

Registration For Military Service To Be Conducted At All Precinct Voting Places In Haskell County

Regular Election Officials To Serve as Registrars In Each Precinct

The official proclamation of Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel designating Wednesday, Oct. 16 as state-wide registration day for all men between the ages of 21 and 35, was received by County Judge J. C. Davis and County Clerk Roy Ratliff on Monday, together with supplemental instructions relative to registration.

Registration will be held at each voting box in the county, at the polling place used in the July and August primaries. The county officials explained. Regularly appointed presiding election judges, named by the Commissioners Court last February, will serve as official registrars at each voting box and they will be assisted by volunteer clerks. Both registrars and clerks will serve without pay. Registration booths will be open from 7 a. m. until 9 p. m., and the United States flag must be displayed at each booth.

The county clerk will be the official immediately responsible for registration in each county. On Oct. 17, the county clerks will turn the registration cards over to local boards which will have been appointed in the meantime.

Forms for registration will be furnished but each county must provide the needed chairs, tables, pens and inks. Flags, it was suggested, may be borrowed from national guards, Boy Scouts and other organizations.

Volunteer workers may be men or women but men within the draft age may not be registrars. In order to gauge how many registrars will be needed, selective service headquarters for the state estimate that the registrars will number approximately 80 percent of the persons who voted at the same polling place in the democratic primary election of last July. It will take from 20 to 30 minutes to register each person, it is expected.

County Judge Davis stated this week that as soon as registration supplies are received, a meeting of all election judges would be held here, at which time final instructions concerning the registration would be given.

Regular election judges for each voting box in the county are:

He married Miss Mollie Grose Jan. 6, 1903, and four years later they came to Texas, making their home in Comanche county until moving to this section in 1926. LAST-MINUTE DETAILS OF CWT FAIR PROGRAM NEAR FINAL ADOPTION

Four-Day Exposition Expected to Attract Record Attendance

Final Opportunity Offered To Secure Extension Courses

To determine whether a sufficient number of Haskell persons are interested in securing Extension Courses from Hardin-Simmons University to justify organization of classes here, a meeting will be held Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock in the North Ward building. This will be the final opportunity to secure the courses in Haskell, and every interested person is urged to attend the meeting.

Indians Scalp Rule Bobcats, 6-0

Haskell played their first conference game last Friday night defeating Rule 6-0.

The line-up for Haskell was as follows: Backs, Patterson, Holcomb, Post and Reeves; Tackles, Smith and Brock; Ends, Carr and Ford; Center, Littlefield.

Brief summary of the game: First Quarter—Patterson made about a 25-yard run with good interference, both sides fighting hard. Rule came close to a touchdown.

Second Quarter—Holcomb made a beautiful 45-yard run for a touchdown. Haskell kicked off to Rule, but made no yardage. They tried a little passing but failed. Henshaw kicked to Rule from our 33-yard line to Rule's 30-yard line. Rule kicked to Haskell and we covered it on about the 1 yard line. Haskell kicked back to our 40, where Carr made a beautiful tackle before Rule could make any gain.

The Half—The Pep Squad gave stunts that were well performed. They gave Rule a yell, then marched to our side and gave us a yell, making a fine showing in their new uniforms.

Third Quarter—Rule came very close to the goal but they were stopped by the Indians. Aguin Rule worked up very close to the goal, fighting every inch of the way, with the Indians holding remarkably well. Haskell kicked to Rule. Henshaw made a beautiful run of about 20 yards. They lost some ground but made up on the next run of about 25 yards by Henshaw.

Fourth Quarter—Lane made a beautiful 30-yard run. Rule kicked a long one to us, but we did not gain. Patterson made a good short run, spinning and stiff arm-riding every inch of the way.

The band and pep squad helped a lot in winning this football game. A football team is not the only one it takes to win a game. It takes the pep squad, band and the student body of a school to win a game and we had all of that at the game.

Officers For Senior Class Elected

The senior class had its first meeting of the school term Wednesday September 25 to elect officers for the year. They are as follows:

President, Frank Spencer; Vice-President, Ben Clifton; Secretary, Martha Post; Treasurer, James Sloan; Reporter, Willie Fae Foster.

With Miss Couch and Mr. Ramsey as sponsor and co-sponsor the seniors of 1940-41 are looking forward to a happy and successful year. Reporter

Pep Squad Has New Uniforms

The Pep Squad of the Haskell High School have new uniforms for this season. The leader's suits are solid black, while the squads are contrasted with the black and gold. The eight gore black skirts and the gold military style jackets trimmed in black braid are very attractive. They were worn for the first time Friday night when the Haskell Indians played the Rule Bobcats.

Officers Elected To Head Junior Class

The juniors met September 30 to organize their class for this year. The officials are as follows: President, Sam Hugh Smith; Vice President, Betty Jo Hester; Secretary and Treasurer, Beunis Faye Ratliff.

The juniors are looking forward to a very enjoyable year of school activities.

Haskell High School Held In Churches

The arrangement for the Haskell High School to be held in churches is not an altogether satisfactory one, but the pupils enjoy it immensely.

Various parts of the Christian and Methodist Churches are used for classrooms. The Christian auditorium serves as a general study hall. The room directly northwest of this auditorium is the principal's office. There are three classrooms in the Christian Church basement and three in the basement of the Methodist church. The auditorium of the Methodist Church and the room north of this auditorium both serve as classrooms.

The homemaking laboratory is in the Baptist Church and band practice is also held there.

Vocational agriculture classes are held in the boys' shop in the block west of Indian field. A school bus is used for the boys' transportation. A ten minute intermission between classes gives sufficient time for reaching these various points.

The teachers and students of Haskell High School extend their sincere thanks to the generous people who made it possible for us to have high school in the Methodist, Christian and Baptist Churches.

Valuables Are Saved From Fire

The Haskell High School is fortunate in the fact that a few of its properties were not destroyed by the recent burning of the building which proved to be an enormous catastrophe. The school radio, five typewriters, and the file cabinets were in the school vault, and were unharmed. Also all school records, which include grade books, financial ledger, district football records and student's permanent records, were safe in the vault.

The students, as well as the teachers, are at a great loss without the beautiful building. However, we are very grateful to those concerned for permitting us to meet classes in the three churches. We are happy to say that we have been promised a new building possibly within one year, which will probably be just as nice, if not even better, than the former building. With that in mind, we look forward to a very happy school year.

Staff Members To Have Equal Duties

A few days after school started a meeting was called of all students who were interested in working on the Warwhoop staff this year. Ten students reported and plans were discussed for giving the student body and the public a good news column in the Free Press this year. Since it is our purpose to confine our writing mainly to news stories, the former custom of the sponsor's giving the staff members different offices on the staff is not being followed this year. All of those students who asked for a place on the staff will be named staff assistants, with the exception of one who is appointed editor-in-chief.

Since we are so scattered in various buildings it will be every member's responsibility to see that his copy is turned in on time. It is our hope that we can give the reading public much interesting news about our high school activities.

Are We Considerate Guests?

After these first two weeks we find ourselves fairly well situated in our temporary quarters and, speaking generally, we are quite comfortable. We are indeed grateful to the people of the churches for permitting us to carry on a year's work in their beautiful buildings and as a student body let us resolve that their buildings shall be in as good condition at the close of the 1941 term as when we started. We might look at it in a view that we are only guests of the people of the churches, and for no cause need to damage their property.

New Students Enter High School

Among the students of H. H. S. there are a few new faces. Of course all the freshmen are new.

Three new juniors are: Leota Packwood from Paint Creek (and formerly a student in the Haskell Public Schools), Peggy Adams from Wichita Falls, and Billy Preece from Austin.

Three new sophomores are: Thomas Booth from Midland, Billy James Harder from Rails, and Ray Thomas who comes from a long way off—El Centro, Calif.

Freshman Class Elects Officers

On Monday afternoon September 30, 1940, the freshman class held a meeting to select officers of the 1941 class.

The class was then dismissed by the chairman, Miss Riley. Reporter

Gypsy Ramblers Hold Meeting

The Gypsy Rambler Club met with their new sponsor, Miss Mary Couch September 23, 1940.

Since it is so late in the season it was decided that the Gypsy Ramblers would no longer sell the football pencils they have been accustomed to selling, but would buy 270 football pins.

Within the next few weeks the Gypsy Ramblers expect every student of Haskell High School to be wearing one of these football pins.

Mrs. Vernon Coburn left Tuesday for California where she will join her husband who has been in that state for the past few months.

Lone Star Officials Hold Annual Meeting In Dallas Recently

The gas industry's responsibility in the national defense program, ways to improve customer service, and preparations for meeting the peak demands for winter fuel were studied by more than 400 Lone Star Gas System foremen, managers and other key men who have just completed their annual conference in Dallas, according to W. M. Brayner, manager of the Stamford district, who attended the meeting.

"The Lone Star Gas System is equipped better than ever before to furnish an adequate supply of gas in the face of extreme demands," he said, "This will be particularly beneficial in the national defense program where defense industries must have a dependable supply in order to carry on operations requiring natural gas service. An interconnected system of thousands of miles of pipe lines bringing gas from more than 1200 wells in Texas and Oklahoma gives an adequate supply under the most extreme demands."

Methods of helping consumers get maximum service from heating equipment through minimum operating costs was one of the chief concerns of the conference. According to a survey, many customers fail to utilize their present heating equipment in a manner to obtain the most healthful and beneficial results. Because of this condition the company has shouldered the responsibility of educating customers in the proper use of heating appliances. Newspaper advertising is one of the ways by which we are teaching customers healthful heating habits. This campaign is incidental to the sale of appliances. We are trying to show how to use present equipment to get the best results from the standpoints of health and efficiency.

CHURCH OF CHRIST
J. G. Malphurs, Minister

We are glad to report that we are enjoying excellent attendance at nearly all services. That is the way it should be. There is entirely too much inactive and dead material in the membership of churches. Church membership is worthless unless you attempt to do your duty. Your membership neglected is the poorest thing you can possibly present as a passport into heaven.

The subject for the eleven o'clock sermon will be: "According to Your Faith Be It Done Unto You." (Mat. 9:29). In this sermon it will be shown that we fall to be victors because of shallowness of faith in the promises of God.

Our dialogue sermons at the evening hour are having such a good reception that we have decided to put on another next Sunday night. The subject will be: "The Subjects of Baptism—Who Can and Should Be Baptized?" With the assistance of a second man the possibility or impossibility of baptizing infants, morons and idiots will be discussed in a kind manner. This lesson will prove very interesting and helpful to you. By all means hear it at 7:45.

The book of Revelation is a message from the Lord to his church and for his servants. Some of the greatest events in the history of the world are happening during our lifetime. Were they not foretold in Revelation? If the Lord does not tell us of the great world-wide events of what does he tell us, and of what use is the book of Revelation? Come on Wednesday night and study the Book with us.

Some Close Votes

How important a small number of votes may be, even in a national campaign, is illustrated by the results of several elections in our history, particularly in those of 1876, 1884 and 1916.

In the famous contested presidential election of 1876, Samuel J. Tilden, the Democratic candidate, had 184 undisputed electoral votes, needing only one more to give him the 185 necessary to a majority. Among the states contested was Florida, whose Supreme Court gave Tilden a popular majority of 94 votes, which if allowed to stand would have given him the electoral vote of the state, and consequently the election.

But the electoral commission, appointed to decide the contest, accepted another set of figures, which gave Hayes, the Republican candidate, a majority of 926 in Florida, as well as all the electoral votes of other contested states, and as a result Hayes became President.

In 1884, when Cleveland defeated Blaine, the election hinged on the electoral vote of the state of New York. Cleveland received a popular majority in the state of only 1,049. Thus a switch of only 525 votes would have given Blaine the state's 36 electoral votes and the Presidency.

In the election of 1916, in which Wilson and Hughes were the candidates, the election was conceded to Hughes on the face of early returns, but when the final count of California was made, Wilson was found to have carried the state by 3,806 votes, which gave him his second term in the White House.

It is expected that several states may be very close in the coming election. In such states every vote will be important.

How Everyone Can Help

One phase of Nazi aggression against which everyone can join is the propaganda phase. This form of attack is as calculated and malicious as that of the bombers and parachutists, but is not limited to the particular nation again which armies are being sent. Instead, it is directed at all nations, including neutrals, and therefore can and should be resisted by all nations.

Propaganda aims at the demoralization of actual or potential enemies of Nazo totalitarianism. It seeks to bring this about by arousing disunity, apathy, fear, or panic. There have been many evidences from the countries invaded by Germany in the past year that demoralization of this sort contributed to the amazing Nazi successes. Swarms of tanks, planes, and guns do not tell the whole story of these battles. Not only was the mechanized army so well advertised in advance as to promote widespread terror of it before it arrived, but its actual approach was marked by such fear-producing devices as whistling bombs and diving planes, whose devastation was as much mental as physical.

Americans can help not only the Allies but themselves by refusing to accept the propaganda of German invincibility. German weaknesses naturally are not publicized in the German press and broadcasts, but are becoming increasingly known to military men. Each Nazi device, no matter how novel, has its limitations and vulnerable points. As the propaganda phase of German aggression is repelled by both neutrals and belligerents, the air is cleared for calmer, more realistic analyses of German military methods, and for their speedier overthrow.

Farm Medical Costs

The average medical cost per farm family is $39 a year, according to figures gathered by the Hospital Research Institute, which states that this is 6 per cent of the cost of all goods and services for the family.

Referring to hospital facilities, it is noted that there are 6,266 registered hospitals in the United States. In 1,340 scattered counties there are 22 million rural dwellers, and while hospital needs are in most cases available, some rural areas of certain southern states are less adequately served than northern sections. The general average for the whole country is 3.3 beds per 1,000 population, according to a survey of the U. S. Public Health Service.

The highest number of occupational deaths in the nation as a whole occurs among farm workers. It is reported. But it is not always the pitchfork or reaper that is responsible for casualties. Frequently it is a reckless motorist speeding over a country road.

Hospital facilities are being enlarged in many rural districts, while our urban dwellers have medical and hospital facilities unequalled in any other country, says the Institute, adding that "the rapid strides being made by the community hospital in America constitutes an interesting chapter in the nation's health history."

Aviation Engineers

Intensive training of 120 men between 30 and 40 years of age to be aviation engineers within a period of only 16 weeks has begun at the California Institute of Technology. The course is sponsored jointly by the Institute and the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation.

These students all have engineering degrees of some kind already, and will be paid $200 a month while taking the course in aviation engineering. They will have eight weeks at the Lockheed plant. Each has been promised a job with Lockheed upon completion of the course, but they may go to other aircraft manufacturers if they desire.

It is said that unofficial assurances have been given by the government that if this plan proves successful it may be applied to the entire aviation industry. The present course was worked out between Dr. Robert A. Millikan, president of Caltech; Robert E. Gross, president, and Hall Hibbard, chief engineer, of Lockheed.

Caltech aviation professors gave up their summer vacations in order to conduct the eight weeks of classroom instruction at the institute. Hundreds of engineers, some of whom are already rated highly in their profession, were interviewed during the process of selecting the 120 men to be specially trained under the present program, which is in aid of national defense.

Men Behind the Mike on Humble's Football Broadcasts

These four announcers are featured on the Humble Oil & Refining Company's radio descriptions of Southwest Conference Football games; literally they fill the air with the air-minded football of the Southwest each Saturday afternoon. At left is Kern Tips, one of the outstanding football announcers of the country. Next to him is Eddie Dunn, Texas radio personality who recently moved to Chicago, but plans to travel southward to handle several of the Humble broadcasts. At right is Cy Leland, who followed up a brilliant career as a player at T. C. U. with a career fully as brilliant as a football announcer; like Kern Tips, Cy is a veteran of the Humble broadcasts. Center, outline, is Hal Thompson, the well-known sports announcer of Dallas. These four announcers will be supplemented and assisted on the Humble Company broadcasts by other well-known Texas radio men.

Building For Defense

Machine Tools

These days everybody is talking about the machine tool industry as the bottleneck of defense, the vital point in our production program, and what we have to worry about night and day.

If we knew something about the machine tool industry, we wouldn't worry too much. The industry is capable of doing this job. Of course, all the machines can't be delivered at once. Schedules must be worked out to give preference so that the most vital jobs can get their machine tools first.

In the first place, what is the machine tool industry? What is a machine tool? What does it do? Well, without machine tools there would be no machines. Without machine tools there would be no automobiles, sewing machines, typewriters, airplanes, guns, or tanks. Before a machine can be made, a machine tool has to be made to make it. If you are interested in the technical definitions a machine tool is "a mechanically operated machine which removes metal in the form of chips." That's pretty simple in itself. Where is the trick? Why all the shouting about machine tools?

The trick is that a machine tool manufacturer is a man who measures things down to two millionths of an inch.

The earlier machine tool builders got their first lessons in the importance of making standardized parts in the firearms and the sewing machine industries. There it was necessary to make parts that would be interchangeable. Before that machines were made one at a time, and by industrious cutting, whittling, filing and rasping. It was possible to get the parts of that machine to fit together, but they wouldn't fit any other machine.

When Eli Whitney built the first cotton gin, he made an iron crank to turn it and a wooden handle to fit the crank. When he built the second he made another iron crank and another handle to fit that crank, but the handle on machine A wouldn't fit the crank on machine B. Today, however, a motor manufacturer can take any one of a million pistons and slip it into any one of a million cylinders, knowing the fit will be perfect.

MEASURING STANDARDS IMPORTANT

To make all this come out even, it is necessary to have standards to go by. If pistons are to be made that fit a million cylinders, they can't be about "so big." That is where the machine tool industry starts—making standard measuring devices. These are steel cubes with square bases. They range from 20 inches absolutely even down to two hundredths of an inch plus or minus five one millionths. The surfaces of these blocks are ground so flat that if one is stacked on top of another they make a solid bar. Compared to the surfaces of these blocks, the average glass window looks to a machine tool manufacturer like the Rocky Mountains. Because those blocks stick together so neatly, a stack can be put together, making a yardstick by which measurement in Keokuk and measurement in Kearney will be identical. And it takes precision machines to make those blocks.

The next step in the machine tool industry is production of micrometer gauges which can be checked for accuracy against these standard blocks. The measurements can be applied to finished work.

That is all preliminary to the serious business of taking off those little chips of metal. For instance, no piece of metal can be cast accurately. If a manufacturer starts to make an airplane cylinder for a thousand horsepower engine, he casts a piece of metal. The foundry men have shaped the mold but as steel can't be cast accurately with the holes, let us say, exactly 3 inches in diameter, so it is cast a little smaller, about 2 7/8 inches. It is then put on a boring machine where a drill spins around inside the openings and cuts off the extra metal, leaving holes that can be finished to a very accurate size. Then, when the piston comes along from another manufacturer, it has been machined to the same accuracy and checked by a set of the blocks already mentioned, and it fits!

Machining is the art of obtaining accuracy in dimensions by whittling down till an absolute is reached.

MACHINE TOOL SPEEDS Of course, speed is important. That cutting tool can shave down a bar of steel at the rate of twenty pounds a minute. Twenty years ago a quarter of a pound a minute was good going. This speed is important because it means that work can be turned out eighty times as fast, but when the machine gets through, no matter how fast it has worked, it still must

S. A. Hughes of this city has a letter from Walter Denison who is building the Lubbock & Crosbyton Railroad stating that he can give employment to 200 men around Nov. 1st.

T. J. Lemmon, our nightwatchman, reports that on last Monday morning about 2 o'clock he saw the most brilliant meteor he has ever observed, which streaked across the sky from west to east under the North star. He said it was as large as the sun and lit up the night to make it as bright as day for several seconds. He has been watching the papers, he said to see if anyone else witnessed the celestial phenomenon.

C. I. Dickinson of Fort Worth has revived his proposition to build a railroad from Fort Worth to Albuquerque, N. M., via Mineral Wells and Haskell and the project reportedly is being well supported financially by Fort Worth business men.

40 Years Ago—Oct. 6, 1900 Lee Pierson left this morning to take in the Dallas Fair. Walter Cousins has taken a position at Terrell's Drug Store. Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Foster went to Dallas Tuesday to attend the State Fair. Mrs. Burwell Cox returned home last Sunday from a visit to relatives in Arkansas. Several Stonevall county farmers sold their cotton in Haskell this week and bought goods from our local merchants. Rufus Bedford of Benjamin, manager of the 999 Ranch in Knox county, was here on business Wednesday. Vice-president Sylvester of the K.C.M.&O. Ry. Co. is to be in Sweetwater in a few days, when a conference with a committee of Haskell citizens is desired. Wm. Cargile of Milam county, brother-in-law of J. S. Fox, and whose wife has been here for a week or so, arrived this week and we understand it is his intention to buy land and settle in the county. Callahan, Jones and Mitchell counties, in the order named, took first, second and third prizes at the Abilene Fair on their agricultural exhibits. We heard an official of the Haskell National Bank say the other day that many farmers who have never before kept a bank account are coming in and opening accounts. This speaks loudly for the prosperity of Haskell county and her people. The Fisher county court being over, Judge Sanders is taking a rest at home this week. He will open court in Kent county next week. He tells of a breach of promise case tried in his court at Roby last week in which the plaintiff was 69 years old and the defendant was a man of 80 years. The jury gave a verdict of $2300 damages as a salve to the lady's blighted affections.

the machines to guide that cutting edge. When those machines are turned out, then they can go to work, twenty-four hours a day making pistons that will fit any cylinder of the thousands of engines for which they are designed, turning out rear axles for the T-2 tanks from Portland, Maine to Portland, Oregon.

BOTTLENECK ONLY "POTENTIAL" There is scarcely a defense instrument that does not depend for production on the machine tool industry. It is the most important potential bottleneck with which the National Defense Advisory Commission's production department was faced. The Production Division has already gotten together with the machine tool manufacturers. The machine tool facilities available to the defense program on a voluntary basis as though priorities were actually in effect.

But when the machines get cutting, they can turn out a sight of parts in short order. It may take six months to build an automatic gear cutter. But a good machine tool can cut the main gear teeth for the rear axle of a tank in two minutes. By hand it would take a couple of days. That's why we get production when the machines are set.

Meanwhile the National Defense Advisory Commission is seeing to it that there are plants and facilities in which the machine tools can go to work.

To get that cutting edge to whittle to the accuracy of a thousandth of an inch, it is necessary to use care in setting it. For that reason, it may require a ton or a 3-ton machine to hold a few ounces of cutting tool, because if the tool is unsteady and gets a little out of line, or is ever affected by heat, all the fine accuracy of the machine is wasted.

It is building up that ton of machine or that thirty tons of machine which has the force to cut away 60 pounds of hardened steel a minute with the proper delicacy of touch that takes the time.

So, before we build the tanks, the planes, the battleships, all the intricate machinery of modern defense, we have to build the machines that can build these machines.

So it is that in New England, for example, where Yankee ingenuity developed the first machine tools, the workmen who have spent a lifetime devoted to ten-thousandth of an inch are busy turning out

Marketing Quota Referendum To Be Held December 7th

Voting procedure in the cotton marketing quota referendum, December 7, will be the same as was used in the referendum last year.

All cotton producers in the state will be given the opportunity to vote in the referendum to decide whether quotas will be in effect in 1941. George Slaughter, state AAA committee chairman, pointed out. In last year's referendum, 82 percent of the cotton producers voting in Texas favored quotas, while 91 percent of the producers in the nation voted "yees."

A national cotton marketing quota of approximately 12,000,000 bales, the same as in effect for the current year, has been proclaimed by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard.

The county AAA committees will be in charge of all arrangements for the referendum in the various counties, the chairman said, and the voting will be handled just as in any regular election. The committee will choose three local farmers to serve as election officers in each community. Voting places will be provided or all communities where cotton is produced, the county committees designating the places and providing ballot boxes. Voting places will open at 9 a. m., December 7.

All voting will be by secret ballot, each farmer marking his ballot and casting it in the customary manner used in secret balloting.

To be effective in 1941, cotton marketing quotas must be approved by two-thirds of the farmers voting in the nation. If approved, quotas will apply to all states, counties and communities where cotton is produced.

Based on condition prevailing September 1, the United States Department of Agriculture has estimated this year's cotton crop at 12,772,000 bales. Production last year 11,817,000 bales.

Latest fashion news stresses the importance of brown wool suits like the window-pane plaid pictured above and appearing in the October Good Housekeeping. Its color was borrowed from the bark of the black birch, from the rough texture of an elm and the rich green brown of the walnut tree. It has a new, long jacket, warmly interlined, and a beautifully tailored slimming skirt.

Flats, seedbeds and potting soil are now sterilized simply and quickly with chloropicrin, one the "tear gas" of warfare. Treating soil to destroy harmful organisms is merely a matter of giving the slightly dampened area a shot or two from a bottle into which a small applicator "needles" the gas below the surface.

To get best results from fall seeding of pasture grasses and legumes, the sub-surface of the soil should be firm and the surface loose.
