2,595 Men of Military Age Register In This County

Total for County Exceeds Previous Estimates of Eligibles

Registration of Haskell county's available manpower for military service—men between the ages of 21 and 35—was handled smoothly and efficiently Wednesday by a corps of volunteer workers and county election officials under the supervision of County Clerk Roy Ratliff.

The registration was held at regular voting booths throughout the county, and at practically every registration point registrars reported a rush of registrants when the booths were opened at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Thursday at noon, reports to County Clerk Ratliff from all registration boxes showed that a total of 2,595 men of draft age had been registered in the county.

This figure exceeded advance estimates of the number of draftees in the county, and registrars pointed out that the total included probably as many as 300 transient laborers, Mexicans and negroes.

Registration figures for each voting box in the county as tabulated by the County Clerk were as follows:

- Haskell No. 1—387.
- Haskell No. 2—157.
- Haskell No. 3—160.
- Haskell No. 4—140.
- Rochester—382.
- Weinert—265.
- Brushie—52.
- Rule—411.
- O'Brien—134.
- Sagerton—91.
- Joe Bailey—55.

- Cottonwood—51.
- Jud—74.
- Cliff—64.
- Bunker Hill—20.
- Post—40.
- Howard—65.
- McConnell—16.

Praising the efficiency of the registrars and their assistants, all of whom served without pay, County Clerk Ratliff commended them for the efficient manner in which the registration was conducted. "Every phase of the task was handled smoothly and without a hitch," the official declared.

CHURCHES

CHURCH OF CHRIST J. G. Malphurs, Minister

Attendance in our Bible school last Lord's day was the best for a long time. If the Bible is what it claims to be, and if we believe that its message is essential to human happiness either in this life or that which is to come we must be studious in learning it and zealous in teaching it. The church is charged with the responsibility of teaching it; therefore every member should do his part by being in a class and getting as many as possible to attend. No Christian can afford to be indifferent to ward Bible study. If you are a Bible scholar you should be either teaching a class, or in a class to encourage the one who is teaching; if you are not a Bible scholar you certainly need to come to be taught. The class for young married people is exceptionally good. They are studying the book of Genesis, and will have for next Sunday the story of the fall of man, in the 3rd chapter. It will do you good to visit this class at 9:45 in the school building.

There will be preaching both morning and evening, eleven o'clock and seven-thirty. Come and worship God with us.

"Why so many profess religion and live it in early life but quit it in middle life?" will be the sermon subject at the Sunday night's service. One frequently hears it said that those doing so lose all interest in religion because after giving it a fair trial, they find there is nothing worthwhile in it. That many turn their backs on all religion in middle life after being vitally interested in it in earlier life is unquestionably so. But what has Jesus to say about this important matter? Suppose we consider carefully His answers to the question. This we shall do Sunday night at 7:30. You are invited to join us in hearing Him.

Parity Payment Rules for 1941 Are Announced

The provisions under which producers of corn, cotton, rice, tobacco and wheat may earn 1941 parity payments were announced today by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Payments will be made to eligible producers from a fund of $212,000,000 appropriated for this purpose.

The 1941 parity provisions are essentially the same as those in effect for the 1940 program. A producer who participates in the 1941 AAA Farm Program will be eligible for payments if: (1) the 1941 planted acreage of the commodity for which payment is made does not exceed the farm acreage allotment for such commodity; (2) he plants within the total of the acreage allotments of corn, cotton, rice, tobacco and wheat established for his farm in 1941; (3) he does not offset his performance by overplanting these commodities on any other farm, wherever located, in which he has an interest. As provided in the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, the 1941 parity payment rates for the five commodities will be based on the amount by which the returns from the 1940 crop of each falls below the parity income. The rate for any crop can not exceed the amount by which the 1940 average farm price is less than the parity price and will be as nearly equal to parity as the available funds permit. Rates will be announced later when the information upon which they are based is available. In 1939 and 1940 the rate of payment and the average farm price combined could not exceed 75 percent of parity.

As in the two previous years, parity payments will be made on the normal yield of the farm acreage allotment determined for each commodity under the 1941 program.

Better Times In West Texas Seen By WTU Company

Better times for West Texas are foreseen by the West Texas Utilities, which this month in changing its advertising slogan from "Invite a friend to West Texas" to "Invite a new business to West Texas—the Land of Opportunity."

The company, according to H. C. King, local manager, anticipates a shifting of industry and business and believes that the Southwest will capture a good-sized portion of the flow from eastern commercial centers.

"We in West Texas have many advantages to offer most types of industry," he declared, "and it is up to all of us to help publicize the fact and secure new concerns which will bring new money to our community as well as consume more of our own agricultural products."

He mentioned West Texas' mild climate, "good, clean air and plenty of space", cheap, ample supply of fuel and power, and superior living conditions as being among assets which would prove attractive to business once "we build up the reputation of welcoming private initiative and enterprise."

The tendency toward widespread distribution of industry, he added, gives West Texas an unusual opportunity to secure self-supporting and community-building business institutions.

The utilities company maintains an industrial department, headed by T. J. McCarty and R. M. Fielder, that devotes full time to work with business concerns either already here or seeking desirable locations. The department has just completed a detailed survey of the region's natural resources and now has available much valuable information on the location of numerous materials, for which there is a wartime demand, such as magnesium and iron ore.

Information also includes data on the quality and quantity of the minerals, the possibilities for processing, cheap fuel and power sources, ample water, labor, housing and transportation facilities.

Local groups were invited to call upon them "if they can be of any help."

The slogan "Invite a new business to West Texas—the Land of Opportunity", will be carried in the company's institutional advertisements in over 80 newspaper this fall and winter.

Oil Mill Feeds of Great Value

Manufactured in This Section by the Rule Cotton Oil Mill, Cotton Seed Cake or Meal is the Nation's Outstanding Source of Concentrated Proteins for Stock or Dairy Feeds.

Prior to the Civil War, cotton was grown only for its lint value and the seed was considered a waste product—its disposal being an annoying problem in the ginning industry.

However, the development of the Cotton Oil Industry gave the cotton farmer an outlet for his cotton seed—once worthless and a nuisance—now brings to Southern farmers an annual income of approximately $150,000,000.

America's first cotton oil mill was built in Columbia, South Carolina in 1826, however, as late as 1867 there were only four cotton mills in active operation in the United States and for numerous reasons cotton seed continued to be regarded as a waste product until about 1880. From that time—during which the average amount of seed crushed was 200,000 tons annually. The nation's cotton oil mills—of which the Rule Cotton Oil Mill is an important unit—now number about 500 and the average annual tonnage now expected is about 5,000,000,000 tons.

Coincident with this growth of the cotton oil industry, study and experiment on the part of agricultural colleges and feed manufacturers have revealed that farm grains are splendid when used as a base for dairy and stock rations, but should be supplemented with a protein concentrate to obtain the maximum in profit.

The result is that cottonseed cake is now the greatest single feed for beef cattle on our western ranges and in the nation's feed lots and dairy barns cotton seed meal is the most dependable source of protein for supplementing grains and hays. In fact, today it furnishes 69 per cent of the vegetable protein demands of American feeders.

The Rule Cotton Oil Mill not only provides farmers with a convenient market for their cotton seed but manufacturers a complete line of cotton seed products included in which is Ruck and Four Square mixed feeds.

The mixed feeds are fine for dairy or for horses and mules. For light work can be fed straight and on heavy work it reduces to one-half your grain feed bill.

The high content of nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash contained in cotton seed meal or cake makes it a fine fertilizer when returned to the soil in the form of manure.

NEW WAY OF BUILDING DAIRY RATION LETS COW GET MORE OUT OF FEED FOR MAKING MILK

Anyone knowing feedstuffs will readily agree that alfalfa hay is a much better feed for dairy cattle than corn cobs. Yet on a total digestible nutrient (T. D. N.) basis, the long recognized standard for judging feed values, there appears to be little difference. In 100 lbs. of alfalfa hay there are 50 lbs. of digestible nutrients, while 100 lbs. of corn cobs contain 46.2 lbs. of digestible nutrients.

According to T. D. N. measurement, then, the difference between alfalfa hay and corn cobs is less than 4 lbs. to the hundred, even though the producing ability of the one is known to be far greater than the other. This simple comparison is one of many that caused scientists to decide that the existing T. D. N. basis for judging the productive capacity of feeds and roughages needed to be revised and replaced by more accurate methods, according to Meade Summers, head of the dairy department of Purina Mills.

"Many men in the dairy business today can remember when the first so-called balanced rations were introduced," says Summers. "College professors, feed manufacturers and dairymen began talking about proteins and carbohydrates and how they should be balanced . . . and well-bred, well-fed cows began to products are practically equal in total digestible nutrients. So much energy is burned up by the cow in digesting the corn cobs that only 13.2 therms of net productive energy remain out of the 46.2 lbs. of digestible material in 100 lbs. of cob. On the other hand, the alfalfa hay is so much more easily digested that far less energy is used up in the process of digestion and assimilation, leaving 38 therms of net energy from 50 lbs. of digestible material in 100 lbs. of alfalfa hay. That means that alfalfa hay has practically three times the feeding value of corn cobs.

"Recently Professor G. S. Frapps of the University of Texas, one of the outstanding dairymen of the nation, came to the front with a statement corroborating these tests," says Summers. "Frapps said that all dairy feeds were being figured on the wrong basis and that productive energy values should replace the use of total digestible nutrients as it had done in Europe many years ago. 'Of course, it is still very important to have a properly balanced ration. And it is also important that the ration be high in total digestible nutrients. However, it is most important of all to go one step farther and see that today's ration is rich in therms of net energy, for producing milk after the cow has digested the feed.

step up production to almost unbelievable amounts compared to what they had been producing.

Digestibility is Big Factor "Later, scientists working in laboratories discovered that proteins and carbohydrates were not the whole story—that a feed must have digestibility as well. It was found that the more feed a cow could digest and make use of, the more milk she would produce. The discovery of digestible nutrients was a big step forward in the dairy industry," Summers says.

"But in laboratories and on experimental farms there were research workers who were not entirely satisfied with the progress made. They felt that total digestible nutrients did not tell the whole story. They were the hunger fighters of the dairy industry who realized that dairy breeding was still far ahead of dairy feeding—that the American cow was capable of producing a lot more milk if they could find the feed that would bring it out of her."

"Among them were two dairy scientists at Pennsylvania State College, who received notice for their work with a machine that showed exactly what happened to each pound of feed when it passed through a cow. They put a living animal inside the machine and made their tests. They discovered, as many scientists and advanced dairymen had believed they would, that total digestible nutrients was not the final measure of a feed. This machine measured the energy used in digesting feed. They found more energy was used in digesting some feeds than others.

Net Energy Values "Their findings explain why alfalfa hay is a better dairy feed than corn cobs, even though the two

"About 2 years ago Purina Mills began a series of feeding tests at the Purina Experimental Farm to determine the effectiveness of this net energy basis for building a dairy feed. The climax of this experimental work was reached in a test with 60 grade cows, divided in 2 herds of 30 head each.

Checked and Double Checked "One herd was fed the regular Purina dairy ration on the market at the time, high in total digestible nutrients," says Summers. "The other herd was fed a ration both high in total digestible nutrients and rich in therms of net energy. The result was startling. Both herds did well, but the cows on the therm-rich feed averaged 40 pounds of milk daily while the cows receiving the regular Purina ration gave 35 pounds of milk. Tests were repeated for a second full lactation period, with verifying results.

"For final and conclusive proof, the herds were reversed and the cows that had been given the regular Purina dairy ration were fed on the new therm-rich feed while the herd that had been receiving the therm-rich ration were given the Purina ration. The 30 cows fed on the therm-rich ration confirmed the results from the first herd. By this time our men in the Dairy Department were calling these net energy units 'milk-making therms.'

"Those 60 cows gave us the information needed to make our present improved dairy rations. Today our customers have a milk-making ration that not only has its carbohydrates and proteins balanced, not only is rich in minerals, not only is high in total digestible nutrients, but also is rich in milk-making therms. The result to our customers is extra dollars of profit."

Medicine Man A Pest

Among certain Indian tribes the traditional medicine man not only fails to do his patients any good, but makes it difficult for white physicians to treat them satisfactorily, according to the director of public health nursing among Wisconsin tribes.

Reports from nurses on duty among the Indians of that state indicate that the tribal medicine men still hold a superstitious power over their people and are jealous of the white man's methods. As a result the white doctors and nurses are not called in many cases until after the medicine man has done his worst. Under such circumstances the white doctor is at a serious disadvantage and the patient often dies through lack of proper early treatment.

When this happens the native medicine man points to the white physician's failure as proof of his own superiority. And it is sometimes difficult, if not impossible, to convince the redskins that their medicine man is wrong. In fact, it is best to criticize him much, as that would stir up racial feeling and make matters worse.

The policy of the white doctors and nurses is to try to gradually win the Indians over from superstition to scientific measures, and in this steady progress is being made. But the native medicine man is still a pest to be reckoned with, and a long campaign of education will be required to destroy his influence among the more backward members of the tribes.

A Mother's Will

The will of Mary Ball Washington, mother of George Washington, is a rather quaint document, which indicates how closely she kept track of her belongings, and shows the very definite manner in which she desired to dispose of them at her death.

That portion bequeathed to her eldest, and illustrious son, George is described as follows: "I give to my son, Gen. George Washington, all my land in Accokeek Run, in the county of Stafford, and also my Negro boy, George to him and his heirs together. Also my best bed, bedstead and Virginia cloth curtains (the same that stands in my best bedroom), my quilted blue and white quilt and my best dressing glass."

To her other children and grandchildren Mrs. Washington willed a large and fully described list of property, including her "Negro man Tom."

"Negro wench old Bet," "Negro man Frederick," and "Negro woman little Bet." There were also a phaeton and bay horse, two black horses, a large assortment of household goods including pewter, crockery ware and iron kitchen furniture.

Mary Ball was the second wife of George Washington's father, Augustine Washington, and bore him six children—George, Betty, Samuel, John, Charles, and Mildred—in the period of 14 years between their marriage and her husband's death.

New Uses For Odors

From time immemorial certain materials in common use have been offensive to sensitive persons because of unpleasant smells, such as those emitted by oilcloth, rubber, fresh paint and the like. In the last few years much has been done by "odor engineers" toward eliminating these unpleasant effects, and perfumer-chemists now have more than 1,000 pleasing scents with which to make various articles of merchandise more attractive.

Perfume mixed with printers' ink has been used by Chicago and New York newspapers on special occasions to lend novelty to florists' other advertisements. The use of perfumed advertising blotters is already an old practice.

A bus line has overcome irritating gasoline fumes by adding quantities of perfume to the fuel and experiments have been similarly made with diesel engines on suburban trains. Perfumed typewriter ribbons and carbon paper have been introduced, and are said to be popular with stenographers.

The odor of antiseptics, characteristic of hospitals is being overcome by the spray of scents suggesting woods and flowers, which are also said to have a beneficial effect on convalescents. Two Swiss chemists are said to have enhanced the effectiveness of a motion picture by the introduction of suitable odors in various scenes. Some of more smelly ones might be improved by the employment of a simple deodorant.

A New Crop Record

For the first time in the history of the crop, soybean acreage in the United States this year exceeds 10 million acres, which is an increase of about 14 per cent over that of 1939. The steady and rapid increase in the production of this crop from year to year has been phenomenal, and one of the most notable developments ever to occur in American agriculture.

Although considerably less than one-half of the soybean acreage is ordinarily harvested for processing purposes, it was recently estimated by private crop experts that production this year will exceed 90 million bushels. Cash returns to farmers promise to continue on a gratifying basis.

A. J. Richardson, auto dealer of Lubbock, Texas canceled a $900 debt owed him by 21 of his friends, explaining: "I don't like to see them dodging around corners when they see me."

You'll probably find a few bad apples in a bushel of good ones. That's the way it is with beer retailing in America. There are hundreds of thousands of wholesome, law-abiding beer retail establishments that sell good beer—the refreshing, appetizing beverage of moderation. At the same time, there is a handful of undesirable, anti-social taverns. Unfortunately, these few outlaw establishments bring discredit to the entire beer industry.

To protect your right to drink good beer, the Brewing Industry wants such anti-social retailers eliminated entirely. It has instituted a "clean-up or close-up" program—now in effect in some states and being extended.

We'd like you to know about this socially important program. May we tell you about it in an interesting free booklet? Write: United Brewers Industrial Foundation, 19 East 40th Street, New York, N. Y.

Vice-President—Marigene Sellers.
Secretary—Mary Helen Crandall.
Treasurer—Patsy Pearsey.
Reporter—Nancy Collins.
The club membership includes members of the Junior and Senior classes, but those not enrolled in the Homemaking classes this year are not allowed to hold office.

Seniors Select Rings

In a meeting Friday the Senior class made a definite decision on their class rings.
The students may have a choice of having either a gold ring with a stone or a solid gold ring without the set. An Indian head will form the crest for the ring and the word "Haskell" will be written under the crest.
The order for the rings is to be placed with our local jeweler, Mr. Lyles and the students will be measured for their rings at the jewelry store.
Every Senior is looking forward to having his ring ordered and will wait anxiously for their arrival.

Miss Breedlove Is Making Visits

As a part of the home making program, Miss Breedlove has begun her round of visits in the homes of her pupils. These visits are required of every home making teacher by her supervisor. By this means she is better able to supervise the girls' home projects and can become better acquainted with the girls and their mothers.

Miss Breedlove who is beginning her second year here is doing splendid work in her temporary laboratory and has a scholastic background that is a credit to her. She is an honor graduate of Milford High School, and after her graduation there she attended Hillsboro Junior College. In Texas State College for Women she received her degree in 1939, and then began her teaching career here.

While she was attending TSCW she belonged to the Mary S. Rose Club, the Home Economics Club on the campus, and the Hill County Club. She was also a student assistant in T. S. C. W. cafeteria during her senior year.
She is sponsor of Future Home Makers Club, the Pep Squad and the Sophomore class.

F.F.A. Enrollment Is Large

Forty-five Haskell high school boys are reported to have enrolled in Vocational Agriculture this year, and have become members of the Dave Persons Chapter of the Future Farmers of America. All these boys have paid their FFA dues of one dollar and this is an unusual percentage.

Mr. Neal, the agriculture instructor, stated that much interest is being manifested by the first year class. They are now employed in manual training. Soon they will be expected to memorize the F. F. A. creed. The first year boys will be initiated in the near future and will become full-fledged members of the chapter.

This particular course is recognized as one of the most useful and helpful studies offered to high school boys. Vocational Agriculture teaches the boys the most conservative and efficient way of living. And that is something which is needed the world over.

Sophomores Form Class Organization

The Sophomore class met last week under the supervision of the sponsor, Miss Breedlove, and organized the class. The officers elected were:
President—Fannie Sellers.
Vice-President—Ray Thomas.

No transportation aid will be paid for any bus that does not come up to this standard.

MUSTANGS WIN FROM SAGERTON

The Mustangs went to Sagerton Tuesday, October 8th to repay a previous visit from the Sagerton team.

The B squad of the Mustangs batted down the Sagerton Eagles at the rate of 27 to 6 with the Mustangs leading the field.

The Mustangs faltered at first, but quickly rallied after the Eagles had scored a touchdown and ran up a score of their own to win the second game of the season.

MUSTANGS DEFEAT A. C. C. WILDCATS

The Mustangs emerged victorious from an encounter with the A. C. C. Wildcats of Abilene Friday, October 11.

The Mustangs played almost entirely an offensive game. They drove through for a touchdown in the first few minutes of play and under this incentive they ran up a total score of 39 while allowing the heavier Abilene team a total of only 24.

The fleet-footed, hard-hitting Mustangs played an excellent game of ball and came through for the third straight win of the season. The Abilene Wildcats also played a nice game, but the broken field running of the Mustangs and their aeronautic campaign proved too much for them.
The game was played on the local gridiron.

HALLOWEEN CARNIVAL TO BE HELD

4 ACTION RELIEF FOR ACID INDIGESTION

New Draft Rules Being Formed To Define Eligibles

Selective service headquarters at Washington planned to issue this week regulations covering the selection or deferment of the 16-404,000 men who register on Oct. 16 for one year of military training.

The classification regulations will be the third of six volumes to be issued. Already published are volumes covering organization and administration, and registration. To come are those on induction into the Army, finance and physical standards.

There will be no "class" deferments in the regulations in contrast with the World War draft which granted blanket exemptions to those working in shipyards and other essential defense industries. Local boards will consider each individual's claim to deferment. The regulations will define dependents and "essential" occupations.

Officials indicated that all married men living with their wives would be granted deferment. They expect to have about 5,000,000 men without dependents and not engaged in essential occupations.

It was believed that the regulations would practically tell local boards that they shall defer persons who occupy key posts in any industry serving the normal needs of a community or whose removal would cause a recession in employment in any industry. Doctors, dentists, policemen, firemen and health inspectors would be deferred too.

Classifications of registrants will not take place until after the lottery—between Oct. 21 and Oct. 26—has determined the order in which they are to be selected.

To obtain deferment the registrant will have to submit affidavits from his employer showing him to be essential to some industry. If the deferment claim is based on his having dependents, an affidavit will have to be submitted from those whose dependency is claimed.

The regulations probably will provide that any person deferred for any reason will be obliged to appear before the local board at the end of each six months to establish that his original claim for deferment still is good.

Other steps to be taken by conscription officials to get the draft machinery ready are:

Appointment of the 25,000 members of the 6500 local draft boards by President Roosevelt. Names of the appointees who have been nominated by state governors will be announced at the draft headquarters of each state.

Appointment of 6500 doctors and 6500 lawyers—one for each draft area—to work with boards of the doctors as examiners of physical fitness and the lawyers as advisers to registrants and in appeals regarding deferment.

Want to Get the Razzberry?

Try telling folks the rates have been cut in half!

I work for the utilities and the other night I had supper over at Jim and Edith's house. It was a swell supper and I told Edith so. "Cooking," she said, "is easy. We have nearly everything electric." "There is a point," I said, excited-like. "And you're using about twice as much electricity today as you did 10 years ago for the same money." "Maybe you mean the bill is twice as high nowadays," Jim chimed in. "It may be just as high, Jim," I said. "Mine is, too. But there's a good reason for it. Look here..."

2 Then I took them around the house, pointing out their refrigerator, electric washer, the percolator, radio, toaster, iron, and all the other electric appliances, not to mention the better-light—better-sight lamps. I said: "Now, honestly, aren't you using a whole of a lot more electricity than you did just a few years ago?" They said that was right.

3 Then I tossed a couple nickels on the table, real dramatic-like, and said: "The average person pays only about a dime a day for electric service! Some pay less, some a little more. And the more you use, the lower the rate!"

4 "Is this a bargain or isn't it?" I asked Edith. "Never thought of it like that," she said. "I certainly do get my money's worth!"

Red Cross Sounds Warning Against Monoxide Poison

In a warning pointing out that 800 persons annually lose their lives as a result of carbon monoxide poisoning, the American Red Cross has set down the following rules for motorists and householders to observe with the advent of cold weather:

Remember that carbon monoxide is colorless and odorless. Do not run an automobile engine in a closed garage, or sit in a closed parked car with the engine running.

If there is an odor of illuminating gas, ventilate the premises and get competent advice from your gas company.

Use a flash light, not match or candle, in attempting to locate a gas leak.

Use care when boiling liquids on a gas stove so that they do not boil over and extinguish or partially extinguish the gas flame.

Avoid the use of tubing to connect gas heaters, especially in sleeping rooms.

Do not leave a gas flame burning low in a room where one is sleeping.

Make certain that furnace pipes are not clogged, and that there are no holes in drafts or dampers, as carbon monoxide gas is also found in smoke from fires and coal stoves and furnaces.

Increased Farm Income Is Noted In Recent Years

A decrease in forced sales and bankruptcies of Texas farm during the past seven years while voluntary sales and trades have increased due largely to increased purchasing power is reported by R. E. Skipworth, county supervisor for the Farm Security Administration.

Farm bankruptcies in Texas dropped from a total of 199 in the year ending June 30, 1933, to only 81 in the year ending June 30, 1939. The number of forced sales dropped from 32.8 per thousand to 14.2 per thousand during the same period. Voluntary sales and trades increased from 16.8 per thousand to 28.2 per thousand.

Debts of low-income farmers in Texas were reduced $6,103,044 through the farm debt adjustment service of the Farm Security Administration, by voluntary agreements between debtors and creditors. The supervisor said that cash income for Texas farmers was up 80 per cent above the 1932 level and that farm purchasing power was up 166 per cent, due to prices of things the farmer sold increasing more rapidly than the price of things the farmer had to buy.

The supervisor also pointed out that 62,916 Texas farm families received rural rehabilitation loans totaling more than $29,787,500 and that more than 80 per cent of the installments on these loans have been paid when due; that 621 tenant farm families have been started toward land ownership by loans for farm purchase; that the Rural Electrification Administration has aided in building 17,712 miles of electric lines to serve 52,982 farm families, and that 650,000 Texas farmers participated in the 1939 AAA program, representing 92 per cent of the state's crop land.

Fairgrounds Thronged On Opening Day

Fairgrounds and exhibit buildings were jammed with visitors Wednesday afternoon and night, and association officials predicted that opening day attendance would likely surpass that of any year during the past decade. Swelling the crowds was the attendance of thousands of school children who were admitted free to the fairgrounds on opening day until six o'clock. The attendance of children was in addition to more than three thousand gate tickets sold Wednesday afternoon, according to a preliminary check-up, and night crowds were reported equally as large.

With all exhibit space filled in every department, quality of agricultural, livestock and poultry exhibits has drawn comment from thousands of visitors, who pronounced the entire exposition an outstanding example of West Texas livestock and agricultural resources.

Educational booths in the main exhibit buildings are on a more diversified nature than in previous years.

In the 4H and FFA educational booths first place award went to Rule FFA chapter, second to the Weibert FFA chapter, and third place to the Mattson 4H Club.

In the Future Homemakers educational booths, awards of $10 went to each of the five clubs displaying: Rule, Paint Creek, Mattson, Weibert and Haskell.

Home Demonstration Club booths depicting phases of HD club were displayed by Blue Bonnet, Center Point, Mattson, Marcy, Hoot Gibson, A&M College animal husbandryman judged dairy, swine and sheep divisions and J. M. Bird of Stamford was judge in the beef cattle divisions. FFA and 4H club educational booths were judged by M. B. Oates, Dallas executive of the Farm Security Administration.

Judging in all departments was underway Thursday afternoon, but was not available for publication in this issue.

Judging in the poultry department was by J. W. Pritchett of Anson an official judge of the American Poultry Association. Hoot Gibson, A&M College animal husbandryman judged dairy, swine and sheep divisions and J. M. Bird of Stamford was judge in the beef cattle divisions. FFA and 4H club educational booths were judged by M. B. Oates, Dallas executive of the Farm Security Administration.

More than 275 animals are entered in the livestock division, and 214 birds are being shown in the poultry department.

Outstanding in the livestock exhibits are the animals being shown by 4H Club and FFA boys, and the fine animals shown by out-of-county livestock breeders. Among these exhibitors are Frank Antle of Taylor county who is showing a herd of purebred Jersey milk cows and heifers, and the entries in dual purpose division by E. L. King and Sons of Southland who are showing horns and a 2-year old shorthorn herd bull.

Scheduled Fair attractions during the remainder of the 1940 exposition were dances Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, a football game between Mattson and Paint Creek Thursday night, District 10A conference game between the Haskell Indians and Baird High School Friday night. Fairgrounds, exhibit buildings, and carnival midway will be open each day from 1 p. m. until midnight.
