Do You Know TEXAS?

A reader of this newspaper can get the answer to any question of fact about Texas by writing A. Garland Adair, Curator of Patriotic Exhibits, Texas Memorial Museum, Austin, Texas.
MEMORABLE PASSAGE: "The people of Texas ought not let it be truthfully said that the people of the original thirteen States are better acquainted with the history of their own States than Texans are with Texas History, nor that the people of any State have a prouder or nobler heritage than that which belongs to Texans."—Ben B. Hunt in Knowledge and Patriotism in Texas.
Q. What is "A Cavalcade of Texas"?
A. It is a feature length picture in technicolor recording the historic and industrial highlights of Texas. It was produced under the supervision of Karl Hoblitzelle by James A. Fitzpatrick, famous "Voice of the Globe" traveling producer.
FREE FOR THE ASKING: "A Cavalcade of Texas" was shown to capacity audiences at both the New York World Fair and the San Francisco Golden Gate exposition during the 1940 season. Karl Hoblitzelle, Dallas theatre head and vice-chairman of the Texas World's Fair commission, and Col. Paul Wakefield, executive secretary have made the film and projection machine available to the public through the Texas Centennial of Statehood Commission. A letter to Al Garland Adair Austin, will secure the picture for your community. Thanks to Mr. Hoblitzelle and Col. Wakefield, it is free.
Q. What is the latest bit of O

Henryana brought to light in the General Land Office?
A. Bascom Giles, Commissioner of the General Land Office where O. Henry (W. S. Porter) used to work as a draftsman, answers this question. A map of Burnet county drawn 33 years before O. Henry went to work in the land office bears a sketch of two fighting monkeys with the notation, "Porter vs Herman." Commissioner Giles has definitely identified the lettering as O. Henry's and believes the sketch was also done by O. Henry, possibly when O. Henry and a fellow draftsman had a disagreement over some detail of the map.
EDITORIAL THOUGHT: "Sudden deaths and crippling injuries on our highways are the concern of everyone of us"—James S. Kemper.
Q. Are wages paid an employee in Texas subject to garnishment for a debt?
A. No Texas protects her labor from garnishment of hourly, daily, weekly, monthly, or yearly wages. Contract wages are subject to garnishment, however.
THE SHOWWINDOW OF THE SOUTHWEST: The Texas Memorial Museum on the campus of the University of Texas and of which Dr. E. H. Sellards is the director has been frequently referred to since its opening in 1938 as the showwindow of history in the Southwest. Its pioneer hall mission room, and memorial hall tell the patriotic story of Texas under six flags, while three other floors are devoted to natural history.
ANIMAL SPEEDS
It isn't easy to measure the speed of various animals. In the past, many guesses have been made and published, most of them greatly exaggerated.
We know now that the pronghorn antelope travels about thirty miles per hour and reaches forty for short stretches. This is about as fast as the average thoroughbred race horse.

The jackrabbit hits twenty-eight and that's fast enough to outdistance nearly any dog except a greyhound that can top his speed by two miles. The deer runs twenty-five miles an hour but his heavy cousin, the elk, goes only fifteen.
The cat family depends on stealth and cunning to catch their prey. When danger threatens they may not depend on speed alone. The lynx is slow on level ground and can be overtaken easily by dogs. The mountain lion escapes fast dogs easily in its native habitat among fallen logs and rocks.

It is surprising to many that a big, awkward creature that can overtake a race horse and often pulls down wild animal hunter and sportsman. As his swiftness diminishes with faces long and hungry with starvation.
Many of the types of in Texas are not found in other parts of the United States.

Certainly, Ranges are rationed Here's why:

Range factories are making War Goods

IT'S a good sign, too, when you think about it. It means this country is bearing down on the war. Think of the guns, tank-plates, and airplane parts that American gas-equipment factories can turn out (some of the range factories had been making 550 ranges per day).
Take good care of the gas range you have. Gas ranges are for sale in the U.S.A. only to those persons who positively need them. (The same applies to Water Heaters).

THE STORY OF BREAD may well be called The Story of Civilization

Bread, the most venerable of prepared foods, has helped man, and man in turn has bettered the quality of his staff of life.
YEAST is the life of bread... and the story of yeast is the story of scientific research, uniform quality, mammoth production, modern refrigeration... and daily delivery to bakers in every city, town and village throughout the land... even by boat, by sled and by plane when other transportation is interrupted by floods and blizzards.
Anheuser-Busch is one of America's biggest sources of baker's yeast.
Year after year, we have striven with research and resources to better the methods and facilities for brewing Budweiser. To do this, a laboratory specializing in fermentation and nutrition was necessary. Discoveries made in the laboratory and in the progress. Some of these products would appear to have only a remote relationship to brewing, yet, they are the result of scientific research into many allied fields.
Endless research in making the world's leading beer has led to other products
VITAMINS, B COMPLEX—For manufacturers of pharmaceutical and food products. Our plant is one of the world's largest sources.
VITAMIN D—Anheuser-Busch produces enough of the basic material for Vitamin D to supply the entire American market.
CORN SYRUP—many millions of pounds annually for America's candy industry.
SYRUPS—for food, table and confectionery uses and special syrups for medicinal purposes.
STARCH—for food, textile, paper and other industries—millions of pounds annually.
VITAMINS FOR LIVESTOCK—We are America's biggest supplier of yeast vitamins used to fortify animal feeds.
REFRIGERATING EQUIPMENT—for retailers of frozen foods and ice cream the country over. This division is now working all-out on glider wing and fuselage assemblies for our Armed Forces.
DIESEL ENGINES—Adolphus Busch, founder of Anheuser-Busch, acquired the first rights to manufacture this revolutionary engine in America and thus started our great Diesel industry on its way.

Other than the maid of honor and best man, Lou Kuenstler and Martha Frances Davis were the only attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Kuenstler took a brief wedding trip only to return to their home in the Paint Creek community. The community wishes them all the happiness in the world.

ATHLETICS

Last Friday afternoon the Paint Creek Pirates were hosts to the Mattson Mustangs. This was the second battle of the current season for these two teams, with Paint Creek coming off with the big end of the score each time. The Mustangs are a nice clean ball club and showed lots of fight but the Pirates were too much for them. The entire team for the Pirates showed good teamwork, however their play as a whole was not as outstanding as was the individual work of Truett Kuenster, who booted three out of four tries for extra points after touchdowns. For the visitors Lancaster, Merchant, Tanner, Howard and Aalen played very nice football. The lineup for both teams is as follows: Paint Creek: Hager LE, Overton C; Larned RE; Toliver B; Cox B, Medford B. Mattson: Lancaster LE, Howard C, Tanner RE, Merchant B, Allen B, Mayfield B.

6TH GRADE NEWS

We, the sixth grade, are in a class where there are but 13. Frances Oliphant will move to Haskell in two or three weeks and we are very sorry for that, but we all intend to keep right on working hard. Walter Buerger was treated for glasses last week and could not study with us. His eyes are better and he is working hard.

The honor roll for the first six weeks period is: Katherine Darden and Billie Middlebrooks. We hope there will be more names next time.

Weekly Health Letter By Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer

Austin, Texas—It has been reliably estimated that within a year approximately one-third of the total number of 180,000 physicians in the United States will have left their practice to serve with the Army, Navy or Marine Corps. This deficiency in medical attention available to the general population will be even greater than it appears on the surface inasmuch as a large number of those remaining are not in active practice due to old age, teaching or public health activities, or full-time employment with industry. Plainly, this situation develops a problem for the physicians who will remain at home, the solution of which to some degree will be in the hands of the general public, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"There is no desire to imply that the family physician, now or later, must not be summoned except in dire need. In fact, there is a greater reason than ever before to seek his advice on living habits, to have him give a thorough periodic check-up, and to have him treat conditions promptly, which is disregarded, are apt to cause more serious trouble later on. The only point being emphasized is that one should not attempt thoughtlessly to consume the doctor's valuable time and energy by insisting that he make a home call when an office visit or suggestions over the telephone might suffice.

"While in cities, lack of medical service has not as yet reached an acute stage there are already rural sections feeling the pinch. It follows that everyone, both for his own and his country's sake should live sensibly to the end that maximum health may be attained and unavoidable home medical service be eliminated. In this connection, the following rules, among others, may be suggested. Eat nutritious foods. Obtain sufficient rest at night. Shun debilitating and exhausting habits. Keep the use of stimulants

Wendell Berryman Becomes Bride of Ensign Johnson in Military Ceremony

Miss Wendell Berryman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Berryman, Matador, and Ensign O. V. Johnson, son of Mrs. W. E. Johnson of Haskell, were united in marriage in military rites performed Friday morning, October 9, at 10 o'clock. The vows were exchanged before Rev. Robert McDonald, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Champaign, Illinois, where the ceremony was held.

Organ selections were the traditional Lohngren wedding march and recessional, and Schubert's Serenade.

Attendants were Mrs. John McGinley, matron of honor, and Mr. McGinley, best man. Ushers were: Ensign Sottile, Ensign Grove, Ensign Tinkler and Ensign Haidet, classmates of the bridegroom, who formed an arch of swords for the couple as they left the church. Present at the ceremony were the bride's mother and grandmother, Mrs. W. E. Hobbs, who accompanied her from Matador, and a number of classmates of Ensign Johnson.

The bride was attired in a military suit of navy blue gaberdine, identical to the bridegroom's uniform and her hat was trimmed with a miniature U. S. Navy sweetheart emblem. For "something old" she wore her great grandmother's wedding band, and "something borrowed" was a strand of pearls belonging to Mrs. McGinley. Her corsage was of white gardenias.

Mrs. McGinley wore an aqua velvet suit with wine accessories. Her corsage was bronze chrysanthemums.

Following the ceremony the couple left for a wedding trip to Chicago. For travel, Mrs. Johnson wore a black crepe suit with gaberdine and railroad trim, with black accessories.

Mrs. Johnson was reared in Matador and graduated from the high school there with the class of 1940. She has been employed in the AAA office for the past year. Ensign Johnson is a graduate of Haskell High School, where he was reared, and in 1941 received his degree in civil engineering from Texas Technological College, Lubbock. He attended the U. S. Naval academy at Annapolis, Md., for four months and is now attending the officers' diesel school of the University of Illinois at Urbana. Theirs was the first Naval wedding of the new school on the campus.

They will be at home at 704 W. White, Champaign, Illinois, during Ensign Johnson's training there.

To the nicest preacher and his wife
Who have ever come our way,
We find we hate to lose you,
And "goodbye" is hard to say.

You've put new life in our Sunday School
And put our Church on the upward trend
We were at the bottom of the ladder,
Now we've reached the top again.

Our building is no longer drab and old,
Its beauty has been endowed,
It's a place that's not only beautiful,
But one of which we are very proud.

The Church debt has all been cleared,
A goal you led us to reach,
But the part we liked most of all,
Was the wonderful sermons you preached.

Yes, you two have been a blessing to us,
Great leaders in every way,
And it seems that just when we love you most,
You have to go away.

So please accept this gift from us,
It's a lamp to burn memories dear,
Symbolizing the light you brought,

Women's Society of Christian Service Meets With Mrs. Clay Smith

The Women's Society of Christian Service met in the home of Mrs. Clay Smith for the purpose of continuing the Mission study of which Mrs. J. U. Fields is the director. The title of the book reviewed by the director was "The Latin America Circuit".

The meeting was opened by all joining in the singing of "My Faith Looks Up To Thee." Mrs. Hettie Williams offered a prayer.

The director gave a most splendid review and we learned that in most countries of South America there are only two classes, the high and the low. The rules are from the high class and the low classes are very illiterate. The prevailing religion is Catholic and where that is the case in almost every instance there are no public schools, hence the ignorance of the masses of the people.

Rev. Copeland, whom we were happy to see present dismissed the group with prayer. Assisted by several of the members the hostess served delicious gingerbread topped with whipped cream and coffee to the following members: Mesdames Hellums, Isbell, W. Cox, Williams, Graham, Cahill, Fields, Kimbrough, Irby, Thornton, Wyebe, B. Cox, Norris, Paterson, Copeland, Crow, Sanders, Pitman, Minick, Darnell, Miss Riley and a guest Rev. Copeland.

We meet on next Monday at the parsonage with Miss Riley as director of the lesson. These lessons are interesting and more of our women should take advantage of the opportunity to be a part of this class. Be sure to be present on next Monday.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

The government of divine Love derives its omnipotence from the love it creates in the heart of man; for love is almighty, and there is no loyalty apart from love. —Mary Baker Eddy

Time Is Not Our Ally Any Longer

Premier Smuts of South Africa, in his London address to the joint session of Commons and Lords addressed the customary hint that a second front is near, leaned heavily on the prop that time is on our side. President Roosevelt 10 days ago did somewhat the same.

Smuts had Germany "bleeding to death" in Russia, and the war entering the stage of Allied victory—though the war "may continue until 1944." His optimism was based chiefly on the assertion that Allied resources "are still on the increase, those of the enemy are on the decline."

Or, as the President put it in his recent radio address: "The strength of the United Nations is on the upgrade in this war. The Axis leaders, on the other hand, know by now that they have already reached their full strength, and that their steadily mounting losses in men and material can not be fully replaced." Therefore Allied victory is "inevitable."

We are confident of victory—if the Allies go all out to win. But we are impressed by the view of many military experts that there is nothing "inevitable" about it, and that there is nothing automatic about time being on our side.

Of course, neither the President nor Premier Smuts intends to stimulate over-confidence or an easy-victory delusion. But that may be the net result, and as disastrous one, unless our leaders begin to emphasize that the Axis has conquered vast new resources—that time may fight on the Axis side.

Germany has added, and Russia has lost, territory four times as large as Germany; which produced about two-fifths of Russia's grain and livestock, more than a third of her industrial output, and about 45,000 barrels of oil a day. If time and German ingenuity are permitted to restore those "scorched earth" resources, the Nazis will be well-heeled.

Only a week ago the British Ministry of Economic Warfare, in a report on German conditions at the beginning of a hard winter, said Hitler was better off than a year ago.

Japan's success in grabbing essential resources has been even more startling. She has taken virtually all of our rubber resources, much of the Allied oil, tin and other strategic materials in Malaya and the East Indies. She cannot wage a long war without these resources, but she may fight a long while if she is able to keep and use them.

Therefore time is a desperate factor for the Allies—we have none of it to lose. The difference between a short war and a long war probably will be our ability, or failure, to regain lost Allied resources before the Axis forges them into weapons and munitions in which it is now short.

That is why our military experts insist on a global strategy, neglecting neither the war against Germany nor the war against Japan. That is why our military experts insist that speed is as decisive for us as for the enemy—victory goes to the strong and swift.

Our superior potential power will be useless if it arrives too late. It need not come too late if we face this fact.

Time for Decisions on Manpower

(Christian Science Monitor)

There is useful analysis and a good deal of substance in the warning against patchwork production and manpower methods sounded by the Tolan committee. But there is a lively question whether the solutions the committee recommends are the correct ones. Moreover, there is the pertinent question—assuming the answers are correct—whether this is the right moment to embark on the vast reorganization of war production and manpower mobilization that the committee insists is needed.

This question of timing is one that is too frequently minimized, yet the fact is that in dealing with the problems of war, America is still dealing with a kaleidoscope. The problems change swiftly. The Tolan committee itself proves that. It was set up before the war to study migrations of destitute workers. When the "Okies" found defense jobs, the Tolan committee kept pace by studying the problems of migratory war workers. This inevitably led into production inquiries. These while on the whole somewhat discounted by the general success of the war-production program, have no doubt been useful in spurting reforms.

Presently the Tolan committee—still surprisingly nimble in keeping abreast of the problem—advances to a higher plane. Acknowledging that manpower has become the country's most acute problem, the committee still links it with faults in the production scheme and comes forward with the proposal that a new and more potent agency, an "office of war mobilization" be superimposed over both the present War Production Board and the present War Manpower Commission.

Insofar as it concerns manpower, there is an obvious need to reconcile the inherent competition between Mr. McNutt's commission and General Hershhey's service. There is also, decidedly a sharp need to give the question of equality with labor consideration on a scale of equality with manpower for factories and the armed services. The committee is right in holding there is little use in passing national service legislation for drafting men for field and factories until this overall question of administration is settled.

But when the Tolan committee enters the production phase it fails to see that much of the responsibility for over-all planning of civilian and war production was placed in the hands of Economic Director Byrnes. It is too early to judge the effectiveness of the step.

Actually of course, what the Tolan committee really asks for is delegation of Presidential policymaking powers to some new central board. The hope of the committee, as with so many other, is that static, inclusive policies, all neatly integrated, could be evolved so that every phase of the war effort might run according to a pre-formulated plan. That is intriguing, but impossible.

The President cannot delegate all of his policy making responsibilities. It is only fair to say that the problems of mobilizing for war have been so huge and so many-sided that expediencies were necessary until policies came through experience. Moreover, it has been difficult to make long-range plans or even gauge the size of the war effort because the needs of America and its allies could not be exactly defined.

Now, however, America has reached the place in the matter of manpower where decisions must be made, and definite policies formulated. The Tolan committee's report serves to emphasize the need for early action.

U. S. Treasury Department. "Wait! On second thought you ought to make a son-in-law!"

On The Home Front

With two weeks remaining before registration gets under way for gasoline rationing and before trucks and commercial vehicles must have ODT certificates of war necessity in order to operate, all eyes on the Home Front this week turned to the government's mileage rationing plan—a plan which it is hoped will keep all American transportation rolling on rubber tires for essential travel.

Farmers, ranches and others in the vast spaces of the great Southwest were asking: Will I get enough gasoline to take my produce to market? Will I be allowed enough gasoline to look after my stock? May I keep my trailer tires? There were a few of the questions but hundreds of others were popping up.

Regional Price Administrator Max McCullough assured farmers they would be allowed plenty of gasoline for their necessary travel. In the Southwest, he pointed out, we are rationing mileage to conserve rubber—not gasoline. The farmer is listed in the "preferred" class by preliminary regulations. He comes near the preferred classification when transporting farm products and necessary farm supplies between farm and market, shipping point or point of delivery, or between one farm establishment and another. If his occupational driving requires more mileage than is permitted with an "A" and "B" book, he will be given a "C" book.

The "A" books, which every passenger car owner is entitled to if he owns no more than five tires for each passenger vehicle, is good for 90 miles of personal driving and 150 miles of occupational driving per month. The "B" books permits 320 miles of occupational driving per month. If the two books together still do not take care of the farmer's needs, then he can apply for the "C" book which contains 96 coupons worth four gallons each and is good for a three months' period. It may be well to point out that local boards can "tailor" the books to fit the individual's approximate exact needs. This is done by tearing out coupons or extending the period of time for which a book of coupons is valid. The motorist may get "A" and "B" books, or "A" and "C" books but not all three.

The government's idle tire purchase plan caused many inquiries to OPA officials. It was emphasized that "A" books will be denied passenger car owners if they possess more than five tires for each passenger car they own. The Railway Express Agency is the official idle tire station. Excess tires are not included in the program but the government will buy them because they are needed badly. Truck-type tires are not included in the program but Uncle Sam will buy them too. Truck-type tires are marked as such on the sidewall of the casing. Tires actually mounted on the running wheels of passenger car trailers and similar equipment may be retained but no spare passenger-type tires are permitted for such equipment.

Although truck operation will be controlled under the over-all rubber conservation program, rules concerning them will differ from those governing passenger cars. Beginning November 15th, trucks and other commercial vehicles will have to have certificates of necessity to enable drivers to buy rationed gasoline, tires and repair and replacement parts. Applications for the certificates have been mailed to commercial vehicle owners everywhere, but should any have been missed they should write immediately to the nearest Office of Defense Transportation district office, for the necessary forms.

Owners already having received their blanks are urged to fill them in with care and mail them immediately to Detroit in the envelope mailed with the blanks. If blanks are held too long they might get in a mail jam at the last minute and deprive a vehicle of its certificate by the effective date. As an assistance to farmers County Farm War Boards have volunteered to help with the application blanks.

Elsewhere on the Home Front, new developments concerning food and clothing were important during the last week.

Of greatest interest to women, probably, was the OPA order for sharp reductions in the prevailing "fantastic prices of women's nylon hosiery. The order (MPR 95) set maximum dollars-and-cents prices for all types and constructions of nylon hosiery for retail, ers, wholesalers and manufacturers. Retailers must post these ceiling prices where they may be seen readily by customers. If the prices aren't prices, or if there are any violations, women are asked to report to their local war price and rationing board. As for food, the two big items concern dried prunes and raisins and canned sauerkraut. There is going to be more of the former and less of the latter.

After a three month period in which 1941 and 1942 stocks of dried prunes and raisins were "frozen" by WPB to make them available for the armed forces, the WPB now is allowing processors to release 20 to 40 per cent their dried prunes and 40 to 100 per cent of their raisins for civilian use.

Paving the way for a return to the kraut barrel era, the WPB froze all stocks of canned kraut held by any person in excess of 10 cases. The move is primarily to promote the sale and consumption of the surplus of bulk kraut, thus allowing the use of surplus kraut by civilians.

"WE'LL BE SEEING YOU, ADOLF"

... says Kay Trowell, an inspector in a Canadian aircraft instrument factory, whose all-seeing eye is shown in the above picture peering through the magnifying glass she uses to detect flaws in the finished products of her plant.

Prior to the war, the Dominion's instrument production was insignificant. Today, having created a giant war industry which is turning out large quantities of aircraft, ships, tanks, guns, and other weapons, Canada may well look with pride also to the expanding instrument industry she has developed to implement her war program.

One of the most significant developments in Canada's wartime instrument industry has been the creation of a huge Government-owned and operated project administered by Research Enterprises Limited.

Women workers play a role of paramount importance in the Dominion's war instrument program. Their deft fingers are eminently suited for the intricate precision work required in instrument making.

Why I Shall Vote for Frank S. Roberts

In a crisis of the character that faces the American people at this time we should be very careful in the selection of our officials.

He is an able man, capable of exerting a leadership worthy of Texas. He is a well educated man securing such by the hard way; working his way through college and then the law school.

He will be sincere in his service; serve the interest of Texas alone. He is too old to think of a political career now.

He is well informed of the needs of our District. He knows the farms, the ranches and the oil people, therefore he is against any additional taxes during this emergency whatsoever.

The greatest underground water reservoir of Texas is the Edwards Plateau region in South-west Texas.

giving our liberties back to the people where they belong. He is firmly grounded in the principles of Constitutional government without Bureaucratic dictatorship.

His true greatness is in his loyal self-sacrificing Americanism. In his youth he left the school room and joined hands with Teddy and his "Rough Riders" serving under him throughout the Spanish-American War.

He will be sincere in his service; serve the interest of Texas alone. He is too old to think of a political career now.

He is well informed of the needs of our District. He knows the farms, the ranches and the oil people, therefore he is against any additional taxes during this emergency whatsoever.

The first large reservoir project in Texas was the Austin Dam built by the City of Austin in 1890-93.

Callaway States Campaign Views In Senate Race

Cleve Callaway's home county citizens of Callahan county, say that he is Senatorial timber, capable of reasoning from cause to effect, reliable, courageous and honorable. Cleve Callaway is an over-seas veteran of World War One whose loyalty in this terrible crisis can be depended upon.

Cleve Callaway makes the following statement himself: I agree with the President when he said that the American people are far more aroused to the seriousness of the present times, and far more willing to sacrifice than congress. The people are more familiar with the crimes being committed by John L. Lewis' hijacking henchmen, in the name of Union Labor, than Congress and her investigators are. The people have in every precinct, representatives that can give them first hand knowledge along that line. You people are familiar with how production in this country, on the farm, in the oil fields, on the ranches, and in the factories, is being sabotaged by the political mug-wumps selling our very life blood to the pressure groups, for what they think is political gain.

I think the time has come to elect leaders who are responsible, and willing to accept the responsibility at all times for the condition of their country. We have got to elect men with iron down their backs, honesty in their souls, and patriotism in their hearts. Who will tell the people the unvarnished truth about what is being done in his department of government even if it peels the hide off of his or his friend's backs. That I intend to do if elected to the State Senate. Self serving public officials with a pocket full of ismic remedies; such as giving every soldier one hundred and sixty acres of land and a jeep after the war, or as one suggested forty acres and a mare mule to raise mules from; are about as necessary as a broken leg.

Let's get wise to ourselves. I believe with our governor; that we have got to quit wasting money in this state government, and leave that money in productive channels, what the hungry maw of the War Machine does not need. This is a war of production, and it is up to us people to do it, but we cannot do it if we are hamstrung by political pandering to pressure groups and organizations. There are plenty of Kaisers and Higganses in this country if the government gives them a chance. Let's fortify with Cleve Callaway in the Senate. (Signed) CLEVE CALLAWAY

Mr. Callaway will speak over KRBC, Abilene Friday Oct. 30 from 12:15 noon to 12:30 and at the same time Monday Nov. 2. Over KXOX, Sweetwater, he will address voters of the district Friday Oct. 30 from 6:30 to 6:45 p. m., and at the same time Monday afternoon.

More than 400 sawmills were operating in East Texas in 1940, according to the Texas Forest Service. Eleven of the sawmills produced hardwood lumber; the rest cut pine.

Twenty-nine sawmills cut almost half of all the lumber sawed in East Texas. Texas rainfall varies from less than ten inches annually at El Paso to more than 50 inches at the Sabine River.

When Buying Syrup . . . . .

Cathryn Sands, County H. D. Agent, Extension Service

Those families who are not fortunate enough to have their own good home-made syrup can do themselves a good turn by studying and understanding the labels on the ribbon cane or sorghum they buy. These syrups, when packed correctly, are rich in phosphorus, and other minerals, so it is important to get a high quality product.

Some of the provisions of the Texas Pure Food and Drug Law which are worth remembering when buying syrup are: Syrup, when packed for sale, must bear a label consisting of the name of the maker, and the place of manufacture. When the product is not a pure cane syrup, other ingredients must be listed. If there is any added preservative, flavor or acid, that must be given on the label too.

Such descriptive phrases in the brand name as "country," "open kettle," and "home-made" can be used only on a pure cane syrup. Also a product made in imitation of a natural or manufactured product, must be labeled "imitation." Homemakers are protected by the Pure Food Law and they should take advantage of this protection by carefully reading all labels on containers to know what they are buying.
