FIRST BALE OF '39 COTTON GINNED AT O'BRIEN SATURDAY

400-Pound Bale Grown By Claud Reed Gets $35 Premium

First bale of cotton ginned in Haskell county from the 1939 crop was turned out by the O'Brien Co-operative Gin Saturday, August 12. The cotton was grown on the farm of Claud Reed and was of the Northern Star variety. The bale weighed 400 pounds, and was bought by the gin at 9c per pound. A premium of $35 was also raised, according to S. N. Reed, gin manager. Two additional bales have been gathered in that section from this year's crop. Mr. Reed reported, and have been stored to await ginning Saturday.

This year's first bale came six days earlier than the first bale from the 1938 crop, which was ginned on August 18th last year.

In the immediate vicinity of Haskell farmers state that very little cotton is opening now, due to rains during the past ten days, and it is likely that it will be two weeks or longer before any cotton is ginned here.

PLANS FOR 1939 CWT FAIR BEING CARRIED FORWARD

Catalog and Premium List Will Be Distributed At Early Date

Catalog and premium list of the 1939 Central West Texas Fair is being revised this week and will be placed in the hands of printers Saturday, Walter Murchison, president of the association, said Thursday. Sale of advertising space in the catalog has met with a ready response from business men, he said. Two thousand copies of the booklet will be mailed to exhibitors in Haskell and adjoining counties.

Very few changes will be made in the rules governing exhibits, and additional awards will be added in several departments, fair association officials said, principally in the livestock and agricultural divisions, which will be broadened in scope. Other plans for this year's exposition, to be held during the week of October 16 to 21, are going forward nicely. Amusement attractions will include the T. J. Tidwell Carnival and Shows, with automobile races and football games as featured attractions during the four days Fair. Plans are being considered for additional attractions that may be booked for the week, fair officials said.

According to Sheriff Dotson, Lee contracted for the purchase of a quantity of maize from Mr. Kimbrough, and hauled away a truck load of about nine tons, promising to return the next day and pay the farmer. The estimated saving to fire insurance buyers of Haskell is based on the total net premiums of $27,013 paid in 1938. Net losses, covered by insurance, for the same period amounted to $4,523.

Another important change announced by the state commission was the extension of the 25 per cent maximum good fire record credit to all cities and towns of Texas now eligible for fire record credit or penalty. Formerly, the maximum credit for cities with less than $20,000 in annual fire insurance premiums was only 15 per cent for good loss records. Quality Hatching Eggs From Turkey Flock; Feeding of Poults Requires Utmost Care

(By Lee Eynon James, Assistant Poultry Husbandman, Texas Agricultural Ex. Station)

There is an increasing demand for good quality turkey hatching eggs from the Northern states as well as from our local hatcheries. Due to these conditions the poultry division of the agricultural experiment station designed experiments to study the best methods to properly feed and manage turkeys from day-old poults to mature laying hens in order to secure the maximum number of high quality hatching eggs.

A system of brooding that withheld excessive protection from the young poults produced a profitable hardening process that prevented later losses and resulted in higher egg production. Feeding and management increased the egg production per bird from an average of 60 to one of 80 to 100 eggs in a four-month period. The feed requirements per bird per egg was determined. It was found that inferior hens should be sold prior to their becoming a costly liability and that the egg producing flock should be chosen from only the early maturing hens.

In early experiments it was noted that there was a greater mortality in poults than was evident in chicks the first week of life. This death rate was attributed to starvation. Studying this factor, it was found that when poults were raised in a colony type brooder house and were given either daily care and hand feeding, or the use of older poults was employed to instigate feeding habits there was an 8 to 10 per cent reduction in the poults' mortality. In confined pens where sunlight was not available equivalent to four hours of sunshine weekly, it was necessary to feed 1-4 to 1-2 per cent cod liver oil to prevent rickets. This condition is expected to occur where poults are started in battery brooders of colony type brooder houses devoid of sunporches.

Small flock owners utilize turkey hens to incubate and brood individual clutches of eggs. Tests on such a practice as this showed that if the brooding hen was not rid of external and internal parasites they were transmitted to the hatched brood with resultant losses.

Results showed that poults started in battery brooders should be transferred to the range when they are three to four weeks of age. This practice produced a high poults' mortality, but prevented any nursing of the weaker birds through early poults life, which is costly due to high adult mortality. Poults raised in colony brooder houses were better hardened than those raised in batteries due to the possibility of exercise and the availability to runs or sunporches. This management avoided bad weather by allowing a later transfer to the growing range.

Good Growing Rations
It was found that a growing ration for maximum growth should contain a protein requirement 5 to 8 per cent higher than a similar ration for chickens, 15 per cent wheat gray shorts, and a calcium-phosphorous ratio requiring 2 per cent oyster shell and 1-1-2 per cent bone meal.

oats, wheat bran and meat and bone scraps. The time to commence feeding the laying mash for highest production was determined as the last of November to the middle of December. A group so fed produced on an average 80 to 100 eggs per bird in a four-month laying period. From the test it was concluded that 20 per cent meat and bone scraps and 5 per cent of dried whey satisfied the protein requirements of laying turkeys. Eight to twelve pounds of feed per month was required to feed a turkey hen, this was a requirement of three fourths to one pound of feed produce one egg. The turkey consumed more mash and less grain as the season advanced. A decrease in egg production was correlated with broodiness among the hens. When flocks are large enough to merit machine incubation, laying hens are too valuable to permit brooding.

As the essential requirements for quality hatching eggs are fertility and hatchability, combined with the inherent factors to produce a healthy uniform breed, it was found these requirements could be increased 7 to 10 per cent by a daily rotation of toms, frequent gathering of eggs, cool storage of these eggs, and weekly setting of the eggs produced.

Stiff Penalties Are Provided In "Hot" Check Law

There's a new hot check law in Texas... and it's as stiff as the proverbial poker. The law became effective June 22nd. It provides that in all cases the non-payment of the instrument upon presentation is prima facie evidence that the person gave or drew it with the intent to defraud. And if you think the penalties are not stiff, just cast your peepers over the following:

First Offense — Check less than $5.00: Confinement in county jail not exceeding two years, or fine not exceeding $200.
Check between $5.00 and $50.00: Jail sentence same as above, or fine not exceeding $500.
Check $10.00 and over: Confinement in penitentiary not less than two years nor more than ten years.

.. DID you ever get CHEWING GUM on your SHOE?

... Yes? Then you'll know what we're talking about when we say that motor oil oxidation in your motor causes a stickier mess than gum on your shoe. And let us advise you, motor oil oxidation is fairly common when you use an inferior oil in a modern car. It's a chemical change brought about by higher operating temperatures, faster speeds, narrower clearances between pistons and cylinder walls; even streamlining contributes to it. As inferior motor oils combine with oxygen—that is, oxidize—under heat and pressure, they form a gooey mess of sludge, gum and varnish-like substances; and this mess in any case retards engine efficiency, and at worst causes expensive repair jobs. ... So you want to avoid it, of course. ... The best way is to use a modern motor oil in your modern car—to drain your crankcase and refill with Humble's Balanced 997. ... This definitely improved Humble product is balanced to give you a clean motor, low oil consumption, safe service, great stability at high and low temperatures, minimum engine wear, freedom from sticky gum and varnish-like formations on pistons and piston rings, easy starting in winter, instant lubrication, a perfect seal between piston rings and cylinder walls, low carbon, easy pumpability and circulation. ... Stop at the nearest Humble sign and ask for BALANCED 997—why not today!

TEXAS OUT-O-DOORS

Raising quail by providing cover and a sufficient food supply has reached the point where there are now projects under way in 16 counties of the State, it is announced by Phil Goodrum, Director of Research and Education for the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission. By providing sufficient food and cover for birds, it has been found they will increase appreciably without the State resorting to re-stocking.

The general plan of fencing areas ranging in sizes from one-quarter to five acres to prevent stock over-grazing is being followed in the majority of the counties in which the quail restoration projects are being carried on. In the past the majority of the areas in the experimental project have proved highly successful in quail raising and it is believed certain that most of the projects now underway will do a great deal towards restocking the birds in the various localities. The counties in which the projects are being carried on are Guadalupe, Clay, Brazoria, Jasper, Orange, Polk, Tyler, Wharton, Liberty, Bell, Falls, Colorado, Milam, Lubbock, Taylor, and Harris.

The woods and plains of Texas abound with unusual stories, but the most unique occurrence observed recently was in Hudspeth County, where a herd of 25 antelope was seen chasing two coyotes for several miles. State Game Warden W. D. Stubblefield was riding with Bob Ingram of El Paso along a draw on the old Mitchell Ranch when suddenly a coyote came up over the ridge with approximately 25 antelope in close pursuit. Stubblefield stopped his car. The antelope chased the coyotes over the other strange as it may seem an albino squirrel and a black and brown nut eater were both found within a few miles of each other near the East Bernard River not far from Cat Spring, Texas, recently. Mr. Emmett Knepton of Cat Spring captured the albino when it was extremely young and has raised it in his back yard. Mr. Knepton also reported the black and brown spotted squirrel, which was killed by a hunter near his place.

Bird migrations from the North into Texas has already started. Long billed curlews and upland plovers have been seen in south-central Texas. They are the forerunners of a number of other species of migratory birds which include not only many species of ducks and geese but song and insectivorous birds such as robins, starlings, meadow larks, mourning doves, several varieties of sparrows, warblers of several different kinds, and buntings.

Teal, one of the smaller species of ducks are usually among the first of the ducks to migrate south each year. However, hunters generally regard them as migrating in September, October and November. Representatives of the Game Department sighted teal as far south as Laredo in early August last year.

"The Commands of Christ" Is Devotional Theme At W. M. S. Meeting

Mrs. J. M. Glass was hostess to the W. M. S. of First Christian Church Monday afternoon August 7th. In the business period the president used "The Commands of Christ" as the devotional theme.

Mrs. R. O. Pearson directed one of the most interesting and helpful programs on the topic "Citizens of a World Community." This was the second of a two-session study. "The World in My Mind" is the first we considered the interdependence of the world, and our understanding of the meaning community. The August program brought us to the realization of the fact that if we are true Christians we are citizens of a world community. In our devotional "Kindled Fires for a Redeemed World," Mrs. Pearson really kindled fires of desire in the heart of each member to be good world citizens. Ps. 19:1-16, 22:27, Isa. 35:8-9, John 21:15-17.

Mrs. Virgil Meadors gave a splendid discussion of the topic "Keep Your Eyes On The World." This discussion provoked the question just how provincial-minded are we and how are our attitudes and relationships affected by this provincialism? Mrs. Murray Johnson discussed "A World Citizen in Action." This very timely discussion caused us to face our responsibilities as a group and to investigate a course of action in fulfilling that responsibility, after Mrs. Johnson's very fine round table and a few observations by the director we were made to wonder if we were even good Haskell citizens. During the fellowship period the hostesses assisted by her daughters and Mary Lou Johnson served ice cream and cake to sixteen members and four visitors: Mrs. Geo. Dean of Anaheim, California was an out of town visitor.

The Society meets September 4th with Mrs. Hunt, with Mrs. Guy Collins as director.

Members present were: Mmes. Slover Bledsoe, Floyd McGuire, L. E. Newton, Otis Matthews, Vernon Ivy, Cecil Bower, Jack Merdant, Jake Holcomb, Curtis Thornton, Cliff Chamberlain, Arthor Blair, Thea Free, F. M. McCarty and Edward Newton. Visitor Miss Lou Etta Stamford. Assistant Reporter

An "almost irreplaceable" book, a chronicle of Texas' major contribution to Confederate cavalry during the Civil War, "Terry's Texas Rangers" was given to the University of Texas last week. Donor of the 100-page volume, of which only 250 are believed to be in print, was Miss Jeanette Giles of Austin, granddaughter of L. B. Giles, author of the book and officer in the ranger regiment. His grandson is Bascom Giles, present state land commissioner.

According to Mrs. Marcella Lively Hamer, Texas Collection librarian, Giles' account reports that, of the 1,640 Texans originally mustered into the regiment and serving through the battles of Shiloh, Chickmauga and Atlanta, about 240 survived.

Miss Giles said that her grandfather did not surrender his gun after Appomattox, but made his way back to Texas on his own horse surrendering his gun later under the Texas Reconstruction Government. He died in Laredo in 1922.

Sermon: "Christ The Only Foundation."

Baptist Revival—8:15 p. m.
Is it fair to invite a man to become the pastor of a church and lay upon him the duty of preaching every Sunday and then stay away from the services you require him to lead?

Is it fair to leave that pastor to preach to empty pews because it is a little too warm for comfort and you prefer to stay at home? Is it fair to profess to love Jesus Christ and to consider his faith of supreme importance and then desert the house of his worship and thereby bring pain to Christ's heart and reproach upon his name?

Is it fair to grant to yourself those liberties which, if practiced by all, would paralyze the church and destroy not only its usefulness, but its existence?
Think! Think! Think!

Fred McClung, Church of Christ evangelist who is well known here, will begin a two weeks revival meeting tonight (Friday) at the Church of Christ in Munday.

Anniversary Dates

Gold was discovered in the Klondike region of Alaska August 17, 1896, and many persons can recall the mad rush of prospectors to the North Woods in search of fortune. Most of the prospectors met with failure and disaster because they were not prepared for the hazardous venture.

Likewise today, many persons face disaster from ever-present hazards that menace their property. One sure way to be prepared against property loss is to invest in dependable insurance. The cost is low, but protection is sure. If your property is not sufficiently insured see us today.

Soil Conservation Districts Planned Over Wide Section

Landowners in the Rolling Plains portion of West Texas are petitioning the State Soil Conservation Board to hold hearings and elections for the creation of Soil Conservation districts in portions of thirteen counties, including over four million acres.

Largest of the four districts sought centers around Ballinger where landowners are petitioning the Board to create a district of 2,000,000 acres that drain into the Colorado and Concho Rivers. The proposed district includes most of Runnels County and parts of Coke, Coleman, Concho, Nolan, Taylor and Tom Green.

A petition from Colorado seeks to create a district of 720,000 acres in parts of coke, Mitchell, Nolan, and Scurry Counties.

Parts of Dickens, Kent, and Stonewall Counties are partitioning for a district of 730,000 acres and the people of Wilbarger County and the eastern part of Wichita County are asking for a district of 600,000 acres. All four petitions provide for the establishment of the districts on a watershed basis.

The petitions are being presented under the provisions of the recently enacted Soil Conservation Districts law which gives landowners the right to organize themselves into districts for erosion control work. The new act is administered by a State Board of five landowners who were elected by the farmers of Texas in elections held last May.

After a petition, carrying the names of fifty or more farmers is presented to the State Board, the Board may hold a hearing to determine the interest in the creation of a district. Such hearings are now scheduled for Vernon on August 16, Spur on August 17, and Miles on August 18.

After a hearing is held, the State Board is empowered to hold an election for the landowners of the proposed district to vote for or against the creation of a district. If two thirds of the landowners voting favor the creation of a district, the State Board may proceed with it but they have the authority to deny its creation if they consider it unfeasible.

Landowners who are petitioning for districts say that it will enable them to attack the erosion problem

Treatment For Cancer Victims Sought By Vets

The local post of the American Legion has adopted a resolution requesting the Veterans Administration to install in the new Veterans Hospital or Facility now being erected in Dallas equipment to treat cancer. There is a movement throughout Texas to have this equipment installed. This movement was brought about due to the fact that at present there is only Facility equipped to treat such cases, that being the Hines Facility at Chicago. At all times its capacity is overcrowded with a long list waiting to be received.

According to the Veterans Administration over 50 per cent of such cases arise within the Dallas area. This area includes the states of Texas and Oklahoma and parts of New Mexico, Arkansas and Louisiana. This territory embraces less than ten per cent of the population with over 50 per cent of cases of cancer. Due to the distance and time required the Legion contends that to install equipment to treat such at Dallas, which would require only an expenditure of about $160,000.00, if installed at the present time, would be a saving to the government, in addition to the saving of many lives.

According to information the matter rests entirely within the hands of General Hines the Veteran Administrator. There is sufficient money to make the provision, and with the proper presentation of the matter to the Administration the Facility will be provided with the equipment.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

The glory of good men is in their conscience and not in the mouths of men.
—Thomas a Kempis

The Cotton Problem

It is not as widely recognized as it should be that the plight of the cotton farmer is not a problem for the South alone. It affects the people of every section of the country in some degree, and it is to the interest of all to cooperate in its solution.

One practical way in which the whole nation may give this cooperation is by using more cotton goods—especially wearing apparel. This could be done at an actual saving, and with little, if any, sacrifice in style or comfort, for in recent years the development of new and beautiful cotton fabrics has been amazing.

The low price of cotton has reduced the amount of goods and products the South can buy from the North and East. It is forcing the cotton farmer to turn more and more to the raising of crops which compete with those of other sections, especially the great agricultural Middle West. This applies to both field crops and livestock.

Therefore, in their own interest, the people of other regions should aid the program of the National Cotton Council, which is designed to increase the consumption of cotton products, to find new uses for cotton through scientific research, and to expand foreign markets for American cotton.

A Modern Martyr

In the opinion of many, the force which will lead to the ultimate downfall of Hitler may not be British or French military power, but resentment among Germans themselves caused by racial and religious persecution at his hands.

While this persecution has been directed with particular fierceness against the Jew, it has also been directed against both Catholics and Protestants through oppression of their clergy.

Perhaps the most potent opponent of Hitler living today is Pastor Niemöller, now beginning his third year in solitary confinement in a concentration camp, because he refused to bow to dictation in religious matters. This courageous man, who was a submarine commander during the World War, prefers to remain in prison in protest, rather than accept Hitler's control over the church.

As a result of Niemöller's example, many other Protestant ministers have lately grown bolder in denouncing Hitler's religious dictatorship, and organized groups are said to be forming throughout Germany to fight for Niemöller and the cause of free worship.

Speaking of this modern martyr, the Philadelphia Record says: "Hitler is powerless against this man. He can kill him, but that would avail him nothing. For Niemöller is now established in the German mind as the symbol of the struggle for freedom, and as that symbol he is beyond the dictator's reach."

First Army Plane

It is just 30 years since General James Allen, then chief of the signal service, formally approved the purchase for the United States Army of its first airplane, built by the Wright brothers in their small shop in Dayton, O.

The modest specifications for this plane are interesting for purposes of comparison with the giant war planes of the present. The contract called for a heavier than air machine, capable of carrying two passengers with sufficient fuel for a flight of 125 miles, and able to remain aloft an hour with this load. It was also required that it have a speed of not less than 40 miles an hour.

In its tests at Fort Myer, Va., the plane actually attained a speed of 42 miles an hour, and it remained in the air 1 hour and 12 minutes, then a world record. The final acceptance test was made over a 5-mile course along the Potomac, marked by captive balloons, on July 30, 1909. It was accepted by the Army on August 2.

This pioneer plane, now in the museum of the Smithsonian Institution, appears crude indeed in comparison with the new fighting machines with speeds of more than 400 miles an hour.

The 30th anniversary of the first military plane was observed with appropriate ceremonies and aerial exhibitions by the Army air force, centering at Wright Field in Dayton, but including exhibitions at various military air bases.

Seeing Small Things

While astronomers turn their telescopes to the exploration of big things of the universe—planets, stars, galaxies, comets—other scientists working with amazing modern microscopes are studying the little things, magnified up to 9,000 times.

So far as the progress and welfare of mankind is concerned, the microscope is one of the most important instruments ever devised, for by its use the study of the human body, to mention only one phase of its usefulness, has been the means of saving countless thousands of lives.

In the examination of materials used in industry it is now considered indispensable, and some of the finest microscopes are installed in laboratories of great manufacturing plants. One microscope in the Bell laboratories, for example, took five years to build and cost $20,000.

The rapid advances made lately in the development of high powered microscopes may be illustrated by the fact that 15 years ago the best laboratory equipment magnified only up to about 1,500 times, while magnification of 7,000 times is now common, and that of 9,000 times is possible under particularly favorable conditions, according to G. W. Gray in a recent article in This Week magazine.

One of the greatest living microscopists is Dr. F. F. Lucas once rejected for West Point because of defective vision.

The heavy coat of grass on the ground is getting dry enough to burn in many places and the chances are that inside of thirty days half of the county will be burnt off unless the people go to work and burn sufficient fire guards. Should a fire get under good headway in heavy grass with a stiff breeze blowing men could do but little toward stopping it, and it would be terrible work this hot weather, if they could.

The following item was clipped from the Dallas News of the 16th: "The survey of the route of the proposed Colorado, Texas and Mexican railroad has been completed from Haskell, Texas, to Liano, a distance of over 200 miles. It is reported that the promoters of the railway enterprise have ample financial backing and that the work of constructing the line will soon begin."

to Europe or the Corn Belt to carry fertility to foreign soils. The most prosperous communities are those which are turning their raw products into butterfat, quality meat, and other consumable products instead of peddling their feeds as soon as harvested and because more of them time is profitably employed than is possible in a straight crop-farming system.

Good Feed—Poor Feed

By T. C. Richardson, Asso. Editor

Good crops of feed sometimes turn out to be poor food for livestock for no other reason than that they are not harvested when at their best, and not properly cured or conserved. All hay and dry forage crops are more nutritious and more palatable if harvested before maturing seed. Sweet sorghum for hay or bundle feed should not be permitted to stand until over-ripe, which increases the "woodiness" of the stalk and usually results also in the drying up of part of the leaves.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS,
To The Sheriff or Any Constable of Haskell County, Texas
Greeting.

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED by making publication of this citation once each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the DISTRICT COURT of Haskell County, Texas, to be held at the Courthouse thereof, in Haskell, Texas, on the 4th Monday in September, 1939, same being the 25th day of September A. D. 1939, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 9th day of August A. D. 1939, in a suit numbered 5425 on the docket of said court, wherein T. H. CONNER, plaintiff, and EFFIE CONNER, defendant, said petition alleging in substance that plaintiff is and has been for a period of 12 months an actual bona fide inhabitant of the State of Texas, and that he has resided in Haskell County, Texas, for at least six months preceding the filing of this said petition. That plaintiff and defendant were legally married on or about the 20th day of April, A. D. 1930 at Erick, Oklahoma, and continued to live together as man and wife until on or about the 9th day of September A. D. 1936. That during the time defendant and plaintiff lived together as husband and wife plaintiff was kind and affectionate towards defendant and always provided for her support and maintenance but that defendant unmindful of the duties and obligations of her marriage vow soon began a course of unkind, harsh, cruel and tyrannical treatment towards plaintiff, which continued until plaintiff was forced and compelled to abandon defendant. That during the period during which the plaintiff and defendant lived together that plaintiff was an oil field worker, and that by reason of such occupation it was necessary for him to change his place of residence from time to time in order to make a living for himself and his wife. That defendant a short while after their marriage utterly refused to follow him to his places of residence but insisted upon remaining with her people and friends in spite of the fact that plaintiff was able and did provide for her proper and suitable lodgings and places of residence and in spite of the fact that he resided at certain said places for considerable periods of time, sometimes for as much as a year or more. That defendant failed and utterly refused to make for herself or this plaintiff a home or to manage the household affairs of plaintiff, condescending from time to time to pay him no more than an occasional visit. That during said periods when defendant did reside with plaintiff as his wife and she often cursed and abused him and applied to him the most opprobrious and vilest epithets without cause or provocation. That defendant was a person of violent and unreasonable temper and extremely jealous of this plaintiff. That on or about the 9th day of September, 1936 defendant violently cursed this plaintiff, slapping him and rugging him out of his home with a chair, and informing him at said time that she was through with him, that she did not love him and had not for a long period. That since said time plaintiff had not seen his said wife or heard one word from her, and does not know her whereabouts and has never been able to get in touch with her although he has written her many letters at various places where he has had cause to think her residing or visiting.

That on many occasions prior to said last named occasion defendant violently cursed this plaintiff as aforesaid, and on several occasions struck plaintiff and accused him of associations with other women, and publicly accuse him of living in adultery with women other than his wife, which said accusations were false and untrue.

WHEREFORE plaintiff prays this Honorable Court that the defendant be cited to appear and answer herein and that on final hearing hereof he have judgement dissolving said marriage relation, for costs of court and for such other and further relief, special and general in law and in equity as he may be justly entitled to.

HEREIN FAIL NOT, but have you this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same before said court on the first day of the next term thereof.

WITNESS: Mrs. Hettie Williams, Clerk of the District Court of Haskell County, Texas.

Selling feed crops "in the raw" is poor economics for several reasons. Feeding them at home gives employment of time that would otherwise be wasted. Feeding them at home reduces the volume to be hauled to market. Feeding them at home spreads the income and the labor over a longer period.

SIDLIGHTS OF INDUSTRY

A Long Name—
The name of MacAdam, the thrifty Scotsman who gave London lessons in economical road-building years ago, is one of the longest in highway history. It covers thousands of miles of highway on every continent.

MacAdam roads had broken stone surfaces which were bound together by the compacting force in iron rimmed horse drawn vehicles. With the arrival of the automobile, swiftly moving rubber tires suctioned out the compacting dirt between the stones and the roads began to disintegrate.

Engineers found that asphaltic binders made macadam roads suitable for motor traffic. As a result there are now many hundreds of thousands of miles of asphaltic macadam roads in active service.

Experiments are being carried further today. It has been found that more roads are ruined by water seeping in from below than from the wear and tear on the surface. An injection of hot asphalt beneath the surface of a dirt road, working its way to the top was found to give it a water-repellent surface.

Recent applications in Missouri and other western states have convinced highway engineers that the new process may revolutionize modern road building. The speedy transformation of clay quagmires into smooth, firm stable highways is speeding the day of universal low-cost road construction. Through the simple expedient of asphalt waterproofing, quick construction of tens of thousands of miles of mudless farm roads are said to be within the realm of possibility.

Highways of the future will be built lighter as traffic becomes heavier, it is believed. They will be built in parallel or radiating lines to spread traffic and further safety. Fifty years from now, perhaps in 25 years or even less, present processes will be so perfected that the top of a smooth dirt road will be painted with a new skin and an hour later it can handle traffic.

Unique Industry—
Cork, outer bark on an oak which grows around the Mediterranean sea, was used before the Christian era. Today it is the basis of one of the unusual modern industries.

Myriads of tiny cells imprisoning microscopic bits of air give it buoyancy and lightness as well as compressibility, resiliency, resistance to moisture, and relative imperviousness to liquids. Hence cork is a good insulator. Other uses are in cork composition products which appear in countless forms.

Strictly Business—
Visitors in Mound City, Mo. who were planning to pay admission to a "spudding-in", were surprised recently by a notice in the local paper which informed them that the operators were drilling an oil well not running a circus.

"Due to a misunderstanding," the notice read, "plans had been made to charge admission prices of 10 cents for pedestrians and 25 cents for motorists with 6 passengers or less."

The only plans that had been made, the owners explained, were to bring in the well and several others like it. Visitors were welcome, they added, free of charge.

Lightweight Lacquer—
The weight of paint, hitherto, a non-existent industrial problem has become a No. 1 worry. In the aviation industry, 40 lb. additional weight is the limit allowed for paint on air transports.

Researchers have succeeded in producing a one-coat finish which adds only 15 lb. to an all-metal transport plane. Manufactured from synthetic material and applied by spray, its tough film resists weather and exhaust fumes. Lacquered aircraft, researchers find, have better cruising speed and are easier to keep in repair.

Pumper's Birthday—
June 12, 1939 was a 60th birthday for Triangle No. 1 well, a veteran pumper in Allegany County, N. Y.

Sixty years ago on June 12, 1879 her owner, the late O. P. Taylor, brought her in at Petrolia, N. Y. A gala day for Petrolia, for it proved that oil existed beneath the rocky soil of Allegany County.

The 60th birthday celebration this year was an equally joyous occasion, for the old pumper was still going strong.

Petrolines—
Motor vehicle fueling time has been cut in half by metered gasoline pumps which automatically compute the amount and cost of gasoline as it flows into the tank.

New diesel and welding courses in oil field trade schools are providing opportunities for students interested in oil field work.

Americans enjoy the best motoring in the world at the lowest cost, due to the advanced scientific methods of the automotive and petroleum industries.

Although there are less than 150 yards of auto roads in Venice the city has the largest garage in Europe.

A decade of progress in petroleum science leads technicians to believe supplies of crude oil are ample for many years.

New 'Hot' Check Law Really Tough On All Violators

The new Texas "hot" check law which becomes effective late in September has real teeth in it, according to local bankers who have received copies of the bill.

Provisions of the new law include the following: It is now a violation to give a hot check in payment of a debt for labor or other services. In the past to be a violation, the check giver must have obtained money, goods or some other personal or movable property of actual cash value at the time he gave the check.

The fact that payment of a check is refused at a bank is prima facie evidence of the giver's intent to defraud.

It is now an offense to give a hot check in payment of any debt or bill, or to use it in payment to release any lien on any kind of property.

Formerly the penalty for giving a hot check of $5 amount or less was a fine of not more than $200. The penalty now becomes not more than two years in jail or not more than $200 fine for first offenders.

In case of a second offense a mandatory jail sentence of not less than 30 days nor more than two years is provided.

For third offense, regardless of the size of the check, the penalty is two to 10 years in the penitentiary. A third $1 hot check might now result in a 10 year prison sentence.

For checks from $5 to $50 the penalty remains not more than two years in jail nor more than $500 fine for the first offense with the same regulations applying to second and third offenses as above.

The felony conviction penalty for checks over $50 continues to be two to 10 years in prison. These penalties mean that hot check cases no longer can be tried in justice court.

The new law also makes felony case rules apply to misdemeanor hot check cases. This means felony case provisions for sending after defendants and paying witnesses fees will apply to misdemeanor hot check cases.

And final provision in the new law is a fine of from $100 to $500 for any person who suggests dismissal of a hot check complaint after signing it. This is designed to stop the practice sometimes found of seeking to use the law as a collection agency and then dropping the case.

Texas to Benefit Under Provisions of Range Program

Spokesmen for livestock producers of Texas, who went to a national conference in South Dakota and helped draw up the AAA range program for 1940, came home last week with feathers in their caps.

Out of the conference came two recommendations with a special bearing on Texas; one, that pasture mowing be added to the list of conservation practices drawing payment under the program, and, the other, that the rate of assistance for furrowing of range land on the contour be sizeably increased.

An avowed tribute to West Texas ranchmen who have popularized improved run-off control techniques, the furrowing recommendation would set the payment rate for that practice at 2 cents a hundred linear feet, instead of 50 cents an acre.

Mowing of pastures to kill no-account weeds and brush, an operation found to be of particular benefit to grazing areas of South and East Texas, should earn 25 cents an acre, the conference decided.

Both moves had been recommended earlier by the State Agricultural Conservation Committee, which had five representatives at the meeting.

Reports of the conference, which called for no fundamental changes in the range program but did provide for a higher allowance of funds for deferred grazing, was expected to gain the ready approval of Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace whose signature is needed to put the recommendations into effect.

As usual, participating ranchmen next year will receive range-building allowances, to be earned by a wide variety of conservation practices. No practice was dropped from the list. Deferred grazing, which now qualifies for 60 per cent of a ranch's range-building allowance, where supplementary practices are recommended and carried out, will qualify for 75 percent of the allowance next year. The same provisions regarding supplementary requirements will apply.

L. W. Anderson of Pecos, who attended the conference as a ranchman and state committeeman, reported. Among other things at the meeting were Howard Kingsbery of Santa Anna and Jess Watson of Newcastle, state committeemen. E. N. Holmgren, state AAA administrator and executive secretary of the state committee; and Fred Runnels, special range representative of the state office.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Cox returned this week from a vacation in Denver, Colo. They were with friends from Stamford on the trip.

DOG POINTERS

When I see a boy who hasn't a dog, Or a dog that hasn't a boy— I think of the lot they are missing Of frolic and genuine joy.

Some parents think dogs are a nuisance. Just something to bark and annoy— They can't know how badly a boy needs a dog Or how sadly a dog needs a boy. —May Norton Morris.

When deciding on a dog for the home, all breeds should receive careful consideration. For apartments and city homes a small breed is usually best. One usually tires of a large dog in close quarters. Also, close confinement is unfair to a large dog.

In the suburbs or rural districts a large dog is fine, providing he can get out and roam around or be given a good romp every day. Especially excellent with young children are the big slow acting breeds such as St. Bernards or Great Danes. No companion is finer for a growing boy or girl from seven on up than a big, rollicking dog.

"Your Dog, His Care and Training," published by the Ralston Purina Company, deals with such problems as teaching the puppy where to sleep, arrangements for puppy outside, housebreaking your puppy, how to remove spots on rugs, teething and chewing things, feeding and immunizing, the right kind of bed, daily exercise, riding in cars, brushing and bathing, clipping and trimming, how not to have puppies, dog psychology.

H. F. Owens, famous dog trainer of St. Louis, kindly worked with Purina Mills on the chapter of "Your Dog, His Care and Training" titled "Training and Teaching Tricks." Mr. Owens has devised an unusual aid for teaching and training dogs. It works wonders in the hands of the novice as well as in more experienced hands.

To obtain a personal copy of "Your Dog, His Care and Training," mail the coupon envelope that is found in each bag of Dog Chow, to the Ralston Purina Company, St. Louis, Mo., enclosing ten cents. Promptly the book will be sent.

While looking at puppies, don't pass up the females. They usually cost less, are just as hearty, and, if anything, are more devoted and kinder with children. They are easy to keep at home. Danger of their getting puppies comes only twice a year and can be guarded against by keeping them shut up for a few days while in season. Too, a good female dog offers the pleasure of sometimes raising a litter of puppies.

Insist on getting papers on a pure-bred dog before final payment is made. To obtain papers, it is necessary to have the pedigree for three generations back, signed by the owner of the bitch at the time she is bred. Also obtain a filled out and signed application for registry from the seller, to file with the American Kennel Club. If the dog is already registered, ask for his certificate and a transfer blank so you can have him transferred to your name. Total cost is around $2.

Vitamin G is a growth vitamin and an abundance of it aids sturdy, vigorous growth in pups. A new, rich source of this growth vitamin—Puri-Flave, has just been developed by science. This new ingredient is now in Dog Chow to assure puppies getting plenty of Vitamin G.

Two common misbeliefs about dogs that mad dogs refuse to drink water and that every dog that foams at the mouth has rabies. "Neither is correct," says A. H. Leonard, head of the Dog Department of Purina Mills. "Dogs may be foamy at the mouth from any one of a dozen trivial causes, from slight indigestion through more serious troubles. And dogs that refuse to drink water are not so likely to be mad as they are to be just not thirsty. In neither of the two forms of rabies—excited rabies or dumb (paralyzed) rabies—do dogs have fits or convulsions."

Fits in dogs may show up at any time as a result of distemper, worms, and continued feeding of an improper ration. Not one dog in a thousand accused of having rabies really has the disease. Dogs with excited rabies will be playful at the start of the disease and crave attention and petting. Later the bark will get lower in tone and the dog will become uneasy and seek dark corners in which to hide. Later they lose recognition of their owners and are likely to attack any animal or person who comes within range.

Dogs afflicted with dumb rabies lose control of the epiglottis through paralysis and cannot swallow.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS; To The Sheriff or Any Constable of Haskell County, Texas Greeting.

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to summon EFFIE CONNER by making publication of this citation once each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the DISTRICT COURT of Haskell County, Texas, to be holden at the Courthouse thereof, in Haskell, Texas, on the 4th Monday in September, 1939, same being the 25th day of September A. D. 1939, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 9th day of August A. D. 1939, in a suit numbered 5423 on the docket of said court, wherein T. H. CONNER, is plaintiff and EFFIE CONNER is the defendant, said petition alleging in substance that plaintiff is and has been for a period of 12 months an actual bona fide inhabitant of the State of Texas, and that he has resided in Haskell County, Texas, for at least six months preceding the filing of this said petition. That plaintiff and defendant were legally married on or about the 20th day of April, A. D. 1930 at Erick, Oklahoma, and continued to live together as man and wife until on or about the 9th day of September A. D. 1936. That during the time defendant and plaintiff lived together as husband and wife plaintiff was kind and affectionate towards defendant and always provided for her support and maintenance but that defendant unmindful of the duties and obligations of her marriage vow soon began a course of unkind, harsh, cruel and tyrannical treatment towards plaintiff, which continued until plaintiff was forced and compelled to abandon defendant. That during the period during which the plaintiff and defendant lived together that plaintiff was an oil field worker, and that by reason of such occupation it was necessary for him to change his place of residence from time to time in order to make a living for himself and his wife. That defendant a short while after their marriage utterly refused to follow him to his places of residence but insisted upon remaining with her people and friends; in spite of the fact that plaintiff was able and did provide for her proper and suitable lodgings and places of residence and in spite of the fact that he resided at certain of said places for considerable periods of time, and sometimes for as much as a year or more. That defendant failed and utterly refused to make for herself or this plaintiff a home or to manage the household affairs of plaintiff, condescending from time to time to pay him no more than an occasional visit. That during said periods when defendant did reside with plaintiff as his wife and she often cursed and abused him and applied to him the most opprobrious and vilest epithets without cause or provocation. That defendant was a person of violent and unreasonable temper and exremely jealous of this plaintiff. That on or about the 9th day of September, 1936 defendant violently cursed this plaintiff, slapping him and running him out of his home with a chair, and informing him at said time that she was through with him, that she did not love him and had not for a long period. That since said time plaintiff had not seen his said wife or heard one word from her, and does not know her whereabouts and has never been able to get in touch with her although he has written her many letters at various places where he has had cause to think her residing or visiting.

That on many occasions prior to said last named occasion defendant violently cursed this plaintiff as aforesaid, and on several occasions struck plaintiff and accused him of associations with other women, and publicly accuse him of living in adultery with women other than his wife, which said accusations were false and untrue.

WHEREFORE plaintiff prays this Honorable Court that the defendant be cited to appear and answer herein and that on final hearing hereof he have judgement dissolving said marriage relation, for costs of court and for such other and further relief, special and general in law and in equity as he may be justly entitled to.

HEREIN FAIL NOT, but have you this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same before said court on the first day of the next term thereof.

WITNESS: Mrs. Hettie Williams, Clerk, District Court, Haskell County, Texas.

Clerk of the District Court of Haskell County, Texas. GIVEN under my hand and seal of said Court in the City of Haskell, Texas, this 9th day of August A. D. 1939. Mrs. Hettie Williams Clerk, District Court, Haskell County, Texas. Issued 9th day of August A. D. 1939. Mrs. Hettie Williams Clerk, District Court, Haskell County, Texas. 4tc

Advertise?

I no need to advertise! I sell da apple without your "advertise". I tink datsa foolish!"

TALK ABOUT ADVERTISING

to Tony and he'll say, "I no advertise!" But, of course, you know that he's doing just that, perhaps in another way. He does it when he puts up that sign . . . when he paints his cart a bright red and blue so that it can be easily identified, so that it looks gay . . . when he stops at a busy corner, because Tony knows that he can sell more apples when more people see his apples . . . when he shouts "Apples!" as he pushes his cart along.

TONY HAS LEARNED

the first principle of successful selling: bring your wares before the eyes of great numbers of people and you can sell profitably! But not everyone in Haskell is a Tony, and few businessmen specialize in apples. Moreover, Tony is satisfied with the number of apples he sells. A progressive merchant would never stop these. Tony is advertising—yes, but in a feeble, limited sort of way. If you are not like Tony—if you are not satisfied with the number of "apples" you are selling, and you want to sell more—you'll advertise in a Newspaper that has a loyal local following, one that is read by thousands of people who are able to buy your "apples." In Haskell that paper is the Free Press.
