Farm Produce Prices Are Above Level of Last Several Years

STATE PUSHES DRIVE AGAINST IMPURE CREAM

Warning Issued by Department of Health to Protect Consumer of Dairy Products

Buying and selling of poor cream and other dairy products is taboo with the bureau of food and drugs of the State Department of Health.

Especially does a recent warning issued by the department have to do with its of improper and unsanitary containers. "The consumer of dairy products is entitled to reasonable protection," declares the state agency. "Farmers and creamery managers both have a responsibility here which they cannot evade."

Continuing its warning concerning unsanitary containers, the Department of Health says:

"Many containers now being used on the farm for holding and transporting cream to market should be discarded as unsanitary. Such as: tin cans, coffee cans and other similar containers with open seams must not be used. Fruit and mayonnaise jars, jugs and crocks, or other similar containers which cannot be properly steamed and sterilized should also be discarded."

"Rusty containers of all kinds must be discarded, and under no consideration should cream or milk be received in containers which have been previously used for handling oil or petroleum products."

"Regulation can with sanitary seams can be procured at small cost. This department asks for cooperation in eliminating the use of illegal and undesirable containers."

Says Cow Is "Milk Machine" of Farm

"The cow is simply a machine for converting feed into milk. She cannot add anything to herself," says a dairy authority.

"As an efficient machine she simply compounds the ingredients of feed to make milk. If she runs short of any one ingredient her production naturally drops. Of course, there may be some reserve of that ingredient stored up in her body, which she can call upon. But if she is compelled to draw on her body to supply it for any length of time her condition becomes run down and complications set in."

"On the other hand, if she is fed too much of any one ingredient it is simply left over. What's left over is turned into body fat or waste. That is the reason for a 'balancer' ration."

Price Also Showing Healthy Gain Over Local 1936 Average

Old Man High Price is invading almost every field of endeavor in these United States.

But, fortunately for Haskell County farmers and ranchers, the sometimes unpopular gentleman this year is invading the selling end much more rapidly than he is invading the buying end.

As a result, Texas and Haskell County farm produce prices are rising to the highest levels in several years—to levels that make it possible for the big man or the little man who specializes in "the cow, the sow and the hen" to reap a rich harvest of cash.

Figures Spell Profits
The cold figures in the case spell profits at every turn. And these profits are probably not greater in any field than in the field of cream selling.

The present local price of 26 cents per pound butterfat is almost twice the average for 1935. This year's present average of 26 cents contrasts with last year's average of 23 cents. And the 1937 average may go even higher.

There's money in cream, in eggs, in poultry and in other produce for the farmer or rancher who works at the job, who watches quality as well as quantity, and who ceases to disregard the belief that "the cow, the sow and the hen" are merely sidelines!

A REAL TRAVELER

CREAM NOW BRINGS ALMOST TWICE AVERAGE DURING 1935

"The future of any milking herd often depends on how calves are handled," says W. R. Arends, dairy authority. "This puts a definite responsibility on the shoulders of the man who cares for the calves from the time they are dropped until they become part of the milking herd. It is not only cheaper to raise heifer calves than to buy cows but by raising one's own heifers a herd can be built just about the way a dairyman wants it."

Feed Highly Important

"The importance of feed for the calf cannot be over-emphasized," Arends says. "Feed must provide the things from which bones, sinews, muscles and blood are made. A well developed frame and depth in the middle are determined by what the calf gets to eat. First food for the calf should be the mother's colostrum milk. This milk is laxative and performs the job of getting the digestive system in motion. If it is necessary to take the calf from the cow, the calf may be fed from a pail. But nature has taught the calf to look up for its milk so it should be made to stretch its neck out to drink from a pail. As in nursing, the neck should be outstretched so that the opening into the rumen or first stomach is naturally closed, preventing milk from entering. The first stomach in a small calf is dormant. Whenever milk enters, it lies there and ferments. This causes scours."

Need More Than Skim Milk

"Milk alone will not provide all the things calves need for profitable growth," Arends points out. "Milk is about 87 per cent water, which means that a gallon of milk is really about seven pounds water and one pound solids. As the calf grows and develops its requirements for solid matter increase beyond what milk alone can supply for maximum growth. In a properly balanced dry feed calves are supplied with the nutrients they need. "By feeding a little milk at the start, then feeding balanced calf dry feed with hay, the calf gets exactly what it needs."

"The new calf feed is given baby calves when four days old. It is kept before them at all times but it is never advisable to place it in the troughs more than a day's feed at a time, subjecting it to possibilities of becoming damp."

Feeding Schedule Is Good

"The feeding schedule for calves calls for mother's milk the first three days, after which start with two quarts of milk per day, working up to four quarts daily at beginning of second week. At end of second week the calf should be getting five quarts daily, which should be continued through the third week. At beginning of fourth week, cut milk back to three quarts a day, and at end of fourth week cut out milk entirely. Along with this limited milk feeding program keep calf feed, hay and water before the calf. These directions are for Holstein and Ayrshire calves. For Guernsey and Jersey calves the amount of milk is slightly reduced."

"By the end of the fourth week the calf is used to dry feed, so is weaned. No more milk is needed because the calf's complete needs are taken care of in calf feed, hay and water. With this kind of feeding it isn't long before the calf is well on its way to becoming a profitable money making first class heifer."

High Producing Cows Require Good Care and Complete Balance of Feed

To balance the scale requires one of two things. Either the cow must sacrifice herself to keep up milk production, or a good milking concentrate must be provided to give her what she needs.

"That a good cow is her own worst enemy is repeatedly proved by the great number of 'break downs' among high producers," according to a prominent dairy authority.

"Because the making of a large volume of milk does not require such an enormous amount of nutrient on the cow's part, many high producing animals sacrifice themselves to the job," says D. H. Van Pelt. "Poor cows take good care of themselves by never borrowing from their own bodies to make milk. Consequently mastitis, breeding and udder troubles, and general teardown play greatest havoc among high producers."

"Supplying efficient and completely balanced feeds in every cycle of the cow's development insures a longer, more profitable life to every herd member, reduces turnover and steps up milk production."

Abilene Legion Sets Example for West Texas In Providing Recreation Center

Recreation spots where West Texas boys and girls can run and play, where their mamas and papas can go for a swim and a dance, and where the younger set can meet in their run-down flivvers or their swanky sport models—that's the example set by Abilene's American Legion.

And it's all a part of the building boom now sweeping the West Texas country where, not so many years ago, savage Injuns once sought relaxation in the none too savory sport of taking pot shots at our ancestors.

"The harder people work, the more they need relaxation," opined H. C. King, local manager of the West Texas Utilities Company who paused from his multitudinous duties enough to discuss the Legion's Building project in Abilene.

"Now, take those boys there," he continued, "they don't have much money to work with but they've managed to dig up the dinero for a 50 by 130 foot club house—all because they work hard and they want to have a little fun in their spare time."

"And they're not doing any slouchy job, their Modern as any high-powered club house in the country. Why, they've already installed 90 feet of lumiline lights in four different colors across the ceiling of that building. And they're dicker for an attic comfort cooling system so they can sit and read, write, or do their jiggling, this summer with all the comfort of a seaside resort. They've even figured out a way to finance a complete electric kitchen for their banquets and conventions. Those boys sure have got something on the ball!"

The Abilene Legion has a 5-acre plot on the main highway east of the city. Located on the site is a children's playground, a natatorium, a caretaker's cottage and the new club house—50 by 130 feet in size. The entire grounds is lighted by flood lamps.

The club house, constructed of native stone, includes a dance floor 35 by 81 feet which can be converted into a theatre with a stage at the north end; lounge rooms for men and women; banquet kitchen; lodge room and office. A patio, 12 by 88 feet, is on the east side facing an artificial lake and the swimming pool. A cove lighting system, with center ceiling construction of lumiline changeable lamps in four colors (red, green, yellow, and blue), extends the length of the building.

Ruck Sibley, chairman of the building committee and former post commander, said completion and gala opening of the club house on June 1 will culminate a drive begun 11 years ago by the Legion for a recreation park which might be opened to the public. Income from the swimming pool and dance facilities will be used to promote Paramore Post's "community service, child welfare and public safety" program.

The Post plans a three-day dedication program about June 1. A nationally famous rochestra will be secured for the event, Sibley said.

COOKING SCHOOL WILL BE HELD IN N. W. AUDITORIUM

Three-Day Affair To Bring Noted Food Specialist To Haskell

COOKING SCHOOL—A golden opportunity for mother to keep up with daughter, is to be offered in the Kitchen Chautauqua school to be conducted by Miss Jessie Hogue on May 6, 7, 8 at the North Ward School Auditorium.

For the "flapper daughter" knows much about the science of cookery and home economics than many of her circus spect elders, leading educators declare.

It is the belief of The Free Press that "this business of being a woman" should in truth be treated as a business. It is Miss Hogue's mission in life to teach women the fundamentals of homemaking and point out to them the new and more scientific ways of preparing foods into tempting dishes.

"The biggest single factor in health and happiness is food," says Miss Hogue. "Beginning in the seventh grade and continuing through high school and college, girls are taught the scientific planning of meals, perfectly balanced and attractive to the eye. This is done with the thought that such training is essential to those girls who expect to make a success of their home management."

The school of cookery will give the women of this city an opportunity of receiving first hand information from a recognized expert along these lines. Economy will be stressed in these lectures by the lecturer for she feels that the woman who can excel in the art of cookery and at the same time save something for the family budget is, after all, the true artist.

The lectures will be free and all women are invited to hear this series of illuminating talks and demonstrations at the Kitchen Chautauqua.

"Bringing Food Preservation Up-To-Date" Discussed at Hutto Club Meeting

We must have a proper diet with all the vitamins and to get these each family should have a garden to supply them, and proper planning of daily menus that include them, Miss Vaughan told those present of the Hutto Home Demonstration Club, Friday April 9th in the home of Mrs. Lucy Day, when she gave the program on "Bringing Food Preservation Up To Date."

She also stated that you can't eat enough of vitamins today to last you tomorrow. You must eat them every day.

In the summer months you can store and can enough vegetables so you can get these vitamins in the winter also. There are three methods of storing vegetables. For carrots: 1. Have a stone crock jar filled with soil, the depth of carrots. Put them in the soil and sprinkle with water. Cover with cloth and let the corners dip in a bucket of water.

(2) For any fall vegetable dig a trench as large as the amount of vegetables you have to store. Put in a section of vegetables. Cover with stalks and dirt. Comparing foods into trench filled and vegetables stored. Take out by the section.

3. Use a bushel basket—put in a weeks supply of vegetables and bury. Drying and freezing are a means of preserving foods.

We should have vitamins to prevent disease. Vitamin A is for growth and is the anti-infection vitamin. It effects the eye. Foods that are rich in vitamin A are the leafy, green and yellow vegetable. The brighter the color the more vitamin A there is present.

Vitamin B, the appetite vitamin keeps up interest in food and promotes good digestion. It is for muscle control. Muscle control is called Spastic Paralysis. A food rich in vitamin B is brown rice.

Vitamin C helps to build strong teeth and bones. Cavity of teeth can be filled by proper diet. Tomatoes (fresh or canned) provide an excellent source of vitamin C and also does raw cabbage, raw turnips and onions. It prevents scurvy. Carrots have A B and C vitamins. Vitamin D is the ricket preventing vitamins. It is essential to good bone formation. Vitamin G helps to keep us well at all ages and is a factor in preventing too early signs of old age.

mass movement seems to be in progress of formation in the section occupied by the church and a real ingathering can be expected to begin almost any day.

Rev. A. H. Muehlhard served as chairman of the committee on District Treasury and Statistics and Mr. W. H. Spiser was a member of the committee on Visitation and Investigation.

On concluding her program Miss Vaughan handed out several booklets on canning, gardening etc.

Miss Maude Newberry gave the council report.

Mrs. J. W. Carver's resignation as council delegate was accepted. Mrs. Ennis Carter was elected for council delegate for rest of the year.

Mr. J. W. Mannings was appointed as educational committee.

Each member is urged to have report of work done in expansion and educational ready at the next meeting.

The club will send a card of sympathy to Miss Alice Corral of Baird, Texas and Mrs. G. T. Williams in their bereavement in the death of their father.

The members of the club wish to extend their greatest thanks and appreciation for the help shown by the seven men and two not club members and six 4H club girls in beautifying the school grounds Saturday April 3.

A ten minute period of recreation was led by Mrs. B. H. Oliver. We were glad to have the following visitors, Miss Richards O'Brien, Mrs. J. C. McNelly and Mrs. J. E. Nance, Hutto.

The club adjourned to meet Friday April 23 in the home of Mrs. Ida Dozier with Mrs. R. R. Ray in charge of program on "Fly Control."

There were 13 members present.

Hutto H. D. Club Members Sponsor Beautifying Schoolgrounds

Fourteen No. 3 tubfuls of Bermuda grass were set out and two flower beds made, one on each side of the porch.

With the aid of Mr. Roy Howell's tractor the ground was soon broken and furrows made and the grass was soon set out, a task everyone was proud was over.

When the Hutto ladies turn out an out door dinner you can count on a "real dinner" which was greatly appreciated and enjoyed by those present for dinner.

Those making part in the work and fun were: Mr. and Mrs. Alva Smith (a non club member) Mr. and Mrs. Herndon and son, James, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Cummings, Mrs. J. E. Nance (a non-club member) Mrs. S. S. Dozier, Mrs. G. K. Lynch, Mrs. Ida Dozier.

WISCONSIN—101 YEARS OF AGE

The Territory of Wisconsin was established by Act of Congress 101 years ago today—on April 20, 1836. From a frontier wilderness, Wisconsin has advanced rapidly within the span of a century. Today the state is the largest producer of creamery products in the Union. Loyal legislators of that state have even gone so far as to place a prohibitive tax on butter substitutes using cotton seed oil, depriving Southern States of a portion of the market for this product. But aggressive Wisconsin still sells a sizeable quantity of cheese and butter in Southern States!

WHY NOT READ?

Intelligent students of the past ought to make dependable prophets of the future. Those who understand something of the experiences and thoughts of other individuals ought to be able to wisely plan their own lives.

The man or woman, living today, who wishes to understand the past has the key to its events and there is available complete stories of men and women of other ages. All that is necessary to make the past experience of the race your own is eyes to see and a mind to absorb what you read.

Books are valuable storehouses of information for thinking people but worthless unless the individual reads them and takes possession of their contents. Printing has made possible sources of intelligence that were not available in past ages and there is little excuse for the average person of this century to wander into ignorance.

To many people the Aztecs and the Incas live in a misty indefiniteness and the whole early history of this hemisphere is an unfavorable darkness. The same can be said for the early culture of the Egyptians, the Chinese and other ancient people. Even the Dark Age, with its blighting blast upon intelligence, is hardly comprehended by some of us today.

It certainly pays to read. Good books abound. The lives and thoughts of great men and women are yours for a few cents. The mystery is why doesn't the average person read more when there is so much to be gained. As for ourselves, we don't know the answer, do you?

WHAT THE WAR COST

What was the cost of American participation in the World War?

No estimate can include the disastrous economic debacle that followed the struggle but various attempts have been made, with fair accuracy, to determine the monetary cost to this country. It might be well to consider the sum involved.

For one and one half years of actual fighting the nation paid out $26,250,000,000 during a period that did not end until the signing of a peace treaty in 1921. Subsequently, in the next eleven years, the nation expended nearly $12,000,000,000 in peace time payments to the soldiers and sailors of the great struggle.

The end is not yet in sight. Death benefits, military and naval insurance, hospitalization, the bonus and vocational training continue to require a huge sum annually and the threat of a general service pension indicates vast payments for untold years.

There are other amounts to be included if they could be calculated. The post war loans that are in default and the interest that is unpaid aggregate more than twenty billions. The failure of this nation to adjust its debtor-nation policies to a creditor nation condition is blamed for the depression by sound thinkers but no one can gauge the loss involved.

FOR FARMERS

Farmers interested in making money, will probably be interested in hearing that the University of Notre Dame, at South Bend, Ind., recently sold thirty-six steers to a packing company for more than $8,000.

The steers, originally purchased in the Chicago feeder market, were fattened on one of the university's farms. Average weight was 1,397 pounds and the price $16.25 a hundredweight, the highest on the Chicago steer market in six years.

WHY LIVE LONGER?

New knowledge in the field of nutrition, according to specialists, can increase the average life span seven years and, in addition, ward off disease and secularity.

This will be good news to persons in Haskell who are yearning for long life and anxious to remain on the globe as long as possible. All that is necessary is to understand the nature of foods and the needs of the normal human body and govern your appetite accordingly.

The question arises, however, why measure life by length of years. Some citizens live longer in three years than their neighbors in ten and others accomplish as much in two years as their competitors in twelve. The years of one's life are valuable, it is true, but we might as well begin to make full use of those that we enjoy. In so doing we will, very probably, assure ourselves of others that we might not otherwise have.

LABOR MUST REGARD AGREEMENTS

Labor, if it is to retain public support, must learn to keep its agreements with employers.

As a general rule this has been done. Responsible labor leaders have not hesitated to exert pressure upon workers to carry out obligations. However, there is evidence that some of the sit-down strikes have been staged in disregard of expressed agreements and this is bad for workers, whether the violation comes from uncontrolled groups or not.

We do not hesitate to proclaim our sympathy with the aspiration of labor leaders to improve the condition of laborers generally but this does not mean a blanket endorsement of any methods accepted. Moreover, we can sympathize with the point made by Mr. Chrysler who argued that it was useless to make an agreement with a union that cannot control its members, and prevent them from unauthorized strikes.

Laborers should not fail to understand the logic behind this statement. It is unanswerable. The basis of negotiations with a union, whether C. I. O. or A. F. of L., is the power of union officials to speak for their members and to secure the execution of any pact that is made. It is distinctly to the interest of the workers to see that it is the case.

April 23, 1922—15 Years Ago

A property loss estimated at between twenty-five and thirty thousand dollars was sustained in one of the most disastrous conflagrations in Haskell in many years, when fire originating in the Cowart Hotel, a large two-story wooden building, destroyed the hotel and practically all the contents, as well as two adjoining buildings occupied by the Western Union Office and the office of T. C. Cahill.

One man sustained painful injuries and damage estimated at between $1,000 and $1,500 resulted from an explosion at the plant of the Haskell Ice & Light Co., in this city Friday afternoon. ## Scouts Should Pay Fee For National Jamboree at Once

Ed Shumway, Boy Scout Executive of the Chisholm Trail Council urges every Chisholm Trail Council Scout who contemplates attending the National Jamboree to register and send in his $1.00 National Jamboree Fee at once as all National Jamboree fees for Scouts and leaders must be in the Council office before May 1st.

The National Jamboree offers a great opportunity to every Scout of which there will be about 25,000. The Chisholm Trail Council has been honored in that Executive Shumway has been appointed Campfire Program Chairman for the Ninth Region, Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

During the great Pioneer Program which will be given in the arena at Washington, and while the camping and pioneering tents are going on a Troop will hold a large council fire. The fire will be lit and all the lights of the arena turned out. Then all of the Scouts in the arena will gather around the camp fire and will be led by Executive Shumway in the singing of "By The Blazing Council Fire Bright".

Approximately 2,500 Scouts from the Ninth Region, Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, will go to the National Jamboree on special trains, each train having three dining cars and special sleeping accommodations for the Scouts. Scouts and Scout Leaders today will never have another opportunity of attending a National Jamboree. The 1937 celebration is the first one ever contemplated in America during 26 years of Scouting, and the Chisholm Trail Council officials urge everyone to register at once.

Center Point H. D. Club

Marglobe tomatoes are best adapted to the soil in this section. Miss Mildred Vaughan, county H. D. Agent, told a group of club members in the home of Mrs. A. L. Bird Thursday April 1st.

The president, Mrs. W. T. Morgan was absent, and Mrs. T. P. Morgan presided.

After a brief business session Miss Vaughan gave a demonstration of the kinds of vegetables to plant for a balanced pantry. She also told of the effects of different vitamins. For better health, the menu should contain the proper vitamins needed.

Mrs. Bird was the honoree for birthday shower—but declined to state her age. After the many nice gifts were opened by the honoree and inspected by all, refreshments were served to the following visitors: Mrs. Jessie Land of Sayles; and Mrs. Chapman of Haskell; and members: Mesdames R. T. Jeter, J. F. Jeter, Hollis Haynes, H. D. Bland, W. Bland, Bill Pennington, Alvin Bird, T. M. Patterson, O. J. McIn, Alvin Corzine, T. P. Morgan, Miss Vaughan, and Mrs. A. Bird.

Texas, sometimes chided by her own economists for alleged prodigality in exportations of native raw materials and too few processing and manufacturing industries, nevertheless boasts one unique distinction in the latter field—the United States' only antimony smelter.

The big plant in Laredo of the Texas Mining and Smelting Co., established in 1930 and doubled in capacity in 1935, not only has put Texas on the antimony map, but has given the nation an industry theretofore missing and one that is a vital contribution to national defense, says a report of the All-South Development Council. Started during the depression, it has given substantial employment steadily since its inception, without taking away any employment elsewhere in the nation.

Antimony, a silver-white crystalline element used as a stiffener and hardener for lead alloys having many industrial, chemical and military uses, is not a Texas raw material, and in fact antimony-bearing ores are not found in commercially important quantities anywhere in the United States.

Yet the Laredo enterprise has been responsible for a radical and desirable change in the import situation in both ore and metal, the report says. Although China has long dominated the world market, the Texas smelter has looked to Mexico, and to a less degree Bolivia, for its ore. The result is that whereas China furnished 75 per cent of the United States requirement in the period 1913-30, in 1931-35 that figure dropped to 40 per cent, while imports from Mexico increased from 8 to 51 per cent, nearly all in ore, processed at Laredo.

From the standpoint of national defense, this shift in antimony supply is regarded as particularly important, improving the accessibility of both ore and metal from Pan-America instead of from across the Pacific, and making practical the utilization of certain small domestic stores of ore, principally in Idaho. The Laredo smelter, since 1931, has produced as much metal, lacking only 11 per cent, as has been imported during that time.

Storage battery plates, bearing metals, and type metal are the three biggest uses for antimony as lead alloy, taking 28, 18 and 12 per cent of the total, respectively. Its uses in ammunition and for cable coverings are vitally important, though not so large at present.

While this example of a Texas enterprise that dominates the processing rather than the raw materials producing field is somewhat paradoxical, the report points out that antimony, even as refined, is still an industrial ingredient rather than a finished product. Yet, as such, it joins forces with Texas oil and sulphur as major sinews of industry and national defense produced in the Lone Star state.

As oil contributes to the industrialization of the southwest with expending of refinery operations, and sulphur finds fore consumption in the growing heavy chemicals industries of Texas and Louisiana, so may Texas antimony find increasing uses in industries here, notably in the fast-growing auto storage battery industry.

District Court—

Grand Jury for questioning. No bills were voted in the first day's session.

Today has been set aside as appearance day, at which time approximately sixty cases on the court docket will be set for trial during the term.

In a number of instances, the criminal docket reveals that officers have been unable to locate the principals named in Grand Jury indictments. Listed among the offenses charged with defendants are theft over $50, forgery, forgery and passing forged instrument, embezzlement, and removing mortgaged property from the county. These indictments were returned several years ago, court records show.

Criminal docket will be taken up Monday April 26, and likely several new cases to be developed from Grand Jury investigation will be set for trial on that date.

Other cases already docketed for hearing on Monday include:

State vs. W. P. Marlin, disposing of mortgaged property.
State vs. J. T. Alexander, burglary.

State vs. Albert Alexander, burglary.

For the trial of criminal cases, a panel of thirty-six Petit Jurors has been instructed to report Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION HAS LARGE ATTENDANCE.

Estimated Crowd of 1,500 In Attendance at Sunday's Gathering

An estimated 1,500 singers from Haskell and several adjoining counties gathered here last Saturday night and Sunday for the second annual Haskell county singing convention, held in the auditorium of the First Christian Church.

An excellent program of singing was enjoyed during the Saturday night session, attended by several hundred persons.

The all-day session on Sunday, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning, was the highlight of the convention and drew an attendance which surpassed the building to capacity.

Arrangement of Sunday's program was in charge of a committee appointed by L. D. McCall, executive president, consisting of Manley Branch, Truman C. Smith and A. D. Lewis. Quarters for the night and meals were arranged on the program.

Registered for the convention were: James Taylor, Tinsamont, Kansas; Leo Fox and Knox, county.

At the noon hour a basket dinner was served, with visiting singers and the guests of Haskell county singers.

In a business session following close of the program, A. D. Lewis was elected president of the convention by the singing from Haskell.

McDonald of Haskell was elected president, and Taylor, Haskell, secretary-treasurer.

Haskell will again be host for the convention on May 1st, next year.

Miss Gayle Roberts, student in Haskell, spent the week end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam A. Roberts. She was accompanied by Miss Jean Hanson of Phoenix.

A Treat Which You Should Not Miss....

The Kitchen Chautauqua

Now and again some particularly fine feature or program of entertainment is available to you. It may be a lecture or a play, an "Uncle Tom's Cabin" show or grand opera.

One of the finest of such programs—and a feature that comes for your enjoyment but once a year—is the "Kitchen Chautauqua." The Kitchen Chautauqua is a cooking school—but what a cooking school.

Whether you're a bride of a month or a grandmother, you'll enjoy these sparkling programs with the age-old theme of cookery. There are many short cuts and many roads leading to culinary success and perfection—the Kitchen Chautauqua gathers them all up and shows them to you, right before your very eyes.

Every recipe and every kitchen suggestion that has a part in this cooking school—the theme of which is "the happy kitchen" has been tried and tested by a whole staff of practical housewives. Don't come expecting to see nothing but a batch of party dishes—they'll have their part, of course, but the main things you'll see and hear at the Kitchen Chautauqua will be the simple, easy, little workaday hints and time-savers that make cooking a real pleasure. And without these hints and time-savers, your three meals-a-day are likely to become a drudge.

Cooking can so easily be turned into romance—the thrill of discovery and the satisfaction of seeing a thing well done. Attend the Kitchen Chautauqua—then try the frying-pan recipe on the family's grouches!
