Court Activity On Upward Trend In 39th District

Oil development spreading from the Scurry county field into Kent and Stonewall areas has resulted in an appreciable increase in civil actions on the docket of the 39th District Court at Claremont and Aspermont, court officials said this week. It is not unusual for several civil actions to be heard each week by District Judge Chapman at court sessions in the two counties comprising the western half of the four-county 39th District.

Today, Judge Chapman is in Aspermont for hearing of a trespass to try title suit growing out of recent oil play in Stonewall county, and the hearing may continue through Friday.

Monday, May 22, Judge Chapman and District Attorney Banks will again be in Aspermont for beginning of the May term of court for Stonewall county. On that date members of a new Grand Jury will be impaneled to serve during the summer term.

Tuesday, May 23, Judge Chapman will go to Throckmorton for hearing of a jury trial of a civil case styled Cogburn vs. Sowell, an action for trespass to try title and possibly involving validity of a will.

On Friday of next week, May 26, Judge Chapman is scheduled to be in Claremont for hearing on a restraining order involving validity of title of lands and mineral rights in the town of Claremont.

Criminal Case Set Here May 31

A criminal case transferred to Haskell for trial in the 39th district court is set for May 31, and a special venire has been ordered from which a jury to hear the case will be selected. Defendant in the case, Clinton Aaron Baker, an Abilene resident, is charged in a Grand Jury indictment returned in Taylor county, with a statutory offense in which the complaining witness is a Negro girl under 15 years of age.

The case was transferred from Taylor county to Jones for a trial and subsequently to Haskell after a mistrial resulted when the case was heard in district court at Anson.

Facts, Figures Dealing With Paint Creek Water Project To Be Outlined At Meeting

An outline of developments to date concerning the proposed Paint Creek water reservoir project, in which two plans are currently being advocated, will be given the people of this section at a public meeting to be held on the east side of the courthouse lawn, Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Mayor Courtney Hunt of Haskell, in a 10-minute talk, will give facts and figures dealing with the project, which will be of vital interest to residents of all towns and communities in this section.

Preceding the talk by Mayor Hunt, the HHS Indian Band will give a 15-minute concert beginning at 3:45, and all Haskell business houses will be asked to close or suspend business activities in order that store personnel and customers may attend the meeting.

Vital facts and statistics concerning the two projects now being talked will be given by Mayor Hunt. One of the projects being advanced would serve only Stamford and possibly one other town, while the initial project in which Haskell is joining with a number of other interested towns and cities, proposes cooperating with the Bureau of Reclamation in securing a Paint Creek reservoir adequate to supply all cities and towns in the area, including Stamford.

An invitation to attend the meeting here Saturday is being extended to all towns in the immediate area which could be served by the initial and larger water project.

Brotherhood Meeting at First Baptist Church Monday Evening Expected To Have Record Attendance

The largest attendance of any similar meeting in several years is expected for the Brotherhood Meeting of the First Baptist Church, to be held Monday evening, May 22, when the Rev. Clifford W. Brannon, president of the Baptist Brotherhood of Texas will address the gathering.

All men of the church are invited to attend the meeting, and to join in the planning activities for the work of the church. Visitors also will find a cordial welcome.

The guest speaker, Rev. Brannon, recognized as one of the most gifted speakers and evangelists in the Southwest, will be making his first visit to Haskell. Flowers Grocery in Old Glory in November last year. Loot taken in the burglary included $10,000 in Government bonds. The two men were arrested several days later in New Mexico.

In statements made to officers, Motley and Hale had admitted breaking into two Haskell service stations in addition to the burglary at Old Glory. They had been held in the county jail pending trial at Aspermont, but had not been arraigned on burglary charges in connection with the two thefts here.

For the first time in several years, Haskell will have an organized baseball team, and a schedule of games for the coming season is in the process of being worked out with teams from neighboring towns and cities, according to Thos. B. Roberson and John E. Robson, who are in charge of improvements now being made to the paying field in Fair Park. Ten new reflectors have been added, and outfield lights and standards are being moved back to enlarge the field.

Buford Cox, former professional baseball player and Haskell automobile dealer, is manager of the team, with Wallace Stark captain. About 25 players have been listed on the team roster, and work-outs are being held Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons at Fair Park. Anyone interested in trying out for a berth on the team should report at the field on any of the above days.

Work Progressing Steadily On New Business Building

Work is progressing rapidly on the new building being erected by R. J. Reynolds on the north side of the square, to replace the structure destroyed in a disastrous fire March 17, and which was occupied by Cecil Gregory's Piggy-Wigly store.

The new building replacing the burned structure will be of practically fireproof construction, with a white faced brick front of modern design. The building will be one story in height. It will be occupied by a complete new Piggy-Wigly store, Mr. Gregory announced. He hopes to open in the new building around July 1st.

Contractor on the building is S. S. Dishongh of this city.

Adjoining the new Reynolds building, architect's plans have been submitted to the I. O. O. F. Lodge for a new two-story lodge hall, with the ground floor arranged for business occupancy. Don W. Smith of Sweetwater is architect for the building, which will replace the two-story lodge hall wrecked in a blast last Dec. 29, and later gutted by fire March 17.

It is expected that contract for the new lodge building will be awarded early in June, and approximately 90 days will be required for construction of the building, lodge members have been told.

County's Wheat Crop Prospects Brighten

Prospects for Haskell county's 1950 wheat crop have improved materially within recent weeks, and a large portion of the 80,000 acres in the county is expected to produce a fair yield, County Agent F. W. Martin has reported.

Rains in early April which ended the prolonged winter drought, revived more of the county's grain acreage than many farmers had believed possible, Martin said. With the exception of hail damage in scattered areas during the past three weeks, the crop has made substantial progress and is maturing rapidly. On the basis of the present outlook, an average yield of around 10 bushels per acre is being forecast by most producers.

Harvesting of the crop, if weather conditions are favorable, is expected to get under way between May 25 and June 1st in Haskell county. However, some fields in the Haskell vicinity will be ready for combining by the first of next week, it is reported.

The 1950 wheat harvest from the 1950 crop was reported Tuesday from Olney where a 50-bushel load was weighed in by Elmer Hennig, Young county farmer.

Get Meat Animals To Market In Good Shape

Here is a job the producers, transporters and handlers of livestock can work on together. The solution to the problem can only come from a cooperative effort and could mean a millions of dollars annually to the nation's livestock producers.

According to Roy W. Snyder, extension meat specialist of Texas A. & M. College, the 1949 annual report of the National Livestock Loss Prevention Board points out how expensive and wasteful improper handling and transportation of livestock can be. It would take a train nine miles long to haul all of the livestock that arrived dead at the livestock markets in 1947. Then add to this the losses on crippled animals and from bruises and Snyder says the loss amounts to near $25 million per year. The producer bears a major part of this loss.

Preparations for safe marketing must begin on the farm. Livestock should leave for market in a strong and healthy condition, thus balanced rations that contain plenty of the needed vitamins and minerals must be used.

Snyder says much of this waste can be prevented just by following common sense practices in handling and marketing livestock. Here are a few practices that will pay big dividends, he says.

Dehorn cattle when they are young. Keep fences and barns in good repair and remember the feed lot is no place for a junk pile. Producers should remember that it is a costly practice to feed grain heavily just prior to loading.

A properly sloped loading chute should always be used. Animals should not be crowded or rushed here's where patience and care really pay off, he says. Check the inside of the truck or rail car for protruding nails or bolts, broken boards or other objects that might cause bruises. Be sure the truck or rail car is bedded properly—bed with sand that is free from stones. In the summer time, the sand should be wet before hogs are loaded and stops should be made on the way to market to wet the bedding and drench the hogs if this is needed. Use a canvas slipper instead of a club, cane or pitchfork when handling stock.

Here are a few practices truckers or railroads should be interested in eliminating, says Snyder. Overcrowding probably causes more losses than any single factor. Transportation equipment should be loaded only to the extent of its designed capacity. Partitions should be used when mixed shipments are made. Bulls, stags, boars or cripples should receive special attention—never leave them loose in a car or truck. The upper deck on trucks should be high enough to give plenty of clearance for the animals on the lower deck. Careless driving—too much speed on curves, sudden braking and fast driving—take a heavy toll of the livestock that goes to market via truck. An occasional inspection of the load while enroute, would save many an animal.

Producers should remember says Snyder that a dead animal has only salvage value and bruise damages on the carcass are trimmed off and are largely wasted. Care in handling livestock will pay off at the market and it is one way that livestock producers can increase their profits.

New Legume Is Given Trial In Soil District

Farmers in this area will be glad to learn about the trial plantings of Guar to be made in the next two months in the five county area of the California Creek Soil Conservation District.

Guar is a new summer "heat and sun loving" legume which has proved itself in other areas as a very fine soil builder. Guar was introduced from India a few years back and has been planted with excellent results in the hot, dry portions of South Texas. Following Guar, farmers in Karnes County received a 22 per cent increase in cotton yields. Besides being an excellent soil builder it can also be used to good advantage for grazing or making a hay crop. Guar hay contains 12 per cent protein and guar meal contains 30 per cent protein. Guar is also resistant to cotton root rot and can be planted on land unfit for cotton production.

Guar is planted the same time cotton is and matures at 120 days. It has been known to produce up to a 1000 pounds of seed per acre.

Farmers making the plantings will be: John Grand, Haskell; Jack Denson, Stamford; Dr. H. B. Haterius, Avoca; and Bruce Taylor, Lueders.

VISITORS FROM THROCKMORTON

Judge A. H. King and T. E. Beaty of Throckmorton were business visitors in Haskell Monday. Judge King is a former State Representative from this district and also has large ranch and farm holdings southeast of Haskell. Mr. Beaty, pioneer resident of Throckmorton, is a retired rural route carrier, having spent 26 years as carrier on the Woodson and Throckmorton mail route.

Favorable prices, especially for the earlier finished animals, are in prospect for hogs, beef cattle and lambs.

More Awards In 4-H Dairy Program Announced

Announcement has been made by the National 4-H Club Committee of changes in the name and awards of the 4-H Dairy Production program.

Now named the National 4-H Dairy Achievement program, awards have been increased to a maximum of four sterling medals for winning members in each participating county. The State champion's award will be a gold watch.

Sectional awards also have been increased to twelve educational trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. The national awards remain the same—six $300 college scholarships. All awards are provided by Lederle Laboratories division, American Cyanamid Company.

Texas has accepted the 1950 program for 1950, which will be conducted under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service.

Among the program's objectives is to help 4-H Club members understand the full meaning of cleanliness, sanitation and animal health as applied to the production and care of milk and dairy products. The participants are encouraged to practice these principles at home as well as demonstrate them in the community. Also, they learn to appreciate the contribution of science and its application to the dairy industry. County Extension agents will furnish full information regarding this program.

Homemakers Hear Talks On Law, Insurance

John Banks and Wix B. Currie talked to third year homemaking girls this week at the high school homemaking cottage. Points of law that very woman should know were discussed. The making of a will, entering into contracts, inherited property, and children's rights were brought out in Mr. Banks' talk to the group.

The different types of insurance and interesting statistics were the highlights of Mr. Currie's talk.

The girls enjoyed both talks and said they would have liked to have had another period for each of these men to talk to their class. They also expressed a desire that talks on these subjects be given the third year class each year.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank each and everyone who sent flowers and food. Also to those who were so kind and thoughtful in our sorrow after the death of our beloved mother. May God's richest blessings be upon you. Mr. B. H. Taylor and family. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Fouts. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McKinney. Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Taylor.

Sweet Home Church Moved To Rule; Singing Planned

The building of the Sweet Home Baptist Church, formerly located west of Rule, is being moved to a site in Rule, members of the congregation announced this week.

It is planned to have a monthly singing at the church on the third Sunday in each month, with the first program to be held June 18th. Members of the church said this date had been selected in the belief that it would not conflict with any other scheduled singing programs, and they are anxious for all singers and music lovers to attend.

Talent Shows To Be Feature of Wichita Falls Festival

Talent shows from a downtown bandstand in Wichita Falls will spice afternoon hours at the National Wheat Harvest Festival June 2-3.

A collection of entertainers from cities in the 65-county area will be presented for the enjoyment of those attending the festival. At the same time the cities represented in the shows will have a chance to better advertise themselves and the North Texas, Western Oklahoma area.

Radio performers from Wichita Falls will be included in the bands and appearances and will intersperse their talents with those coming from distant points. Complete informality will rule these performances, and the object will be fun and entertainment for all.

If there's a market for it, the want ads will do the selling.

Ever add up what you could LOSE?

You have perhaps often added up what you are worth. Ever add up what you COULD LOSE? It might perhaps be several times what you are worth.

Example: you may injure somebody, and the law may take all you're worth and attach your future income for years to come.

Example: your house may burn and it may cost you twice its original price to replace it.

Sometime add up all the losses you MIGHT have and you'll see that you are underinsured at many points—against theft, fires, lawsuits, embezzlement, interruption of business, etc.

Gloomy? Well, the purpose of the America Fore insurance policies we write is to end this kind of gloomy thinking.

Cotton Classing Program Details Are Listed

Details of the 1938 Smith-Doxey cotton classing program for cotton farmers were announced today by H. J. Matejowsky, in charge of the Abilene office of Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"Farmers will follow the same procedure as they did last year in signing up this program," Matejowsky said.

Under it, he continued, they receive without cost cotton classing and market news from the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Any group of farmers organized to promote the improvement of cotton is eligible for these services.

Matejowsky urges all cotton farmers interested in Smith-Doxey benefits to organize community groups immediately and submit applications.

Applications and more details about the program can be secured at the cotton office, 1407 South First Street, Abilene, from County Agricultural Agents, County PMA offices and ginners.

Cotton fabrics that are washable, durable, closely woven, reasonable in price and attractive in color and design are most practical for slip covers.

Heart Disease Toll In Texas Exceeds 18,000 Lives Yearly

Heart disease is the number one killer in Texas and last year there were 18,000 deaths from diseases of the heart, said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

What kind of a heart have you? The periodic check-up with your physician will tell you. The Tuberculosis Survey in the state conducted by the Texas State Department of Health has brought to light many non-tuberculosis abnormalities, some of these have been heart conditions.

The three present major forms of heart trouble are: rheumatic heart disease, high blood pressure and coronary heart disease. Rheumatic heart disease, the most common type of early life, occurs as the result of one or more attacks of rheumatic fever. It is a public health problem for which very little has been done, yet with early diagnosis and proper medical care during the acute and convalescent stages, children who develop rheumatic fever can be largely spared from rheumatic heart disease in later life.

Another major cause of heart trouble is high blood pressure or hypertension. This is the most common heart disease of middle age. There is a great deal that is not known about this disease, but we do know that it is most common in people who are overweight, and that it is associated with long, continuous nervous strain, high tension and constant worry. Treatment of high blood pressure is fairly successful in the majority of cases.

Coronary heart disease of the arteries which supply the heart muscle itself with blood. A majority of persons survive the first attack, and with good medical care, rest and common sense precautions, may even live a normal life span. Syphilitic heart disease can be prevented by early and adequate care of the syphilitic disease, a problem which

Sweet Clover Is Grown Successfully By Haskell Farmer

Proof that sweet clover is readily adapted to Haskell county soil was exhibited Friday by John B. Nanny, well-known farmer of the Paint Creek community who was showing some prolific plants, already in bloom, taken from a small tract growing on his farm.

With the assistance of technicians of the California Creek Soil Conservation District, Mr. Nanny planted 3 1-2 acres to sweet clover last year which came up to a good stand. The patch was grazed last year, but Mr. Nanny plans to allow the entire plot to seed this summer and he plans to seed a larger acreage during the coming year.

Research in the medical sciences is constantly improving the outlook for the cardiac patient, yet each individual must assume the responsibility for obtaining the benefits of this knowledge from his physician for himself and family.

Ben Ramsey of San Augustine, backed by a long record of outstanding service in both the Texas House and Senate, has announced for Lieutenant Governor.

Ramsey resigned as secretary of state Feb 9 to prepare for the state race, convinced that the thinking people of Texas must take a more active interest in the actual operation of their state government.

Ramsey has been a leader in advancing rural electrification in the state and in the farm-to-market road program. (Pol. Adv.—Paid for by friends of Ben Ramsey)

Soil District Plans Broader Program For District

This week a meeting was called by the California Creek Soil Conservation District to discuss plans for reaching a more effective Soil Conservation program for the five county district and to make plans for the State Soil Conservation week being held May 15 through May 20.

Plans decided upon this year will include two grass judging contests to be staged before the Dallas State Fair Grass Judging contest and the Fort Worth State Grass Judging contest in order to help the grass judging teams and their coaches ready themselves for these events. Rules for the contest were also set up. Two tentative dates have been set aside in August for range tours to stress the importance of range work in this area and show the people what has been done in the district.

The members of the board of supervisors, who are M. S. Reynolds, McCaulley; Albert Thane, Haskell; C. E. Lantrip, Anson; E. W. Carlson, Leuders; and Jim Allison, Rule; have asked various agencies which cooperate with the California Creek Soil Conservation District to attend and offer any suggestion which they believe would help make a more efficient Soil Conservation District. Members of the cooperating agencies working the California Creek Soil Conservation District are: Frank Martin, county agent, Haskell; Bryan W. Swain, assistant county agent in training, Haskell; Bill Lehmborg, county agent, Anson; T. C. Blankenship, agricultural teacher, Haskell; E. A. Howard, agriculture teacher, Paint Creek; James Dominy, District Soil conservationist, Abilene; and James Lindsey, Work Unit Conservationist, Stamford.

Chronic Diseases Among Biggest Health Problems

State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox believes chronic disease represents the biggest problem facing health officials today.

Recent statistics compiled by the Bureau of Vital Statistics, Texas State Department of Health, show:
1. One-third of all deaths among 15-29 olds are due to chronic disease, with tuberculosis being the leader.
2. "Well over half" the mortality in the 30-40 age group is due to chronic disease, with heart trouble, cancer and tuberculosis being the leaders.
3. "Almost 8 out of 10" deaths in the 45-59 bracket are caused by this disease classification, with the proportion rising to 85 per cent for those 60 to 74 years old.
4. For those 75 and over chronic diseases cause 82 per cent of the total mortality. The slight decrease in percentage over age 75 is because of the high susceptibility to accidents, pneumonia, and influenza among the aged.

"When chronic disease is mentioned, all too many people think of the problem as being confined to the middle-aged or older," the health chief said, adding that such an idea was not consistent with the facts.
The term chronic, Dr. Cox explained, means the opposite of acute. When applied to a disease chronic means of long duration. That would mean cancer or tuberculosis is chronic, while smallpox or poliomyelitis is acute.
"The significant thing," Dr. Cox indicated, "is that the chronic disease classification cause one-third of all deaths among young people in the 15-29 bracket."
"Obviously, that makes the teen ages the first ages at which the diseases assume a major mortality role."

Annual HHS Junior-Senior Banquet Held Friday Evening

In a setting of silver twinkling stars hung from streamers of blue, carrying out class colors, the annual Junior-Senior dinner was held Friday evening in the high school activity building.

Chests for this gala occasion, which was a climax to the social season for the students of Haskell High School, were members of the high school faculty, members of the Board of Education and members of the Senior Class. More than 100 attended and included members of the Junior Class who were hosts.

The theme for the evening was, "Hitch Your Wagon to a Star," the Junior Class motto. Miniature blue wagons attached to a silver star were plate favors at the tables lighted with tall blue tapers which were mounted on star bases. Red roses were placed at intervals in the center of the tables that were covered in blue and white.

A large fish pond that centered the room was outlined with a framework of redresses. Further carrying out of the setting for the program was a silver stairway lighted by multi-colored spotlight.

Principal speaker for the evening was S. H. Vaughter, school superintendent, who was introduced by Leroy Tidwell who served as Toastmaster.

In a brief talk the speaker urged the high school graduate to analyze the opportunity that is offered the young man and woman of today, and urged them to accept this challenge. Nothing is yet complete, worlds are still to be conquered, and no age before has ever had the opportunity that confronts the school graduate today.

The world demands the best thoughts and action of those who would succeed. Aim high, have faith in yourself, set a good example, and resolve to serve your fellowman the speaker said in conclusion.

The invocation was given by W. P. McCollum, high school principal; the welcome to guests was given by Temple Williams and the response by Jim Ratliff. Piano solos were presented by Nelda Vaughter and Bette Clifton, with a reading by Betty Redwine and songs by Doris Nell Camp. Others on the program were Mary Beth Payne and Ann Harrison with readings.

Cooling System Of Tractors Should Be Checked

The busiest part of the year for the farm tractor has arrived and will continue for the next several months. The extremely hot summers days just ahead, will bring delays and repair bills unless the tractor's cooling system is functioning properly, says W. L. Ulich, extension agricultural engineer of Texas A. & M. College. Ulich says there are several things that will cause the tractor engine to overheat but the main one is overloading. Each particular type tractor is made to pull certain equipment and when larger and heavier equipment is used the tractor is overloaded. The only remedy is to use larger tractor. A second cause of overheating comes from using a fuel that is too low in anti-knock rating. The use of a better grade fuel will correct this difficulty. Badly worn or loose fan belts can cause overheating, he says and either a new belt or properly adjusted the belt will correct the situation.

A clogged water pump or a worn bearing in the pump can cause trouble especially if the pump is leaking. The pump should be checked and if it cannot be repaired, it should be replaced. Ulich points out that the water pump should be serviced regularly with the proper grade of grease to prevent the worn bearings.

Faulty timing and improper carburetor adjustments will contribute to overheating and valve trouble. He recommends that you use your operator's manual when making adjustments to correct these troubles. Clogged radiator fins will cause overheating. The accumulation of trash, dirt, weeds and the like will not permit sufficient air to pass through the grill and radiator to cool the water in the radiator. Keep the grill and radiator fins clear of all obstructions and if your tractor is equipped with radiator shutters be sure they are open and not clogged.

All hose connections should be checked and he points out that a hose may look all right on the outside but that it may be in bad shape on the inside and will keep the water from circulating as it should. In the sections of the state where hard water is used in the cooling system, lime deposits often form inside the block and in the head of the cooling chambers. Rain water or water that is free from mineral should be used in the cooling system for it will reduce these deposits.

He says it is a good idea to flush the cooling system once a year with a lye flushing compound or with a solution of one pound of common washing soda to a gallon of water. The soda and water solution should remain in the radiator for two or three hours with the motor running. Then drain and flush the radiator with clean water before filling it. Lubrication plays an important part in engine cooling, he says for the oil absorbs and dissipates a considerable amount of heat. That is the reason the correct weight of oil should be used. Don't forget to check the thermostat for it can cause overheating if it isn't working properly. Ulich concludes with this word of caution. He says that hot water should not be poured into an engine nor cold water into a hot engine. The sudden contraction WEATHERPROOF—Exclusive design gives contents complete protection from rain, snow, wind and other weather hazards. Even a driving rain cannot blow into the bin.

ECONOMICAL FIRST COST—This type of bin lasts longer but costs less than many types of less efficient, less durable storage structures.

EASY, LOW-COST ERECTION—You can put up this bin at lowest cost in time and work.

EASY TO FILL AND EMPTY—Grain growers everywhere report this type of bin to be the easiest to fill, the easiest to empty.

FIRESAFE—There is nothing to burn in an all steel bin.

PROTECTS GRAIN QUALITY—Complete weather protection and improved ventilation by use of a perforated floor reduces moisture content and prevents heating.

RATPROOF—Lifetime protection against rats, mice, squirrels.

bring farm produce and marketing in an orderly manner—when the price is good—instead of dumping it at harvest time regardless of price will bring you almost as much as the net profit on an extra crop.

Pinkerton Baptist Church Plans Special Service Sunday For Aged People

Pinkerton Church extends a cordial invitation to the aged to attend the Sunday morning worship service on May 21. The hour will be dedicated to those who have reached the three-score-and-ten line, and the invitation is urgently sincere to all who have reached, or nearly reached, or passed that age. No requirement is suggested that would leave out comes seem less than entirely welcome.

Each one who comes will be counted as an honored guest, and particular plans are being made to make those who do come feel comfortable throughout the brief service.

It is hoped that it can be an hour when old-timers may meet together again and greet each other or four of the present members many years of acquaintance. Perhaps some charter members of the church will be present, and for them, as well as for the three or four of the present members who have reached seventy, this is a memorial service of appreciation.

The Doers-of-the-Word class in Sunday School will see that each guest is presented with a flower as a token of appreciation, a red flower for the men and a white one for the ladies. When possible these flowers will be pinned by a son or a daughter at the Moment of Recognition. Special recognition will be shown to the oldest man present, the oldest woman, the one who comes farthest to attend, and the one who has the greatest number of descendants present.

The Pinkerton Church will be grateful to anyone who will help some aged person to know about this service and make possible his attendance.

Mrs. Stella Josselet Winner of Radio in Dairyland Contest

Mrs. Stella Josselet, 703 N. Ave. G, Haskell has been named winner of a table-model radio, as the result of her entry in the contest being sponsored here by Goble's Dairyland, distributors of dairy products here.

Mrs. Josselet is the first of three winners in this county. A second winner will be announced one week from today, and a third winner two weeks from today. Each of the three winners, in addition to the grocer named by the final winner, wins an identical prize—a Motorola Table-Model radio. All persons are urged to submit entries now, in order to compete for the two radios yet to be given away. Dairyland announces. Instructions for entering the contest can be found in the Goble's Dairyland and in this newspaper.

It is emphasized by the sponsors that four radios, including the one going to a grocer, will be given away in this county alone. Therefore each entrant has an excellent chance of being a winner.

The mild weather of the past winter is causing Texas peach producers much concern. Peach trees have not leafed out because there wasn't enough cold weather to give the trees the needed rest period. Orchardists should give the trees the best care for the existing conditions may cause heavy tree losses.

Haskell Student Is Injured In Wreck At Stephenville

Mrs. Giles Kemp spent the week-end in Stephenville at the bedside of her son, Giles Marion, who is in the Stephenville Hospital under treatment for injuries received in an automobile accident last week.

Giles Marion, junior in John Tarleton College, suffered a severe back injury which will necessitate wearing a cast for several months. Despite his injury, he will be able to continue his studies in the college, hospital attendants said.

A highlight of the program for the annual State 4-H Round Up and Agricultural Extension Service Conference will be grading demonstrations involving slaughter steers, calves and carcasses. Live animals will be graded. One animal in each market grade will be slaughtered and the carcasses graded. Thus both live and carcass grades on the same animal will be shown.

Farm Fish Pond Is Part of Balanced Soil Program

Many inquiries have been received about management of farm and ranch for fish production.

A good fish pond is part of a complete soil conservation program. The farmer or rancher who has a tank and isn't using it for fish production is missing something. One that has a surface area of about one acre can provide all the fish a family can use if it is properly managed.

Fertilizing the water stimulates the growth of one-celled plants and animals that the fish feed upon. Commercial fertilizer is the best, but barnyard manure can be used. If you can see your hand with your arm in the water to the elbow, the pond needs fertilizer. Ten pounds of ammonium nitrate added to one hundred pounds of 4-12-4 makes good fertilizer. This should be applied once a month at the rate of 100 pounds per surface acre of water and should be scattered in the water around the shore from April to November.

Fertilizer not only produces more food for the fish but it helps keep down moss by shading it out. If the pond stays muddy, barnyard manure applied at the rate of one ton to the acre every two weeks for a month or so will help clear it.

It isn't necessary to fertilize before the pond is restocked with fish. If you plan to restock your pond in October or November, be sure and clean out all the fish first. This can be done with 5 percent rotenone applied at the rate of 3 to 4 pounds per acre foot of water. Mix at the rate of one pound of 5 percent rotenone and 20 gallons of water and spray it over the entire surface of the pond. The powder can be put in a sack and dragged in the water but the spray method is the best. Rotenone paralyzes the gills and the fish die from lack of oxygen. The water is not damaged for use of livestock and the pond can be restocked within several weeks.

It is a simple matter to get fish for your pond. Application can be made to your local office of the Wichita-Brazos Soil Conservation District and fish ordered before August will be delivered this fall.

You can't overfish a pond. There is nothing as good for the pond as fishing. All fishermen should remember this one thing—get permission from the farmer or rancher that owns the pond. Then be sure to close all gates. Be careful of fire and do not tear down fences or disturb the cattle. It is a privilege to have fishing privileges on some one else's place so treat it as a privilege and not a right.

Farmers who plan to use their increased production of feed grains for feeding livestock are advised now to plan and build the equipment they will need. A seeding program may provide the most profitable market for the expected increase in the output of feed grains.

Banding of Doves Started By Wild Life Specialists

Seasonal mourning dove banding, a vital phase of game bird management, is just getting under way in Texas, according to the assistant director of wildlife restoration of the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission.

Game wardens, protecting wildlife in the state's 254 counties, handle most of this work which is done while the young birds are in the nest, preferably just before they fly away. But game biologists, lake biologists, hatchery staffs and others help out.

The bands bear a number and the words "Game Department", Austin, Texas. The wardens record the banding date. Mourning doves probably supply more hunting than any other single species in Texas. The status of mourning dove populations in various states also have become a source of growing concern. Banding of these birds and the return of these birds by hunters will show the life span of the doves, where they go after leaving their nests, where most dove hunting occurs and the percentage of young and old birds killed each year. All of this will help to guide the department in recommending seasons and bag limits.

Thus, from the Rio Grande to the Texas Panhandle and from the Eastern to the District Western borders, hundreds of persons are undertaking the important routine. Some wardens enlist the aid of Scout troops and sportsman clubs. Wardens have been requested to spread the banding over the entire nesting season through the summer to obtain a representative record.

All are pitching in enthusiastically. Approached on the subject of cooperating, a gnarled Texan replied: "I have roped cattle, ridden yearlings and handled a few snakes but this is the first time I have had the opportunity of 'laying God Father' to young birds." Science marches on!

Banding the young birds is just as delicate as it is important. Great care must be taken to approach the fragile nests. Birds should be banded between the ages of three to ten days. Yet they are so nervous at the end of this time as their first flight approach and they startle easily and may flee and become the prey of predators. Likewise, bands must be carefully affixed to their legs; secure enough to stay and yet not tight enough to interfere with leg growth. The assistant director of wildlife restoration emphasizes that none but official banding should be undertaken and that properly constituted authorities must supervise all banding routine.

Home gardeners and in some cases commercial growers should try some of the new varieties of vegetables that are now being offered for the first time. Plant breeders are working continuously to improve and develop better and more productive crops. The new varieties are the result of this work.

Texas poultrymen last year lost 24 percent of all the laying hens in their flocks during the hen's first year of production. Poultrymen who suffer such flock losses are burning or burying their poultry profits with these dead hens. Practicing good management, sanitation, feeding and disease and parasite control on the farm can cut these losses.

It is possible to add an extra 100 pounds to the weight of a calf during the first six or seven months of its life through the use of creep feeding.

Poultrymen Advised That Care Needed For Laying Hens

Laying hens are not so fortunate as the "proverbial cat." They have only one life to live and the length of that life, says Prof. E. D. Parnell, department of poultry husbandry, Texas A. & M. College System, may well determine whether the poultryman uses black or red ink for his bookkeeping job.

If you're an average poultryman, Parnell hopes you are not, you lost 17 percent of your growing turkeys and almost 20 percent of your laying chickens during 1949. That was on a national basis but the record in Texas was even worse. He says 24 percent of all the laying hens in Texas die sometimes during their first year of egg production. Poultrymen, he points out, who suffer such flock losses are burning or burying their poultry profits with the dead hens.

He says there are lots of good drugs available to help with the fight against diseases but their use is only a part of the answer. Preventive practices must be used more widely, he believes so the poultry just will not have any excuse for getting sick.

Here are some practices that poultrymen have found mighty effective for preventing disease outbreaks, says Parnell. When new birds, unless it's day old stock, or when birds are returned from shows or contests, keep them isolated for a few days and watch them closely for possible disease outbreaks. If one occurs, never add them to the flock.

Keep the young and old stock completely separated at all times. This is one place where segregation pays off. Such a practice may be hard to follow on many farms but it pays big dividends.

Use deep, dry litter in the poultry house. If the litter is kept dry and the mud puddles are eliminated, disease germs will have a hard time surviving on the farm. A good sanitation program plus close checking, immediate treatment or removal from the flock of all possible disease carriers, says Parnell, will go a long way toward keeping a lot of the young hens that die every year on the job. And this in turn can materially increase your poultry profits.

Put pep in the pocket-book by putting profitable want ads on the job.
