INDIANS LOSE DISTRICT OPENER

The Haskell Indians met the Knox City Greyhounds there Friday night for the opening of district play. The Greyhounds defeated the Indians 20-14 in a hard fought battle to the very end.

The Indians took the opening kick off and moved the ball 28 yards in 8 plays down to the Hounds 32, but hard luck hit the Indians again, and the Hounds intercepted a pass and brought it out to the 35. Jerry Stamps picked up 20 yards on the first carry. It took the Hounds 13 plays to cover 65 yards and their first TD.

Jimmy Moore passed to Rickey Bishop for a 6 yard pass to score the 6 points. PAT was blocked by Richard Rodriquez. The Indians had another drive going late in the first quarter, but again gave up the ball on a fumble. This ended the first period, the score 6-0.

The Indians did a good job on defense in the second period holding the Hounds to a -3 yards on the ground. With 4:18 left in the half QB Jimmy Moore hit Mark Howell for a 14 yard TD pass, and then hit Stamps for 2 for PAT.

Gary McAdams started quarterbacking late in the second period and the Indians moved the ball to the Hounds 36 only to lose it again on an interception. Two plays later Cris Love intercepted a Hound pass and the half ended with the Hounds out front 14-0.

On the opening kickoff Stamps took the ball on the 27 and carried it for a 73 yard TD. PAT failed. This gave the Hounds a 20-0 lead. The Indians came to life and with good runs from Love, Phenister and Marshall they moved the ball to the 21. McAdams hit Rex Pittman for the Indians first TD. Love carried the ball around right end for 2. The great defense of the Indians held the Hounds to 4 yards and forced them to punt. The Indians controlled the ball completely in the third period, allowing the Hounds only four plays. The third quarter ended with the Indians on the 3. The Hounds defense held the Indians for three downs. On fourth and 1 McAdams carried the ball over for the second Indian score. PAT failed.

The Indians recovered an on side kick, but could not move the ball. Three plays later Love intercepted another pass, only to lose the ball two plays later on a fumble. From this time on until the game was over it was a defensive

Haskell Trap Club to Hold Handicap

The Haskell Trap Club will hold the Richard Adams Memorial Handicap commencing after the Singles event Sunday Oct. 26. This is the second year that Haskell has offered this special event for trap shooters.

Environmental Pollution. That's the big topic today. On the street corner, in school, at the office, out on the farm... even in the White House. Did something happen in the last year or so to suddenly cause "Pollution?" Of course not. Pollution is at least as old as man. However, it's probably true that some factors in the environmental situation have become much more obvious during recent years. In too many cases, pollution has been the by-product of progress.

The pollution that has resulted from our quest for a more civilized existence has come in part from our desire to have the very best of everything, at the least possible cost. So, if we wanted a new and better product, we concentrated on making one. Such goals are no longer adequate. Our health and the health of other living creatures, the air, water, food and land we need for life, and the very climate that surrounds us must receive closer attention.

What about agriculture? How has the agricultural community contributed to environmental contamination and what is it doing to correct it? Basically, agricultural pollution could occur from four areas: soil erosion, fertilizers, animal wastes and pesticides.

Perhaps you never thought of soil erosion as an area of agricultural pollution, but uncontrolled water runoff can sap the nutrients and productivity of our fields, accumulating sediments in reservoirs and contaminating water supplies. Yet since the creation of the Soil Conservation Service during the Dust Bowl days of the 30's, close cooperation between government and agriculture has helped to cure this once major source of agricultural pollution. Continued education, soil and water conservation practices, and inspired farm management have all played a role in controlling soil erosion.

Fertilizers and pesticides have been under attack for some time now. It is said that when large amounts of fertilizers are used, nitrates and phosphates percolate through the soil, contaminating our streams and rivers. But, little is said about the nitrates and phosphates from detergents, municipal and industrial wastes, that run almost directly into our lakes and streams.

While tending livestock may have been the very first agricultural practice, the waste disposal problems of the giant feedlots are a very new problem. Even with the depressed cattle markets of today, government and commercial research efforts are still being carried on for a solution to this agricultural pollution problem.

Pesticides, another of agriculture's needed tools, is constantly under attack. To insure consumer safety, Government requires industry to conduct 7-10 year lab and field tests, on all new chemicals before they can be sold and used. Without effective modern pesticides to control agricultural pests, crop and livestock production would drop by 40%.

Whatever the source of our environmental ills, the solution will lie in broad-purpose planning and use of our agricultural facilities. If you need assistance in controlling soil erosion on your land or don't know just how much fertilizer you need apply or you need assistance of another type, contact your SWCD Director or your Soil Conservation Service Technician.

The Raiders gained the lead with a touchdown and PAT and at half time the score remained 8-6.

Mental Retardation

This is the third in a series of articles about Mental Retardation prepared by Mrs. Eugene Cochran and the Public Committee of the Texas Association for Retarded Children.

IN SERIES
The mental retardation of a child or adult does not differ from those of the "average" person. He has the same emotions, hopes and fears. He feels love and is happy or sad, sick, satisfied or his intellectual level below "average". He must have special guidance and order to adjust to become a happy citizen. Twenty-three mentally retarded persons are trainable to some degree, depending on the severity of their retardation and related physical handicaps. Their training course MUST be specifically adapted to the individual's needs and capabilities and begin EARLY in the child's life.

Properly diagnosing and evaluating these needs is one of the most important steps in the care and training program of all state agencies. Diagnostic services at the community level are available through the Independent School Districts—either the community district in which you live or the Haskell-Knox Consortium. John McGaughy, Director, PH: 658-3851, O'Brien Tx., 79539, Box 2548; the Region 9 Education Service Center, Texas Education Agency, 3014 Old Seymour Rd., Wichita Falls, Tx. 76309; the Department of Public Welfare, Laura Miller, Haskell County Courthouse, PH: 864-2682; Mental Health-Mental Retardation Community Centers such as the Tri-County Mental Health Clinic, Aubrey Headstream, Director, 1301 N. 1st, Haskell, 79521, PH: 864-3472; the Texas Rehabilitation Commission, Ted Elliott, Director, 309 S. 1st, PH: 864-3027 and all local public and private medical and psychology agencies.

There are 23 Mental Health-Mental Retardation Centers in Texas and more planning is being done to serve the 330,000 mentally retarded persons residing in Texas on a Regional basis.

Community and Regional MH-MR Centers, under the supervision of the Texas Department of Mental Health-Mental Retardation (TDMHMR), are financed by combinations of local state, and federal funds. In addition to specialized medical and psychiatric services, some centers also provide special educational services, self-help and social development training, vocational training, sheltered workshop training and counseling for the family and parents of the mentally retarded. Through such community centers, the State's mentally retarded persons can be evaluated and placed in training programs within the community.

Diagnostic and Evaluation services are also necessary for placement of persons in one of the Texas (state's) 10 special schools. Extensive tests are given to determine I.Q., behavior patterns and acquired skills. The family is interviewed and all available data gathered. This information is then evaluated to determine the proper placement for the retarded person. It has become increasingly clear that while institutions can offer an important service, they can reach only a small percent of the population of retarded persons of Texas. It is up to the community mental retardation centers to take the lead in providing services of all types.

With proper diagnosis of a retarded person's needs, he often can be given adequate training within his own community through special education programs in public schools, etc.

Rural areas, such as the Haskell-Knox area need such services and these, too, are now beginning to be met through "OUTREACH" programs from state schools for the retarded. Haskell benefits from 2 such programs, the Early Childhood program and the Haskell Training Center. Diagnostic and Evaluation services and other services are such as day care and infant stimulation programs are also available through these cooperative approaches. Again, the local, state and federal funds are being used for these programs.

Two major findings are important to note in in-depth diagnostic and evaluation studies. First, researchers have learned that the retarded person can be trained to perform at much higher levels than previously believed. Secondly, studies show that poverty and cultural deprivation plays an important role in the performance levels of retarded persons.

The training levels in the state schools in Texas have risen tremendously in recent years, through programs of intensive training and attention (Foster Grandparents, etc.).

Pilot programs have shown that I.Q.'s of a mentally retarded child from a middle-class family can be expected to fall slightly after moving into a state school; while the I. Q. of a child from a deprived environment often rises noticeably.

New methods of caring for and teaching the mentally retarded are being developed daily. These methods, programs and services cannot be effectively applied without the achievement of the FIRST step—proper diagnosis and evaluation.

The Bob Herrens have spent the last two week ends in Tulsa, Okla. with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Howard, Rob, Danna and Kim. They saw grandson, Rob play football with the Hale Rangers. Between week ends, the Herrens were in Temple to be with Mrs. Herrens' uncle, Royal L. Mullins of Wolfe City, who had surgery at Scott & White.

HERREN INSURANCE AGENCY
PHONE 864-3322

With the cost of auto repairs going up, how will this affect my collision insurance?

Rising auto repair costs have a definite correlation to future rates for collision insurance. During the next year, state Automobile Insurance Boards, all over the country, will meet to examine and most probably re-set collision rates. The rates will be determined statistically on a pro rata basis according to surveys taken in their applicable geographic area to ascertain what it will cost to repair automobiles in the present and near future. This cost will mark the course collision insurance rates must take in order to be feasible... both to the public and to the companies.

RULE PHILADELPHIAN CLUB NEWS

"Today with Texas Ethnic Cultures" was the theme of the Texas Day program when Rule Philadelphians met Thursday, October 16, for their monthly meeting. Mrs. W. D. Payne was the Director for the Program. She introduced the program which was led by Mrs. A. D. May. Mrs. Ed Cloud led the pledge of allegiance and the salute to the Texas flag. Mrs. W. S. Cole gave Federation news, a report on the Mesquite District Meeting in Anson. Mrs. John Greeson assisted Mrs. Cole with the report, as she and Mrs. J. A. Lisle attended the District Meeting.

"Folklife Festival - San Antonio, Texas" was the subject of the program presented by Mrs. May, who attended the Festival in August of this year. A most interesting presentation of slides and movies and narration on the story of Texas Ethnic groups was given. There are 26 Major Ethnic Groups in Texas and many of them still carry on the traditions of their past. The festival was originated in September of 1972 by R. H. Shuffler in the interest of the many cultures which make up Texans, and was held at the site of the Hemisphere grounds, with many stages and booths set up for demonstrations on arts, folk dances, foods, and other contributions made by the many cultures, diverse and yet united, and is known as "Texas biggest block party." The attendance has grown each year from 6,000 to 102,000 this year.

During the business session, presided over by Mrs. John Greeson, reports were heard, and members were reminded of their gifts to the Vernon Home to be brought to the November meeting.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. O. G. Lewis and Mrs. J. E. Geer. The Club House was decorated with the colors of red, white, and blue. The meeting was closed with the group singing, "Texas, Our Texas" led by Mrs. W. S. Cole, accompanied by Mrs. Frank Campbell on the piano, and those present reciting the "Club Collect in unison.

CUB SCOUTS

The Rule Cub Scouts Den 1 Troop 144, met Thursday, October 16, for their regular weekly meeting.

The cub scouts have been pretty busy this week. We decorated our windows for

Some folks are saying the most amazing thing about the Beafalo may be that it's the only breed on record more than one-half bull. Most cattlemen agree the new breed may hold a lot of promise for the industry but many of them are hedging their predictions with a wait-and-see attitude. Founder of the breed, Bud Basolo, got everybody's attention last year by announcing the sale of a Beafalo bull for two and a half million dollars. And a lot of those first in line to begin raising the California-spawned breed are quick to praise the animals for rapid gain on basically forage rations, hardy adaptation to sparse land and nutritious meat. One of the problems is an extensive study done in Canada on an earlier beaf-buffalo cross which showed poor results. Promoters of the American breed say those problems were all solved with today's Beafalo which is one-quarter Hereford, three-eighths Charolais and three-eighths Buffalo.

Halloween. Each scout made a decoration to be put in the window.

We had a poster contest this week. Each scout made a Halloween poster and then we had them judged. Our judges were Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Rhinehart. The first place winner was Clayton Sorrells, second place, Paul Sorrells, third place, Phillip DeBusk, fourth place Randy Andrews. The boys all worked very hard and did a good job on their posters.

We also had a father and son project this week. They made wooden model boats and some of them were painted. These boats are on display at the scout den.

We also started a rock and bug collection, which will be added to each week.

Last week we had a football contest. Each scout kicked and passed the football. The winner of the contest was Paul Sorrells.

Refreshments were served and then we were dismissed. Those present were: Randy Andrews, Paul Sorrells, Kevin Meiers, Phillip DeBusk, Lester Walker, Larson Wampler, Stephen Lusk, Clayton Sorrells, and Den Leader, Mrs. Doyle Sorrells.

Reddy's helpful tips for your Home Laundry

Wash and dry a full load, but never overload... it is essential for each item to move freely for proper cleaning and drying.

Choose the correct cycle for washing modern materials. Perhaps hot water isn't needed, and only a gentle drying temperature.

Many manufacturers of permanent press garments recommend machine washing and machine drying for best results. Following instructions on the garment tag can help preserve the life of your clothing and give you wrinkle-free clothes without need for ironing. A big savings!

Garden Club Picks Yards Of the Month

The Haskell Garden Club has resumed reviewing yards and gardens of the town. Selections are made according to beauty, design and grooming. The following were selected for October: Clyde Bland home, 1806 N. Ave. G. Fall colors are predominately shown with the use of marigolds planted around trees in the front yard. A large bed of pink periwinkles also surround one tree in the front yard. The north side of the yard had the same color of flowers. The entire back fence, north and east is planted in colorful cannas. The lawn is well trimmed which aids in the overall appearance of the home. The A. R. Hannsz home 1801 N. Ave. G. This home presented such a spacious and beautiful view. The large clump of numerous flowers located in the north end of the yard provided a good balance for the rest of the yard. The shrubbery planted close to the house is in correct proportion to the architecture. A beautiful hedge of arborvitae at the back of the lot provides a screen from the west. Kenneth Lane home 1102 N. Ave. G. Several new planter boxes make for an attractive view here. The south box has red geraniums; this box is on a straight line. The box on the north side of the yard is circular, with a large tree in the center, and pink oxalis forming the border. Peeking over the fence something caught the viewer's eye; perhaps more will be known about it at a later date. Fall yards are promising in beauty and color. Soon many chrysanthemums will be in full bloom. November yards will be a treat to see.
