Some of our local browse species to look for are elm, hackberry, bumelia, ephedra, sumac, cat claw, condalia, mesquite, juniper and yucca.

Also necessary for good deer condition and numbers is cover. Deer need an avenue of escape, and are very seldom found over 1/4 mile from cover, usually not over 500 feet. And sufficient watering holes are of a necessity. Adult deer will travel out of home territory to water and then return, but fawns usually will stay in cover rather than water.

1974 has been a poor year for range conditions in our locale. Food is scarce and water is low. Be on the lookout for poor body conditions. Look for bucks with big antlers, prime body conditions, early maturity of young animals, productive does and high fawn survival. Don't waste your time bringing in a poor deer.

For more information, contact your local game warden or your soil conservationist. They can give you many good pointers on what to look for in hunting the best animal to bring home.

Rotarians View Morocco Film

The members of the Haskell Rotary Club met T THE City Cafe at Noon, Thursday, October 17th, for their regular luncheon meeting with president Ferrell Coston, presiding.

The program for the day was presented by Rotarian Weldon Norman of the Rule Rotary Club through the efforts of J. B. Gipson of Haskell. Mr. Norman was introduced by Rex Felker in the absence of Rotarian Gibson. He showed a most colorful and entertaining film made on a recent tour of the country of Morocco, showing the latest trends in Agriculture and many other important phases of the small country of only about 50 million people. He informed those present that the small country was presently partially under Spanish, French and English rule and that the Religions were Mohammedian and Moslem and that Christianity was not recognized there. Fifty people from the United States were in the group which made the tour.

In a short business session, tickets for the Rotary Sponsored Spaghetti Supper to be held at the High School Lunchroom in conjunction with the football game on Friday, November 1st, were passed out to members.

The invocation was given by Rotarian Bob Beauchamp and the songs led by Charles Thornhill, with Joan Dean providing accompaniment.

The guests were introduced by E. J. Stewart in the persons of Genia Grand and Melissa Roberson, high school guests and Louise Thornhill, guest of her husband, Rotarian Charles Thornhill.

New Bracero Program

A survey made by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in September reveals that over 55,000 Mexican National "braceros" agriculture workers are needed in the 132-county West Texas area.

Three hundred and seventy-five agriculture loan officers of banks and county agents in West Texas were asked: "If a good, workable bracero program could be worked out between Mexico and the United States, how many braceros do you estimate would be needed in your county?"

A tabulation of the replies from 112 of the 132 West Texas counties indicates a need for 55,854 bracero agriculture workers.

In a letter to President Gerald R. Ford dated October 3, J. Fike Godfrey, executive vice president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, stated that "over a year ago on August 1, 1973, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce formally called for a reinstatement of the bracero program, and at that time, urged the West Texas members of Congress and the two Texas senators to work for the establishment of a workable program."

"The 132 West Texas counties produce approximately 55 percent of Texas agriculture income and using this percentage as a projection for the state, it would seem to indicate that Texas agriculture might be able to use as many as 100,000 bracero agriculture workers."

The survey was made as a direct result of a newspaper wire service story on August 7 from Mexico City quoting the American Embassy's reply to the Mexican Government's request for reinstatement of a bracero-type program. The American position was outlined in a press statement issued by the embassy in reply to the Mexican proposal for an agreement on June 19. The American press statement noted, "very limited numbers of imported workers are needed by the United States... There exists a serious unemployment situation among farm workers in the United States..."

In his letter to President Ford, the WTCC executive vice president stated that "the results of the survey would seem to indicate that the American Embassy in Mexico and people close to agriculture in West Texas hold two widely different views on the availability and need for agriculture workers."

President Luis Echeverria of Mexico has been quoted in a recent newspaper wire service story from Harlingen that "he would like to send as many as 300,000 workers to the United States."

In another wire service story from Mexico, President Echeverria announced in Mexico City that he soon will meet with President Ford at the Mexican-American border to discuss American migrant workers in the United States. "We will discuss the bracero problem," Echeverria said.

"Because of this announced meeting between you and President Echeverria, and the upcoming discussion on the bracero program." Mr. Godfrey wrote, "the West Texas Chamber of Commerce felt the survey results would be helpful to you."

Accompanying the letter were supporting data and material on the actual survey which included a map of the service area of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce; a sample survey form; a tabulation of the returns by Texas counties; and some unsolicited comments returned with the survey.

Elbert Harp, executive director of the Lubbock, Tex.-based national organization, expressed the GSPA position by telegram to President Ford, Treasury Secretary William Simon and Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz.

"We consider export restrictions of grain without similar restrictions on fertilizer, machinery and other essential farming ingredients to be an inconsistent and unfair policy," Harp said, urging that further restrictions of grain exports be halted "unless you impose similar restrictions on other essential farming inputs."

The GSPA executive director added that farming costs are rising as much as 300 percent this year and "restrictions on U. S. sales of grain will break the market and bankrupt producers."

 - 2 tablespoons whiskey or rum for flaming (warmed)
- Halve grapefruit and cut around sections to loosen. Combine brown sugar, butter and 2 teaspoons whiskey or rum, spread grapefruit halves with mixture. Place grapefruit on broiler pan and set about 4 inches below heat in a pre-heated broiler. Broil about 8 minutes until bubbly and starting to brown. Before serving, ignite warmed whiskey or rum and pour flaming over broiled grapefruit halves. Makes 2 servings.

Both the sight and the taste of this treat should prove to be unforgettable!

Those Appalling Leaves

Falling leaves may be romantic in a song but leaves all over the lawn are an entirely different tune. Repeated windfalls of nature's golden wonder mean long hours of back-aching raking but there's a new, low-cost and efficient helper called the "Griffin Leaver" that helps people gather up leaves in 2/3rds less time than they had to spend hand-raking. The method: Rake all the leaves into many small mounds. The surprise: You're picking up at one scoop 2-to-3 bushels of leaves every time, including grass cuttings and twigs. Even if you have a blower on your mower, a Leaver saves extra hours of fuss and bother. This product is sold direct for $4.95 (postage prepaid) by Griffin Products, Inc., P.O. Box 562, Greenwich, Conn. 06830.

The Larger Bank Saves You Money

Nonsense! Any idea that bigness of itself is more efficient, more effective in offering service and less costly to the consumer doesn't prove out.

No larger bank can offer a better product than your local independent bank—the product is the same, money and money management. No larger bank can offer higher rates on savings—rates are determined by Federal law. Interest rates on bank loans are subject to the same overall Federal policies and money market actions. In many instances the local independent can and does offer lower rates.

NEW LOOK

There's a new look on the corners in Rule. If you have not noticed lately, they are the new city street signs which are white letters on a blue background and look very nice. Also, the new telephone directories list all the street addresses.

Work toward the city street signs started about a year ago and with the help of volunteers, Mrs. Bertha McQuinn and Mrs. Nona Norwood, names of streets and numbers were worked out and a new city map drawn. Different civic clubs donated to help with the expense of the signs, plus the cost of pipe to install the signs. They are indeed a welcome addition to the City of Rule.

Gov. Proclaims Safety Week

AUSTIN—Governor Dolph Briscoe today stressed public awareness as a solution to the problem of vehicle-train collisions, proclaiming the week of Oct. 21-26 Texas Railroad Grade Crossing Safety Week.

"Deaths due to collisions between automobiles and trains at railroad grade crossings in Texas decreased some 3 percent in 1973," the proclamation notes. "In the first half of this year, the number of deaths fell by another 2 percent." Briscoe continued, "One way to assure continuing progress in the reduction of deaths and injuries at grade crossings is through public awareness and public cooperation."

Briscoe praised the efforts of the Texas Safety Association's Railroad Transportation Section and the Texas Classroom Teacher's Association in trying to reduce grade crossing accidents. He singled out the TSA-TCTA Railroad Crossing Safety Contest as an example of the kind of public education needed in this area. The two groups are jointly sponsoring a statewide school essay, poster and poetry contest with a grade crossing safety theme. Grand award winner in the contest for 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th grade students will receive $500, and first place winners in each category will receive $250 awards. One result of the contest, it is believed, will be to direct public attention to the seriousness of the railroad grade crossing accident problem and the need to understand and respect traffic safety laws governing grade crossings. In 1973 in Texas 106 persons were killed and 596 were injured in 1,256 vehicle-train accidents.

CONSERVE ENERGY Proper Insulation

Insulation helps to keep OUT heat in the summer and in the winter, helps to reduce outside noise, and keeps inside sounds. Insulation can save over 40% on energy costs. You should have at least 4" in walls and 6" in ceilings. Heating and air conditioning duct-work should be insulated with insulating material. Insulation can pay for itself with the savings from operation in about 1 1/2 years. Your home will be cleaner and insulation will help to keep dust and dirt pollution out.

Seal all windows and doors. If a cold draft indicates leaking heat, install weatherstripping and caulking around the door. It will save on both heating and cooling costs. An invisible 1/4" gap at the base of a standard door is equal to a nine square-inch hole in the floor. There are a number of easy-to-install foam rubber products on the market to draft-proof your home.

Hear Open House At Hood

Ft. Hood will host an Open House for Retired Army personnel, their survivors and dependents on November 2. Invitations to the event have been mailed to more than 17,000 people living in a 179 county area extending from Odessa to Texarkana and from Childress to Galveston.

The purpose of the Open House is two-fold: to provide retirees with the latest information on their rights, benefits and privileges earned through retirement, and to give them the opportunity to renew their interest and prospective of today's Army.

Upon their arrival, the visitors will receive a welcome address by Lt. Gen. Allen M. Burdett, Jr., Commander, III Corps and Ft. Hood.

The morning activities in Theater #1 will consist of a series of guest speaker presentations concerning the rights and privileges of the retirees. Speakers will include representatives of both the Officer and Enlisted Army Chief of Staff's Retiree Council, who will speak about the efforts that these councils are making at department of Army level to improve the Army retirement system.

The afternoon County Fair activities will be held in the Whittington Community Center, where retirees will have the opportunity to talk to professional personnel in retiree areas of interest such as: General Legal Problems, Civil Service Employment, Social Security, Retired Pay Information, ID Renewal or Issuance, Texas Employment Commission, Veterans Benefits-Federal and State, Medical Benefits. Other activities available for the retirees and their dependents include the following: Sightseeing bus tours of Ft. Hood will be offered during the afternoon of the Open House. Tours will originate at the Whittington Community Center.

Two Commissary facilities will be available at Ft. Hood for customer service to the retirees.

The Main Post Exchange and the Four Seasons Store will be open to the retirees and their dependents.

Both the Main Post Nursery and the Branch Nursery will be open for the convenience of the retirees. Both facilities provide nursery service for children ages six months up to 10 years.

Kirchhoff Sets Forth Program

Local industrial development bonds, banked by credit resources of the State of Texas, were proposed today by Mary Kirchhoff of Plainview, candidate for the State Senate's 30th District.

"This would be a solution to the problem of getting new jobs and new industry to locate in the smaller cities and towns throughout Texas. I have been working in rural development since the 1950's, and I know this is the time for a positive step forward."

"The first bill I will introduce as a State Senator in Austin will propose that the state puts its full faith and credit behind a program of industrial development bonds, if a town or a city needs assistance in securing new industry."

The candidate, whose work with the Small Towns Task Force has been used as patterns for rural development, pointed out that smaller communities in Northwest Texas have been at a disadvantage in competing for new industry and new job opportunities.

"The reason has been," Mrs. Kirchhoff stressed, "Because private capital in those towns and cities has not been available in amounts large enough to attract new industry. By way of contrast, in the major metropolitan areas, aggressive industrial development programs have been underway for a long time because they could afford it through gifts of private capital."

This is a problem that can be corrected, the candidate emphasized. "This lack of balance is wrong. Our young people should be able to find jobs at home if they want to remain and work among their families and friends. I believe state government should provide a helping hand wherever it is needed—such as those instances in which a community is unable to find adequate resources of its own to attract industry."

Too many smaller towns and cities are "on the verge of drying up" she said. The population decline has caused a lack of jobs in these areas—and the bigger cities just "keep getting larger and larger."

"Many of these same people who have moved to larger cities would prefer life in a smaller town if they could support themselves there," she said. "I keep hearing this in every county where I have traveled lately. Our people want something done about this problem, and I believe our legislature should respond with a program of positive action."

"We are well past the point where political double-talk is acceptable. I want to get things done. This problem of 'no jobs' and 'no new industry' has hindered us too long already, and I suggest that use of the state's credit in support of local industrial development bonds would be a safe, inexpensive way to get that job done."

"It's time for action."

Metric System

The Metric System is on its way to the United States and Haskell County Home Demonstration Club Members spent the month of October learning about the new system. Home Demonstration Club members in Haskell, Paint Creek, Weinert, and Sagerton attended club meetings where they learned about the metric system.

Let the club members tell you a little bit about what they have learned about the metric system.

When we first heard that the United States was thinking about changing to the metric system we wanted to know why, and just what was wrong with our present system of measurement? Then we learned that practically everybody in the world uses the metric system except us. This means that the United States and the nations it trades with have to go through a lot of trouble to convert to the same measure, and the parts we get from other nations won't fit American-made products. Our present system is just not very accurate. In fact, a lot of people in the United States - doctors, scientists, engineers, photographers, and dietitians - are already using the metric system.

The metric system is also very simple. In our present system we have a lot of different measurements and some are used to measure different things - such as the ounce can measure volume as well as weight. And all these measurements don't have a systematic relationship to each other, like the measurements in the metric system.

The metric system is based on units of ten. All metric measurements have a decimal relationship to each other; this makes it easier for us to multiply and divide. Once we get used to the metric terms, using the metric system will be as easy as counting money.

There are also a lot of metric measures we are already familiar with. We use 35MM film and think nothing of it. The electricity we use is measured in watts and kilowatts. This is the same in the metric system and will not change. Time will still be measured in seconds, minutes and hours and our money will still be counted the same.

There are only a few key words we'll have to learn in order to use the metric system. These words are METER for length, LITER for volume, GRAM for weight and DEGREE CELSIUS for temperature.

At first we may have to convert measures from our customary system to the metric system until we learn these new terms and what they mean. This can be a little confusing, but the more we learn about the metric system the easier it will be to use. We will have to learn to "think metric....not conversion".

"As It Looks from Here"
OMAR BURLESON
Congressman—17th District

WASHINGTON* D. C.

UNLESS PLANS HAVE TO BE CHANGED, beginning tomorrow, October 11, the Congress will be in recess until the 12th of November.

IN MOST PARTS OF THE COUNTRY THE GENERAL ELECTION on November 5 means the real election. Since all House Members and one-third of the U. S. Senators are up for reelection they feel they must get back to campaign and there is little time left for them to be active back home. Those who are being contested are aware that people are restive about many things and that it is not a favorable time for incumbents.

It is a time of "get the rascals out" and catches everyone who is "in". A "LAME DUCK" SESSION IS SCHEDULED TO BEGIN on November 12 and could continue until Christmas but the hope is to adjourn about December 6 until January. There are big issues remaining to be resolved. Some legislation, such as appropriation bills, of which there are fourteen covering major operations of the Government, must be enacted. In other areas there is legislation considered to be a "must" before the expiration of the 93rd Congress. This sometimes becomes a matter of opinion, but whatever can be done to deal with inflation and all things connected with it is a real necessity. No real course of action has yet been decided upon by the Congress or the President, although a myriad of ideas and proposals are kicking around.

Sweetwater Trap Shooter. Neal Crausby, is the 9th man in 75 years of registered trapshooting to record a perfect 100X100 from the maximum yardage, the 27 yd. line. Neal went into the record books at Vandalia, Ohio in August this year at the State Trap Shoot in New Mexico. He plans to attend the Richard T. Adams Handicap at the Haskell Trap Club, Sunday, Oct. 27. Neal got his name on the trophy in 1972. He has to win it three times to take permanent possession of it.

FB Pres. Views Inflation

WACO - (Spl) - Agriculture welcomes the national effort to combat inflation, but cannot shoulder the burden alone, the president of the Texas Farm Bureau said in commenting on President Ford's anti-inflationary program.

J. T. (Red) Woodson said he was surprised that agriculture was singled out for all-out production. He said farmers and ranchers have already done more than their share in reducing inflationary pressures.

"Agriculture's productivity is at least twice that of industry," the farm leader said. "Without this remarkable efficiency, the rate of inflation would have been much higher."

How farmers will respond to the request for all-out production will depend on their opportunity to sell in markets at home and overseas without Government interference, Woodson said.

"We will resist any programs calling for all-out production if it means a return to unprofitable surpluses," he said.

"Already we have a surplus of beef with prices lower than they were a year ago," he said. "Surpluses and high production costs are hurting dairy, poultry and hog producers. And, if we lose part of our export markets to government meddling, we will have grain running out our silos," he added.

"This won't be good for agriculture and it won't be good for consumers," the head of the state's largest farm organization said. "A healthy agriculture economy is the best assurance consumers have for bountiful supplies of food and fiber at reasonable prices."

The farm leader said that while there is no shortage of food in this country, there are many shortages that need to be filled by all-out production. This would reduce inflationary pressure, he added.

Woodson said farmers and ranchers support efforts to hold down government spending.

"Deficit spending by the federal government is the main cause of inflation," he said. "Until the American people tell their Congressmen and Senators to cut down on wasteful spending, we won't make a dent on inflation."

John C. White Asks Cost Cut

AUSTIN—Positive action by all food related industries can help make a turn-around in the cost-price squeeze that is crippling our economy and contributing to inflation today, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said recently.

"I am urging every segment of the food chain to look at all production and slaes methods for ways to cut costs," said White. "Today, there is too wide a gap between what the farmer receives for his products and the prices being paid by consumers at the retail level."

Commissioner White said he was grateful that his two weeks of negotiations with Commissioner White said he was grateful that his two weeks of negotiations with ranchers and dairymen recently had helped prevent mass slaughters of calves in Texas.

An earlier appeal this year by White to national food chains brought about some renewed efforts to generate sales of meat at competitive prices. "All food stores, wholesalers and processors must take a hard look for methods that will reduce expenses and then pass the savings on to the consumers," White declared. "The gap between farm and retail prices is wider than at any time in the past 30 years."

"Transportation charges could be decreased by revision of shipping methods and removal of some inhibiting and costly national legislation," he said. "Also, some unnecessary national regulations on manufacturing and processing could be deleted and help reduce retail prices."

"Farm prices have dropped at least 18 per cent in the past year and are below production costs in many cases. Yet, corresponding drops have not taken place on food costs. The farmers and the consumers both need a fair break in the market place but the whole system is not responding drops have not taken place on food costs."

1974 IS A Democratic Year

But Only If Democrats Go to the Polls in Full Strength Tuesday, November 5

There has never been a time when there was such an urgent need for every Democrat to go to the polls this year. Our country needs the kind of service which only Democrats seem capable of giving.

I am very grateful for the fact that I do not have an opponent in my race for re-election as Representative from the 101st District.

But I hereby solicit the support of every voter in my District. I do this not only for myself but for every nominee of the Democratic Party, from Governor to Congressman, State Senator (from the State House to the Court House) down to and including candidates for district, county and precinct offices.

It's wise to check all furnace flues and pipes - if clogged or obstructed, or not properly insulated from burnable surfaces, they can cause disastrous fires. It pays to have a professional furnace check each fall for sensible fire prevention.

available to the County Library if certain qualifications were met. After some discussion, the Court agreed to look further into the possibility of such membership.

It was noted that all County offices will be closed Monday, Oct. 28, in observance of Veterans Day. Cutting Horse Finals Set Oct. 30 - Nov. 1

AMARILLO, Tx.—The National Cutting Horse Association will hold its 1974 Finals here on Oct. 30, 31 and Nov. 1, at the Tri-State Fairgrounds Coliseum. Gate Admission will be $1.00. According to Zack T. Wood, Jr., NCHA Secretary, the "World Series" of cutting horse events will draw 100 of the finest horses in competition sanctioned by the NCHA and sponsored by the Agribusiness Committee of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce. Rusty Tinnin and Bill Davis Co-Chair the event.

Culminating almost 600 contests throughout the past year, the Finals will name the World Champion Cutting Horse, Cutting Horse Stallion, Mare and Gelding and the World Champion non-professional riders.

Based on added money and total pay out (some $905,000 in 1973) the show is the largest of the year for the aristocrats of working horses which follow tradition born on cattle ranches decades ago. Only $1,000 separates the top 4 contenders for 1974.

Cutting horses are highly trained animals (mostly Quarter Horses but also include Arabians, Morgans, Paints and Thoroughbreds) who separate a given animal from a herd and prevent its return to the group. The contest, performed on a ranch or in an arena, pits horse and rider against 15 to 20 head of cattle with a success time limit of two and a half minutes. Working without rider assistance, the horse obtains the desired challenge from one head of stock and after a "halt" signal from the rider, re-enters the herd to "work" another animal.

Previously held in Las Vegas, Reno, Munster (TX) and Jackson (Miss.), the Finals are a new attraction to the Amarillo area. The Agribusiness Committee of the Chamber expects strong local support.

Beef Crisis Aid Sought

FORT WORTH, Texas — Combatting the beef cattle crisis in the face of a world-wide over-supply of beef has climaxed with upcoming conferences between Hilmar G. Moore, president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Assn., and Secretary of the Treasurer William E. Simon in Washington and with Vice President Designate Nelson A. Rockefeller in New York.

Many similar meetings with government and industry leaders for many months on beef import quotas, farm-retail price spreads, inflationary trends, feed grain exports, land use, taxes and interest rates have occupied the officers of the TSCRA in efforts to alleviate the bind that cattlemen are now caught in, Moore said. "The federal government has certainly done nothing to help us with higher taxes, energy shortage, reduced supplies of fertilizer at drastically higher prices, high interest rates, and many other actions which have caused our costs to soar, especially on labor, equipment and transportation," he added.

Moore was not optimistic on curtailing meat imports. There is no way we can absorb the total world over-supply of beef and no reason why we should. However, in spite of several meetings by TSCRA and allied cattle industry groups with Secretary Butz and other USDA officials, as well as with various members of Congress, on this problem, there seems to be no inclination on their part to reimpose the import quota restrictions," he stated.

Referring to his forthcoming meetings with Simon and Rockefeller, Moore said he will "brief them on the condition of our industry. I fully intend to present all the facts on our behalf and hope to influence their future decisions."

Peachtree Pest Is Problem

One of the most destructive peach pests is the peachtree borer. The larval stage damages the peach tree by burrowing the trunk of the tree near the ground line. Infested trees decline in vigor and may die as a result of the damage inflicted by peachtree borer larvae. Now is the time to protect your peach trees from the peachtree borer damage.

The best way to determine if a peach tree is infested by these borers is to inspect the trunk of the tree at the soil

"There's nothing I can do. I'm just one person."

Do you really think God is going to let you get away with that?

If you feel one person is too insignificant to help make the world a better place, then work together with others at your local church or synagogue. Example: in Montana, one congregation was disturbed by the lack of adequate housing for senior citizens in the area. Through its perseverance, a non-profit building with 111 homes is now a reality. There are lots of things you can do, too. The God we worship expects more from us than sympathy and good intentions.
