DISTRICT COURT TERM UNDER WAY IN KENT COUNTY

Light Docket in Prospect for Current Three-Weeks Term

Regular three-weeks term of District Court for Kent county opened Monday at Clairmont with Judge Dennis P. Ratliff presiding. Docket for the term lists the smallest number of cases in several years on both the criminal and civil divisions.

Grand Jury for the term was impaneled Monday morning and adjourned at the end of the day's session. One indictment was voted, in which a 16-year-old was charged with a statutory offense. Complaining witness was an eight year old girl, and the offense allegedly occurred several months ago, court officials said. The case was transferred to the juvenile docket and the youth entered a plea of guilty and upon recommendation of relatives of the girl, the youth was paroled to his brother-in-law until he reaches maturity.

Morris Ostend, 22, charged with burglary of a Jayton shoe shop recently, entered a plea of guilty before Judge Ratliff Tuesday and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. Other cases heard during the first of the week included the disposition of several non-jury civil and divorce cases.

Addition to School Plant To Provide Band Hall, Lunch Room, and Kitchen

The National Youth Administration began work Tuesday morning on a project which has recently been approved for the enlargement of the Haskell school plant. The project as set up calls for the demolition of the old East Ward school building, moving the materials to the high school campus, and construction of a modern new one-story building approximately 60 feet by 80 feet. This building will be of architectural design to match the high school building. It will consist of a large room to be used as a band hall, commodious kitchen and a room approximately 30 by 80 feet which will be used as a lunch room and for various high school and community activities.

The National Youth Administration has employed F. L. Peavey to supervise the project. All the work will be done by eligible young men of Haskell County, between the ages of 18 and 24 years. When completed, this will be one of the largest projects in the way of a finished building undertaken in West Texas by the National Youth Administration, and will provide a needed enlargement of the housing facilities of the Haskell public school system.

Construction and arrangement of the interior plans of the new building were worked out along plans suggested by the local school board in cooperation with the National Youth Administration.

AAA Regulations On '40 Landlord Subsidies Cited

Of interest to landowners and farmers of Haskell county will be the following announcement made this week by V. F. Bunkley, chairman of the Haskell county committee in charge of the AAA farm administrative program for 1940, concerning contemplated increased payments landlords may believe themselves entitled to.

Mr. Bunkley explained: "Regulations under the AAA program now make it necessary for the County Committee to justify an increase in shares of crops between landlord and tenant. There will be a question as to the eligibility of payments where a change in relationship between a landlord or operator and the tenants or sharecroppers with respect to any farm that would increase for the landlord or operator over the previous year the proportionate share of any soil-depleting crop for which a payment is computed, or a reduction in the number of tenants or sharecroppers as compared with the average of the preceding three years, that would increase for the landlord or operator over the average for such years the share of any soil-depleting crop for which a payment is computed."

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST PUNY ABSTON DISMISSED

LOCAL RED CROSS CHAPTER FINISHES GARMENT PROJECT

O'Brien Man Is Freed After Being Convicted Three Times for Murder

Clarence (Puny) Abston, O'Brien farmer who was convicted three times for the murder of an aged O'Brien woman in May, 1936, walked from the Baylor county courthouse a free man on Thursday morning after Judge I. O. Newton of the 5th judicial district had granted a motion filed by the defendant's attorneys for dismissal of the case on the basis of three reversals by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Abston was charged with C. Matura, also of O'Brien, in connection with the slaying of Miss Rebecca Coursey, 78-year-old spinster, in May, 1936. In their first trials, both defendants were given the death penalty, and Matura was executed in July, 1937. Abston's verdict was reversed and in a second trial at Clairmont, Kent county, he was given a 50-year sentence. This verdict was also set aside by the appeals court in a third trial, Abston was given a 99-year sentence. Carried to the higher court, the verdict was set aside, leading to the final hearing held Thursday which resulted in dismissal of the case. T. R. Odell, Haskell attorney, has represented Abston throughout the time since he was first indicted, and he had filed the motion asking for dismissal.

Judge Newton, in the hearing Thursday, pointed out in his judgment that the "three rulings of the Court of Criminal Appeals in reversing the case made it mandatory on the Court to follow their ruling."

Despite dismissal of the old indictment, Abston can yet be re-indicted if new evidence linking him with the slaying is ever developed, based on the following paragraph in Judge Newton's ruling: "It being the intention of this Court in dismissing this case on this motion not to prevent a future indictment in Haskell county of the defendant on this same murder charge if and when sufficient evidence may be procured under the rulings of the Court of Criminal Appeals."

The case will remain open for investigation in the future. District Attorney Ben Charlie Chapman said, in commenting on dismissal of the murder indictment.

Heavy rains which many farmers welcomed as beneficial to young feed and fall gardens, were general over Haskell county Tuesday. Precipitation in this city was gauged at one inch while other sections of the county reported heavier downpours. In the section south and southeast of Haskell the rainfall was estimated at three inches and more. In the Weiner vicinity estimates placed the precipitation at two inches, accompanied by a violent electrical disturbance.

Moisture received this week, following heavy August rainfall, boosted the outlook for cotton and feed to the best in years. Opening of cotton in parts of the county, with several bales ginned last week, will be halted for several days.

Sign-Up for Rural Electrification Project Being Finished This Week

Plans for Project Discussed at Meeting Held Here Tuesday

Community leaders are now completing the sign-up for Rural Electrification in a large portion of Haskell County. Over 180 farm families have signed for Rural Electrification according to reports filed by the various community leaders who have been working on this project.

A meeting was held at Haskell Tuesday afternoon at which County Agent G. R. Schumann and Henry Oment, Superintendent, Stamford Rural Electric Cooperative, discussed with the various community leaders of Haskell County ways and means of completing the work necessary in order to secure electricity on Haskell County farms.

Although many farmers have already signed for electric service, a few additional signers will have to be obtained in order to complete the project. In each community, there are some farmers who are waiting to see if the electric lines will be built before signing up to take electricity; however, if all farmers do this, it would never be possible to secure electricity on farms, Mr. Schumann pointed out.

New Fall Merchandise Displays Will Be Featured

Inaugurating a weekly "Trades Day" program to be observed in Haskell during the coming months Haskell merchants who are cooperating in the movement have designated Wednesday, Sept. 11th as date for the first observance, and the event is being widely advertised this week.

In connection with the first Trades Day next week, local business establishments plan to incorporate a fall merchandise display featuring complete stocks of new fall and winter merchandise in all retail lines. Local merchants report purchases of the largest stocks featured in more than a decade, and a visit through Haskell stores will give a convincing picture that people in the Haskell trade territory can "buy at home" with full confidence that they can select their purchases from stocks as complete in variety as will be found anywhere.

Special values will be offered by practically every store in Haskell for the inaugural "Trades Day", together with special events that will interest every person visiting Haskell on Wednesday, Sept. 11. A partial list of the outstanding values offered will be found in the large cooperative advertisement in this issue of The Free Press.

Rotan Girl and Rule Man Are Wed Sunday

Francis Taylor of Rotan became the bride of O. B. Cave of Rule Sunday evening in a twilight ceremony at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Taylor in Rotan. The Rev. Dick O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Stamford read the ring ceremony before an improvised altar of greenery and white asters and a candelabra holding tall white tapers.

Wayland Taylor, brother of the bride and Anna Lou Cave, sister of the bridegroom lighted the tapers. Mrs. D. L. Swint was accompanist for Marcel Patterson to sing, "I Love You Truly". She was also accompanist as Mrs. Charles Signor of Abilene, violinist, played "Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life" during the ceremony.

Elmer Atwood of Rotan, New Mexico, was best man for Mr. Cave and Mrs. Atwood was her sister's only attendant. She wore a gown of peach embroidered marquisette over taffeta and a matching hair-length veil and carried a colonial bouquet.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her wedding gown was ivory satin with long flowing skirt, leg o mutton sleeves, a fitted bodice, fastened down the back with tiny self-covered buttons. Her finger-tip veil of illusion was held in place by a bouquet of seed pearls and orange blossoms. Her only ornament being a pendant belonging to her maternal grandmother, she carried a bouquet of gardenias on a Bible.

Army Recruiting

While the conscription bill is being debated in Congress, the Army is making an unusual drive for volunteer enlistments, including an innovation in the form of traveling recruiting offices. These are composed of a truck and trailer for each recruiting party which moves from town to town seeking recruits.

The first of these parties began work in Georgia a few days ago, but a total of 18 is contemplated, making 20 recruiting offices on wheels for each of the nine army corps areas. Since the beginning of an intensive campaign for recruits on May 16, about 85,000 enlistments were obtained in the first three months, by far the largest percentage according to population coming from the South.

Enlistments made during this period were for three years, the pay for recruits being $21 a month, with food, lodging and clothing furnished by the government. In the matter of pay, the Army has been at a disadvantage in obtaining recruits, as Navy pay begins at $30 with better opportunities for advancement than are afforded enlisted soldiers. It is believed that a new law may place the military services on a more nearly equal footing with respect to pay.

There is no doubt, however, that some compulsory service plan will be adopted, as it must be if the national defense program is to be carried out as proposed.

The Power of Islam

Mohammedanism is still a power to be reckoned with in Asia and Africa, but as a religion it is losing its influence, even among its nominal adherents, according to travelers in Moslem lands. Mustapha Kemal, the late ruler of Turkey, dealt Mohammedanism a terrible blow when he abolished the Caliphate, the highest church dignity which was formerly held by the reigning sultan. Kemal also repudiated the Koran as the legal code of Turkey. These acts, and the spread of literature antagonistic to the faith have played havoc with Mohammedan prestige nearly everywhere.

Founded by Mohammed, an illiterate epileptic shepherd and camel-driver of Mecca, the era of Islam dates from 622 A. D. when with about 150 followers he fled from Mecca to escape persecution and settled in Medina, where his real power arose.

His epileptic tendencies had brought on "visions" whereby he professed to have received revelations from God at various times, these communications being later incorporated in the Koran. After the death of his first wife, he took ten other wives, many concubines and female slaves into his household.

He exercised both temporal and spiritual authority, waged war with the cruelty common to that period, and partook more of the character of a conqueror and statesman than of that of a prophet. His own sincerity of belief in his divine mission, especially during his later life, has been seriously questioned.

Yet the movement he founded had within 100 years after his death become a serious menace to Christendom, until checked by the victory of Charles Martel near Tours in 732. Today the adherents of Mohammedanism number about 234,000,000.

Like Christianity, Mohammedanism is divided into many denominations or sects, of which the Sunnites and the Shites are the most numerous.

General John F. Howell, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans announces that he will recommend that the reunion to be held in Washington in October, shall be the last. Of the remnant of Confederate soldiers still living only a few are physically able to attend this year's reunion.

Don't For Dove Hunters

AUSTIN, Texas — With dove hunting under way pertinent DON'TS which, if followed, will save sportsmen considerable trouble with state and federal game wardens have been formulated by the Texas Game Department's executive secretary. They include:

Don't shoot doves before sunrise nor after official sunset.

Don't shoot from a car or from, or along a public road.

Don't shoot doves with any gun except a shotgun larger than ten gauge.

Don't forget to plug your gun to three-shell capacity.

Don't forget your hunting license if you leave the county of your residence.

Don't kill more than 12 doves per day and do not have more than 12 in your possession, white wings and mourning doves.

Don't forget to clean your gun well before taking that first hunting trip of the season.

Don't shoot when you cannot see, there might be another hunter behind those trees.

Don't leave traps open and always get permission to hunt on private land; the trespass law is rather severe.

Don't forget that the quail season does not open until December 1.

Observe Changes in Law

Because it is necessary to print the blanks for state hunting license weeks before federal regulations, to which Texas laws conform on migratory waterfowl are announced hunters are warned that some information on the back of their license is in error. Hunters can now shoot only 12 doves a day and have 12 in possession. The duck limit remain at 10 per day and 20 in possession, but note that a hunter can now legally shoot only 3 geese and have 6 in possession.

Another Fish Catches Bird

Persons reading in this column recently of a bass leaping high into the air to snatch a bird just as it left a tree limb extending over the water may have been convinced it was a rare occurrence. However, Cecil Meador of Bloomington Grove saw practically the same thing. While fishing for bass last spring he watched a flock of starling skim over the water. Suddenly a large bass leaped from the water, caught one of the birds on the wing and disappeared with it.

Cars Continue To Take Toll

Reports of the heavy toll taken by motor car on Texas highways continue to pour into the executive secretary of the game department. The latest is from the Game Warden of Colorado County who in 100 miles of driving recently saw the following dead on the highway: a doe deer, 9 cottontail rabbits, one swamp rabbit, one skunk, one armadillo, 2 bullfrogs and a dog.

Shooting Doves, Plover Costly

W. J. Spear of Kilgore, Texas, recently found it does not pay to kill doves and plovers out of season. He was caught killing birds on his father's place recently and Judge C. C. Van Wagner of Fort Worth fined him $200 and costs for one plover and the same for one dove. The State Game Warden could have filed sixteen charges, for Spear had that many birds in his possession. There is no open season on plover and the dove season was not open.

"Shooting on your own property is no defense," Judge Van Wagner said in fining Spear a total of $422.

Should sorrow come your way may you find the same kindness that has been shown us.—Mr. and Mrs. Joel W. Massey and Venita Jewel; Mr. and Mrs. Felix Josselot and Almada.

They said 'Johnnie is smart as a whip' — but he made poor grades Maybe your child is like that—"smart as a whip," but, for some reason, doesn't get good grades. If so—well, now that school is starting again, you might do something about it. Suppose you try this: Fix him up a study table and give him a lamp of his own. You may find the result amazing. Many children, unknowingly, suffer from poor eyesight. Unless they have proper light for studying, they sometimes lack interest and enthusiasm for school work... The special shade on an I.E.S. study lamp spreads the light where it is needed. Call today and let our lighting experts give you a FREE demonstration. Young Eyes Need Good Light I.E.S.
