Five Farms Selected In Soil and Water Conservation Plan

Demonstration Will Be Carried Out In Area Near Haskell

Five Haskell county farms embracing 697 acres of land have been selected by the Haskell County Land Use Planning Committee as demonstration farms in a soil and water conservation project, it was announced this week by County Agent G. R. Schumann.

On these farms a complete soil and water conservation program will be planned through the cooperation of the two governmental agencies, the Extension Service and the Soil Conservation Service. These agencies will be represented in this project by County Agent G. R. Schumann and J. M. Bird, Project Supervisor, Soil Conservation Service, Stamford.

In planning the soil and water conservation programs for these farms, the entire group will be planned as one unit. A soil map for the area was made last week by Mr. Hickerson of the Soil Conservation Service, and engineering work on the area will be completed as soon as the present crops are harvested.

Basis for the selection of these farms by the Land Use Planning Committee included two primary considerations, that of landowner consent, and accessibility for public inspection. Cooperation of farm owners was required in furtherance of the project, and location of the area chosen was desired where the demonstration could be easily inspected by all people interested.

The area selected for the local project is surrounded by public roads and is located about two miles northwest of Haskell. Farms embraced in the project include those operated by C. G. Burson, C. L. Ashley, R. L. Foote, Frank Draper and Thos. B. Roberson.

Colorful Parade Will Mark Official Opening On Oct. 16th

With October 16th designated as R-day throughout the nation following signing of the compulsory military service bill by President Roosevelt Monday requiring all men between 21-35 to register, thousands of persons in this immediate section will also observe the date as "F" day—opening of the sixteenth annual Central West Texas Fair for a four-days run.

Plans for this year's Fair have been well advanced, according to Homer Neal, secretary of the association, who declared that the exposition would eclipse any previous show. Added departments and the addition of several divisions for exhibitors of livestock are expected to attract a larger list of entries, while a more varied program of entertainment will be offered this year.

FARMERS WARNED AGAINST INFERIOR VARIETIES WHEAT

Best Varieties for This Area Are Listed By The County Agent

In line with steps being taken to avert the possibility of a decline in the Texas reputation for growing good baking varieties of wheat, state and county AAA officials are pointing out to local wheat growers that they may be penalized in the form of lower wheat loans on inferior varieties of wheat.

"It is too late to do anything about it on the 1940 loan," an AAA official declared, "but a lower loan rate for the poorer varieties might be requested in the future if Texas producers continue to plant such varieties."

Called by County Agent G. R. Schumann a meeting of wheat growers was held here recently attended by more than 60 grain farmers. At this meeting wheat varieties were discussed and the danger of planting inferior wheat was pointed out to those present.

Varieties of wheat recommended for this area are Tenmar, Kanred, Turkey Red, and Standard Blachull, the County Agent said, explaining that Experiment Station reports from Denton, Iowa Park, Chillicothe and Amarillo, these varieties will yield as much or more than some varieties being planted in this area, and have a much better milling quality.

TEXAS OUT-O-DOORS

HATCHERY NEARS COMPLETION

Austin, Texas — Improvements on the Huntsville state fish hatchery near Huntsville were completed Sept. 1 and the enlarged hatchery will be ready to produce its share of the at least 10,000,000 fish the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission expects to raise next season. The cost of improving the hatchery was nearly $30,000. It was a WPA project.

The hatchery has been increased in size from 32 to 38 pounds which will total more than 33 surface acres of water. In addition, all of the ponds have been deepened and the water inlets and outlets on half of the ponds have been altered for more efficient handling. Pond drain ditches have been improved by lining them with rock and cement. The hatchery is being beautified.

While work is nearing completion on the Huntsville Hatchery the Game Department, according to an announcement by the executive committee is preparing to enlarge the Jasper hatchery by thirty ponds, which will nearly double the capacity of that Southeast Texas Hatchery. Considerable work will also be done on the Olmito Hatchery near Olmito, the executive secretary said.

Redbugs are so bad, it is reported that young chickens have been bitten to death and many hens have quit laying.

Methodist Churches—Weinert and Union Chapel

Our Sunday School at 10 o'clock on Sunday morning. If you are not in Sunday School elsewhere why not come and join with us? We would be glad to have you.

We have preaching services every Sunday morning. The first, second and third Sundays, preaching both morning and evening, the first and second at Weinert. The third and fifth Sundays at Union Chapel.

On the fourth Sunday at Weinert we have preaching in the morning and a missionary program at the evening hour. There has been quite a number of new members to join our church this quarter.

"There is no new thing under the sun" said the writer of Ecclesiastes. Maybe in his day there was not but there is something new in the Methodist Church now. A brand new organization for the women. It is called the Woman's Society of Christian Service. This organization takes the place of the former Woman's Missionary Society. It was organized in the Union Chapel church August 29 with about twelve members and others to join. The Weinert auxiliary was organized on September 2nd with more than thirty members. We hope the church will give due consideration to this great work.

Prayer meeting each Wednesday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

The new Sunday School year begins October 1st and we have a lot to do in getting ready for the new year's work. A new board of education and council is to be formed, officers and teachers for the school are to be provided, and a new set-up in general for the work of the church for another year is to be perfected in the near future.

The conference year is drawing to a close and there is much that needs to be done in financing the organization for a new year, and the reports of the present year's work. Let no one shirk, but let all get under the load and thereby make the work both light and pleasant.

We cordially invite all to attend our services and if you do not have church obligations elsewhere we will be glad for you to join with us in our work. We will try to do you good and we believe you can do us good. Come and give us a chance. We will be glad to have you at church Sunday.

...BUT WHY COURT-MARTIAL THE WHOLE REGIMENT?

There are bound to be one or two bad soldiers in every regiment. But why court-martial the whole regiment? The same applies to beer retailing. Out of hundreds of thousands of wholesome, law-abiding beer retailers, there is bound to be a small minority who disobey the law or permit anti-social conditions.

To protect your right to drink good beer, the Brewing Industry wants even this small minority of undesirable retailers eliminated entirely. Beer is a refreshing, appetizing beverage—the beverage of moderation. We want every beer retail establishment to be as wholesome as beer itself.

To that end, we have instituted a "clean-up or close-up" program—now in operation in some states and being extended to others. We'd like to tell you about it in an interesting free booklet.

Woman's Council of First Christian Church Enjoys Regular Meetings

The Woman's Council of the First Christian Church has enjoyed the regular meetings through the summer but the reporter has been on a "mental vacation" so it was.

The following ladies were elected to serve as leaders for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Mittie Neatherly; Vice-President, Mrs. Murray Johnson; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Jesse B. Smith.

Mrs. J. M. Glass was hostess at the church for the July meeting. Mrs. W. A. Duncan was leader and with the assistance of the young ladies and young matrons of the church presented a most interesting and inspiring dramatization of "The Peddler of Books". Mrs. Guy Collins was the book peddler. The following book titles were dramatized: For The Healing of the Nations, Uprooted Americans, China Rediscovered Her West, The Christian's Alternative To World Chaos, Miss May Fields gave a splendid talk on Newspaper Men Write Books. The book peddler suggested many other books that should aid in developing the year's themes, Shifting Populations in America and China On The March. We hope that the urge and inspiration to read these books, which we received from this splendid dramatization will remain with us through the year.

Mrs. Hunt gave as the devotional The Book of Books. "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path."

Mrs. Glass assisted by the young ladies served delicious iced punch and frosted cakes to members and visitors.

Mrs. W. P. Ratliff was hostess for the August meeting. Mrs. Weatherly presided for a brief business session and announced that a "love gift" had been delivered to our beloved member, Mrs. R. O. Pearson who had recently moved to Abilene, and that more than a hundred quarts of canned peas and pumpkin were ready for shipment to Juliette Fowler Homes, Dallas.

Mrs. Hunt was leader for the program "Where Caravans Have Rested." For the devotional period the leader conducted a program of responsive reading and silent prayer. The theme, "I Will Build My Church." August being the month of "going places and seeing things" we put our program on wheels and with Miss May Fields as our guide we went travelling. With a fine map to locate the places our very capable guide took us on an imaginary journey to the various mission stations, schools, institutions, benevolent homes, hospitals which are supported by the Christian churches. Our guide painted very vivid picture of the manner in which the disciples of Christ are ministering to this "shifting population" where their caravans have rested.

Mrs. Ted Ratliff added to the program by giving some first-hand observations of the worth of the church to the French Arcadians of Louisiana.

The hostess served delicious orange ade and cakes to members and guests.

Mrs. Weatherly was hostess for the September meeting of the Council and presided over a brief business period. Mrs. Roy Ratliff was leader for the program "The Farm Scene Changes." The worship theme "I will build my Church; that justice may prevail", Phil. 1:9-11; Isa. 42:1-7, Matt. 10:38-39.

"Thy kingdom come—and yet, in greed, We gamble with the fields of grain; And so we play, the millions starve, While higher, higher mounts our gain."

Mrs. Pittman told the stories of two "share croppers", two Negro students of S-uthern Christian Institute, Miss.

Mrs. Leo Duncan told of "The Government and Shifting Populations."

Mrs. Ericson told the story of "Jane's Mother, Was Ill." This was a true picture of what the Housekeeping Aid Services does for the needy in the community. Mrs. Ericson stressed the need of Christian education in these homes. The Council pledged support in rendering such service as needed.

The hostess served delicious iced punch and angel food cake to members and visitors.

This being the 70th birthday of our hostess we all sang "Happy Birthday To You" and each one remembered her with a small gift in appreciation of her long and useful life in our church and many liberal gifts to all phases of church work. She is always ready to help others and God has blessed her in many ways and restored her health that she can be with us again for many years we hope as we all love her and look at her pure sweet life as an example to live by. Senior-Junior Magazine Club Has First Meeting of Year Thursday Evening

The Senior-Junior Magazine club opened its meetings for the year Thursday evening at the club house with the social committee composed of Ruby Faye Power, Jamie Lyle Martin and Madeline Breedlove as hostesses for the occasion. The colorful year-books that were designed and decorated by Helen Pearson, distributed at the last meeting of 1939-1940 club year, gave as the work this year a study of South and Central America. This topic, The Good Neighbor Tour in keeping with current developments of the day will be discussed in various meetings in a most interesting and effective way. In decorations, displays, costumes and in a conversational style, the programs will be presented. The art committee, Lena Belle English, Elizabeth Mason, and Mattie Letha Pippen had prepared for the opening meeting, and for successive meetings, a large map of the Americas.

The Preparation and Departure was the subject Thursday evening directed by Faye Woodson, the president of the club for the year. The club room was decorated as a travel bureau with an information desk, a ticket desk, maps and baggage suggestive of a tour. Flags of the countries were placed on the walls to add further color to the setting.

Lucille Akins told of points of interest that the club would want to visit on the tour. Elizabeth Mason told of the importance of passports and issued tickets for the various ways that the trip would be made. Mattie Felker in telling of the wardrobe suggested both summer and winter apparel as the difference in temperatures would necessitate both kinds.

Helen Pearson who has moved to Abilene was present for the meeting and offered her resignation. Because she has done outstanding work for the club, she was elected an honorary member. New members for the year elected at this meeting were: Mary Couch, Jane Bernard, Eva Belle Pippen, Estelle Scott, Mamie Jones and Bess Porter.

A refreshment course was served to the following: Lucille Akins,

Faye Woodson, Madge Ar buckle, Marie Womble, Madeline Breedlove, Hazel Wilson, Lena Belle English, Arnolia Server, Mattie Merle Felker, Ruby Faye Power, Ethel Frierson, Robbie Pittman, Mary Grindstaff, Mattie Letha Pippen, Anita Herren, Helen Pearson, Jerry Lane, Leone Pearsey, Frances Lane, Mary Pearsey, Janie Lyle Martin, and Elizabeth Mason.

CHURCHES

CHURCH OF CHRIST J. G. Malphurs, Minister

Our subject for the eleven o'clock sermon will be found in the eighth chapter of Acts, where Peter rebukes Simon the sorcerer for trying to buy the powers of the Holy Spirit with money: "Thy Heart Is Not Right Before God." (Verse 21).

The subject for the evening sermon will be: "The Three Baptisms." With this sermon we are to try out a new method of presenting evening sermons. The minister will have a helper, and the two will deliver the sermon as a dialogue. The helper will represent the audience, and will ask such questions on the subject that he believes to be in the mind of the audience, and offer objections to any point in the sermon which he believes not to be in harmony with the scriptures. We believe this method of sermon delivery will be of great assistance in helping the audience to get the facts of the sermon, and will be a stimulant to the services of the hour. We urge every one to hear this new method of sermon presentation, and tell us what you think of it.

On Monday night we are to begin a new work for boys and men. Training for leadership will be the purpose of the class, the class will meet at 7:45.

Wednesday evenings at 7:45 we are beginning a study of Revelation. We are sure the course will be of great interest, and we invite all who can do so to begin the study with us at once.

Beauty Reaches All-Time High in New '41 Chevrolet

Completely new styling joins with numerous mechanical improvements to make the new 1941 Chevrolet, now on display at all dealers, a worthy successor to the cars which have earned first place in public favor year after year. The greater size and roominess of the new models, as well as their sleek new beauty, are apparent in the Special De Luxe Sport Sedan, shown above.

One of the major changes is substitution of concealed safety-steps (4) for the running boards of other years, an improvement adding to the car's beauty without sacrifice of the safety and convenience which running boards provide. At (5) is the six-cylinder Chevrolet valve-in-head engine for 1941, in which many refinements have been made. Horsepower is increased from 85 to 90 without affecting economy; and cooling, lubrication and carburetion are all improved. In circle is the new switch which reverses the ignition current polarity each time the starter is operated, indefinitely prolonging the life of distributor points.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

No pleasure is comparable to the standing upon the vantage-ground of truth.
—Francis Bacon

Theory vs. Practice

It is good to know a lot, but it is even better to be able to do things. Many persons who have at their command a considerable assortment of information are unable to put it to very much practical use.
This was neatly illustrated in a sort of "confessional" article by a teacher in a recent educational publication. She said:
"I can solve a quadratic equation, but I cannot keep my bankaccount straight."
"I can name the Kings of England since the War of the Roses, but I do not know the qualifications of the candidates in a state election."
"I know the economic theories of Malthus and Adam Smith, but I cannot live within my income."
"I can explain the principles of hydraulics, but I cannot fix a leak in the kitchen faucet."
"I have studied the psychology of James and Titchener, but I cannot control my temper."
"I can conjugate Latin verbs, but I cannot write legibly."
While this picture may be somewhat overdrawn it serves to illustrate the futility of much that passes for education, when its acquisition is not accompanied by training which leads to its useful employment in everyday life.

Science Aids Industry

In our admiration for the wonderful mechanical developments of recent years we sometimes overlook the part which science, and particularly chemistry, has played in supplying the new materials which have made a solution of these mechanical problems possible.
One of the industrial accomplishments which has aided during the last decade are the developments of Dr. Harrison E. Howe, a noted editor.
The new chemical preparations of paper give it greater strength, a sheet of newspaper nearly 300 inches wide can be produced at the speed of 1,000 feet a minute.

A new glass developed in the laboratory can be machine-blown into incandescent lamp bulbs with amazing rapidity, one machine now in operation having a capacity of about 400,000 bulbs in 24 hours. A number of machines make around 25,000 each day.
Through better methods of compounding and curing rubber the life of an automobile tire is 10 times as long as it was a few years ago, while new sources of rubber or its equivalent are being developed.
The rapidly growing rayon industry, the innumerable useful products derived from coal tar, new metal alloys, new fuels, new foods and a multitude of other products unknown some years ago all had their birth in the laboratory. As Dr. Howe says in concluding his article:
"The growing appreciation for research and the increased support for fundamental scientific work in America gives great promise of future discoveries that will be vital in prolonging life, in preventing famine, in minimizing disease, and in maintaining civilization at a satisfactory level."

Justice for Motor Transport

The public owes a vote of thanks to Joseph B. Eastman chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission and formerly Federal co-ordinator of transportation, for his masterful report on the subject of transportation subsidy, says Harvey C. Fruehauf, Detroit manufacturer of commercial trailers, in a recent statement.
A feature of this report is that it refutes the statement, which has been made by interested parties that motor transport does not pay its share of road building and maintenance costs. Eastman shows that highway users in the ten years beginning in 1927, overpaid by more than 385 million dollars their share of these costs. Also that trucks, so vital to the needs of home and business, pay millions of dollars per year more than their proportionate cost of the highways they use. Eastman says:
"In one year highway transportation overpaid more than 110 million dollars, while railroads were subsidized to the extent of 35 million dollars; waterways were subsidized by over 128 million dollars and airways by over 21 million dollars."
Comments Mr. Fruehauf, "From the standpoint of the public the Eastman report is a great victory, because it checks the effort to increase the taxes on motor vehicles, which in turn would increase the cost of living and of doing business, and even of driving your personal car. Every motorist and business man can be thankful for the Eastman report."

While he was investigating a house robbery, Policeman Arthur Linderman of Chicago was robbed of his finger-print outfit which he had been using.

PRIME TURKEYS FOR THE THANKSGIVING MARKET

(By George P. McCarthy, Extension Poultry Husbandman)

It is only two months from now until we will be marketing our first crop of 1940 turkeys. For your information there is still a large carryover of turkeys in cold storage. At the present time there is approximately 25,000,000 pounds of turkeys still in storage but these birds are moving into the channels of trade very nicely. But with this fact in mind, I think we should give careful consideration to our marketing program for this fall.

The market is going to demand a well finished turkey this year in order to be able to dispose of the turkeys at a reasonable price to the producers. Unfortunately in the past we here in Texas have not been producing as good quality turkey as we can produce. Most of the turkeys still are range turkeys and during the late summer the ranges are very depleted and the turkeys do not have a sufficient amount of feed especially green feed. During the growing period they consume large quantities of insects and as a result of this are quite often heavily infested with intestinal parasites. Because the quality of our Texas turkey has not been what it should be, there has been a penalty placed on it which in some cases amounts to $1.00 per bird over turkeys marketed in other states. It is up to all of us to see that the turkeys we market this year are in good condition and ready for the market at the time they are sold.

The Texas Poultry Federation composed of Texas poultry producers, hatcherymen, feed manufacturers, buyers of poultry products and others, is definitely interested in carrying out a program this year that will enable Texas turkey producers to place on the market this fall the best quality turkeys that have ever been sold from this state.

It is very important that we start a fattening program for these turkeys now. Before they are placed on a fattening feed, it is good management to see that these birds are treated for intestinal parasites so that they can be placed on a fattening feed and can get maximum results from the feed consumed. If you have a small flock of turkeys you may be interested in giving them individual worm capsules to rid them of the intestinal parasites or if you have a large flock you will perhaps be interested in using a flock treatment in the mash. You can secure ter shell and grit. Also see that they have plenty of clean fresh water. The water has a tendency to become sour where are birds are consuming mash and there is a large sediment of mash in the bottom of the water container. See that the containers are cleaned at least once each day, and often it is necessary to clean them twice each day. If you are interested in securing formulas for home mixed fattening rations, see your local County Agent.

There will be a number of small underdeveloped birds that are not ready to start on a fattening program at the present time. These birds should be kept on a growing mash until a later date and then put on a fattening feed and marketed at Christmas or New Year, depending upon the age and condition of the bird.
In marketing the turkeys select the breeding stock first to see that none of the breeder birds are sold. Then go through the rest of the birds and see that those are well fleshed, fat and free of pin feathers. If the toms are not matured and free from pin feathers, I would hold these birds for the later market. If we follow a program of this kind, there is no reason why of the quality of the Texas turkey can not compare favorably with the turkeys from other sections and the producers will not be penalized so severely as a result of the crowded market conditions which now exists.

After the turkeys have been thoroughly treated for intestinal parasites then I would put them on a good fattening ration. This may be either commercial or home mixed. If you are using a commercial fattening ration, then I would utilize all of the home grown grains that I have.
In finishing turkeys it is best to confine them to a small enclosure of an acre or so of land, depending of course on the number of birds to be finished. I would keep the fattening mash before them in open hoppers and keep grain before them in open hoppers, and in addition to this, see that they have plenty of oys-

Building For Defense

The Problem

The American citizen, suddenly becoming defense minded, is liable to jump one or two ways.

He reads that President Roosevelt has asked Congress for $10,000,000 to build up our national defense. The following week, he looks out the window and is disappointed not to see the sky darkened by new planes and the highways rumbling with new armored divisions.

His neighbor, across the street, jumps to the other extreme. He feels that it takes forever to build a battleship—that will be ten years before this country can begin to have a proper defense machine.

The truth, of course, lies between these two. To get a clearer picture of the time necessary to build up our defenses, it is necessary to understand how the National Defense Advisory Commission functions in this program we have undertaken.

The goal was known. It is to provide equipment for a modern army of 2,000,000 men, to provide the nation with a tw ocean navy. This is already well under way, as the Commission has cleared contracts for more than two billion dollars worth of defense materials.

ORGANIZING INDUSTRIAL RESOURCES

The first job facing the Commission was to lay a firm foundation on which the resources of American industry could be coordinated. At the same time, every effort is made to speed current contracts for military equipment. Within eight weeks after formation of the National Defense Advisory Commission, Commissioner Knudsen was able to report that "with the continuing cooperation of industry and the interested Government agencies, we can be confident of a production machine capable of attaining the definite goal. This can be accomplished just as fast as the best production facilities and techniques in the world can gain momentum through favorable Congressional action upon this augmented program."

The first step toward the production line involves design. The engineering preparation involved in the construction of airplanes, tanks, guns and battleships is highly involved. It takes thirty tons of blueprints for the designs of a battleship. The gun carriage alone for a 155 mm. gun requires a thousand separate drawings and five hundred more are required for the recoil mechanism. The preparation of all this detailed material takes time, skill, and effort before a hundred production lines can begin to roll out material on finished designs.

The next problem involves drawing of specifications for contracts, by Army and Navy specialists who know exactly the type of material needed for every nut and bolt to stand up under severe service requirements. Specifications often make up a full size book giving the precise size, shape, strength and material of every item.

SELECTION OF CONTRACTORS
Then comes the letting of contracts. Items of defense are necessarily complex. No fly-by-night operator with a factory in his brief case is qualified. Companies with experience in working in the materials used under the strict dimensional limits necessary are considered. Organizations which have the man-power with hard-won "know how" experience are vital in supplying defense material.

To make guns, tanks, airplanes and rifles, the manufacturer must have raw materials to work with.

In this respect we are comparatively fortunate. With a few important exceptions, all materials needed can be found within the limits of the continental U. S. Supplies, such as rubber, tin and antimony, are being accumulated in stock piles. The flow of these commodities is up to the Industrial Materials Division of the National Defense Advisory Commission which is responsible for having them ready when they are needed. The Industrial Materials Division has already determined that there are plentiful supplies of steel, copper and other essential materials available.

The Production Division of the Defense Commission is charged with seeing that there are adequate production facilities to fill contracts issued by the Army and Navy. The next problem after finding manufacturers is providing machinery because machine tools are fundamental to the entire defense program.

Before we can step up our production of defense materials, we must have the machines that can make a rifle barrel that is accurate within a ten thousandth of an inch and can also make a bullet to fit that barrel with the same accuracy. These machines which carve toughened steel to these tight dimensions must be specially designed.

One particular type of grinder, for instance, can pick up a motor shaft, load it between the grinding wheels, keep the work in perfect position, polish the piece within a thousandth of an inch absolutely true and round and eject finished pieces at the rate of ten per minute. When a battery of these machines is set up, they can turn out thousands of parts per hour, which in turn will result in big production of finished machines.

MACHINE TOOLS SPEED PRODUCTION

The Production Division reports that definite progress has been made in producing these machines and that no actual delay exists in delivery thus far. It takes several months for the manufacturers to receive their contracts, make ready their plant facilities to house these machines, and locate skilled workmen necessary to operate them. When all are ready, the production can begin on a big scale.

Thus, the basic work makes possible the easy flow of materials through the shops. American industry then begins to meet rapidly the heavy requirements placed upon it by the program. Delivery of the contracts calling for twenty-five thousand complete aircraft is thereby assured and we will see the plants with capacity for turning out 200,000 pounds of explosives per day in full production promptly. The first powder plant contract was let within eight weeks after the National Defense Advisory Commission was organized. In 1917, the contract for the first powder plant was not signed until seven months after we had entered the war.

Shells from new shell-loading plants are, of course, useless without rifles and guns, but looking ahead to that point, the defense forces ascertain that production of rifles and guns will be doubled within a few months. Soon, the products of the many defense production lines will begin to flow in huge volume to the defense manpower which is to be equipped.

Varied Program of Entertainment At Abilene Fair

Abilene, September 16—Regardless of your taste you'll find your entertainment at the West Texas Fair Oct. 7-12!

Two complete new programs have been arranged, one for each half week of the exposition. They are designed to appeal to both young and old fair goers.

Probably the top attraction for the older patrons will be the square dance, scheduled for the first three nights at the Supper Club.

Of general interest to all ages, and both urban and rural residents will be the Second Annual Texas Palomino Association Horse show October 7, 8 and 9. And it's free!

Moving in on Thursday, October 10, for the last three day's stand will be the splendid Cavalcade of Stars, playing both night grandstand revues and Supper Club floorshows and dancing.

The cavalcade features Johnny (Scott) Davis and his orchestra; Dixie Dumbart, of movie and Broadway fame, with her Rhythmaires; Bob Neller, ventriloquist and his impish dummy, Reggie; Rolla and Verna Pickert, stilt dancing artists; Bud Hughes, canine act and magic; and Dorothy Byton's 12 beautiful dancing girls.

Here for the entire week will be the Max Goodman Wonder Shows, furnishing carnival and midway attractions.

Likewise a full-week will be the world famous Hardin-Simmons University Cowboy Band, with its colorful music and speciality acts. In addition to playing for the Palomino show each afternoon and night of October 7, 8 and 9, the band will stage an elaborate free show of its own the last three afternoons before the grandstand.

And what does not come free will be available at modest prices.

The school building burned last summer.

During the past week, contributions to the municipal library included 44 books and 123 magazines, with $12.50 in cash donations, the report of the Library Board revealed.
