Hope In A Free Press

Freedom of the press is ever an alive and active topic. Every day in every community stands the man or woman who would muzzle the press, who would censor what the press has to say. But whene it comes to finding the proper person to do the censoring, even the advocates of censorship run amuck Censorship of the press, of the church, of school books, of the man at the curbstone, is absolutely the right thing to do. The only trouble we find in carrying out this right is to find the right man to do the censoring.

If you are "agin" religion, you don't want the preacher to be the censor. If you try to live a life of abstinence and want others to live that way, too, you don't want to let the wets do the censoring. The believer in war does not want the pacifist to censor and the pacifist argues that war propaganda should be censored.

The makers of the American constitution saw with what difficulties the nation would be confronted in years to come when they wrote in plain language that "Congress shall make no laws respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press." This phase of the constitution, like all other phases, has been violated many times. Wars always bring about censorship of the press, because those fighting the war in upholstered offices are anxious to fight it their own way.

As a people, let us always crop for a free press The right is abused but much less so than would be a censored press. Men's freedom goes hand-inhand with freedom of the press. Censor the press and you jepoardize your own liberty.-Grit-Advo-· cate. Julesburg, Colo.

Every driver of a passenger car or other vehicle of moderate size hates to meet one of these mammoth trucks on the road, for he knows he must be prepared to give way or risk a collision. Furthermore, it cannot be doubted that the hauling of such excessive weights as are carried by the largest trucks causes damage to the highways.

New War On Crime

Following the impaneling of a new Federal grand jury in New York, a nation-wide investigation of crime conditions is to be made, unhampered by state, county or city lines.

The grand jury will be in ression 90 days, and Mrs. C. E. Lott were Haskell of Mrs. Curtis' parents, Mr. and it is expected that witnesses from all parts of the country will be summoned before it. The jury is composed of 23 men, all prominent in the business and professional line of the city.

They will have the full assistance of the Federal Bureau of Investigations and its G-men. More than 500,000 pages of the bureau's reports on crime compiled during the last 10 years will be available to the jury.

At the moment the man most wanted is Lou (Lepke) Buchalter, designated as the nation's head racketeer, whose operations embrace particularly the fur, garment and bakery industries, from which "collectors" have long exacted tribute.

It is said that henchmen of his have been systematically murdering persons who might appear as witnesses against Lepke and recently killed Irving Penn, a business man, by mistake in pursuance their work of extermination. Rewards totaling $30,000 are offered for Lepke's arrest.

Attorney General Murphy is backing the anticrime campaign, and special Federal grand juries will shortly be impaneled in other cities.

Blooming gladioli brighten January window boxes because of the discovery of an inexpensive method of using ethylene chlorhydrin vapors to speed bulb germination.

Fall-harvested bulbs can be induced to omit their usual rest period and bloom in the winter by placing them in preserve jars with a piece of cloth, moistened with the vapors, and allowed to stay four days. Four dozen bulbs may be treated for a penny.

Stubborn bulbs which fail to sprout even in the spring following harvesting respond to the petroleum vapor treatment often with a larger number of blooms. With his treatment the dormacy stage can be broken whenever desired to suit any variety.

Modern Tires_

Modern pneumatic tires are ingenious combinations of rubber, fabrics, and compounds. processing starts with the cutting of plantation rubber and mixing with compounds which give it wearing properties and resistance to abrasion. The process continues with scientific mixing of fabric becomes a 50-mile column present- and rubber into a material which is cut on the bias according to specified styles and widths. The "tire builder", as he is technically known, builds up the "raw" tire sidewall, tread and all on a drum from the rubberized fabric.

Vulcanization, which gives the tire final form, is only one of the scientific milestones in a decade of rubber processing development Later scientists discovered a way to reclaim used rubber and in 1906 accelerators were first used to speed up vulcanizing. Much of the wearability of the modern tire comes from the use of carbon black and other pigments first use din 1916 to increase the durability of rubber compounds. A comparatively recent development in the process of making synthetic rubber.
