The assignments were made from A. W. Gilliland, trustee, and E. W. Marland, et al to the Marland-Drake Drilling Company, an Oklahoma City concern.

Neither Jews nor Arabs desire such a partition.

McMillin's opponent is to be determined by the winner of an Abilene match tonight, and they will be matched for a six-round affair.

Rider of the bicycle, Earl Smallwood, 16, explained that he did not see the couple, who were walking along the edge of the street. The accident happened about 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Grace was removed to her home and placed under care of a physician. On Monday she was removed to the Stamford sanitarium in a Jones Cox & Company ambulance. Hospital attendants stated that it would be several days before the break could be set.

Repairing Tanks Will Earn Payment In Range Program

Payment will be made for rebuilding old tanks in complying with the 1937 Range Program, according to a recent ruling received by county agent B. W. Chesser.

Many ranchmen in Haskell county will no doubt want to earn all or part of their range building allowance by building tanks either in a new or old site.

Several ranchmen have been inquiring as to how much payment they will receive where they use the practice of deferred grazing over a six-month period beginning last May 1. If the stock are kept off at least one fourth of his range acreage during this period the rancher will receive one third of his range building allowance. This is the maximum amount that he may earn by this practice. If deferred grazing is practice on less than one-fourth of the total acreage the payment will be based on the proportionate acreage.

Two New Members Elected To Rule School Faculty

J. Weldon Young of Paducah has been elected vocational agricultural teacher of the Rule High School, this department having been resumed after five years during which time it was discontinued because of the shortage of funds.

INFESTATION OF FLEA HOPPER IS FEARED IN AREA

Demonstration of Control Will Be Given At Spur Saturday

There seems to be a widespread outbreak of cotton flea hoppers over the Lower Plains Region of West Texas which threatens the prospects of the best cotton crop that the region has had since 1933. The insects appear to be much worse in some sections than others and even on the same farm there is a marked difference in the number to be found at different locations.

A demonstration of control will be given at Spur Saturday.

Mr. W. S. McGregor, who has spent five years in the research division of the A. and M. College studying the cotton flea hopper, has been at the Spur Station for the past week and reports, after making a survey of many of the counties below the Cap Rock, that there is a very heavy infestation of flea hoppers with prospects for a rapid increase. Mr. McGregor says after careful examination of cotton fields in this section, it is found that there are plants that are not fruiting properly, it is possible that further investigation will show evidence of flea hopper damage.

A demonstration will be held at the Spur Experiment Station on Saturday morning, July 24, in which the life history and habits of the insect will be discussed by authorities from College Station and demonstrations of dusting will be made by representatives of dusting machine companies and manufacturers of chemicals for the control of the flea hopper. Every one is invited to attend.

HASKELL GROUP GIVEN WELCOME AT FORT WORTH

Special Recognition Accorded Large Delegation On "Haskell Day"

Haskell's delegation to the Frontier Fiesta for the observance of "Haskell County Day" last Friday July 16th, returned from their trip to Fort Worth early Saturday morning, exceedingly tired, but carried away with the hearty reception and many courtesies extended the entire group by Fiesta officials and members of the city government.

Practically every business concern in Haskell was represented in the delegation, some forty of whom rode in two chartered buses, while several private cars carried other members of the group, who remained for a longer stay.

Dr. T. W. Williams, president of the Chamber of Commerce, Ralph Duncan, secretary, and Chesley Phelps, trip chairman, headed the delegation. Miss Ruth Welsh was Haskell sponsor, and was introduced from the stage of Casa Manana during Friday night's performance. She was given a hearty ovation by the large audience, and special recognition was given the Haskell group at the Fiesta, along with consequent newspaper publicity.

Several thousand copies of a folder carrying pictures and other data advertising Haskell and Haskell county were distributed during the stay in Fort Worth.

Officials of the Fort Worth show also extended Haskell an invitation for another special day during the Fall.

Conductor On WV Retires After 48 Years of Service

Frank Lindsey of Stamford, veteran trainman, can listen to the train whistles now without worry. He retired on pension July 1, after 48 years and 16 days service on the railroad, making his last trip as conductor on the Wichita Valley between Stamford and Wichita Falls on June 24. O. E. Wilson, who has been working on the run to Spur is taking Mr. Lindsey's place.

Mr. Lindsey started working on the railroad on June 8, 1889, when he was a 18-year-old youth. This work was on the Texas Pacific railway out of Longview. In 1903 he went to Tucson, Ariz., for the Southern Pacific railway and remained there for three years. He next went to Wichita Falls and worked on the Fort Worth and Denver until he came to Stamford in August, 1909, and started working on the Wichita Valley. He has worked here continuously since that time.

Continuances Are Granted In County Court On Monday

Several cases set for trial in County Court Monday were continued until the September term, upon motion of attorneys for defendants in several instances wherein it was announced that necessary witnesses were unable to be present.

All of the cases on the current criminal docket are for minor misdemeanor offenses, and very few civil cases have been filed.

Continuances of the cases Monday morning brought to an end the July term of County Court.

Earl Roberts, former meat market proprietor of this city, has accepted the position vacated by Mr. Curry.

FALL VARIES FROM ONE TO TWO INCHES OVER THIS COUNTY

Believe Ample Moisture Is Assured To Mature Feed Crops

Rainfall varying from one to two inches fell generally over Haskell county early Tuesday morning, assuring ample moisture needed badly by growing feed-stuffs and young cotton, and also filled tanks and reservoirs where stock water was becoming scarce.

Farmers in all sections of the county who had become discouraged during the past few days of prevailing hot winds and consequent damage to crops, were jubilant today over prospects brightened by the rainfall.

Some damage to barns and small buildings was caused by one of the worst windstorms in years which accompanied the first hard down-pour of rain about three o'clock this morning, but property loss was negligible.

Precipitation in Haskell amounted to an inch and one-half, according to Mrs. F. T. Sanders, government weather observer. In the Rochester section farmers estimated that two inches fell. Rule received an estimated one inch, and in a narrow strip a few miles east of Rule the fall was scant. At Weisert and Munday good rains were received, and precipitation in the east and southeast part of the county was about the same as in this immediate vicinity, according to farmers. In the Howard community John R. Watson, a leading farmer, estimated that an inch of rain fell.

Rain at Sagerton

Sagerton and that section, where rainfall has been light all this year, benefitted from an inch and one-half of moisture in Tuesday's downpour, according to Fritz Stegemoeller, who added that it was the first "good" rain there in eight or ten months.

DEFER ACTION ON ISSUING HOSPITAL BONDS 'TIL AUGUST

Commissioners Defer Matter Until August Session of Body

At the regular meeting of the Commissioners' Court Saturday, action was deferred until the August meeting of the officials, on the matter of issuing the $60,000 Hospital Bonds recently voted for the erection and equipping of a County Hospital.

County Judge Conner reported that he had conferred with state PWA officials in Fort Worth last week, and was assured that the county's application for a $45,000 grant to supplement the hospital bond issue was now awaiting approval of the national office in Washington.

Despite rumors to the contrary, no steps have been taken toward selection of a site for the hospital county officials stated.

GAS MASKS FOR ALL

The British government has decided to manufacture sufficient gas masks to supply the entire population if it "becomes necessary."

This, we submit, is one straw to show which way the winds of war are blowing.

The only defense against the bombing of cities and helpless civilian populations, in the next war, will be superior air strength available for the job.

Under the circumstances it might be well for the people of the United States to know what is going on in the world and not to beguile themselves with the idea that they are living in a world where aggression is dead and war an outside possibility.

PEACETIME DEATH ROLL

For something like 30 years a crusade for a "safe and sane Fourth" was carried on in this country. Wheat it started, each Independence Day celebration saw scores upon scores of people—usually children—killed or maimed by fireworks.

After many years, we did manage to learn to be careful with fireworks. If we can just learn to be careful in other ways, we may yet be able to celebrate our nation's birthday without rolling up a casualty list that looks like that of the Battle of Bull Run.

SNAP SHOTS

You've probably noticed that since women started voting candidates no longer refer to voters as the "plain people."

Successful people have the most ill-behaved children says a magazine writer. To the victor belongs the spoils.

A physician says that more people are having fits than formerly. Probably due to the survival of the fittest.

NORTH AMERICAN HARMONY

President Roosevelt undoubtedly voiced the general feeling of the people in the United States when he sent his congratulations to the people of the Dominion of Canada on the 70th birthday of their nationhood and remarked that both nations have "a common aspiration to maintain, to defend and to perpetuate the democratic form of constitutional representative government."

On both sides of the border people have come to realize that the friendly, harmonious relationship between the two countries is one of the brightest facts in a suspicion-weary world. The two countries grow and prosper together; they are populated by much the same sort of people, and they seek common goals. They have demonstrated that an international boundary line need not be a focal point for hatred or jealousy.

Mr. Roosevelt's message of greeting merely symbolizes the good feeling that exists between the two countries.

STEP TOWARD BIG NEWS

One of the most important events of 1937 from the standpoint of the well-being of the masses, may have been recorded modestly the other day when Dr. Edward Carl Rosenow of the Mayo Clinic announced that he had isolated the germ which causes infantile paralysis.

In itself, that may not mean much. Its significance lies in the fact that it paves the way for the development of a serum to cure or prevent this malady. It is the first step—and a long, promising one—toward conquest of one of the scourges of the human race.

It is sometimes hard to tell what the really "big news" of the day is. Our attention is engrossed with wars and rumors of wars, with strikes and statistics of recovery, and with similar momentous matters. But from the viewpoint of history, the biggest news of 1937 may well be the work of this unassuming scientist.

A PROSPERITY PROBLEM

The most exasperating fact in the path of the man who wants to raise prosperity by raising incomes and prices is the way in which such increases inevitably tend to cut down on the demand for goods.

A current bulletin from the Alexander Hamilton Institute points out, as an example, the way this is about to work out in the auto industry. All signs have been pointing toward a substantial increase in the demand for autos in the immediate future; but now a 10 per cent price advance is rumored, and if it comes, it may well offset the expected increase in demand.

Wages in the auto industry have come up 14.6 per cent since 1929. The price of steel, likewise, has risen by 13.4 per cent in the same period. Yet auto prices, far from having advanced are about 15 per cent under the 1929 level.

Some sort of increase looks almost inevitable; when it comes, how far will it go toward offsetting the "increased prosperity" which increase the wages and raw material prices were supposed to effect?

There's one class of people who have no trouble making money but get into plenty of trouble passing it.

Tolerant people concede the right of others to make fools of themselves.

The fellow who isn't going anywhere in particular is generally in the greatest hurry to get there.

Daylight saving would be all right if people didn't waste the hours it saves.

HEADLINES FROM THE LIVES OF PEOPLE LIKE YOURSELF!

"Howls in the Night"

By FLOYD GIBBONS
Famous Headline Hunter

HELLO everybody: You know, boys and girls, adventures just happen to most people. You're walking along the street, or maybe you're home in bed, tearing off a few hours' sleep.

You're doing something like that when all of a sudden—Zowie!—Old Lady Adventure lands on you like a ton of bricks, and you're on your way to your life's biggest thrill, and maybe your last one.

But there are some birds who go looking for their thrills, or at least get into them of their own free wills. And Walter Johnson is one of them. Walt was walking home from work when adventure called out to him.

He could answer that call or pass it up—just as he chose. Walt answered that call. He didn't have the heart to pass it up. And afterward he was glad that he did answer that call, for he gained a pal, even if he did almost break his neck to do it.

Some Four-Legged Friend Was in Trouble.
It was in 1930 when all that happened. Walt Johnson had a job working on a late shift that ended at 3 a. m.

One of those mornings, as he was walking home through dark streets, he heard a dog barking down the block. Walt could tell by the sound of those barks that the dog wasn't making all that racket just for the fun of it.

In between the barks he could hear mournful howls and as he came nearer, he could hear whining and whimpering—the pitiful cries a pooch lets out when he needs help and needs it bad. Almost unconsciously, Walt quickened his step. He loved dogs and he hated to see one in trouble. The barks and whimpers seemed to be coming from between two dilapidated houses half way down the block.

It was dark, but Walt always carried a flashlight with him. He got it out of his pocket, flashed it between the two buildings. A glance told him what the trouble was.

This Pooch Was Caught in Tight Spot.
The two houses were old and ramshackle—just about falling apart. The space between them was only a few inches wide at the bottom, but one house leaned away from the other so that, at the top, they were a couple of feet apart.

And there, between them, was the dog, halfway up the side, and wedged in between them so tightly that he couldn't move. Walt figures he must have fallen or been thrown from somewhere up above and become jammed in that V-shaped aperture when its sides narrowed down to a width that would no longer accommodate his body.

Walt couldn't believe a full-grown dog could be careless enough to fall into such a place. Some one must have thrown him in there. For a minute, Walt was wishing he could get his hands on the big dog who did it, and then he realized that that wasn't helping the dog any.

Walt Had to Do It, if Anyone Did.
"There was no one to help that poor animal but myself," Walt says. "I went around behind the two houses and saw that there was a stairway on one of them leading to a second-floor rear porch.

"Again I flashed my light in between the buildings. The walls of one of them were of old, crumbled brick, and there were places all the way up the side where bricks had fallen out, leaving empty spaces which would afford a foothold."

Walt climbed the stairs to the second floor porch. The steps creaked, and the porch swayed as he walked across it. The whole building was rickety and he knew he was taking a chance.

One Misstep and He'd Be Lost, Too.
It was slow work, and what's more, it was tough and ticklish work. Walt had to hold his flashlight in one hand, so he had only one hand to climb with. He was in a narrow opening that was getting narrower with every step he took. One misstep and down he'd go—down to the bottom of that V to be wedged in as the dog was. And making a misstep wouldn't be hard on those crumbling walls. Any brick he stepped on might give way under his weight and send him plunging downward.

Foot by foot—inches by inches—he made his way back up that wall. "It only took a matter of ten minutes," Walt says, "but it seemed like ten hours to me."

And when he finally reached the porch and got one leg safely across the rail—well—that was the time to heave a great big sigh of relief, and maybe you think Walt didn't do it.

Walt took the dog home with him, and for six years he was a pal and a pet to the man who had risked his neck to pull him out from between those two buildings.

'WAY BACK WHEN

GERTRUDE STEIN DROVE AN AMBULANCE

PERHAPS your brother or your father went over to France with the A. E. F. and saw a rattling old French ambulance jolting over the shell-torn roads with two women on the driver's seat. One, a husky, healthy woman with hair clipped short and heavy masculine shoes, was Gertrude Stein; the other, tall and angular and more feminine, was her secretary, Alice B. Toklas.

Gertrude Stein was born in Allegheny, Pa., in 1872. Much of her childhood, until she was five years old, was spent in Europe. Then her family moved to California, and she was raised in San Francisco and Oakland. After attending Radcliffe college, she went to medical school at Johns Hopkins. She settled in Paris in 1903, and the world may have lost a great surgeon as she abandoned the scalpel to carve out a career as an author.

She paid to have her first book printed, because no publisher would accept it. Wide recognition came to her with the publication of her book, "The Autobiography of Alice B. Toklas," in which she uses her secretary's life story as a means of praising her own accomplishments. There she asserts that her book, "The Making of Americans," is the greatest ever written.

Her motto, "A rose is a rose is a rose," and some of her sentences such as "Toasted Susie is my ice cream," or this one from her play, "Four Saints in Three Acts" (there were actually many more saints and there were four acts), "If a magpie in the sky on the sky cannot cry if the pigeon on the grass alas can alas and to pass the pigeon on the grass alas and the magpie on the sky on the sky and to try and to try alas on the grass alas the pigeon on the grass alas" have made many critics think that the strain of ambulance driving may have been too much for her.

Work on the Cahill building being erected on Depot street just east of the square was started last week, the foundation being finished but work has been delayed this week on account of materials failing to arrive.

Plans are well under way for the construction of a cotton compress at Rule. An Oklahoma firm will build the compress, and the site has been purchased from Carl Cochran of Rule.

According to H. J. Hambleton, superintendent of the City Water Works, work on the sewer extension to the north part of the city will be started within a few days.

Fire Tuesday evening destroyed a seven-room house west of the square, occupied by W. M. Swift and family. The flames threatened to spread to the Farmers Gin nearby, but efforts of the fire department confined the blaze to the residence property, which was a total loss.

The families of John R. Oates, J. E. Bernard, W. H. Murchison and Misses Docie Winn and Miss Bell of Bastrop and Messrs. Oscar Oates and Emory Meneffee enjoyed an outing on California Creek over the week-end.

Miss Fannie Baldwin left Sunday night for Houston where she has accepted a position in the Federal Reserve Bank.

Mrs. John Couch and daughter Maurine left Monday for an extended visit in Colorado.

July 21, 1927
Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, America's ace flyer, will be in Abilene on or about September 26. Sponsors from a number of West Texas towns will take part in ceremonies welcoming the intrepid flyer, and Miss Lela Welsh of this city will represent Haskell on this occasion.

Dr. J. D. Smith has won the distinction of being the first player to shoot a hole-in-one on the Haskell golf links. The usual accomplishment occurred Tuesday afternoon on hole No. 1. Mr. Smith driving a distance of 225 yards. He and F. L. Daugherty had played nine holes and had started around again when the phenomenal shot was made from No. 1 tee.

Tests Show That Many Motorists Easily Blinded

Possibly 10 per cent of motorists suffer from "night blindness," due to an absence of a dark purple liquid, notwithstanding that their eyes are perfect in daylight.

This was indicated by a new optical test shown to the American Medical Association last week, which will enable doctors to measure the fluid, known as visual purple, essentially vitamin A.

It flows from the nerve endings in the eye known as rods. Only these rods can "see" in dim light.

Night blindness, until the new optical test was perfected a few weeks ago, was supposed to be confined mostly to people on very poor diets, who ate almost no vitamin A. It was common in Russia during the war.

Medical men did not dream that the same blindness could affect large numbers of Americans who ate perfectly adequate food.

Seeing in either daytime or bright light is done with a different set of nerves known as cones. They have none of the dark fluid. While the yare work the purple fluid washes out the rods. Without it the rods can not see.

That is one reason why a person going into a dark theatre does not see for a few seconds. He sees as soon as the purple flows again.

While using the new optical test to discover whether certain diseases were due to lack of vitamin A, William J. Erickson, M. D., and Jacob B. Feldman, M. D., of Philadelphia found many persons in whom the flow of purple liquid is long retarded.

These persons are blind or partly blind for long periods. Good daylight vision seems to be no index of the purple stuff.

The physicians said that some illnesses leave people temporarily blind. An acute sinus or gripe attack may do this temporarily. Persons so far tested during jaundice have been 100 per cent night blind.

They suggested that drivers of cars submit to tests for adequate purple night liquid. Federal, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, they stated, have asked for the new instruments as soon as they can be built. At present there are only two.

Ten Rules Given For Living Until Old Age Arrives

Ten rules are given by Hygeia on how to live 100 years. If you have ambitions for becoming an octogenarian or some other old-age disciple, here are the rules:

- 1.—Breathe fresh air, both day and night.
- 2.—Exercise your larger muscles regularly every day.
- 3.—Look on overfatigue as your enemy, and on rest as your friend. Take at least eight hours of sleep. (The voice of dislod says one should turn off the radio at 10.)
- 4.—Drink plenty of water at meals and also between meals.
- 5.—Eat temperately partaking of vegetables and fruit for "roughage" and health's sake, and sparingly of meat and sugar. Avoid overweight.
- 6.—Have regular bowel habits.
- 7.—Avoid infection from both outside and inside sources. Make a thorough recovery from colds and sore throat.
- 8.—Wash your hands before eating. (This and the teeth are to be cleaned night and morning is taken for granted.)
- 9.—Think wholesome thoughts. Face unpleasant situations frankly and sensibly, and don't worry. Keep your play spirit.
- 10.—Have a health examination by your physician each year; ask his advice and follow it.

Thinning Hordes of Grasshoppers Inflicting Harm

The every prevailing destructive grasshoppers are thinning out in some places, but are still doing some damage, according to reports received by the County Agent's office from farmers in Haskell county. Several producers have reported that happens are eating small squares off their cotton that was not noticed until they examined it closely.

Other producers are still poisoning even though the hoppers are apparently not bothering them much now. They are doing this to prevent the pests from doing further damage and to keep them from laying eggs for a next year's crop. Mr. H. T. Gable, assistant in state grasshopper control work, says that normally after a year of heavy infestation parasites become so abundant that they destroy the hopper, but this year these parasites as yet have not made their appearance.

County Agent B. W. Chesser says that plenty of government brand and poison is still available for those who need it.
