Work of the draft boards will begin immediately after registration day, Oct. 16. At that time all men of the nation from 21 to 35 years of age inclusive, will register for possible military duty.

It will be the duty of the draft boards to classify those registering and select men to compose the first army to be trained. County draft board members serve without pay.

The unit received this week is the second purchased by the city in recent months. A new reserve pumper and booster truck, with a pumping capacity of 500 gallons per minute, and which also carries a 300-gallon booster tank, hose reel and other standard equipment was received several weeks ago.

Registrars to Get Supplies and Instructions On Saturday

County Clerk Roy Ratliff this week received a quantity of supplies to be used on Registration Day, Oct. 16th, when young men between the ages of 18 and 35 are required to register for possible military training under the nation's compulsory service program.

To the county clerk in each Texas county has been delegated the responsibility of directing the registration, and Mr. Ratliff said Thursday morning that plans for registering all men of draft age in Haskell county would be completed during the week-end.

Registration will be conducted at each of the county's twenty-two voting boxes, with the regular precinct election officials as registrars in charge. They will be assisted by volunteer clerks, and Mr. Ratliff explained Thursday that a number of volunteer workers would be required and he urged that persons willing to assist as clerks contact their precinct election official. Especially appreciated would be the services of teachers and clerical workers, he explained. Under a revised ruling, men within the draft age will be eligible to serve as clerks, but they should first register before assuming the duty of volunteer clerk.

In Haskell, registration booths for the four precincts will be in the same quarters in the courthouse used in the primary elections, and County Judge J. C. Davis, Jr., has announced that all offices in the building would observe a holiday to prevent interference with the registration.

In the Post voting box, which was located at the Adcock home in the recent primaries, the registration place will be the Post Methodist Church. In all other voting precincts, registration will be at the usual polling places. Where these are located in school buildings, school will be dismissed for the day, it was announced.

Registrars from each voting precinct will be issued the necessary supplies and instructions on Saturday from the County Clerks office, as the final step in completing plans for the registration.

It is estimated that between 1,500 and 2,000 men within the draft age will register in Haskell county, County Clerk Ratliff said.

Reporting Whitewing Bands

AUSTIN, Texas—With more than fifty bands already returned, it appears as if the whitewing dove banding project undertaken by the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission and the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service in the Rio Grande Valley last spring will be eminently successful in providing the means of learning considerable concerning that species of bird.

Sportsmen killing whitewing doves with bands on their legs are asked to return them to the Game Department office in Austin or to the game manager at Victoria. Whitewing doves nest only in the Valley and in scant numbers in Southwest Texas counties. Their natural range is being depleted as more and more land is cleared for citrus groves and vegetable farms.

Game department biologists hope to learn much of the habits of whitewings before making definite recommendations concerning ways to aid in increasing the whitewings. It is hoped to ascertain how long the birds live, how many times they will nest in a year whether they travel north after leaving the nest or how soon some of them go to Mexico ahead of the regular migration, which usually comes with cold weather, and how far they move from their nesting areas to their feeding grounds.

Sportsmen in the Valley and hunters going into the Valley for whitewing shooting have been cooperating with the Game Department to the fullest extent.

Do Ducks Drown Themselves?

The contention of many veteran duck hunters that a wounded duck will dive to the bottom and drown itself by holding onto vegetation has been brought up again. A Texas Game Department warden reports that during the last hunting season he saw a duck wounded by a long shot. He marked the spot where the fowl hit the water but did not see the bird come to the surface. Reaching the spot, he observed bubbles coming up. Reaching down, he found the duck. Blades of grass, apparently broken from the main growth on the lake bed, were in the duck's bill.

Capitol Squirrels Increase

Persons visiting the state capitol in Austin will see more squirrels scampering around the spacious lawn surrounding the capitol building. The Game Department ment last spring placed fifteen squirrel nests, made of old logs, in trees on the grounds. A recent check of nine of the nests disclosed that squirrels were using five of them. Several had young squirrels, from eight to nine weeks of age, in them.

Road Shooting Dangerous

Sportsmen are being warned by game wardens that shooting from public highways is not only illegal, but extremely dangerous. Dove hunters recently wounded a brother and sister who live in Hunt county as they returned from school. Game wardens immediately got to work on the case and discovered the identity of the three hunters who fled after wounding the children. They were arrested. To date, one has pled guilty and paid a fine of $100 plus costs.

Hunting is not allowed under the law, on public highways, nor from motor cars.

It is also being pointed out to hunters that carelessness in shooting livestock makes for considerable ill feeling between landowners and hunters and sportsmen are being urged to never shoot in the direction of livestock.

New Nash On Display Here

Heralded as the most modern automobile to come out of the motor car industry, this new Nash Aeropowered Ambassador Eight is being formally introduced to the public throughout this country this week. Following the high standards set up in the aircraft industry, the power plants of these fleet new cars are America's only stock car twin-ignition, valve-in-head motors, with temperature control developed to a new high degree. Inlet manifolds are built into the motor, cylinders are cooled by water jackets that run their full length and water pumps are set at the side of the motor, instead of at the front. The cars are also said to have a conditioned air system that manufactures spring weather the year around, and a new type of body construction of the bridge-truss type that provides much greater roominess and structural strength. This type of construction, utilizing new light-weight alloy steels, cuts hundreds of pounds of useless weight from the car, boosting performance and economy. Styled in the new low, wide, slipstream trend, the cars have concealed running boards, increased glass area for greater visibility, and are offered in both deck and fast backs. Duo-tone interiors harmonize with single and two-tone body colors.

T. E. L. Class Has Business and Social Meeting Friday

Then yearly reports were given by the officers present. The class has made progress in some points of the six point record system and in others the report was not so good.

Following the business an installation service was held for the new officers. A small ship with flags flying rested on the table and ship pictures on the wall denoted an ocean voyage. The officers were installed as the crew aboard ship. The teachers, Mrs. B. M. Whiteker directed the service. To the teacher, as admiral, was given a compass that she might set the true course and with the admonition, "The spirituality of your crew will never rise above your own spirituality." To the president as captain went a steering wheel and to the first vice-president, recruiting officer, went a placard "Enlist for Service." The second vice president who is fellowship chairman was adjured to "make life aboard ship so attractive there will be no deserters," and to the third vice president as chaplain was given a Bible. The four group captains received a strong anchor chain with the thought that no chain is stronger than its weakest link. Mrs. H. R. Whasley offered a beautiful dedicatory prayer and Mrs. J. M. Littlefield sang My Anchor Holds. Mrs. R. P. Glenn brought a splendid devotional.

Monday evening October 8th the Helen Bagby Circle of the Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. R. J. Paxton in a Bible Study.

The meeting opened with a prayer by Mother Crawford. Our next lesson will be the book of Judges.

We were quite sad about the illness of our leader, Mrs. Cates, from a car accident Saturday night and motored to her residence after the meeting with a love gift and hoping she could be with us again soon. Mrs. Taylor dismissed ten ladies with prayer.

The following ladies were present: Mesdames Reynolds, Crawford, Everett, Bailey, Sides, Yantis, Paxton, Taylor and Misses Crawford and Cox. We will meet with Mrs. Sides in our next Bible study.

Japan and The Axis

Announcement of Japan's new alignment with the Rome-Berlin Axis, although not unexpected, was a somewhat dramatic gesture which has perhaps created more excitement than its importance warrants. It does not materially change the situation which already existed, except that it may cause Americans to realize more clearly that Britain is the only powerful friend we have in the world.

It is difficult to see how either Germany, Italy or Japan will benefit very much by the new agreement or treaty, whatever it may be, as neither is in a position to help the other to any great extent. All have their hands full in their own spheres already, and neither has any raw materials, armaments or cash which can be spared to aid a totalitarian partner.

In fact all three nations are faced with grave economic problems, including the danger of serious shortages of essential materials and even food. Germany is somewhat better situated than Italy or Japan, being in a position to continue to rob her conquered neighbors to supply her own needs, but it is unlikely that she will share the lot with Italy and Japan to any appreciable extent.

Japan has been bled white to continue her war against China; Italy has made little headway in the Mediterranean or in Africa, and Germany so far has been thwarted in her boasted intention to crush England. So the new combination appears to be principally a move for propaganda purposes — to bluff the United States and intimidate smaller nations.

Weather and The War

Not only England, but a large part of the whole world is speculating on what effect the coming of bad weather may have on German bombing raids. It has been generally believed that the storms and fogs soon to be prevalent over Britain and the English channel will serve to hamper the German attacks.

It has been observed, however, that in some instances in recent weeks successful German air raids have been made in spite of heavy clouds and rain. British bombers have also inflicted much damage on the Germans at times when the weather was apparently unfavorable.

There is little likelihood that bombing raids by either side will be discontinued except temporarily because of bad weather, but it will be difficult to do more than attempt to reach objectives through blind flying and drop bombs pretty much at random. Thus any damage done will likely be at the expenditure of an enormous amount of bombs in comparison with the results obtained, and hitting important military bases will be largely accidental.

Because storms travel mostly from west to east the British will have a considerable advantage, as the weather England has one day will generally prevail over Germany about 24 hours later. No weather forecasts are given out in England so the Germans will have little information as to what to expect until they run into it.

On the whole, England expects to get much relief from the fogs and mists which prevail from about October until March, and these are hopefully awaited.

A Builder of Ships

An important and unusual career ended a few days ago in the death of Lewis Nixon, one of the greatest of modern shipbuilders at the age of 79. A native of Virginia, Nixon was graduated from the Naval Academy at the head of his class in 1882, and was transferred to the Navy's construction corps two years later.

In 1890 at the age of 29, he designed the battleships Oregon, Indiana and Massachusetts of Spanish-American War fame, and then resigned from the Navy to enter shipbuilding in civil life. After a few years as superintending constructor of the Cramp shipyard in Philadelphia, he organized and headed the Crescent shipyard at Elizabeth, N. J., where he built 100 vessels in six years, including many ships for the Navy.

Subsequently he headed various other shipyards and munitions works and was internationally known as one of the world's greatest industrialists. He was received in special audiences by the king of England, the czar of Russia, Popes Pius X and XI, the king of Belgium and the presidents of several Latin-American countries.

In addition to his many industrial activities, Mr. Nixon devoted much attention to politics and was leader of Tammany Hall, besides holding several state offices at various times and being a delegate to seven Democratic national conventions, the last in 1932.

Few Americans have had a longer span of active life than Lewis Nixon, who will be remembered as one of the foremost shipbuilders of his day.

40 Years Ago—Oct. 13, 1900

The Baylor County Banner, which rounded out its fifth year last week, has grown to be one of the best weekly papers in this part of the state—and that is saying a good deal.

A. A. Brewer is building a residence on his lands just east of town.

Homer Bivins went to Austin this week, where he will enroll for a course in the law department of state university.

The postoffice at Marcey began handling mail Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Burrill Cox are visiting relatives at Throckmorton.

R. P. Simmons of Lee county came out this week and saw our town and county, and was pleased to such an extent that he bought Mr. L. N. Ritter's residence for $950 cash and will move here.

One of our former citizens, E. Hill who now resides in the Chickasaw county in Indian Territory, was here a few days this week.

Ed Jones, who resides on the old W. C. Jones homestead place in the Clear Fork valley, was here a few days this week. He like many others in the valley, suffered losses in the recent flood. He told of being awakened when the flood waters rose to his yard, and was barely able to remove his wife and three children to higher ground before the waters rose to his home. At the peak of the flood, water stood almost three feet deep in their house. He lost all of his feed, and unharvested corn in the fields was badly damaged.

Luther Thomas of Benjamin, who has Dr. Lindsey's blooded filly, Winnie Davis, under training, brought her down this week and showed her off. Although Mr. Thomas has handled her only two or three months, taking her unbroken, he says she has shown a speed of about 2:30 and he expects her to beat that a good deal before he is done with her training.

Building For Defense

Plants and Facilities

Machine tools are number one in our national defense program. Plants and facilities are number two. Let's take a look at them. It is pretty simple to build a plant. Many engineering firms, with experienced contractors can knock together a plant for turning out anything from ashcans to airplanes in a comparatively short time. But that is only the beginning of the problem. In the first place, since it takes so much time to build machine tools, they have to be ordered well in advance. But even so, a structure is not a plant just because there is a building with some machinery inside. A plant is about as useful as handles on a pyramid if there are no facilities to get the raw materials to the plant, and get the finished product from the plant to where it will do somebody some good. So, although there is plenty of room to put up plants in this country, they must be located along lines of transportation and more important than this, they must be located some place between the forests, mines, and fields where the raw materials originate, and the Army and Navy Supply Depots where the finished products are going. Otherwise we will have our transportation lines tied up in a knot carting half processed materials from Springfield, Massachusetts to Springfield, Ohio to get nut No. 39 screwed on and then have them go back to Schenectady to have nut No. 42 applied.

That is why the National Defense Advisory Commission can't approve just any old plant located in any old place. This program has to have rhyme and reason.

Then, as we have discovered, there is the item of labor. It is all very well to talk about using surplus labor, but a man who is an expert on turning big horses' hooves into glue may not be the healthiest man in running final tests on thousand horsepower airplane engines. Therefore, in building plants and facilities, arrangements have to be made for securing the necessary experienced manpower to run them. Apparently, America has licked the problem of interchangeability of machine parts, but we have not made as much progress on the interchangeability of skilled workmen. The National Defense Advisory Commission is at work on this problem at the present time. As was suggested recently, perhaps the man skilled in dumping hot bread from the pans as they come out of the bake-oven can also use his skill in dumping hot castings out of their molds.

IMMEDIATE ADAPTION OF AUTO PLANTS NOT FORESEEN

There has been quite a bit of discussion as to why not turn over the automobile factories to manufacturing airplanes. There are a couple of reasons why this would not work so well. In the first place, the country still needs automobiles for private use, and in the second place, we are going to need plenty of automobiles and truck units for our national defense program. And when it comes to equipment, automobile factories will need the new machine tools they have, by and large, are set up to handle automobile size units, and automobiles turn out 100 horsepower, while airplane plants turn out 1,000 horsepower. Therefore, they would have to wait for the machinery before they really could start production. But the automobile industry is turning out a great number of small pieces for the aircraft industry. The companies specializing in the manufacture of valves, for instance, can turn out airplane valves in addition to their present automobile valves.

POWER FACILITIES

Plants, facilities, transportation and men are not much good unless they have something to make the machines go around. Therefore, adequate power must be provided. The power needed by these various type of plants varies tremendously. In one case, Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., head of the Industrial Materials Division asked Congress to appropriate $25,000,000 to increase power producing facilities of TVA. This power will be used in huge kilowatt eating plants which turn out aluminum vital to airplane production. In other plants coal or gas are necessary in industrial processes. These plants must be located with a view to these supplies.

The plants are pretty well tied down as to their facilities, but there is still another problem that has to be taken care of, and that is housing the labor. Houses must be made available. There must be stores where food can be purchased; provisions for schooling the children; taking care of the sick, and all the hundred and one services needed by a modern com-munty. Fortunately, the nation has had considerable experience in building up plants of this type. It's going to take time to get the plants built, but when they are built, when the tools are available in the plants, when the labor has moved in and gone to work, this nation can roll out a lot of material in a short time, and during that time the Army and Navy are busy perfecting the designs of the materials to come, not only perfecting them on blue prints, but with the air of the National Defense Advisory Commission, actually having them produced in existing plants capable of handling this type of orders. Therefore, this whole business can go ahead in orderly progression, and as the plants are finished, the planes, the tanks and the gun will roll down the production lines on their way to the fighting forces.

Indians To Meet Anson Tigers

The Haskell Indians meet the Anson Tigers on their field tonight and we hope we can come back with the big end of the score.

Haskell Loses To Munday

An exciting game between the Haskell Indians and the Munday Moguls was witnessed there Friday night by hundreds of fans. In the first quarter the Indians held Munday on their own one. Haskell kicked to about the thirty and from there Munday began a drive which resulted in a touchdown. They converted for the extra point. Following Munday's touchdown the Indians made a touchdown on a long run by Holcomb.

The second quarter was fairly quiet with Munday making three first downs in succession, and finally being stopped by the Indians.

The third quarter found Haskell scoring with the touchdown again by Holcomb. The conversion was no good. In the fourth quarter Munday drove again deep into Haskell territory but Haskell kicked out. Munday drove back for their second touchdown and successfully converted for the extra point, making the final score 14-12 in favor of Munday.

New School Library Begun

Members of the Warwhoop staff have recently been provided with a new textbook on journalism. Already the members are using it to an advantage and since we don't have a journalism class in our school we hope that we can obtain from the book necessary facts for a better school paper. It was written by the associate professor of journalism in the University of Texas and is entitled "Journalism and the School Newspaper".

This book is greatly appreciated by the staff, and we sincerely thank the school authorities for making it possible to have a better paper. This makes a small beginning of our school library.

Seniors To Select Class Rings

In a meeting last week the seniors set Thursday October 10, as date to select rings for the seniors of 1941.

Then in a later meeting Mr. Ramsey pointed out that we could possibly get our rings from Mr. Lyles, our local jeweler, instead of ordering from an out of town store.

A ring committee will get a number of samples from our local store for the entire class to look at and if they do not find a design they like, then the class will ask other salesmen to come and bring their samples.

Home Making Classes Making Progress

Enrolled this year in the Home Ec. classes are seventy-two girls. These girls have the fun of going from the Christian Church over to the Baptist Church where they meet their classes in the basement.

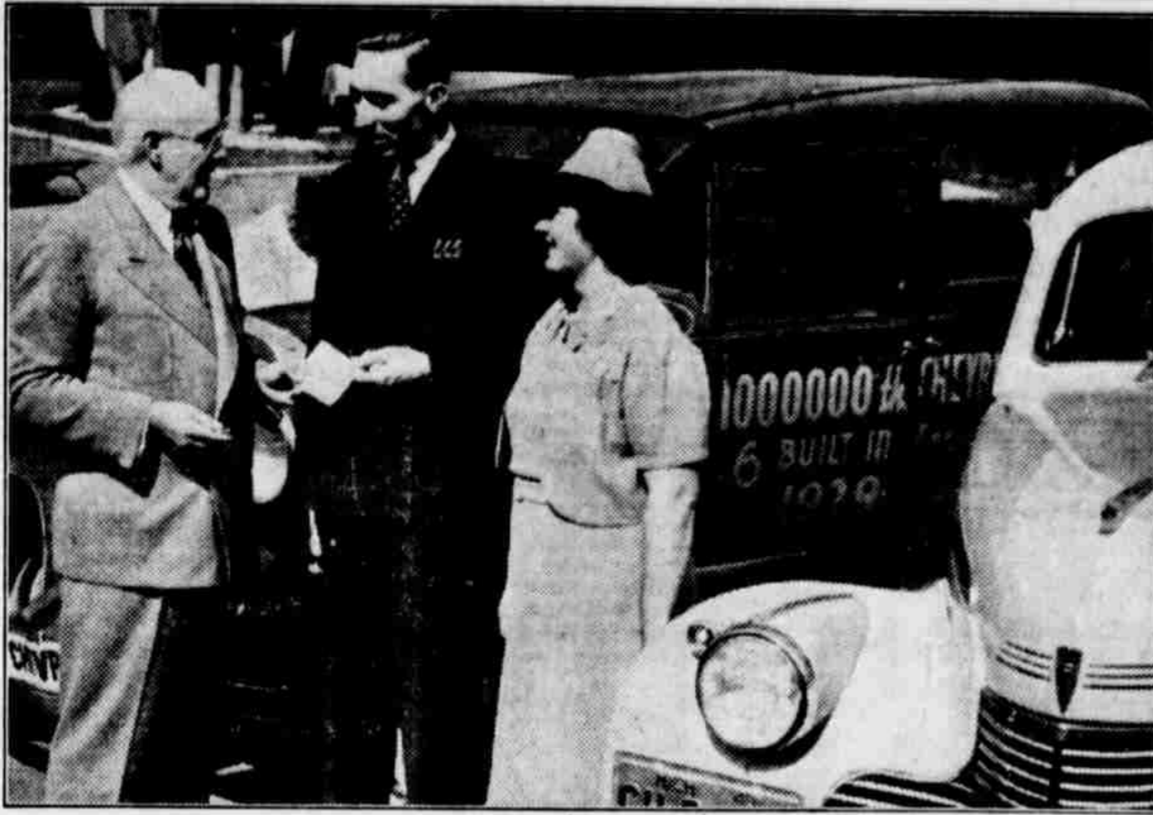

Due to the fact that they have no stoves, all the girls are taking clothing this first half of the year. There are five machines in the clothing department, and the girls have accomplished much considering the circumstances.

The second year girls have their projects well under way; they are making clothing for the pre-school child. First year girls have started work on their project which is either of the three things—a housecoat, a pair of pajamas, or a skirt.

One girl remarked that she liked Home Ec. in the basement but not as well as she did last year when we had our modern and convenient home making laboratory.

The Horse and Mule Association of America has set the dates for its annual horse pulling contest to fall with the National Dairy Show at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, on October 12 to 19.

"Milestone Car" Presented to Contest Winners

Presentation of Chevrolet's "Milestone Car"—the 1,000,000th 1940 model produced by the industry's leader—was made at the New York World's Fair last week to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Weinert (shown here), of Iron Mountain, Mich., owners of the millionth Chevrolet six-cylinder model, built in 1929. The Weinerts were winners of a nation-wide contest conducted by Chevrolet to locate a No. 1,000,000. As guests of Chevrolet, the Michigan couple drove to New York, arriving at the Fair with more than 110,000 miles on their '29 car, which Weinert had purchased as a used car, at a price of $25. M. E. Coyle (left), general manager of Chevrolet, presented the new 1940 Special De Luxe model to the Weinerts. Chevrolet's production of a million units this year maintains a seven-year record of a million a year average, with the 1,000,000th 1940 car following No. 900,000 by exactly one month. The well-traveled 1929 model has been returned to Detroit, where it will be placed on display.

Attend Marine Band Concert

Eight Haskell High School students attended the Marine Band concert given at Hardin-Simmons University last week. Students attending were: Patsy Pate, Marcia Beldsoe, Betty Jane Isbell, Mary Womble, Wayne Dunn, J. L. Grace, Roy Pittman and Jack Morris.

In the recent meeting of the Junior class Florence Hammer was elected Secretary and Treasurer, instead of Beunis Ratliff, as stated last week. Beunis Ratliff was elected Reporter.

Principal Continues Graduate Work

Mr. Ramsey, who is the principal of the Haskell High School, finished class work for his Master's degree at North Texas State Teachers College this summer, and lacks only the writing of a thesis. He and Mrs. Ramsey and son were in Denton all summer where he complete twelve weeks' work. Mrs. Ramsey also attended the college.

Before coming to Haskell schools, Mr. Ramsey was principal five years at Midway and is beginning his second year here as principal. He finished high school at Perrin, Texas, and entered the Decatur Baptist College. Later he went to the Denton State Teachers College, where he was a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, a member of the College Chorus and a member of the Col-quartet. He also belonged to the Industrial Education Society. Mr. Ramsey received his Bachelor of Arts degree majoring in Secondary Administration.

HOME ECONOMICS IMPROVEMENTS

The Home Economics girls have been very busy this first six weeks. They have been planning cleaning and rearranging. Each girl had done her part in helping. The girls have got new curtains and two new shades for the apartment. They have added a living room suite in one part of the building, and are trying to make a better kitchen. If they improve the looks of the building in the next six months as much as they have the last six weeks, there is no telling what it will come to look like.

ATTENDANCE GOOD IN SPITE OF COTTON PICKING

Although the farmers of the community are harvesting one of the best cotton crops in several years, this work has not greatly affected school attendance. Patrons are becoming aware that in order to have an accredited school it is necessary to run it for a full nine months term, and this would not be possible if school were dismissed for cotton picking. Attendance is at least seventy-five percent of enrollment. Some students, however, have been obliged to drop out, and this will make it difficult to pass grades. Teachers are making every possible allowance for these students, however.

• Remember this kitchen-trailer last year? Well it has been over-hauled and equipped with brand new Electric Servants for the Fair. The broadcasting studio again will be operated, providing music and entertainment. The public address system will be open to the public for announcements—and the job of re-uniting lost children with their parents. Be sure to visit and inspect the all-electric kitchen.

Attend the Central West Texas Fair! Progress from year to year is measured by exhibits and enthusiasm at the Fair. It is an event which merits wholehearted support of the home folks. If they become enthusiastic in their welcome to out-of-towners, then the Fair is bound to succeed. We are "home-folks" and we join in welcoming visitors to Haskell for the Fair.
