Original Trades Day plan originated by Haskell merchants years ago and proved a success both from the standpoint of community standards and from the standpoint of business. D. club members discuss the war-time problems facing the rural families of this section.

Club women will register for the encampment from 5 to 6 o'clock Thursday evening, and first event on the evening's program will be a recreation program from 6 to 7:30 p. m., followed by supper to be served from 7:30 to 8:30. ## Army Bomber Burns After Making Forced Landing Near Town; 12 Occupants Unhurt

Ship Catches Fire After Hitting Pole Carrying High Voltage Line

Twelve crew members of a B-17 Army bomber escaped injury when the plane caught fire and burned late Sunday afternoon after making a forced landing several miles north of town.

The crew was composed of ten officers and two enlisted men, and the heavy bomber was returning to their base at Big Spring, Texas in completing a long-distance routine training mission, members of the crew said. Names of the bomber's personnel could not be released, officer in charge of the plane said.

Failure of one of the plane's motors which caused the bomber to lose altitude after passing over Wichita Falls resulted in the forced landing, it was learned.

Pilot of the plane brought the heavy bomber down in a small field near the highway of the Bradley farm, east of the Wichita Valley railway tracks. Landing at a speed estimated at more than 125 miles per hour, the heavy plane rolled through a wire fence, and the landing wheels struck and slightly bent one of the railroad tracks, then the machine crashed into a pole carrying high voltage lines of the West Texas Utilities Company before coming to a stop. The plane caught fire within a few seconds after the crew of twelve had climbed from the ship. One member of the crew received slight injuries.

The plane burned for several hours, and a military guard was posted at the scene Sunday night. Trucks from the Big Spring air base came to Haskell Monday and hauled the wreckage of the bomber to that place.

LOOKING AHEAD

by GEORGE S. BENSON President Harding & Co. Searcy, Arkansas

Getting Well
Serious ailments often call for strenuous treatments. From the patient's point of view, potent medicine sometimes seems worse than the disease. But the ailing one when rational) cooperates, convinced that the drug is constructive while the bug is destructive. The medicine, however distasteful, is meant to fight the disease, not the patient. Treatments, however inconvenient, are expected to be temporary, whereas the malady might last a lifetime.

Magnified to proportions as big as a continent, the illustration fits a nation at war. Threats to the freedom of an unoffending people, treats to their very existence, constitute a serious ailment. National defense is a natural process likely to be resisted by the patient. Emergency measures are a part of the nature-aiding treatment. America is rational and will cooperate in hope of recovery.

A Genuine Recovery
None of the good physicians now attending the patient in whom we are all interested has ever said, "Miss Columbia, you can't get well." On the contrary, every authority with any right to issue a statement of progress in the fight against this Axis epidemic has offered recent assurance of final and complete victory. This nation is, however, a lot of bad medicine, taking, including some dangerous habit-forming drugs.

Granted that these doses are essential to the successful prosecution of the struggle, nevertheless a danger exists that we might decide to continue using them after the war, to our own serious injury. One of these supposedly temporary, emergency measures is government control of industry.

What Is It For?
Government's hands were laid on the controls of American industry as a defense measure, to allocate materials, regulate production and direct deliveries. Manufacturers have been told what to make and how much, where to sell it and at what price. Wages and hours have been regulated also. Now come suggestions from various quarters that these regulations not be relaxed when the war ends. Men in high office even suggest that regulations be increased after the war.

Europe has had much more control of industry by government than America ever had in the past; the Orient still more. Experience in these countries proves that production shrinks, wages decline, and people get poorer as government's control of industry increases. Government regulation lowers production in this country too. Some of America's big manufacturers say they could increase production by one-third now if bureaucratic controls were relaxed.

Expensive Medicine
Nobody knows how many American manufacturers could enlarge their effective war production extensively if government regulations were lifted. There is no positive assurance that the number is large. But it is perfectly obvious that rigid restrictions (with all their compensating advantages for war purposes) are themselves bottlenecks and would be a distinct hindrance to competitive industry if applied in peace time.

Government control, essential in times of war to concentrate production on war necessities, even now is expensive and would prove far more costly to the public if carried over into the post-war period. One large industrial concern stated recently in a report to its stockholders that the cost of figuring statistics for the government, answering questionnaires, etc., came to 10% of its net income in 1942. Executives of other big companies saw the report and thought the figure was high, but studied their own outlay for similar activities and agreed later that 10% was conservative.

A Fixed Expense
A lot of big companies could raise wages now on 10% of net income. If government red-tape amounts to this much, figured on the swollen volume of a war year, it could become a crushing burden to business in a post-war lull. When competition becomes active again, the cost of government regulation alone would be enough to throw many a company into bankruptcy. In connection with other restraints it would retard investment, which economists recognize as the mother of employment, waste resources needed to expand the sale of new products, and drain off working capital essential to business activity.

Unless government regulations are relaxed after the war, production will decline, wages will be forced downward proportionately, markets for farm products will drag and living standards will be lowered for all Americans. There are just and necessary regulations and these must be retained, but needless ones must be relaxed after the war or America will sink to European living standards which, at best, are no more than half as high as those in America.

If the United States hopes to stay in the competition and remain a world power of the first rank, we must quit taking doses when we get well.

Home Repairs to $200 Made Without Permit; Limit on New Houses

If your home needs repairs, you can make them without authorization, under WPB's Construction Conservation Order L-41, provided they are necessary and do not change the structural design of the property. The work must not exceed $200 or involve the purchase of critical materials.

Pointing out that wartime restrictions on building new houses permits new construction only for war workers in certain areas, Federal Housing Commissioner Abner H. Ferguson recently said: "In view of these necessary restrictions, it is all the more imperative that the present supply of homes be kept in adequate repair, conforming to decent standards of health and sanitation. For the great majority of American families," Mr. Ferguson added, "these properties represent the only supply of housing that will be available for the duration of the war."

Must Conserve Materials
Because critical materials must be conserved for direct war production purposes, new home building is restricted to war industry areas, and there only in such numbers as is absolutely necessary to meet the housing needs of essential workers.

Loans to maintain present home properties in sound condition will be insured by the Federal Housing Administration under Title I. These repairs must be necessary for sanitation or health, or for preventing decay and deterioration. Luxury repairs or improvements that are designed merely to beautify or enlarge a home without providing additional living units are not approved.

FHA Loans Finance Repairs
Loans to finance essential repairs under FHA's Title I program are available in amounts up to $2,500 for approved private lending institutions. These loans are repaid in regular monthly installments and are subject to the usual credit rules of installment buying. Loans may be secured under the same plan to finance the conversion of oil-burning heating equipment to the use of coal, as well as the installation of insulation, weather-stripping, storm doors and windows, and other heat conserving devices.

Shackelford To Vote on Liquor Sales Sept. 4th

The Shackelford county Commissioners' court has called a county-wide local option election Sept. 4 on the sale of alcoholic beverages in Shackelford county. Sale of whiskey, beer, and wine is now legal in Precinct 4, and beer and wine in the Albany and Moran precincts. Precinct 5 voted dry several years ago.

Petition asking for a vote to prohibit the sale of alcoholic beverages was signed by 340 voters—164 more than the required 10 percent.

Charges for food and lodging at American Red Cross clubs overseas, made at the request of the war department, cover costs only of essential materials and not of labor required to operate them. The Red Cross assumes labor costs and other expenses.

The bulk of tin cans salvaged is used for tin reclamation and steel production—1 percent tin and 99 percent steel scrap.

Adding their skills to those of the medical officers in behalf of servicemen patients, Red Cross medical and psychiatric social workers aid in adjusting patients' worries that interfere with response to medical care.

Aid to Enemy

"Any American who wilfully neglects to pay his taxes on time or to invest every cent he can in War Bonds is surely giving aid and comfort to the enemy. . . . We have a job to do and we are all called for service to our country. Our dollars are called to service too. Let us all ask ourselves, 'Shall we be more tender with our dollars than with the lives of our sons?'" — Secretary Morgenthau.

I write letters in the nearly-dark
THIS is part of an actual letter from a soldier overseas:
"IT's not the big things that you miss out here. It's the little things. Like street noises. Or an electric lamp. Where we are there ain't no such. Since I'm on duty all day, I write letters in the nearly-dark. Funny, how you can miss a common, ordinary light bulb."

Naomi Bible Class Meets In Home of Mrs. Adams

The Naomi Bible Class met on August 6th in the home of Mrs. Walter Adams for their regular monthly business and social meeting with the first vice-president, Mrs. Hallie Chapman in charge.

The meeting opened with two songs, "Where He Leads Me I Will Follow" and "Revive Us Again." Mrs. John E. Robison led in prayer.

A motion was made and seconded that Mrs. T. P. Perdue be secretary of the class and Mrs. Walter Adams assistant secretary, and Mrs. Walter Rogers assistant group captain. Mrs. J. D. Tyler, Mrs. John E. Robison, Mrs. Jesse Josselot were appointed as the committee to elect officers for the next term.

The group captains which were presented gave their reports which were very good.

Mrs. T. P. Perdue had the question box and four questions were discussed on the Bible. Mrs. J. D. Tyler will have the question box at our next meeting which will be Sept. 3rd in the home of Mrs. Larry Bass.

Ending the business part of the meeting Mrs. Jesse Josselot led in prayer.

Mrs. Raymond Davis gave a reading "The Master Is Coming." Some interesting games were given by Mrs. T. B. Roberson.

Refreshments of cake and punch were served to the following: Mmes. Hallie Chapman, T. P. Roberson, Walter Rogers, T. P. Perdue, Larry Bass, W. E. Adkins, Jesse Josselot, H. R. Whitley, John E. ## Maybelle Circle Meets Monday

The Maybelle Circle met August 9th in the annex building with the president in charge. Two congregational songs were sung. Mrs. Joe Maples led in prayer.

A duet was rendered by Mrs. R. E. Reeves and Mrs. Walter Rogers. Piano accompaniment by Mrs. Jim Fouts.

A reading, "The Master Is Coming" by Mrs. Raymond Davis Mrs. Whitley gave a Royal Service program on the Jews. Many interesting things were told by the Jews, how the call came to them. They were God's chosen people, yet they rejected Him. It was through them that God gave his word, but they did not keep His covenant. They lost their spirit, and today they are a people without a nation.

A very interesting story was told of a train load of Jewish children sent into America, and the train was stopped for three minutes for the refugee children to see their parents and how pitiful to see and hear the screams and moans of the children and their parents as they greeted each other and see their little brown hands pull slices of bread from their bosoms to give to their parents. They saw when they refused how it grieved them and they accepted to satisfy their babies as they had sacrificed from their ration of three slices a day to be able to bring something to their parents.

Today the Jews are gaining their faith in God. When they do accept they are very loyal to Christ's cause. It was in 1921 Dr. Gordon became our first missionary for the Jews, and he is doing a wonderful work among them. Mrs. John Fouts dismissed by prayer.

Louise Pierson Becomes Bride of Capt. James Isbell in Ceremony Saturday Evening August 7

Owing to the prominence of the contracting parties, the marriage of Miss Louise Pierson and Capt. James A. Isbell of the Air Corps Reserve, Army of the United States, which was solemnized on the evening of August 7, attracted much attention over the entire state.

The church was beautifully decorated, the color scheme, being white and green. Preceding the entrance of the wedding party, white and green candles, which was the only illumination, were lighted by Alfred Pierson Jr., only brother of the bride and Billy McPherson, a cousin of Vernon.

Miss Emily Jean Grissom, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Clyde Grissom of Eastland gave as the pre-nuptial solo Cadman's "As Dawning."

To the soft strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, the wedding party entered the church. Miss Pierson had chosen as her matron of honor, Mrs. Anita Jo Henry of Dallas, Texas. Bridesmaids were Misses Mary Jean Vance, Fort Worth, Bobbie Shields of Dallas, Betty Jo Castile of Foreman, Ark., Bettie Jane Isbell of Haskell and Mrs. E. F. Crim of Greenville.

Little Miss Mary Beth Payne attended her cousin as Junior Bridesmaid. These attendants wore identical gowns of mimosas marquisette, designed with softly draped sweetheart neckline and bracelet sleeves. A self ruffle accented with low neckline. Head dresses of wreaths of Shasta Daisies interwoven with black velvet ribbon were worn. Each carried a sheaf of daisies. The bride entering with her father, Mr. A. C. Pierson, was a vision of loveliness. The bride wore an exquisite gown of sheer white marquisette. The bodice and long sleeves were fashioned by imported chantilly lace. The sweetheart neckline was accented by hand applied flowers of lace. This same lace appeared again to form a deep pleatum effect on the very full skirt, which swept in a graceful train. Her finger tip veil of matching illusion fell in tiers from a calot of the slurred illusion. She carried a white orchid on a prayer book. Her only ornaments were Whitley, pastor of the church, said the solemn words of the double ring ceremony, after which the wedding party and invited guests assembled at the home of the bride's parents for the reception, at which time Miss Dorothy Harris of Dallas, cut and served the bride's three tiered cake decorated with a miniature military bride and groom. A house party consisting of Misses Velma Alice Ballard, Nancy Cunningham of Abilene, Lois Ann McPherson of Vernon and Nancy Burton assisted in the entertaining of the guests. The happy couple left immediately for a short trip. The bride's going-away suit was of light blue, worn with a white jewel neck blouse. Her accessories were brown.

Following an established custom, the young people of the Presbyterian Church met on August 6 for dinner. Heretofore the group had met on this date for a progressive dinner. Due to the existing circumstances, the young people deemed it necessary to forego former plans and have a non-progressive dinner, followed by a theatre party. Naming Judge and Mrs. B. C. Chapman the sponsors, as honorees, the group presented them with a token of their appreciation. With the sponsors and Dr. Sholl, minister, nineteen young people attended this annual affair.

'Ravaged Earth' Outstanding Film Billed at Texas

"Ravaged Earth" the terrible but true motion pictures of the actual looting and ravaging of China by the barbaric Japanese, will be shown at the Texas Theatre in this city Sunday and Monday, Aug. 15-16.

The film depicts the attempted crucifixion and destruction of a peaceful people, devoid of modern implements of war, with no semblance of protection, being cruelly and viciously attacked by an invading force of undreamed barbaric capacities — Hirohito's Sons-of-Heaven.

"Ravaged Earth" was filmed in China during the actual invasion by Mark L. Moody, an American business man. The film cannot in any sense, be construed as entertainment but it is a dignified and factual record that every American should see and heed, so that it may never happen here.

Because of the sensational nature of the film, the theatre management makes one request to patrons—No Children Please.

Functional swimming, wartime feature of Red Cross water safety instruction in this country, is also being taught servicemen in London under auspices of the American Red Cross, in cooperation with the U. S. Army.

Farmers Can Save Large Amount of Feed By Culling

You can cull 20 percent of your hens if they have not already been culled. A reduction of 20 percent of culls in all flocks in Texas would mean a saving of approximately 72,000,000 pounds of feed during the next two months according to information received by County Agent G. R. Schumann from Extension Poultry Husbandman George P. McCarthy, Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

Feed is scarce, so help save it by culling now. Confine hens to the house during the night. Next morning use a catching hook and work quietly among them. Take out all that look like this:

1. Shriveled combs.
2. Yellow legs and beaks.
3. Molters.
4. Weak and emaciated.
5. Grey eyes.
6. Saggy abdomens.
7. Coarse and masculine heads.
8. All Roosters.

Weed the culls—feed the layers. When you cull your flock now, you accomplish four important things:

1. Saves feed.
2. Provides meat for table and saves ration points.
3. Canned chicken for year-around use.
4. Cash for loafers.

After you have culled your flock provide your hens with a good wash. Do not feed too heavy on grain during the summer months—grain makes birds fat and lazy. Fat birds are easily overcome by the extreme heat, and most death losses from heat resulted due to birds being too fat. Provide clean, cool, fresh water to your birds.

Shippers Urged to Prevent Bruises On Cattle In Transit To Market

Beef cattle which carry bruises to market mean a money loss to the producer and a loss of meat to the consumer, County Agent G. R. Schumann pointed out this week in passing on to local livestock shippers estimates of the loss caused by careless handling made by G. W. Barnes, animal husbandman of the Texas A&M College extension service. According to the specialist, it is estimated that more than one-half of our market livestock enters the stockyards with bruises.

Prevention of bruises is one way which Texas cattlemen can get all of their production of beef into actual use. In that way they can get the tonnage of meat for consumers without raising more animals. Producing sufficient meat for our armed forces and for civilian use is one of the most important and pressing problems of the moment. If every pound of meat represented by cattle on the hoof in Texas and other states could be processed many million pounds of meat which cannot be used for food would reach the table of the consumer.

Bruised meat cannot be sold. That means wasted feed, wasted labor and most important of all heavy loss of one of our most important foods. But the waste can be prevented.

Farmers and cattlemen can prevent bruises to cattle by avoiding rough handling or striking animals with canes, whips, clubs or pitchforks. They should also:

One bottle will do more than a war. We've got tougher times ahead.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

The moral grandeur of independent integrity is the sublimest thing in nature, before which the pomp of Eastern magnificence and the splendor of conquest are odious as well as perishable. —Buckminster

Doctors Are Human Too

Proposals to attain the millennium in medical care usually overlook the doctor as an individual citizen. They are drawn up to appeal to the masses. They contemplate the physician as if he were an inanimate piece of machinery to be loaded on a flat car and shipped about the country at the command of the owner, who is inevitably the government.

Plans of this nature are doomed to failure. As John G. Searle, president of the American Drug Manufacturers Association, has observed: "An individual chooses medicine—why? Because he loves it and he loves the prospect of service to his fellow men. But this is not the sole attraction. He is ambitious the same as the other fellow; and it is because of his ambition—as well as his love and devotion to his work—that he makes the self-sacrifice demanded of him."

"If it is desirable to stop medical progress and to allow the health of the country to deteriorate, it can be accomplished no more easily than by subjecting the physician to a regimented routine and making a government servant out of him."

The broadest and most efficient medical care can be provided for the people only if the problem is approached from both sides—that of the doctors as well as the public. It must be remembered that the doctors are human freedom-loving Americans, too.

The Shangri-La

The United States Navy, instigated and abetted by that lover of naval lore, Franklin D. Roosevelt, is about to break a tradition. There are fairly strict rules for labeling ships of war; a battleship is called after a State, a heavy cruiser rates a big city, a light cruiser a small city, a destroyer honors some naval hero or some distinguished friend of the Navy and a submarine takes the name of a fish or some animal that is at home in the water. Aircraft carriers enjoy more freedom for they can be named after early fighting ships of our Navy or after battles. Thus, the Saratoga, the Bonhomme Richard, the Kearsarge. But until now no ship has been named after an imaginary place, the creation of a story-teller's dream.

One is going to be so entitled. It is, of course, the Shangri-La. In a moment of inspiration President Roosevelt told the reporters that the planes which bombed Tokyo took off from this never-never land of James Hilton's invention. Actually their starting point was the rolling deck of the Hornet, later lost in the Midway fight. So the new aircraft carrier, for which we are all being asked to buy an extra dollar's worth of war savings stamps this month, will bestow a triple honor; on Mr. Hilton's bold imagination, on the lost Hornet and on the men who carried out what was probably the most spectacular air raid in history.

Subscriptions for the Shangri-La are now well past the half-way mark. We are promised that her planes will take part in another attack on Tokyo—exact date withheld for reasons of security. Those who haven't contributed their dollars should do so at once. We don't wish to keep the Japanese waiting.

While Rome Burns

If high military men began bickering over how the war should be run and accusing each other of incompetence, it would not be long before something was done. Public indignation would force correction.

The men responsible for food production and distribution are as vital to the war effort as the military men. After the war, the food command will exceed the military command in importance. And yet the country is standing by while disruptive influences of chaotic proportions tear apart a high war agency dealing with food—the OPA.

Resigned OPA general manager, Lou Maxon, says, "In my estimation there still is no realistic workable over-all food program. Operation in this vital field has been strictly catch-as-catch-can, and OPA moves have often been directed by expediency rather than by any long distance future planning... the idea of OPA planning and executing any food program without utilizing to the fullest extent the knowledge and the complete cooperation of the food administrator's people and agriculture is just plain nonsense."

Invitation To Death

Fuel shortages are compelling people to convert heating systems to the use of coal or wood. In many cases, conversions are being made to replace the use of gas. Unless these change-overs are made properly, fire and explosion hazards are created. The National Board of Fire Underwriters in an attempt to help prevent disasters from this source in homes next winter, has issued a bulletin warning against the most common dangers involved.

If gas has been used and it is desired to switch to a solid fuel such as wood, the change should never be made without making certain that the chimney is built for the purpose. Some houses are constructed on the basis of using gas, and no regular chimney was installed. The flue might be of masonry, yet too small. It might also have a metal lining instead of a tile lining. In other cases, it may not even be of masonry, but asbestos cement or similar materials not suitable for other fuels than gas.

When automatic burners or stokers are used, it should be remembered that even automatic equipment needs attention. Failing to maintain the prescribed water level can result in cracked or discolored boilers. Under certain conditions this will lead to an explosion. It should be borne in mind that even with all necessary safety devices, boilers and furnaces need to be checked immediately to see that everything is in safe working order. Carelessness is an invitation to property destruction, if not death.

M. M. Tubbs and daughter Miss Isabella have returned to their home in Crawford, Texas. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Tubbs who will spend a few days in Crawford with relatives and friends.

Mrs. M. R. Smith and children of Sagerton spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Hughes, the parents of Mrs. Smith.

J. A. Couch, Sr., of Munday spent several days this week with his sons in this city.

Miss Gladys Odom has returned from Arlington, where she has been for the past week visiting relatives and friends.

J. W. Meadors, farmer living two miles southeast of town, gave a silage demonstration last Saturday when he filled his 100-ton silo with feed grown on his farm. Quite a few farmers and stockmen attended the demonstration.

On Wednesday night August 8 a large party of the neighbors and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Cox to celebrate the anniversary of Mr. Cox's birthday. Miss Zelma Ferguson furnished the music and the guests played 42 for diversion.

A very refreshing and welcome shower fell here early Monday morning, and good rains have been reported in some parts of the county.

While J. F. Bolander of the Munday neighborhood and his son Henry about 12 years of age were going to Stamford Tuesday with wagons loaded with wheat the boy attempted to mount one of the mules from the wagon tongue while the wagons were in motion and fell beneath the wheel of the loaded wagon which passed over the middle of his body. The accident happened about four miles south of Haskell and Mr. Bolander brought the injured boy here where he was placed under care of physicians in the Lindell Hotel. No bones were found broken, and the young fellow is apparently recovering from his injuries.

Thos. Sowell has taken a position in the Patterson & Lynch restaurant.

Having concluded the Jones county term of District Court, Judge H. R. Jones is taking a rest at home with his family.

Uncle George Reeves was down from Munday this week visiting friends and relatives.

Miss Fannie Isbell left the first of the week on a visit to Munday with relatives and friends.

Much Livestock Saved In Flooded Midwest By Red Cross Program

Disaster crews of the American Red Cross saved livestock as well as humans, and fed both during its rescue and rehabilitation program in the recent Midwest floods which inundated great sections of six states. Feed was hauled to many marooned animals in high spots. Wagons and boats of every description were used to reach marooned livestock. Epidemics were averted by immunization of thousands of animals. Upper photo shows volunteers headed for a group of marooned livestock close to Chester, Ill., while the lower photograph shows Dr. R. N. Russell, veterinarian, of Morrilton, Arkansas, aided by J. H. Russell, injecting blackleg serum into a calf.

GOD PROVIDES FOR HIS PEOPLE

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 16:11-18; 17:3-6
GOLDEN TEXT—Give us this day our daily bread.—Matthew 6:11.

Only God can provide the necessities of life. Rationing has taught us that lesson anew if we have been at all thoughtful about it. The plan is one of sharing. Sharing what? The food and other provisions which come to us from God's hand. Unless our crops are good there will be less to share. Only God can help us.

This was the lesson Israel learned in the wilderness. To reach the goal to which God was leading them they must pass through the wilderness. Not only were there many weary miles to travel, but there were privations to be borne. Life is like that.

Now they cried for food. Note how elemental are man's needs in the final analysis—bread and water. The very things we take almost for granted as we concern ourselves with life's weighty interests and profound problems become, if lacking, the only things that have any real meaning. And who is it that can provide them? No one but God Himself.

I. Bread from Heaven (Exod. 16:11-18).
Israel's longing for meat was met by the miraculous coming of quantities of quail (v. 13). But that was not the food to sustain them day after day. For this they needed bread, and it came from heaven, every day until they entered the promised land (Josh. 5:12).

Observe four things about the manna.
First, it was a divine provision. There are responsibilities in life.

W. T. Cochran, whose farm is about one and one-half miles northeast of Haskell, exhibited some very fine heads of milo maize and kafir corn in town the other day. He says his cotton is making a very fine growth and he expects to gather a bumper crop.

Mrs. J. R. Terrell has returned home from Albany, where she was called to the bedside of her sister who had been injured when thrown from a buggy when the horse she was driving ran away.

Miss Robena McLemore returned to Dallas Tuesday after a week spent with relatives here.

Dr. M. T. Griffin and Joe Irby visited the latter's parents in the eastern part of the county Saturday.

which we may bear—and must bear—but in the ultimate meeting of our real needs we must look to God.

Secondly, it was a daily provision. What forehanded folk many of us are, and no doubt rightly so, for God puts no premium on improvisation. But once again we must recognize, as did Israel in receiving the daily manna in the wilderness, that ours is indeed a moment by moment existence.

We plan bravely for the next decade or the next generation, but as a matter of fact it can only come to pass "if the Lord will" (read James 5:13-17).

Next, it was a limited provision—enough for the day and no more, except for a double portion on the sixth day, and none at all on the Sabbath. These provisions were made clear to Israel, and yet there were those who attempted to lay up for the morrow, and some even went out to seek manna on the Sabbath day.

We marvel at their stubborn obstinacy, but are we not often just like them. Some there are who are always expecting that the laws of both God and man should be set aside for them, but they come to grief.

Finally, it called for diligence and action on their part. They had to be out early each day (except the Sabbath) to gather it. God's mercies are for those who are willing to obey Him. He gives to those who receive by active faith.

II. Water from the Rock (Exod. 17:3-6).
"And the people thirsted"—for the daily manna was not enough, they constantly needed water. God's children.

"Every life knows the bite of necessity... every soul cries out in pain because there is wanting some completing favor, some culminating and all-containing benediction. Here it is bread; there it is water; but everywhere a famine... in many a case a famine of soul, a spiritual destitution, a consciousness of a void which time cannot satisfy or space content."

God always provides. There is a rock in the wilderness. But what pleasure does a murmuring people find in a rock when they famish for water? It is God's delightful custom to meet our needs in unexpected ways and by means which we do not understand. Even our physical necessities come from unthought of sources.

III. Christ, the Bread and Water of Life.
Our lesson does not give the New Testament application of Israel's experiences, but let us not miss that blessed spiritual truth.

In John 6:31-33, Christ is declared to be the true bread from heaven, of which the manna was but a type.

Paul speaks in I Corinthians 10:1-4 of this incident in the history of Israel, saying that they "did all eat the same spiritual meat, and did all drink the same spiritual drink; for they drank of that spiritual Rock that followed them; and that Rock was Christ" (see also John 4:14).

Hungry and thirsty soul, you who are still unsatisfied after tasting all that life apart from Christ has to offer, will you not, just now, take Him?

Weekly Health Letter

By Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer

Austin, Texas—According to morbidity reports compiled by the State Health Department a sharp increase in the incidence of dengue and malaria fever has been noted in Texas in the past four weeks. Inasmuch as both of these diseases are disabling and sometimes fatal, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, is urging every citizen of Texas to cooperate in eliminating the mosquito which is responsible for transmitting both dengue and malaria.

"Malaria will continue to be one of our major public health problems just as long as breeding places are accessible to the female Anopheles," Dr. Cox stated. "It is vitally important to public health in this state that every home and business house cooperate in controlling this menace to good health by freeing their premises from tin cans or broken bottles, or any type of rubbish in which water may stand, so that the propagation of the Anopheles mosquito can be checked."

Dengue is characterized by its sudden onset and accompanying headache and pain in the back and limbs which has caused the disease to be commonly known as "break-bone" fever. The fever is usually of short duration, but inasmuch as convalescence is extremely slow, the loss of time in recovery would constitute a hindrance to our total war effort.

Malaria, like dengue, is a very debilitating disease and one from which recovery may require weeks or even months of time.

Dr. Cox stressed the importance of conserving the nation's manpower and urged that every Texan cooperate in an effort to destroy the mosquito which is responsible for the transmission of malaria and dengue fever.

Two tin cans out of every three that could be salvaged are thrown away.

The Farm Labor Picture

COLLEGE STATION — South Texas was the state's labor "hot spot" for the last week in July. Reports from county agricultural agents of the A. and M. College Extension Service reveal that the most critical need is in the Coastal Bend section where cotton picking is in full swing. Nueces and San Patricio counties must have several thousand pickers, to meet their needs next week, while Wilbrey and Hidalgo need irrigators.

Another section which has reported it is unable to meet its labor needs embraces Bee, Goliad, Gonzales, Guadalupe and Karnes counties. Through the recent Gulf hurricane was reported to have done some damage to the 1943 rice crop, several southeast Texas counties report urgent needs for workers as soon as weather conditions will permit harvest. Among these are Chambers, Colorado, Fort Bend, Galveston, Jefferson, Waller, Wharton, Brazoria and Liberty.

In many places, farm labor needs are being met by exchange of labor among farmers and by employing townspeople and city youths. Texas counties report using about 11,000 volunteers from cities and towns. These include Crosby, Howard, Reeves, San Patricio, Ellis, Kaufman and Wilson. Ellis led the state with 600 townspeople employed, and Kaufman was second with 400 reported. Boys and girls were helping save the day in Jim Wells, Medina, San Patricio and Wilson counties.

Only three counties reported the use of war prisoners on farms during the last part of July: Walker, Limestone, and Deaf Smith. The latter county used 355 in the potato harvest. Summaries of the reports showed 53 Texas counties needing labor from outside the county to tend and harvest crops. To help meet this need, 11,825 migratory

Farmers Blameless for Food Cost Rise, Says Market Expert

Recent rises in food costs are due largely to higher handling and marketing margins, and very little to increased prices to farmers.

According to a recent U. S. department of agriculture study summarized by C. E. Bowles, these marketing charges now are 12 per cent above the pre-war period, 1935-39 and in May, 1943, reached the highest level since 1931. Bowles is the organization and marketing specialist for the A. and M. college extension service. In the period covered by this study (mid-April to mid-May, 1943), Bowles explains, retail food costs to consumers rose 3 per cent. None of this was passed back to farmers who produced the food. Fresh fruits, vegetables and meats were among the foods showing retail advances.

In May, for example, sweet potatoes, retailed at an average of 17.9 cents a pound. Of this price paid by consumers, farmers got 4.1 cents and marketing costs and profits took 13.8 cents. The government supported price announced for the bumper 1943 sweet potato crop will pay growers about 1.5 cents a pound for number ones delivered at the sheds.

Beef, pork and lamb prices as a group rose more than 1 per cent at retail, but prices paid to farmers and ranchmen for their live animals actually declined.

Incomes of all groups in the nation, including salaries, dividends and wages, have risen more rapidly than food costs, Bowles continues. During the five years immediately preceding the war, 22 per cent of the average income was spent for food. But early in 1943, the bill for the same quantities of food could be paid with 16 percent of the average income.

No Matter Who's to Blame, OPA Gets It In the Pants!

The office or price administration is the victim of the war's worst case of mistaken identity according to a dispatch quoting D. C. Speaker, an "un-official" Washington spokesman.

"Everything from diaperless infants to coffinless corpses is left on OPA's doorstep. Why, it's getting so bad that little children say daddy is in prison for barn burning or bigamy rather than admit he's an OPA official," said Speaker, who picked a handful of cases out of the file, where OPA has been mistakenly accused. Some of them:

1. That OPA is picking on babies. Representative Frances Bolton (R.) Ohio, blamed area shortages of diapers and safety pins of OPA.

"How can a baby do without diapers?" the congresswoman demanded. "This is a call of desperation. I bring it to your attention as another major problem OPA has failed to solve."

The facts: Speaker said OPA official plead that they haven't a darned thing to do with production of diaper cloth or safety pins. WPB sets the production quotas. OPA hasn't been asked to ration diapers or infant "costume jewelry."

2. That OPA was responsible for the order banning sale of sliced bread, later rescinded. OPA still gets unprintable letters accusing them of "unslicing" the "where-withal for breakfast toast."

The facts: Speaker said the no-sliced bread order was issued by the food distribution committee of the department of agriculture on recommendation of the baking industry itself, after WPB had warned that waxed paper supplies might be insufficient to wrap sliced bread. Ban lifted when supplies improved. OPA wasn't to blame for a single cut thumb in the great bread crisis.

3. That OPA banned cuffs on trousers, and caused shortages of farm implements, radios, refrigerator and washing machines.

The facts: These are all babies left on the wrong step. Speaker reports other agencies handled this whole show.

4. The OPA was responsible for that business about coffins.

This grew out of the WPB order limiting length of 90 per cent of all coffins manufactured to 72 inches or less. It bred a lush crop of corollary rumors, among them that an OPA certificate was necessary to permit burial of the dead and that corpses over six feet tall

SURGICAL DRESSING ROOM

More workers are needed in the work room. Material has been received for 37,200 dressings. These are to be made by the women of Haskell and Rule. The room is open Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings from 8 to 9 o'clock.

This work is of vital importance because there is no separation of the fighting front and the home front as far as the wounded are concerned; they may have sustained the wounds thousands of miles away, but it's the dressings made at home that are applied on the battle front that save their lives.

Those who worked last week were: Mesdames Henry Dobbins, F. T. Sanders, Claud Menee, O. L. Darden, Lillian Blake, Lynn Pace, Sr., J. W. Gholson, C. L. Lewis, Wallace Cox, H. J. Hambleton and Miss Lucy P'Pool.

Pvt. John R. Rich, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Rich of Weiner, was operated on for acute appendicitis a few days ago at Camp Crowder, Mo. At last reports he was doing nicely.

Salvaged tin cans mean tin and steel; and copper from leached mine waters.

were buried in canvas wrappings.

The facts: The WPB order permitted manufacture of 10 percent of over-size coffins, and less than 10 percent of the populace is over six feet. Anyway, OPA was only an innocent bystander.

"Washington has more swayed-backed mailmen than any other city, just from carrying complaints to the OPA," Speaker continued. "What this country needs is a blame-the-right agency week."

EVERYBODY EVERYWHERE AT LEAST 10% Buy U.S. WAR BONDS

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Said the private requesting Red Cross assistance in behalf of his wife, ill at home: "I am financially able to help."

If you haven't gotten around to buying a Second War Loan Bond, stop and think what it would mean to you if our soldiers hadn't gotten round to the fight.

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

The Distinguished Service Cross has been awarded Staff Sgt. Doyle Kinnersley of Huntington, Texas, for manning a sub-machine gun and returning the fire of low-flying enemy planes during the Jap attack on Hickam Field. When his ammunition was gone he ran from the cover of his truck to get more, and kept firing until the truck was bombed. He showed bravery beyond the call of duty. Figure out for yourself how much you can invest in War Savings beyond what you are doing now.

PRICE CEILING

nothing new to the more than 300,000 Customers of Lone Star Gas Company

AVERAGE retail price of food in Texas for the month of June, according to report of State Labor Commissioner, was nearly 34 per cent above that of April, 1941.

No increase has occurred in the price of Lone Star Gas Service even though we, too, labor under increased operating costs. Our customers know that we have always operated under a "price ceiling" with rates stabilized and fixed by regulatory bodies. Actually, rates have been reduced substantially since 1941, saving our customers about two million dollars a year.

Over 900 of our employees are fighting in the Armed Forces. Those of us remaining are carrying on the best we can with less material and equipment. Our full energies and abilities are dedicated to the job of providing dependable fuel service to war plants, business and the home, and pledge the utmost economy and conservation in the performance of this task.

Reduced Food Supply Shows Need for Seed

War Food Administration estimates that civilians next year will get 10 per cent less edible fats and vegetable oils are evidence of the pressing need for prompt marketing and crushing of every ton of cottonseed and other oilseeds raised this year. A. L. Ward, Educational Director, National Cottonseed Products Association, points out.

"Any loss of cottonseed through failure to market it, feeding to livestock or other causes will inevitably reduce further the supply of edible oil available for civilians and the armed forces," Ward said. "The War Food Administration estimates are based upon normal marketing of oilseeds, and even this indicated short supply of fats and oils will not be achieved unless farmers market oilseeds without delay."

Allocation of fats and oils for civilian use will amount to about forty-four pounds per capita during the year ending June 30, 1944, the War Food Administration estimates. This supply, including butter, lard, shortening and margarine, all rationed, is about 3 pounds per person less than was consumed during the past 12 months. Total supplies were estimated at slightly more than eight billion pounds, with more than five and one-half billion allocated to civilians and two and one-half to the armed forces, lend-lease and other military uses.

Ward pointed out that there is a danger that some cotton growers may not market their cottonseed as early and efficiently as usual because of their fear that they will be unable to get cottonseed meal, cake and hulls for livestock feeding, but that this would be a serious mistake which would defeat farmers' own purposes and hamper the war effort. This is especially true since cottonseed supplies, in addition to oil for fuel and the feed products, cotton linters for munitions.

"Every cotton grower may be certain that oil mills will make a special effort to insure his getting that part of the meal and hulls from his cottonseed that he needs to meet the basic feed requirements for his own livestock," Ward emphasized. "The grower's cottonseed has an inherent 'priority' on the feed products of his own seed, and every oil mill manager will make a special effort to meet the local demand from cotton growers, dairymen and others in his own territory first of all."

"Because of this natural advantage which the grower of cottonseed and the local livestock producer has, I think that they have less cause for concern about their protein concentrate supplies than livestock producers in range territory or those not located in the immediate territory of mills. I earnestly hope that cotton growers and feeders generally will carefully follow the recommendations of Colleges, Experiment Stations and Extension Services for conserving feeds, so that the available supply may be spread as far as possible among all livestock producers."

"Grows steps that will help to insure more livestock production from available feeds, as outlined by Ward, are: (1) Proper marketing of cottonseed, peanuts and other oil seeds; (2) Use of only the minimum amount of feed required by livestock; (3) Reduction of livestock numbers by culling of inefficient animals; (4) Orderly purchasing of protein concentrates, without buying too far in advance of actual needs; (5) Following of feed conservation recommendations of Colleges, Experiment Stations and Extension Services; (6) Raising more protein in the form of legume hays, green winter pastures, and other feedstuffs; (7) Better care of livestock to prevent path losses or losses of weight, thereby reducing waste of protein.

"Farmers, themselves, largely hold the key to the solution of the protein problem," Ward concluded. "They can do more than anyone else to relieve the present shortage by promptly marketing cottonseed and by feeding carefully and conservatively."
