WHAT A GOOD AMERICAN IS He respects the rights of every other person to all opportunities and privileges that he cherishes for himself.

He generally abides by the rules of the game until they can be modified.

The good American is an individual who is reconciled to the use of his own intelligence. He permits no authority or dogma to superimpose a judgment or belief that his own mind cannot justify.

His faith in reason is vivid. The vigilant selectivity of his loyalty to the institutions that he supports.

The hall-marks of a good American are then:

- 1. That he respects the rights for all men that he cherishes for himself.
2. That he accepts the social discipline of compromise in actions while retaining his intellectual independence.
3. This independence is basic to his self—his unique character.
4. But this independence while it resists regimentations does conform to reason.
5. He views all human institutions, especially governments, as tentative instruments of hypotheses, subject to the modification as aims or faiths change, or alternative instruments for applying and testing hypotheses are found worthy of trial.

America is an adventure; the good American is adventurous.

EDUCATION

Let your aim or your purpose, in good report, or in ill, in victory or in defeat, be so to live so to strive, so to serve, as to do your part to raise the standard of life to higher and better spheres.

Correction does much, but encouragement does more. Encouragement after success is as the sun after a shower.

You can interrupt the improvement of a road and ten years later go on with it about where you left off, but if you interrupt your care for children and decent later begin again to feel responsible for them, you can't begin again where you left off. You find them irreparably grown up and grown up wrong.

The purpose of education is to train children, not with reference to their success in the present state of society, but to a better possible state, in accordance with an ideal conception of humanity.

Patience; kindness; generosity; humility; courtesy; unselfishness; temper; guilelessness; singularity—these make up the perfect man. You will observe that all are in relation to life, in relation to the known today and the near tomorrow, and not to be unknown eternally. Religion is not a strange or added thing, but the inspiration of the secular life, the breathing of an eternal spirit through this temporal world.

There is a life that is worth living now as it was worth living in the former days, and that is the honest life, the useful life, unselfish life, cleansed by devotion to an ideal. There is a battle that is worth fighting now as it was worth fighting then, and that is the battle for justice and equality; to make our city and our State free in fact as well as in name; to break the rings that strangle real liberty and to keep them broken; to cleanse, so far as in our power lies, the fountains of our national life from political, commercial and social corruption; to teach our sons and daughters, by precept and example, the honor of serving such a country as America—that is work worthy of the finest manhood and womanhood. The well-born are those who are born to do that work; the well-bred are those who are bred to be proud of that work; the well-educated are those who see deepest into the meaning and the necessity of that work. Nor shall their labor be for naught, nor the reward of their sacrifice fail them; for high in the firmament of human destiny are set the stars of faith in mankind, and unselfish courage and loyalty to the ideal.

T. O. Q.'s The meeting was called to order by the Vice President, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and the program committee took charge.

We started off with some songs and you never saw such talent—well, anyhow we make lots of noise.

Then we enjoyed a visit to the Raleigh Room and had a wonderful time. Carolyn "Hildagarde" Turner was mistress of ceremonies and she introduced us to some very interesting people. They were: Henry Frank Sinatra, the crooner, Kathryn Harrell Hepburn, that great wit of radio and screen, Shady Larned, and many others. But the real highlight was when Betty Grable (Mrs. Odell) gave us the lowdown on her latest divorce! We're sorry he wouldn't fix your breakfast, I might have been a wonderful marriage.

Well, this is your lone reporter signing off till next time—guess I'll be ankin' along.

Farmer Uses Gas to Kill Gophers

COLLEGE STATION. — It's a tough problem if the American farmer can't solve it. When gophers moved into an alfalfa field belonging to Horace Graham of the Lockett community, Wilbarger County, it seemed to be up to him to control their operations because the state rodent control force isn't always available. Gophers, if you don't know it, work under ground and the damage they can do to grass is plenty. Alfalfa is too valuable as a feed for livestock to allow the rodents to have freedom of a field.

Mr. Graham, who was familiar with the approved control method of placing poisoned food in their runways for the gophers to come to it, decided to improve it and send the poison to them.

County Agricultural Agent, Frank Wendt describes Mr. Graham's lethal set-up thus: He reduced the exhaust on his tractor to three-quarters of an inch to increase the pressure, and attached to it a 10-foot flexible hose commonly used on a washing machine. He finds the gopher run by probing with a small iron rod and then inserts the hose. With the tractor motor running at normal speed the pressure sends the exhaust fumes 60 to 75 feet through the runways in about two minutes. The fumes mean instant death to gophers wherever they penetrate, Wendt says.

ment policy is to give any soldier who has been a prisoner-of-war for more than thirty days a furlough before re-assigning him to duty.

Q. Our son was discharged from the Army a year ago and now has to go back to the hospital for further treatment. Is a veterans' hospital the same as an Army general hospital?

A. No. Veterans' hospitals are operated by the Veterans Administration, which is not a part of the Army, and their patients are discharged service personnel. Army general hospitals are operated by the Army for soldiers who require medical treatment while in the service.

Q. My husband is in an Army hospital, but it will be some months before he is discharged. We would like to borrow some money under the G. I. Bill of Rights to buy a farm. Since it is known that, because of his injury, he will not be retained in the Army, could we take out our loan now?

A. No. Benefits of the G. I. Bill of Rights are available only to personnel of the armed forces after their discharge.

Q. Our son was killed in action with the air corps in Germany. It is unlikely that his body will ever be recovered and returned here for burial. Would the government still give us the flag that is usually given for a serviceman's burial ceremony?

A. Yes. In cases where bodies of servicemen are not recovered following their death, their next-of-kin may request flags by writing the Quartermaster General, Washington, D. C.

Q. If a husband is in the service or overseas, does his wife have to pay an income tax?

A. When the wife of a serviceman files a separate income tax, she must pay the tax when due, regardless of where her husband is serving. When she files a joint income tax with her husband, its payment may be postponed if he is stationed overseas. Length of the postponement is until the fifteenth day of the fourth month after his return from overseas.

COTTON OFFERS YOU MORE PER ACRE

Cotton has the highest value per acre of any of the five major crops which occupy 80 per cent of all cultivated land in the United States. During the 10 years, 1932-41, Cotton and Cottonseed produced an average farm value per acre of $27.97, compared with $14.79 for corn, $10.32 for wheat, $8.65 for oats, and $10.77 for all hay. Haskell Sailor Claims Cook On His Tank Landing Ship Is "Tops"

Aboard The U.S.S. LST 308 In An English South Coast Port, Feb. 15 (Delayed)—If, after the war, complaints are made about
"slaving over a hot stove all day long", Bill A. Starr, 24, Gunner's Mate, Second Class, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Starr, Box 191, Haskell Texas, is going to tell the complainant a little story about this ship. It may begin something like this:

"You should talk! When we were transporting troops and battle equipment across the English Channel to France, the cook in our galley dished out 2,200 meals per day — and that galley was equipped to provide only 500.
But we always got three "squares"—and I mean both the soldiers and the crew!"

When the lecture on the culinary accomplishments is completed, it probably will tell about the 308's action off Bizerte, Sicily, Salerno and Normandy.

The entire crew was awarded separate commendations for the operations at Salerno and Normandy, where intense fire from enemy shore batteries lasted several hours. Bizerte meant an average of two air raids every night. During the invasion of Sicily, this tank landing ship was showered with water geysers by

MATE STARR

Nazi bombs. The crew had no sleep for three days and nights.

On the roughest of her 40 trips across mountainous channel waters, the 308 carried over 300
casualties back from France.

The crew is getting a breather
now while the ship undergoes minor repairs at this port.

Starr attended Midland High School in Texas and formerly worked in the oil fields there.
He joined the Navy in August, 1942.

Machinist's Mate on USS Pennsylvania,
Home After 19 Months Sea Duty

After 19 months sea duty on the USS battlewagon Pennsylvania, Foy Lee McKennon, Machinist's Mate second class, has been in Haskell the past week visiting relatives and friends. He left Thursday with his mother, Mrs. Fred Schlee of Dallas, for a few days stay there before returning to San Diego, where he will visit before reporting back to his ship station.

Mate McKennon has been assigned on board the Pennsylvania since shortly after finishing his boot training. He joined the Navy in August, 1942.

"We've been in some pretty tough places, and in most of the major sea battles against the Japs, but the Pennsylvania has come through all of them still full of fight", the young sailor said proudly. He wears ribbons of the Philippine Invasion, the Asiatic Pacific, and the American defense zones, together with one silver and five bronze stars denoting action in ten major sea campaigns.

The Pennsylvania has covered practically the expanse of the Pacific Ocean, from the Bering Sea to the South China Sea, Mate McKennon related. After being assigned to the Pennsylvania the big battlewagon introduced Mate McKennon to his first battle action in the Aleutians. Later, the Pennsylvania took a big part in the battle of Lingayen Gulf. "We certainly were in the thick of it there, and it seemed as if our big guns were firing constantly,"
he recalled.

In the battle of Leyte Gulf last October, the Pennsylvania sunk or damaged four carriers, a destroyer, and three battleships and has an impressive record being in on 12 island bombardments and has shot down 16 enemy planes.

At Guam the gun crews of the Pennsylvania had their most exciting assignment, McKennon recalled, when the battlewagon stood offshore and provided "call fire" from its big guns in supporting ground troops ashore.

Young McKennon is the son of Jim McKennon, farmer of the Munday section.

We Have a Job to Do

More Than Ever Before, The 1945 Vegetable
Crop Will Depend Upon Victory
Gardeners

THERE IS 10% LESS MANPOWER ON OUR FARMS

It may seem short-sighted to take our younger men from the farms and put them in the army—but a good many draft boards don't feel that way about it and they've been taken. Of course we can say "it ain't our fault", but that won't get the job done. It's up to those that remain to produce just as much without that 10% as we did with it. Sure they took off ration points just when they should have been on last year—but they put them on this year at the right time. Maybe other things are or will be wrong—but we'll have to forget them and do this job that's bigger than all else. The boys aren't letting us down and we can't let them down.

MOST OF OUR PEOPLE KNOW THE NEED IS GREATER TODAY

And that's a big help. It means there's a chance, if we all do our part, to get that job done. To produce the food so vitally needed—not only to feed ourselves and our boys all over the earth, but the liberated countries too. Many of them just can't provide for themselves at first.

S. S. Cards Now
More Important
Than Ever

Due to the shift in employment caused by the demand of the armed forces for additional manpower, the value of your social security account card becomes increasingly important. The individual who has been engaged in farm work and goes into industrial employment or a defense job, will need an account number. The men and women, boys and girls who may engage in farm work following a period of industrial employment should hold on to their social security account cards because these cards may be needed for later work. On the return of such workers to their old jobs in the cities or to other commercial or industrial employment, the same account number will be good.
Therefore, Ralph T. Fisher, manager of the Abilene Social Security Board office, suggests that workers make sure that this very valuable account card be kept in some place where it will not be lost.

INDIVIDUAL FREEDOM OF THE BORDER

An editorial has been written by Thurman Sensing, Director of Research, Southern States Industrial Council, of which we quote in part:

"Unquestionably those who have most to lose in the surrender of individual freedom in this country are the great middle classes of the country—the working man, the average man. When individual freedom is surrendered, then the average man will no longer have the opportunity or the incentive to rise higher in the world, to make better provisions for his family, to accumulate property, to own his own business.

"Every one of us should realize more keenly now than ever before that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. We should realize that we cannot play the ostrich and stick our heads in the sand and say, 'everything will come out all right.' We should keep our eyes open and not be deluded by false promises of those whose real purpose is to gain control of the freedom which we all have as individuals."

ENGLISH TEACHERS NEEDED SOUTH

Eagerness to learn English is noted more and more in the Latin-American countries, and this presents a demand for teachers qualified to teach English "as a foreign language" which, of course, means that methods must be studied. Among schools conducting courses in such training are the University of Michigan, the University of Texas, and Mills College of California. Americanization schools in large cities have trained such teachers also.

The Office of the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs recently reported an urgent need of texts in English grammar and reading in fourteen of the other American republics. Teachers of English from other American republics come to the United States to enroll in special courses to help them. For the most part, the great majority of teachers of English in Latin America have had no special training relative to teaching their subject, although cultural institutes in the larger cities south of the border have done some work along this line. Furthermore, a training course, patterned after that at the University of Michigan, is being offered at the Benjamin Franklin Library in Mexico City, and a course has been conducted in Haiti under supervision of U. S. teachers.

THE LAST WEEK

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 21:6-16.
GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest.—Matthew 21:9.

The official presentation of Himself to the Jewish people as their King, their rejection of Him and, what was even more solemnly meaningful, His rejection of the Hebrew nation because of their unbelief—such are the stirring events which face us as we go with our Lord into the last week of His earthly ministry.

The first event in that sequence is the one we study in our lesson for today, namely, the coming of the King to Jerusalem.

I. Preparation and Presentation (vv. 6, 7).

The King comes, but even in His hour of royal triumph He gives to His followers the unexplainable but instinctive joy of meeting His need.

1. "The Disciples Did As Jesus Appointed" (v. 6). He had need of disciples who would do His bidding without question or hesitation. How precious is such obedience! Let us also go and do what He commands.

He needed the colt and the ass. How simple and lowly that need, and yet how glorious that man was ready to meet it!

God's plans are worked out in the little things as well as the great. Prophecy was being fulfilled here (see v. 5) by a little thing. Is God waiting to carry out some great purpose through some little thing which you are withholding from Him? Why hinder Him any longer?

2. "And He Sat Thereon" (v. 7). Though He did not come with the pomp and trappings of an earthly potentate, the King of Glory came to His people to offer them for the last time the opportunity to receive Him.

He asks you to yield your life to His kingship. What will your answer be?

II. Acceptance and Rejection (vv. 8-11, 16).

1. "The Multitude . . . Cried . . . Hosanna" (vv. 8-11). The fact that before the week was over some of the same voices cried, "Crucify him!" should not obscure the fact that there were childlike believers (v. 16) who really had faith in Christ.

There is something inspiring about that picture of enthusiasm and devotion. Real faith in Christ ought to result in a fervor of spirit which will stir our hearts and our cities. Are we not altogether too dead and formal in much of our worship today? Do we not need more holy enthusiasm for Christ and for His Church?

2. "The Chief Priests and Scribes . . . Were Sore Displeased" (vv. 15, 16). Small wonder, for not only had the children put them to open shame by recognizing the Christ whom they had ignored, but He had also ruined their polite religious "racket" which produced for them such a lovely profit.

Mark this—when anyone is displeased with Jesus or with His children or with His work on earth, you can be sure that there is a reason, and not a holy, upright or good reason either!

III. Judgment and Compassion (vv. 12-14).

What a remarkable picture! In the midst of flaming judgment and destruction we find His loving compassion upon the blind and the lame. Folk who think that Christ has no message but love need to look on Him as He cleanses the temple. On the other hand, those who think that He has no word but judgment need to behold Him as He stands in the midst of the overturned tables and debris and heals the needy.

1. "Jesus Cast Out . . . and Overthrew" (vv. 12, 13). He knew where to begin to cleanse the city. He started in the temple. Absolutely right is the man who suggested that the place to start to clean up a city is not in the slums but in the churches.

You will not be ready to clean out the tavern or that other low place where the gang hangs out in your town until you have cleaned out the church if sin is being harbored there.

The same is true of the individual. A regenerated heart will bring a reformed life, not vice versa. You can live only after you have been born.

2. "He Healed Them" (v. 14). The very hands which had just overturned the tables and cast out the money-changers now gently touched the lame and the blind with healing. The eyes which had blazed with holy indignation now shone with love and compassion. The scene of judgment and chaos became the house of prayer and of answered prayer. On the very spot where one man had received condemnation, another received healing.

Each one received that which He sought by his own attitude and action. How will you, my dear reader, meet Jesus—as your Judge or as your Saviour? You must make the choice. Choose Christ today.

1. The Plaintiff is now and has been for a period of twelve months immediately prior to exhibiting this petition an actual bona fide resident of the State of Texas and has resided in Haskell County, Texas, where this suit is thrown the tables and cast out the money-changers now gently touched the lame and the blind with healing. The eyes which had blazed with holy indignation now shone with love and compassion. The scene of judgment and chaos became the house of prayer and of answered prayer. On the very spot where one man had received condemnation, another received healing.

Each one received that which He sought by his own attitude and action. How will you, my dear reader, meet Jesus—as your Judge or as your Saviour? You must make the choice. Choose Christ today.

2. "The Disciples Did As Jesus Appointed" (v. 6). He had need of disciples who would do His bidding without question or hesitation. How precious is such obedience! Let us also go and do what He commands.

He needed the colt and the ass. How simple and lowly that need, and yet how glorious that man was ready to meet it!

God's plans are worked out in the little things as well as the great. Prophecy was being fulfilled here (see v. 5) by a little thing. Is God waiting to carry out some great purpose through some little thing which you are withholding from Him? Why hinder Him any longer?

2. "And He Sat Thereon" (v. 7). Though He did not come with the pomp and trappings of an earthly potentate, the King of Glory came to His people to offer them for the last time the opportunity to receive Him.

He asks you to yield your life to His kingship. What will your answer be?

III. Judgment and Compassion (vv. 12-14).

What a remarkable picture! In the midst of flaming judgment and destruction we find His loving compassion upon the blind and the lame. Folk who think that Christ has no message but love need to look on Him as He cleanses the temple. On the other hand, those who think that He has no word but judgment need to behold Him as He stands in the midst of the overturned tables and debris and heals the needy.

1. "Jesus Cast Out . . . and Overthrew" (vv. 12, 13). He knew where to begin to cleanse the city. He started in the temple. Absolutely right is the man who suggested that the place to start to clean up a city is not in the slums but in the churches.

You will not be ready to clean out the tavern or that other low place where the gang hangs out in your town until you have cleaned out the church if sin is being harbored there.

The same is true of the individual. A regenerated heart will bring a reformed life, not vice versa. You can live only after you have been born.

2. "He Healed Them" (v. 14). The very hands which had just overturned the tables and cast out the money-changers now gently touched the lame and the blind with healing. The eyes which had blazed with holy indignation now shone with love and compassion. The scene of judgment and chaos became the house of prayer and of answered prayer. On the very spot where one man had received condemnation, another received healing.

Each one received that which He sought by his own attitude and action. How will you, my dear reader, meet Jesus—as your Judge or as your Saviour? You must make the choice. Choose Christ today.

MAY THE BEST WOMAN WIN!

There's the bell . . . hold your hat . . . hang on to your purse . . . and may the best woman win!

Bargain sales look as exciting as ever these days, but this ancient sport isn't what it used to be. So much merchandise is up in price or down in quality.

However, there's at least one real bargain that still provides high prewar quality at low prewar prices. That's the electric service you enjoy in your home.

Actually you're getting about twice as much electricity for your money today as you did 15 years ago. If your total electric bill is no less today, it's because you have more electric conveniences now and use them more. But the cost per kilowatt-hour average is much less.

The credit for this wartime bargain belongs to your friends and neighbors in this company. Their hard work, plus sound business management, made it possible. You can count on them to continue to furnish cheap, dependable electricity for still finer electric living after the war.

Former Haskell Merchant Dies In Ft. Worth
 Funeral services were held in Fort Worth Friday morning for Emanuel Siegel, 57, of Dallas, former Haskell dry goods merchant, who died of a heart attack Wednesday of last week in Fort Worth.

Mr. Siegel had gone to Fort Worth Monday to attend the funeral of a relative, Mrs. Bertie Weinbaum. He was a native of Russia who came to this country when he was 19, and at the time of his death was a sporting goods dealer, owning and operating several stores in West Texas.

Mr. Siegel opened a dry goods store in Haskell in 1925, and was in business here for several years before moving to Dallas. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Flora Siegel; a daughter, Mrs. B. Levene of Oakland, Calif., and a sister, Mrs. S. Segal of New Orleans.

'Happy Birthday—Maybe We'll be Together Next Year', Haskell Sailor Writes 4-Year-Old Daughter
 Treasured by 6-year-old Patsy Louise Cagle of Haskell as the nicest remembrance any Dad could send his daughter on her birthday is the letter the little girl received recently from her father, Seaman second class Clifford B. Cagle, written somewhere in the Pacific where he is serving on an LCS type ship in the Navy, landing supplies wherever needed by American soldiers and Marines.

Patsy's daddy had been with her in observing her five previous birthdays, and his letter which came on the day she was six years old reads as follows:
 Dearest Daughter:
 "I will write this in care of your mother and perhaps she can read it to you in words you can understand. I am writing this as a birthday greeting to you, and daughter, this is the first time I haven't been with you on your birthday but you can see why I cannot be with you this time. As you enjoy your birthday cake and ice cream just think of Daddy as if he were there with you—I will be there, too, at least a part of me.

"I remember your other birthdays—the day you were born. I was just as proud as I could be when, and I haven't lost my pride in you. In fact I think I am more proud of you now than I was then."
 "Daddy will be quite far from you, Patsy, but I'll be thinking of you and the good times we'll have when get back. Maybe by the time your next birthday comes around I'll be back home again. I certainly hope so at least. "I can't get you a present, Patsy, as there isn't a thing on the ship, but you understand, don't you? Maybe when I get back in the States I can get you something. Wherever you go, and whatever you do, Patsy, just remember that Daddy loves you and is thinking of you.

"I guess this is about I can say, so until another time, Happy Birthday, Patsy, and God bless you."
