Let's keep it American

THE European war has re-awakened Americans to the truth of the saying, "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty."

Our liberty is not immediately threatened. But it may be if we do not prepare to defend it from any possible attack. Such preparation is an effort in which everyone can share.

We favor adequate preparedness for national defense. This country's natural position gives us a great measure of security against threats from abroad. With careful preparation we can strengthen that position until no nation would dare attack us.

National defense is not only a matter of men, airplanes, battleships and guns. It also requires us to strengthen our American institutions, which are the very things we wish to protect and preserve. They must be preserved. It would be a bitter and ironic victory if, in order to defeat an enemy, we sidetracked the system of free enterprise and the personal liberties which distinguish the American way of life from the tyrannies of Europe and Asia.

Let's keep this country American. Government experts and civilian authorities are studying how to provide for our actual defense and each citizen's part in it. Meanwhile, the rest of us can help by doing our work, whatever it is, as well as we can.

That is what all the people of this company intend to do. Together with other electric companies, we have built a system capable of supplying the nation with electric service in any emergency. This system will be maintained and strengthened and we will continue our day-to-day effort to provide the dependable electric service that makes the United States a better place to live.

C., and many other points of interest in the east before returning to their homes.

Physical Fitness Is Essential In Preparedness Plan

"America has with good reason become preparedness-conscious. World events have emphasized the necessity of developing the nation's fighting power to a point where it can meet any exigencies which the future may present. While in the present preparedness program the greater emphasis is placed upon the production of mechanized equipment, the armed forces continue to be aware of the need of physical fitness in their personnel," declares Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"In 1917 more than one-third of the drafted men examined were declared unfit for military duty. Though in recent years the percentage of applicants unfit for service may have dropped slightly, the number is still too high.

"Therefore, it would appear both from the standpoint of the individual's welfare and the nation's that an increased or more intelligent appreciation of the value of good health and maximum vitality will be displayed not only on the part of men of military age, but by the nation as a whole. Both good sense and patriotism demand it. "Whether in peace or in war, a country is only as strong as its people. But it is equally true that real and happy living to the greatest possible extent can only be enjoyed by those who, by a rational observance of nature's basic laws, are giving their bodies a square deal.

"In this connection, the logic of surrounding the young with preventives available through science is obvious. Immunization against diphtheria, smallpox, vaccination, proper food in proper amounts, sufficient sleep and rest, and the removal of remediable physical defects merely represent sound judgment and an essential parental duty," Dr. Cox pointed out.

"But to stop at this point is to fall short of the individual's and the nation's need. All adults profitably could take stock of their habits, eliminate those which they know are detrimental, obtain medical advice on others concerning which they have reasonable doubts, and strive in a sensible, rational manner to develop and keep maximum health and vitality.

"In short the physical examination to discover possible physical defects, and a non-fanciful adherence to fundamental requirements in food, rest, exercise and other essentials are points that should not be overlooked by an adult who has at heart not only his own personal happiness and health, but the interest of the beneficent nation in which he lives.

Outdoor Cookery Not Hard Task If Properly Planned

COLLEGE STATION — Fireplaces in local, state, or national parks make it easy to prepare dinner or supper at the picnic grounds and serve it outdoors. That these are being used constantly is revealed by reports from the Texas Highway Department which is charged with maintenance of roadside parks along state highways.

"If you are one of those persons who like to prepare food outdoors, don't forget the importance of well-balanced meals," warns Nora Ellen Elliott, specialist in food preparation for the A. and M. College Extension Service. She suggests planning the picnic meal around some hot dish. This may either be prepared at the picnic grounds or cooked at home and taken along in a vacuum jug which will keep food hot for hours.

Or, the campers may prepare meat and vegetables at home and then reheat them over the picnic fire. Canned foods can be heated quickly, too, and the brick ovens at most parks are excellent for broiling steaks or making hamburgers.

Raw vegetables as a relish or salad should be included in every picnic menu, the specialist says. If greens are chilled throughout in a refrigerator and wrapped in waxed paper, they will stay crisp and fresh. Carrot or cucumber sticks, celery, radishes or green onions may be packed in covered glass jars. For dessert, Miss Elliott suggests fruit, such as grapes, plums, fresh pineapple, bananas, or other fruit in season. Crunchy cookies, tarts, turnovers, or cup cakes also make good desserts for outdoor meals.

Those who really take their outdoor cookery seriously may obtain a leaflet on "Cooking Over the Campfire" from the Forest Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Carl Maples of Wichita Falls is visiting her mother, Mrs. R. D. C. Stephens who had the misfortune of falling and breaking her wrists last week.

Make It Last Forever!

LIBERTY IS THE blood stream of America. It is what makes this country young, virile, progressive. It builds in people initiative, ingenuity, resourcefulness. It is the strength of a nation at peace.

YET LIBERTY IS fragile as a flower. It needs constant cultivation, pampered care and the constant pruning off of those few malcontents who consistently take liberties without taking Liberty to their hearts. So hard to get—so easy to lose! Retaining Liberty is worth the effort of all of us.

Travis' Letter From The Alamo: Commander of the Alamo Bojar, Feby. 24th, 1836.

To the People of Texas and all Americans in the World—

Fellow citizens and compatriots:

I am besieged, by a thousand or more of the Mexicans under Santa Anna. I have sustained a continual Bombardment and cannonade for 24 hours and have not lost a man. The enemy has demanded a surrender at discretion, otherwise the garrison are to be put to the sword, if the fort is taken. I have answered the demand with a cannon shot, and our flag still waves proudly from the walls. I shall never surrender or retreat. Then, I call on you in the name of Liberty, of patriotism and everything dear to the American character, to come to our aid, with all dispatch. The enemy is receiving reinforcements daily and will no doubt increase to three or four thousand in four or five days. If this call is neglected, I am determined to sustain myself as long as possible and die like a soldier who never forgets what is due to his honor and that of his country—VICTORY OR DEATH.
William Barret Travis,
Lt. Col. comdt.

P. S. The Lord is on our side. When the enemy appeared in sight we had not three bushels of corn. We have since found in deserted houses 80 or 90 bushels and got into the walls 20 or 30 head of Beeves.

Travis
Q. Were the heirs of any soldiers who served in the Texas armies ever granted lands by the Republic of Texas by reason of such service?

A. Yes. One of the interesting grants of such nature was made to the heirs of Jonas H. Stewart, who served in the Texas army in

Why America Has A Farm Problem

Another reason why the nation has a farm problem is the change from horse to mechanical power that has come since the World War.

Gasoline has reduced the market for feed products from about 36 million acres which were formerly used for workstock and has released this acreage for the production of other crops.

1835. The New Orleans Commercial Bulletin, published on December 25, 1835, a copy of which newspaper is on file in the General Land Office to substantiate claims of the heirs. It is an interesting document, and relates the execution of twenty-seven members of his company by a court martial of Mexican soldiers for an attack on Tampico, Mexico, November 15, 1835. Land Commissioner of Bascom Giles invites you to inspect this paper and read the details.

FACTUAL: From the moment an individual sits down to his breakfast until he retires at night, he is constantly surrounded by commodities requiring sulphur for their manufacture or processing.

Q. To what extent is sulphur produced in Texas?

A. Texas produces an average of approximately 1,500,000 tons of sulphur annually which is twenty-four per cent of the total world's production.

Q. Who discovered the first sulphur deposit in Texas?

A. Capt. A. L. Lucas, who in 1903 discovered the Spindletop oil field, discovered the Bryan Mound Dome, the first notable sulphur deposit discovery in Texas.

Q. Where is the Bryan Mound Dome located?

A. In Brazoria County.

Q. Where are some of the commodities requiring sulphur?

A. The iron and steel of the nation require sulphur in its processing. Paints and varnishes, inks, dyes, artificial leather, rayon, fabrics, camera film, plastics, refrigerants, soaps, safety glass, and many thousands of everyday commodities depend upon sulphur as do 32,000 rubber products in daily use.

A Bale To A Tire

Manufacture of another tire as large as the one shown above would require more than a bale of cotton points out Everett R. Cook of Memphis, president of the Cotton Research Foundation, new uses division of the National Cotton Council. The body of this largest tire in the world weighs 2,642.7 pounds, and has a carrying capacity of 45,800 pounds. Second largest single outlet for cotton, the tire industry consumes in excess of 500,000 bales annually. Seeking to protect the tire market from encroachments of rayon, the Foundation recently has filed patents on processes for making stronger cotton tire cords.

ODDITY: Chief Bowles, the great Indian leader, who played a most conspicuous part in the early history of Texas by leading his tribesmen in their war against the settlers, and who was finally killed, according to tradition was not an Indian at all.

Eggs Property Identified For Consumers Bring More Profits

Produce a better egg—then market it in cartons that readily identify both the source and dependability of the product!

That is the money making formula for the egg producer of today, according to J. H. Burrell, Purina Mills Poultry Specialist and authority on egg production and marketing.

"I have never known a time when there was as much interest both in the production and consumption of quality eggs, as now exists," says Burrell. "It is easy to see why this interest has arisen. Better methods of controlling egg quality have been developed. Splendid promotional efforts have succeeded in making the consumer more quality egg conscious."

Extra Egg Income

"Poultrymen who have recognized this trend and have taken the necessary steps to cash in on it are getting 4c to 10c a dozen premium for their eggs. How have they done it? By building a high quality egg, then properly identifying it to the consumer," says Burrell.

"Quality egg production and timely marketing assistance have been made available to many thousands of poultry raisers through the co-operation of Purina Mills and Purina distributors," he says. "After years of research Purina Mills announced a complete laying ration built for controlling the quality, flavor and food value of eggs, called Layena. Then they produced a distinctive and quickly recognized egg carton, furnished without charge to poultrymen who produce eggs on the Layena feeding plan.

"But better eggs won't bring a premium unless they are properly merchandized and made to stand out. They obviously cannot be put into regular marketing channels along with ordinary eggs and be expected to reap an extra margin. They just won't do it."

Markets for Premium Eggs

"There are many ways in which quality eggs can be made to produce a premium. The man who is situated so that he can retail his own eggs conveniently has an excellent opportunity to get what his eggs are really worth," Burrell says. "A poultry man living near a large city or high-type suburban town or on a well travelled highway between two important towns has a grand chance to market his eggs at higher prices."

"Another opportune set-up is that of a poultryman who is situated so that he can deliver or ship his eggs carefully packed and packed to exclusive grocery stores or delicatessen shops. Hotels, restaurants, milk companies, ice cream makers, hospitals, railroad dining cars, clubs, sanitariums private schools and colleges—all these are good prospects for quality eggs when a man is equipped to produce them the year around."

A Convenient Plan

"As to the Layena egg producing and marketing plan, every Purina dealer has the feed and the special egg cartons to follow the plan. Just apply at the local feed store that has the checkerboard sign."
