The Pan Handle is the greatest wheat region in the south.

The present wheat yield will cause a boom in the west and just as soon as all the school lands are taken up there will be a great demand for land in this section.

The Farmers Alliance politicians talk like they can do all they propose without any help, in fact, they absolutely refuse help. They will have nothing to do with any one who does not agree with them in all things.

Ye scribe while rambling over the town in quest of news dropped into the law office of A. C. Foster Esq. who he found busily engaged posting up his abstract books. By permission he examined Mr. Foster's system of abstracting. He has twelve books made especially for him and in accordance with forms prepared by Mr. Foster. Each book contains 640 pages (or 320 double pages) each page representing one tract of land. For the lands in county he has 4 books, 3 books of 320 double pages for the 660 abstracts of lands in the county and vol. 4 being a transfer book—that is when a page in either of the first three books become full it is transferred to a given page in vol. 4. Each page holding 30 transfers. Then he has three books for the town lots and blocks. Vol. 1 contains the original town as platted on the Peter Allen Sur. going two to the page except all business lots which each has one double page. Vol. 2 contains the Brown and Roberts addition, A. L. Rhombert addition, C. P. Killough Reynolds et al addition and the various small additions that now exist or may be made. Vol. 3 is a transfer volume. In addition to the seven volumes he has one in which is recorded all judgements rendered in District court of Haskell Co. Texas, or recorded in the deed records of said county affecting the title to lands situated in the county. One volume in which is recorded in full all proof of heirship as appear in the deed records. One volume in which is recorded in full all wills that are probated in the county or which are of record in the county. One volume in which is recorded all judgement liens, attachment liens, tax sales etc. One volume containing a plat of the various additions to the town of Haskell and also of all tracts of land that have been sub-divided and the plats recorded either in the clerk's office or the surveyor's office. The abstract is very full and complete in every particular, and title to any tract of land can be passed on by an inspection of his books without going out of his office for additional data or information. Mr. Foster informs us that he did all the work himself during the past six years and that he considered it correct and reliable, said abstract is complete up to date, it requiring about six days labor each month to keep it up to date. For the protection of his books Mr. Foster has two large fire proof safes made specially for the books, with roller shelves inside. The original cost of the books without the labor expended on them since was $240.00 the safe's cost $350.00. The first cost of both safe's and books being about $600.00, and Mr. Foster says he would not take as many thousand for them now with his six years of labor spent on them. This abstract is the only complete abstract up to date of Haskell county land titles in existence and Mr. Foster may well be proud of it.

He has many thousand acres of land in the county for sale, many town lots and is the agent of the Brown and Roberts property. He gives all his time and attention to land matters and land litigation. He takes no other kind of law business.

FOSTER'S PREDICTIONS.

Friday Inaugurates the Hottest Period of the Summer.

HIS STATEMENT ON COTTON.

The Weather Will Not Be Settled from the 10th to the 23d, but After That It Will Be Uniformly Dry and Warm.

St. Joseph, Mo., Aug. 8.—My last letter gave forecast of the very changeable weather from Aug. 4 to 14. The next storm wave will be due to leave the Pacific coast about the 16th, cross the Rocky-Allegheny valley from the 17th to the 19th and reach the Atlantic coast about the 20th. The regular movements of these midsummer storm waves from west to east will not be so manifest to casual observers as were those of the spring months. The rains and other effects will develop only in isolated localities and will appear more as chance and irregular disturbances than the effects of regular storm waves. This storm wave will inaugurate the hottest period of the summer and bring the finest corn and cotton weather of the season. The weather will not be settled but changeable from the 16th to the 22d, after which it will be more uniformly warm and dry.

I must correct my statement about the cotton crop. I meant to say that this year's crop would not exceed that of last year, but inadvertently used the wrong figures. The crop of 1892 was about 8,650,000 bales and this year's crop is estimated at 9,000,000 bales. I do not believe it will reach that amount. To make a more radical statement than this would be unwise as a effort to affect prices. The buyer and seller of the manufacturer and consumer, are all specially interested in the date of the first killing frost and the question as to whether the crop will mature early or late, for the volume of the cotton crop depends on these two points. There is some danger of the late corn crops being cut short by early frost in the northern corn belts.

It is a species of supreme arrogance for orthodox scientists to pretend that they investigated planetary meteorology for not one of them understand it. A number of them have declared that there is nothing in the claim that the planets affect the weather because after long and careful observation they find the changes of the moon have no influences on the weather. Of course not. Planetary meteorology makes no such claims, and therefore the tests they have made have no bearing. Others again declare that they have carefully examined the equinoctial theory and find it does not hold good. The difficulty with them is that they do not understand the equinoctial theory.

It is not claimed that the equinoctial theory demands a storm everywhere on the 21st of March and September. It is not even claimed that the equinoctial originate storms but that they influence them. We do not look for a storm on 21st of March, but whenever the regular storm wave is due that date we expect the equinox to increase its force. In their investigations these "orthodox" scientists have taken the 21st of March and September as the storm days as they find that the equinoctial storms do not uniformly occur on these days they conclude there is nothing in the equinox theory. The trouble is not with the equinoxes, but with the ignorance of those "orthodox" scientists who have made a discovery and know nothing outside of the theories announced hundreds of years ago when our predecessors were just emerging from the dark ages.

So far as I know there is none but myself who understands the system of planetary meteorology, I use it as the basis of my calculations and therefore no one is competent to investigate it. I am the discoverer, not of all the facts which make planetary meteorology a harmonious whole. It is very complicated, however, and if I make mistakes it is not the fault of the system but because of errors in my calculations. I have no secrets regarding my theory but no one can expect to understand it in a day. The subject is equal in extent to that of law or politics or theology.

Within a year the planets causes about 160 electrical disturbances, and to group these so as to know what storm waves will be effected and to what extent is no small matter; and those scientists who have never given a day's study to the subject are presumptuous when they claim to have investigated that of which they are supremely ignorant. It is my design to give as full information as I can on this subject through my published letters which go regularly to forty daily papers and a number of weeklies, besides being copied into a large number of weeklies, but some of the dailies and many weeklies are not prepared to publish diagrams and illustrations which are necessary to a complete understanding of the subject. As before stated subscribers to this can obtain these diagrams and illustrations by corresponding with me.

I am prepared to give through these public letters during the fall winter months more complete information as to planetary meteorology and will discuss electricity as the cause of motion, one kind of electricity, the positive, being the large and negative the small quality; electricity the cause of magnetism; magnetism and attraction identical; every atom of matter endowed with its own power of motion, that power is electricity as manifested in the natural magnet, each planet revolves on its axis because of its own inherent forces and around the sun because of the movements in that direction of the elements that surround the sun.

Suns and planets are not, nor never were, molten matter, but radiate electricity, not heat. Heat and light do not penetrate space, but originate and are confined to the atmosphere of the sun and planets; the electric envelope of each planet determine its orbit and distance from its primary; the attraction of gravitation is a push; the planets float; the centripetal and centrifugal theories are errors; the calculated revolution on their axis of most of the planets are errors because of their clouded envelopes; sun spots are similar to our earth storms and are from the same causes; our storm wave move entirely around the earth and their forces are controlled by planetary positions; tropical hurricanes cause our cold waves. W. T. FOSTER.

The Money Power.

We clip the following from a secluded column of the Fort Worth Gazette:

FORT WORTH AUG. 4.

The alien land law clearly demonstrates the fact that foreign capital proposes to dictate its own terms or else quit the field.

One of our prominent citizen, Mr. Wallace Hendricks, who has just returned from the so-called money center of the North and East, reports that no money can now be had there because the North and East can no longer use Texas land liens and securities upon which to get foreign money.

In short, the fact is now demonstrated that this boasting United States government is submissively dependent upon aliens and foreigners for whatever money its people use—that aliens and foreigners dictate their own iron terms, fix the values on all our products and properties, and then have the audacity to say if we do not accept their values and terms then we shall not have any money.

Is not this condition a disgrace to this government? a humiliation to our manhood? the prelude to our absolute commercial and industrial slavery? Is it not high time to again "throw off the yoke of England?"

The question is not whether to abolish the alien land law, for

IT HAS COME TO STAY, but the question is, how much further it shall reach and how much quicker the courts shall make it felt. The threats of the disgruntled manipulators of Europe's hoarded millions among us are as the buffeting of the wind. Texas can neither be browbeaten or gulled. Texas had better be free with poverty forever than be rich in borrowed usurious foreign money now, with perpetual serfdom for themselves and children. Let us quit talking about gold, silver, corn, oats, wheat, cotton, tobacco or other articles. As the basis of our circulating medium let us issue United States currency based upon our taxable values, and proportioned to our population; stamp it as legal tender; turn it loose and free us from the heartless grasp of the foreign holders of the contemptible stuff called "gold dust."

If other nations won't take it, why let them stay at home and beat rocks for more gold. We American will take it and go on plowing and make more bread. We are big enough at last to be independent of other nations and their money standards. We Americans can now live at home, stay at the same place and defy the world. The slogan now is: Throw off the money yoke of Europe.

Respectfully,

JAMES U. VINCENT.

When we think of the cost of erecting in each county not only in Texas, but in the whole United States, a ware house sufficient for the safe keeping of all our cotton, corn, oats, wheat sugar, syrup, tobacco, rice, hemp, hops, hay, fodder, etc., etc., it seems enormous, and then to that amount must be added the cost of printing certificates, receipts, stationery for each house, then add the hire of a competent business man to keep the books and transact all of this business for each county! The expense of the billions dollars, congress is a mere trifle when compared with this sub-treasury. But I am not done. It takes the farmers time and teams to convey those products from the farm to the ware house, and from the ware house to place of sale etc. Are we willing to try a scheme that will add so much to our present expenditure without an assurance of relief in any other way?

When we have made our deposits in the ware house and borrowed 80 per cent of the market value, where will we get the 80 cents with which to redeem our produce? Or, in case the price falls, will we be compelled to some very sweet music on their harps. The moon had risen and was shedding a flood of bright light on the beautiful Wild-Horse prairie. Supper over the party repaired to the farm house of Mr. J. T. Bowman. When we arrived Mrs. Bowman had just finished putting away her supper dishes and they threw the house wide open to the party and bade them enjoy the evening. At 11 o'clock the party returned to town with a beautiful moon for a guide. Both Mr. Martin and Mr. Bowman have very fine farms, with beautiful growing crops on them. Mr. Martins cotton is as fine as we ever saw at this time of the year. It being dark we did not see Mr. Bowman's crop but he says it is very fine, in fact, Wild-Horse prairie is the garden spot of the west.

All express themselves as having a good time and desiring to repeat the chase.

Sub-Treasury.

of an advance in the market can we sell before we redeem?
Will all farmers be compelled to deposit in the ware house or will we leave the rich farmer, who does not need the 80 cents, free to take advantage of the big price caused by so much being hoisted up? Will it not enable the capitalist to buy produce, deposit it and draw 80 per cent, buy more produce, deposit that and draw 80 per cent of its value buy more produce and so on, until he has doubled and quadrupled his money at the farmers' expenses while to the detriment of the masses?
