Haskell FFA Chapter Given GMC Pick- Up By Hattox Hardware & Implement

In recognition of outstanding work being done by Future Farmers of Haskell High School, Hattox Hardware & Implement Company has presented the Haskell FFA Chapter a new 1931 model GMC one-half ton pick-up truck for use on their work projects, carrying on their work projects.

The presentation was made Saturday when Payne Hattox of the local hardware and implement concern turned the truck over to Bill Thomas, FFA chapter president, and Haskell Stone, chapter adviser. The FFA emblem and name of the local chapter is attractively lettered on the side of the pick-up. An all-coverage insurance policy on the vehicle was donated by the Haskell County Farm Bureau.

Mr. Stone, agriculture teacher in Haskell High School and FFA adviser said the pick-up would fill a long-felt need of the local chapter and would make it possible for Future Farmers to handle work connected with their projects in a more efficient manner.

The local FFA chapter has approximately 40 High School students as members, and is recognized as one of the outstanding chapters in this area with a consistent record of achievement over a period of years. Five members of the local chapter are eligible and will make application for Lone Star Farmer degrees this year, on the basis of their outstanding supervised practice projects carried out during the past three years. The Lone Star degree is awarded annually to approximately two per cent of the State FFA membership, Stone explained. Those who will make application for the Lone Star degree are: Bill Thomas, Charles Cox, Eldon Amosett, Roy Don Rhoads and Kenneth Lane. All boys in High School are eligible to become Future Farmers, Stone said.

In the past three years the Haskell chapter has received awards of a registered Jersey heifer and four registered gilts from the Sears Foundation in recognition of their project achievements.

In area judging contests during the recent school year, members of the Haskell chapter won two first places, two second places, and three third place awards in 13 contests entered.

Officers of the local chapter are: President—Bill Thomas. Vice President—Douglas Dendy. Treasurer—Kenneth Lane. Reporter—Nathan Tinkle. Parliamentarian—Jerry Cobb. Historian—Dean Stocks. Sentinel—Willard Mullins. Adviser—Haskell Stone.

The straight and narrow path would be much wider if more people traveled it.

Miss May Bell Taylor, who has been teaching in the schools at Eastland, is at home to spend the summer with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. L. F. Taylor.

A six months poultry report compiled by Miss Eileen Partlow, Home Demonstration Agent, from records kept by seven H-D club members, shows that these women have made an average profit of 75c from each hen in their flocks during that period. This was achieved despite the current low prices in the poultry industry, Miss Partlow pointed out.

John McIver Pace, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Pace of Haskell, was awarded the degree of Doctor of Medicine at spring Commencement exercises of Baylor University College of Medicine at Dallas.

Miss Ermine Daugherty is spending a few days in Graham with her little nephews while her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Houston Bolin are in Chicago.

David Garnier has adjusted his loss suffered in the recent fire, with an insurance company for $3900; the Elks Lodge adjusted theirs at $1348; and Dr. Robertson adjusted his at $750. We understand most of those who lost in the fire are having their losses satisfactorily settled.

H. H. Franklin is running a moving picture show at his air-drome just east of the post-office. The pictures being shown are all new and good.

W. A. Whatley left in his automobile the first of the week for Coleman on a business trip.

Spencer & Richardson have put up a bulletin board in their drug store and every evening they get a telegraphed report of the day's games in the Texas League. This is a timely service for those interested in baseball as it is always a day late before the papers get here.

Miss Alta James of O'Brien is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. T. Ellis.

The hard winds during the rain Sunday blew down the tent of H. H. Franklin's theatre and caused considerable damage to show property.

Alvy Couch, cashier of the Weinert State Bank was a business visitor here Tuesday.

Haskell had a two inch rain Sunday evening. It was badly needed and farmers are feeling highly elated over their prospects. There was some severe wind accompanying the rain, but very little damage resulted that we have heard about.

W. L. Howard was in town Tuesday and said that a good rain fell Sunday at Whitte Chapel. He says the grasshoppers have destroyed a good deal of cotton but have not hurt the feed crop. Thursday evening while cleaning the furniture in Judge Kinard's office, Charley Hoffman was overcome by the fumes of wood alcohol he was using to clean the furniture. After receiving medical treatment, he soon recovered, and is not believed to have suffered any ill effects of lasting nature.

50 Years Ago—June 8, 1901

Knox county farmers living about 20 miles north of this place sold several hundred bushels of wheat here Thursday at 52 1-2 cents per bushel. They say the wheat in their section will average 11 bushels per acre, the yield being cut considerably because of the recent drought.

A hail storm extending from near the southwest corner of the county up through the western part Wednesday evening did considerable damage. It was about a mile wide and struck several farms, beating the leaves to a frazzle on corn that was waist high and breaking down smaller stalks. Garden stuff and young gardens were wiped out and will have to be replanted. Wheat and oats in the path of the hailstorm were almost totally destroyed.

Messrs. Love and Orr of Anson, who have been painting the Methodist Church, completed their work this week and have returned home.

Miss Annie Coker has resigned her position with the telephone company and will spend the summer with her family in the country.

B. L. Frost left yesterday for the west, probably Lubbock or Lynn county, with his cattle. He will secure a ranch and return later for his family. Haskell will regret to lose these good people.

We are told that M. O. (Mark) Lynn, once a prominent cattleman in this section, but who left several years ago, is coming back to settle in Haskell county. He will find many old associates and friends to welcome him.

VISITORS IN F. A. KLOSE HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Lenge, Mrs. Frieda Paulsen, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Arthur and daughter of Waco were week end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Klose. They also visited friends in the Irby community. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur and daughter visited in Hale Center before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brannon of this city spent the week end with her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carrigan in Brownwood.

Famed Evangelist Will Be Speaker at Brotherhood Meeting of Haskell Baptist Association in Munday

Clifton W. Brannon, evangelist of Longview, Texas will be in Munday June 7th for the Haskell Association Brotherhood Meeting. This meeting is expected to attract 500 men from this area. A picnic style dinner will be served by the Munday Baptist Brotherhood beginning at 7 p. m.

Cliff Brannon's phenomenal rise from a Georgia farm boy, left with the responsibility of caring for his widowed mother and six brothers and sisters, to a successful corporation attorney, winning four of five cases which he argued before the U. S. Supreme Court, tops even the accomplishments of many great men.

However, the joy which Cliff Brannon gets from preaching the Gospel Story outweighs all the glamour and prestige, not to mention financial remuneration which went with his position as officer in fifteen industrial corporations.

He is convinced that this is God's Will despite the fact that as a Volunteer Baptist Brotherhood worker he was already preaching more sermons and winning more souls than many ordained preachers. During 1948 he spoke before 226 groups while still serving as secretary of R. G. LeTourneau, Inc., and General Counsel for the parent company as well as all its subsidiaries here and abroad.

After passing the bar examination in 1932, Brannon soon skyrocketed to success as an attorney. At the age of 26, he appeared for the first time before the U. S. Supreme Court in Washington, D. C.

His career as a lawyer was very colorful and his work as a Christian layman kept Brannon on the march, but in spite of his feverish activity as a Christian layman for over ten years for the Lord, Brannon felt that something was wrong. Everywhere he went, someone would ask, "Cliff, don't you really feel that God wants you for full-time Christian service." The fact that persons hundreds of miles apart would ask this same question convinced him that this was indeed the voice of God.

It was not an easy decision to make. He thought of his wife and their three children. He faced financial insecurity; however, after five months of decision, he made his choice. While preaching in Elk City, Okla., during the late spring of 1949, he yielded everything to God, including his wife and children.

With nothing definite in sight, this prosperous attorney and industrialist who had just been listed in "Who's Who in American Industry" resigned as secretary and general counsel of R. G. Tourneau, Inc., president of Tourneau Heusinger Corp., vice president of Texas Casualty and Insurance Co., and director of Lone Star Steel Co. largest steel mill in the southwest. He gave up all other material interests full time to the Lord's independent evangelism.

Having taken a returned to his home view to find in the meetings for 23 weeks. Prof. that induced by the fact 23 weeks of meetings conflict existed even were so closely he spent only one during the period. During that 23 weeks included 288 baptisms, finite dedications, and tions to the church.

Depending upon all his needs, he the Lord leads, he "Christ and Him Cr moting no organiza nothings, and reluc finances. He believes God guides He also The spirited pres evangelist has dr wherever he goes, he prays, "Lord, set so the crowd may me bun"—and his flects that he is truly God.

Accidental Shot Kills Goree Youth In Colorado City

A 20-year-old Goree youth, Billy Edwin Beaty, employe of the Southern Geophysical Co., was accidentally shot and killed in Colorado City Friday.

Beaty was shot through the heart Friday about noon, as fellow employes of the geophysical company gathered in a small apartment in Colorado City that Beaty shared with two roommates, Brooks Thiebaut and Bobby Paul Laws. Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Perdue were also present and Mrs. Perdue was cooking dinner for the five. The group was preparing to sit down at the table, when Thiebaut turned to put a .22 caliber pistol he had been cleaning into a drawer, the witnesses said.

As Thiebaut turned, the pistol was discharged, the bullet passing through Beaty's left arm, his chest and his heart.

District Attorney Eldon Mahon said Saturday that no charges had been filed. Apparently from the evidence, it was an accident, the court official said.

Funeral services for the accident victim were held at 3:30 p. m. Sunday at the Goree Baptist Church, conducted by Rev. Temple Lewis, pastor of the Weinert Baptist Church. Burial was in the Goree cemetery under the direction of Larigham Funeral Home of that city.

Young Beaty is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Beaty, and three brothers, Douglas Wayne, Bobbie Lee, and Jackie Alvin, all of Goree.

SERVING THE NATION FOR THIRTY-FIVE YEARS!

Green Tag Method Will Insure Best Price for Cotton

Texas cotton farmers are urged to market their 1951 cotton crop by the green tag method. According to John L. McCollum, manager, PMA's southwest area cotton branch, USDA Dallas, the green tag signifies that the bale has been classed by USDA cotton classers and the tag carries the grade and staple length for the bale.

Demand promises to be strong for this year's crop, says McCollum and the grade and staple information will enable the farmer to get the best price for his cotton. Last year 107,819 Texas farmers took advantage of U. S. D. A.'s Smith-Doxey cotton classing program and marketed 1,389,150 bales under the green tag system. Farmers can get the same service again this year without cost by making application for it, says McCollum. Requirements include membership in group which has been organized to promote the improvement of cotton, adopting a variety, filing an application, arranging for sampling and meeting other requirements. In addition to the official classification, farmers will also receive free the market news service, which shows current prices at nearby markets. By checking the grade and staple length on the green tag against the price for the same kind of cotton listed on the market news sheet, the approximate price of each bale can be determined, points out McCollum. Information may be obtained from your local county agricultural agent on the Smith-Doxey classification service.

Care of Electric Cord Important, Says H-D Agent

That electric cord the homemaker uses for her household appliances every day is the life line of convenience. Better care of that electric cord is urged by Thelma Wirsing, County Home Demonstration Agent, because such valuable materials as copper and rubber which the cords contain may not be easily replaced. Disconnecting can cause wear and tear on the electric cord if it is not done right, the agent points out. She explains that if there is a switch at the outlets, turn it off before pulling the plug. This prevents sparking between metal prongs and the outlets which causes a poor connection. If there is no switch, disconnect the plug from the wall outlet first. Grasp the plug, never the cord; pull straight. If the plug sticks, rock it gently from side to side until it is free. The agent says that it is safest to disconnect the cord from the outlet each time after having used a heating or cooking appliance.

Storage of electric cords is important, too they add. The agent suggests storing them in a clean, dry, cool place. Rubber covered cords should be kept away from light which tends to deteriorate rubber. Cords should be stored free from kinks, knots or sharp bends. They may be hung loosely over large, round wooden pegs, over two or more metal hooks, or placed loosely in a drawer. They should be protected from grease, heat, and dampness. Prompt cooling is absolutely necessary in producing milk with a low bacteria count.

Organization Is Formed To Work For Highway Post Office Route Between Abilene and Wichita Falls

An organization was formed in Munday Friday night to secure a Highway Mail Service route between Wichita Falls and Abilene.

The Wichita Valley Mail Service Improvement Association was organized at a meeting of postmasters and representatives of Chambers of Commerce of various towns between the two cities.

Two years ago the Wichita Valley Railroad Co. discontinued railway mail service between the two cities. Since that time all towns between them have had to

OPS Ceiling Price Charts On Beef Due Up June 4

Housewives will have an easy method to check beef ceiling prices in retail stores beginning Monday, June 4. This is the date on which OPS ceiling price charts for beef must be posted. "All retailers of beef are required to post OPS ceiling price charts by cut and grade of beef where it may be seen easily by the customer," said Ellis H. Boyd, Fort Worth District Office of Price Stabilization director.

The beef price chart requirement will supplement beef display regulations already in effect, according to the OPS. At the present time, retailers are supposed to display different cuts and grades of beef in separate trays with the price tagged to each tray. Boyd said that careful and explicit methods of indication beef prices by both grade and cut are necessary to prevent sale of lower grade beef at higher than its ceiling price. The regulation also prohibits sale of any cut of beef at above the ceiling price.

Beef ceiling prices will vary slightly for various types retail stores, he stated. Smaller independent stores are allowed a little higher price than a large supermarket, for example, the OPS official explained. As an illustration, the district price director, said the price for a chuck blade pot roast could vary in price from 72 cents per pound in the larger stores up to 76 cents a pound in the small independent store.

The OPS urged all housewives to familiarize themselves with the various cuts and grades of beef to be certain they are buying at the ceiling price, or less.

At the Friday night meeting in Munday, officers, an executive committee and directors of the association were named.

The executive committee will meet June 15 in Munday and consider recommendations on the approach to be used in getting this type of mail service.

Officers of the association are O. C. Harrison of Seymour, chairman; Courtney Hunt of Haskell, vice chairman; and Ralph Duncan of Haskell, secretary.

The executive committee is composed of Paul Pendleton of Munday, Russell Willis of Wichita Falls, and Joe Cooley of Abilene.

Directors named are: Russell Willis of Wichita Falls; W. E. Stegall of Holliday; Jack Robinson of Mankin; Bill Sanders of Dundee; R. E. Keck of Mabelle; G. M. Huskinson of Bomarton; Barton Carl of Goree; Paul Pendleton of Munday, the Rev. Temple Lewis of Weinert; Roy Craig of Stamford; the Rev. Fred McClung of Anson; Joe Cooley of Abilene; Morris Neal of Rule; E. Hobb Smith of Rochester; S. M. Reed of O'Brien; Dan Stokley of Knox City and Leroy Melton of Benjamin.

Those attending the meeting from Abilene were Clyde Grant, acting postmaster; Paul Scott, assistant postmaster; Joe Cooley, manager of the Abilene Chamber of Commerce; and Alden Cathey from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Towns on this route are Abilene, Hawley, Anson, Stamford, Haskell, Weinert, Munday, Goree, Bomarton, Seymour, Dundee, Mankin, Holliday, and Wichita Falls. Others affected by this service are Benjamin, Knox City, O'Brien, Rochester, Rule and Sagerton.

Agricultural Extension Service personnel supervised a home garden program in 233 Texas counties last year. A total of 477,076 gardens were grown.

The food and nutrition specialists of the A&M College Extension Service report that during 1950 more than 5,000 home freezers were purchased by rural families in Texas.

Farmers in Cooke County, Texas report that the use of warfarin in a county-wide rat control program has resulted in a saving to the county of thousands of dollars.

Applications Being Taken for Cotton Classing Service

Applications for the Smith-Doxey cotton services were mailed to county agents for every group of farmers organized for cotton improvement, according to H. J. Matejowsky, who is in charge of the Abilene cotton classing office, U. S. Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration.

"Farmers can get their 1951 cotton crop classed without paying a fee and USDA market prices mailed them every week without cost, if the belong to a cotton improvement group," Matejowsky said.

Congress provided for these USDA services in the Smith-Doxey Act, passed in 1937, to encourage farmers to grow improved varieties of cotton particularly adapted to their soil.

"Applications should be returned to this office as soon as all farmers in the group have planted their cotton," Matejowsky emphasized.

Farmers not in cotton improvement groups are urged to join. Applications for the services and details about the program can be secured from the county agent's office.

Cotton Classing Service Available To Haskell Farmers

Haskell county cotton farmers were invited today by H. J. Matejowsky to take advantage of the marketing services provided by the Smith-Doxey Act so they can get the highest prices for their cotton this fall.

Matejowsky is in charge of the Abilene cotton classing office, U. S. Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration. This office serves farmers in Andrews, Brown, Baylor, Callahan, Coke, Coleman, Concho, Dickens, Fisher, Glasscock, Haskell, Howard, Jones, Knox, Kent, Martin, Midland, Mitchell, Nolan, Runnels, Scurry, Schleicher, Taylor, Throckmorton and Tom Green counties.

"Every cotton farmer can get this year's crop classed without paying a fee as well as USDA market quotations mailed to him if he belongs to an organized improvement group," Matejowsky explained.

About ninety groups of farmers were organized in the Abilene territory last year.

"Prospects for increased cotton production this year should result in larger participation in the program," Matejowsky said. "This means Smith-Doxey applications should be filed immediately so

Waco Man Named To Abilene Post With Lone Star

R. H. (Dick) Gray of Waco, veteran Lone Star Gas Company employee with 26 years of service, has been appointed superintendent of the company's West Texas division of distribution, according to an announcement by M. With headquarters in Abilene, Gray will direct gas service and maintenance operations for Lone Star in Haskell and more than seventy other points in the West Texas area, Bird stated. The new division superintendent comes to this territory from Waco where he became district manager in 1939. His successor at the Waco assignment is George A. He joined the company at the beginning of an expansion program which set a gas industry engineering record by bringing natural gas service to more than 150 cities and towns in Texas and Oklahoma in less than five years.

A Spacious Home, Designed for Gracious Living

This plan offers you a beautiful home with a lot of space for comfortable living at the very lowest possible cost in terms of dollars per square foot of usable area. All of the rooms are rather spacious and in every case you have plenty of unbroken wall space for an attractive arrangement of the furniture.

Any farm family will like the kitchen in this house. It should be especially attractive to the homemaker, since it has 21 linear feet of counter top and an abundance of wall cabinets. Also there is ample space in this room for eating most of the family meals.

Plenty of room is provided in the workroom for laundry equipment or storage as desired. There is also space for a lavatory where the field hands may clean up before going into parts of the house; and room for a freezer chest and water heater. It has a closet for storage of raincoats, overcoats, etc., that are used, outside and cannot be conveniently stored with other clothing.

Although the dining room has been made a conservative size in order to utilize valuable space, it will conveniently accommodate your dining room furniture, with a table that will seat about ten people very easily.

The entrance hall is provided with a coat closet, and will prevent unnecessary traffic in the living room. You will notice that the entire house has been arranged so that it will not be necessary to go through any room in order to get to another. This arrangement will alleviate a lot of housework.

Plans Underway for Opening of Annual Texas Cowboy Reunion in Stamford

Considerable new building and repair work is being done, and preparations are underway for opening of the 21st annual Texas Cowboy Reunion in Stamford, to be held this year on June 30-July 2, 3, 4.

The round-up hall, favorite of the old timers, is under construction after being demolished by fire. Due to a switch over to night performances, all contestants can be admitted to competition. Because of the large number of entries, this has been impossible before—the Texas Cowboy Reunion being the largest show in the U. S. from the point of number of contestants.

A great deal of interest is being shown in the Quarter Horse Show. Due to the addition of a gelding class, a class for colts, and a cutting horse contest for quarter horses, the same liberal policy will be in effect concerning stalls and feed for horses. Several hundred seats have been added to the chuck wagon facilities, due to its intense popularity. New and interesting features have been added to the show; however, it remains that favorite show for cowboys and cowgirls of Texas.

Forty-five farmer cooperatives were organized in 1950, not including health centers, cooperative hospitals and REA associations.

Farmers who submitted soil samples to Texas A. & M. Soil Testing Laboratory are finding that the results of the tests and the recommendations that go back to them from the lab are very useful.

Action Planned to Postpone Millionth U. S. Traffic Death

The millionth U. S. traffic accident fatality probably will occur in December, the National Safety Council estimates—unless drivers and pedestrians unite to postpone the date.

The Council, national clearinghouse of accident statistics, says that a careful check of the records shows that 963,360 persons had died in traffic accidents at the end of 1950.

Even a 5 per cent increase over the 1950 toll of 35,000 traffic deaths, if sustained through the year, would mark the millionth victim for December. The possibility of such an increase was threatened by the death toll for January alone, which went up 17 per cent.

"At this rate, the nation may give itself a terrible Christmas present this year," said Ned H. Dearborn, president of the Council.

Mr. Dearborn was quick to point out, however, that the fatality date can be postponed several months if every motorist and pedestrian makes a personal pledge to avoid only one accident—the one that involves him.

A nationwide educational campaign behind the slogan "Don't YOU Be One in a Million" already is underway, according to the Council, and it is hoped that everyone in the nation can be made "million conscious."

"We fear the atom bomb, but the 'auto bomb' already has gone off in our midst," Mr. Dearborn said.

1. He keeps his car in safe condition.
2. He drives only when sober, and never to great weariness.
3. His mind does not wander, for safe driving keeps a man busy.
4. He keeps laws to the speed which gives perfect control.
5. He passes intersections and grade crossings with care.

I wish to announce the re-opening of my husband's barber shop at 1207 North Avenue C, June 4th. Mr. Beck came here from Weinert where he had operated a barber shop for the past 5 years and installed a modern shop, then was stricken with a fatal heart attack.

I have had 25 years' experience in the barber business, have a small modern shop with soft water, want to be self supporting and solicit your patronage. I will specialize in women's and children's work. Hours will be from 8:30 A. M. until 6 P. M. Haircuts 5¢.

I wish to express my gratitude to all who gave rides to my husband from here to Weinert

Ruth Bible Class Members Entertain Husbands With Chuck Wagon Dinner

Members of the Ruth Bible Class of the First Baptist Church entertained their husbands Monday night with a chuck wagon dinner and party at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Couch, Jr.

Guests arrived at 8 p. m. and a lovely ranch style dinner was served in the front yard from an authentic wagon, stripped flat, and covered with red and white checkered cloths. A campfire flickered nearby, and made the scene look more realistic, and also served the happy purpose of warding off mosquitoes.

The menu, served buffet style, consisted of barbecued ham, done to a perfect turn in the Couch's barbecue pit; potato salad, pinto beans, pickle and onion slices, bread, iced tea, and homemade ice cream.

After the meal, several games were played, directed by Mary

Martin and everyone enjoyed themselves immensely. There were forty-seven persons served at dinner, and Rev. Rexrode, his son, Bobby, and Wimpy Smith arrived in time for ice cream and the games.

When the games were finished, the group joined hands to form a large circle and R. C. Couch, Jr., led in singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds." Then Rev. Rexrode dismissed with a prayer.

Almost everyone helped in some small way to prepare the meal but the principal hostesses were: Inez Gholson, Billie Nail, Billie Cadenhead, Jerrene Couch, Edith Whentley, Doris Reeves, Jimmie Lou Adkins, Bertie May Dumas, Mary Martin, Mildred Robertson, Bill Nrtin, Berta Mae Bass.

After the meal, several games were played, directed by Mary on Texas Farm Real Estate Have Steady Increase Past 4 Years

Texas farm and ranch real estate taxes, counties for 29 per cent the state for 14 per cent, and other districts for 7 per cent.

The extension levies to most land by the Gilmer-Alkin school laws has been a contributing factor to the growth of school taxes report the economists.

Although assessments per acre were higher in 1950, taxes were easier to pay than in 1949. The tax-price ratio declined in 1950 from 1.03 to .97, which is slightly less than the base year 1913.

The experiment station economists expect the upward trend of taxes to be halted, at least temporarily, in 1951, since 1950 was the last year in which the state will levy a property tax for general revenue purposes. However, the possible tax loads has not been greatly diminished—because counties may now levy an additional 20 cent rate.

Weeping Lovegrass Found Beneficial In Rebuilding Severely Eroded Fields

Weeping lovegrass, introduced from South Africa is a tall, leafy vigorous growing bunch grass with no stolons or rhizomes (above or below ground runners). It is a short-lived perennial, usually lasting for 3 to 5 years. Bunches grow large and vigorously when moisture and plant food are available; the leaves are long, narrow, wire-like and become drooping (weeping) when undergrazed.

The grass has been used extensively in recent years on severely eroded fields and in deep sands which contain little available plant food. It has been used in Texas primarily to the west of the Blackland Prairies and in the Rio Grande Plains (San Antonio and south) especially on the light sandy soils. Weeping lovegrass is not recommended for the Blackland Prairie region, the East Texas Timber region, or the Gulf Coast Prairie region in view of the excellent pastures that can be had with bermuda, dallia, johnson, blue panic or other well adapted and more nutritious plants. With good management these crops are recognized as being superior.

Weeping lovegrass is one of the more dependable perennial grasses for seeding on impoverished land, but yields proportionately higher on more fertile soils or on impoverished soils supplied with plant food. This grass, grown in a rotation system with cultivated crops would be a good crop to help bring back into production poor land. A complete fertilizer high in nitrogen should be supplied at time of plowing under the sod to help decay the tremendous amount of fibrous roots and tops.

This perennial bunch grass produces an abundance of seed that germinate soon after shattering or seeding, under favorable conditions. Seedlings make vigorous growth. If seed are harvested, they should be sold or used within 4 years.

Opinions vary as to palatability of weeping lovegrass. Some stockmen find livestock prefer it to blue grama and buffalo the native grasses. These diverse opinions are likely due to differences in observations related to stage of maturity or season in which the grass was used. When young and succulent, it is palatable. If kept short, it is grazed well throughout the summer; in contrast, overgrowth becomes tough and fibrous and the plants are not palatable. During mild winters, this grass stays green at the base and affords some winter grazing. To obtain maximum use, it seems best to graze close enough so that new growth, which is nutritious and palatable, will be available.

Because weeping lovegrass is not palatable in comparison to other grasses and grows very rapidly, rates of stocking weeping lovegrass are generally higher than on other pastures. Generally the rate of gain per animal is less on weeping lovegrass than on other pastures.

Even though its fertility requirements are low, weeping lovegrass responds to applications of fertilizer according to the soil needs for a grass crop. Where the proper fertilizer is used the grass will be more nutritious and palatable; also, it will make the grass grow more rapidly which means a greater carrying capacity.

Seedbeds must be firm and free of growing weeds. The seed may be drilled in 36-inch rows, 1-2 pounds per acre. There is more than 1 1/2 million seed per pound. The seed test weight is 57 pounds per bushel.

Plants too close together from high seeding rates cause stunted growth. On sandy soils, subject to erosion, it is advisable to seed in residue from the previous crop; sudan or cane is often used as the preceding crop. In northern countries, weeping lovegrass should be seeded in April or May. In southern countries it may be sown in early fall or spring.

When seeded, harrow lightly to cover not deeper than 1-4 inch. Pack seedbed after planting. Cultivate as for row crops if in rows. Control weeds in broadcast stands by mowing.

Best quality weeping lovegrass hay is made by cutting before seed stems are formed. Yields are from 1 to 2 tons per acre.

Seed may be harvested with a combine or binder and threshed. Because the seed are so small a good machine is necessary to do a good job.

In areas where the grass will go dormant during the winter, it should be allowed to grow without grazing one or two months before frost. This will allow the plants to produce a seed crop and to store food for next spring's initial growth.

Although grazing and grazing management have been discussed, the recognized use of this grass is on poor soils. On such soils, organic matter is added, the physical condition of the soil is improved, and a good vegetative cover protects the surface; all this results in protection from erosion and soil improvements. Following this method will take several years with little annual income. More rapid methods of soil conditioning may be used.

Plans Being Made To Enforce Car Inspection Law
Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, has announced that preliminary plans are under way for the administration of the State's new Motor Vehicle Inspection Act.

Recently passed by the 52nd Legislature and signed into law by Governor Allan Shivers, the act, which is designed to enhance traffic safety by removing unsafe motor vehicles from the highways, will become effective 90 days after the adjournment of the 52nd Legislature.

According to Garrison, an additional period of about 60 days will be required to complete the organizational details of the inspection division which, by law, will fall under the supervision of the Public Safety Department.

Garrison stated that garage owners and other individuals interested in making application for official inspection stations in their areas may do so by writing directly to Austin. The proper application blanks will be mailed to those making inquiry as soon as they are available. Those selected will be subject to a thorough examination of facilities and equipment and will be instructed in inspection standards. Garrison further stated that no testing devices have yet been approved and that it was not advisable for applicants to purchase such equipment until the Department has set up the official standards for such devices.

First of County's Light Wheat Crop Received Saturday

First load of wheat from the 1951 crop harvested in Haskell County was brought in Saturday by R. C. Couch, Jr., from his farm northeast of town. The county's crop this year is extremely light due to the prolonged winter drought.

The grain brought in by Couch weighed 62.5 pounds and tested 14.74 per cent moisture. He expects to combine 200 acres, and his first run indicated a yield of around 9 bushels per acre. His first load was sold to Clifton Grain Company of this city.

Every day should be Farm Safety Day on the farm. The practice of removing hazards from about the farm and home may prevent farm accidents that too often are caused by carelessness.

Sears Foundation Awards Gilts To Eight Club Boys

Eight Haskell County boys who were selected on the basis of their ability to carry out a planned program of Swine Management and Improvement, received gilts from the Sears-Roebuck Foundation Swine program recently County Agent F. W. Martin has reported. The program is sponsored in Haskell county by the Boys 4-H Clubs.

Boys who received the gilts were: Winston Ulmer of Sagerton; Doyle Mueller of Sagerton; Durward Campbell of Haskell; Don Smith of Weinert; LaMarr Quade of Rule; Jack Therwanger of Weinert; Clyde Childress of O'Brien; and Jerry Jones of Haskell.

The boys were selected by a committee who judged essays submitted by the youths on "Why I Want a Gilt," and their facilities for caring for the animals. Members of the committee were: R. E. Hutchinson, O'Brien; O. G. Lewis, Rule; and Walter Fischer, Sagerton.

This is the seventh year the Sears-Roebuck Foundation Swine Program has been in operation in the county, the County Agent said.

July Is Deadline For Enrolling In Veterans School

Only one month remains for veterans who wish to study under the GI Bill of Rights to enroll in school.

David H. Persons, Coordinator of the Haskell Vocational School, urges all veterans interested to make application immediately.

To be eligible for education benefits under the bill of rights, a veteran must have served at least 90 days in the armed forces between September 16, 1940 and July 25, 1947. He must begin his studies within four years after his separation from service or after July 25, 1947, whichever is later.

Entomologists of the Texas A. & M. College Agricultural Extension Service estimate conservatively that systematic insect control work carried on last year by Texas farmers and ranchmen saved them 10 million dollars.

The more happiness you pass on to others the more you have left for yourself.

County Agent Gives Pointers On New Sorghum Varieties Developed for Texas

By F. W. Martin
County Agent

Milo Types
Double Dwarf yellow and white Sooner milos. These two milos originated at the Texas Station and are identical except for the color of the seed. They are pure milo derivatives of early maturity and double dwarf height that can be harvested with a combine. The stalks are slender, bear 10 to 12 leaves, tiller freely with tiller heads maturing about the same time as the main head. They will not stand long after frost for combining and should be harvested before or shortly after frost. The heads are oval and compact, with short jackets and branches. Seeds are large, clean and bright, and free from objectionable pigments found in most sorghum grain.

These varieties bloom in 60 days or earlier and mature in about 90 days. They are, therefore, among the earliest and most consistent varieties of grain sorghum. They are well adapted to late planting in late June in the northern part of Texas, may be planted as late as mid-July when necessary with more assurance of producing a grain crop than any other variety. Sooner milo will head out and produce a grain crop under conditions so severe that most other varieties would fail. When planted too early, however, the plants are small, put on only a few leaves before the head is initiated, and the yields are low. Yields, efficiency of combine harvesting and lodging resistance will be improved by later planting and closer spacing, or thicker seeding, of these early-maturing varieties.

All of the milos are highly susceptible to charcoal rot, a fungus disease which causes sorghum plants to lodge or fall down following maturity; except to this, the Double Dwarf yellow and white Sooner milos would probably become leading combine varieties throughout the sorghum area. Fortunately, these varieties are adapted to late planting, and planting late is one of the best means of escaping this disease.

Hegari Types
Early Hegari was found growing in eastern Colorado where it undoubtedly arose as a mutation from Hegari. The Texas Station identified it as a mutation of earliness identical with Hegari except for time of maturity and accompanying differences. The variety was named, increased and distributed in 1938 and is now gradually replacing much of the acreage planted to ordinary Hegari. The stalk is more slender than Hegari bears 11 to 12 leaves, produces tillers. When planted either quite early or quite late, and exposed to short days during early growth, the plants are likely to be dwarfed and can be harvested with a combine. For this reason, it has been called "Combine Hegari." It may stand well after frost, however, under some conditions.

Early Hegari produces a cylindrical, compact head with short seed branches. Exsertion from the boot is good. Seeds are chalky-white with an undercoat like Hegari, and are medium size and hardness. Like other varieties in the sorghum family, early Hegari has fewer leaves, smaller stalks, better exsertion of the head on a longer peduncle, and a greater certainty to head out and produce grain, even under adverse conditions, where Hegari would fail to head. These same characteristics, however, prevent it from being potentially as high a producer of grain and forage as Hegari under very favorable conditions.

Early Hegari is particularly adapted to lower average rainfall and higher altitudes where late planting is necessary, or where a grain sorghum crop is to be used as a "catch crop" after small grain, or where the corn crop has failed. It does especially well in the upper Panhandle and north, where Hegari cannot be grown satisfactorily, and on the heavy clay soils of the lower Plains region.

Bonita, or Little Hegari, is a dwarf, early variety of Hegari originated by the Texas Station as a selection from a cross between Hegari and Chiltex. The cross was made in 1927 at Chillicothe, where Bonita has given splendid yields for a number of years. While small distributions were made earlier the variety was not named and given wide distribution until 1941. The stalk is slender and, while not palatable to livestock in bundles or for grazing, it is a tillering variety, bears 12 to 14 mature leaves and stands fairly well in the field for combining, although the uneven ripening of the tillery and a tendency to produce side branches in certain seasons are objectionable in combine harvesting. Bonita produces numerous medium-sized and compact heads closely resembling Hegari. Exsertion from the boot is good. Seeds are chalky-white with an undercoat like Hegari, and are of medium size and soft. It blooms in 65 days and matures in 100 days. Bonita has wide adaptation and is recommended to its high yields and certainty of grain production. It can be grown at higher altitudes and under lower rainfall than Hegari, and has somewhat the general area of adaptation as early Hegari.

Hi-Hegari is a tall variety of Hegari developed for forage and silage uses. It was distributed by the Texas Station in 1950. It was obtained by crossing Hegari with a tall mutation in Early Hegari and selecting the recombination of extra height and Hegari maturity, adaptation and grain yield as ordinary Hegari, but it yields approximately 20 per cent more forage per acre.

Popsorghum

Popsorghum is a new type of sorghum developed by plant breeders at the Texas Station. The parents of popsorghums are a Haitian variety, Pete Mil, and Shalilu, an Indian variety, neither of which is adapted to the Sorghum Belt. Both the parents have had hard, cornous seeds similar to popcorn in texture. Popsorghum is a variety of dwarf height. The kernels are small in comparison with popcorn. The popping expansion is about 15 to 1, although expansions of up to 32 to 1 have been obtained with special techniques. Popsorghum makes a smaller popped kernel than popcorn, but it is more tender and has less hull. The smaller puffs lie close together and weigh more per unit of volume than popcorn are just as flavorful and as nutritious. In areas where sorghums are adapted, popsorghum is of definite value to substitute for popcorn. Its value in commercial fields awaits further exploration and development, but there should be possibilities and opportunities for its use in caramel and candied confections, for puffed breakfast cereals, for flour and meal, and in packing fragile articles for air transport.

In the dressmaking and children's clothing programs, conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, 255,545 dresses and 237,436 garments respectively, were made at home by home demonstration club members and cooperators.
