Public Invited to Attend Opening Exercises Monday

The Paint Creek Rural High School will begin the 1942-43 term Monday August 31, it was announced this week by N. T. Underwood, superintendent. All assignments in the High School division at Paint Creek have been filled, but in the Grammar School division one vacancy exists at the present time. Supt. Underwood said. This will not interfere with the regular scholastic schedule, however, and with the present corps of teachers in the High School and Intermediate grades all normal curriculum requirements will be met.

Enrollment for the ensuing term is expected to show a slight increase over last term, with a total enrollment estimated at approximately 350 students. Of this number it is expected that between 100 and 110 will be enrolled in High School.

To serve the scholastics of the Paint Creek school district five school buses will be operated this year, maintaining about the same schedule and routes assigned last year, the superintendent said.

With Mr. Underwood as Superintendent, faculty of the Paint Creek School includes the following teachers: High School—J. W. Bigony, Principal; F. W. Martin, Vocational Agriculture; Mrs. John M. Ivey, Homemaking; Mrs. N. T. Underwood, English; Miss Eva Lance, Mathematics.

Call for Surgical Dressings Expected By Haskell Chapter

The Haskell county Red Cross chapter will be called on at an early date to furnish a quantity of surgical dressings, and making of these bandages will require the services of a number of workers, Mrs. Carl Power, county chairman, has been advised.

In preparation for the expected call for making surgical dressings two members of the local Chapter, Mrs. Goodson Sellers of Rule and Mrs. Wallace H. Cox of this city attended a two-day institute held in Abilene, and they will supervise and instruct local volunteer workers in preparing the needed articles when material is received and date set for beginning the work of making up the local Chapter's quota.

Just as soon as material is received and a suitable place where the work can be done is found, a call will be issued for workers needed to help make the dressings, and the cooperation of all women who can help will be greatly appreciated at that time, Mrs. Power said this week.

Directors Abandon Plans For Holding CWT Fair This Year

Staging Fair Would Not Fit In With War Program, Is Belief

At a meeting of officers and directors of the Central West Texas Fair Association Saturday, tentative plans adopted earlier in the summer for staging the annual Central West Texas Fair were abandoned and directors voted not to hold the exposition this year because of the national emergency.

This step was taken in view of the shortage of tires and gasoline, and the curtailing of other transportation facilities because of the war, directors pointed out.

It was pointed out too, that if the fair was held this year, it would come at a time when farmers and other exhibitors were busy with their crop harvest and could not spare the time to prepare and arrange agricultural and other exhibits because of the shortage of farm labor.

In announcing the decision to postpone holding of the 1942 Fair, officers and directors of the association declared that fairgrounds and exhibit buildings would not be neglected, but would be kept intact and in good repair for resuming the annual exposition next year if conditions warrant.

Married Men To Be Drafted By Christmas

Major Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national selective service director, said Friday that reclassification of all married men probably would begin in October and probably by Christmas.

"We will run out of single men in a few months, and then we must turn to the married men," the director said, adding: "Men with secondary dependents or a wife only will be taken first. If I were a man with a wife only, I would make arrangements to enter the Army now."

"We will have to change our conception of what is considered support. The wife would certainly not live in luxury."

Earlier, General Hershey said selective service needs men at a rate which would have been considered superhuman a year ago, and that the number of able-bodied men in industry must be drastically reduced in the very near future.

LOCAL CHURCH TO CONDUCT ONE-WEEK REVIVAL MEETING

Big Spring Minister Will Return as Evangelist For Revival

With an outstanding West Texas Baptist evangelist in charge of the preaching services, a one-week Revival Meeting will be held at the Fundamental Baptist Church in this city beginning Sunday Sept. 6 and continuing through the evening service on Sept. 13th, according to announcement made this week by Rev. C. Jones, pastor of the local church.

Evangelist for the meeting will be Rev. Roland C. King, pastor of the Trinity Baptist Church in Big Spring, Texas, who conducted a successful revival campaign for the local church last Spring. His return visit to Haskell to lead the current revival campaign for the church will be welcomed by his many friends in this section.

In addition to the series of inspiring gospel messages to be brought by the evangelist, an excellent song service is planned during the week's revival, to be directed by local talent.

Following the opening revival service Sunday morning, Sept. 6th, services will be held both morning and afternoon during the ensuing week. Morning services have been scheduled at 10 o'clock and evening preaching services at 8 o'clock, (old standard time). The public is cordially invited to attend all services.

Rules Listed For Securing Canning Sugar

With Fall coming on the people of Haskell County may be wondering about an additional supply of canning sugar.

It is believed by the County Rationing Board that due to the lack of fresh fruit available in the summer, but few people will be eligible for more sugar now. The canning sugar was allowed in the following manner: Each person was allowed 1 pound for jellies, jams, preserves, and fruit butters if desired, one pound was allowed for each four quarts of fruit to be canned, to a limited number of quarts.

To determine whether or not you are eligible for more canning sugar multiply the number of pounds of sugar that you received for canning by four. If the number of quarts of fruit that you have canned since you received your canning sugar is less than this, you cannot qualify for an additional allotment.

This sugar is to be used for no other purpose than canning. One person is allowed only one pound for jellies, etc. for the year, and no greater amount is to be used than one pound for every four quarts of fruit.

All who are eligible for more canning sugar may apply now and receive a few extra pounds. There is no need to rush since there is no limited time in which to apply.

Since this is the first time this year for us to print our school news, we do not want it to be the best. We want to keep making it better each time. On The Home Front

The United States spirit of the offense is abroad. The enemy is being fought wherever he is to be found—afloat, ashore, aloft and at home.

The fight remains to be won on all fronts, but it is underway. Simultaneously with the development of offensive actions in the far places of the earth, Price Administrator Leon Henderson sounded the clarion at home. Tinge has come, he said, for "a third front—or a fourth—in the war on inflation and profiteering."

The question is whether we want to win this war or whether we want personally to profit from it, he declared in a speech in Norfolk, Va.

He asked the united support of workers, businessmen, housewives and professional people throughout America in the new offensive at home.

As a part of the battle, all individuals—as consumers—are asked to patronize only those merchants who have posted their prices in compliance with price control regulations. They are asked to refuse to patronize those, who through design, are palpably evading the regulations.

Such an expression is necessary to show the will and determination to make the price control program work.

In addition, all individuals must refuse to hoard, refuse to join in the orgy of free spending, refuse to be wasteful. By so doing each will be contributing not only to conservation of materials so vitally needed for war but to the relief of pressure against price ceilings.

Up to now the battle against inflation has shaped up to a plain case of a delaying action. The Office of Price Administration has been on the defensive.

Since the institution of the general maximum price regulation in May the cost of living has continued to advance. By now, however, the average housewife in the Southwest has realized that without price control, the advance would have been much greater. How much greater, none could say.

Office of Price Administration figures show that prices on commodities that are under control have gone down, which is an achievement. But balanced against the rise on costs that are not controlled, the achievement is erased. Facing this reality, Henderson issued his appeal for public cooperation.

The offensive can be launched, and it can succeed, only through the cooperation of two great American groups—the farmers and the workers," he said. "It rests with the congress and with those groups to determine whether we shall now move ahead in this battle. I have already begun that battle."

He already is working with Secretary of Agriculture Wickard on a plan for ceiling on some farm prices. Many such prices, over which the OPA has no control, are now up.

Henderson declared that the wage earner must be prepared to accept stabilization of wages, and must be prepared to enlist in the Home Front offensive. In addition, he said that corporations—big and small—also must accept the necessity for reduced incomes both for their stockholders and their officers.

Price control is only one phase of the complex Home Front mechanism. Others are materials, production, distribution, rationing, and salvage. All these and much else combine to make the cogs and gears and wheels that keep us rolling at home while our military forces take the offensive abroad.

For weeks and months it has been increasingly apparent that another vital part of this complicated machine is not functioning as well as it might. We are short of materials. Now, the shortage extends beyond the mere need for civilian restrictions. It is affecting our manufacture of equipment for our armed services.

Board orders was the one even restricting the use of rubber in many military items, including cartridge clips and gun grips. This rubber shortage also is evident in instructions to ration boards to reduce further their eligibility lists for tires.

Another military restriction now limits the use of aluminum to products for field or combat use.

The shortage of materials again emphasizes another phase of the Home Front offensive—the continuing need for saving materials and salvage. None can close his ears to the crying need for salvage and collecting for scrap. When we stop hunting for scrap, we are courting failure and defeat.

Many new salvage ideas are being pressed. New groups have been enlisted. All these enterprises will help, but they are not enough.

Only if each individual enlists personally in the salvage campaign and does his full part will there be enough—barely—for our needs and to assure victory in the military offensive.

V-Mail Facilities Available Through Haskell Postoffice

The Post Office Department announced today that the V-Mail Service, inaugurated on June 15, 1942, is now past the experimental stage, with each week showing large increases in the number of letters mailed to American soldiers overseas.

The War Department has increased its facilities to handle promptly the volume expected in the future.

Facilities for photographing and reproducing V-Mail to and from the United States and the British Isles, Australia, India, Hawaii and other points are now in operation. A similar service is being planned for Iceland and other points where the volume may warrant.

Pointing out that V-Mail provides a safe means of communication with members of our Armed Forces, the Post Office Department gave assurance that the film (upon which the communications are reproduced) are given the most expeditious dispatch available. Because of the small space taken up by the rolls of film, they often can be carried on ferry planes or bombers.

Every pound of weight which can be saved on air transports overseas, said the Department, means that an equivalent amount of weight can be allotted vital military material.

In recognition of this, and in an effort to insure delivery of mail to as many men as possible at overseas destinations when space is limited the War and Navy Departments have directed that V-Mail be given priority in dispatch over all other classes—including air mail—when transportation facilities under control of those departments are used.

V-Mail letter sheets have been distributed at all post offices; and have been provided at military and naval personnel at overseas points through Army and Navy post offices and military channels.

Private firms and individuals have also been permitted by the Post Office Department to reproduce the letter sheets. The sheets

V-Mail Service provides for the use by patrons of a special letter sheet form which is a combination letter and envelope of uniform size and design. The patron writes his message, completes the name and address of the addressee and the return card in the space provided, folds, seals and mails the letter in the usual manner. Patrons are warned that only the inner or letter side of V-Mail letters are photographed and should be careful to show the complete address of the person to whom the message is sent in the panel provided therefor above the space for the message. It is preferable to print the address in large block letters. Enclosures must not be placed in the letters.

V-Mail letters are photographed on micro-film by automatic machines at the rate of 2,000 to 2,500 per hour and the film rolls containing 1,500 letters each are transmitted to destinations. Reproductions are then made by other automatic machines and delivered to the addressee in individual sealed window penalty envelopes.

When V-Mail letters are addressed to places where micro-film equipment is not in operation, the letters are transmitted to destination in original form by the most expeditious means available. Even in these instances savings in weight and space are accomplished since they weigh approximately 97 V-Mail letters average 40 per cent less than ordinary letters.

The War, Navy and Post Departments all cooperate in developing this service, in a view to decreasing the cost of mail to be carried on expeditions providing an expeditionary force.

The public is urged to take every opportunity.

COOKING QUERY CORNER

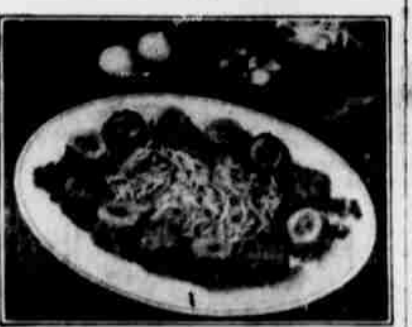

HOW DO YOU MAKE MEAT MUFFINS?

The Ingredients Here's something everyone will like. These meat muffins need no watching, no turning—just put them in the oven and forget about them until it's time for them to be done.

Combine 1 1/2 pounds ground beef, 3 tablespoons finely chopped onion, 1/4 cup horseradish, 2 eggs, 3/4 cup cracker crumbs, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 cup tomato catsup.

Line the greased muffin pans with onion rings, pimientos cut as stars or other designs. Pack the mixture in the pans leaving about 1/2 inch space on top of each muffin so the drippings will not run over the pan as the muffins cook.

The Finished Muffins Bake in a 350°F. oven for 45 minutes. Turn out the muffins on a platter and serve around Julienne potatoes. A relish tray of radish roses, celery curls, and chopped sweet pickles is a good accompaniment.

To the Voters of Haskell County

I wish to express my appreciation to the friends and voters who supported my candidacy for re-election as County Superintendent. And I appreciate also the courteous manner in which the campaign was conducted by my opponent and extend congratulations to her as my successor in office.

In reviewing my administration as your County Superintendent I am faced with the realization that the problems that have arisen during the past years could not have been handled without the cooperation of school officials and patrons throughout the county and for their confidence and cooperation in placing the schools of Haskell county on their present high standard. I am deeply grateful.

Sincerely,
MATT GRAHAM

GEMS OF THOUGHT

By every part of our nature we clasp things above us, one after another, not for the sake of higher where we take hold, but that we may go higher. —H. W. Beecher

Service to the Whole Nation

In July, War Bond sales—not counting the sale of War Stamps—reached the record figure of $900,000,000. June sales, by way of comparison, totaled $634,000,000.

The participating retailers include both chains and independents. They include stores dealing in food, hardware, furniture, dry goods, drugs, shoes, clothing and everything else that merchants sell.

The scope of the campaign is indicated by a release from the Institute of Distribution, an organization serving a large number of the nation's non-grocery chain systems. Here, in part, is what the release said: "With approximately 185 miles of windows dressed to popularize Bonds and Stamps; with nearly 600,000 employees stimulated to push and sell Stamps; with radio programs reaching nearly 45,000,000 listeners and newspaper advertisements that are part of approximately 430,000,000 lines used by them, yearly, this group attempted, earnestly, wholeheartedly—like other groups of retailers—to do its share."

The figures show how successful this great drive has been. And it will continue, day after day, month after month, until the war is won.

Oil and Rubber

To argue that the oil industry is trying to prevent the manufacture of synthetic rubber from any process whatsoever, whether it involves the use of petroleum or not, amounts to arguing that this industry is hell-bent on its own destruction.

of the oil industry depends upon the maintenance of motor car transportation. The industry has big war orders, of course—but civilian consumption of gasoline and lubricants are still the foundation of its business.

Even if every ounce of synthetic rubber were manufactured from petroleum products, the money value to the oil industry would be microscopic in the light of its total business.

There are many synthetic rubber formulas, and some involve the use of petroleum, and some do not. Only the chemists and the engineers can decide which is best, quickest and most practical.

Spare Your Doctor

War's drain on the nation's doctors continues to grow rapidly. In time it is likely that all physically fit younger doctors, and many older doctors, will be called to military service.

Many authorities are now advising the public as to how it may help these doctors perform their job with maximum efficiency under difficult conditions.

The standards of American medical care are the highest in the world. During the war, with millions of people working at arduous labor, every possible means of guarding and maintaining these standards must be used.

The patient who wastes a doctor's time may, unwittingly, be depriving a person who desperately needs it, of medical attention. Spare your doctor!

The Consumer Would Pay

A short time ago, one of the large labor unions started an aggressive campaign to organize dairy workers in the Chicago milk shed.

The interest of the consumer in this is obvious. If union leaders manage to organize these workers, the consumer will do the paying—and inflation will get another boost forward.

Farm work is basically different from industrial work. The farm worker gets many tangible benefits besides cash wages—a home, light and water part of his food, a pleasant place for his family to live, etc.

Dairy farmers and all others are already paying record wages—and those wages have offset most of the benefits that have resulted from higher farm prices.

"Next to our kinship to God, the most basic and significant relationships of life are within the home," says Dr. Aaros H. Rapping, rural expert of the Methodist Church.

Believing there will be a demand for new churches and chapels in many newly-organized suburban and industrial communities following the present war, the Northern Baptist Convention has launched an effort to raise funds for a long-term post-war building project.

An initial amount of $250,000 is sought, but this will be increased through the months. It is not expected that any funds will be expended until the war is ended, and then only in communities that have permanently increased populations.

"Every period of mobilization in our nation's life has been a time of wide and effective scripture distribution to enlisted men," says Dr. Francis Carr Stifler of the American Bible Society.

Over two million New Testaments were distributed during the first World War. Today the chaplains of the Army, Navy and Air Forces are sending in their requests and reorders so fast that the presses are working over time and the book are being shipped the day they are bound—the rate of output being nearly 40,000 a week.

"The Eight Ponts of the Atlantic Charter are certainly equally applicable to Africa," according to Canon Anson Phelps Stokes, who as chairman of a special committee of American citizens, including prominent churchmen, has been studying the post-war needs of the African people.

Africa should not be exploited by European or American interests at the expense of the native people. There is still need for outside capital and development, but it must be subject to self-imposed governmental controls to make sure that the major advantage from the commercial development of Africa would go to the Africans.

Africa must hereafter be considered by the outsider primarily as a place of service to the Africans rather than as a field for large financial gains. It would be fair to consider the land as belonging primarily to Africans, and that none should be taken from them which would be essential to

CANADA CREATES A GIANT NEW INDUSTRY

KEEPING pace with the giant strides of progress in Canada's munitions program is the comparatively new industry which overhauls and repairs the wartime aircraft of the Dominion.

The above photograph are shown working on an airplane engine in one of 14 factories in Canada devoted to this work.

Altogether 74 plants are overhauling airframes, airservices, instruments, tires, tubes and every part of fighting and training aircraft. The increased expenditure in this program from $25,000,000 in 1941 to $100,000,000 in 1942 reflects the speed of its growth.

In 1941 Canada had in use 5,000 planes for training and coastal defense, while this year the figure has been doubled. The 5,000 men and women who were employed in repair last year have in 1942 been expanded to 20,000. Government expenditure in capital assistance to repair and overhaul factories is $12,000,000.

BEAUTY AND THE HOIST

Passed by Censor
A slender Canadian girl manipulates the switches controlling a crane that hoists a gun barrel casting weighing a couple of tons. Everywhere in the Canadian munitions industry girls are performing similar tasks releasing men for military service. The 3 1/2 inch anti-aircraft gun for which this barrel is destined is the heaviest ranging from the smallest bullet to the largest bomb, from fuses to tanks, from safety pistols to field guns and depth charge throwers, the list of armaments coming off Canadian production lines reveals a growing diversity of industrial effort.

Betty Crocker KITCHEN CLINIC
COOKING VEGETABLES BY COLOR

Colorful displays of vegetables are in abundance at roadside stands and in all the grocery stores. Greens, yellows, reds, whites—they are truly beautiful. The question is—how can we cook them so that they will come to the table looking as fresh and bright as they do in these displays? Oh, yes you can cook your vegetables so that they will retain their fresh color and crispness. But first let's have a general rule for cooking our vegetables and then see how this rule applies to the different colors.

General Rule for Cooking Vegetables
In general vegetables should be cooked in a small amount of water—1/4 to 1/2 inch deep in the bottom of the pan. They should also be tightly covered while they are cooking. The water should be boiling when the vegetables are added. Then it should be brought quickly back to a boil. But the vegetables should not be boiled rapidly since that causes them to go to pieces. Just boil gently until they are tender but not mushy.

Cooking Green Vegetables
We want our green vegetables to stay green and not become a drab unappetizing gray green. So use a little more water with green vegetables—just barely enough to cover them—and cook them UNCOVERED—so they'll keep their bright green color. You see when these green vegetables are covered during cooking, the acid from them collects in the cooking water instead of going off as steam—and that causes the dull green color. Never use soda—it will make the vegetables mushy and also destroy the vitamins.

Cooking Red Vegetables
Since the red color changes to blue if the water is alkaline, it's best to cook beets in their skins and red cabbage in large pieces—and to have the water acid—by adding a little lemon juice or vinegar. Or by adding tart apples. Follow the general rule for cooking—except for the strong-flavored cabbage. Cook that according to the rule for strong-flavored vegetables below.

Yellow Vegetables
The yellow color of vegetables is not changed by cooking—although prolonged cooking may cause some of it to be dissolved and turn the vegetables slightly brownish.

White Vegetables
With vegetables, except the strong-flavored onions and cauliflower, kohlrabi and white turnips, are cooked covered according to the general rule. Use acid if the water is alkaline—and avoid iron cooking utensils because they will darken the white vegetables.

Strong-flavored Vegetables
These contain sulphur compounds that break down and give an unpleasant flavor and odor if cooked incorrectly. So cook them UNCOVERED in water to cover and cook just until tender. Do NOT cook with acid or too long or at too high a temperature since all these conditions tend to release the unpleasant flavor and odor. Strong-flavored vegetables are—onions, cabbage, cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, rutabagas, turnips and kohlrabi.

Water Left From Cooking Vegetables
This liquid may be simmered down and served with the vegetables—or it may be kept to use in soups, stews, and gravies. It makes delicious vegetable stock and contains valuable minerals and vitamins that should be used if we're to get the full nutritional value of the vegetables.

Cole-Cluck
Opal Cole and Norman Cluck were married Saturday in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Bristow. The double ring service was read by Rev. W. T. Priddy of Haskell.

The bride was attired in a tailored suit of navy alpaca with navy and white accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations. For something old she wore a gold bracelet worn by Mrs. Tom Coghburn at her wedding. For something borrowed she wore a cameo brooch which belongs to her sister Mrs. Arch McGinley. Mrs. McGinley was matron of honor and maid of honor was Mrs. Wallace Gray of Ackerly, sister of the groom. Freddie Pendergrass of Ackerly was best man.

The bride is the foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Bristow and was a graduate of the Rule high school of '39.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cluck of Ackerly formerly of Rule.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Bristow.

After a wedding trip the couple will live near Ackerly.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Norman had as their guests last week end their son Weldon Norman and Mrs. Norman of Chillicothe and daughters, Mrs. Rae Eastland, Mr. Eastland and son Billy of Anson, Mrs. Jess Leggett, Mr. Leggett and his niece Dawn Leggett of Dallas.

Congressman George Mahon of Washington, D. C. visited friends in Rule Friday.

Mrs. Lavelle Pettiet visited friends in Haskell and Throckmorton Sunday.

Weekly Health Letter
By Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer

Austin, Texas—Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has released some interesting information concerning Vincent's angina which was commonly called "trench mouth" during World War I.

Dr. Cox states that Vincent's angina is a specific infection producing inflammatory condition of the mucous membranes, more commonly those of the mouth and the disease is spread by indirect as well as direct contact.

"Because of the readiness with which this disease is transmitted, it has been occasionally found in epidemic form among school children and other groups," Dr. Cox states. "Vincent's angina assumed epidemic proportions in the front line trenches in 1914-1918 and it was during this period that the disease became generally known as trench mouth."

Although trench mouth is now worldwide in distribution, reasonable application of preventive measures which are merely those in line with approved personal health practices will be found a sufficient defense against this infection.

According to the State Health Officer the most common causes of Vincent's angina are neglected mouths, broken teeth fillings, and other types of oral irritation. Daily hygiene, plus the periodic visit to the dentist can be relied upon as reasonable buffers against this infection. However, persons who are very careful regarding oral hygiene can acquire this disease by using infected drinking cups and eating utensils and other personal articles; also by kissing, though healthy gums and mucous membranes have a much superior resistance to the infection than does an unclean mouth.

Does it bother you when iced tea clouds? Then pour cold water over the tea placed in a china or glass container. Store, covered, 12 hours or so in the refrigerator, then ice and serve. Only the appearance is marred in cloudy iced tea, remember, the flavor is just as good as when clear.

ALOOK AT THE BOOK
DR. B. JONES

ROB JONES COLLEGE

God, who is a God of law and order, has set certain conditions upon the fulfillment of which depends His promise to hear and answer our prayers.

First, we must have pure hearts. "If I regard iniquity in my heart, the Lord will not hear me" (Psalm 66:18). This means that the man who continually practices sin and who has in his heart a purpose to commit sin and who clings to sin, has no claim to the ear of God.

Prayer that God promises to answer must come also from an unselfish heart. "Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss, that ye may consume it upon your lusts" (James 4:3). Man has no right to ask God for something simply to use it for the gratification of his own desires or for his own personal satisfaction.

Prayer to be heard must come from a yielded heart, a heart submissive to God's will. "If we ask anything according to His will, He heareth us" (1 John 5:14). A heart thus yielded will certainly be a heart that is pure and a heart that is unselfish. The life in which the will of God is foremost is a life which has no room for impurity and selfishness.

Prayer without faith God nowhere promises to answer. A believing heart is an essential toward meeting the conditions which God places upon our access to Him with our petitions. Jesus said to His disciples, "All things, whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive" (Matthew 21:22).

The Lord Jesus Christ said our prayers should be in His name. "Whatsoever ye shall ask in My name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son" (John 14:13). Only by faith in the Lord Jesus Christ are men saved. Only through His blood are sins washed away, and only in Him do we become children of God. How proper, therefore, that our prayers to our Father should be in the name and for the sake of Him who has made our sonship possible. In Christ's name we may bring our petitions to our Heavenly Father, and "He that spared not His own Son, but delivered Him up for us all, how shall He not with Him also freely give us all things?" (Romans 8:32).

His War Work Identical to '17 Job

These unusual pictures show George Tucker of Detroit doing almost the identical armament job today that he did in World War I. The picture at the left shows Tucker in 1917 at a milling machine in a Fisher Body plant which was engaged in building of warplanes. When this picture was taken Tucker was milling a propeller. At the right is Tucker today—again operating a machine on aircraft.

Fisher plant. The machine at the left was small in comparison with the one Tucker operates today, and all machines were driven off a main-line shaft instead of each having an individual motor as at present. The manager of the plant where Tucker worked in 1917 was A. J. Fisher, who now is director of the Fisher Body Aircraft Section. Fisher, who has been with Fisher since 1915, is married and has Fisher counties, which are part of the Abilene Area for Navy recruiting. A permanent location and time for this visit will be announced later.

Gaston pointed out that all enlistments in the Navy are on a volunteer basis, and that the Navy can enlist men who are registered under selective service until the time of their induction. Age limits for naval service are 17 to 50, and many opportunities await men of all ages who enter the various branches, such as the Naval Reserve, Construction Regiment ("Seabees") and the regular Navy. For further information concerning the Naval Service apply at the post office in Stamford, 9:00 A. M. to 1:00 P. M. on Friday, August 21, or any day at the Navy recruiting station, post office and court house, Abilene.
