Foursquare To Host Weekend Celebration

Pastor Stuart Miller of the Knox City Foursquare Church announces a Weekend Celebration of Praise with the White-Lightning Gospel Singers and the Living Praise Singers starting Saturday night, December 8. The White-Lightning Singers are an evangelistic association from northeast Oklahoma made up of two anointed couples who minister the gifts of the Spirit along with their accomplished musical talent, Miller said. They will be ministering both at 7:00 p.m. December 8, and 10:30 a.m. on Sunday morning, December 9.

The thirty-member Living Praise Singers will be ministering at 7:00 o'clock Sunday evening. Living Praise is a group of students from the interdenominational Christ For the Nations Institute in Dallas that is comprised of students having more than a dozen denominational affiliations and backgrounds. These young people come from all over the United States, Canada, and Europe. The group will share in song, testimony, and personal ministry with emphasis given to praise, worship, and the Word, under the guidance of the Holy Spirit. Living Praise has produced a number of records and is internationally known. The group has ministered across the entire continental United States and has carried the Gospel to many countries in Africa and Europe. Prayer for the sick will be offered in all services and absolutely everyone is welcome to attend these free services, Miller said.

Officials from both city and county governments were in Abilene Friday night for the annual banquet of the West Central Texas Council of Governments.

The event was held in McGlothlin Campus Center at Abilene Christian University, where House speaker Bill Clayton was guest speaker.

Representing the City of Knox City were Mayor A.T. Holcomb, city manager Faye Railsback, councilwoman Cornie King, and Lillian Logan, coordinator for Knox County Area on Aging.

County representatives included Judge and Mrs. Homer T. Melton and County Commissioner and Mrs. Billy Gene Johnston.

Members of the WCTCOG, which is comprised of 19 counties, elected 1980 officers and reviewed projects and activities for 1980.

Deering Baby Has Close Call

Traci Deering, 21-month old daughter of former Knox City residents Mr. and Mrs. Lowery Deering of Olney, had a very close call last weekend when she swallowed an undetermined amount of her older sister's tiny red pills.

According to her grandmother, Elaine Lewis of Knox City, four year old Amy and Traci were in the bathroom about 5:30 p.m. at their parents' home in Olney, when Traci poured herself a handful of pills, which resembled red hots. Her mother heard her gag as she was attempting to swallow them and rushed her to the Olney hospital. Mrs. Lewis said Traci was at the Olney hospital about 45 minutes while they were in constant touch with the Poison Control Center in Fort Worth, and the contact continued as she was rushed by ambulance to the Children's Hospital in Dallas.

The baby's mother accompanied her in the ambulance, and Mrs. Lewis accompanied her son-in-law in a patrol car. Lowery is a state trooper with the Texas Department of Public Safety, stationed in Olney.

Traci remained in the hospital's ICU until Monday when she was able to return home. Mrs. Lewis reported that she is doing well, but will be under the supervision of her doctor for a while longer. Sterling Lewis of Knox City is grandfather of the children.

Sad -- But True!

Even though officials held little hope, it was still sad to receive the news last week that Knox City's railway station would be closed.

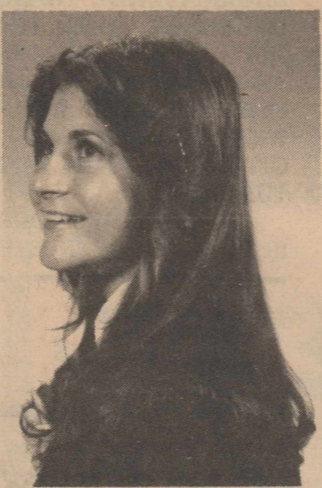

The Texas Railroad Commission has authorized the closing of the local station for the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway.

Business previously handled at the Knox City station will be conducted through the Santa Fe station at Rule in the future.

In approving the Santa Fe application, Chairman John H. Poerner and Commissioners James E. Nugent and Mack Wallace also authorized Santa Fe to dismantle or sell the depot building.

Approval of the Santa Fe application was recommended by Transportation Division Hearings Examiner James O. Houchins.

(Editor's note: Readers should read the Letter to the Editor in this week's News from Jim Hightower, who is a candidate for the Railroad Commission. It's as we've said before, those of us in the rural areas need to support those who are sympathetic to our needs and feelings.)

CITY OF BENJAMIN CUSTOMER NOTIFICATION HIGH NITRATE

The City of Benjamin has been notified by the Texas Department of Health that the water being supplied by our system exceeds the maximum constituent level for Nitrate specified by the Department's "Drinking Water Standards" which were promulgated as required by the "Safe Drinking Water Act"; Public Law 93-523.

The limit is set at 10 milligrams of Nitrate (as nitrogen) per liter of water. The amount of Nitrate (as Nitrogen) in the water we supply was reported to be 10-7 milligrams per liter.

Adults and children over the age of six months need not be concerned about drinking water from the tap. An excess Nitrate intake by an infant under the age of six months may reduce its available oxygen supply and possibly produce "blue baby" symptoms. Parents are advised to find other sources of drinking water, such as bottled water, for their infants under six months of age. All doctors and hospitals in the area have been notified of this situation.

CAUTION: DO NOT BOIL YOUR WATER.

Boiling the water will increase the concentration of Nitrate.

The City of Benjamin has applied to the Texas Department of Health for an exemption from the Nitrate requirement while we search for alternate sources of supply and investigate available treatment techniques which would lower the Nitrate to an acceptable level. In the meantime, please follow the precautions mentioned.

O'Brien Happenings

By CHARLENE BROTHERS

Have you ever gotten ready to do a newspaper column and been as blank as the paper in front of you? I am this morning, Tuesday, December 4, and need to have it to the paper before lunch. Of course I am nearly always blank, so I guess this morning is nothing new.

We had our share of accidents at the gin this past week. Two ginners received small injuries, Ray Lerma got a piece of metal in his eye as he was cutting with the torch above his head, Howard Clower from Mississippi got a small bone broken in his hand, and the plant supt., J.O. Brothers, got a finger nearly cut off, the end of it. All of them could have been worse, but still if people would listen to orders and take more care, then they could have been avoided completely. A gin is one place there should be no foolishness going at all, things can happen much too quickly.

You know it is nearly Christmas and as usual I have not gotten much shopping done. Last year I think I had it nearly all finished by this time, now I have only started. So if you usually get something from us and do not this time, you will know why. I have been lazy and busy.

Haskell County school districts and cities, the county commissioners have elected the five men for the appraisal board that will come into effect on January 1, 1982.

The five men will begin their work after January 1, 1980. They will have to hire a chief appraiser and office help for the office to be. This is not going to be a small job, at the beginning, but hopefully it will become easier as the time goes by. The men elected were Manford Reid, Delbert LeFevre, Pat Hale, Billy Middlebrook, and Don Griffis. They represent the county at all corners and in the middle. I do not know all of the men, have heard of them, but some of the ones to whom I have talked will do a good job, I believe. Of course when the Legislative members meet next year they may make so many changes in the new law that we will not recognize it as it is written now. If they would leave each county alone, I believe they could make this central office work very well. At least we will not have the problem of trying to explain to some of the people why the school value and the city value are not the same, as all taxing

Stockton Rites Held Tuesday

Funeral services for T.L. Stockton of O'Brien were held Tuesday afternoon, December 4, at four o'clock in the First Baptist Church in O'Brien with the Rev. Bill Trice, church pastor, officiating. Burial was in the Rochester Cemetery under the direction of Smith Funeral Home.

Mr. Stockton, 59, died Monday, December 3, at 6:40 a.m. in Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene after an illness of several months.

O'Brien Woman's Kin Is Battling Cancer

Under ordinary circumstances, Louis Escobedo of Amarillo, nephew of Mrs. Juan Garcia of O'Brien, would have most of his life ahead of him. But this Christmas, at age 25, he is fighting his second battle with metastatic cancer.

Louis, who has a wife and two small children, is undergoing chemotherapy at M.D. Anderson Hospital in Houston. Medical bills already are staggering with no end in sight.

Added to the medical expense of cancer treatments is the cost of his wife's stay in Houston. Louis's doctors have asked her to stay with her husband, since her presence seems therapeutic.

The employment status of both Louis and his wife compounds their financial problems. Mr. Escobedo's sick leave was used up long ago. Mrs. Escobedo has a job, but she is on leave of absence in order to stay with her husband.

Mrs. Escobedo's trips home add still another financial burden. She has had to make trips between Amarillo and Houston to spend time with their five-year-old daughter, who has suffered emotional distress because of the absence of her parents.

Both the daughter and her six-month-old brother stay with their grandparents while their parents are out of town.

The grandparents will see that Santa visits the family this Christmas. But with no income in the family, house payments have become an insurmountable problem. It will take $338 to catch up on the payments.

Readers who would like to help may do so by contributing any amount to The Empty Stocking Fund. Only cash, checks or money orders made payable to The Empty Stocking Fund will be accepted.

Contributions may be mailed to the fund at the Amarillo Globe-News, P.O. Box 2091, Amarillo, Texas 79166.

Born September 27, 1939, in Knox City, he attended Knox City schools.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Blankenship of Iowa Park; two sons, Jimmy Don Jr. and Robert, both of Lubbock; one daughter, Amy Celes Blankenship, also of Lubbock; and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. J.M. Young Sr. of Vernon.

"The Book Report"

CHRISTMAS-GIVING FUN STARTS WITH PLAN

Christmas-giving fun starts with a plan - and the receiver in mind. Ideas range from "things" to a gift of love, the greatest gift of all.

Start by knowing the needs and interests of receivers, although that isn't always possible if families and friends live very far apart.

Young children respond more to toys, games and active-play items than they do to clothing. Make sure these choices fit the child's age level or developmental level. If a child needs clothing, however, then clothing would be best even though his face probably will not show much pleasure.

Pre-teens and teens like different, new "fad" items - T-shirts, belts, sports items denoting their favorite team or school colors - and money.

Adults usually like something they won't buy for themselves - a collectible, addition to a hobby, specific clothing item, or something sentimental or handmade just for them. Also, consider personality in deciding on practical or frivolous gifts. Stumped gift-givers will find that most adults appreciate a gift of money.

Older adults often need essentials - rather than frivolous "dust catchers."

Ideas for oldsters include easy-care clothing and easy-on, easy-off clothing, gift certificates for cafeteria meals or money for shoes, hair care and hair cuts. Also, they appreciate gifts of love and promises to help - mow the yard, paint the porch, cook a Saturday or Sunday meal. Labor-love gifts are especially important between grandchildren and their grandparents. Gifts of love are affordable - all they need is you.

Once you know the receivers' needs, remember several shopping guidelines: *Buy affordable gifts. Don't go over your budget with status symbols.

*Make sure gifts are returnable - if color, size, fit or space are important.

*Consider wrapping and mailing requirements before you buy.

*Buy early in the day and in the year to avoid Christmas crowds.

HOLIDAY GIFTS THAT SAVE RESOURCES, CELEBRATE LIFE

Consider holiday gifts that save resources and celebrate life. After you've made your list of receivers and given thought to their ages, "likes" and needs, let "Consume with Care" be your watchword for the 1979 season, says Sharon Book, assistant county Extension agent.

Here are some of her ideas for this kind of gift-giving:

Give a gift of energy - your own. Visit an elderly friend or babysit for a young mother so many times during 1980. Or volunteer your time and talents to a community agency that needs help.

Make your own gifts, such as children's stuffed toys, doll clothes, wooden blocks, knitted or crocheted items, baked goods or jams and jellies. Or give a plant that you grew from a cutting.

In buying, select items discriminately. Ask yourself if it's useful - will it be used? Is it made of durable materials? Can it be recycled, repaired or reused in the future?

In addition, save resources in other ways. Use last year's wrapping paper and ribbons or the comics from Sunday newspapers or butcher paper decorated with potato block prints or finger painting. Or use leftover fabrics cut with pinking shears. Decorate with pine cones, acorns and other natural materials.

For the tree, buy a live tree and plant it later.

Gifts that save resources and celebrate life will reflect the giving spirit year after year, Sharon said.

Hand Quilting

Not the lost art some people believe, hand quilting can be fun and fulfilling.

Till Christmas!

Welcome Home

Jack, JoAnn, Jackie & Jamie!

Quilting can be quite fun. It's easier if you do it toward yourself.

The basic technique is to use an even, running stitch that is short and closely spaced so as to give the illusion of an unbroken line. Though white thread is the usual choice, a color that matches or contrasts with the fabric can also be used. The stitches should be fine (about 12 to the inch) and even on top and back. You will find stitching easier and more natural if you keep your project slightly less than drumtight on form or hoop and if you start an arm's length away and quilt toward yourself.

According to the experts at Reader's Digest, which recently published the Complete Guide to Needlework, a helpfully illustrated 504-page book, available at bookstores, that makes a great gift for both beginners and old hands at all kinds of handiwork, you can increase your quilting speed by picking up several stitches on the needle before pushing it through; this will be easier as you develop a rhythm in your stitching.

These easy-to-grasp instructions should help you make handsome quilts by hand.

STREAMS IN DESERT PLACES

By OZELLE STEPHENS

"He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son." (Rev. 21:7)

When we look around us today, our hearts are filled with love and concern for the leaders of our world; we are also burdened and cry out to our God for His help, the kind that John tells us about in Revelations. In many scriptures we have been warned to be prepared for such times. He also tells us how to be ready. We find it all in the Bible.

As a child of God, we will be led by a kind and loving Father, who will give us the strength we need to fulfill His commands. He will give us the power to overcome all obstacles, however insurmountable they may seem. Then life will flow toward us and every event of our life will fall into the pattern which God has designed for us. As a child trustfully places his hand in that of his father, so we should trustfully place our hand in God's. He is our Hope, steadfast and sure.

So let us give Thanks unto the Lord; for He is good; for his mercy endureth forever.

Delta Kappa Gamma Enjoys Yule Meeting

The Beta Chi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma met Saturday, December 1, in the homemaking department of Munday High School with members of Goree and Munday as hostesses.

As members arrived, they signed Christmas letters with the poem "Just Me" by Margaret Hillert printed on them. At the beginning of the meeting, each one was given the Christmas letter which had been autographed by her Beta Chi sisters.

President LaRue Reeves called the meeting to order and led the group in the reading of the collect.

Ann Therwhanger gave a life sketch of Christina Rossetti, the author of the song, "Love Came Down at Christmas". With the music of the song playing in the background, Ann read the words of the song.

The program was under the direction of the World Fellowship Committee. "Let There Be Peace on Earth" was presented by Margie Lott. She pointed out, "If we would dare to be ourselves, try to help others, transmit our values to others, and give of ourselves to others, we could play an important part in establishing peace on earth."

Retired Teachers Hear Mrs. Smith

The Knox County Retired Teachers Association met Tuesday, November 27, at 2:30 p.m. in the Community Center where they enjoyed a book review by Mrs. Mary Beth Smith.

President Hazel Long introduced Mrs. Smith who reviewed the book, "Shepherd of the Hills". Setting for the book was Bronson, Missouri, in the Ozarks.

During a recent vacation trip, Mrs. Smith and her husband, Z.I., included the "Shepherd of the Hills" country in their travels, and her account of their experiences in the interesting section of the country provided a fitting background for her story. "Shepherd of the Hills" was the fourth most popular book that had ever been published. Published in 1902, it was written by Harold Bell Wright, who was a preacher. The book tells a true story, and Mrs. Smith presented an excellent interpretation of the author's writing, members reported. She left those present with a fixed desire to reread the book, they said.

Hostesses Louise Finley, Wretha Fitzgerald, and Mary Groves served individual pumpkin pies topped with whipped cream, pumpkin bread, toasted almonds and pecans, cheese balls, tea and coffee to Betty Taylor, Sammie Carpenter, Vivian Brown, Idoma Chowning, Mauryse Stone, Euris Reed, Jewell Lea, Mary Beth Smith, Mabel Pyeatt, Mary Jo Lankford, Sudia Cash, Hazel Long, Ila Boyd, and Lillian Logan.

The next meeting will be the Christmas meeting on December 18 at 2:30 p.m. in the Community Center with Thelma Jamison, Mary Jo Lankford, and Jewell Lea as hostesses. Members voted to have a Christmas program with the traditional Christmas tree and exchange of gifts.

NEW COOKBOOK OFFERS BEST RECIPES OF 100 YEARS

"Eventually — Why Not Now?" was the long-running advertising slogan launched by the Washburn Crosby Company in 1907 for Gold Medal® Flour. Back then, it was thought by most in the milling industry to be a sheer waste of good money to advertise flour. However, as late as the early 1950's, "Eventually — Why Not Now?" was still appearing nearly everywhere — printed advertisements, billboards, company trucks, train cars and flour bags.

The company today is General Mills but its Gold Medal flour is in its 100th year and has been America's largest selling flour for decades. In celebrating a century of baking success, Gold Medal flour has had a long history of events all based on the goal of consumer service.

It was at the first Millers' International Exhibition in 1880 where Washburn Crosby Company won the gold medal award for its Superlative Flour. The Gold Medal trademark adopted that same year reflected the honor as the best flour shown at the Exhibition.

In that same year, the company offered its customers a cookbook for the first time. As the story goes, a company executive and his wife had been traveling on the East Coast and had bought a large quantity of Miss Parloa's New Cook Book. Washburn Crosby imprinted its own identification on the cookbooks.

A string of popular flour cookbooks were to follow until 1925 when they were replaced by the Gold Medal Flour Home Service Recipe Book. In the 10 years it was available, more than 350,000 of these little oak recipe boxes — filled with recipes — were distributed.

Meanwhile, General Mills, Inc., was founded in 1928 by combining mills throughout the country. The recipes of that time were aimed at pleasing a husband's palate. A typical ad headline was "One Way of Getting a Husband to Stay at Home."

Recipes with a more serious nature were featured during World War II when many homemakers took jobs outside the home. Advance preparation and time-saving features were popular, such as recipes for refrigerator cookies (also called icebox or overnight cookies) and Busy Day Cake. Many recipes made the most of rationed or scarce foods. Some recipes were butterless and eggless; others were easy on the shortening and sugar, such as Shortening-Saver Pie (made with only a top crust).

It was during this time that Betty Crocker was voted one of America's "best known women," second only to Eleanor Roosevelt. And it was Gold Medal flour that had a major part in the creation of the company's "First Lady of Food" in 1921. A flour advertisement had carried a picture puzzle contest which turned out to be so easy that 30,000 people responded with correct solutions, and with an avalanche of mail requesting recipes and baking advice. Company officials decided the responses should be signed with a woman's name — Betty Crocker!

The first company home economist was hired in the same year that the Betty Crocker name was created. She tested recipes for Gold Medal ads in a small kitchen wedged between the chemistry laboratory and the bakery. One year later, a nationwide campaign to promote the flour through cooking schools for women's clubs led to a greater demand for recipes and the beginnings of the Betty Crocker Kitchens.

Over the years, a number of innovations have been associated with Gold Medal... the one-bowl cake-making method, a new way to make pastry using liquid shortening, a flour formulated especially for baking bread — called Better for Bread™, chiffon cake and pre-sifted flour.

During this centennial year of Gold Medal history, today's consumers can celebrate with the best recipes of 100 years available in the new Gold Medal Century of Success Cookbook. This historic cookbook contains 110 recipes and 30 variations in five sections: Breads, Cookies, Main Dishes, Desserts and Holidays. There is a full-color photograph of every recipe, and step-by-step photographs of selected recipes. All recipes have been adapted, tested and approved for today's ingredients and cooking equipment by the Betty Crocker Kitchens. Consumers can find the details for ordering a Gold Medal Century of Success Cookbook on Gold Medal flour sacks, five pounds or larger.

The following recipe for "Sally Lunn" from the new cookbook has appeared in many cookbooks beginning with the Gold Medal Flour Cook Book of the early 1900's. A popular tea bread in Colonial America, Sally Lunn was originally a bun made in a bake shop of Bath, England. Some say the bread was named for Sally Lunn, who worked in the shop.

SALLY LUNN

- 2 packages active dry yeast
- 1/2 cup warm water (105 to 115°)
- 1 1/2 cups lukewarm milk (scalded then cooled)
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 2 eggs
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 5 1/2 cups Gold Medal® all-purpose flour*

Dissolve yeast in warm water in large mixing bowl. Stir in remaining ingredients. Beat until smooth. Cover; let rise in warm place until double, about 1 hour.

Stir down batter by beating about 25 strokes. Spread in greased tube pan, 10x4 inches. Let rise to within 1 inch of top of pan, about 45 minutes.

Heat oven to 350°. Bake until loaf is golden brown and crusty, 45 to 50 minutes. Remove from pan; serve warm. 16 servings.

*If using self-rising flour, omit salt.

Stenholm Appointed To Small Business Committee

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Charles W. Stenholm was approved Thursday, November 29, by the Democratic Policy and Steering Committee for membership on the Small Business Committee of the U.S. House of Representatives.

Stenholm's appointment to the committee must still be confirmed by the full Democratic Caucus, which is currently scheduled to meet December 12.

Stenholm, who has served as a member of the House Agriculture Committee and the Post Office and Civil Service Committee since coming to Congress in January, said the Small Business Committee had originally been his second choice selection.

"Due to the importance of agriculture in the 17th District, the Ag Committee was my first selection," Stenholm said. "But, as a predominantly rural area with over 8,000 small businesses and over 12,000 farms, I have always felt that I could make a real contribution to the Small Business Committee. The Small Business Administration, which makes operating loans to both businesses and farms, is administered by the Committee."

All legislation regarding the welfare of small businesses and their participation in Federal programs and contracts is referred to this committee prior to full House consideration.

Stenholm would be filling a position vacated by Congressman Marty Russo of Illinois, who has stepped down to become a member of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Mrs. Billye Angle, Editor
Knox County News
P.O. Box 7
Knox City, Texas 79529

Dear Editor Angle,

A copy of your October 18 editorial on the Railroad Commission's order closing the Knox City depot has come to my attention, and I was extremely sorry to learn that the commissioners ruled against the people of Knox County.

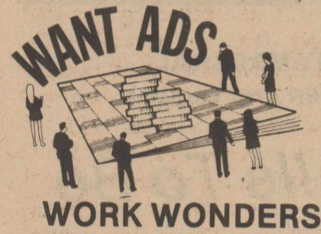

As you know, I studied the Knox City case against the Santa Fe depot closing earlier this year while I was editor of The Texas Observer, and if ever a depot should have been kept open, this was it. It was a money-maker for the Railway, and it clearly had the support of the community.

But I was not surprised by the commissioners' action. Years ago, this powerful agency was created to be a public lapdog of the very industries it is supposed to regulate. The commissioners even get their campaign funds from the companies they "regulate" — for example, all three incumbent commissioners have accepted campaign contributions from railway corporations.

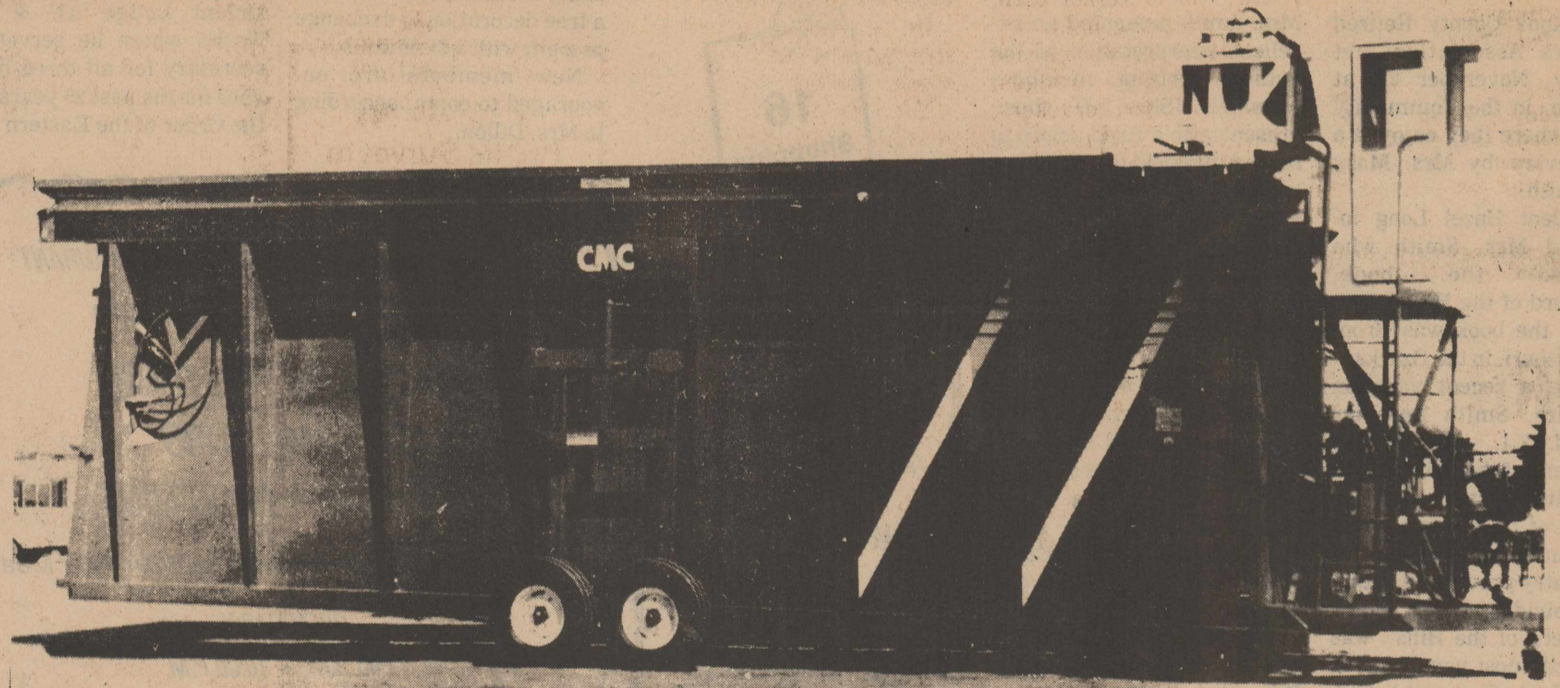

This kind of conflict-of-interest is the reason that plain citizens are being railroaded in Austin, and it won't get better until we replace the incumbents with independent commissioners who owe nothing to the corporations. That's why I'm running and why I refuse to take any money from companies regulated by the Commission.

Best regards,
/s/ Jim Hightower

1945-1962 Nuclear Test Personnel Sought

The U.S. Department of Defense has been trying for more than a year to identify former military and civilian Defense personnel who participated in the atmospheric nuclear tests conducted from 1945 to 1962, according to Allen Lowrey, the Defense Nuclear Agency's Executive Agent for this program.

If readers participated in these tests, which were held largely in Nevada and at Bikini and Eniwetok atolls in the Pacific, they are urged to contact the Defense Nuclear Agency if they have not already done so. The Agency is attempting to reconstruct a complete history of the atmospheric nuclear test program, including names of participants and any radiation doses they received. One of the purposes of this effort is to enable the National Academy of Sciences and other scientific organizations to determine if there are health hazards resulting from participation in the tests.

Based upon research to date, it is believed that radiation exposures were low. While medical science has no proof that exposure to radiation levels as low as these is hazardous to health, it is generally assumed by scientists that even low levels can carry some slight risks. There is, however, some disagreement within the scientific community about the magnitude of this risk.

If readers were a participant in the atmospheric nuclear tests program, and they have not already done so, they are urged to contact the Defense Nuclear Agency at toll-free number 800-336-3068 if they reside in Texas. If they prefer to write, they should address their letter to Defense Nuclear Agency, Washington, D.C. 20305.

If readers are concerned that their possible exposure may have adversely affected their health, they are urged either to consult their private doctor or, if they are a veteran, they should contact the nearest Veterans Administration medical center, where they can obtain a physical examination at Government expense.

THE KENNEL

ONLY THE SIGN KNOWS

By Gerri and Kelly Watson
I'm a familiar sight around Knox City. You all think I'm a sign in front of Allsup's parking lot with no feelings. But I see you all on the drag every night - all you students in your different cars cruising around; up and down, back and forth over the same old pavement. It's really an experience.

For instance, there is always a small blue Mustang on the drag during football season. Within its doors are several football players who live it up until curfew. Robert, Sammy and Kenny drive around waving out the windows and causing general trouble until the set time when they must be home (or do they go home?!).

Angelia, Mindy, and Missy look terribly forlorn when they drive by me until their boyfriends come home. Troy comes rolling by and Angelia cheers up. A blue and silver Caprice Classic arrives in town, and Mindy comes running to meet Skipper. Whizzing down Main comes a blue and white Cutlass and Missy is content sitting by Bill. Even then they don't drive by me very often. I wish I could see over that hill in the park.

An old yellow Chevrolet with a CB aerial is often seen at the front of all the cars. Around and around it goes with several girls inside; the horn never stops. They honk at EVERYONE. The only thing I can figure out is that it's stuck.

Then there are the couples that I see regularly on the drag. They are in a white T-Bird, silver Chevrolet pickup with red curtains, brown four-door Chevrolet with a very loud muffler, a red Ford pickup, and a silver Cougar. I know there are two people in each car but it looks like there's only one driver. Cars these days must be awfully hard to drive.

When night falls darkly across the town, the headlights glare through the darkness. The police car then goes into action and checks the cars parked around me. Suddenly everyone begins to leave for home. In the process of preparing to go home, they throw certain kinds of bottles at me. I always try to dodge, but it is hard with a ton of concrete on my feet. All that liquid running down my poles! Oh well, I forgive them. But is difficult to stand here and only get to watch the fun on the "drag".

planning for the future FINDING FUEL

Within the next few years, we may find there's no fuel like an old fuel—especially when it's used in a new way.

The old fuel is coal, of which we have a plentiful supply, and the new way to use it is to turn it into a liquid that can be treated like increasingly scarce petroleum.

Experts have long predicted that someday the demand for liquid fuels for autos, planes, trains, ships and other uses will be greater than supplies of petroleum. Our nation will need new technological options to meet this, and coal liquefaction is one of them—it's been called an insurance policy to protect this nation's future.

Right now, as part of a $240 million program, a pilot coal liquefaction plant is being built to help develop the engineering techniques we need. Many of the plant's features are based on technology developed by Exxon Research and Engineering Company. An Exxon affiliate, The Carter Oil Company, is a sponsor of the plant. Also participating is a group of Japanese companies (for the first time in this kind of project) and the U. S. government, which will receive a share in licensing revenues, to the benefit of taxpayers.
