest's pass to Bobby Brown was incomplete and the Mustangs were forced to punt. Priest's kick was taken at the 45 and brought all the way back to the 35.

The Owls completed a pass good to the 23 and a first down. Needing only 2 plays, the Hale Center lads gained the needed yardage for another first at the 12-yard line. On second down from the 11 yard line quarterback Ritchey's pass was complete to Don Dollar, for the only Owl touchdown. An attempted pass for the point after touchdown was incomplete and the Mustangs still led 7-6.

Ritchey's kick was taken by Hair at the 25 and on a nice run back, Hair returned the ball to the 50. Priest this time hit right tackle good to the 41. Priest picked up the yardage needed for a first at the 40 yard line.

On a keeper Hair went off left tackle to the 33. Priest passed to Riney incomplete, but Hale Center was off-side and the Mustangs were operating from the 33 yard line.

Hair's running pass to the left, intended for Priest, was incomplete. Priest hit the center of the line for a first down at the 28 yard line. Hair again tossed a running pass, this time to the right, and it was complete to Duncan at the 10 yard line, for an Olton first down. Priest plowed through the center to the 8 yard line, but an Olton off-side, penalized the Mustangs back to the 15.

From single wing, Priest hit left tackle for yardage good to the 5. Priest attempting to pick up yardage through the center of the line was stopped for no gain. Olton was penalized to the 20 yard line for offensive holding. Hair picked up yardage to the 17. Priest's pass to Hair was complete at the 1. From the 1, Hair carried into the line for the score. The extra point was short as Buchenau tried right end for 2 points and the Mustangs led 13-6.

Passing Fails
Neinstast's kick was taken at the 25 back to the 36 yard line, before Larry Timmons made the tackle. After an incomplete pass, the Owls in two running plays had their first down on the 44. Combining passing and power for another first the Owls made their way to the 34. At this point Robert Duncan unassisted had the Owls facing a fourth down situation with 14 yards still needed for the first. A fourth down pass attempt fell incomplete and the Mustangs took over at the 38 yard line.

Priest went through the line to the 45. Hair carried around right end to the Hale Center 48 for a first. Priest hit the center of the line to the 39, but an Olton off-side, penalized the Mustangs back to their own 47. Priest carried off left tackle into Hale Center territory to the 46, as the half ended.

The Owls kick went into the end zone and was brought out to the 20 yard line to begin the second half. Priest hit the left side of the line to the 22. Buchenau tried the right side for no gain. Priest passed complete to Brown at the 42 for a first down. Hair's pass to Priest fell incomplete. Priest hit the center of the line for no gain. Duncan bulled his way to the Hale Center 47 for another first. Priest went through right guard to the 44. Hair's pass was complete to Schenck at the 32 for a first. Schenck was thrown for a loss to the 42, as he attempted to pass. Hair's attempted pass fell incomplete, and the Mustangs were penalized to the 50 yard line, for having an ineligible receiver downfield. Priest picked up yardage around left end to the 35 short of the needed first down. Priest's kick hit at the 7 yard line and a fumble was recovered by Fred Riney, as the Mustangs inherited a first and goal to go situation.

End Sweep
Priest, running around left end, picked up yardage to the 5. Hair went around right end to the 1. A fumble on third down picked up yardage just short of the goal line, and on fourth down Hair carried over right tackle for the touchdown. Buchenau's kick was good, and the Mustangs led 20-6.

Neinstast kicked to the 10, where it was taken to the 25 yard line. Hitting through right tackle, the Owls picked up a first down on the 45. On the first play of the new series an Owl fumble was recovered at the 45 by Kenneth Hooper and the Mustangs took over.

Schenck ran around right end on a keeper to the 44. Priest's pass to Hair fell incomplete, and on third down Hair quick kicked to the 17 yard line.

The Owls picked up a first, needing one play at the 27 yard line. The Owl fullback carried to the 30 yard line and on second down Duncan threw the ball carrier for a loss back to the 24. From the 19, Hair intercepted an Owl pass and went over for what looked like 6 points, but the Mustangs were penalized back to the 30 yard line, because of a clipping infraction.

Priest's pass to Hair fell incomplete. Hair carried to the 15 for a first down. A pass complete to Buchenau behind the line of scrimmage lost yardage back to the 22 yard line. Priest carried around right end and cut back to the 10. Duncan hit left guard to the 8 and on fourth down Priest's pass was over the head of Schenck in the end zone.

Hale Center carried to the 16 as the third quarter came to a close. The Owls fumbled and James Loveless recovered for the Mustangs at the 17.

Good Blocking
Priest carried around left end behind good blocking to the 6 for a first down. Hair carried into the end zone, but another penalty nullified the play, and the Mustangs were penalized to the 11. Priest's running pass was incomplete. It was intended for Bobby Brown, who was in the end zone. A running pass from Hair to Priest was complete and good to the 4. Hair carried through right tackle for the score and this time it was allowed to stand. Buchenau's kick was good and the score was Olton 27-Hale Center 6.

Neinstast kicked to the 25 and the Owl ball carrier, attempting to sweep wide around the onrushing tacklers, was thrown for a loss back at the 16. Quarterback Ritchey's pass was intercepted at the 35 yard line by Neinstast, who returned the ball to the 15.

A running pass from Hair to Schenck was complete to the 3 for a first. Priest hit left tackle to the one yard line. Priest again carried through the line for the score, but an Olton off-side brought the ball back to the 6. Loveless went through right tackle to the 5 and the Mustangs were again penalized 5 yards for being off-side to the 11. Priest's pass to Duncan fell incomplete. Buchenau lost yardage around right end to the 14 as Hale Center got on the infraction wagon and was penalized to the 7 yard line. Priest carried around left end and pitched out to Hair for a yard loss to the 8. The Mustangs were penalized 5 yards for delay of the game to the 13 yard line, and the Mustangs tried their first field goal of the season with Neinstast making the attempt. The ball fell just short of the goal posts and the Owls of Hale Center took over as the ball was automatically brought out to the 20 yard line.

Owls Fumble
The Owls picked up yardage to the 25. A fumble netted no yardage. Facing fourth down and needing 1/2 yard, the Owl quarterback was thrown for a loss at the 27 by Priest and the Mustangs took over.

Hair went through the center of the line to the 22. Duncan carried to the 18, before fumbling and the Hale Center Owls recovered.

The Owls needing 3 yards, for a first, faked a kick and picked up more than the yardage necessary at the 41. Doing some fancy, stepping reserve quarterback Don Dollar picked up another first down at the Mustang 43. An attempted pass fell incomplete and on second down the Owls pass was intercepted by Duncan at the 36.

Hair's pass to Riney was complete at the 45. Hair's pass was complete to Priest for a first down at the 48. On a fumble, Priest lost to the Mustang 48. Schenck's pass fell incomplete and on the third down Buchenau's quick kick was blocked and the Owls recovered at the 46.

The Owls picked up a first down at the 32, but were penalized back to the 47, because of a personal foul. After two incomplete passes, the Owls were again penalized 15 yards back to the Olton 38. Fullback Louthan was hauled in by Duncan, after short yardage, as the game ended.

To the Olton community is the Mustang Marching Band. The band did not just happen. It was built by the painstaking work of almost a half-dozen band directors who have been here, by scores who have belonged to and supported the Band Parents Association and by the band members themselves who were never satisfied to be second best. ## AN EDITORIAL

Dear Parents, Have you ever stopped, in the mad rush of living with and for your children, to really think how much you want them to learn before they have to go out into the world and take responsibility?

Our schools have been provided by us through the State to do this training in basic facts, and teachers have trained themselves to take on the job of guiding the children and assisting them to gain knowledge. They cannot do this job alone, even though they dedicate a lifetime of efforts. Parents should realize that we must have help and that we must also be willing to do our part.

It is good that we feed and clothe the children and make an effort to have the children at the schoolhouse at the proper time, but we must go further. We must see that the children study, even if it means staying home more and giving up some of our important (???) pleasures and leaving the children with a competent baby-sitter.

Let us try to instill into the children's minds that learning is important and desirable for a well rounded life. It is almost necessary for a financial success in life. Let us resolve that we will help the teachers by having our children apply themselves to study and to the business of learning.

If your child should be doing better in school, do not blame him nor his teacher entirely. CHECK YOURSELF.

Sincerely,
Freda G. Hawkins

Hart Young People Meet Friday Night To Establish Weekly Entertainment Project

Mary Bennight Completes Course

Miss Mary Bennight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Bennight, has completed training as an airline hostess.

Miss Bennight has attended school in Kansas City. However, she is under the age limit to assume duties, and will be employed in Oklahoma City in the meantime.

Miss Bennight is a 1959 graduate of Hart High School.

Hart young people will soon have a Teen Town. The first meeting will be held Friday evening. The project was begun by School Supt. Paul Kennedy, after conferring with a group of Hart ministers.

"Because of the fact that there is almost no entertainment for the youth of Hart in Hart, (that is) a project to provide activities for them one night a week . . ."

The project will be named as soon as possible. The high school students are responsible for suggesting games and sponsors. An executive committee consisting of Orval Hughlett, Connie Popejoy, Scarlett Beeson, Jerry Felder and Joanne Lacy has been named by the student body to write by-laws and constitution.

The group will be self-supporting, but any useable games contributed will be accepted. There will be an admission of 25 cents and cold drinks and sandwiches will be sold.

Place of the Friday night meeting will be announced to the students this week.

KITCHEN KORNER

BY LELIA GALLION

Many of us must watch our weight most of the time, and especially as cold weather draws near. We are inclined to cook richer and heavier foods, which are high in calories. A menu for the whole family, a part of which we can eat, is a good idea, instead of having to cook our foods separately.

- MENU
Roast beef-brown gravy
Baked potatoes
Asparagus-buttered
Pear and cottage cheese salad
Hot rolls
Angel food cake and ice cream

What you can eat and consume fewer calories:

- 2 large helpings lean roast beef
- 1 small baked potato
- ½ pear and large portion cottage cheese
- ¾ cup asparagus (use butter flavoring)
- 1 small slice angel food cake

In most cases, lots of lean beef may be eaten, but remember to eat a small portion of other foods to satisfy the appetite so you won't get too hungry.

To make a dietetic jello salad—

Mix 1 envelope Knox gelatin, ¼ cup sugar and ½ salt in saucepan. Add 1½ cups water and stir over medium heat until gelatin and sugar are dissolved thoroughly. Add ¼ cup lemon juice and 1 level T flavoring—cherry or strawberry or any you prefer. Chill to egg white consistency. Fold in about 2 cups diced fruit, any combination you desire. To make this even less caloric, use a few drops of liquid sweetener instead of the sugar and use fresh peaches, pears and oranges. You may eat quite a lot of this as a filler when your main meal is light.

When you are hungry between meals, eat slices of cold roast or steak to satisfy hunger.

THE REVOLUTIONARY Corvair
 BY CHEVROLET

There's nothing like a new car—and no compact car like this de luxe Corvair 700.

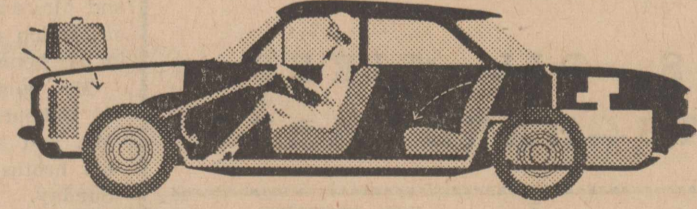

Here's the car created to conquer a new field—Chevrolet's low-priced compact Corvair. The product of nine years of research and development at the auto industry's most advanced facilities, it's America's first truly compact, economical car that retains the ride and 6-passenger comfort you're used to in a big one. The key to this small miracle: America's first and only modern rear-mounted aluminum engine—a lightweight 6 that's so revolutionary it can be packaged with the transmission and drive gears as one compact unit.

By putting the engine in the rear, Chevrolet has made the floor practically flat, front and rear. There's plenty of foot room for everybody, including the passengers in the middle.

Shifting engine weight to the rear also makes for smoother, easier compact car handling and gives glued-to-the-road traction on ice, mud or snow.

Corvair's size—some 5 inches lower, 2½ feet shorter and 1,300 pounds lighter than conventional sedans—makes it a joy to jockey through busy streets, a pleasure to park (no need for power assists). Its revolutionary Turbo-Air 6 gets up to 30% more miles on a gallon of regular (a real magician on mileage). And, because the engine's air-cooled, you never have to fuss with antifreeze, you get quicker warmup with less wear on parts even on the coldest mornings (even heat for passengers comes quicker—almost instantly—from an airplane-type heater*).

Yet, wonderfully practical as all this sounds, you'll find the most practical thing of all about this new Corvair is its remarkably low price. Your dealer's the man to see for all the short, sweet details.

REVOLUTIONARY TURBO-AIR 6
 Gets up to 30% more miles on a gallon, needs no antifreeze, provides quicker warmup with less wear on parts.

ONE-PACKAGE POWER TEAM
 Wraps rear engine, transmission and differential together into one compact lightweight unit. Takes less room, leaves you more.

STYLING—PURE AND SIMPLE
 Clean, uncluttered lines shape both 4-door models—the de luxe Corvair 700 and the standard Corvair. Each has its own distinctive trim, and you get more visibility area than in many full-sized cars.

FOLD-DOWN REAR SEAT***
 Works easily, instantly, adding to Corvair's versatility by enlarging rear seat cargo space to 17.6 cu. ft.

FLAT FLOOR
 Corvair is America's only compact car with a practically flat floor, the only one with the kind of relaxing room that U.S. motorists are used to.

UNISTRUT BODY BY FISHER
 Does away with conventional frame, incorporating all structure into a rigid body-frame unit that gives you more inside room with less weight.

UNDER-HOOD LUGGAGE COMPARTMENT
 Trunk's up front (like an elephant's) where it's convenient for groceries, luggage.

4-WHEEL INDEPENDENT SUSPENSION
 There's no conventional axle—front or rear. Wheels, cushioned by coil springs, take bumps independently of each other, for smooth, road-hugging ride.

Parents Of Olton Coach From Saudi

Visitors in the Carl Moore home recently were Carl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Moore. Mr. and Mrs. Moore, formerly of Dhahran, Saudi Arabia, are en route to Durango, Colo. They are building a home there since their retirement in August.

Moore has been associated with Ramco Oil in Saudi, Arabia. He and his wife have lived there some ten years.

Carl's younger brother, Leroy, 18, also visited in Olton. He attended high school two years in Saudi Arabia. He transferred to Denton High School for his last two years. He was graduated from Denton High this spring.

While on the flight home, the Moores had a three day stopover in Germany. There they visited another son, L. D., who is stationed in Germany with the Armed Forces.

During their visit in Olton, the senior Moores showed films taken overseas. They described living conditions in Saudi Arabia as comparable to those in the states. A comfortable, nicely furnished home was supplied them by the oil corporation during their ten year tenure abroad.

The Moores are having sixty-nine crates of belongings, accumulated abroad, sent to Colorado. They purchased hand-made furniture in the Far East for their new home in Durango.

THE SUPERLATIVE '60 CHEVY

This is the one that says '60 like no other car. From its clean-thrusting grille to its dapper rear deck, there's so much that is new and different about this superlative Chevrolet it stands out from the rest like a fresh-minted coin. And you'll be just as wide-eyed over what's inside—the relaxing roominess, tasteful trim, hushed elegance, all comfortably cradled by Full Coil springs at all four wheels. Yet, sumptuous as this new Chevy is, you'll find new economy of operation, new dependability, new longer life. Here, then, we're confident both you and your budget will joyously agree, is the nearest to perfection a low-priced car ever came!

Here's the car that introduces a whole new decade of design—with so much that's new and different the other ones can only hope to come close. It's the superlative '60 Chevrolet—with new space inside, new spirit under the hood, new splendor in every clean-etched line.

Freshly shaped contours rake back from the unified new grille to the jaunty rear deck, fitted with craftsmanship you'd expect only on the most expensive makes. Inside, there's room to sprawl in, room to sit tall in—generously provided by Chevy's sofa-wide seats and extra margin of hat space. And there's even more leg room for the man in the middle—thanks to the way Chevrolet engineers have shaved down the transmission tunnel.

Out on the road, as Chevy's Full Coil ride will persuade you most gently, there's not a car near the price that comes close to the hushed comfort of this one. And, adding to your sense of silence and solidity are thicker, newly designed rubber body mounts that do an even more efficient job of filtering out road shock, tire hum and vibration.

Quiet, quick-responding power is provided by a choice of two standard engines—Chevy's famed Hi-Thrift 6 and a new Economy Turbo-Fire V8 that gets up to 10% more miles out of a gallon of regular while delivering greater engine torque at normal speeds.

Chevy's accent on comfort and convenience even extends back to its easier-to-load (and tremendous) luggage compartment. You'll also find a convenient new parking brake that automatically returns to normal height after application, a new clutch linkage that filters out even the smallest engine impulses more effectively than ever and a trim new two-toning motif that's available on all 16 fresh-minted models.

But, impressive as all this may look in print, there's really only one way to tell how near to perfection this superlative '60 Chevrolet actually comes . . . and that's to drop in on your dealer and drive one!

Crisp styling and air-cooled engine in CHEVROLET'S COMPACT CORVAIR

An aluminum, air-cooled engine mounted at the rear is among a multitude of mechanical features Chevrolet has originated for its all-new Corvaire. A car that seems small only when you are among other features in the six-passenger park it, the Corvaire boasts "big car" roominess and performance due to a long-term engineering study of compact design. Low, fleet styling, in accord with American tastes, a unique suspension system and unitized body-frame construction are among other features in the six-passenger four-door sedan. All 1960 Chevrolet cars will be on display in dealer showrooms on October 2.

— The Cracker Crumbs —

By Celia Waldrip

After becoming involved the other day in a discussion on whether large or small families were more desirable, I gathered my lone chicken-child into my lap and began reminiscing about the clamouring fun we used to have at my parents' home.

I suppose you would have called my family large. There were six of us . . . including my poor tormented parents. I am now amazed at the patience they showed with us. I am sure I should be sorely tempted to lower the boom on about four capering children, were I in my mother's place.

It seemed that our big rambling home was always fairly bursting with kids. As a child I enjoyed all the commotion of kids and their company. Upon reaching that age of adolescence, in which it is catastrophic to acknowledge the fact that one has parents, let alone a motley crew of brothers and sisters, I made the firm resolution that when I married, none of my children would ever have any younger brothers and sisters! (I never announced how I proposed to manage this feat.)

Being out of that family-shunning age by several years, I have begun to marvel at the comparatively peaceful way so many people of so diverse interests, hobbies, personalities and talents, lived under one roof.

Upon entering our house, one was likely to fall over anything from a bull-frog to a bull-fiddle.

My father was a very quiet man, who was the indomitable head of the house. He rendered most of the punishment and handed out most of the blue-ribbons. Besides building our twelve room brick home with his own hands, he could play the Black Hawk Waltz on a squawky violin, (the bridge of which he made an issue of repairing periodically with glue, wire, string or anything that was handy.) He played a wicked game of bridge, could toss a soft-ball higher than the house and could rope, tie and brand a calf before you could say "Wild Bill Hickok!" He was an ardent collector of ballpoint pens, none of which would write, and little scraps of paper covered with figures that were supposed to be vitally important.

My mother could do almost anything. She could make brownies without any chocolate (it wasn't good for teenagers) and could play "Barcarolle from the Tales of Hoffman", by Offenbach, the title of which was appalling enough, and her rendition even more so! She also painted quite well, although all her pictures seem to be of pony-tailed ballerinas balanced precariously on one leg. She had a few goosy poems published and it would not have surprised me if she had taken down the living room drapes to make a ball gown . . . if the need had ever arisen! Mother could take a piece of tinsel, a few old ribbons, some flowers and a punch bowl and arrange a party table that could have out-Maxwelled Elsa.

The oldest of my younger brothers was alternately a pest, a scholar, a heel, a fine athlete and ultimately an engagingly handsome young man. He played the clarinet in concert season . . . if he remembered to bring it along! I well remember the day he ran all over the fair grounds of Dallas to tell me that he had forgotten his black shoes, his tie, his band coat and his horn . . . as though in telling me, his duty was done and his problem thus solved.

He became interested in leather tooling at a summer camp. After wheedling my parents into buying him the expensive equipment, he set up a booming business. My father promptly called a halt to this enterprise, as my brother's output seemed to exceed his income and Father was left holding the overhead! A billious purple belt with yellow flowers and "Corina" brilliantly emblazoned in red, still hangs in a closet in his room. (I suspect he made it for a girlfriend and became too fond of her to present her with such a monstrosity).

My sister could also do most everything. She got a lot of noise out of a tenor sax and could play Beethoven's Fifth on the piano so loudly and brilliantly that I could almost understand why Mr. Beethoven became deaf.

She was a sports enthusiast and let this urge run rampant until in her senior year, Mother convinced her that it was unladylike to play football!

My sister was the outdoors type too, and for several summers made her spending money counselling at a girl scout camp. At one time, however, in showing her little charges how to split logs for a campfire, she let the ax slip and landed a timely whack on the wrong limb . . . namely her shin. That scar she bears today.

My younger brother, at the tender age of fifteen had gained the awesome stature of 6'4" . . . every inch of which he handled with the grace of a very young bull. Feet to any other person are very useful means of propulsion, but to him they were two gigantic appendages that continually got in each other's way! However, his parlor grace was one thing and his goal-post grace another. He could carry a football over the one yard line so fast, that he appeared to be propelled by a giant wheel. Any unthinking opponent who tackled him knew better the next time. He attained his Utopia when he was elected captain of his team.

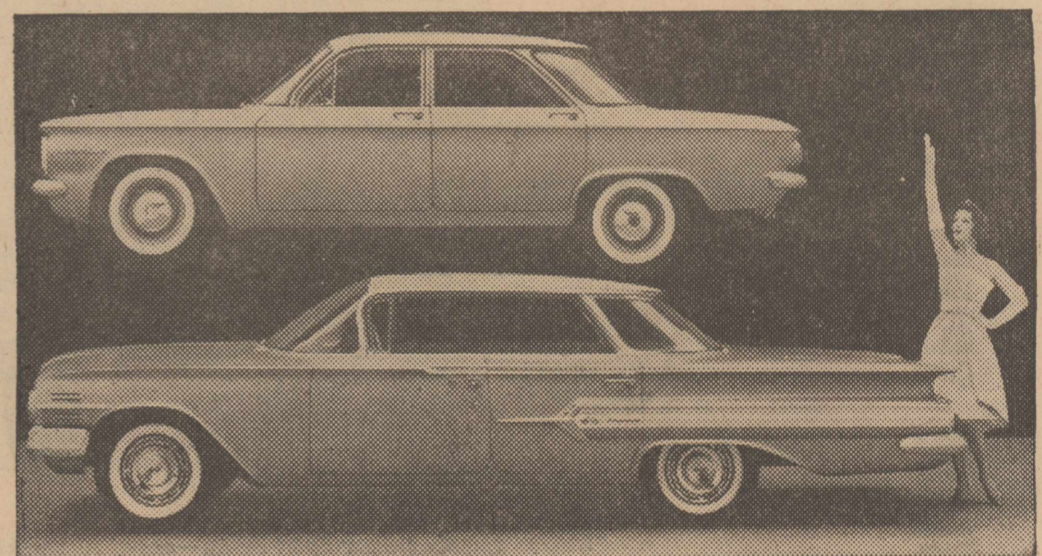

This brother was the nature boy of years he had collected two rabbits (which promptly became twenty-two) a bona fide wolf hound (which frightened a visitor of Mother's so badly that she fell off the front porch and broke her ankle), a crow (which purportedly could say "Jack's a hungry boy" and "Truman is a bum!") and a continuous stream of nondescript mongrels all of which were given the unlikely name of "Pluto".

He was our favorite, though, because he had such devastating dimples and besides . . . he was the baby . . . all 6'4" of him!

I comprised the sixth member of our collective clan, but my name was mentioned only in hushed tones to a child guidance councillor!

The more I look back on those twenty years we lived together, the more I marvel that my parents survived . . . or that they let us!
