"G. W. T. W."—That's The Senior of '40

"N'ya, n'ya, n'ya," said the Senior class. "N'ya, n'ya, don't you envy us?"

Don't be alarmed. We haven't lost our minds completely—yet. But we did get to go to Abilene last Friday to see "Gone With The Wind."

Friday morning the teachers almost snatched themselves bald-headed, because every time they called on a Senior, they would find him staring vacantly into space and mumbling "Ah Scarlett." Those Seniors who didn't make the trip were given Friday afternoon away from school—amid the growls of some of the Juniors. Shame on those Juniors!

The Seniors made the trip in individual cars belonging to certain members of the class. Some of the Senior's mothers and fathers went with them.

After the show some of the girls remarked that they didn't get to have a good cry during the entire picture. To which the boys gaped with surprise, looked at each other, and shook their heads sadly, giving them up as hopeless cases.

After seeing this picture, yours truly is convinced that she looks like Scarlett O'Hara! But no one else will agree. Oh dear. They just shake their heads sadly and say, "We know, we know."

Those who made the trip were: Leatrice Wheeler, Marie Mobley, Connie Morris, Mrs. Wimbish, Mrs. Odell, Mrs. Mason, Anita Coburn, Helen Coleman and parents, Jean Conner, Ethel Reba Couch, Wanda Dulaney, Nettie Harrell, Flossie Hester, Laver Ward, Bonnie Dell Hisey, Jane Holt, Mary Lou Josselot, Margaret McClintock, Naomi Morgan, Betty Jane Stanton, Roy Friserson, Buster Ghobson, Edna Hayes, Dale Harris, Edwin Jeter, Paul Kuenstler, Chester Vix, Joe Thomson, and Sophomores Bobbie Morris and Beunis Faye Battell.

This is just another outstanding Senior excursion. Be prepared for another in the near future. This is just a warning. Lock your doors and don't let your children out after 12:00.

Brainless Babblin's

Mr. McCollum—Yes, my boy, I'm a self-made man.

Wayne Dunn—Gee, that's what I like about you. You take the blame for everything.

Mrs. Wimbish—What are the three words you use most?

Betty Jane Stanton—I don't

Well, with the Sophomores the past week, it has been "Backwards! Backwards! Backwards!" with the Juniors, "Tickets! Tickets! Tickets!" and with the Seniors "G. W. T. W." So what's wrong with you Fish? Is the water too deep in H. H. S. for you to swim in? I shouldn't think so.

And, yippe! Thursday is "Sadie Hawkins' Day." Fifteen rahs for leap year (and I'm sure the boys agree one hundred percent).

Who's Who In The Senior Class

HASSELL HUNTER
 One of our most popular Senior boys is Hassel, not only among the Seniors but the lower classmen as well.

He has been a member of our High School band ever since it has existed, and a very capable member too.

Although he is small, he came out for football and on his football sweater you may see one stripe showing that he lettered.

Hassel has many interests out of school, such as, constructing miniature planes. Also there are a number of things he collects. Kodaking is another of his interests.

Your hopes fulfilled and happiness is our wish for you, Hassel.

BONNIE DELL HISEY
 Another one of the outstanding Seniors in '40 is Bonnie Dell Hisey. Coming to us from Howard, she has been in our midst for almost four years.

During her several years in our school, she has been very active in the activities of the school. She was a member of the Pep Squad two years, and a member of the band when she was a Sophomore. One year she was a member of debate and has declaimed two years. She was a member of the Home Economics Club during her first three years and was the president of it when she was a Sophomore. Also, she was vice-president of the Junior class. For two years, she was a representative for the West Texas Junior Fair Queen.

She has been a member of the Gypsy Rambler Club for four years, and has taken speech arts four years. Last year she was reporter of the Speech Arts Club and this year she is vice-president of the same club.

It has been our good fortune to have her for these four years and we wish her much success in the years to come.

DALE HARRIS
 Better known to the class as "Squirrel" Harris, Dale is one of the very brightest spots in Haskell High School. His cheerful attitude of life and his efforts to make others feel the same are his most admirable qualities.

Dale's love for socials is outstanding in his character and very frequently one can hear him asking a class officer "When are we planning to have another party?" As a "hog caller" he is remarkable, having proved this fact at the Senior western party.

If every Senior showed as much enthusiasm and interest in the functions of this organization as Dale does the class of '40 would have no competition in the race of the "best Senior class" that H. H. S. has ever had.

Junior Class News

The Junior class sponsored a show last Wednesday and Thursday night. The class met at the Christian church for refreshments before going to the show on Thursday night. Everyone had an enjoyable time.

One of the members of the Junior class, Frank Spencer, is ill and is in the hospital. He has been operated on for appendicitis but is doing fine and will get to go home in a few days.

We are sorry for losing one of the members of our class, Carl Marson who has recently withdrawn from school. But just as we lose a member we gain one, and we are glad to welcome Olin Ashley from Rule High School.

The Hand and the Crutch

This girl, who is leading a helping hand to the crippled youngster, pictorially presents the theme of the 1940 Easter Seal "for Crippled Children." The crutch is symbolic of the orthopaedic correction, an early step in a well-rounded program "for Crippled Children." The books denote education, valuable to all, but even more valuable to the child who, handicapped in body, must someday depend solely on a trained mind in the fight for economic security. The smile on the face of the crippled lad shows the courageous spirit that fills him. The hand, leading the child, represents the personal direction of an awakened society, a society that realizes how important it is that every physically handicapped child be given the chance for its best possible physical, mental and spiritual development. The seal, of which this is a real-life counterpart, is a token of goodwill "for Crippled Children." The seals were placed on sale in Haskell county this week, with sales sponsored by civic leaders in the various towns and communities. F. L. Daugherty has been named as local Chairman to direct the sale of Easter Seals in Haskell.

Footprints of Ancient Reptiles Being Displayed

Trails and footprints of early land creatures that lived in Texas 200,000,000 years ago are now on display at West Texas museum, on Texas Tech campus at Lubbock. The tracks were collected last week in the northern part of Taylor county by Porter Montgomery and Joe Ben Wheat, museum staff members.

Natives of the Clear Fork region refer to these prehistoric footprints as "frog tracks," but it is known that lizard-like reptiles made some of the trails. Their claws were sharp and at the places where the ancient mud flats were still wet these little reptiles left only their claw prints, sharply marked and easily recognized. Webbed foot imprints are also found in the shales, made probably by a salamander-like creature that lived during Permian times. Only tracks are known from the Castle Peak location, no animals having yet been found.

Tracks of primitive insects, centipedes and millipeds were also found between the thin bedded plates of red and light green shale; and soft bodied worms left their tubes. Surface sediments were so fine and soft that many minute trails appear suggesting numerous and complex life forms during this period.

More than a dozen species of footprints representing two types of primitive amphibians and several types of reptiles have been discovered in the Permian shales of Castle Peak. The formation of compact red and light green shale is exposed along the base of the peak. At the time they were deposited, it is probable that a shallow pond or lake existed only during wet seasons and for a limited time. The mud flat where the footprints were made lay between the pond and the foot of the hills which furnished the sediments.

Mrs. G. E. Cearley and daughter, Grace have returned from Temple where Mrs. Cearley underwent major surgery.

Magazine Club Has "House-Warming" Friday Night

Friday night, Feb. 23rd marked an epoch in the club life of Haskell. On this date the beautiful and commodious Magazine Club house was formally opened. By the removal of partitions, the auditorium has been made much larger and has been completely redecorated. The walls are a soft dusty pink, the sound-proof ceiling white and the pean wood floor finished in natural. A powder room and also hat and coat rooms are new features. The large doors on the east lead to a flagstone laid terrace which overlooks the beautiful lawns.

Greeting the guests were Messrs. and Mesdames J. U. Fields, J. A. Couch, Hill Oates, W. M. Reid and T. G. Cahill.

Ladies of the house party who assisted with the greeting of the guests were: Mesdames C. L. Lewis, R. J. Reynolds, S. R. Rike and H. M. Smith. Mrs. O. E. Patterson, pianist, furnished music throughout the evening.

The president, Mrs. Fields, in her opening remarks, told of the splendid work done by the building committee the members being Mesdames Hill Oates, J. A. Couch and W. M. Reid. These ladies were seated at the president's table and shared in the honors of the evening.

The Hon. Clyde Grissom of Eastland, judge of the Court of Civil Appeals, was the guest speaker of the evening and spoke on the subject, "What Happens to Your Property After You Die."

The president in her very flattering introduction told of the pride and confidence of the citizens of Haskell in this distinguished fellow townsman. At the close of the address Mesdames W. Cox, Reynolds Wilson and Graham served cherry pie with whipped cream, coffee and tea to the members and guests.

Among the invited guests for this affair was Miss Fawcett, society editor of the Abilene Reporter and Miss Hanks also of Abilene.

The Haskell Magazine Club was organized some 38 years ago and has occupied the club house since 1918. We as members of this, one of the oldest study clubs in Texas are proud of our new home which has been so handsomely redecorated and only waits the placing of the venetian blinds to make it complete in every detail. Senior-Junior Club Will Sponsor Musical Comedy Here March 7-8

"Mystery at Midnight" the musical comedy which is being sponsored by the Senior-Junior Magazine Club of Haskell is to be presented Thursday and Friday March 7 and 8th at the High School auditorium.

The cast committee has selected the following for the cast of "Mystery at Midnight": Wallace Sanders as Judge Rollins says a retired judge's life is too exciting for an old man. Josephine Parish as Sally Grant thinks its real thrilling to help a real "judge" try to find his $10,000. Crockett English as Detective Briggs almost loses his mind trying to solve all the murders and robberies but he finally succeeds. Mary Pearsey as Bonnie Baker and Pycatt McCollum as Ralph Norris make a very striking bride and groom. Lucille Akins as Sarah the woman from the East Indies says if you have never attended a seance attend her's next Thursday and Friday nights, March 7-8, when she will be very ably assisted by Mrs. Carl Power as Mrs. Holloway of the Holloways. Cecil Bradley as Tom Foster thinks its crazy to stay in a house where spirits talk and people disappear. Bob Lane as Jack Murphy says why blame him for the bus wreck. Anyone can have a wreck on a slick pavement. Arnolia Server as Elvin Nosegay has quite a problem trying to help Lewis Smith as Prof. Rockbottom take care of Hoetio Oblagotta. Pete Frierson as the stranger remains very much the stranger.

At the showing of "Mystery at Midnight" we have 18 lovely chorus girls selected from Haskell High School.

The Bat Chorus appear on a darkened stage dressed as black bats where they do a dance by flashlights.

The Policeman Chorus dressed in modern police costumes do a peppy dance. Of course we have to have our nurses on duty for those who have a weak heart and they sing and dance for you also.

WE CAN'T UNDERSTAND WHY—

Gloria and Helen had such a grand week end.

Kelso knows every little crook and turn on the road to Haskell.

Aleatha and Elizabeth didn't cut up more going to Abilene.

Some civics students didn't want their grades called out before the class.

R. S. scratched a "J" on his arm.

Someone wrote so much on Mr. Perrin's locker door.

Jeanette, Anne, Aleatha and Elizabeth were so crowded in the car Sunday afternoon.

W. T. and Maurine couldn't go to the show Sunday afternoon.

Scotland Yard

The efficiency of London's Scotland Yard policemen and detectives is proverbial, but they have been confronted lately with one of the most difficult tasks in their history, that of subduing the terrorists of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, who have perpetrated numerous bombings in English cities.

Two convicted bomb murderers were hanged on February 7, and others are in jail, but the outrages continue. Most of the bombs are placed in postoffices, mail boxes, railroad stations and other public places, to be exploded by time devices. The terrorists are facilitated in their nefarious work by the nightly blackouts, which make their detection extremely difficult.

For more than a century the Scotland Yard police have had an enviable record, and in a recent year only 15,662 crimes were reported in London while 333,083 were noted in the less populous city of New York. The yearly homicide rate in London is only about one for every 100,000 of population. In several American cities it is more than 50 times as great and averages more than 10 times as high in the United States as a whole.

The Scotland Yard force was organized by Sir Robert Peel in 1828, and was extremely unpopular at first because the greater powers conferred upon its members were resented as encroaching on the personal liberties of the people. This feeling was gradually overcome, however, and the force came to be justly esteemed as protectors of the public peace.

Tons of Chocolate

From a small beginning by a firm in Boston in 1770, the manufacture of chocolate in the United States has grown to enormous proportions, consumption now reaching about 225,000 tons a year.

Chocolate is a product of the cacao tree, grown principally in the tropical climates of Central and South America, the West Indies and Africa. This tree is indigenous to the warm countries of the New World, and cacao beans are said to have been first introduced into Europe by Columbus and other early explorers.

At present the Gold Coast of Africa is the greatest producer of cacao, with Brazil ranking second and Ecuador third. It is not raised commercially in this country, but specimens of the tree may be seen in the experimental gardens of the Department of Agriculture at Miami, Florida.

Chocolate prepared in various ways was used as a beverage by the Aztecs of Mexico before the discovery of America, and a very strong concoction is said to have been the favorite drink of Montezuma. A weaker brew, with sugar added, became popular later on at the royal courts of Europe.

While still widely used as a beverage, most of the immense quantity of chocolate consumed in this country is used in flavoring for ice cream, cake and candy.

Road-Making Monster

Among some 300 exhibits at the recent convention and road show of the American Road Builders Association in Chicago was a monster machine 75 feet long and 15 feet high described as the world's largest excavator, and called a carry-all scraper.

This immense machine weighs 40 tons, and can remove 33 tons of earth at a single bite, it is said. It is pulled by a 160-horsepower engine and pushed by a 95-horsepower tractor, both of the Diesel type, each requiring only one man to operate. Its four pneumatic tires are nine feet high and two and one-half feet in diameter. The cost of the machine was given at $35,000.

Exhibits at the great show covered nearly eight acres of floor space and were valued at more than five million dollars. The convention lasted five days, with delegations representing every state in the Union and 36 foreign nations.

According to Charles M. Upham, engineering director of the association, it was the biggest convention of its kind ever held, and addresses were made by high government officials and representatives of various branches of the road building industry.

Among the matters discussed was the completion of a great international highway from Alaska to Argentina. In such a project a number of great machines such as that described above could doubtless be used to good advantage.

"Okies" In New York

California isn't the only commonwealth concerned with the problem of migrant "Okies." New York City has them, but they're called something else there—"relief floaters." In the past two years 2615 such persons have been sent home by the city.

Like the Okies, the floaters have left their homes because there was nothing left for them to do. They wandered about in the hope that somewhere they would find jobs. Eventually they gravitated to New York, where there was nothing left for them except relief. New York has little choice in the matter. It can't support jobless people from every state in the Union. And so the floaters are being shipped home to relief in their own communities.

What makes the plight of these migrants more tragic is the fact that they had the courage to leave their homes and go out to look for work. They can hardly be blamed if they return to their communities in complete despair. They are not likely to be met by any brass bands.

The buck's horns are perfect although diminutive and Mr. Roder was certain the buck was over two years old when killed. Each side of the horn has two perfect points and none of them is longer than one and three-fourths inches.

TEXAS FISHERMAN SCORE

Four Texas bass fishermen and one tarpon angler won prizes in a nationally circulated magazine's annual fishing contest. Cliff Burgess of Gladewater was a prize winner with a 7 3-4 pound bass caught at Burns Lake near Center, Texas. James M. Young of San Angelo and Ben F. Brooks of Bagwell each scored with a 7 1-4 pound bass. Young's came from Lake Nasworthy near San Angelo and Brooks' fish was caught in Lake Brooks near Bagwell. Wade E. Fitzgerald of Fort Bliss was the fourth Texas bass fisherman to win, his 6 pound, 13 ounce bass being caught in New Mexico.

A 154-pound tarpon taken by Harry B. Falconer of Dallas off Port Isabel, Texas, won the deep sea fisherman a prize.

DEER DIDN'T STRAY FAR

Here's one deer which liked his "home" so well that he was killed within 400 yards of the place where he had been released three years previously. Ex-Mayor Fonville of Houston killed the six-point buck on the Foote Ranch in Colorado County during the closing days of the hunting season. It has been marked in June 1936.

WANT SQUIRREL SEASON CLOSED

A general closed season on squirrels is being advocated widely since members of this species are rapidly decreasing in numbers. Advocates of the general closed season would, however, make the law read that the owner of a pecan orchard would be free to kill squirrels at any time on his property. Squirrels are in acute danger, especially in East Texas, where they are the principal game animal, and are rapidly being shot out, reports of biologists and game managers to the State Game Department reveal. One big reason for the decline in the squirrel population in East Texas is the fact many counties allow open seasons during both the summer and winter breeding seasons.

Judge A. H. King of Throckmorton was a business visitor in Haskell Wednesday.
