

All Around The Town

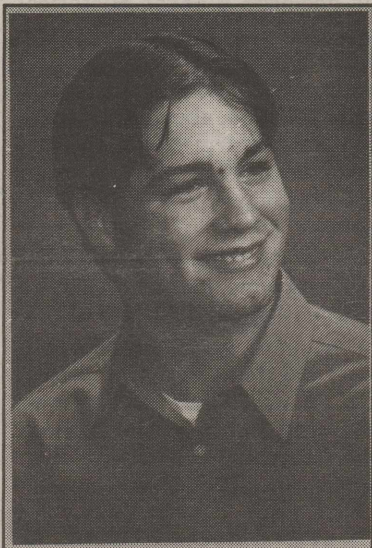

By Mary Ann Sarchet

I had a birthday last week, and I think I'm not getting any more efficient in my job than I once was. When I put together the material for the senior pages last week, I made a terrible mistake--one for which I am very sorry. We've always made every effort to have every senior's write-up included in the graduation week paper, and this time we didn't. And it was through no fault of the senior boy who was left out. He completed his questionnaire and turned it in with all the rest. I shuffled the papers too many times, I guess.

When I spoke to him about it, he was very gracious and said it didn't matter. But it did matter. I told him I could not make it up to him for my error, but that I would do what I could.

He is Christopher Jay Hicks, son of Julie Arnold and David Hicks. His birthday is June 5, 1981. He has blue eyes, brown hair and stands 6' tall.

Jay Hicks

Jay was the Fall Festival King last fall, receiving this honor by getting the most votes of those attending the Fall Festival.

He was a four-year member of Future Farmers of America, and had been a member of the Future Homemakers of America his junior and senior years.

He was a member of the UIL One-Act Play group this year.

Jay played football all four years of his high school career, and became a real head-hunter, earning All-District honors for himself.

His pet peeve is wasteful people. His favorite food is Chinese, and his favorite pastime is playing music.

His favorite song is "Mas Tequila."

His favorite subject in high school has been lunch, and his favorite teacher has been Mrs. Jennings.

He lists his grandfather as the one who has influenced his life most.

Following his graduation, Jay plans to attend college and then enjoy life.

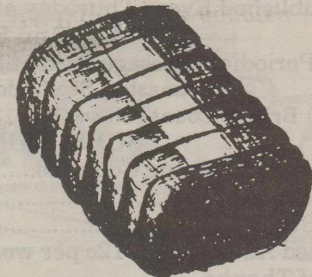

Sorry, Jay; I'll try to do better!

Carr's Chapel to Celebrate 95th Anniversary

Can you visualize this part of Texas in the very early 1900's, and what brought the early settlers to these vast Plains where buffalo and antelope still grazed the unfenced wide-open grasslands? You will experience an evening like the early pioneers did if you join Carr's Chapel United Methodist Church for a Prairie Revival Saturday, June 12.

This is to be a family event, and a special invitation is extended to the youth. Circuit riding preachers, Rev. Steve Rogers of Lubbock and Curtis House of Canyon, will arrive on horseback at 7:30 p.m. There will be lots of singing, old-

TELCOT[®] Report

A WEEKLY SUMMARY OF COTTON MARKETING NEWS

For the Week Ended May 20

In the absence of fresh fundamental news, the cotton market lacked clear direction and closed mixed three out of five days this week. Disappointed by a sharp downturn in weekly U. S. cotton export sales, cotton futures failed to move higher on Thursday, May 20, and were unable to add to the previous day's small gains.

Traders found USDA's export sales report disappointing after pre-report expectations of considerably higher sales. The department reported net export sales of 1998-99 crop cotton of only 17,700 bales for the week ended May 13 versus an encouraging 50,400 bales the previous week.

Peru debuted in the premier buyer list as the largest buyer of U. S. cotton with purchases totaling 3,500 bales. Japan and Thailand completed the list of top buyers with acquisitions of 2,400 and 1,700 bales, respectively.

Before the report's release, traders had expected a surge in export registrations on the heels of a plunge in futures prices during the reporting period and a narrowing of the U. S. export price premium over foreign quotes. New-crop commitments did rise to 30,600 bales from 22,100 the previous week with Japan, Indonesia and Mexico accounting for the bulk of the new business.

Wednesday, the market experienced a small upward surge due in part to rumors of sizable U. S. export sales to Turkey. The sales, however, were not reflected in USDA's weekly export sales report. Timing may have been a factor, according to one analyst who said, "If the sales were made Wednesday night they may not have been reported by the close of business on Thursday." If in fact that is the case, the rumored sales will be accounted for in next week's export sales report.

Spot cotton sales were encouraging this week as higher prices prompted some producers to sell their crop. In the five trading days ended May 20, sales on the TELCOT's electronic marketing system totaled 3,209 bales, an improvement from the previous week's sales of 2,903 bales. Average daily prices received by producers utilizing TELCOT ranged from 39.48 to 46.01 cents per pound, compared to a range of 35.09 to 44.48 cents per pound the prior week.

Meanwhile, over half of the expected 1999-2000 crop now is in the ground. According to USDA's latest planting report, cotton planting in the U. S. increased substantially from a week earlier with 56 percent of the country's prospective cotton crop in the field as of May 16. The figure is only two percentage points behind the same time last year and the five-year average of 58 percent. Both Texas and Oklahoma have remained behind schedule compared with last year, but seeding in the two states has progressed rapidly from the previous week.

Many crop watchers have few worries about delays or unfavorable weather. Overall crop conditions in the U. S. remain better than they were earlier this month. In Texas, the crop is progressing at a favorable pace as some cotton plants have begun to bloom and set bolls in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and Coastal Bend areas. Regional authorities suggest the recent rains in those areas should provide adequate moisture for the crop until the harvesting period.

Cemetery Ass'n. Has Annual Meeting Here

Silverton Cemetery Association held its Annual Meeting Friday, May 7, at First Baptist Church. Those present prepared the annual mailout.

During the business discussion, those present voted not to make water available at this time. The Association will share the cost of retopping 13th Street from the city limits to the east side of the cemetery, with Briscoe County. Several of the graves with flat grave covers are needing attention and the board members are contacting these families. The decision was made to increase the price of lots to $200

Luminarias are symbols of love. You may buy one in honor of your loved one, or in memory of those who have gone ahead.

There will be a special Luminaria Lighting Ceremony Friday, June 11, at the Valley School Football Field. Each name will be read at that time.

Let's all work together to stamp out cancer in our lifetime!

To obtain sacks for the luminarias call Fred Strange, 823-2222 or LaVern Kingery, 823-2300, or Beverly Minyard at First State Bank, 823-2426.

This will be in conjunction with the Briscoe County Unit of the American Cancer Society's Relay for Life event which will be an attempt to raise an all-time high donation for cancer research.

Another event will be a survivors lap around the track, in which the participants will be those who have been cured of cancer.

Monday, May 31, at 11:00 a.m. Jay Stinson, pastor of Silverton United Methodist Church, will deliver the message. Everyone is invited to attend the service.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the Silverton Volunteer Ambulance crew who took me to the Tulia Hospital when I fell and broke my arm and injured my knee. Also all the family and friends who came to see about me at the time. I appreciate all the prayers, phone calls, visits, and all the many nice things done for me while I was in the hospital in Amarillo and later in the Tulia hospital, and since I've been home. The Texas Panhandle

by Amber A. Blackburn

I love the Texas panhandle, Blue skies, fresh air, and wide-open plains.

Texas ranches are full of all sorts of critters: Wide-eyed furry cattle, friendly nickering horses, a dozen hunting dogs bounding to the fence to form a welcoming committee.

Wild ranch land brings out wildlife, Fluffy cottontails scampering through the green grass, Brown, hairy tarantulas moving oh so slowly across your path, Snakes basking in the sun, Wiley coyotes, deer, sheep, and more! When we roam the rugged land, there is a lot to explore.

The wild wind with all its power, Brings the never-ending creak to the windmill. The Texas panhandle, the wind, there's always the wind.

Amber is the granddaughter of Donald and Jo Ann Paige, who spend about five months of each year at the ranch which the late Glenn and Sylvia Allen loved so much. Even though the Paiges have spent many years in California, they have roots in Silverton and have instilled a love for the Texas ranch life in their children and grandchildren.

Amber is a seventh grade student at Cerro Villa Middle School in California. Her poem is scheduled to be published in "Celebrate! California's Young Poets Speak Out".

*Living
The Good Life*

It seems that one of the biggest factors in determining whether one is "living the good life" or not, is related to how we handle stress and problems. We all have varying amounts of stress in our lives, but some people just seem to handle it better than others. More often than not, the people who handle it well seem to just not perceive the "bad" and stressful things as particularly bad or stressful.

Living the good life can be difficult if we do not have God in our lives. God is the great problem solver and stress reliever, and with His help, we can manage our lives better and be more at peace with ourselves and those around us.

At times, everyone has to deal with a certain amount of anxiety, and learning to deal with stressful situations is part of life.

The Bible tells us that we should show a gentle attitude toward everyone and that we should not worry about anything, but in all our prayers ask God for what we need, and always with a thankful heart.

Cast all your anxieties on Him, for He cares about you.

Planting Almost Finished Across The High Plains

High Plains cotton producers took full advantage of recent rainfall and favorable temperatures to plant the majority of the area's estimated 3.5-plus million acres in a compact 10-day period.

As much as 80 percent of the area crop is in the ground now and many of those acres already have stands established. Much of the cotton seems to be literally jumping out of the ground. In some cases young plants can be seen in as few as five days after planting.

Recent planting rains across the region have left most producers in good shape. One notable exception is the Howard, Martin, Midland County area which has received very little rainfall, compared to more Northern parts of the High Plains, over the last three weeks.

Also there are some areas in the southwestern part of the High Plains that could use another rain to get the last of the non-irrigated crop planted.

Conventional wisdom says the reason this area is waiting for a little more moisture is that there is just not quite enough moisture to fully germinate the seed. An additional rain event would give them enough moisture to fully establish a stand.

Hopefully these are not long-term problems and moisture will be received to get the remaining acres planted before June 1.

June 1 is Last Day to Request 1998 Crop LDP

Cotton producers still holding cotton from the 1998 crop year should be aware that the last day to enter cotton into the Commodity Credit Corporation Loan Program is June 1. This is also the last day that a producer can request LDP on 1998 crop cotton.

Cotton entered in the loan before the June 1 deadline is eligible for redemption prior to loan maturity with either full or partial forgiveness of storage and interest charges from date loan established through date loan is repaid.

As long as the Adjusted World Price is below the upland cotton base loan rate of 51.92 cents per pound storage and interest charges up to the amount of the applicable LDP payment rate would be forgiven.

If the AWP is above the loan rate then the producers will be responsible for paying all storage and interest charges when loan is repaid.

If cotton is forfeited, the principle and interest of the loan is forgiven as well as any storage charges accrued during the term of the loan. When cotton is forfeited, the producers is only responsible for storage and warehouse charges accrued before the cotton was placed in the loan.

Master Gardeners Recognized by Texas Legislature

"The Texas Legislature recently honored people who love gardening and use that love to improve their communities," said Briscoe County Extension Agent Pammy Millican.

The Texas House of Representatives presented a resolution to Master Gardener program officials and volunteers during ceremonies at the state capitol. The resolution called for continued success in their endeavors.

The Texas Master Gardener program trains and enlists volunteers to provide reliable horticultural and environmental information to their communities.

Coordinator Doug Welsh says the program was designed to provide busy Extension Agents with expert volunteers. He says there are more than 4,000 certified Master Gardeners in the program and together these individuals volunteered more than 200,000 hours of service to Texas residents in 1998. Welsh says the volunteer service represents a $2.8 million contribution, which is the equivalent of about 100 full-time employees. To be certified as a Master Gardener, a person must undergo 50 hours of training and provide 50 hours of community service.
