Heavy Snow Brings Moisture of .35 Inch Here

Heaviest snowfall for this area in several years blanketed Haskell county to a depth of four inches Tuesday night, and was general over a wide section of West Texas. The snow also provided the first beneficial moisture received here in more than five months with the moisture content measured at .35 inch in this city. A stiff north wind during Tuesday night piled the snow in drifts on farm roads, and gave highways an icy coating that slowed travel and delayed bus schedules through Haskell during the day Wednesday. The frigid blast brought a low reading of 18 degrees early Wednesday, with a high of 23 during the day. Thursday morning's low reading was 13 degrees here. Moisture from the snowfall will likely be of benefit to spring crops and barley, farmers believe. It may revive some wheat that has survived the previous hard freeze in early February, sufficiently at least to provide grazing.

Haskell Stores Feature Many Dollar Day Bargains Feb. 20

Dollars spent in Haskell have added purchasing power Tuesday, February 20th when Haskell merchants sponsor their second monthly Trades Day of the year. A number of Haskell stores, including a variety of retail establishments, are participating in the February event—some on almost a store-wide scale with scores of extra values featured for Dollar Day. Although prices have increased steadily in recent months on practically all lines of retail merchandise, local merchants have been able to offset the advance to some extent because of increasing volume of business developed in Haskell trade territory and have kept prices at consistent levels. In furthering that policy, stores cooperating in the Dollar Day event are featuring exceptional bargains on new, timely stocks of merchandise for the February 20th sales event. Sponsors include all types of retail business with reduced Dollar Day prices on items for every member of the family, for the home, the farm or the automobile. A partial list of Dollar Day values to be offered people of the Haskell territory on Feb. 20 can be seen in the advertisements of the cooperating stores which appear in this issue of The Free Press.

Deranged Sagerton Farmer Slays Wife and Himself

A prominent Sagerton farmer who apparently became suddenly deranged following a period of several weeks of noticeable moodiness and despondency, early Tuesday morning shot and bludgeoned his wife to death and then ended his own life with a blast from a 12 gauge shotgun. Victims of the stark tragedy were Herbert Herman Lehmann, 35; and his wife, Mrs. Alma Lehmann, 38. Under treatment in the Stamford Hospital suffering with a fractured right shoulder, lacerations on the forehead, shock and exposure is Mrs. Amelia Nierdieck, 77, mother of Mrs. Lehmann; and a 13-year-old daughter of the Lehmanns, Margie Ann, was hospitalized with an injury to her left foot and a bruise on her forehead. All were at the Lehmann home when the tragedy occurred, as were two other children of the farm couple, James Wesley, 5, and their 14-month-old baby daughter, Sarah Jane. Neither of the younger children were injured. Sheriff Bob Cousins, Deputy Harry Donoho and District Attorney John H. Banks, who were joined in an investigation of the tragedy by Justice of the Peace Bennett Hess of Sagerton placed the time of the occurrence at between 6:30 and 7 a. m. Tuesday. Following their investigation, Justice Hess said he would render a verdict of murder and suicide in the deaths. First hint of the slaying and suicide came, officers learned, when Margie Ann went to the home of a neighbor, Bobby Spitzer, at early dawn Tuesday and told them her parents were having trouble. The little girl had awakened and heard the tumult in her parents' bedroom. She ran from the house but was overtaken by her father, who made her return to her bedroom. Then she forced open a window and made her way from the house to get the family car and drive to the neighbors. Spitzer and another neighbor, Claude Guinn, and Herbert Nierdieck, brother of Mrs. Lehmann were first to go to the Lehmann home. They called, but received no answer. They could hear the 14-month-old baby crying and entering found the child in her crib, and James Wesley, the other child in bed. Mrs. Nierdieck, who had been making her home with her daughter and son-in-law, had escaped from the house and gone to a neighbor's home. Officers were notified and on their arrival found the body of Mrs. Lehmann beside the blood-spattered bed, and body of her husband at the foot of the bed, with a shotgun lying at his feet. Mrs. Lehmann had been shot once in the back, above the hip, with a 22 bullet and had a severe gash and wound in the back of her head evidently inflicted with the rifle barrel. Her skull was fractured, and she had several bruises on her head. The broken handle of a heavy rubber mallet was also found in (Continued on Page Ten)

District Judge Ben Charlie Chapman and District Attorney John H. Banks were in Aspermont Monday for a session of the Stonewall Grand Jury, which returned indictments against Howard Fitzgerald, about 35, and Kenneth Hays, about 25, on a charge of assault with intent to murder. The indictments were the outcome of a shooting affair early Friday afternoon when Sheriff Warren W. Frazier and County Attorney Jack Railsback were fired at twice while making a search near the Fitzgerald home about a mile southwest of Aspermont. Sheriff Frazier and County Attorney Railsback had gone to a public dump ground about a quarter of a mile from the Fitzgerald home to search for contraband whiskey believed to be in the rubbish. ### Measles Reach Mild Epidemic Stage in State Measles in Texas is reaching a mild epidemic stage at present, with outbreaks following closely the main lines of travel across the State, according to information made public today by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

The peculiar pattern of this spread of measles re-emphasizes the fact that it is a contagious disease, passed on from one person to another," Dr. Cox said.

"Guard against exposure by avoiding contact with measles patients," Dr. Cox said that measles alone is not necessarily a dangerous disease, but dangerous complications, such as streptococcus, mastoiditis, and pneumonia which frequently follow, make it a disease to be carefully nursed, with close attention from a doctor.

"Unskilled treatment of a plain case of measles can result in complications which often kill," Dr. Cox warned, "and it is not to be regarded lightly as simply another childhood disease."

Dr. Cox urged parents to carefully watch children exposed, and at the first sign of temperature, flushed face, sniffles, or watering eye, advised that the child be put to bed immediately and placed under a doctor's care.

in Russia since the days of Ivan the Terrible—the control of the whole life of the people by a few all-powerful men. And that it was only with the birth of this country and the setting up of democracies in Europe that government became a servant of the free individuals. "We must act affirmatively to let the world know the truth," Hart said. He urged young men to devote themselves to public service and to encourage their fellow citizens when they undertake to do so.

There are some 900 farmer co-operatives in Texas. About one-third of these are cooperative cotton gins. Local cooperatives with an average of about 200 members make up 95 per cent of the total number.

Texas cooperatives last year borrowed more than 22.8 million dollars from the Houston Bank of Cooperatives and much of it was invested in modern equipment and facilities for handling farmers' crops.

The average dairy cow will consume from 100 to 120 pounds of water daily and if this water is not supplied, milk production drops off rapidly for milk is approximately 87 per cent water.

High yielding pastures are a cash crop and should be treated as such.

Stockmen Should Provide Reserve Supply of Feed

The unfavorable weather conditions existing over most of Texas this winter can hardly be considered beneficial to the livestock man. However, the situation may be a blessing in disguise—if it makes the farmer and livestock producer realize the necessity for having a reserve supply of feed.

A. W. Crain, associate pasture specialist for the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service, points out that farmers can learn a valuable lesson from the present situation. He advised them to plan a "complete" forage program.

Regardless of how good a permanent pasture is, for adequate forage to be provided at all times it must be supplemented—with stored roughage and supplemental pastures.

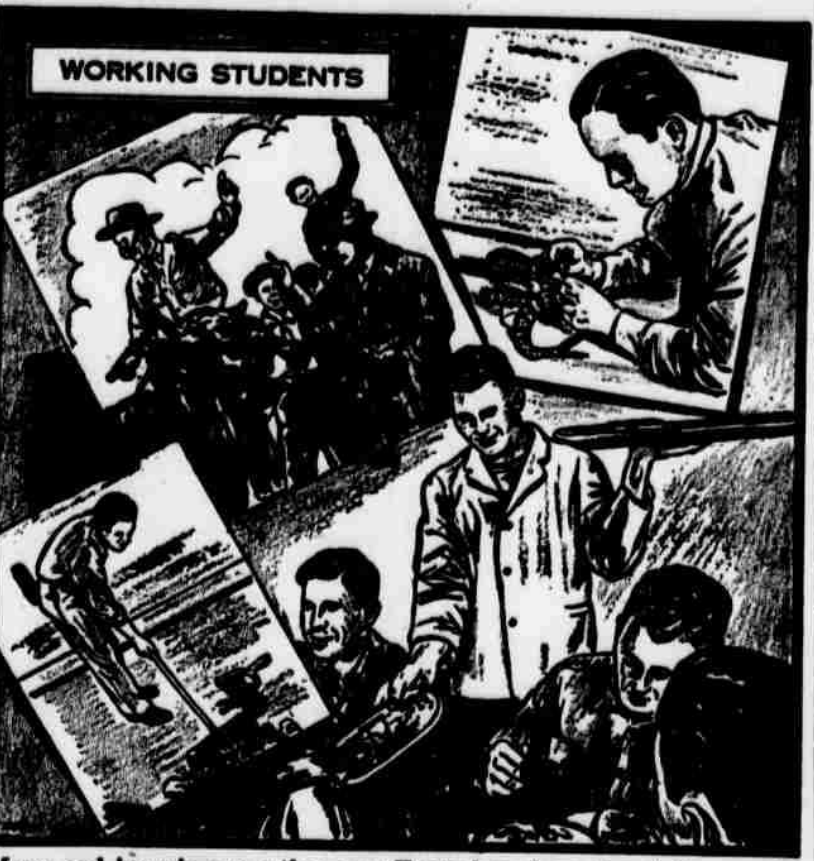

By properly planning his supplement pastures, a farmer can usually provide ample forage during the seasons when grazing from permanent pastures is inadequate. Crain observes, however that this past winter is an example of the "unusual season" for which the livestock man must always be prepared. Neither permanent nor supplemental pastures will furnish grazing under very adverse weather conditions.

Crain suggests that the farmer provide at least one ton of hay and three tons of silage for each cow on his farm. Without silage, at least two tons of hay are needed. He says that forage retains more of its nutritive value when stored as silage than when stored as hay.

Texas Venture

In Education • 1876-1951
Our first state college—Texas A. and M. is now in its seventy-fifth year

Many and ingenious are the ways Texas boys have found for earning all or a part of their college expenses in order to secure an education. The old standby jobs of janitor and mess hall waiter have long been popular with working students at the A. and M. College of Texas, while others have found new and novel ways of their own after the standard jobs were filled. One of the Southwest's leading auctioneers today worked his way through school as a student auctioneer at A. and M. A present member of Congress divided his working time between the horse barn and mail delivery. Many biology students have earned extra money catching poisonous snakes for study or to "milk" them of their poison for sale to manufacturers of medicines. One enterprising lad raised beavers on the campus and sold their pelts. Records of working students at A. and M. show that on the average their grades are as good, if not better, than those of boys who do not have to earn a part of their own expenses.

$25 Daily Pay Is Proposed For State Legislators

A constitutional amendment to increase the pay per day of legislators to $25 from the present $10 maximum—has been introduced in the house of representatives at Austin by Rep. Deno Tufares of Wichita Falls.

Also filed was a measure by Rep. Clyde Whiteside of Seymour to protect property buyers after they had gotten a certificate to the effect that all taxes have been paid on the real estate in question.

The proposed legislation has not been assigned to a house committee yet.

Tufares' joint resolution (constitutional amendment) would allow members of the legislature per diem of $25 per day for the first 150 days of each session, and $10 thereafter. Lawmakers get no salary.

Present law allows per diem, or expense money, at the rate of $10 for the first 120 days of a session, and $5 after that.

Tufares provides mileage for going to and from Austin up to a maximum of $5 for every 25 miles. The amendment, if it gets two-thirds approval by both legislative houses, would be voted on at the 1952 general election according to present terms.

Whiteside's bill would allow use of tax certificates as conclusive evidence of full payment of all taxes, interest, penalties and costs due on the property described for all years to and including the year stated.

The bill is needed, the measure says, because "owners of property in counties containing less than 210,000 population have no way of definitely ascertaining that all taxes have heretofore been paid."

Cotton and Wheat Crops Smaller In Texas Last Year

According to a late 1950 release from the United States Department of Agriculture through its bureau of Agricultural Economics, the short production of cotton and wheat contributed heavily to an aggregate production of all field crops somewhat below the usually large harvest in 1949.

A total of 25 million acres of all crops harvested in 1950 fell more than five million acres below that for 1949 and to the lowest level in more than 25 years of record. Heavy abandonment of wheat took three and one-third million acres of land out and acreage allotments contributed to a reduction of almost four million acres of cotton.

A severe infestation of insects and spotted droughts in the state accounted for much of the trouble. Lack of needed moisture at the right time caused a problem, which turned perhaps into something of a blessing by diverting much land to grain sorghums production in those areas usually growing this crop heavily. The 1950 sorghum grain crop was far the largest of record, exceeding the previous record crop in 1944 by more than 50 percent.

Family Budget
Termed Design For Living

The threat of higher taxes, rising food costs and decreased dollar values are making many housewives think in terms of a family budget.

Many persons think a family budget is just a record where income is spent. Miss Lola Drew, associate professor of home management at Texas Tech, thinks otherwise.

"A budget is a system of worrying about your money before you spend it instead of after," she says. "A budget is a plan for tomorrow not just a record of yesterday."

Budgeting means dollar planning—an advance scheme for fitting spending to terms of food, shelter, clothing, insurance, personal allowances and other items of the family costs.

Miss Drew says a budget is a means of getting what you want not a way to keep you from it. Budgeting is a design for living, not a set of percentages. It calls for cooperation and understanding in place of nagging and resentment about money.

"Family budgeting is a management problem," she says. "Money is related to every family problem. Husband, wife and children all must understand the whole income, for it belongs to the whole family."

Miss Drew lists several "budget busters" what can be done to make the budget work:

1—Many persons think budgeting is merely bookkeeping. But a good plan, made in advance, requires little bookkeeping and can be adjusted easily.

2—People try to fit their spending plans into an artificial mold. The budget should, instead, within the limits of the income, fit the desires in life and the standards and ambitions of each member of the family.

3—Someone in the family attempts to force the others to economize on personal items or to change spending habits abruptly. Each member should have his own allowance for personal expenses without being accountable for his allowance.

4—The unexpected usually happens. If the budget is unyielding and rigid, it will break under the strain. Always provide a certain amount for the unexpected.

5—Emotional strains in the family can cause budget failure. Lack of stability and security in other relationships may result in carelessness with money. Social workers or other experts often can help in finding and curing the difficulty.

"Managing money can be exciting," Miss Drew says. "Friendliness, cooperation, love and laughter go hand in hand with those who join the game. There can be no resentment when everyone understands the expense of the home and when each can contribute his best ideas to the making of a spending plan."

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Many government officials say present national inflation is caused, in part, by too much money being in circulation. But another set of officials took a different action to solve Norway's inflation, according to ECA Bulletin #1956.

Marshall Plan gives Norway $150 million to combat inflationary pressures resulting from the excessive amount of money pumped into the nation's economy during the war.

In other countries American taxpayers' dollars have been given to fight deflation. "It is hoped," observers remark, "that if any city is bombed defense officials will agree."

"Otherwise some will order water poured on the blaze; others will order gasoline pumped on the flames."

"I shall expect the Federal Trade Commission to be alert and vigorous in its enforcement," Pres. Truman signing the anti-trust bill designed to plug a gap in anti-trust laws.

But, small business leaders say, will this mean just more "big service," as Wendell Berge, former head of the Dept. of Justice Anti-Trust Division, labeled anti-trust enforcement for the past 35 years before a Congressional committee.

Anti-trust laws enforcement protecting the public is the responsibility of the Justice Department and the Federal Trade Commission.

Commission. There is great concern over the work of the FTC.

Congress has never, despite requests from organized small business, given the FTC enough money to do a job. During the present session, organized small business will again urge Congress to act.

Simultaneously, Congress will also scrutinize the entire FTC organization to see if the money will be properly spent, as a horse led to water cannot be made to drink. This probe has already started. A report just released by the House Small Business Committee spotlights glaring deficiencies in the FTC.

The report states internal strife and office politics pervade the agency. The report also refers to a "premium placed on inter-office deals, strategic alliances," etc. Investigating Congressmen also found that the FTC is split into small cliques with every division jealous of any powers given any other division.

The House Small Business Committee also accuses the FTC of jumping on a horse and galloping off in all directions.

Investigators found the FTC failed to follow up on cases. Why? Congressmen are determined to find out. Next week there'll be more facts.

Everybody knows small newspapers are plagued with a shortage of newsprint, also exorbitant newsprint prices.

That is, everyone knows except apparently Marshall Plan officials, who have given $1 million worth of newsprint to Ireland, or the equivalent of a year's supply for 1,000 substantial American weekly newspapers.

Proper Care Adds Longer Life To Nylon Fabrics

Ruffles, intricate gathers, pleats and cobweb lace no longer are considered fragile and for the favored few. In fact, since nylon with its durability and ease of washing has come on the scene, more and more homemakers can afford these extra features in their wardrobe. Research has been constantly on the job to develop the best methods of caring for nylon.

Miss Thelma Wirges, Haskell County Demonstration Agent, suggests washing nylon this way. Wash nylon articles frequently using any of the usual household soaps. Handwashing is recommended for delicate trimmings. Squeeze the suds through the fabric. Rinse thoroughly with warm water. Lightly squeeze out excess moisture, smooth out the seams or hems and hang to dry.

Miss Wirges says that it is all right also hang out nylon articles dripping wet, indoors or out. However, too much direct sunlight may fade the colors eventually.

Many nylon fabrics, hung when wet and smoothed out by hand, will need little or no ironing. If a nylon fabric does need pressing, Miss Wirges suggests that it be done damp or dry with a moderately hot iron. When washing nylon in hard water, a softener will prevent the deposit of curds of insoluble soap. Strong bleaches will weaken nylon as they will other fibers. Miss Wirges says to use them carefully and only when unsightly stains or discolorations cannot be removed by proper washing and cleaning. Bluing is not necessary for white nylon, but if being washed with other white fabrics, it is all right to use blue flakes in the wash water.

Harrison County
H-D Club Women Operate Market

Home Demonstration Club women near Marshall, Harrison county have carried on an outstanding project of marketing fresh vegetables, fryers, sausage and baked goods during the past year. Myrtle Murray, extension specialist in home marketing, says that a total of $2,496.18 in produce has been taken in by six of the Home Demonstration Clubs in this county.

One of the market's steadiest producers and sellers is Mrs. D. W. Fogle of Gill who, in a 12-month period, produced and marketed $1,240.16 worth of produce. Her average monthly sales amounted to $103.34. Her net profit for this year is estimated at $900.

Some of the other home demonstration club women who contributed to the steady operation of the market were Mrs. J. R. Moore, Mrs. A. T. Nelson and Mrs. Glenn Link.

The market is located on West Border Street in Marshall. This demonstration was begun in June, 1949, with the idea of giving the home demonstration women a means of putting into practice the things they learned in their club work and to earn money for home improvements they all wanted. All items sold on the market are produced under the methods taught the club members by extension service workers. By establishing a high standard of quality, this group of women has developed a list of customers who buy out each Saturday's display of vegetables, chickens, eggs, cakes and breads within an hour or so after opening time.

Mrs. Fogle has never missed a Saturday at the market. She says that fresh roasting ears are the seller in their season. "This market has been a big help to me and my family," she says. "With the money I have raised we've been able to install a new water system in our home which was able to do the job."

Mike Ethridge of Weinert Dies Early Sunday

Henry (Mike) Ethridge, 70, well known Weinert resident who came to that section when the Wichita Valley Railway was building through Haskell county died at 7:45 a. m. Sunday in a Wichita Falls hospital. He had been in failing health for several years.

A native of Texas, born May 17, 1880, near Bremond, Texas he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ethridge. He married Miss Sarah Jane Thomas at Otto, Texas, in 1900. She preceded him in death several years ago.

In 1905 Mr. Ethridge moved his family to Haskell county, and he was a contractor on roadbed construction for the Wichita Valley railway. Later he was contractor for county road work and highway building. During the boom days at Electra, Burkburnett and Ranger, Mr. Ethridge did considerable oil field work, and continued in dirt construction for several years.

He also served as Public Weigher at Weinert for a number of years. He retired from business activity several years ago because of declining health. Mr. Ethridge had been a member of the Foursquare Church for about three years.

He is survived by two sons, D. L. (Pat) Ethridge of Kermit and J. L. (Boots) Ethridge of Aspermont; three grandchildren; a half brother, Obie Ethridge of Ennis, Texas; and three half-sisters.

Funeral service for Mr. Ethridge was held at the Weinert Foursquare Gospel Church Tuesday at 2 p. m., conducted by Rev. I. J. Duff of Wilson, Texas and Rev. J. E. Thompson. Burial was in the Pleasant Valley Cemetery under direction of Holden Funeral Home. Active pallbearers were Alvin Bennett, I. N. Furr, Sr., Preston Weinert, Theodore Jones, W. B. Guess, E. D. ### One Hour With God (By Nancy Pence Painter)

On Friday, February 9th we celebrated the World Day of Prayer Service at the First Christian Church. Rev. F. C. Nickerson officiated at the meeting.

The United Council of Christian Women made this service possible. Over 90 countries throughout the world and over 15,000 communities in our land participated in this service.

Today millions of boys are in far-away lands, cold and hungry, to help stop this world conflict. In our land the people feel that high officialdom is not capable of stopping this massacre and so we are slowly turning to God.

It was appalling to note the few people that attended this meeting where sacred music and prayer was conducted. Surely it is far better in being patriotic in a righteous atmosphere than in a jam-packed audience. The boys are spending days in fox holes and yet parents can not spend one hour with God to give prayer and meditation to stop this ghastly war.

IN MEMORY OF J. M. "MODE" COLLINS

Last week we all received a shock. In the passing of our friend, And to many there's a vacancy That will last until the end.

For God chose to call this neighbor, This friend, we grew to love, And our only consolation is He's now resting up above.

We'll miss his sound, wise counsel, We'll miss his helping hand, For "Mode" was friend to everyone.

No matter what his stand, His quiet tone, his modest way, Will long be remembered, With a heart full of compassion for Those less fortunate than he.

And though we feel his loss so much, As we travel 'long life's road, Our lives will be enriched the more, Having known a friend like "Mode."

What's its Power? FIREBALL!
(Only Buick can make this statement)

BEND an ear to the deep baritone song of this marvel motor, and you'll know we aren't fooling when we call it Fireball.

Mister, that's Power, with a capital P.

What happens beneath that brawny Buick bonnet happens in no other car in the world.

Years ahead of the rush to high-compression valve-in-head engines, Buick was in there pitching for more power from every drop of fuel.

The result was—and is—a spectacular engineering phenomenon that makes itself felt the instant you touch toe to gas treadle.

You command a rapid-fire sequence of tiny tornados, letting loose their pent-up power every five inches that a Buick travels.

If you could look inside that Fireball engine, you'd see the reason. Instead of the flat-topped pistons used in other cars, Buick uses a turbo-top piston, contoured like this:

So the inrushing fuel whirlwinds into a compressed ball that adds a super-urge to the downstroke of the piston.

And you get the thrill—and thrift—of this Buick "first" in every mile you drive.

More than that, you get an engine tried-and-true—an engine that's been polished and perfected in every detail up through the years.

Again and again, compression ratios have been stepped up to keep pace with advances in fuels. Self-setting valve lifters contribute to silence. Micropoise balance and Hi-Poised engine mountings add two more Buick exclusives.

And the silken might of this Fireball's power has been made more beautifully obedient by still another "first"—Dynaflow Drive.*

So we list as a prime reason why "smart buy's Buick" this Fireball power plant—and a host of happy owners will say "Amen."

Better see your dealer soon, to find out what you've been missing.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional on other Buick models.

(Continued from First Page) the couple's bedroom, and later the blood-spattered head of the man was found on the back porch of the residence. Traces and splashes of blood were found throughout the home, officers said.

The .22 rifle with a shell jammed in the magazine, was in a closet in the bedroom, and several empty shells from the rifle were found in the house. Three empty shotgun shells were also found in the home.

Lehrmann apparently had shot himself in the stomach with the small rifle, officers surmised, and then secured the shotgun with which he fired one blast into his chest to end his life.

Joint funeral services for the tragedy victims were held Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. in St. Paul's Lutheran Church at Sagerton with the pastor, Rev. O. E. Oelke officiating.

Burial was in Fairview Cemetery at Sagerton under direction of Kinney Funeral Home of Stamford.

Pallbearers for Mrs. Lehrmann were Alvin Bredthauer, M. Y. Benton, Bobby Spitzer, R. Kainer, Elmer Boedecker, and August Balzer.

Named as pallbearers for Mr. Lehrmann were: Herbert Lahlenkamp, Anton Teichelman, Herbert Balze, Reece Clark, Arthur Carlton, Herbert Lammert, and Rudolph Ramm.

Herbert Herman Lehrmann was born May 12, 1915, at Sagerton, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lehrmann, who were among the first German families to come to the area from Washington county after the Wichita Valley Railroad built its line through the southwest part of Haskell county.

Besides his parents and the daughter, Margie Ann, other survivors include a five-year-old son, James Wesley, and a 14-month-old daughter, Sarah Jane; a brother, Otto Lehrmann of Sagerton; two sisters, Mrs. Olga Suter of Old Glory; and Mrs. Lydia Ender of Sagerton.

Mrs. Lehrmann's survivors include, besides her mother and children; a brother, Herbert Nierdick; two sisters, Mrs. Ella Franke of Sagerton; and Mrs. Clara Riewe; of Brownwood.

Her father, who was also one of the early settlers in the Sagerton community, died in 1933.

She was born at Sagerton March 6, 1912. She and Mr. Lehrmann were married at Sagerton 15 years ago.

Poultry Culling Service Offered Flock Owners

Poultry raisers of this section will be afforded an opportunity to have their flocks culled during the next few weeks, according to announcement today by A. T. Ballard, manager of the Market Poultry & Egg Company.

Walter Chatwell, well-known poultry specialist of Lubbock, will be at the Market Poultry & Egg Company store here Monday, February 19th, and poultry raisers who desire to have their flocks culled are invited to come in and sign up on that date.

Mr. Ballard points out that calling non-producers from poultry flocks not only cuts down on expense for feed, but increases production to a marked extent.

Summer Drouth Leaves Perennial Grasses In Critical Condition

The cured forage remaining on pastures in Texas at the present time is higher in quality than during any year in the last 10 to 20.

This higher quality is the result of slow growth made by the grasses during the dry weather last summer and fall, says A. W. Crain, associate pasture specialist for the Texas A. & M. Extension Service.

Because of the drouth, however, the plants were unable to store a reserve food supply in the crown and root systems. Since new spring growth is made from stored food, the plants are in a somewhat critical condition.

Crain warns that, due to this situation, proper management is extremely important when the grasses put up new growth in the spring. He advises allowing little or no grazing until after the plants have made good growth.

Crain recommends making the best possible use of oats and other supplemental grazing crops this spring. This will allow the perennial pasture plants to get off to a start and avoid killing many of these plants.

When they receive adequate rainfall, the supplemental forage plants will grow rapidly and carry a large number of animals. Better utilization of the supplemental forage and better permanent pastures will result if the perennial grasses are not grazed for the first month or two after growth begins.

Forage For Dairy Herd Outlined In New Circular

"Good grass is the cheapest and best food for a dairy cow. Grazing must be supplemented with hay and silage to supply all the forage that cows will eat every day of the year."

There is nothing new in the above quotation, but the publication from which it was lifted is brand new. It appears on the front of a new circular prepared by Texas A. & M. College extension specialists.

Extension Circular No. 286, "A Forage Program for the Dairy Herd", is just what the title implies—a complete outline for a forage program. It was prepared by four extension specialists—Richard E. Burleson, associate dairy husbandman; A. W. Crain, associate pasture specialist; E. A. Miller, agronomist; and M. K. Thornton, agricultural chemist.

The publication gives in table form the recommended grasses and legumes for Texas. These pasture plants are listed under soil area, type of pasture, and growing season. On the back of the circular, the specialists have included a map showing the different soil areas of the state. The recommended fertilizer applications are also given for the different classes of pasture plants for each soil area.

Another table lists the grasses and legumes grown in Texas that are suitable for hay crops. It also gives the cutting stages for the different classes of forage plants, and certain recommended hay production practices. The last column of the table gives suggestions for feeding the hay.

A third table contains information on silage. Suitable plants, cutting stages, and recommended production practices are listed along with information on storing silage.

The requirements per cow for the three forms of forage—grazing, hay, and silage—are given at the top of the respective tables. This six-page circular carries a great deal of information in a very condensed but easily understood form. Dairy men may obtain copies from their local county agents.

Source of Plant Root Knot Found In Sandy Soils

Nematodes, microscopic worms which cause root-knot on various plants, infest many of the light sandy soils of Texas. According to J. E. Hutchison, associate extension horticulturist of Texas A. & M. College, they are seldom found in the heavier type soils.

Nematodes enter the plant roots from the soil and cause small knots on the roots. This usually stunts the plant's growth and gives it a sickly appearance.

Hutchison says that most of the common garden vegetables are susceptible to nematodes, but only about half of them are readily attacked. The other half are somewhat resistant to the tiny worms.

Beans, beets, cantaloupes, cucumbers, eggplants, lettuce, peas, Irish and sweet potatoes, pumpkins, squash, and tomatoes are some of the more highly susceptible ones are turnips, spinach, rhubarb, onions, radishes, cabbage, cauliflower, and asparagus.

Hutchison says the best way to control nematodes is to keep them out of the field. To avoid bringing nematodes from infested areas he advises cleaning the soil from all farm equipment that has been used in infested fields.

Nematodes can be carried in drainage water; therefore, runoff from infested fields should be diverted around the clean areas.

Precautions should be taken to prevent bringing nematodes into clean areas on nursery stocks, bulbs, seedlings, tubers, and roots. Nematodes can also be spread in manure, so Hutchison advises against feeding plants from infested fields to livestock.

Nematode populations can be reduced by including certain resistant plants in the crop rotation. Resistant varieties of soybeans are Biloxi, Laredo, O-toluid, Acme and Halerlandt. Braham, Conch, Iron, Moneta, and Victor are resistant varieties of cowpeas. Other root-knot resistant crops are bur clover, crotolaris, and velvet beans.

Farmers
os Done

Farmers are asking for faster operating larger and better elevators and rice mills their ever-increasing demands. To meet the demands of these demands, M. C. Jaynes, extension specialist in organization and marketing of M. College, are doing themselves through their own facilities for handling the Houston Bang of Texas last year borrowed $22,800,000 from the much of it was invested in facilities for handling cooperatives have been to handle a variety of services that are present day farmers. In a few years ago were over a period of months be handled rapidly due to the use of better farm and the planting of new varieties of crops. Jaynes says, use of the jobs too big for the average handle alone. He cites the cooperatives for handling grain, rice, fruit, livestock, dairy and products and others for and marketing cotton-manufacturing feed and the supplies that are the modern mechanization.

"Accident X" Will Take Life of Millionth American in '51 or '52

"Accident X" will kill the millionth American in traffic during 1951 or early in 1952, the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies predicted today.

Nearly 964,000 men, women and children have died in traffic accidents since 1900, the Association declared. The 1950 toll of more than 35,000 deaths, which reflects a strong upward trend in fatal accidents during the past year, indicates that the millionth motor fatality will occur next December or early in January, 1952.

"Accident X" will not be reported as such, it was pointed out by Julien H. Harvey, manager of the Association's accident prevention department. Its victim, like the Unknown Soldier—just one of the month's statistics—will be "known but to God," he said, the new unknown American, typifying a million lives lost in traffic in 50 years, may be a speeding or drinking driver, a woman shopper who tries jaywalking, or a child at play in the street.

Like the Unknown Soldier, "Victim X" will be a national symbol of sacrifice, Mr. Harvey said, because nearly all persons killed in traffic accidents lose their lives needlessly. If "Victim X" should become a lasting symbol of the constant need for greater highway safety and thus spur the entire nation into action that decreases traffic deaths and injuries, he declared, this new unknown American will save countless lives by losing his own and also will rest "in honored glory."

Whether the impending death of "Victim X" is postponed a month or six months, depends on how seriously every American who drives and walks accepts a personal responsibility in the 1951 homefront war to reduce highway accidents, Mr. Harvey observed. Every month's respite for the victim of "Accident X" will mean a saving of about 3,000 lives, he pointed out.

"Accident X is just around the corner," Mr. Harvey continued. "Its nearness should remind all of us, every day this year, that automobiles will kill another million people in the next 30 years instead of 50 years, unless Americans become quickly and firmly safety-conscious and each one does his part in preventing traffic accidents. Every person who doesn't nominate himself to become Victim X, or the statistic of some other accident that is just around the corner.

"The rapidly mounting accident rate shows that we are fast becoming a nation of habitual traffic gamblers. Millions of drivers and pedestrians need a real session of soul-searching to tell themselves how often they are breaking the traffic rules that mean safety to all. When millions of Americans stop this gambling in traffic, the accident toll will drop rapidly."

Mr. Harvey pointed out that nearly 7,000 lives were saved in 1938, after highway accidents had killed 39,643 persons in 1937 the second worst year in history for traffic deaths. An all-out national highway safety crusade could save 10,000 lives this year, postponing the death of "Victim X" well into 1952, the veteran safety expert observed.

"I earnestly hope that the accidents happening every day this year will constantly remind every person who drives or walks that Accident X is on its way," Mr. Harvey concluded, "and by learning the simple ways of safety - and practicing them at all times - will escape becoming its 'unknown' victim."

BRING THE FAMILY to the Mexican Supper at the new elementary school Friday night, Feb. 16, 6 to 8 p. m.

Motorists should refrain from throwing lighted matches and cigarettes onto highway right-of-ways where grass can be set on fire. Serious grass fires have resulted from the practice and motorists should remember that grass is a mighty important item so far as the farmer and rancher are concerned. The nation's meat supply in part depends upon the grass available for livestock production.

FOR a more pleasing blend of flavor combine two kinds of meat when making meat loaf. Veal and ham complement each other in Mushroom Veal Loaf and it will not be hard or crumbly if you follow these proportions. Combine 2 1/2 lbs. ground veal, 1/2 lb. ground ham, 1 cup soft bread crumbs, 1 cup chopped mushrooms, 1 minced green pepper, 1/4 cup horseradish, 1/4 cup ketchup, 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce, 1 well-beaten egg. Mix well and shape into loaf. Arrange 4 slices bacon in pan, place meat loaf over them and top with 2 slices bacon. Bake in moderately heated gas oven at 375 F. about 1 1/4 hrs. Yield 6 portions. Serve with sour cream sauce if you like.

Chill candles in your gas refrigerator for several days before using so they'll burn more slowly. Griddles on some automatic gas ranges are equipped with heat indicators—important to those cooks who use varied temperatures for top burner griddle cookery. Crumble a few crisp slices of bacon into pancake batter and use bacon drippings instead of shortening for added flavor.

Three loads of laundry washed and rinsed in an automatic washer use up to 60 gals. of hot water. And you'll still have a whole tankful of hot water in your automatic gas water heater because gas heats water so quickly. Gas room heaters can be put into recessed wall space or under windows to increase floor space and make furniture arrangement simpler.

Late Winter Is Critical Feeding Period for Stock

Spring pastures may be just around the corner but winter can still steal your cattle profits if you don't feed properly.

The most critical need for supplemental feed comes in February and early March. Dry winter pasture is very low in protein and phosphorus content and the volume of grazing may be low.

Louisiana Extension Specialist W. T. Cobb warns that if cattle lose too much weight trouble begins. He says, "Beef steak is an extremely costly feed for cattle." Supplemental feed at this season may be your best investment in this year's cattle profits.

Well-wintered cattle are in the best condition to make most efficient use of good pastures next spring and summer. They produce stronger calves, give more milk and breed promptly for next year's calf crop. The cow that loses too much weight in the winter is not producing efficiently while she regains this weight in the spring and summer. Also the cow that has produced a weak or dead calf because of the lack of winter feed adds nothing to your cattle profits.

Protein is the most common deficiency in dry winter forage. When grass begins to mature the protein drops rapidly. Winter weathering causes further losses in the protein content and by February most dry grass has only one-third as much protein as when young and green. The phosphorus content of the forage is reduced in the same manner. Most cattlemen like to feed cottonseed cake, meal or pellets in the winter months to supply the deficient protein and phosphorus and help cattle make better use of the dry winter forage.

When the volume of forage is low, feed some roughage such as hay, cottonseed hulls or silage. Cattle store vitamin A in their bodies while grazing green forage and most cattle on pasture obtain enough winter weeds or grass to supply vitamin A. But, if cattle have not had any green material for 45 or 60 days, feed 7 to 10 pounds of legume or

Proper Shelter Needed for Hogs During Winter

Swine influenza and human influenza are closely related. In fact, the virus of human influenza have been known to produce flu in swine. Therefore, the same basic principles apply for the control of flu in swine as in human beings.

If good shelters are not provided, hogs are in great danger of contracting flu when cold damp nights follow warm days, says Dr. W. C. Banks, veterinarian for the Texas A. & M. Extension Service. He says that hogs, like human beings, need a warm, dry place in which to sleep.

At this time of the year, he recommends that all hogs be inspected daily for symptoms of flu. Once swine influenza appears, it spreads rapidly through the entire herd.

Infected pigs become listless and go off feed. Their breathing is labored and jerky and they cough and usually have a high temperature. They appear to be very bright green hay, per head twice weekly.

Range cows usually need about 2 pounds of cottonseed cake, per head daily in late winter weeks. Increase this allowance if severe weather restricts grazing. If cows feed before pastures green up, feed 2 1/2 to 3 pounds of cake or cottonseed pellets to insure good milk flow.

Farm herds need 1 1/2 to 2 pounds of cottonseed or pellets during winter months when green pasture is not available. When forage in pastures or stalk fields becomes scarce, feed some dry roughage such as hay or cottonseed hulls. When pasture is not available, feed 15 to 20 pounds of dry roughage or 40 to 50 pounds of silage.

Give calves and replacement heifers all the roughage they will eat when pastures are poor. Weaned calves need 1 to 1 1/2 pounds of meal per head. Heifers develop rapidly and mature early when fed liberally. They need 1 to 2 pounds cottonseed meal or cake. Feeder yearlings and older steers develop frame and size when wintered on 1 to 1 1/2 pounds of meal, plus cottonseed pellets in addition to plenty of dry grass roughage. It is usually best not to feed grain to wintering steers if they are to be grazed for extended periods on spring and summer pastures.

sick. The animals usually recover rapidly after five or six days of sickness.

Although swine flu is seldom fatal, it causes a big loss in flesh and slows down the rate of gain, says Dr. Banks. He advises putting infected hogs on a laxative diet—one that contains some bran or some oil meal.

Some of the new drugs are effective in helping to control flu in swine. However, Dr. Banks warns that they should not be expected to take the place of a warm, dry hog house.

Storage batteries left on motors which aren't used often tend to lose their charge and if they are not charged regularly during the winter months, they may freeze and crack when the temperature drops to near zero.

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

This question is asked, "Will the government's action taking over purchase of all rubber result in tire rationing?"

From the facts on record, there should be no tire rationing. This current government action should avert such a move, provided the government acted in time to stop the situation.

In World War II the tire shortage almost brought all production to a stop. Workers, suppliers were unable to move. Here are some of the facts that caused the government to act:

Tire stocks, all kinds, on Oct. 30, 1950, were estimated at 4.4 million units, compared to 10.9 million units at time of Pearl Harbor. In December 1940, U. S. production of synthetic rubber was 3,000 tons annually. In October 1950, synthetic production was 45,000 tons. In June 1951, it is hoped to produce 65,000 tons. In October 1950 total rubber consumption was already up to 112,558 tons per month.

Here's the 364 question around Washington. During World War II synthetic rubber production was high. Yet by October 1950, synthetic consumption outstripped production. What happened in five years?

Sincere government career men fought to build up synthetic production; were sniped at by the big American, British and Dutch factors that have a monopoly on natural rubber.

The motive for monopoly opposition National Federation of Independent Business sition to continuing synthetic production has now become clear.

In June 1950, just before Korea, crude rubber was 28.6c per pound. By October it was 78.1c. This runs into important money.

For example, one of the "Big Three" in American rubber operating plantations reveals it is now producing 64 million pounds annually in Liberia. Thus the virtual tripling of price means another $32 million yearly to this corporation.

So here's the way needless tire rationing can be avoided:

Everybody who depends on automotive transportation, in business or on the job, should demand their Congressmen make a full investigation; rush production of synthetic rubber. The result would be some scandals, but far fewer pedestrians.

The move to end or curtail the Marshall Plan is gaining impetus in Washington. Paradoxically, government hired press agents for the Marshall Plan are doing a great deal in this direction by disclosing what is going on.

For example, ECA Bulletin 1962 reveals that, although copper is supposedly critically short, over a million dollars worth was given to Holland this month.

And at a time when more taxes are asked for defense, the same bulletin covers this item:

French North Africa has just been given $260,000 worth of tobacco.

These reports are the basis for a new slogan around Washington paraphrasing a Churchill wartime speech:

"Never before have so few given so much to so many."

Seed Treating Best Means Preventing Blight on Cotton

leaf spot, bacterial rot, vein blight or These are all names of things, and they all news for you as a grower. The blight causes seedlings, defoliation or rotting of bolls. It is to less cotton per acre. Other control methods include delinting of seeds with sulphuric acid or by hydrochloric acid gas. These are harder to apply, but also effective.

Because wind-blown rain spreads bacterial blight readily from one field to another, its control is a job that all the planters in an area should do together. Otherwise one field planted with untreated seed might re-infect all the others. It will pay every planter to stamp out bacterial blight in his fields. Planting seed that has been mercury dust-treated will not only reduce this disease, but will reduce seed decay and damping-off (sore shiu) organisms, too.

The County Agent can tell you more about the value of seed treatment and where you can get treated cotton or your own cotton treated for you.

The present drought in Texas should be evidence enough that livestock producers seldom ever get too much feed on hand. Producers who have stored silage, hay, other roughages and feed grains are now cashing in on their stored crops.

Farmers In Somervell County Take Steps To Prevent Spread of Fires From Roads

Haskell county farmers and ranchers, who have seen at first hand the ravages of grass fires in adjoining counties during the past week, will be interested in learning of precautions being taken in other sections to prevent uncontrolled fires.

In Somervell County, farmers banded together and burned the grass along the highways. Each morning when the wind was moderate, farmers would burn the grass to prevent fires starting when no one was present to control them.

Much can be done toward educating motorists to refrain from throwing lighted matches and cigarettes along highways where grass can be set afire, says Somervell county agricultural agent E. D. Cooper. But it is doubtful if a 100 percent job can be done. An estimate has been made that indicates about ten percent of the drivers are law violators who pay little attention to any law. They pass cars in no-passing zones; fail to stop at intersections where stop signs are placed; and they pay no attention to 30-mile speed zones. When one of these drivers violates one law, chances are good he'll violate another the next time the opportunity presents itself. Cooper suggests that drivers do a little checking on their own as well as the other fellow's driving habits.

He points out that unless 100 percent of the drivers cooperate in keeping down fires, not much can be done because ten drivers can strew lighted matches and cigarettes along the highway and ruin the good record set by the 90 careful drivers. The best answer to the problem is to fight fire with fire.

Before the program was started in Somervell county, he says, several large fires destroyed pastures ranging from 20 acres to 300 acres. One home was lost from a grass fire.

This may not be all that could be desired from the standpoint of highway beautification, he adds, but it does stop the losses caused by the careless motorist.

Agent Tells Art Of Laundering Sweaters

Laundering a sweater is an art that any girl can acquire, says Thelma Wirges, Haskell county home demonstration agent.

She recommends collecting all the material needed to wash a sweater before starting the job. This includes a dish pan, mild soap flakes, a towel, a large piece of paper, a pencil, and lukewarm water.

Miss Wirges advises using the following procedure:

Place all necessary material within easy reach. Draw an outline of the sweater on the piece of paper before wetting it. This will save considerable time in shaping the garment after it has been laundered.

Use both hands in the washing process. Cup the hands and squeeze the suds through the garment. Mild soap and lukewarm water are the best agents for cleaning a sweater.

Rinse the sweater in water that is the same temperature as used for washing. After the sweater is rinsed, remove the excess water by gentle squeezing—rather than by wringing.

Spread the sweater on the paper and shape it on the outline. Spread a towel on the sweater and turn the whole works—towel, sweater and paper—over. The sweater will be left on the towel in perfect shape.

Leave the sweater on the towel while it dries. Allow it to dry in a moderate temperature. Do not dry it in hot air or before an open fire. An electric fan may be used for drying if one is available.

Press the sweater lightly after it dries to give it a new look. Miss Wirges cautions that the usual sliding motion for pressing will stretch the knitted material. To prevent this, pick the iron up and set it down gently to press the sweater.

NO OVERCOAT HERE!

While the less fortunate are shivering in winter's icy winds, lucky girls are soaking in sunshine at Florida and California resort spots. No overcoats needed here! This pretty miss is dressed for the sun in a blazer striped cotton swim suit by Cole of California. Solid and striped cotton are combined for this eye-catching effect.

Matching Colors Important When Choosing Wardrobe

Do the colors in your wardrobe really "do something for you?" Thelma Wirges, County Home Demonstration Agent, says that a person should make the most of his or her skin, hair, and eyes by wearing the colors that are right.

When a color is repeated, Miss Wirges explains, it becomes brighter. For example, a bright yellow dress makes a sallow complexion more noticeable. On the other hand, a bright blue dress may make bright blue eyes seem dull because the dress overpowers the color of the eyes. A lighter tint or darker shade helps bring out the color of a person's eyes.

Miss Wirges warns that bright colors and white make a person look larger. Color can even match personality, she believes. A timid, shy person may wear becoming, a slightly dull color trimmed in bright colors.

Blondes should wear colors, the clothing specialist adds, that make their hair seem more golden. Blues, dark greens and violets are suitable in this case. Redheads should avoid red and red-violet, violet, white, and, in fact, any extremely bright colors. An olive-skin brunette can be sure of appearing attractive in dark reds, red-orange, red-violet, colorful brown, beige and deep wine. She should avoid bright blues, greens and purples. Pure white and gray or colors lighter than the skin are not recommended either.

Miss Wirges adds that "in-between" that is, those with fair skin and dark hair with blue, green or gray eyes, or those with fair skin, brown hair and brown eyes, have special colors complementary to them, too. The type first mentioned should look for light green, blue, blue-green, and violet. The second "in-between" type should seek dark rich red-violet, red and orange, bright blues and greens, as well as black

County Sending Fewer to Prison Survey Shows

The second half of a 22-year period has shown a decided decrease in the number of commitments to the Texas State Prison System from Haskell County. From a total of 23 commitments, only 29 persons were committed during the last 11 years, 1939-1950. The 1950 commitments, five persons, is the greatest number since 1939 when five was again the case. The number was exceeded in 1930 with 13 commitments, and the highest in one year was 19 in 1928.

These figures were revealed by Dr. Rupert Koeninger, director of classification at the prison and head of the Sociology department at Sam Houston State Teachers college. His advanced students aided in the survey which dates back to 1928.

Newly commissioned medical officers of the Navy now receive a 24-week basic course in Naval medicine.

More than 2,000 job opportunities exist in 84 scientific and technical fields at 60 naval activities located throughout the country.

First Naval transoceanic flight was made by Lt. Cmdr. A. C. Read who flew the NC-4 from Rockaway, L. I., N. Y. on May 8, 1919 and arrived at Lisbon, Portugal, May 27, 1919.

The Bureau of Naval Personnel has pointed out that women line ensigns will normally not be assigned to overseas billets.
