"Saddle Tramp" Was Colorful Character During Early Days of Cattle Business

By REX FELKER, Manager Haskell Chamber of Commerce

The name, "Saddle Tramp," probably at first suggests the image of a shabbily dressed, shiftless individual who has no inclination for work of any sort. However, contrary to popular belief, the saddle tramp of the cow country in pioneer days was a capable cowboy who was in reality a welcome sight to the boss of the roundup camp.

He was a good rider, expert with the lariat, and usually mounted on a good cutting horse. These qualifications made the saddle tramp very much in demand especially at roundup time when good hands were hard to find. Being naturally possessed with a wanderlust not unlike many people of today, he set out to see the cattle empire of the west. A drifter by nature, he seemed never content to leave his bedroll in one bunkhouse with various outfits was an interesting pastime to the saddle tramp.

Not too much unlike the drifting saddle tramp of old, the purpose of the newly organized riding club in Haskell by that name, will be to mix and mingle with other towns and cities. In doing this they will assist our neighbors with their expositions and rodeos and in the meantime secure valuable information of how other people live and do things. These associations or public relations with our neighboring towns will be very valuable in promoting future entertainments in our own town and county.

The next scheduled meeting of the Saddle Tramp Riding Club will be Feb. 11 at the Chamber of Commerce Building. It is especially urged that members and interested persons be present for this meeting.

Dashing Around

by Diane

Today the Rev. Bill Austin is our guest columnist. We believe you will enjoy reading his interesting comment. This space is open at any time for any minister of the local churches.

NOSES

This will perhaps seem to be a rather ridiculous subject to many of you, but when you consider that there are over 150,000,000 noses in the United States alone and about 4,000 in the city of Haskell, you will see the value of making a careful study of the human nose.

There is perhaps no other part of the body that engages in more varied activities than the nose. The feminine nose is many times comparable to the sand dunes of Arizona, as one tries to penetrate the cosmetic camouflage. But many go to the other extreme and play "Rudolph," letting their noses brighten the atmosphere with their shining brilliance.

The masculine nose is often used as a channel for snorting disapproval or wheezing resignation. But every man finds that it comes in handy in detecting the location of apple pie.

Both the male and female noses are subject to colds, sinus trouble, asthmatic irritations, broken bones, "bashings" from irritable fellow humans, and the usual criticisms.

Now, these criticisms are not based so much on the actual construction of the nose as they are on the character of the person possessing the nose, but the poor old nose is the target of the critics.

In fact many people are called by the name "Nosey." This little gesture of recognition indicates most folk's disapproval of those people who continually "poke" their noses into other people's business.

Every man has a job and a place to fill, and can do that job twice as well if he is not continually trying to educate his fellow man concerning his task. The main remedy for such a malady is a simple consideration of others. Charles Ober has said "The man who would lift others must be lifted himself, and he who would command others, must learn to obey."

Not only must we respect the rights of others, but we must align ourselves with others in the efforts of life. The Bible speaks of seven "togethers" which bind us dissolubly to Christ: crucified together, quickened together, raised together, seated together in Heavenly places, sufferers together, heirs together, and glorified together with Christ.

A nose which would attempt to destroy the strength of this chain is the "snob-nose." This nose regardless of shape or size, belongs to that person who considers himself to be of a superior quality and who goes to no limit in expressing that idea. Such a person has forgotten that all men are created equal and that God is no respecter of persons. He has forgotten that things of this earth are but gifts from above and that ALL men are but stewards.

The "snob-nose" usually has to sound his own praises and relishes in recalling his accomplishments. Matthew Hale said "It is a sign that your reputation is small and sinking if your own tongue must praise you."

It is good to have money and but it is good, too, to check up once in a while and make sure you haven't lost the things that money CAN'T buy. Wagner has said, "Joy is not in things; it is in us."

Another very disappointing person is the one possessing a "Long-nose." This expression does not apply in any way to the physical structure of a nose, but to the disposition of the person. Such a one is usually down in the mouth, disgustingly pessimistic and very susceptible to temptations and evil companions.

This very person needs to listen to the words of Paul the Apostle, "I can do all things

Your Automobile is your second largest investment — and when you protect it, you also protect your largest investment, your home.

For if your automobile is uninsured or underinsured, it may become necessary for you to place a mortgage on your home in order to pay a liability judgment.

DON'T GAMBLE on these unpleasant probabilities when adequate protection costs so little.

Six Persons Hurt In 3-Car Smashup Saturday

Six persons, including five airmen from Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, were hospitalized at the Stamford Sanitarium Saturday as a result of a three-car collision on the Haskell-Stamford highway a short distance north of Stamford.

Injured were Cpl. George V. Hansen, 20; Pfc. Royce Merrill, 21; Pfc. Robert McCarl, 21; Pfc. Thaddeus J. Sulha, 21, and Pfc. Robert Weber, 20, all members of the 375th Medical Corps at Sheppard Air Force Base; and Ray Melvin, 42, claim agent for the Service Pipeline, Company of Haskell.

Merrill was the only person whose condition was listed as critical. According to Highway Patrolman Johnny Bright of Stamford, who investigated, Merrill suffered a fractured pelvis and shock. "Others taken to the hospital had lacerations and abrasions," Bright said.

The car in which the airmen were riding and an automobile driven by Novins Shaw, 39, Negro woman of Stamford, were in collision.

The impact threw the airmen's car into the path of an automobile driven by Melvin who

How "big" should government

Lincoln was President at a time when the federal government had to take away from its citizens more rights and liberties than ever before.

But he didn't like it. He believed, with the writers of the Constitution and the Declaration, that our government should protect people's independence, not push people around.

"In all that the people can individually do as well for themselves, government ought not to interfere," Lincoln once said.

Lincoln never let Americans forget that. He kept reminding the nation that the government's vast wartime powers must be only temporary.

He made powerful enemies. For there are always those who want to see the government run things — and run people — permanently.

We have them today. The of reasons why the federal go over this or that business, ink never say they want social, even realize it. But that's propose.

Most Americans don't want than you do. The job is to it — no matter what disagree.

The people who plan and istic U. S. A. know that p a few key industries and government the power about everything. One of that they're trying to light and power.

One ride and You'll say:

"That's the Smartest Million Dollars BUICK Ever Spent"

WHEN we tell you that every 1952 Buick rides like a million dollars, we're not just slinging slang—we're talking real money—right-on-the-barrelhead cash.

A million dollars and more were poured into research and testing—design and tools—engineering, production and components—to team up the combination of ride features you'll find on a Buick—and on no other car in the world.

A million dollars and more was the price paid to work out control of end-sway and side-roll on curves—to double-check vertical "throw" with shock absorbers and big soft-acting coil springs for all four wheels—to V-brace the torque-tube keel and X-brace the frame—to cushion body and engine—and to silk out the whole operation with Dynaflo Drive.*

You may not care how the job was done, or what it cost. But we'll lay you this: You're going to say "thanks a million" to Buick engineers once you get this spirited smoothie under your hands and haunches.

Old familiar roads take on a new smoothness. Gone are the weave and wander, the jitter and jounce that you've felt in lesser cars. You ride with road-hugging assurance and level ease.

All of which only begins to tell you what really great cars these 1952 Buicks turned out to be.

Never before have style and stamina—comfort and character—power, performance and price been brought together with such skill.

The obvious thing for you to do is look them over. How about taking them off to do that—today?

Equipment, accessories, tires and models are subject to change without notice. Standard on ROADMASTER, optional on other Buicks.

When better cars are built... BUICK will build it.

White, Dickey, Losers in Disputed Decisions at Golden Glove Finals

Tempers flared Monday night as the Abilene Regional Golden Gloves Tournament came to a close.

A large number of Haskell boxing fans, recalling suspicious favoritism of the judges toward Abilene boxers during the 1951 Golden Gloves, left Rose Field House with a gleam of belief in their eyes when both Haskell fighters dropped decisions to their opponents.

Featherweight Donald Dickey was decided by Don McLaughlin, Hamlin coach; and welterweight Jimmy White lost a decision to James (Cotton) Fowler of Hardin-Simmons. Both were fighting in the Open Class and would have attended the state boxing meet in Fort Worth had they won.

Comment by the fans was not as condemning as it was when the judges gave Abilene's Max Earls a decision over White last year. However, most of the fans in Rose Field House thought both Dickey and White should have won by their demonstration of loud blows, showing that the judges' findings did not set too well with them on either occasion.

A minority of the fans agreed with the judges; while still others say it could have gone either way.

White put up a magnificent contest against Fowler and made it the hot bout of the evening. White went in for a knockout, hoping to put Fowler on the mat as soon as possible to eliminate any disapproval of the judges' decision as it had the previous year.

It was a hard-fought battle from start to finish with both tiring in the third round. There were few clinches, and little time elapsed eyeing each other up. Both were out for the finish with fists flying continuously.

In the second round White pasted a staggering blow that marked Fowler's face, but caught one on the head in the third that stunned him. They fought toe-to-toe for the three rounds with most of the blows being thrown close in.

To many of the fans, it was obvious that Dickey would decide McLaughlin, but the judges differed.

Dickey started the fight with ease, sizing up his Hamlin opponent and feeling him out. McLaughlin opened up, catching Dickey on the head with a jolting left, but Dickey came back with a flurry of blows to the Hamlin coach's head.

In the second and third rounds Dickey threw in everything he had, lashing McLaughlin with hard rights and lefts that worried his older opponent. He finished the fight in good style but lost the decision.

In other fights of the night, Rule's light heavyweight, Troy Casey, won the championship in that division of the Novice class by a decision over Dub Vinson of Fusola.

Rochester's Joe Loper lost a decision to Perry Elliott of Buffalo Gap in the Novice flyweight division.

Middleweight Alvin Pittman of Rochester dropped a decision to Abilene's John Granville in a high school class bout.

Top corn yield in the corn hybrid production contest for 1951 in Texas was made by Harold Watkins, a Red River county 4-H club boy. His per acre yield was 165.4 bushels. This compares with the state average of 19.5 bushels per acre.

Texas' first road was the trail Coronado made across the Plains of West Texas in 1540 hunting his fabled Seven Cities of Cibola.

After dropping a 58-44 decision to Throckmorton last Friday night, the Haskell Indians cagers will make their final attempt at a conference victory Friday night and at the same time try to knock Munday from their league-leading roost.

The Indian cagers will journey to Munday Friday where they will meet the Moguls in both an "A" and "B" team game. The "B" teams will play at 7 p.m. with the "A" game being the nightcap at 8 p.m.

Indian forward Lynn Coleson paced the scorers in last week's battle with the Greyhounds meshing 18 points for the scoring laurels. They scored only 9 points to Throckmorton's 16 in the second session and only 8 to 15 in the third.

The Haskell "B" team stayed one jump ahead of the Throckmorton "B" squad Friday night to annex a 50-46 victory from the Greyhounds in the opening game.

The Indian "B" team led 23-15 at halftime but saw their margin decrease in the third period as the Throckmorton quarter looped in 21 points to take a 2-point lead, 36-34.

A spirited fourth quarter brought the Indian hoopsters out of the hole to put them out in front for the remaining few minutes.

The Indian "B" squad alignment was led by center Roy Lauderdale and forward Ray Lauderdale who had 15 and 14 points, respectively, which was good for the game's scoring honors.
