Uruguayan Girls Will Go to Bat

Demonstrating the "new" game she is taking back to Uruguayan girls, Miss Alcira Ibarburu explains to her mother the idea behind a baseball bat. After a year as a foreign exchange student at Texas State College for Women she plans to teach the girls in her country the sports and activities she learned over here. Her mother, who speaks no English, traveled twenty-eight days from their home in Montevideo, Uruguay, to see Alcira graduated.

Of interest to State safety experts, who study conditions surrounding collisions, was the comparatively small number of pedestrian deaths-36. This indicated, they pointed out, that drivers are proceeding more slowly and pedestrians are more careful when crossing at intersections. Also, persons walking along streets and highways proceed toward oncoming traffic and not with their backs to vehicles. Educational programs have proved the value of this practice to pedestrians.

The cotton harvesting machine, unlike the cotton picker, was fairly easy to construct. A large implement concern with generations of experience in building grain harvesters soon built a cotton harvester for Dr. Cameron. He quotes the company (John Deere) as estimating the per acre harvesting cost at 20 cents in large scale operations. The harvester would sell for about $1,500. It might be owned co-operatively.

Dr. Cameron's own work has been in the research laboratory developing practical processing methods and checkng up on uses for products derived from the whole cotton plant.

Now he feels that things are far enough along for some industrial firm to build an experimental plant.
