WASHINGTON

OMAR BURLESON
Congressman—17th District

WASHINGTON, D. C.—NATIONS, LIKE MANY INDIVIDUALS dealing with one another, practice a primary policy of, "What's in it for us." And they should to the extent necessary to protect their national interests.

IT IS ABOUT TIME WE ASK OURSELVES THAT SAME QUESTION. In years past, and particularly since the end of World War II, we have too much ignored this question on our own behalf and looked more simply on what is good for someone else. AT A TIME WHEN THERE IS SEEMINGLY A MOVE TO CHANGE OUR ATTITUDE towards Castro's Cuba, this query has all the legitimacy of common sense.

IT WAS POINTED OUT IN THIS RELEASE OF MARCH 7, 1974, THAT rumblings were in motion indicating a softening of our Government's attitude toward Cuba and subtle overtures to change our relationship were in the making.

THIS HAS NOW DEVELOPED INTO A REAL PROBABILITY AND, PARTICULARLY, since Latin American countries who are with us in the Organization of American States tend to feel that Cuba's subversive threat toward them is less than it was a few years ago. There is sentiment inside the O.A.S. to dissolve the collective embargo placed against Cuba soon after Castro's revolution. In other words, each nation would be free to act in lifting their embargo and re-establishing relations.

IN FACT THERE IS A REAL CAMPAIGN IN THE WESTERN HEMISPHERE TO re-establish these relations which, of course, would be a major victory for Fidel Castro. It would be the great achievement which he has sought since 1959, but on his own terms.

THIS CAMPAIGN HAS BEEN FURTHERED BY THE RECENT VISIT TO CUBA by two United States Senators—

one a democrat and the other a Republican. They recently visited Havana without the approval of the State Department, presumably as self-appointed emissaries to establish new contacts.

THESE SENATORS WERE GREETED UPON THEIR ARRIVAL BY HARANGUING

2 Haskell Exes Receive WTC Degrees

SNYDER—Two students from Haskell, Bobby Cobb and Daniel Wainscott, were among 125 students receiving associate degrees from Western Texas College in ceremonies held May 15. Five other students received certificates of technology.

Cobb, who served as president of the WTC Student Senate this year, was graduated with honors with a grade point average of 3.79 and received the Associate in Arts degree. He was a member of Phi Theta Kappa, national honor society for students at two-year colleges, and was named to the Dean's List for the 1974 fall semester. He was also a member of the Rodeo Club.

A pre-veterinary medicine major at WTC, Cobb is a graduate of Haskell High School. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Cobb.

Wainscott, also a graduate of Haskell High School, received the Associate in Applied Science degree as a Law Enforcement major. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wainscott.

Dr. Lorrin Kennamer, dean of the University of Texas College of Education, was guest speaker for the graduation program, the third to be held at WTC. The ceremonies climaxed a year of outstanding achievement for sell Hobbs of Rule received the master of business administration degree at the 60th championship in the National Junior College Athletic Association by the men's basketball team, the Westerners, with Coach Mike Mitchell named NJCAA Coach of the Year.

Summer school will begin at WTC on May 29, with summer extension classes in Haskell beginning May 28.

attacks on the United States in a speech by Castro which lasted about one hour and a half. Evidently, these Senators endured taunts and insults hurled at us but didn't pack their bags and head back home. Rather, they had dinner with Castro and were subsequently entertained by him.

NOTHING IS BEING SAID OF WHAT WE SHOULD EXPECT FROM Marxist Castro in exchange for the lifting of the embargo by the Organization of American States or for any recognition that may be extended by our Government. This is a time when it seems perfectly legitimate for us to ask, "What's in it for us?" What's in it for us requires among other things a satisfactory answer on the Russian military bases now in Cuba. They would not be there if not for aggression against Latin America, the United States or Canada. Their removal should be a condition of any re-establishment of relations.

THIS SHOULD BE THE FIRST REQUIREMENT, FOLLOWED BY assurances that Castro will not continue to train, equip and support Communist activities in other American states. This would mean a free and open inspection of what is going on there.

THERE IS A CLAIM OF MORE THAN $1.5 BILLION

BY U. S. CITIZENS whose property was seized in the revolution. How we could recognize a Communist government 90 miles off the Florida coast loaded with offensive missile without resolving the question to complete satisfaction is certainly not part of the answer in it for us.

Pecan Trees Need Care

Pecans do well in all areas of Texas but they need care and management if they are to be beautiful trees and produce large crops, emphasizes Max Stapleton, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

A good home management program for pecans includes fertilization, spraying and irrigation.

Apply one pound of ammonium nitrate to each tree for every inch of trunk diameter. This should be applied in two applications, one in February and one in May. Take care not to apply a heavy concentration of fertilizer in one place, since this will kill lawn grasses.

For pecans to maintain heavy foliage and clean fruit, spray the trees with zinc for normal shoot elongation, with a fungicide for disease prevention, and use an insecticide for insect control.

Irrigation is important for leaf development and fruit production. Under normal conditions, pecans will maintain healthy growth with 50 inches of total rainfall during the calendar year. However, irrigation is necessary if it doesn't rain for 21 days during the growing season. Mr. Stapleton suggests applying water in a slow dripping or trickle release for a long period of time rather than short periods of surface sprinkling.

The importance of irrigation is pointed out by the fact that a large, mature pecan tree will use at least 50 gallons of water a day in July and August, notes Stapleton.

If pecan trees are properly fertilized, sprayed and irrigated, they should be healthy and productive, adds the County Agent.

Most dangerous rooms in the house—when it comes to fire—are the living room, den and family room. That's where a third of all fatal home fires get their start, most often from a forgotten cigarette or dropped hot ashes and matches. A fourth of all deadly home fires begin in the basement, 16 percent in the kitchen, and 12 percent in the bedroom—where smoking in bed is the most frequent cause.

Piano Recital Set Sunday

Piano students of Mrs. James F. Cadenhead Sr. and Mrs. Henry Withers will present a spring recital May 25, at 3 p.m. in the Chapel of the First Baptist Church in Haskell.

MRS. RICKY BRAZELL formerly...Becky Gholson

Gholson, Brazell Weds

Becky Gholson and Ricky Brazell were united in marriage May 17, in a ceremony at the First Baptist Church in Haskell. The Rev. Bragg officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buster Gholson and parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Brazell.

The total look in the chapel veil of silk illusion, held by a lace covered bonnet cap, was outlined with matching lace.

The bride carried a bouquet of yellow roses accented with baby's breath.

Ellen Walling was organist and soloist was John McDermott.

Debbie Thomas was Maid of Honor and bridesmaids were Janie Henderson, Lana Bailey, and Connie Brazell, sister of the groom.

The attendants wore full length pastel gowns of crepe and chiffon and picture hats. Each carried a basket of mixed spring flowers.

Stacey Covington was flower girl and Mark McAdams was ring bearer.

Bobby Howeth was best man and groomsmen were Butch Brazell, Jim Strickland and Glenn Casselberry. Jim Strickland and Glenn Casselberry were ushers.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the Church.

A NEAT IDEA

You don't have to be an egghead to know that neatness counts, but convincing your children that leading a clean life is the right idea can get pretty sticky sometimes. Now, there's a neat way to encourage them to pick up after themselves: you can create this nifty messmate for scissors, pens, pencils, rulers or other items, and it won't cost you anywhere near a tidy sum.

It's easy to do with common things you probably already have around the house. Top a plastic egg with a pom-pom from some gift wrapping and paint on his nose, mouth and eyelashes with a felt-tipped pen. Sequins really shine as his eyes. Glue a cork to the bottom and insert it into the neck of the little blue jug that Dynamo liquid laundry detergent came in. A row of real buttons glued to the front of the bottle serve to represent his shirt, and his fancy striped pants are put on with strips of red vinyl tape. His belt, a bit of black tape, is buckled with a gleam of gold paper.

The next task in hand is to cut off the handle from the plastic jug and make an opening between the holes where the handle was attached. That's where they'll keep the gleanings from their clean sweep. Tie it all together with a bow-tie made from a little bit of ribbon, and he's all dressed up and ready to make the mess on a dresser, desk or worktable clean forgotten. It would certainly seem that this dynamic doll is a really good egg at clean up time!

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Adkins of Rochester announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Pamela Kay, to Eddie Elmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Elmore Sr. of Rule. The couple will exchange wedding vows at 7:30 the evening of June 14th, 1975 at the First Baptist Church, Rochester, Texas.

THE SCIENTISTS TELL ME ...

By Robert L. Haney, Science Writer
The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station

Freshwater Shrimp Offers New Income for Texas

There's a worldwide upsurge of interest in using freshwater and marine invertebrates, including freshwater shrimp as a protein food source. Culture of the freshwater shrimp, which is distinctly different from the popular saltwater species known as penaeid shrimp, has recently attained commercial status in Hawaii. Researchers with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station are devising methods to help develop this new industry in Texas.

According to Experiment Station research scientists Kirk Strawn and Richard Noble, an aquaculture system is sought for producing freshwater shrimp of the genus Macrobrachium, often referred to as river shrimp or river lobster. An inland shrimp industry would include both intensive aquaculture and sport shrimping.

Texas has two large species of river shrimp that measure from 10 to 12 inches in body length, says graduate research assistant Tom Trudeau. The shrimp have a lobster-like taste. They are a delicacy as human food and should command a high market price.

Trudeau says there is another species of smaller freshwater shrimp that can be raised here for both food and bait.

Freshwater shrimp have been cultured, or farm raised, through their entire life cycle and can be produced in a diversity of aquatic environments. They inhabit both freshwater and brackish water and have been found in rivers as far as 186 miles from the coast.

They have been taken from estuaries, swamps and marshy areas, as well as lakes, water reservoirs, mining pools, irrigation canals and even rice fields. This shows the potential for culturing the highly nutritious shrimp in inland waters.

A major problem in production of these shrimp is that salinity is required for development of larvae. Most adults seem to move back toward the estuary when spawning time arrives, so that the larvae which hatch are able to reach brackish water within a few days. This spawning migration has been reported for one species in the Galveston Bay area by Experiment Station researchers.

Artificial sea salts already on the market have been used successfully in larval culture, one of the areas now under investigation. Other current studies deal with ecological tolerances, feeding behavior and nutrition, pond production, blood protein variation as an indicator for strain selection, and sport shrimping potential.

Strawn and Noble say that freshwater shrimp production is not a solution to world food needs. The high quality protein will be costly to produce and will sell initially to expensive restaurants. But, it is hoped that with increased production, prices will come down and distribution will be more widespread.

Not all the problems have been solved, but researchers think freshwater shrimp may soon be produced in quantity and add a new source of income to the state.

White Praises Six State Legislators

AUSTIN--Agriculture Commissioner John C. White praised the special efforts of six Texas legislators who are responsible for the bill to prohibit purchases of foreign beef by state and local government institutions and schools.

Representative George L. Preston of Paris introduced HB 318, co-sponsored by Representatives W. S. (Bill) Healy of Paducah, John Wilson of La Grange, Susan Gurley McBee of Del Rio, and others. It was carried in the Senate by Senators William T. Moore of Bryan and A. M. Aikin of Paris.

"The impact of this law will mean that the millions of dollars that were going to Australia, New Zealand and other foreign countries will stay in Texas," White said.

"In addition, the law assures mothers and fathers that meat now served in school cafeterias will be inspected requirements. Foreign meats previously imported for these programs were exempted from state health safety standards," White pointed out.

Governor Dolph Briscoe has signed the bill, which becomes law immediately. The State Department of Health is responsible for developing regulations and handling violations of the legislation.

All state institutions such as colleges, prisons, and hospitals are covered by the law. Also included are institutions supported by county and city governments, including public schools.

"This kind of support from these Legislators will boost the confidence of Texas cattlemen whose appeals to the Federal government for relief from burdening imports have been ignored.

"We are the only country in the world that will allow continued imports of a product of which we have a surplus," White stated. In 1974 the value of imported beef and veal was over $896 million. "Other states should follow the example set by our own Legislature," Commissioner White added.

CB Radio Means Safer Highways

Modern two-way radio communications has become a necessity for safe travel in aircraft and boats. Driving on modern highways isn't all that different! This is a major reason why relatively inexpensive and convenient "Citizens Band" two-way radio is now one of America's fastest growing means of communication.

The Citizens Radio Section, Electronics Industries Association, reports 1 out of 28 of all American families and 1 out of 15 farm families now use this modern two-way facility, with over 6½-million radios in use.

You can call from home, to car, to business. On the open highway, call to a volunteer base station on the official emergency channel (9) to seek road directions, get assistance in case of a breakdown or report an accident. In this way, approximately 20 million emergencies annually are reported by Citizens Radio.

Adding new dimension to this communications network are thousands of professional over-the-road truck drivers who have joined the ranks of Citizens two-way radio operators. Truckers have found this communications tool to be a great traveling companion with 1 out of 5 long-haul trucks so equipped. They talk to each other, to motorists in automobiles ("4-wheelers"), and recreational vehicles; as well as to truck stops and other fixed base stations. It helps drivers to keep alert on long trips, permits visual safety checks while moving and creates a fraternal spirit among the drivers.

The safety potential of this communications system is obvious. If an accident or breakdown occurs, communications from any radio equipped vehicle brings the required aid. Finding one's way on our modern superhighways can often be confusing and potentially dangerous, but having voice communications with a "native" can easily solve the traveler's dilemma.

A whole "army" of volunteer emergency monitors dedicate their efforts for the purpose of receiving such calls on the official emergency channel. These volunteers are being joined in increasing numbers by official agencies. The Ohio State Highway Patrol monitors the official emergency channel from all its 57 permanent installations. Submitting a simple, non-technical form, any citizen may obtain an FCC citizens radio license that costs only $4.00 for 5 years. CB radios, including antenna, range from $100 and up. It is possible to equip both your car and home for a total cost as low as $250. A valuable investment providing safety, convenience and fuel economy.

The Citizens Radio Section of the Electronic Industries Association has an informative pamphlet available that answers many questions about personal citizens two-way radio. It may be obtained by writing to E. I. A Service Dept., 21 E. Hubbard St., 7th floor, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

A. Jenkins of Levelland.

Honoring Mr. Von Cobb on his 82nd birthday was his son, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Cobb and his grandson, Mr. and Mrs. Don Cobb of Abilene, granddaughter, Cecile and Erin of Arlington. This was given in the room of his sister, Mrs. Norma Baker.

Carelessness by people causes 48.5 percent of building fires and 54.4 percent of U.S. home fire deaths each year. A few simple actions to prevent these fires are: check for burning cigarettes in furniture, never smoke in bed, replace damaged wiring, fix appliances that don't work right, keep heaters away from things that burn, don't use or store gasoline near heat or flame.

Smile, grads!
There are a lot of good things going for you in the way of great success!

Great Plains Conservation Program, administered by the SCS, continues to assist in the conversion of existing rangeland to permanent grasslands. This includes the installation of permanent grasses, brush control, and the construction of terraces, gully stabilization structures, and critical area structures. Constructing water storage facilities, constructing farm ponds for livestock water and wildlife and recreation, installing pipelines for livestock water, controlling competitive brush, constructing permanent fences for pasture and range management, and critical area treatment.

Great Plains Conservation Program, like all programs and services of the US Department of Agriculture, is available to everyone without regard to race, creed, color, sex, or national origin. Cost-share assistance ranges from 50% to 80% of the average costs. All seeding practices carry 80% cost-shares. Grade Stabilization structures and critical area shaping are cost-shared at 70% of the average costs. Terraces and diversions carry a 60% cost-share, while Livestock water wells, farm ponds, livestock water pipelines, water storage facilities, brush control and fences are cost shared at 50% of the average costs.

One hundred seventy-seven (177) GPCP contracts have been written on Haskell County farms since 1957 covering 131,593 acres of land. At present, 25 contracts of the 177 are in force covering 13,637 acres.

Duward Campbell of Haskell has the newest contract. It was approved and certified for funds in February, 1975. Campbell has just completed shaping 26 acres of waterways, and is now waiting for rain to start sprigging these waterways to Coastal Bermudagrass. He also plans to establish 15 acres of bermudagrass pasture, construct two diversions, and approximately 11,000 feet of level terraces and 60,000 feet of parallel terraces.

During the past 10 days, GPCP producers Abe Turner, J. P. Perrin, W. H. McBroom, Bailey Toliver and Mrs. G. V. Middlebrook have seeded or sprigged 30 acres of waterways, and Toliver seeded 27 acres of bermudagrass pasture.

Do you have a need for assistance in solving all of the conservation problems on your farm in a short period of time? If you do, then the Great Plains Conservation Program is for you.

Guy Denson of Stamford has just recently developed a contract on 399 acres of land he purchased in Haskell County and is waiting approval and certification of funds. Wayne Phemister is now being assisted by Soil Conservationist Jim Boykin in developing a contract on 300 acres.

If you are interested, please contact your local SCS office in Haskell for assistance.

Prof. Cosmo Invents Ride At Six Flags

Arlington, Texas--The Rotoriculous, a new attraction described as a "thrill ride that's a light and sound show too," opens at Six Flags Over Texas, May 10.

Housed in a huge, octagonal building in the Arlington park's Good Time Square section, the 13-speed ride is the brainchild of Six Flags' own creative staff.

Riders spin at high speeds in an undulating circle as their senses are "bombarde" by electronic sound effects, rapidly changing visual effects and a succession of flashing light patterns.

General Manager Dan Howells said, "The number of new rides on the market today is rather limited, so we decided to take existing hardware and turn it into something truly unique. The result is a ride that you won't find anywhere else in the world."

The ride is themed as an "invention" of Six Flags' eccentric new costume character Prof. Cyrus Cosmo.

Comical "scientific instruments" line the walls of the structure which is taller than a two-story building.

After guests are seated in the ride's 24 cars, Prof. Cosmo's cartooned image lights up the eight projection screens which encircle the building's ceiling.

Cosmo's voice welcomes the riders aboard and the character explains how he intends to propel his guests forward into the unknown; at which point the ride begins to move backward.

After a brief, verbal battle with the backward-moving ride, Cosmo gives up and the show begins. Images on the screens change constantly and vivid, colored "blobs" spread over a dome in the ride's center.

As the Rotoriculous hits top speed the "blobs" disappear, to be replaced by a battery of strobe lights striking a huge mirror ball.

From beneath the ride come sound effects much like a human heart beat, increasing in intensity and speed. The effect literally shakes the building.

From overhead, through a sophisticated quadrasonic sound system, come electronic effects which also increase in speed and impact.

The Rotoriculous becomes a blur of light and sound, building to a crescendo and ending in sudden silence and momentary darkness as the ride comes to a breathtaking end.

Average daily property loss from fire in the United States is 1,541 homes...299 apartment buildings...61 schools and college buildings...11 churches...211 stores and offices...59 restaurants...131 industrial plants...and buildings on 92 farms.

Apply Early For Social Security Card

"Applying early for your first social security card is one of the most important things you will ever do," Glyn Hammons of the Abilene Social Security Office announced today.

Almost everyone needs a social security number. The account number is no longer just required of workers alone. Nowadays, many schools of all types use the social security number to identify their students; banks and other financial institutions require the number for each person who has an account there. If you buy a U. S. Savings Bond, you have to give your social security number. When you apply for even part time work, you will be asked to supply it. Of course, any person who gets monthly checks from the Social Security Administration or from the State Department of Social Services must have a social security number. Some states even use a person's social security number as his driver's license number!

In the past, a person could get his number quickly. If he were under the age of 18 and applying for the first time, he could usually obtain his card within a few minutes. Now it will take from 4-6 weeks for this same type person to obtain a social security number because the number must be issued from the central accounting office in Baltimore, Maryland.

Public Law 92-603 was enacted by Congress requiring persons applying for a social security number to submit evidence to establish age, identity, and citizenship or alien status.

Now, all applicants requesting a number who are age 18 or older must furnish proof of their age and identity. If the person who is applying for a social security number is foreign born, he must also submit evidence of citizenship or alien status in conjunction with furnishing proof of his age. A person applying for his original number will be asked for his birth or baptismal record established before age five, if such a document is available. If you do not have a birth or baptismal certificate and one is not readily available, you should bring some other evidence of your age and the social security office will determine if the document is acceptable as proof of age and identity. An original social security number cannot be assigned until all evidence requirements are met. "We realize you are in a hurry for your number," Hammons said. "That's why we urge you to apply several weeks before you must have it," he continued.

Many employers will not hire you until you furnish your social security number. Some will hire you without it, but will not pay you until they see your card.

Applications for social security cards can be obtained at most post offices, employment and social services offices. You can, of course, write or telephone your local social security office for a blank form. There is no charge for this service.

If you telephone the social security office, the social security number clerk will mail you an application to fill out and return along with proof of age and identity. We will return your documents to you within a few days.

Farabee Speaks Against High Insurance

Senator Ray Farabee said today that high malpractice insurance rates are forcing doctors in rural areas to decrease their services while causing a sharp increase in medical costs for patients. The remarks were made during debate on Farabee's Patients Compensation Act which deals with the crisis of high malpractice insurance rates. The bill was approved by the Senate.

As to the extent of the problem in Texas Farabee said, "Malpractice insurance rates have increased as much as 60% for some specialists in the State. The doctors who do work in high risk areas such as surgery, anesthesiology, and obstetrics are particularly affected by these high rates."

Farabee emphasized, however, that the problem is not limited to these areas. "A recent survey of family doctors indicates that nearly half of the family physicians in Texas have experienced a 150-200% increase in malpractice insurance costs."

This same survey asked, "Have other doctors in your community eliminated surgery or obstetrics due to insurance costs?". Of the 1600 members of the Texas Academy of Family Physicians 562 answered affirmatively. Senator Farabee explained that when doctors in rural areas can no longer afford to perform such services patients may have to travel long distances to obtain medical services.

Farabee argued that Texas must act now, noting, "This state is ranked fifth in the nation in terms of malpractice insurance costs. If we don't take positive action now, then within a few years we'll be experiencing the same problems as are now occurring in California. Many doctors there have been forced to stop practicing due to high malpractice insurance costs."

Senator Farabee characterized his bill as one which would screen out frivolous claims, put a limit on certain damages, and protect the patient by requiring malpractice insurance up to $100,000. The bill also provides a fund from which additional sums can be recovered.

The Senator said the screening would be done by a panel of three physicians chosen by the two parties involved. He emphasized, however, that a patient would still have the right to a trial by jury if he was not satisfied with the finding of the panel. The bill also limits the claims to 500,000 dollars except where more is required to pay for medical costs.

The bill now moves to the House of Representatives for consideration.

Cancer Society Endorses No Product

American Cancer Society officials announced today that it in no way endorses any commercial product. The Chairman of the Board of the Texas Division of the ACS, Stanley Cole, said, "We want to make it clear that this applies to any type of insurance, especially cancer insurance."

Cole, a San Antonio insurance executive, said the Society feels the statement is necessary because an increasing number of insurance companies have been using ACS statistics in sales promotion literature. "The American Cancer Society has never authorized the use of its statistics or any educational film or printed literature for any commercial purpose," he said.

"There have been some reports," Cole stated, "of American Cancer Society educational films being used by agents in direct sales promotions. This is an absolutely unauthorized activity and we are asking people to report this sort of activity to the State Board of Insurance and the American Cancer Society if it continues."

"While the American Cancer Society assembles and publishes many statistics regarding cancer incidence," Cole said, "it should be pointed out that it is possible to save one in two cancer patients if people would do for themselves what they can, using available knowledge regarding early diagnosis and known effective treatment.

"Our goal," Cole continued, "is to control cancer. The Society funds basic and clinical research, disseminates up-to-date diagnostic and treatment methods to physicians, provides community services and our volunteers provide many services and rehabilitation programs for the cancer patient."

Cole concluded, "The American Cancer Society is not in business to scare people, but to help people become knowledgeable enough so that more people will act promptly to protect themselves."

Bilingual Graduation Set May 27

During the 1974-1975 project year, paraprofessional bilingual education teachers at Region IX Education Service Center have been tailoring home-based instruction to meet the unique needs of preschoolers with limited English speaking ability throughout the region.

This project year 125 three, four and five year olds have been serviced in fourteen counties. The Title VII Bilingual Education Director, Ms. Delma J. Banuelos, states that the Service Center recently submitted the proposal for re-funding to the U. S. Office of Education, Bilingual Division. Ms. Banuelos reports that "The Education Service Center, Bilingual Department, should receive notification of funds and services available for the Spanish-speaking preschoolers in Region IX no later than June 30, 1975."

The staff members who have made this program a success are: Mrs. Mary Everett, Mrs. Josefina Elsbury, Mrs. Maria Lenart, and Mrs. Hortense Hidalgo in Wichita, Knox, Seymour, Archer, Clay and Montague counties. Mrs. Maria Luisa Molina has worked closely with students and parents in Young, Jack, and Throckmorton counties. Mrs. Bertha Garcia teaches thirteen preschoolers in Wilbarger, Hardeman, and Childress counties. Ms. Stephanie Fernandez and Mrs. Betty Alvarez reach children and their families in Munday and Haskell. All teachers in the Service Center's Bilingual Department make extensive efforts to teach their pupils on an individualized basis which will permit the children to progress at their own rate of learning in the basic areas of instruction. A great deal of time and in-service training has been spent by teachers and the Director to individualize learning experiences for the bilingual early childhood classes, and the results are remarkable. Bilingual teachers instruct groups of not more than five children for 1 1/2 hours twice a week in one of the participating homes. The teachers and project parents report a high level of student morale, good discipline, and satisfactory gains in the acquisition of basic skills.

Parental involvement is one of the main emphasis of the program, as is the training of paraprofessionals from the communities in Region IX. Much of the educational success of children can be attributed to parent and community involvement.

Bilingual-Bicultural education is the use of two languages as a medium of instruction for part or all of the curriculum. Culture and history associated with the students' mother tongue are of utmost importance. Learning experiences are presented early. A comprehensive program develops and maintains a students self-esteem and pride in two languages and cultures.

The following schedule serves to inform interested persons of graduation exercises for the preschool participants for 1974-1975. The public cordially invited to attend May 27; 7:30 p.m. Haskell National Bank Bldg. Room 1010.

Each child in the project will receive a diploma from the Director of Bilingual Education. Ms. Delma J. Banuelos

YOUR PEW TALKED

While you were absent last Sunday, your pew talked about you. In fact, it talked so loudly that it distracted some and they missed most of the service wondering if the things it said were true.

It told the pastor that you didn't care for his message; that it didn't suit your mood, and that you wished he would find something more exciting to talk about, or better still, resign his office and let someone else try.

It told the other members that you didn't care if the Church continued or not; that you didn't intend to be tied down to any duties that might help the Church grow, and that, furthermore, you cared very little for their company.

It told the visitors that there was something wrong with the Church, though it couldn't say what, and that they probably wouldn't be satisfied there either.

It told the lost person in the next pew that you didn't care about his soul, that you weren't about to waste your time praying for him and helping to provide a Spiritual atmosphere that would help him find Salvation.

It told the Lord that you were backslidden; that you loved pleasure more than you loved God; that you were determined to live your own life without His guidance, and you dared Him to change your ways.

"Sick?" Well maybe. But you will be on the job on time Monday morning. Yes, your pew had plenty of room to talk last Sunday. I wonder what it will say next Sunday.

College Scholarships Available To 4-H'ers

CHICAGO, ILL.—The cost of attending college will be up 6 to 8 per cent in the fall of 1975 says the College Entrance Examination Board in a recent survey of 2,400 schools.

To help students meet higher education bills, nearly 60 private-sector donors like Santa Fe Industries are funding scholarships this year in programs supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service and arranged by the National 4-H Service Committee, Chicago.

Santa Fe Industries will present $13,500 in college scholarships to 27 qualified 4-H'ers in 1975. The $500 grants will go to young men and women who have completed at least one year of 4-H work.

Scholarships are apportioned to states served by the donor. The Santa Fe Railway System will offer scholarships in the states of Arizona, California, Colorado, Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas. Scholarships in Indiana and Iowa are awarded through Gulf Central Pipeline Company, a Santa Fe Industries Company.

Winners will be chosen by the Extension Service later this year and announced at the 54th National 4-H Congress, Nov. 30-Dec. 4 in Chicago.

The Santa Fe companies also offer 60 educational awards in connection with National 4-H Congress to the previously listed 11 states plus Louisiana and Nebraska. The awards program is designed to encourage leadership ability, character and citizenship development.

C. Mrs. Yakey attended dances at the White House and had a young representative as an escort. She attended a reception given by Eleanor Roosevelt. She visited the Hall of Independence where she asked the chaperone if she might put her

ed to states served by the donor. The Santa Fe Railway System will offer scholarships in the states of Arizona, California, Colorado, Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas. Remember
Reddy
 Supplies the energy—
 but only YOU can use it wisely!

Reddy's helpful tips for your Room Air-Conditioners

Your air-conditioner will operate inefficiently if filters are not cleaned regularly. Dirt and lint, collected on the filters, restricts air flow to the coils. Clean filters every two weeks.

Let nature help you save energy by shading your home with trees and shrubs to help cut down on summer cooling costs. Draw draperies against afternoon sun.

Remember to keep outside doors, windows, and fireplace dampers closed. If you have window units, close the heating vents near the floor, as cool air falls and can escape through vents.

You purchased fine-home comfort when you bought your air conditioning unit. Properly maintained, it will offer you years of efficient service. A once-a-year check-up by your dealer pays dividends in savings on operating and breakdown costs.

Sagerton News

Word was received Thursday that we did not win a first place in the Regional T.C.I.P. judging, and at first we were disappointed until we remembered that we did accomplish what we entered the program for—we kept our community clean and made improvements on our community center, our park, our landfill, our roads, and other things to make our community a better place to live. The fellowship and togetherness that we feel from working together is always an asset to any community. Our pride in our community will stay with us, and we look forward to working together to keep our community neat.

It's time your family stopped being just "Smith Harold" in the telephone directory.

The new edition of your telephone directory is going to press soon.

If you have only a single listing, a lot of people are going to have trouble looking up other members of your family.

Certainly, your wife deserves her own listing. And giving a teen-ager a place in the directory is a nice way of saying "You're growing up."

To add or change a listing just call our business office. They can tell you how little extra an additional listing will cost.

It's as easy as picking up the phone.
