Cotton Council Issues Warning Of Fire Dangers

Pointing out that fire losses last season amounted to about $1.25 for every bale of cotton produced, the National Cotton Council has initiated an educational campaign aimed at prevention of cotton fires during the current crop year.

To be effective, fire prevention must begin on the cotton farm and continue throughout every process to be finished cotton product, Claude L. Welch, the Council's production and marketing director, declared.

"Cotton farmers and those harvesting cotton have an important part in the fire prevention program, since rocks, metals, and matches often get into seed cotton when it is being harvested. These materials cause sparks when they hit metal parts in the ginning process. Lint is thus ignited. The smoldering cotton may not be discovered when it enters the gin press box and thus may be packed deep inside the bale. Such 'fire-packed' bales were believed responsible for 84 per cent of all fires occurring last season in compresses and warehouses.

"Strict enforcement of the 'no smoking' rule, properly adjusted machinery, safe wiring, isolation of 'fire-packed' bales, proper maintenance of fire fighting equipment, keeping premises free of trash, and safe storage of combustible materials are measures that will help prevent fires around gins, compresses, and warehouses, Mr. Welch emphasized.

MAKE BUSINESS TRIP TO COLORADO

Merle Ivy and M. B. Cobb made a business trip to Colorado the first of the week.

Incorporating Ford Motor Company's new automatic transmission—the Merc-O-Matic—as optional equipment, the 1951 Mercury features many significant styling and engineering changes. Combining a torque converter and a three-speed transmission, the Merc-O-Matic provides a high degree of flexibility, smooth acceleration and pleasant high gear performance. A new grille and front end trim, new rear fenders and quarter panels, new bumpers and an extra-large rear window are the principal exterior changes. Improvements to the V-8 Mercury engine give it added smoothness, quietness and an increase in horsepower to 112 hp. Entirely new exterior colors are featured. Shown here is the six-passenger coupe.

1951 Mercury, Featuring Merc-O-Matic Transmission On Display Here

Bill Wilson Motor Company of this city, and Lincoln-Mercury dealers throughout the nation this week are displaying the new 1951 Mercury in their showrooms and are showing for the first time the automobile industry's newest automatic transmission—the Merc-O-Matic.

Combining a torque converter and a three-speed transmission, the Merc-O-Matic provides the equivalent of a four speed unit. It has a high degree of flexibility, smooth acceleration, improved high gear performance, and a low axle ratio with resulting lower engine speed while cruising.

Many styling and functional changes have been made in the 1951 Mercury. A new grille and front end trim, new rear end fenders and quarter panels, new bumpers and an extra-large window are the principal exterior changes.

The new 1951 Mercury grille has wider bars and a more massive appearance. The bumper has been extended to provide wrap-around protection all the way to the wheel house, and is complemented by an extension to the new grille parking lamp. A new head lamp bezel and a new name plate, placed on a chrome strip just above the grille, complete the new front end.

Even more pronounced are the new rear fenders which have been changed completely, extending in a bold sweep to the extreme end of the car. Large combination tail light and directional signals, outlined in chrome, are other changes in the 1951 model.

A huge rear picture window, 29 per cent larger than in previous models, gives added vision, with over 1,000 square inches of unobstructed glass.

The new wrap-around bumper follows the contours of the fenders and blends into a bright chrome rear quarter panel trim. A new deck lid handle and smart hub caps featuring the Mercury name and insignia, are attractive changes to the 1951 Mercury.

New designs in body hardware, trim scheme, upholstery and steering are styling changes which complement the beauty of the exterior.

Several improvements to the Mercury engine have resulted in an increase in power, giving it a rating of 112 hp. Among the engine refinements are a more accurately balanced crankshaft, selective fit of all main bearings, and a new camshaft which incorporates a new triple ramp on the exhaust cam and a longer quitting ramp on the intake.

New exterior colors and color combination are featured on the 1951 Mercury. They are, in addition to black: Banning blue metallic, Everglade green, Luxor maroon metallic, Kerry blue metallic, Mission gray, Coventry green-gray, Tomah ivory and Sheffield green. Vashar yellow is exclusive for the convertible. A selection of nine two-tone combinations also is available.

Body style on the 1951 Mercury are: six-passenger coupe, four-door sport sedan, convertible, station wagon and the customized six-passenger Monterey coupe.

Planning Important For Farm Home

Designing an ideal small farmhouse is not simply the process of taking the plans for a large house and reducing the measurements of the different rooms that are neither convenient nor comfortable.

In the designing of any small home, the first aim should be to plan the different rooms so they may be used for as many purposes as is necessary, says W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer-buildings of Texas A.&M. College. Careful planning of space and equipment will allow the rooms to be used for more than one activity, yet provide the space and privacy that every home needs.

Although low-cost housing can not afford the luxury of single-use areas such as dining and guest rooms, Allen says that the small house may be so designed that additional units can be "built on"

as the family grows and the farm income allows construction. Hall space is kept at a minimum in a properly planned small home, and traffic is routed around, rather than through, the living and sleeping quarters. Allen recommends planning space to the number of people in the house. News that is vital to you found in the want ads.

Buy Suits With Purpose, Is Advised To Men

Although a man may be very critical of the material, the color, and the style when he is buying a suit, too often, he does not consider the suit from the standpoint of it being an addition to the rest of his wardrobe.

Regardless of what clothing a man is purchasing, Mary Routh, clothing specialist for Texas A. & M. College suggests that he select each item with the idea of building a wardrobe that is right for his build, his coloring, his type, and his needs.

She recommends that the tall man or very thin man look for suits with horizontal lines and avoid the vertical stripes which emphasize his thinness. He may obtain an impression of more bulk by selecting a suit made of a textured or heavy woolen material.

However, vertical stripes are very suitable for the short or stout man, giving him a slimming effect. He also looks thinner and taller in smooth-surface woollens and worsteds.

When a man is selecting shirts and ties for wear with a suit, Miss Routh recommends that he select solid fabrics with patterned fabrics. A solid shade suit is given more life by wearing a patterned tie or shirt, and a suit with a bold pattern looks best with a plain or less brightly patterned tie and shirt.

If the colors of the suit, shirt, and tie are closely blended too often, they grow monotonous, Miss Routh warns. She points out that the color of the tie may either contrast with or harmonize with the shades in the shirt or suit.

She cautions the man with a neutral coloring or pale complexion against purchasing suits with shades and colors that overshadow him. He looks best in medium shades like suntan and slate blue.

However, a man with stronger coloring (a suntanned complexion and hair of a definite color as dark brown, black or very blonde) can wear the stronger, deeper or very light colors.

Miss Routh points out that suit jackets should fit snug and low around a man's collar. Plenty of room across the shoulders and under the arms is desirable in a jacket for ease of movement. Neither trousers nor jacket should ever fit tightly. She reminds that the loose fit of a jacket disguises the bulk of a large man and hides the slowness of the man who is too thin.

Ruth Bible Class Has Meeting and Social

The Ruth Bible Class of the First Baptist Church met Monday night, Oct. 23 in the Sunday School annex auditorium for their regular business meeting and social.

The meeting opened with Mrs. Bill Reeves offering a prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read and reports given by the second vice president, Ruth Curry, and secretary-treasurer, Doris Reeves on cards sent and on finance, attendance and new members. We have seven new members.

They are, Mary Watson, Mary Martin, Wilma Adkins, Billie Cadenhead, Opal Gilliam, Gerry Spain and Edith Wheatley. Any class member who can spare some time, please get in touch with one of the committee members.

The name of the program was "The Jak-o-Lantern Jamboree." It opened with a special theme song, "The Ruth Class Jamboree," written by Edith Wheatley and sung by the class.

The first group of contestants were required to identify Biblical characters by jingles made from verses in the Bible. The next group had to find in scriptures five objects shown and described by the quizmistress. The next group were given true and false questions about the Bible. The following group were required to identify Biblical persons associated with certain places and things. Next group supplied the missing word in scripture readings. Next group identified Biblical places as associated with persons and at definite times. The class then named consecutively all the books in the Old Testament.

Each contestant was awarded a Halloween prize. The program signed off the air with a wonderful "advertisement" on Christian Fellowship, by Dale Bledsoe.

The room attractively decorated in orange and black colors with Jack-o-Lanterns on the tables.

Lovely refreshments of glazed doughnuts, assorted fancy sweet rolls, Halloween candies and coffee were served.

Point is—your Buick will feel a lot friskier in the trying days to come if you let your Buick dealer get those summer kinks out of its system now! Just drive in—say you want (1) a fall tune-up and (2) regular Lubricants—and see how much rewarded you are, for a small fee!

Speaker at Study Club Meeting

At the regular meeting of the Progressive Study Club Thursday night, Oct. 19 Dr. Wm. O.
Beazley of Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, presented his second in a series of six lectures on the "Psychology of Child Behavior." As a basis for these lectures Dr. Beazley is issuing the book, New Ways in Discipline.

Hurt, anger and fear are the three things that most frequently upset the emotions of a child. A hurt, angry or fearful child whose feelings are not expressed but suppressed may develop into a discipline problem. Parents should endeavor to help a child express his feelings, but should curb his actions. A child must not be allowed to hurt himself or others nor to destroy property.

Following Dr. Beazley's lecture was a general discussion by the group.

During the business meeting, presided over by Mrs. R. W. Herren, the club voted to undertake as a welfare project, collecting and distributing used clothing for needy children in Haskell. Mrs.

Soil District Buys
Grass Seeding Drills

District Supervisors of the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District have recently purchased two new grass seeding drills. This makes a total of three of these drills owned by the district. One drill sows seed on a 12 inch spacing or in 36 inch rows, the other two drills sow on a 10 inch spacing or in 40 inch rows. These drills are now available to district cooperators for fall sowing of grass and will be available next spring for grass seeding when an estimated 800 acres will be planted by cooperators as part of their conservation plan.

The district also owns 4 grain-fertilizer drills. Technicians of the Soil Conservation Service have assisted the following district cooperators using these drills in planting winter cover crops as a part of their plan:

Rye and vetch, Jeff Graham,
George Wall.

Rye vetch and alfalfa, Buford Gholson, League Ranch; Anzil Waldrup.

Alfalfa, J. C. Saunders, R. B.
Howell, Sam Clonts, Dr. Beavers, Dennis Williams and Delma Williams.

Hughes, Tom Westbrook, Bill
Taylor, O. A. Green, Henry Fel-lowell, Ernest Michaels, M. C.
Webb, Pete Albus, John Albus, Big 4 Ranch.

Alfalfa and peas, Roy Smith,
S. D. Jones, George Stubbs, F.
L. Chambers, Alton Jones, Skeet
Carpenter.

To date this acreage totals
1,391 acres which will have a cover on the ground to prevent washing and blowing of soil during the winter and spring months.
When turned under next spring,
these crops will add much needed organic matter to the soil.

More Physical Work In 1950, Use of Work Clothing Shows

More men are doing hard physical labor this year than in 1949 if the increase use of cotton work clothes is an indication, the National Cotton Council reports.

Approximately 114,000 bales of cotton were used in men's overalls, dungarees, and work pants during the first four months of 1950, representing an increase of 24,000 bales over the same period of the preceding year, the Council notes.

Estimated cotton consumption in each of the items during the period this year was: overalls, 26,000 bales; dungarees, 24,000 bales; and work pants 64,000 bales.

Commenting on the use of cotton in work clothes, a National Cotton Council official noted that work clothing has undergone tremendous changes as the standards of living has risen swiftly in the past few years. No longer dogmatic, cast-off clothing and hard work go hand-in-hand. Today with a wide array of well-styled, carefully sewn and tailored cotton work garments that are both functional and attractive, the American workman is the best dressed worker in the world.

The work clothes of today are durable, washable garments that are designed to boost both morale and production. So attractive have work clothes become that such staple items as chambrays and tight fitting cowboy-type denim dungarees have been borrowed by fashionable sports enthusiasts, school children, and amateur gardeners.

Industrial workers and farmers in World War II learned that the right kinds of work clothing are as important as the right kinds of tools. The Cotton Council spokesman said. He added that efficiency engineers and farm managers have discovered that absenteeism and loss of energy on the job frequently are due to improper work clothing. They found that absenteeism could be cut and efficiency improved by such personal habits of cleanliness as frequent changes of cotton work clothing, fresh cotton socks, underwear, handkerchief and clean towels each day. The efficiency engineers discovered that clean clothes and a clean body are the workman's best protection against fatigue, occupational diseases, and nervous tension.

Work clothing designed to suit the job to be done results in increased efficiency. Nearly all types of work clothes today are made of cotton fabrics because cotton washes well, is color fast, absorbs perspiration, is shrink resistant, and can be well styled. The Cotton Council representative pointed out.

Colds Take Heavy Economic Toll In U. S. Yearly

Mr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, estimates that there are 500 million colds a year in the U. S. A. and they take an economic toll of two million dollars. This does not take into consideration the inconvenience suffered, or the fact that following or during a cold, other serious illness such as pneumonia, tuberculosis or mastoiditis gain a foothold. And the common cold is only one of the many winter enemies that encounters everyone from the crib to the coffin; some of the others are influenza, bronchitis, ear infections, sinusitis, and pneumonia. These are all respiratory diseases and they are caused by many different germs. Some of these germs are called bacteria, and some are called viruses.

Just because you have a cold is no reason you won't catch another. Two out of three people have three colds a year, and two out of eight people four colds a year. Wet feet, drafts, chilling, exposure to bad weather, etc., do not cause your cold but they do weaken the body's resistance to a cold. So we say that there are favorable conditions for germs, one is the strength and number of germs, and the other is body resistance which includes undernourishment, fatigue, irritation of the nose and throat by air borne substances, or chilling of the body.

The best way to avoid catching cold is to:

1. Avoid people with colds as much as possible.
2. Beware of fatigue, avoid overwork, get plenty of rest, exercise moderately out-of-doors.
3. Keep warm and dry.
4. Keep out of drafts.
5. Eat a well balanced diet.

Rochester Schools Closed This Week

In order to alleviate the labor shortage and permit transient school-age children to help in gathering the cotton crop, the Rochester schools have been closed this week. In a cooperative move, Rule school authorities have announced that their Negro school (where Rochester colored children attend) is also closed this week.

No Sessions for School OK Cotton Producing Areas

The Department of Labor gave qualified approval to operating two sessions of school in cotton producing areas. A student can engage in school work during the normal school session of school. The second session of school will be acceptable if held during the normal school session, roughly between the 7 a. m. and 3 p. m. J. Rogers, of Dallas, director of the department of labor, said that the proposal was that children might be employed during the day and attend school in the evening. Rogers ruled out the possibility of a day open for other activities within local school districts.

PORT ARTHUR, TEX.—A fitting symbol of fire prevention, this 200 ft. refinery flare burns up fire hazards before they start. Far from wasting gas—as often wrongly supposed—it actually is a safety valve. During emergencies it consumes excess gases before they can build up into explosive concentrations; stands 24-hour guard to burn off possibly dangerous fumes. This unusual view of night light at the Gulf Oil refinery here was taken in a 10-second exposure at F.11 with fast panchromatic film.

The farm crop moves into interstate commerce as a component of an industry which finds its way to market under terms of the law, enacted by Congress in 1949, makes it unlawful for anyone under 16 to be employed in agriculture, when the district in which the child is in session—when the child goes directly or indirectly to interstate commerce.

Interpretation of the phrase "in session" led to a statement of policy issued by the department.

The law said that to avoid the possibility of the law some districts have dismissed school for the duration of the normal school session. Others have proposed that juveniles of school age work part of the day.

New Credit Controls Work Hardship On Public, Automobile Dealers Declare

New credit controls, imposed last week (week ending Oct. 21) by the federal government, will work an undue hardship on the general public and allow only the "extremely wealthy" to buy post-war automobiles, a study made by the Texas Association of Automobile Finance Companies showed this week.

The new controls on cars call for one-third down payment and 15 months to pay the balance. Charles F. Bacon of Abilene, association president, said these stringent requirements prevent a family of average means from buying a late model automobile. He said the new regulations make the monthly payments so high that they are unable to fit a car payment into the family budget.

Bacon said it was the consensus among automobile finance men and new and used dealers in Texas that the new regulations should be repealed.

He charged that the government imposed the new restrictions without considering the effects of an earlier credit control order. It was pointed out that in September the Federal Reserve Board ordered one-third down payments and 21 months to purchase an automobile on credit. The purpose of this order was to decrease credit buying of automobiles by one-fourth.

Bacon said this order resulted in a decline of from 30 per cent to 65 per cent in automobile buying on credit, well above the goal set by the government. Thus, he said, the order of last week was unnecessary and should be rescinded.

Unless the new order is repealed, one-fourth of the Texas car dealers and a good portion of the automobile finance companies and other businesses allied with the automobile industry will have to shut their doors, Bacon declared.

Texas Land Prices Gain Steadily

Record high prices for Texas farm and ranch land existed at the end of 1949, and land prices continue to rise, according to a report prepared by John H. Southern and Joe R. McQuarrie. It was a cooperative study carried on by the USDA Bureau of Agricultural Economics and the Texas Agriculture Experiment Station. During 1949, Texas land prices increased an average of about 7 1/2 per cent or from an average of $41.38 to $44.44 per acre. This increase is in contrast to the slight decrease which occurred in 1948. Last year marks the third straight year that land prices have stayed at a record high level, far above the high prices which existed in 1926.

Although the price increased in 1949, the number of acres sold was 25 per cent less than was sold in 1948. The average size of the tracts of land sold was smaller than had been in the case for several years, and the number of sales dropped 11 per cent.

The rise in prices occurred in 12 of the 18 type-of-farming areas in Texas, the largest increase being for wheat farming land of the High Plains. The average price of land in this area jumped from $32.01 per acre to $50.00, an increase of 56 per cent. Very large increases are occurring in the grazing area of the High Plains and in the Trans-Pecos and the Lower Rio Grande Valley areas.

The average price of land was 18.7 per cent lower in the High Plains cotton area and in the rolling plains area than during 1948. And a drop of 15.2 per cent occurred during 1949 in the Grand Prairie. A considerable drop also occurred in the number of sales and the number of acres sold in these three areas, the acreage changing hands varying from one-fifth to one-third less than in 1948.

Southern and Motheral attribute the rising prices of farm and ranch land in 1949 to the continued high prices paid for agricultural products resulting from the increasingly high incomes in non-agricultural industries and government support of agricultural prices.

The only season of the year that grubs can be controlled is from September to December or the season when the grubs are emerging from the backs of infested animals. Rotenone is the only insecticide that will control the parasite.

Cattle grubs each year cost the beef cattle producers and dairymen of Texas an estimated $20 million. These grubs cause damage to the hides of infested cattle; cause huge quantities of meat to be wasted from trimming off damaged and infested animals; don't produce maximum amounts of meat or milk from the feed they consume.

Overloading Is Destructive Threat To Highways

More and more Texans are becoming aroused over a problem which is national in scope, and which is of great importance to every motor vehicle operator and taxpayer.

This is the ruthless destruction and damage being done to our highways, by a minority of the truck operators. According to reliable sources, about one out of every four interstate hauler is guilty of overloading.

It doesn't require an engineering degree to see that the surest way to damage a highway is to pound it to pieces with heavily loaded trucks.

There are laws regulating traffic loads, but the problem is one of enforcement. Texas, like most other states, has a pitifully small number of highway patrolmen.

Weight checking is done to a limited degree, but the truckers gang up to warn their buddies when a check point has been set up, and most of the guillies ones are able to escape detection.

There is evidence that unless something is done to cure this abuse, we in Texas will be faced with a terrific cost of rebuilding our major highways within the next few years.

DANGER OF FIRE IS EVER-PRESENT THREAT TO NATION'S HOMES

There is one chance in a hundred that there will be a fire in your home this year.

That is the warning given by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, which has just issued a new booklet that takes home owners on a tour of their homes in search of fire hazards.

Issued to help Americans cut down their yearly total of 400,000 home fires, the booklet is titled "The Fire Safe Home." It supersedes another booklet of the same title, more than 2,000,000 copies of which were distributed.

"It doesn't take a detective to discover a fire hazard," the new booklet points out, and then reviews the hazards to be found in each room of the home. In each case, advice is given on methods of removing the hazard.

Copies may be obtained free from the National Board of Fire Underwriters, New York City.

Seeing is believing why no range is cooler than a modern gas range

YOU know it takes heat to cook. No hokus-fokus or cock-eyed claims can change that. However, a modern gas range will keep your kitchen as cool as you can reasonably expect.

A low simmer flame, a little larger than a thimble, cooks vegetables in a covered saucepan. For any task, you can adjust a modern gas range for the lowest possible heat. You have dozens of heats to choose from, not just 5 or 7. Moreover, burners shut off instantly; no lingering heat pours into your kitchen.

If your range has its best days behind it, now is a good time to buy. But be clear-eyed, keen-eyed. Get a range with a record of proven performance; a range that will be repair-free. Get the range that's used by 96 out of 100 women in this area. Get a modern gas range.

Lyndon Johnson Urges Hike In Cotton Exports

The cotton export quota should be raised by several hundred thousand bales, Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas told the Department of Agriculture at Washington this week.

Senator Johnson acted after the Munitions Board advised him that 700,000 bales should be enough to take care of military needs during fiscal 1951.

The Department of Agriculture had set up 1,500,000 bales for military use, an estimate which Senator Johnson called "guesswork" which resulted from the failure of the Munitions Board to state its needs.

It was prodding by Senator Johnson, who is chairman of the Senate Preparedness Committee, that brought the 700,000 bale estimate from Rescoe Seybold, acting chairman of the Munitions Board.

Senator Johnson immediately called on Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan to raise the export quota considerably above the present figure of 2,000,000 bales.

"While everybody wants to see that we have plenty of cotton on hand for military and domestic needs," Senator Johnson said, "we must also see that the cotton farmers are not put at the mercy of speculators by the hoarding of cotton which is not needed for this nation's requirements."

Ranger Infantry Units Planned

Organization of Ranger Infantry Companies, planned to be integral in Army Infantry Divisions, was announced today by the Department of the Army.

These hard-hitting and highly mobile units will be available to division commanders for special missions of the general types performed by their predecessors in World War II.

A Ranger Training Section has been established at The Infantry School, Fort Benning, Georgia, to develop, test and conduct the organization, equipment, doctrine, tactics, technique and training of these units.

Initially, four Ranger companies, each of five officers and 110 men, will be formed. Each company will be organized into three platoons of three 10-man squads each. Every Ranger will be equipped with a light automatic rifle and each squad will have either a 60-mm mortar or a bazooka. Each man will carry two rounds on his person for these weapons, in addition to his automatic rifle ammunition and certain demolition equipment.

Ranger Companies will be composed entirely of volunteers. Men will be selected for the first units on the basis of high mental and physical standards. All will be qualified as parachutists. Training will stress the use of foreign weapons and maps, demolitions and sabotage, guerilla warfare, amphibious and airborne operations and close combat.

Present plans contemplate assignment of one Ranger company to each Infantry division.

The decision to organize units of this type resulted from World War II experience accentuated by combat lessons learned in the fighting in Korea, where enemy forces made highly successful use of small groups trained, armed and equipped for the specific purpose of infiltrating United Nations lines.

The Army made effective use of Ranger units in World War II, with Ranger battalions seeing action in North Africa, Sicily, Italy, Europe, New Guinea and the Philippines.

Ranger companies now being organized will be authorized to wear the shoulder insignia and otherwise continue the traditions of the Ranger outfits of World War II.

Prices for Texas farm and ranch lands were at record high at the end of 1949 and were still rising. The number of acres sold was 25 percent less than for 1948 and the average size of the tracts sold was smaller than has been the case for several years. The number of sales dropped 11 percent.

In Business Here Since 1933

Hassen's store was first opened for business here in 1933 by S. Hassen, the present owner, when Haskell was selected as location for a new store by Mr. Hassen and his brother, A. Hassen, who were associated at that time in stores in Sulphur, Oklahoma, and several other towns in that area. Before coming to the new Haskell store, Mr. Hassen had been engaged in the dry goods business since 1910, at Sulphur, Okla.

The first store in Haskell was located in the Barnes Building on the east side of the square. Five years later, in 1938, the store was moved to its present site in the I. O. O. F. Building when larger quarters became necessary.

New Automatic Transmission Introduced On 1951 Mercury Models

The newest automatic transmission in the automobile industry has been publicly introduced on the 1951 Mercury.

Known as the Merc-O-Matic, the new device is the result of more than four years intensive development by engineers of the Ford Motor Company and Borg-Warner Corporation.

The Merc-O-Matic is a combination of a hydraulic torque converter and planetary gearing giving the equivalent of four-speed unit and resulting in an unusually smooth performance in all gears.

Combining a low axle ratio (3.31 to 1) with the high efficiency of the Mercury 112 hp V-8 engine, performance in automatic range, utilizing the two top ratios of the three-speed gear box, is more than adequate for all but a few extreme grades in scattered sections of the country; for these a manually selected low range has been provided.

The Merc-O-Matic employs the simplest form of hydraulic torque converter having three basic elements. It has a stall torque 100 percent greater than that of a compound gear set providing a low ratio of 2.44 to 1, and intermediate ratio of 1.48 to 1, and direct drive. Two clutches and two bands, hydraulically operated, control the ratio changes.

Operated by a selector lever and dial which is illuminated at night, the new transmission has five positions—parking, reverse, neutral, drive and low. The arrangement is in a natural sequence that eliminates the necessity of forcing through a gear that is not needed to reach the desired one.

For all ordinary driving, the fully automatic or "high gear" consists of the converter, intermediate and high gear. All starts are made in intermediate gear and the shift into direct drive occurs between 17 miles per hour, with light throttle, up to 64 miles per hour, under full throttle conditions. Low gear is available for extremely heavy pulling and for the more severe down-hill braking requirements.

Several chassis and engine changes have been made to provide for the new transmission. One of these divorces the choke from the carburetor by mounting it on the intake manifold. Through this arrangement, the choke operation is dependent on engine temperature rather than air temperature, thus eliminating the possibility of the carburetor coming back on to high idle with a warm engine.

The clutch pedal is eliminated and a wider brake pedal used.

The Merc-O-Matic uses a total of 24 aluminum die castings, 3 of which are major parts weighing approximately 15 pounds. A novel feature is the construction of the torque converter which utilizes a die cast impeller cover into which are recessed stamped steel blades. The stator is of die cast construction. The third element, the turbine, is of full sheet metal construction. No welding or copper brazing is used to secure blades to the main shell stampings or casting. Instead they are securely held in place by tabs which are rolled in assembly.

Accurate cooling of the transmission under all operating conditions is accomplished by circulation of air through the housing enclosing the torque converter. Fins on the outer surface of the aluminum converter shell induce air circulation and provide additional surface area of the aluminum air circulation and provide additional surface transfer of heat to the air stream. This means of cooling is simple, effective and does not place an additional load on the engine cooling system.

Abilene Sportswriter Praises Davis and Ammonett as Stars of the Week

Praise for two outstanding players on the HHS Indian squad, Eldon Ammonett and Billy Davis, for their performance in Friday night's game with Big Spring, was expressed by A. C. Greene, sportswriter on the staff of the Abilene Reporter-News in an article in that newspaper Sunday. He wrote: "High-scoring backs showed the Class A world in West Texas the way down the Star of the Week trail.

"One of the biggest jobs turned in by a Class A team over the Friday fighting was Haskell's 32-26 rout of Class AA Big Spring.

"Two backs and two linemen were the stars of that contest. Billy Davis, who has led the Indian attack all year, opened the Haskell scoring in the first period when he intercepted a pass on the Big Spring 22 and went the distance.

"Davis scored again in the third when he grabbed a kickoff on his own 15 and wove a trail of dismay through the entire Big Spring secondary for his second TD.

"He went over from the five in the fourth to score his final six points.

"Ernest Strain and Royce Mullins, Haskell tackles, stood out on the defense. They stopped everything Big Spring sent their way, plus breaking up two punt plays.

"Teammate to Davis—Eldon Ammonett did the workhorse chores for the Indians. He was the big gun on the ground from midfield—and got two touchdowns of his own.

"In the third he crashed right through the line to go 55-yards ajourning for six. Then late in the fourth, he found the decisive score when he intercepted a Steer pass on their 25, and pulling almost every member of the Big Spring backfield with him, crawled over."

Put pep in the pocket-book by putting profitable want ads on the job.

Texas Homes Show Gain In Use of Gas As Fuel

A record increase in the use of gas as a fuel by home owners in Texas was disclosed in a survey of the nations utility companies released today.

While government census figures this year indicate a 17.1 percent increase for Texas of 19.7 percent over 1940, an official of a leading gas appliance and equipment manufacturer, pointed out that during the same period the number of gas users in the state rose from 652,000 in '40 to 1,081,300 in '50, or an increase of 65.7 percent.

The nation as a whole showed a 57.1 percent increase in the number of gas customers, he added.

He noted that central gas heating installations in the nation had increased 163 percent in the last ten years, rising from 1,187,000 in 1940 to 3,119,000 today.

Ten years ago he said gas was used in only 30 percent of the nations automatic home furnaces. Oil then accounted for a fraction under 54 percent and stokers, 16 percent.

The continuing expansion of the country's natural gas pipeline system, which now totals 282,000 miles, or 50,000 miles more than the nations total rail mileage, will result in an even sharper increase in the trend toward the use of gas in homes, he predicted.

Texas Research Men Develop New Foods From Cottonseed

Two new food products have been developed from cottonseed through chemurgic research studies of the Texas Engineering Experiment Station and the Cotton Research Committee of Texas. A roasted nut made of French fried cottonseed kernels and a tasty sauce for flavoring soups and vegetable dishes. Through experiments with the products to date are only preliminary indications as to the products have commercial possibilities.

The roasted cottonseed nut used in peanut brittle and fudge prepared by researchers, Dr. Bryant S. Holland and Dr. W. W. Meinke, was judged satisfactory on freshness of taste shortly after preparation. Objective of the research with the roasted nut is to develop a basic application with many avenues of use including candy making and pastry baking. Follow-up research will deal with storage qualities of products made with the cottonseed nuts.

The cottonseed sauce, called "soy" sauce is similar to the old soy sauce of China. Chinese families make use of the sauce with virtually every meal to flavor soups and mixed vegetable dishes such as American families sprinkle salt and pepper on foods. The cottonseed sauce produced by the station is made up of hull-free cottonseed kernels and parched wheat, in a five to two ratio. The cottonseed and parched wheat are put through a complicated fermentation process resulting in the tempting sauce.

Research on these products is being conducted under the chemurgic experimentation program to develop new food uses for cottonseed. Dr. Holland is research Laboratory, and Dr. Meinke is associate research chemist.

Cattle Grubs Cause Huge Loss to Texas Cattlemen Yearly

The damage caused by cattle grubs each year in Texas exceeds $20 million. Beef cattle producers and dairymen can do something about these losses and this is the time of the year when control measures must be used. According to J. D. Deer, assistant extension entomologist of the Texas A. & M. College, the cattle grub has a rather complicated life cycle. The heel fly which is the adult of the cattle grub emerges in the early spring. They lay eggs on the hair about the dew claws of cattle. The eggs hatch in a short time and the young grubs enter the skin then tunnel through the connective tissues of the animal's body until they reach the gullet of the animal. After spending some time in the gullet, the grubs move again through the animal tissues up to the back of the animal and here they cut a hole through the skin and form a cyst.

The grubs move into the back of the animal late in the fall, from September to December and after about 30 days, completes its development. The grub enters the ground where it undergoes the change from a grub to the heel fly. The only time, says Deer that effective control measures can be used are while the grubs are in the animal's back and rotenone is the only insecticide that is effective.

For the small herd owner, the dust method of application will probably prove to be the most practical. A five per cent dust should be used. The backs of the animals should be scrubbed with a stiff brush to knock off the scabs that cover the grub cysts. Dust the powder over the animal's back and rub it in so the dust will get into the grub holes. Treatment should begin about two or three weeks after the first grubs appear and Deer says to repeat the treatments three times at intervals of three weeks.

For the large herds, dipping or spraying is the most practical method to use in applying the rotenone. The dip or spray should contain seven and one-half pounds of five per cent rotenone for 100 gallons of water. Deer says if you spray the cattle, use a cattle chute. The sprayer should deliver 200 pounds pressure and the nozzle should be held within four inches of the animal's back. You should use approximately one gallon of spray per animal.

Regardless of whether the dipping or spraying method is used, Deer points out that three treatments should be used at three week intervals. Controlling the grubs now will break the life cycle of the parasite and thus will eliminate the egg laying heflies next spring. The annual loss can be reduced and livestock producers will profit from marketing grub free cattle.

Regardless of what clothing a man is purchasing, he should select each item with the idea of building a wardrobe that is right for his build, his type and his needs.

Camp Fire Girls Stress Respect for Others' Property

"And the Gobbie-uns'll git you—Ef you don't watch out."

Thus warned James Whitcomb Riley's "Little Orphan Annie" around the turn of the century. Years later Camp Fire Girls, while admitting that Annie perhaps knew of what she spoke, emphasizes that on Halloween, when ghouls and goblins and elfs are said to walk about, they can't possibly "git you" if you spend a safe and sane Halloween.

First rule Camp Fire Girls follow in their counter-offensive against Orphan Annie's "gobbie-uns" is to respect other people's property, points out Kathleen Crawford, area Camp Fire executive. As one civic minded young Camp Fire member put it, "For fifty-one weeks of the year, we try to make Haskell a better place in which to live. So why should we spend the fifty-second week tearing it down?"

The members of the youth agency who range in age from seven to eighteen plan to observe Halloween with group parties in which such traditions as doughnuts and cookies, apple-bobbing and square dancing play a major part.

This year it is especially fitting that Camp Fire Girls emphasize the safety side of Halloween as safety is the theme of their Fall membership March. Special attention has been paid to the safety in the home, on wheels and as pedestrians.

"We hope during our Membership March, not only to add as members all girls in Haskell between the ages of seven and eighteen who would like to belong to Camp Fire, but to make everyone in Haskell safety-wise—adults and young persons alike," Miss Crawford said. "Our slogan for our safety program is Camp Fire for a happy life—safety for a long one."
