

STAR ★ DUST

BY NORMAN FISHER

IT NOW APPEARS LIKELY that the on-again, off-again trial to settle a three-county dispute over boundary lines may finally be heard in Hamilton this week.

The case almost got to trial about a month ago, but was postponed only hours before testimony was to begin.

As we have said in this space before, we strongly feel this matter should have been settled long ago -- before it ever got to the lawsuit stage. Callahan and Taylor counties have stood for compromise all along, but Coleman County has declined to negotiate.

If the squabble were over many acres of land which were valuable to the tax roll, it might be different. But in this instance it will take many years for taxes on the disputed land to just pay the cost of getting the case to court.

Even if the case does go to trial this week, however, that might not be the end of the matter. Should the judge not favor Coleman County in his decision, it would seem probable that that county might file an appeal.

FIGURES, THEY SAY, can be made to say or prove just about anything. But this week we came across some figures which don't seem to do either.

Some enterprising statistician says that in the average American home each year, someone will wash an acre of dirty dishes, launder three miles of clothes, scrub five miles of floors, wash a mile of glass, and shave 36,000 square inches of masculine face.

Just thinking about that is enough to make tired these hot July days.

IT HARDLY SEEMS possible that the end to Baird's summer baseball program season is less than two weeks away -- but the calendar insists.

One post-season treat is already assured for Baird fans, however. A district tournament, involving champs of the Tri-County League and the Comanche League, will be played in Baird July 29-31.

Tri-County League, of course, is the one Baird's teenage team currently leads. The two champs will play a best-of-three series, with the winner advancing to state playoffs.

CELEBRATING BIRTHDAYS

next week will be: Ruby Berry, July 11; Ronnie Elliott, July 12; Greg Fisher and Hal Miller, July 13; Sidney Ray Harrings, July 14; Carolyn Cotton and Suzanne Munson, July 16; and Joaquin Bowen, July 17.

County Line Trial Is 'On' for Friday

Testimony is scheduled to begin Friday morning in Hamilton in a three-way dispute over the boundaries of Callahan, Taylor and Coleman counties.

The trial, postponed several times, is to be heard by Judge Truman Roberts of the 52nd District court. There will be no jury.

Callahan and Taylor counties, defendants in the case, will be represented by their respective county attorneys, James Paul Shanks and James E. Jeffrey.

Hal Woodward of Coleman will represent Coleman County.

The suit grew out of strips of land claimed by two counties -- some 25 miles long claimed by both Coleman and Callahan, and some 4½ miles claimed by Coleman and Taylor.

The strip between Callahan and Coleman counties ranges from approximately 850 feet to about 400 feet in width. The disputed area between Coleman and Taylor counties is about 400 feet wide.

The Coleman County boundary was surveyed before Callahan, but after Taylor County.

Coleman contends in its dispute with Callahan that its claimed boundary should be observed because it was a prior survey. Callahan contends that its line should be recognized because directions of the General Land Office were followed in making the survey.

Work Already Underway on Making 1966 License Plates for Texans

AUSTIN -- Most Texas motorists have "bought" their 1965 motor vehicles registrations -- better known as auto "license plates."

And while they blithely motor over the 66,000 mile state maintained highway system they probably are not aware -- nor even care -- that the 1966 license plates now are being manufactured at the State prison at Huntsville.

They probably would be more concerned if they knew that if they knew within the next few weeks computations will begin to determine not only what kind of cars motorists will drive in 1967 -- but also where they will live.

Experts in the Motor Vehicle Division of the Texas Highway Department must determine some 18 months in advance of how many plates of each different kind will be required in each of the State's 254 counties. To complicate the problem, there are 33 different kinds of license plates -- plus the new "personalized" plates approved by the Legislature at the session just ended.

Generally, it requires about six months to make the actual allocation estimate, and another year for production of the plates. However, studies are under way to determine if the allocation estimates can be made by computers, thus greatly reducing the time required, and permitting the use of later data for the determination.

There are approximately six million registered vehicles in Texas. For the last decade this number has been increased at such a rate that by 1967 more than 6.5 million sets of license plates will be needed.

This poses many problems. Will motorists be driving more "compacts" -- or will the trend be reversed toward heavier vehicles? Will the new "deep water" barge canal at Victoria create another industrial boom in the coastal area, and pose the need for thousands more plates -- and if so, what kind? Will the population movement from the rural areas to the cities be continued, and, if so, what counties will lose population and which cities will gain the most? Arriving at allocation estimates for each county is an art. Economy-minded, the Department shies away from overstocking ("This runs into money"). At the same time the Department tries to avoid understocking the counties, too.

Representatives of the three counties met last March to draw up five basic points of agreement in an attempt to save time when the case gets to court. The points concern surveys made in the three counties during the 1880-1900 period.

AUSTIN -- James L. Snyder of Baird, has been elected a director of the Texas Law Enforcement & Youth Development Foundation, W. W. Heath of Austin, president of the statewide citizens' group, has announced.

One Department official, closely associated with the problem, asserts that so far -- during the 16 years he's been involved in the allocation estimate -- the Department never has exhausted the total plate supply produced.

If the Department doesn't learn of an anticipated major population change in time, a county may have either a surplus or fall short of its needed plate supply. Because of such unpredictables it is difficult to be certain that each county has the needed number of plates -- or the utopian goal of "no more, no less."

And since a set of plates costs the Department about 13 cents to manufacture, the importance of having a minimum surplus of plates in each county is readily apparent. A surplus of just one of each of the 33 kinds of plates in each of the 254 counties would represent nearly $1,100 of the taxpayers money. However, this obviously would be "skinning the cat" to close, and some surplus is inevitable.

Provision is made for the possibility that a county may exhaust its plate supplies. In this event, additional plates usually are forwarded from one of six stock points in the state -- Amarillo, Corpus Christi, Houston, Austin, Dallas and Odessa.

It has been said that there is nothing more worthless than yesterday's newspaper -- unless it is an obsolete license plate. Field investigators of the Motor Vehicle Division inventory surplus plates in each county. Then they are sent to Highway Department District Offices where most are sold to the highest bidder for scrap metal.

Although 1967 and sale of license plates for that year are many months away, one thing is certain: Some county will need at least one license plate of a particular kind. The incumbent governor always gets number "S O 1" (State Official One), which is issued in his county of legal residence.

OMAR BURLESON

WASHINGTON — An ancient Oriental proverb goes something like this: "Give a man a fish and he will eat for a day; teach him how to fish and he will eat for the rest of his life."

One way or other this philosophy is involved in our Foreign Aid Program. Too much of it has been a fish for a day. Not only has it not done any lasting good, but our Nation gets no credit for it.

Almost as futile, and more expensive, has been the effort to jump over centuries some undeveloped and unexperienced countries at self-government, and into a modern society. They are not equipped to govern themselves in any advanced system, much less to utilize complicated machinery and equipment.

The remaining part of foreign aid, having to do with self-help in matters of education, health and technical assistance, has been a much cheaper experiment. Like the latter part of the proverb, it teaches them to fish. Much of this type of aid has been worth-while.

For different reasons, the Communists have for a long period of time extended this sort of help to areas where conditions were ripe to indoctrinate people into Communism. This method of operation is as old as Lenin. Lenin laid out a plan for communication of countries by organizing farmers cooperatives, introducing better farming techniques, teaching the illiterate how to read and write, and arousing the peasants in conflict with the landowners. This continues to be the practice, plus entertainment such as plays, skits, dances and songs, all carrying a message in folk song.

The Communists are in no great hurry as we are. They begin with the smallest operation and gradually expand their activities until revolution is ready.

At any moment they are ready to agitate in any nation which signs of having fermented unrest. Examples for the moment are Java in Southeast Asia, but closer to home is Venezuela, Colombia and Guatemala. Trained guerrillas move into a rural area and start buying produce from farmers at prices above that which they have ever received. This establishes friendships.

The next step is to begin agitating the people about deep-seated grievances against the landowners and against the government. When the people are excited enough, guerrillas stage attacks against small outposts of the army. Such attacks bring larger detachments of the military into the area.

Because the lack of supplies, soldiers are forced to confiscate food and lodging, which acts antagonize the local populace. With the help of the peasants, army units are usually ineffective against the hit-and-run guerrilla tactics.

As in the case of South Viet Nam and Java, Communists go a step farther by holding public executions of natives who do not cooperate with them. The people conclude their security lies with the guerrillas.

The next step is to increase activities against the central government, with the backing of the people from areas under their control.

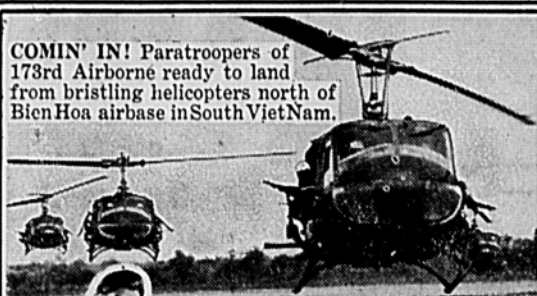

As in the case of some Latin American countries, the Communists provoke and inspire general strikes in the cities to coincide with attacks in more remote areas of the country.

By these total efforts they are able to build major crisis which call for all-out government use of massive force and, as in the case of the Dominican Republic, for example, the government calls on the United States for assistance.

When this assistance is given, they then use the action as propaganda in other nations to make them despise the United States.

Our policy in South Viet Nam is to offset these sort of tactics. But better answers have got to be found than we now have to head off these developments in

Varner-Hogg State Park Offers Scenery, Interest for Historian

A leisurely drive along the upper Gulf Coast offers a number of attractions, but one in particular will appeal to the Texas history buff, the lover of period pieces in a proper setting, and the wheeling admirer of the scenic coastal country.

The Varner-Hogg Plantation State Park will prove interesting to the motorist with one or all three yens. Since 1965 is another year with more than the usual number of three-day holiday weekends, it is a good time to make this tour. The spot has been drawing a fair share of vacationists.

Relatively small by some standards, the state park embraces 52 acres and its located one mile northeast of West Columbia in Brazoria County. It is just one mile off State Highway 35.

The centerpiece against a background of trees is the colonial-style mansion, built in 1836, and which has period furnishings. It was the early sugar plantation home of Governor James S. Hogg, which was given to the State by Miss Ima Hogg of Houston, daughter of Texas' first native governor, with an endowment "to perpetuate an appreciation of the simple, industrious and sometimes elegant life of the early settlers in Texas."

Mementos of the "Texian Campaign," the Mexican War, and the Confederacy are reminders that excitement, too, reached this quiet spot.

A bit of bonus sightseeing is to be found on Brazos Street in West Columbia; the state marker and flag pole on the site of the birthplace of a republic

--the old capitol of Texas (1836-1837).

Varner-Hogg Plantation State Park is open from 10 a. m. to 12 noon, and 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. every day, except Mondays and Wednesdays. A nominal charge (50c and 25c for children) is made for admission. The park has a picnic area in the shade.

Hospitable West Columbia, the home town of Mrs. Bing Crosby, nee Kathryn Grandstaff, also has the McKinstry homestead where Stephen F. Austin died in 1836.

Other reasons to gas up and go -- Houston, Galveston and Freeport Beach are less than an hour away.

AUSTIN — Water remains very much in the spotlight over the state.

As June ended, cattle were in better than average condition, says the US Department of Agriculture. Pastures and ranges continued to furnish good grazing and rising cattle prices have resulted.

On the High Plains heavy showers boosted range prospects but grass growth was slowing in many areas because of high temperatures which sapped soil moisture.

In the Trans-Pecos ranges some farmers and ranchers were forced to begin supplemental feeding.

Some farmers have been combating the rain problem by irrigating their crops. A joint study by the USDA, the Texas Water Commission and the State Soil Conservation Board indicates that irrigation in Texas rose significantly from 1958 to 1964. Amount of water used increased nearly one third, to 12,500 acre feet or an average of 18 inches per irrigated acre.

Amount of irrigated land increased by about 15 per cent during the six-year period. Much of the gain occurred in the High Plains -- in the upper parts of the Canadian, Colorado, Brazos and Red River Basins -- but some of it also was in the basins of the Rio Grande and Nueces Rivers.

By next September studies to show how much water will be available in 2020 from Texas reservoirs and ground water strata already in use will be complete. Then will come the job of finding additional sources to match yields to needs. This will involve searching for new surface water supplies as well as desalinization of poor underground water.

When in-basin sources are checked out against the needs of each river basin, the planners expect to find some of the heavy rainfall regions will have more water than they will need, even to 2020 while others will not have enough.

Then the question will be: where to take the surplus? $100,000,000 SURPLUS — State government will begin the new fiscal biennium with a surplus of nearly $100,000,000. But it will wind up with a balance of only $4,200,000, according to estimates of the Governor's budget office.

In a recap of legislative spending, Gov. John Connally's staff totaled all appropriations at $3,700,000,000, of which $822,900,000 will come from general revenue. (Vetoes by the governor of $2,600,000 from the spending bills are deducted). Figures put state cost of the average $553 teacher pay raise at $70,600,000,000 for the two-year period beginning September 1.

Total new revenue provided by the 59th Legislature will come to $82,500,000, according to revised figures. Biggest portion of this comes from the three cents a pack increase in the cigarette tax.

HOSPITAL TRANSITION UNDER WAY — Texas' vast system for treating the mentally ill, mentally retarded and vic-times of tuberculosis is entering a vital transition period.

On September 1, realignment and reorientation of these facilities and services, as enacted by the 59th Legislature, goes into effect.

Separation of the tuberculosis hospital treatment program from the mental health and retardation services and consolidating it with the State Health Department, which now handles case finding and follow-up work.

Abolishing the existing hospital board -- general policy-making agency for mental and tuberculosis hospitals and special schools for the retarded -- and creating a new Department of Mental Health and Retardation. A new, nine-member board will replace the present Board for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools.

Sweeping new concepts of care, spelled out in recommendations of statewide study committees named by Governor Connally, are expected of the reorganization.

AUTO INSURANCE RATES — Auto liability insurance rates will increase an average of 14.4 per cent on August 1. Rates will vary widely in the 26 rating areas in the state.

However, some coverages will go down in cost, by as much as 17 per cent. These policies are for insurance against losses not connected with accidents -- such as fire and theft.

State Board of Insurance says it has carefully reviewed the loss data forming the basis of the rate changes and finds that the new rates will be "adequate and reasonable as required by law."

In another area of insurance, Texas companies have had more than $15,000,000 worth of claims from hail and storm damage. By this time last year, $9,000,000 had been paid in such claims. Biggest blow came from the Wichita Falls storm of May 27.

TOURIST ATTRACTIONS PRAISED — University of Texas Bureau of Business Research credits tourist attractions with helping to keep the level of Texas' economy above last year's during the first five months of 1965.

However, business activity dipped 4.4 per cent in May. January-May average index for 1965 was nearly 20 percentage points above the average for the same months in 1964. Bureau says there is "every indication" this will be a good year for the travel industry in Texas.

NAMED — Governor Connally has named a seven member committee to negotiate with Louisiana in an effort to settle a long-standing dispute as to the Sabine River boundary between the two states.
Connally appointed his executive assistant Larry Temple, Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, Sen. Marties Dies Jr. of Lufkin, Sen. Jack Strong of Longview, Rep. David Crews of Conroe and Rep. Charles Wilson of Lufkin.
Recommendations as to location of the boundary will be submitted to the state legislatures and the Congress of the U. S. for ratification.
Louisiana has claimed the boundary is the west bank of the Sabine. Texas maintains that the center line of the river is the correct line. Ownership of an area south of the mouth of the Sabine also is in dispute.
Valuable oil and gas are at stake.
HOSPITAL FUNDS SHORT — State Board of Health has 65 applications for federal Hill-Burton hospital aid funds totaling $38,000,000 but expects an allotment of only about $14,000,000.
Hill-Burton funds assist communities in building and equipping non-profit hospitals and related health facilities.
Allocations of the 1965 funds are expected in August.
Many applicants will not receive Hill-Burton money during the coming fiscal year, warns Dr. James E. Peavy, State Health Commissioner.
SCHOOL CHECKS TO BE MADE — Texas Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar served notice on local school officials that the Texas Education Agency will check complaints resulting from the Civil Rights Act.
Periodic reviews also will be made by TEA to ascertain whether or not districts receiving federal aid are abiding by non-discrimination rules.
