The largest parcel post shipment ever handled by the Haskell postoffice was recorded Tuesday, May 29. The Mebane Cotton Breeding Association here shipped 100 sacks of cottonseed weighing 60 pounds each to Lubbock, where considerable cotton was hauled out recently. There were about 200 bushels of seed in the shipment, and postage on the lot amounted to $68.00. Sheriff W. C. Allen located a stolen Ford car near Lueders in Jones County this week that was stolen from Prof. H. C. Summerville of Rule some time last fall. The car is now in possession of innocent parties and no arrests have been made. The insurance company had paid the claim of Mr. Summerville and now its a fight for possession between present owners and the insurance company.

Miss Anna Maud Cox returned from Clarendon College this week and is spending her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Cox. Farmer I. V. Marrs, a former Haskellite who is now jerking the bell corg over old Kate and juce since he moved to his farm last winter in the Gilliam community, was in town Saturday telling of his crop prospects and how prosperity was looming up for the farmer. County Attorney T. R. Odell of Throckmorton County, accompanied by John Davis and Bill Brockman, were over Thursday. Mr. Brockman is unloading a threshing machine he had shipped by rail to Haskell, and will use the machine in the grain harvest in his section. The wheat and oat crop is reported unusually good in Throckmorton County this year. Supt. M. H. Brasher has announced that a summer school will be held beginning June 27th and continuing through July. Grade school pupils that have failed in two or three subjects, and who have the recommendation of their teachers, will be eligible to attend.

50 Years Ago—May 30, 1903

A destructive cyclone hit this section around 6 o'clock Thursday evening, May 28, and blew away 10 houses in and near town. The cyclone made up near town a little to the northwest, passed through the north part of the city and was last heard of near the Baldwin Ranch 10 miles east of town. F. C. Wilfong's house was blown away and quite a few other houses were blown to pieces and several wrecked and damaged. Mrs. H. C. Scott and some of her children were injured when their house was struck while they were inside. O. V. Payne, a druggist at Moody, was here last week prospecting. He was pleased with our country and seemed impressed with the fact that there will be some good business openings in the new towns on the Orient when that road gets its trains running through the country.

Miss Maud Carney arrived home Tuesday from Sherman, where she has been attending Kidd-Key College. News came over the phone of a destructive hail storm in the Munday neighborhood Thursday. Details are meager, but it is understood that considerable damage was done to small grain.

Fred Sanders closed his school at Flat Top last Friday with well arranged and rendered exercises by the pupils. Mr. Sanders will now assist Tax Assessor Brown in making up the tax rolls. Perry Clark and wife of Munday were in Haskell Thursday and Friday. Mr. Clark is cattle inspector on the quarantine line. Major Smith returned Tuesday from the Devil's River country, where he has been seeing after his extensive sheep interests. Misses Edith Sowell and Jessamy Ellis chaperoned a crowd of the small fry on a picnicking expedition on Mule Creek Thursday. Miss Eddie Taylor of Kaufman arrived Wednesday on a visit to the family of her uncles, Capt. W. W. and R. B. Fields. J. W. Johnson was in town yesterday getting his cultivator rigged up for business.

3/4 bale more cotton per acre with dieldrin

Here's how Mr. Reeves explains

"I farmed 563 acres of cotton during the 1952 season. Boll weevil was at its worst in the history of the Grande Valley. Dieldrin controlled not only boll weevil but also migratory weevil. I did 1 1/2 bales per acre and I credit 3/4 bale per acre results I received from dieldrin. I plan to use dieldrin during the 1953 season on all my cotton."

Dieldrin is the only officially recommended control for boll weevil in the lower Rio Grande Valley better bollworm control than any single poison commercially available.

For bollworm use a dieldrin-DDT mix. Dieldrin gives better bollworm control than any single poison commercially available.

Order dieldrin or dieldrin-DDT from your insect dealer. Why not call him today?

Pvt. James R. Miller At A Bomb Proving Site In Nevada

Pvt. James R. Miller, whose wife, Lois, lives at 21 N. 13th St., Colorado Springs, Colo., is getting first hand combat training in Atomic Warfare at Camp Desert Rock, Nevada proving ground of the atom bomb.

Crouched in a trench, relatively close to "Ground Zero" he recently witnessed the seventh blast of a nuclear device in spring series. Shortly after the explosion, he took part in a mock attack on the devastated area.

Thousands of troops from all parts of the U. S. are gathered at Camp Desert Rock to receive thorough instruction in atomic warfare, its potential damage and defenses against it.

Pvt. Miller, who entered the Army in January is serving with the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment's Co. B at Camp Carson, Colo.

He is a former employee of the Kennedy Lumber Co. of Haskell and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Miller live in Haskell.

Foods For Defense Plans Studied By Economists

If your family became isolated during a disaster or atomic attack, would the pantry and refrigerator provide enough food until help arrived?

The Texas State Nutrition Council believes each family in the state should have a food supply for home use in case of such emergencies. Plans for operation Food were made at a joint meeting at Mineral Wells with the Texas Home Economics Association, May 8-9. Sylvia Cover, rural home research department for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, chairman of the Council, says detailed suggestions for three types of food supply plans have been devised.

For families living in target areas such as cities where water and fuel facilities would suffer from enemy attack, a supply of food for the family and two other persons for seven days is recommended. The list of foods, supplies and equipment for cooking includes suggestions for storage and replenishing to keep fresh.

Families living in urban communities not in probable target areas where the normal provision for the food supply and any available food used for community feeding, would, under the plan, need enough food for the family and two others for three days.

In rural areas where water might be contaminated and transportation halted, the Council's plan suggests family store liquids in particular, since farm and ranch families usually have quantities of stored food.

Miss Cover says suggested food plans were made and tested by a special committee of the Council and will be made available through members of the organization, county home demonstration agents and other home economists in the state. The committee, headed by Jennie Wilmot, home economics department of the University of Texas, retiring chairman, based the plans on the Texas Food Standard as a guide.

The State Nutrition Council, founded during emergency organization of home economists in 1940, is providing the information in connection with its objectives. W. L. McGill state coordinator of defense and disaster relief, Austin, speaking to the meeting complimented the Council on its achievements and plans.

"You have already given evidence of your awareness of the demands of our present situation," he said. "The State Nutrition Council was the first organization in Texas to complete a registration of its members—a registration of their skills and capacities for service when major calamity comes upon us."

The State Nutrition Council is composed of representatives of all agencies and organizations in Texas working in the field of foods and nutrition.

Progressive Study Club Honors Past Presidents At Annual Banquet May 21

Climaxing one of the most successful years in the organization's history was the 16th annual banquet of the Progressive Study Club, held Thursday evening, May 21, in the High School Home-making Cottage.

Named as honor guests at the banquet were all the past presidents of the Club.

The meal was served buffet style. Tables were laid with white linen, and green leaf legstrum entwined with rose delphinium extended through the center of the table as decorations. A miniature automobile carved from styrofoam covered with rose blossoms of delphinium graced the speaker's table. Background for the speaker's table were trellises of greenery and flowers with tall baskets of rose delphinium on each end. Place cards were miniature automobiles in rainbow colors.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Royce Smith, Club president. Mrs. R. A. Lane presided as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Arlos Weaver gave the invocation and dinner music was furnished by the Seventh Grade Chorus, directed by Mrs. F. W. Martin.

Mrs. Lane extended greetings and introduced the honor guests of the evening. She named the past presidents of the organization, and told the course of study that had been adopted each year.

As each name was called, Mrs. Robert Wheatley, first vice president pinned miniature gavels tied with ribbon in the rainbow colors, the club's chosen colors for the year.

The course of study for the current year has been "Today's Journey." Bringing to a close the year's work, Mrs. Lane gave a review of the simulated journey. "There's no better bargain used, a used Safety Rule, and there's real value in used club study," she said.

Guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. T. R. Odell of Lubbock, who sponsored organization of the Progressive Study Club while a member of the Haskell High School faculty in 1937. A talented and charming speaker, she gave tribute to the past presidents for their time and efforts spent in behalf of the study club.

Highlights of the evening was installation of officers by Mrs. E. E. Fisher of Fort Worth. She is the former Ann Taylor of Haskell and was first president of the Progressive Study Club. The clever installation service was her own composition. Carrying out the theme of the year she used the different parts of an automobile to represent the different club officers.

Mrs. Lane, retiring president, expressed appreciation to officers and different committees for their splendid cooperation and extended her best wishes to the incoming president, Mrs. Robert Wheatley.

Mrs. Wheatley, in assuming her office, told of her appreciation for the honor given her, praised the past presidents for their service and named her committees for the ensuing year.

Those attending were Mesdames Edwin E. Fisher, Fort Worth; T. R. Odell, Raul English, Lubbock; Joe H. Bowers, Denton; Joe W. Tyson, Jr., Austin; G. H. Henshaw, Abilene; and from Haskell Mes. Brooks Middleton, W. P. McCollum, William J. Kemp, Arlos Weaver, Lee Roy O'Neal, Jim Byrd, Leon Pearcey, Robert Wheatley, Raymond Davis, Jean Elliott, James E. Vaughter, Bill Woodson, Lynn Waldrip, Royce Smith, R. A. Lane, J. E. Walling, Jr., Garvin Foote, Miss Jane Holt. Hostesses were Mes. Viars Felker, Bill Lawson, Wix Currie, Floyd Rich.

Warm Weather Is Danger Season For Food Poisoning

The coming of warm weather brings a warning from Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, for all persons to be on the alert regarding food poisoning. Most cases investigated by the State Department of Health disclosed that improper food handling was responsible for the illness.

Food poisoning is commonly caused by bacteria in food. In general there are two types, food poisoning and food infection. Food poisoning is caused by bacteria in the food that produce a poison and usually the symptoms appear within a few hours. In food infection, the bacteria do not produce a poison, but attack the body. This takes longer so symptoms usually do not appear for 12 to 24 hours after eating.

In both kinds of illness the symptoms may be similar: nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, abdominal pain and fever may all occur. In food poisoning nausea and vomiting may be the prominent symptom.

As a prevention Dr. Cox suggests that all food be protected against flies and other pests. Refrigerate all perishable foods including meats, poultry and cream filled pastries. Many outbreaks of food infection are caused by leaving food out of the refrigerator. Also, avoid handling food if you have a sore or infection on your hands or if you are sick.

Recommendations
Made For Home
Food Preservation

Each year since 1944 the State Nutrition Council has made recommendations to Texas families concerning home food preservation. Louise Mason, foods and nutrition specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and members of the Council say the 1953 information includes special directions for canning snap beans, white potatoes and emergency drinking water.

The Council, a committee representing 25 departments, agencies, organizations and institutes in the state concerned with nutrition, attempts to assist the people of Texas achieve optimum nutrition by informing them concerning production, conservation, distribution, selection and consumption of foods. The food preservation committee of the Council coordinates the research and latest information each year in order to present uniform methods.

TO THE TAXPAYERS OF THE CITY OF HASKELL

We have had made a detailed audit of the books of the City of Haskell for the year 1952. It would be expensive to publish this Audit, so we invite any Tax Payer, or any one interested in the City of Haskell, to come to the City Hall and check over the Audit, and see for yourself how our Tax money is being spent. We believe you will find our City is being efficiently managed, also that our City is in a healthful financial condition.

We do not feel out of place to remind the Tax payers of the City of Haskell, that your property renditions are low; lower than most towns, and less than half of some towns comparable to Haskell, in Central West Texas. We also call your attention to the fact that our water rates are lower, and less than half of some towns comparable to Haskell.
