Haskell county farms have contributed a total of 134,843 pounds rubber in the current collection drive being made in the rural section by the WPA, which is W. I. Cates, Houston Resifurnishing trucks and crews to canvas all sections of the county. The project is under the super. vision of P. W. Warren, who states that two trucks are now being operated to pick up the scrap from

The scrap collection will con. tinue until all farms in Haskell county have been visited, and every pound of scrap metal secured that farmers will sell.

Farmers are urged to gather up all discarded implements, tools, and scrap metal of any description on their premises and turn it in during the current collection drive. It is rent collection drive. It is vitally important that this be done—and done now to pre-vent slowing down the na-tion's steel mills and munition plants.

It is believed that from one nundred to one thousand pounds of scrap metal can be salvaged from every farm in Haskell county, in the form of worn-out implements, junked automobiles and tractors, discarded kitchen utensils and hardware, scrap which has no usefulness whatever in its present form. When salvaged and turned in to the Government, every pound of ccrap metal provides a potential war weapon for the fighting forces of our country. For this reason, every farmer is urged to cooperate to the fullest extent in ridding his farm of every particle of scrap metal while means of gathering up the metal are available.

NEWS IN THE WORLD

International Missionary Council, representing Protestant mission agencies throughout the world, announces the election of the Rev. John W. Decker, Th.D., D.D. as American secretary, succeeding the Rev. A. L. Warnshuis, D.D., who retires at his own request. Dr. Decker, a former naval chaplain, a former missionary if more recently foreign secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society, will assume his new duties on January 1, 1943. He s a graduate of the University of Richmond and the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary.

At an impressive service reently in St. Paul's Cathedral, London, attended by church leaders from England, Scotland, Iraland and Wales and with the Archbishop of Canterbury as the principal speaker, the British Council of Churches was formed. This Council is the British counterpart of America's Federal Coun. cil of the Churches of Christ. It contains high and low churches and practically every denomination of Protestants .Three large interdenominational bodies are in. corporated in the new Council the Council on the Christian Faith and the Common Life, the Com. mission of Churches for International Frienship and Social Responsibility, and the British section of the World Conference on Faith and Order.

For fifteen years Hugh H. Linn M. D. has been carrying on a uni. que medical mission service in India as founder and superintendent of the "All-India Missions Tablet Industry" at Bowringpet During that period he has manufactured and distributed more than three fourths of a million homeopathic tablets per month-the largest quantities being of quinine fight malaria, England, Germany he United States and the Nother. ands Indies furnished most of the rugs; the tablets went every where in India and to practically every country in Asia and the nearby islands. Because of the var Dr. Linn is having great dif. ficulty in securing cinchona, the tree bark from which quinine is extracted. So important is the Bowringpet supply to the welfare of the white man especially that the salvation Army, local governments, and various missionary agencies are helping round up supplies of cinchona. A MARINE

You can have your choice, You can have your Navy Blue, But there is another higher! That I'll introduce to you!

The uniform is different, too, The best I've ever seen, The Huns call him a devil dog, But the name is just a Marine.

He trained at San Diego, The land that God forgot Where the sand is several fee

And the sun is scorching hot, He has sat before many a table And many a dish he has dried. He was also trained to make up

And a broom to smoothy ride. Peeled a million onions And twice as many spuds, And he spends his spare time

Now girls take a little tip, I am sending it to you Find yourself a nice Marine, There is nothing he can't do

Washing out his duds.

When he goes to heaven, To St. Peter he will "yell" A good Marine reporting, Sir. I have spent my time in hell!

Wrecked jalopies are towed into graveyards and all heavy equipment, such as glass, chromium trimmings, upholstery and motor parts are taken out and only the chassis left.

Cars are then burned to get the lead out of the paint and remove the solder. A laborious process of chopping the body down with axes is the next step.

The Second Front

The second front has long been the biggest military question-and it is getting bigger fast. The plain truth is that a serious cleavage is developing between Soviet Russia and the balance of the United Nations. The Russians definitely feel that they have borne the brunt of the fighting long enough, and that it is now time for England and the United Nations to do something concrete and effective.

Wendell Wilkie's recent visit to Russia was ob. viously made for the purpose of finding out just what Soviet military and governmental leaders are thinking. Mr. Wilkie had long audiences with Stalin and Molotov, and with a number of high-ranking Russian Army men. He made a visit to the front, and talked with rank-and-file Russians. So it is highly significant that he at once issued a statement in which he advocated the establishment of a second front "at the earliest possible moment that our military leaders will approve." He then added that some of these military leaders may "need public prodding."

The attitude of the Russians is certainly understandable. The Russian people, military and civilian alike have made sacrifices that deserve the adjective "incredible" According to Moscow accounts the Russian Army has suffered 5,000,000 casualties in killed wounded and missing. Sixty million Russians are in areas which are present are occupied and controlled by Nazis. Aid from the United States and England has fallen short of the total which was anticipated, and Russia has a terrible lack of food, clothing, fuel and other necessities. The Germs, pursuing their policy of extermin. ation, have delibeately killed tons of thousands of Russian men, women and children. In some sections. Russian authorities have found is necessary to provide sufficient food for fighting men and necessary factory workers. The courage of the Red Army is a beacon light in the long and bloody history of war Never have there been finer and more desperate stands than those made by the Russians at Sevastopol, Rostov, Stalingrad, Rostov, Stalingrad and elsewhere

At the present time, according to the best estimates. Germany has about 100 divisions on the Russian front. In the opinion of Russian experts.

Germany would have to divert 30 or 40 of these divisions to the west if the United Nations would open a second from in Europe, using the British Isles as the base of operations. And if that happened, the Russian expert conclude, the Red Army could stop the Nazis and eventually defeat them But if the Germans are left free to throw all their power against the Russians, the Red Army may be eliminated as an offensive force. In that event Germany possessed of almost limitless resources could launch an irresistible offensive against Eng. land and the Uited States.

American and British Army heads openly advocate the second front. It is no secret that a very large percentage of the American soldiers now in service are being trained for fighting of the commando order. No responsible man now advocates a purely defensive war-all are convinced that only the continued offensive can bring eventual victory. At the same time, the difficulties that lie in the way of the second front are very important The cost in troops would unquestionably be terribly great-raids such as that made against Dieppe have proven that German defenses in Europe are first class. The problem of supply from the U. S. to England is extremely difficult-to maintain the vast numbers of troops who would be engaged in the second front offensive would require a veritable bridge of ships across the Atlantic, And, on top of that, it takes time to give troops the kind of rigor. ous training that is vital to successful invasion of German-held Europe.

These are but a few of the tremendous issues tnat bedevil the High Command. It is to the credit of the Generals who make military policy that they do not want to open a second front until they feel that the engagemeet can be won at a minimum cost in men. At the same time, it is obvious that the collapse of Russia would be the worst possible calamity that could happen to the United Nations. Russia alone has really held the Germans in big actions, and made Hitler pay an awful price in blood and material for the victories he has gained Russia alone has shown that she realizes precisely what total war means. Russia alone has given her resources and her energies without hesitation or limit. And Russia has received mighty little help from her Allies, despite all the brave words that have been said in her behalf. Russia knows that men and guns, not conversation, win battles,

Rubber and Gas

The Baruch report on the rubber question marked an intelligent and forthright approach to the country's Number 1 domestic problem. The most important recommendations concern national gasoline, rationing, a 35-mile speed limit, compulsory tire inspectation, production of synthetic rubber at a rate of 1 100,000 tons a year-and the suggestion that more rubber be made available to the public for retreading and recapping tires in order to maintain necessary civilian driving.

No one can deny that the elimination of unessential driving is now necessary. But we must not make the mistake of establishing an arbitrary rationing system which would cripple production in many parts of the country. In the West, for instance, thousands of people must drive 20, 50 or 100 miles a day in the course of their farming and business operations. If this part of the country was too severaly limited in au o use, there would be a catastrophic slow-down in activity in all lines.

The big thing now is to make unprecedented efforts to increase synthetic rubber production—as well as to conserve what rubber we have in al practical ways. The appointment of William M. Jeffers as chief of the rubber drive, is a step in the a variety of things-from hairpins right direction. Mr. Jeffers is a business man of distinction, and he is a man who is used to getting

The American car owner will cooperate fully in any program laid down by the government. And it is the duty of the government to place in effect a wise and flexible system of rationing and conservation which will permit necessary driving for civilans, according to location and activity,

Purpose of the plan to ration used tires and tubes, as well as new is to conserve all of the mileage remaining in all tires for the duration and to see that the mileage is used only for essential purposes. Actual rationing of the used tires and tubes, mileage rationing through the control gasoline marketing, and plans for regular inspection of all tires in use are a part of the overall objective to stretch as far as possible the irreplaceable rubber assets of the nation

In addition to these, additional conservation measures call for a national speed limi to: 35 miles an hour and individual care of all tires and equipment.

Student's Help Is Needed

Because of the acute shortage, of farm labor in our county, the schools of our city are dismissed each afternoon at two, in order that the students may help the farmers gather their cotton. Since we are actually at war and many of our men are in service of their country, it seems a very fitting and patriotic thing for each of us to help the farmers gather their crops, and in turn help win

Last Thursday, one of Miss Riley's classes pulled over nine hundred pounds, which is almost half a bale. So if every student in school would pick a hundred pounds a day, just think how many bales that would make. We should be glad to help with the large crop that Haskell county has produced this year After all, remember tifat so many things depend upon the farmer.

Come on, students, let's pick

Gupsy Ramblers Renew Activities

The first meeting of the Gypsy Rambler Club for the school year 42_'43 was held one day last week with Patsy Pearsey, the new president in charge. Two committees were appointed. The first chairman and Kathleen Davis and building, and voting is done with one, composed of Janice Pace as Faye Parks, will divide the club pennies. Each penny counts one into eight groups which will act as entertainment groups. The second one is the initiation committee, made up of Shirley White as chairman, and Carolyne Wil-liams and Nance Collins. This group will have charge of the initiation of the new members.

The girls were asked if they would be willing for the club to go, as a group and pull boles. The main purpose is to raise money for the club. Almost all the girls approved of this plan, and it was

Rally Precedes Game With Throckmorton

Another pep rally was held on our campus last Thursday evening just at dusk. The loyal sup-porters of the Haskell Indians met to stir up the old winning spirit for the Throckmorton game. Not that the Indians don't have that spirit all the time, but it is a lot of fun to stir it up; everyone gets it then. A number of pep songs and yells were led by the cheer leaders, and Gordon Johnston made a brief talk. As usual the rally was closed with singing the school song.

The Second Front

The second front has long been the biggest military question-and it is getting bigger fast. The plain truth is that a serious cleavage is developing between Soviet Russia and the balance of the United Nations. The Russians definitely feel that they have borne the brunt of the fighting long enough, and that it is now time for England and the United Nations to do something concrete and effective.

Wendell Wilkie's recent visit to Russia was obviously made for the purpose of finding out just what Soviet military and governmental leaders are thinking. Mr. Wilkie had long audiences with Stalin and Molotov, and with a number of high-ranking Russian Army men. He made a visit to the front, and talked with rank-and-file Russians. So it is highly significant that he at once issued a statement in which he advocated the establishment of a second front "at the earliest possible moment that our military leaders will approve." He then added that some of these military leaders may "need public prodding."

The attitude of the Russians is certainly understandable. The Russian people, military and civilian alike have made sacrifices that deserve the adjective "incredible". According to Moscow accounts, the Russian Army has suffered 5,000,000 casualties in killed, wounded and missing. Sixty million Russians are in areas which are present are occupied and controlled by Nazis. Aid from the United States and England has fallen short of the total which was anticipated, and Russia has a terrible lack of food, clothing fuel and other necessities. The Germs, pursuing their policy of extermination, have delibertely killed tens of thousands of Russian men, women and children. In some sections. Russian authorities have found is necessary to provide sufficient food for fighting men and necessary factory workers. The courage of the Red Army is a beacon light in the long and bloody history of war. Never have there been finer and more desperate stands than those made by the Russians at Sevastopol Rostov, Stalingrad Rostov, Stalingrad and elsewhere

At the present time, according to the best estimates Germany has about 100 divisions on the Russian front In the opinion of Russian experts,

Germany would have to divert 30 or 40 of these divisions to the west if the United Nations would open a second front in Europe, using the British as the base of operations. And if that happened, the Russian expert conclude, the Red Army could stop the Nazis and eventually defeat them But if the Germans are left free to throw all their power against the Russians, the Red Army may be eliminated as an offensive force. In that event Germany possessed of almost limitless resources could launch an irresistible offensive against England and the Uited States. American and British Army heads openly advocate the second front. It is no secret that a very large percentage of the American soldiers now in service are being trained for fighting of the commando order. No responsible man now advocates a purely defensive war-all are convinced that only the continued offensive can bring eventual victory. At the same time, the difficulties that lie in the way of the second front are very important The cost in troops would unquestionably be terri. bly great—raids such as that made against Dieppe have proven that German defenses in Europe are first class. The problem of supply from the U.S. to England is extremely difficult-to maintain the vast numbers of troops who would be engaged in the second front offensive would require a veritable bridge of ships across the Atlantic, And, on top of that, it takes time to give troops the kind of rigor. ous training that is vital to successful invasion of German-held Europe.

These are but a few of the tremendous issues that bedevil the High Command. It is to the credit of the Generals who make military policy that they do not want to open a second front until they feel that the engagemeet can be won at a minimum cost in men. At the same time, it is obvious that the collapse of Russia would be the worst possible calamity that could happen to the United Nations. Russia alone has really held the Germans in big actions, and made Hitler pay an awful price in blood and material for the victories he has gained. Russia alone has shown that she realizes precisely what total war means. Russia alone has given her resources and her energies without hesitation or limit. And Russia has received mighty little help from her Allies, despite all the brave words that have been said in her behalf. Russia knows that men and guns, not conversation, win battles,

Rubber and Gas

The Baruch report on the rubber question marked an intelligent and forthright approach to the country's Number 1 domestic problem. The most important recommendations concern national gasoline rationing, a 35-mile speed limit, compulsory tire inspectation, production of synthetic rubber at a rate of 1,100,000 tons a year-and the suggestion that more rubber be made available to the public for retreading and recapping tires in order to maintain necessary civilian driving.

No one can deny that the elimination of unessential driving is now necessary. But we must not make the mistake of establishing an arbitrary rationing system which would cripple production in many parts of the country. In the West, for instance, thousands of people must drive 20, 50 or 100 miles a day in the course of their farming and business operations. If this part of the country was too severaly limited in au o use, there would be a catastrophic slow-down in activity in all lines.

The big thing now is to make unprecedented efforts to increase synthetic rubber production-as to other types. Among these comwell as to conserve what rubber we have in al practical ways. The appointment of William M. Jeffers as chief of the rubber drive, is a step in the right direction. Mr. Jeffers is a business man of distinction, and he is a man who is used to getting

The American car owner will cooperate fully in any program laid down by the government. And it is the duty of the government to place in effect a wise and flexible system of rationing and conservation which will permit necessary driving for civilans, according to location and activity.

tires and tubes

Probably of the greatest imme. diate effect was the Office of Price Administration "freeze" order forbidding the purchase and sale of used tires and tubes contrary to the provisions of the order pending the announcement of a rationing plan. This order em. phasizes the critical situation faced by the nation's transportation system of which every car or truck is a part.

Purpose of the plan to ration used tires and tubes, as well as new is to conserve all of the mileage remaining in all tires for the duration and to see that the mileage is used only for essential purposes. Actual rationing of the used tires and tubes, mileage rationing through the control gasoline marketing, and plans for regular inspection of all tires in use are a part of the overall objective to stretch as far as possible the irreplaceable rubber assets of the nation.

In addition to these, additional conservation measures call for a national speed limi to: 35 miles an hour and individual care of all tires and equipment

As a forerunner to actual cardrationing of meat which possible will come by February, orders have been issued by the OPA to slaughterers and packing houses to limit their deliveries for civilian used to specified percentages during the remainder of this year.

Slaughterers of more than 500. 000 pounds in a calendar quarter must hold deliveries to the lowing percentages of their 1941 deliveries: beef, 80 per cent; pork, 75 per cent; lamb and mutton, 95 per cent, and veal 100 per cent. other slaughterers are held to amounts of their 1941 deliveries.

Although these orders apply only to wholesale deliveries civilian consumers are urged to start rationing their own consumption on a voluntary basis to 2 1-2 pounds per person per week.

Senior Girl Gets Her Soldier Back

Probably one of the best pleas. ed students at school this week was Marguerite Alley Wood whose soldier husband recently returned home after being releas. ed from service in San Diego Garland enlisted last summer and began training only to find that brain concussion he received in an accident some years ago was rendering him unable to take the vigorous training. After spending some weeks in the hospital he was permitted to return home and is now engaged in his usual activities on the farm.

Student's Help Is

Because of the acute shortage, of farm labor in our county, the schools of our city are dismissed each afternoon at two, in order that the students may help the farmers gather their cotton. Since we are actually at war and many of our men are in service of their country, it seems a very fitting and patriotic thing for each of us to help the farmers gather their crops, and in turn help win the war.

In time such as these, we may be called upon to do many things that we had rather not do, but students let's be loyal and really be in earnest about the work we have pledged to do.

Last Thursday, one of Miss Riley's classes pulled over nine hundred pounds, which is almost half a bale. So if every student in school would pick a hundred pounds a day, just think how many bales that would make. We should be glad to help with the large crop that Haskell county has produced this year After all remember that so many things depend upon the farmer.

Come on, students, let's

He was a member of the high school band during all his four high school years, and plays a cornet remarkably well. Roy was a graduate of 1941.

Gypsy Ramblers Renew Activities

The first meeting of the Gypsy tambler Club for the school year 42.'43 was held one day last week with Patsy Pearsey, the new president in charge. Two committees were appointed. The first one composed of Janice Pace as hairman and Kathleen Davis and Faye Parks, will divide the club into eight groups which will act as entertainment groups. The second one is the initiation committee, made up of Shirley White as chairman, and Carolyne Williams and Nance Collins. This group will have charge of the initiation of the new members.

The girls were asked if they would be willing for the club to go, as a group and pull boles. The main purpose is to raise money for the club. Almost all the girls approved of this plan, and it was

Contest Is Held to Choose F. F. A. Sweetheart

The Dave Persons Chapter of the Future Farmers of America met on September 30 to nominate four candidates for F. F. A. Sweetheart. The following girls were nominated: Mildred Chapman, candidate from the Freshman Class; Margaret Sholl, candidate from the Sophomore class; Janice Pace, candidate from the Junior class; and Annette Laird, candidate from the Senior class.

The contest is being held in similar manner to those of previous years. A voting box for each girl is placed somewhere in the building, and voting is done with pennies. Each penny counts one vote. Contrary to last year's method when the votes were kept secret, the progress of each girl is posted on the bulletin board from time to time. No definite date for closing the contest has been chosen yet, but the ending dae will be announced soon.

Money made from the contest will be put in the F. F. A. fund, and will be used for equipment and supplies for the building.

So come on classes, get behind your candidate and support her to the very limit. There has to be a winner and she could be your favorite candidate.

Rally Precedes Game With Throckmorton

Another pep rally was held on our campus last Thursday evening just at dusk. The loyal supporters of the Haskell Indians met to stir up the old winning spirit for the Throckmorton game.
Not that the Indians don't have that spirit all the time, but it is a lot of fun to stir it up; everyone a lot of fun to stir it up; everyone gets it then. A number of pep songs and yells were led by the cheer leaders, and Gordon Johnston made a brief talk. As usual the rally was closed with singing the school song.

What You Buy With

A Flying Fortress is to America's air fleet what heavy artiflery is to the Army. This gigantic four-motored bomber, equipped with heavy cannon, carries about three tons of bombs and reaches a speed of about 300 miles an hour.

These ships carry a crew of seven to nine men, weigh about 221/2 tons, have a wing spread of 105 feet and each motor develops 1,000 horsepower. We need more of these "Flying Fortresses" to compete with the Nazi air force. You can help by investing at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every payday.
